

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

THE HISTORY OF THE

REIGN OF CHARLES THE FIRST
BY JOHN BURNET
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD
IN TWO VOLUMES
THE SECOND VOLUME

LONDON: Printed by J. Streater, at the Sign of the Gun, in St. Dunstons Church-yard, 1680.

HISTORY,
GAZETTEER, AND DIRECTORY, OF NORFOLK,
AND THE
CITY AND COUNTY OF THE CITY OF NORWICH: COMPRISING, UNDER A LUCID ARRANGEMENT OF SUBJECTS,
A General Survey of the County of Norfolk,
AND THE DIOCESE OF NORWICH, WITH SEPARATE
HISTORICAL, STATISTICAL, & TOPOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTIONS OF ALL THE BOROUGHES, TOWNS, PARISHES, VILLAGES, HAMLETS, MANORS, AND LIBERTIES, IN THE THIRTY-THREE HUNDREDS;

SHewing THEIR EXTENT AND POPULATION:

Their Agriculture, Manufactures, Fisheries, Markets, Fairs, Natural Productions
&c.; their Eminent Men; the Lords of the Manors, and Owners of the Soil and Tithes; the Patrons and Incumbents of the Church Livings; the Antiquities, Public Charities, and Institutions; the Civil and Ecclesiastical Jurisdictions; the Names and Addresses of the principal Inhabitants; the Mediums of Public Conveyance by Land and Water; the

SEATS OF NOBILITY AND GENTRY;

LISTS OF PUBLIC OFFICERS;

And a Variety of other

COMMERCIAL, AGRICULTURAL, & BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION:

In One Volume, with a large Map of the County.

BY WILLIAM WHITE,

AUTHOR OF SIMILAR WORKS FOR ALL THE NORTHERN COUNTIES.

PRINTED FOR THE AUTHOR,
MR ROBT. LEADER, INDEPENDENT OFFICE, SHEFFIELD;
And Sold by W. WHITE, 69, FARGATE, Sheffield;
BY HIS AGENTS, AND BY THE BOOKSELLERS.
Price of the Volume and Map, to Subscribers, 12s. In Boards, or 13s. 6d. in Calf Binding: to Non-subscribers, 3s. extra.

1836.

DA670
N6W5

~~Level~~ stack

PREFACE.

THE Author, in presenting to an indulgent Public, this essay towards a popular History, and complete Topography of Norfolk, with a Directory of its principal Inhabitants, has to tender his grateful acknowledgments to the literary and official Gentlemen of the County, for the valuable and interesting communications with which they have furnished him, in answer to his multifarious inquiries; and also to a numerous list of Subscribers, who have honoured him with their support to such a liberal extent, that their orders exceed the amount of the very large edition now printed. This prompt and munificent patronage shews clearly, that Works of this description are highly interesting and useful, both in the office and library,—not only to Merchants, Manufacturers, Farmers, and Tradesmen, but also to the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, Professional Men, and Public Officers; especially in such extensive and populous districts as Norfolk, where (when faithfully compiled) they are found invaluable as books of local and commercial reference. Authenticity being the grand requisite of topography, all possible care has been taken to avoid errors; every Parish, and almost every House in the County has been visited, and the information either collected or verified on the spot; it is therefore hoped that the following pages will be found as free from error as is compatible with the vast body of information, and the great variety of subjects compressed within their ample limits.

THE PLAN OF THE WORK embraces a General History and Description of Norfolk, shewing its Extent, Population, Agriculture, Commerce, Manufactures, Rivers, Canals, Roads, Antiquities, and Historical Events; with the Seats of its Nobility and Gentry, Lists of its Public Officers, &c. &c.; and a History of the Diocese, and the City and County of the City of Norwich. These are followed by a History, Topography, and Directory of each of the TWENTY-THREE HUNDREDS of the County, in which the Towns, Villages, Hamlets, Manors, and other Liberties are arranged under the heads of their respective PARISHES, and preceded by general Descriptions of the Hundreds; but a copious Index of Places is subjoined, which gives the volume all the advantages of an Alphabetical Gazetteer, in conjunction with those afforded by connected Histories and Topographies of the various Civil and Ecclesiastical Jurisdictions;—to point out which, with the utmost accuracy and precision, is one of the leading objects of this work. The Parish Histories shew the Situation, Extent, and Population of every Town, Village, and Hamlet in the County; with the Owners of the Soil and Lords of the Manors; the nature of the Church Livings, their Patrons and Incumbents; the Places of Worship; the Public Charities and Institutions; Local Events and Occurrences; Agriculture, Trade, and Commerce; Objects of Interest and Curiosity; Eminent Men, &c. &c.;—comprising, not only the substance of all that has been written on the various subjects by ancient and modern authors, but also a vast body of useful and interesting information never previously published in any connected form. Many volumes have been published relating to Norfolk, but they are generally crude collections from "ledger books, registers, deeds, court rolls," &c., or written in the superficial form of "Tours," and others are confined solely to Norwich, Yarmouth, Lynn, or Thetford. Though Sir Henry Spelman and Peter Le-Nee made some collections to illustrate its topography, the first essay towards a general history of the county, was commenced by the Rev. Fras. Blomefield, and finished by the Rev. Chas. Parkin, about A.D. 1775, in five volumes folio, (see p. 748,) but confined chiefly to antiquities, benefices, pedigrees, &c., leaving the more popular and highly interesting subjects of geology, statistics, agriculture, trade, commerce, &c., still to be developed. In compiling the following pages, the Author has consulted a multiplicity of Books and Manuscripts, among which are the Parliamentary Reports of Population, Public Charities, Agriculture, &c.; Blomefield and Parkin's Norfolk; The Norfolk Tour, published by Stacy, of Norwich, in 1829; the Norfolk volume of the Beauties of England and Wales; Duery's Yarmouth; Mackerell's and Richard's Lynn; Reports of Public Institutions, &c. &c.

W. WHITE.

TABLE,

Shewing the Distances of the Market Towns in Norfolk, from each other & from London. With the Market Days

MARKET TOWNS.	LONDON
Attleborough, Thu	94	Attleborough
Aylsham, Tu	26	Aylsham
Buckingham, Sat	35	Buckingham, New
Burnham, Sat	34	Burnham Market
Cley, Sat	13	Cley
Cromer, Sat	35	Cromer
Diss, Fri	13	Diss
Downham, M & S	31	Downham Market
East Dereham, Fri	14	East Dereham
Fakenham, Th	26	Fakenham
Foulsham, Tu	24	Foulsham
Harleston, Wed	17	Harleston
Harling, Tue	31	Harling (East)
Hingham, Sat	31	Hingham
Holt, Sat	32	Holt
London, Tue	21	London
Lynn Regis, Tu & S.	34	Lynn Regis
Norwich, W & S	15	Norwich
Stoke Ferry, Fri	24	Stoke Ferry
Swaftmouth, Sat	14	Swaftmouth
Thetford, Sat	14	Thetford
Walsingham, Th	23	Walsingham (North)
Walsingham, Fri	31	Walsingham
Watton, Wed	11	Watton
Wells, Sat	34	Wells
Wymondham, Fri	100	Wymondham
Yarmouth, Sat	34	Yarmouth

EXPLANATION

The figures in each column shew the Distances in miles the Places opposite them, to the Place at the head of each column.

INDEX OF PLACES.

7 Fairs are held at those Towns and Villages marked thus and also at the Places in the Foot Note.

[illegible]

* The following 1314 are omitted in the histories of the Parishes: 1. —

June 22, East Wich, Easter West, Fincham, Aug 9, Grestenham
 Nov 1st, Apr 1, Fring, May 27 and Dec 4 for houses Hreocham, Aug 31
 1890, 1891, Wh, Monday, and Dec 11, Terrington St John, June 24, Walsby, 1891 after St. Michael's day, Wexham, Jan 13, Wiggenshall St. Edmund's 1891, 1892, St. Mary Magdalen, July 27

- Banwell 758
 Burgh-xt-Aylsham, 523
 Burgh St. Margaret & St. Mary 312
 Burgh Parva, 585
 Burgh St. Peter, 811
 Burlingham (N.) 438
 Burlingham (S.) 339
 Burton-on-Deepdell 619
 Burcham Norton 619
 Burcham Overy 619
 Burcham Thorne 620
 Burcham Toph 621
 *Burcham Mkt., 621
 Buxton, 735
 Bush Green 751
 Buxton Green, 759
 Buxton 21
 Buxton 199
 Buxton, at Nat 712
 Buxton, at Nat 306
 Buxton 358
 Buxton, 725
 Buxton 351
 Buxton 480
 Buxton, at Nat 801
 Buxton East 781
 Buxton Parsonage 789
 Buxton Road, 738
 Buxton, 738
 Buxton 116
 *Buxton 411
 Buxton 487
 Buxton 319
 Buxton, 310
 *Buxton 525
 Buxton 311
 Buxton 801
 Buxton 628
 Buxton 676
 Buxton 808
 Buxton 801
 Buxton, 170
 *Buxton, 585
 Buxton 313
 Buxton 647
 Buxton, 686
 Buxton, 601
 Buxton, 517
 Buxton, 526
 Buxton, 751
 Buxton 475
 Buxton, 781
 Buxton 527
 Colton, 769
 Colveston, 700
 Cougham, 451
 Corpe, 528
 Costers, 770
 Coston, 771
 Coxford, 652
 Crabgate, 512
 Crabhouse 481
 Cranwich, 700
 Cranworth, 355
 Creak (N.) 623,
 (South) 624
 *Cressingham, Gt &
 Little, 659
 Criner's Beck, 510
 Crimpleham, 679
 Cringleford, 785
 *Cromer, 563
 Cross Keys Wash,
 628, 478
 Crossway 316
 Crutwick, 542
 Crowthorne, 771
 Crowthorne 647, 700
 Dargate 430
 Deaton 718
 Deaton & Sluce, 679
 Deopham, 772
 Depwade Hurd 756
 *Derham, (E.) 350
 Dighton, 311
 Derham, (W.) 680
 Derham, 152
 Dickburgh, 791
 Dillington, 660
 Dillington, 512
 Dillington, 357
 *Diss, 37
 Diss Hundred, 731
 Ditchingham, 801
 Docking, 428
 Docking Farm, 526
 Doughton, 611
 *Dowham Mkt. 681
 Downham 778
 Doughton, 515
 Drayton 317
 Dudwick, 521
 Dimpling Green, 457
 Duncham, G & L, 375-6
 Durrkirk, 515
 Dunstun 785
 Durrkirk 641
 Durrkirk, 511
 Earsham, 156
 Earsham Hund. 746
 Earsham, 749
 Eastaugh, 504
 Eastgate, 525
 Eastmore, 677
 Easton, 772
 Eaton, 156
 East Brink Cut, 401
 Ebridge, 551
 Eccles, 320, 714
 Edgefield, 587
 Edingthorpe 513
 Egmore, 602
 Ellingham, 811
 Ellingham, Gt. 714
 Ellingham, Lt. 488
 *Elmham, North 375
 Elmudale, 531
 Elsing, 199
 Emmeth, 471
 Erpingham, (N.) 559
 Erpingham, (S.) 513
 Erpingham, 528
 Erping Green, 357
 Eva (Isle of) 462
 Eynesford Hund 496
 Fair Green, 460
 *Faith's (St.) 349
 *Fakenham, 642
 Felbrigg 568
 Felmingham, 543
 Felthorpe, 317
 *Feltwell, 701
 Felthorpe, 476, 482
 Fersfield, 741
 Field Daling, 602
 Filby, 308
 Fitcham 685
 Fishley 311
 Flegg, E & W 235
 Fitcham 152
 Flockthorpe, 364
 Flordon, 785
 Fotherston, 690
 Foldholme, 331
 Fordham, 686
 Forcham Hund. 767
 *Forncott, St. Mary and Peter 759
 Foulden, 660
 *Foulsham 499
 Foxley 501
 Framingham, Earl & Pigot, 793

INDEX OF PLACES.

2

[illegible]

- Tottenhill, 693
 Tottington, 492
 Tower-End, 460
 Trimmingham, 579
 Trowse-Milgate, 156
 Trowse-Newton, 798
 Trunch, 579
 Tudenhain, 369, 370
 Tunstall, 333
 Tunstead Hund. 539
 Tunstead, 550
 Tutington, 537
 Twyford, 510
 Tyby, 512
 Upton, 334
 *Upwell, 694
 Watton, 766
 Waleton, 328
 Waleton Green, 737
 Wallington, 695
 Walpole, Sts. A and
 P. 478-9
 Walsham Hund. 329
 *Walsham, (N.) 40
 Walsham, (S.) 431
 Walsingham Great,
 699, *Little, 610
 *Walshen, 480
 Walton, (East) 464
 Walsingham (West) 481
 Warham, 613
 Washford, 807
 Waterdon, 625
 Watlington, 695
 Watlington, 779
 *Watton, 493
 Waxham, 328
 Waxham, (Little) 322
 Wayford Bridge, 549
 Wayland Hund. 185
 Wayland Wood, 494
 Weasenham, 386
 Weeting, 707
 Welborne, 777
 Wellingham, 387
 *Wells, 611
 Welney, 696
 Wendling, 387
 Werrham, 697
 Westacre, 165
 Westby Green, 737
 Westfield, 370
 Weston, 511
 Westwick, 556
 Weybourn, 597
 Weybridge, 330
 Wheelacre, 816
 Wharburgh, 370
 *Whissonsett, 387
 White Horse Cn. 551
 Whitehougham, 798
 White Green 433
 Whitlington, 705
 Whitwell 506
 W. Kington, 435
 Wickham, 777
 Wickmore, 548
 Wiggshall, St Germain's, 182, St. My.
 483, St. Mag. 181,
 St Peter, 484
 Wighton, 618
 Wilby, 717
 Wilton, 702
 Wimbotsham, 698
 Winch, (East) 46
 Winch, (West) 46
 Windale, 812
 Winfarthing, 745
 Winmore, 322
 Wiveton, 812
 Winterton, 317
 Winwall, 697
 Wingham, Gr.
 511, & Little, 5
 Withergate, 557
 Witton, 314, 556
 Wiveton, 598
 Wolterton, 638
 Wolverton, 456
 Wood Dalling, 51
 Wood-Norton, 512
 Woodbastwick, 32
 Wood Green, 763
 Woodrising, 371
 Woodrow, 525
 Woodton, 808
 Wootton (N & S.)
 Wormegay, 698
 *Worstead, 557
 Worthing, 388
 Wortwell, 752
 Wramplingham,
 Wrentham, 790
 Wretton, (E. W.
 Thorpe) 717
 Wretton, 698
 Wroxham, 354
 *Wymondham, 71
 *Yarmouth, 237
 Yaxham 371
 Yelverton, 799

INDEX OF SUBJECTS.

- Agriculture, 42
 Almon, Tom 23, 713
 Ancient Britons, 17,
 65, 663, 718, 719
 Ancient Customs, 436,
 463, 443, 455, 525,
 642, 695
 Archdeacons, 34
 Armes, 102
 Astley Family, 594
 Bar-nets, 48
 Bathing Places, 239,
 270, 503, 632
 Battles, 21, 28, 347,
 551, 624, 719, 734
 Bedford Level, 676
 Benefit of Clergy, 336
 Berners Family, 660
 Bishops, 32, 33
 Bishop's Palaces, 116,
 324, 341, 451
 Bishopric, 31
 Blomefield Rev F. 742
 Boleyn Anne, 522
 Bulwer Family, 55
 Case Family, 656
 Castles, 30
 Cathedral, 111
 Cattle, &c. 45
 Chad Family, 609
 Ch. lers, 456, 634
 Cholmondeley F. 6
 Churches, 37, 123, 4
 Cider, 46, 752
 Civil Wars, 31, 7
 253, 397

INDEX OF SUBJECTS.

11

- 47 Kell's Palace, 733
 Kent's Cathedral, 74
 K - 2 - Book 17
 49 L'Estrange-Pally 632
 50 Light House, 86
 317 320 341, 343
 517 Lister's Hotel, 72
 Longest, 39
 Lucas Asylum 115,
 313, 314
 Lynn River, 308,
 359
 491 Arts & Printing, 86
 300, America, 391
 396, Anti Slavery
 392; Her Majesty's
 Chapel, 117, Cate-
 27 ters, 41, Church
 32, 115, C. W. 397,
 Commerce 402, 403
 499 400, 401, 402, 412
 503 Red Cross, 40, Courts,
 51 400, 401, 402, 403
 404, 405, 406, 407,
 408, 409, 410, 411,
 412, 413, 414, 415,
 416, 417, 418, 419,
 420, 421, 422, 423,
 424, 425, 426, 427,
 428, 429, 430, 431,
 432, 433, 434, 435,
 436, 437, 438, 439,
 440, 441, 442, 443,
 444, 445, 446, 447,
 448, 449, 450, 451,
 452, 453, 454, 455,
 456, 457, 458, 459,
 460, 461, 462, 463,
 464, 465, 466, 467,
 468, 469, 470, 471,
 472, 473, 474, 475,
 476, 477, 478, 479,
 480, 481, 482, 483,
 484, 485, 486, 487,
 488, 489, 490, 491,
 492, 493, 494, 495,
 496, 497, 498, 499,
 500, 501, 502, 503,
 504, 505, 506, 507,
 508, 509, 510, 511,
 512, 513, 514, 515,
 516, 517, 518, 519,
 520, 521, 522, 523,
 524, 525, 526, 527,
 528, 529, 530, 531,
 532, 533, 534, 535,
 536, 537, 538, 539,
 540, 541, 542, 543,
 544, 545, 546, 547,
 548, 549, 550, 551,
 552, 553, 554, 555,
 556, 557, 558, 559,
 560, 561, 562, 563,
 564, 565, 566, 567,
 568, 569, 570, 571,
 572, 573, 574, 575,
 576, 577, 578, 579,
 580, 581, 582, 583,
 584, 585, 586, 587,
 588, 589, 590, 591,
 592, 593, 594, 595,
 596, 597, 598, 599,
 600, 601, 602, 603,
 604, 605, 606, 607,
 608, 609, 610, 611,
 612, 613, 614, 615,
 616, 617, 618, 619,
 620, 621, 622, 623,
 624, 625, 626, 627,
 628, 629, 630, 631,
 632, 633, 634, 635,
 636, 637, 638, 639,
 640, 641, 642, 643,
 644, 645, 646, 647,
 648, 649, 650, 651,
 652, 653, 654, 655,
 656, 657, 658, 659,
 660, 661, 662, 663,
 664, 665, 666, 667,
 668, 669, 670, 671,
 672, 673, 674, 675,
 676, 677, 678, 679,
 680, 681, 682, 683,
 684, 685, 686, 687,
 688, 689, 690, 691,
 692, 693, 694, 695,
 696, 697, 698, 699,
 700, 701, 702, 703,
 704, 705, 706, 707,
 708, 709, 710, 711,
 712, 713, 714, 715,
 716, 717, 718, 719,
 720, 721, 722, 723,
 724, 725, 726, 727,
 728, 729, 730, 731,
 732, 733, 734, 735,
 736, 737, 738, 739,
 740, 741, 742, 743,
 744, 745, 746, 747,
 748, 749, 750, 751,
 752, 753, 754, 755,
 756, 757, 758, 759,
 760, 761, 762, 763,
 764, 765, 766, 767,
 768, 769, 770, 771,
 772, 773, 774, 775,
 776, 777, 778, 779,
 780, 781, 782, 783,
 784, 785, 786, 787,
 788, 789, 790, 791,
 792, 793, 794, 795,
 796, 797, 798, 799,
 800, 801, 802, 803,
 804, 805, 806, 807,
 808, 809, 810, 811,
 812, 813, 814, 815,
 816, 817, 818, 819,
 820, 821, 822, 823,
 824, 825, 826, 827,
 828, 829, 830, 831,
 832, 833, 834, 835,
 836, 837, 838, 839,
 840, 841, 842, 843,
 844, 845, 846, 847,
 848, 849, 850, 851,
 852, 853, 854, 855,
 856, 857, 858, 859,
 860, 861, 862, 863,
 864, 865, 866, 867,
 868, 869, 870, 871,
 872, 873, 874, 875,
 876, 877, 878, 879,
 880, 881, 882, 883,
 884, 885, 886, 887,
 888, 889, 890, 891,
 892, 893, 894, 895,
 896, 897, 898, 899,
 900, 901, 902, 903,
 904, 905, 906, 907,
 908, 909, 910, 911,
 912, 913, 914, 915,
 916, 917, 918, 919,
 920, 921, 922, 923,
 924, 925, 926, 927,
 928, 929, 930, 931,
 932, 933, 934, 935,
 936, 937, 938, 939,
 940, 941, 942, 943,
 944, 945, 946, 947,
 948, 949, 950, 951,
 952, 953, 954, 955,
 956, 957, 958, 959,
 960, 961, 962, 963,
 964, 965, 966, 967,
 968, 969, 970, 971,
 972, 973, 974, 975,
 976, 977, 978, 979,
 980, 981, 982, 983,
 984, 985, 986, 987,
 988, 989, 990, 991,
 992, 993, 994, 995,
 996, 997, 998, 999,
 1000, 1001, 1002, 1003,
 1004, 1005, 1006, 1007,
 1008, 1009, 1010, 1011,
 1012, 1013, 1014, 1015,
 1016, 1017, 1018, 1019,
 1020, 1021, 1022, 1023

LIST OF SUBJECTS

- Witchcraft, 396
 Working Wells, 61
 Wotton & Pam, 77
 Woods and Plantations, 45
 Worsted, 92, 357
 Wrestlers, 337
 YARMOUTH, 237
 Ancient History, 240
 Assemblies, Baths, &c., 270; Burying, 240
 Bridges, 239; Cemeteries, 267; Charities, 271; Chapels, 267
 Churches, 265; Corporation, 260; (Old,) 258; Reformers, 259
 Courts, 262; The Dunes, 263; Dispensary, 271; Earls, 276
 Eminent Men, 274
 Fisheries, 258; Gas Works, 263; Gaol, &c., 265; Gorleston, 273; Guild & Town Halls, 264; Haven, 247; Herrings, 259; Migration of, 260; Hospital, 271; Literary Inst, 270; Markets & Fairs, 238; Monasteries, 265; Ld. Nelson, 256, 274; Piers, 249; Poor Rates, 272; Quays, 239; Rare Plants, 240; Races, 238; Savings' Bank, 272; Rows & Streets, 238, 277; Schools, 268; Ship Building, 259; Shipwrecks, 251; Sub-rooms, 270; South Town, 273; Theatre, 270; Trade & Commerce, 257; Water, 264; Yarmouth Roads, 250
 A new bridge is now (1836,) building over the Quay at Yarmouth

GENERAL HISTORY

AND

DESCRIPTION

OF THE

COUNTY OF NORFOLK.

NORFOLK, in the most eastern part of England, is an extensive maritime county, comprising 300,386 inhabitants, and 1,227,000 acres of land, or about 1,932 square miles, divided into thirty-three Hundreds, and upwards of 740 Parishes, including the City of Norwich, which forms with its precincts, a Town and County of itself. Compared with the other counties of England, it ranks the fourth in territorial extent, and the eighth in population. It is celebrated for the diversity and high cultivation of its soil; for the abundance and excellence of its agricultural productions; for its crape, bombasin, and other manufactures of silk and worsted, for its herring and mackerel fisheries; and for its numerous and justies, market towns, villages, and parishes; which latter are more numerous than those of any other county in England, but this is occasioned by their having no dependent townships or chapelrys. It lies between 52 deg. 17 min. and 52 deg. 55 min. North Latitude, and 1 min. and 1 deg. 45 min. East Longitude from the meridian of Greenwich;—being of an oval figure, extending about 70 miles from east to west, and 42 miles in the broadest parts from north to south. It is about 180 miles in circumference, and the northern half of it is bounded by the German Ocean and the Cross-Keys Wash; whilst its southern side is divided from Suffolk by the Waveney and Little Ouse rivers; and from Cambridgeshire, chiefly by the Great Ouse, Welney, and Nene;—the latter of which flows into that great estuary which is called Cross-Keys Wash, and divides Norfolk from Lincolnshire. Thus surrounded by marine and river boundaries, Norfolk may be considered almost an island. Though it is generally considered a champaign district, the surface is many places, rise in bold undulations, and sinks into picturesque vales, especially in the central of the county, and on the coast, which is nearly 80 miles in extent from Yarmouth to Lynton, and has near Cromer and Hunstanton lofty perpendicular cliffs; but nearly all the southern side of the county is in flat but well cultivated marshes, fens, and sandy plains. Though nearly all the fens and marshes have been well drained, and upwards of 130,000 acres of common and waste lands enclosed during the present and latter part of last century, there are still in different parts of the county several extensive sandy heaths in a state of nature, used as rabbit warrens and sheep walks; and some tracts of peat are left open in various places to supply the inhabitants with turf and farze. The sterile parts of the enclosed heaths are many of them covered with thriving plantations, and there is much fine timber in the woods and parks which encompass the seats of the nobility and gentry.

Norfolk is comprised in the Diocese of Norwich, and in the archiepiscopal Province of Canterbury. It is the head of the judicial Circuit of Norfolk, which comprises also the counties of Buckingham, Bedford, Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire, and Suffolk. Its POPULATION has increased nearly one-third during the last 30 years; for we find that in the year 1801, it amounted to 273,371;—in 1811, to 291,999;—in 1821, to 344,368; and in 1831, to 390,386 souls. In 1821, its number of families was 71,497, of whom 36,304 were returned as being engaged in agricultural pursuits; 26,200 in trade, manufacture, or handicraft; and 11,128 as being engaged in professional pursuits, or unemployed. Its number of dwelling houses, in 1821, amounted to 64,068, of which 525 were then building, and 1,269 unoccupied. During the last 15 years, the increase of buildings has kept pace with the great augmentation in the population during that period, so that the number of houses may now (1836) be estimated at upwards of 72,000, and the population at more than 400,000 souls, as is evident by the extensive modern suburbs which have recently arisen at Norwich, Lynn, and some other places. According to the parochial bills of mortality, from 1811 to 1821, the average annual number of marriages in the county was 2,575; of baptisms, 10,226; and of burials, 5,684. The yearly rental of land in the county was assessed to the property tax in 1811, at £381,842; and the annual value of the real property (land and buildings) was assessed to the same tax, in 1815, at £1,562,158. The amount of its poor rates collected in the year ending March 1833, was £282,158; of which £224,977 was levied on land; £28,248 on dwelling houses; £4,205 on mills and factories; and £24,728 on immaterial profits: but out of these parochial assessments, £11,827 was paid in the same year to the County Rates of Norfolk, exclusive of £3,154 levied as a county rate for the City and County of the City of Norwich. In the year ending the summer 1834, the Norfolk county expenditure was £18,884; though the county rate levied in that year amounted to £17,600, which, with receipts for prisoners' expenses, for assaults, &c., and a previous surplus, left a balance in the treasurer's hands of £1,853 11s. 11d. In the year ending the summer 1835, the expenditure was £16,265, leaving a balance in the hands of the county treasurer. In that year £10,000 was paid out of the rates towards the new buildings at Norwich Castle, now the County Gaol and Shire-Hall, which cost the county upwards of £40,000 since 1822, when the buildings and enlargements were commenced (vide p. 109.) There are county Houses of Correction at Swaffham, Walsingham, and Wymondham; the latter of which is appropriated solely to male prisoners. The number of committals for crime, amounted in 1810 to 118; and in 1818 to 286; and a much greater increase has since occurred yearly, for it is a lamentable fact, that crime and pauperism have continued to keep pace with the increase of the population and the depression of agriculture; still, however, offences against property and persons are perhaps less frequent here than in similar districts, though the poor rates of Norfolk are, and have been for many years, higher than those of any county of England. During the latter part of last century, several large INCORPORATED WORKHOUSES were erected in various parts of Norfolk, by Unions, each consisting of from 20 to 50 parishes; but of late years, they have not been occupied by more than a fourth part of the number of inmates for which they were designed;—the parishes finding it more beneficial to maintain their paupers at home, than reduce them to permanent pauperism by sending them to a distant workhouse; but notwithstanding the falacy of the system has been proved here by the experience of nearly half a century, several other gigantic workhouses were about to be erected in the county for large Unions of parishes, when together by the NEW POOR LAW, passed in 1834, (See p. 629.) The ASSIZES were formerly held only at Norwich in August, but they are now held there half-yearly, the Lent Assizes being removed from Thetford in 1833. QUARTER SESSIONS for Norfolk are held quarterly, at the Shire-Hall, Norwich, and by adjournment at Lynn, Swaffham, Holt, and Walsingham. Before the passing of the Reform Bill, in 1832, Norfolk sent five representatives to parliament, viz., two for the county, and each for the City of Norwich, and the Boroughs of Yarmouth, Thetford, and Castle-Rising, but by that great public act, the latter borough was disfranchised, and the county separated into two divisions, each to return to parliament two knights of the shire. The EAST DIVISION comprehends the 18 Hundreds recorded thus* in the subjoined table, and its Polling Places are Norwich Castle, Yarmouth, Reepham, North Walsham and Stratton, the first of which is the principal place of election. The WEST DIVISION contains the other 15 Hundreds of the county, and its Polling Places are at Lynn, Fakenham, Wymondham, East Dereham, Thetford, and Swaffham; the latter is the principal place of election. At the last election in January 1835, the candidates and votes were as follows;—East Division, for Lord Walpole 3,196; Edmond Wodehouse, Esq. 3,482; H. Windham Esq. 3,076; and R. H. Gurney, Esq. 2,866.—West Division, for Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes 2,299; Sir Jacob Seymour 2,140, and Wm. Bagge, Esq. 1,872. Under the CORPORATION REFORM BILL, passed in 1835, the constitution of the municipal bodies of the city of Norwich and the boroughs of Norfolk, has been changed; the mayor, aldermen, councilmen, &c. are now to be chosen by popular election; but in the local histories of the boroughs we have shewn their former charters, privileges, and customs, with lists of their last corporate bodies under the old systems of election; to which we shall append lists of their successors, elected in Dec. 1835, under the powers of the Corporation Reform Bill. Norfolk has 26 MARKET TOWNS, viz., Norwich, Lynn, Yarmouth, Swaffham, Downham, Thetford, East Dereham, Fakenham, Wymondham, Walsingham, North Walsham, Attleburgh, Aylsham, New Buckenham, Burnham-Westgate, Diss, Foulsham, Hatlestone, East Harling, Holt, Reepham, Stoke Ferry, Watton, Wells, Kenninghall, and Long Stratton. Several other of its towns had formerly markets which are now obsolete; FAIRS are still held in them, and also in some of the villages. The following enumeration of the thirty-three Hundreds of Norfolk, with the city and county of the city of Norwich, shews their POPULATION in 1831, the ANNUAL VALUE of their lands and buildings as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their TERRITORIAL EXTENT.

Those Hundreds marked * are in the EAST DIVISION, and the other in the WEST DIVISION.

HUNDREDS.	Pop. in 1831.	Annual Value	Acres.	HUNDREDS.	Pop. in 1831.	Annual Value	Acres.
*Blaisford	5,220	26,231	18,751	Grimshee	6,380	40,245	62,483
Brothercross	4,143	20,794	17,300	Grinstead	5,761	34,361	26,303
Cuckclose	17,633	91,046	80,722	*Happing	6,446	26,101	26,871
*Clavering	6,611	44,355	27,371	*Henstead	5,213	25,515	22,106
*Depwade	10,031	42,803	30,835	Holt	10,416	42,139	34,208
*Diss	9,300	37,473	22,765	*Humbleyard	5,411	27,489	20,790
*Earsham	8,485	37,320	23,720	Launditch	12,579	59,165	57,390
*Erpingham, (N)	10,160	35,545	33,561	*Loddon	7,327	39,507	27,672
*Erpingham, (S)	14,992	59,715	46,002	Mitford	11,326	46,000	32,799
*Fakenham	10,613	48,100	32,026	*Shropham †	12,028	62,281	53,174
*Flegg, East †	24,113	43,900	14,200	Smithdon	8,232	50,272	45,582
*Flegg, West	4,214	18,315	14,374	*Taverham	7,035	27,222	30,671
*Fornhoe	13,008	56,596	37,025	*Tunstead	10,323	39,119	34,818
Freebridge Lynn †	25,597	96,012	73,089	*Walsham	4,225	27,685	24,598
Freebridge	11,022	40,054	54,515	Wayland	6,824	47,530	30,985
Marshland	9,378	53,768	43,216	NORWICH, (City and County of)	61,364	70,500	6,630
Gallow	10,411	37,102	30,940
Greenhoe, North	10,237	50,140	57,174
Greenhoe, (South)
				Total †	390,386	1,562,158	1,227,909

† BOROUGH. King's Lynn is included with Freebridge Lynn, Yarmouth with East Flegg, and Thetford, with Shropham Hundred.

† Of the 390,386 souls 189,500 are MALES, and 200,886 FEMALES.

According to Judge Blackstone, England was first divided into counties, hundreds, and tithings, by Alfred the Great, to prevent the rapines and disorders which formerly prevailed in the realm, by making the inhabitants of each district responsible for the damage which might be committed by lawless mobs. Tithings were so called because ten freeholders with their families composed one. A number (perhaps 100) of these tithings, towns, or vills, originally composed a superior division called a Hundred, in each of which a court was annually held for the trial of causes. An indefinite number of these hundreds, which now vary both in size and population, form a county or shire, the civil government of which is confined to the shire-reeve or sheriff, who is elected annually. Soon after the introduction of Christianity, the kingdom was divided into parishes, and afterwards into bishoprics.

ANCIENT BRITONS.—Under the aboriginal inhabitants of Britain, Norfolk formed part of the province occupied by that class of the ICENI called Cenomanni or Cenimagni, who originally came from Gaul, and inhabited also all the counties of Suffolk, Cambridge, and Huntingdon, and parts of Bedfordshire, and Northamptonshire. Historians all agree that the Aborigines of Britain were a tribe of Gallic Celts, who emigrated from the continent and settled here, probably about a thousand years prior to the christian era. Before the Roman conquest, those in the southern parts of Britain had made some progress towards civilization; but those in the north were as wild and uncultivated as their native hills. They subsisted chiefly by hunting and the spontaneous fruits of the earth; wearing for their clothing, (when the inclemency of the season compelled them to such incumbrances,) the skins of animals, and dwelling in habitations formed by the “pillars of the forest rooted in the earth, and enclosed by interwoven branches.” Their religion, which formed one part of their free monarchical government, was Druidical; but its origin is not certainly known, though some affirm that the Druids accompanied the Celts in early ages from the east; and others, that Druidism was introduced into England by the Phœnicians of Cadiz, who were the first merchants that discovered and traded to this island, and, for a considerable time, monopolized its commerce, by carefully concealing their traffic from other nations; but the lucrative trade in tin, and other useful metals with which Britain abounds, was ultimately traced to its source, and soon brought the Roman and other merchants to our shores.

The civil jurisdiction and religion of the DRUIDS prevailed in every part of the island. They dispensed justice; not under any written code of laws, but on what they professed to be equitable principles—all their verdicts being determined by such sense as the assembled delegates entertained of impartial justice; and on discordance of opinion in the congress, appeal was made to the Arch-Druid, whose sentence was decisive. Their religious ceremonies were few, and nearly in unison with those of the ancient Hebrews; they worshipped on high places and in deep groves; and were not addicted to idolatry, as some authors have asserted, but adored the God of Nature, and rendered him praise on the yearly succession of seasons, which they kept as solemn festivals. Though they dealt largely in allegory, and symbolical representations, they practised but little priestcraft, and held not the ignorance of their votaries in the bonds of superstition; for they clearly explained the mysteries and symbols used in their ceremonies to the initiated, but to none else. To remove from the people all possibility of sophistry and innovation, their maxims of justice were taught orally; the sons of chief personages were disciples in their ethnic schools, where the rules of moral life were inculcated as the foundation of human wisdom. They studied medicine, and the virtues of plants, of which the Mistletoe was the chief specific, and they held nothing so sacred as the mistletoe of the oak, which, being very scarce, they gathered with great pomp and ceremony on a certain day appointed for their greatest festival. In their civil government, capital offenders were sentenced to death, and publicly sacrificed on the altars of their temples, in the most awful and solemn manner, whilst those convicted for minor crimes were excluded from public worship and excommunicated from all civil and religious benefits, till they had washed away, with the tears of repentance, the stain with which their guilt had branded them. Julius Cæsar, in his "Commentarii de Bello Gallico," says the Druids, (as the Gauls call their magicians or wise men) inculcated the immortality and transmigration of the soul, and discoursed "with youth much about the heavenly bodies, and their motion; the size of the heaven and the earth, the nature of things, and the influence and power of the immortal gods." The British Druids exercised their utmost authority in opposing the usurpation of the Roman invaders, who, fired with equal resentment, determined to secure themselves by exterminating the Druidic Order, which, after many massacres and the defeat of Queen Boadicea, rapidly disappeared. There is no evidence in history that Norfolk was ever the seat of the sanguinary conflicts between the Britons and Romans; the more southern district inhabited by the Trinobantes being the chief theatre on which British valour was displayed, with such zeal as excited even the admiration of the victors.

The Romans, having overrun Gaul, invaded Britain 55 years before the birth of Christ, under the command of Julius Cæsar, who, after a sanguinary struggle renewed in the following year, succeeded in establishing a Roman government, unsettled in its nature, and transient in its duration; for, being distracted by domestic war, the conquerors were obliged to return home, to preserve their imperial capital; consequently the Britons remained unmolested till A. D. 43, when the Emperor Claudius sent over an army under Plautius, who was succeeded by Ostorius Scapula, and he by the cruel general, Suetonius Paulinus, who completed the conquest of a great part of the island, and after exterminating many thousands of the Druids, abolished their rights and ceremonies. After the death of Constantine the Great, at York, (then called Altera Roma,) in 337, Britain was divided into two Roman Provinces, called Maxima Cæsarensis, and Valentia; and into three præsidial districts, called Britannia-Prima, Britannia-Secunda and Flavia Cæsarensis. Norfolk and the whole territory of the Iceni, with all the southern part of the island, were included in the second consular province, York being the capital of the first. To keep the conquerors

Britons in subjection, as well as to guard the coasts against the frequent attempts of the northern hordes, the Roman generals occasionally appointed a number of military posts in this part of their well-acquired territory. Five principal Stations were established in this county. These were Brannodunum (Brancaster), Garmanorum (Caister near Yarmouth), Venta-Icenorum (Caister near Norwich), Netumagus (Thetford), and Ad Iuam (Tostock), besides which several subordinate Castra-Fortia and Sancta-hyberna were also formed. Of the latter kind were, according to some writers, Buxton, Burgh near Yarmouth, Buckham, Laith-Acre, and Elmham. At these places have been discovered, coins, urns, and other Roman remains. These, and other fortifications intended to intimidate the Britons, as well as to repel invasion, were placed under the supreme command of an officer, whose title, was Comes tractus maritimi, or Comes litoris Saxonici, i. e. Count of the Saxon shore. Under his control the stations on the east side of the island were placed, the garrisons of which are stated to have consisted of 2,200 infantry, and 200 cavalry. These numbers are set down in the Notitia, written in the reign of the younger Theodosius, about the year 410. But as this allowance of troops was inadequate for the defence of each station, much more to subdue insurrection, it is probable, that to the Romans were joined British conscript troops, not included in this enumeration: for we find, that about twenty years after, the imperial armies in this country were comprised chiefly of British auxiliaries, which, together with the few remaining Roman troops, were recalled, to defend the Roman capital, in A. D. 446. Britain, thus deprived of her best soldiers, soon became debilitated, fell an easy prey to the united ravages of the Picts and Scots: and her downfall was completed by the imbecility of Vortigern, king of the Dunmuns: who, inviting to his assistance the Saxons, quickly, but too late, discovered that they had remunerated the town service by the seizure of his territories.

SAXONS — The first Saxon leader, who established himself in this part of the island, was Uffa, who, A. D. 575, assumed dominion over that portion of the country, which at present comprises Norfolk, Suffolk, and Cambridgeshire, giving it the appellation of EAST-ANGLIA, and the inhabitants were denominated Uffingas. About this period, it is highly probable, that the city of Norwich (see p. 65) arose out of the Venta-Icenorum of the Britons and Romans, and from its relative bearing to the old city, was called by the Saxons, North-wick. Some authors say that Grecon the father of Uffa, was the first sovereign of East Anglia. Uffa, who died A. D. 578, was succeeded by his son Titus, on whose demise, 599, his son Redwald assumed the reins of government, and embraced christianity, but by the influence of his wife, renounced it again. He was succeeded, A. D. 624, by his son Egpcwald, who was assassinated by a relation named Richbert, A. D. 633. His half-brother, Sigebert, or Sigbercht, succeeded to the crown, in whose reign the bishopric of Dunwich, in Suf-

Hingwar or Ingwar proceeded with his army to besiege Thetford, then a royal residence of the East Anglian princes. When he forced an entry, he gave his soldiers free booty; who put to the sword the inhabitants, and reduced the city to ashes. Edmund, who was then at Eglesden, a village now called Eggleston, in Suffolk, received an insulting offer from the Danish king, purporting, that if the king would renounce Christianity, consent to worship Scandinavian idols, Ingwar would agree, that Edmund and himself should share the spoils of the kingdom. This roused the timid monarch to march against the enemy. His armies met at Snarehill near Thetford, and after great slaughter on both sides, a drawn battle ensued. The spirit of Edmund was subdued, and he made the fatal resolution never to counter the Pagans again; who, taking advantage of his timidity, seized on his person, bound him in close fetters, after scourging him, &c. cut off his head, Nov. 20, 870. They now overrun the whole of East Anglia, but were repeatedly checked in their further encroachments by the sons and successors of Egbert, King of Wessex, especially by the youngest, who obtained the name of Alfred the Great, and constrained them to abandon East Anglia entirely; but concentrating their forces in Wessex, Alfred again defeated them, and frequently assigned them East Anglia for their limited residence, after compelling them to receive christian baptism. Guthrum, their leader, was to hold East Anglia in capite, or by right, of the crown, as a feudatory prince. Here they betook themselves to the cultivation of domestic duties, and received a code of laws from Alfred. But the restless spirit of these invaders could not long brook such restraint. Encouraged by rumours of fresh arrivals of their countrymen, they revolted, but were again subdued, after which, Alfred took the provinces of East Anglia and Northumbria, under his own government. Ethelred II. having gained additional strength and confidence, by marrying the daughter of Richard Duke of Normandy, secretly ordered a general massacre of the Danes, which took place on Nov. 13th, 1002. To revenge this outrage, Sweyn, King of Denmark, assembled a numerous army, invaded England, burnt the cities of Norwich, Thetford, &c., and after ravaging the country at various intervals during the succeeding ten years, he was proclaimed King of England in 1013, but died at Gainsborough in the following year. His son, Canute, returned with fresh levies of troops in 1016, and after several battles, the kingdom was divided between him and Edmund Ironside. In the following year he obtained dominion over the whole kingdom, and committed East Anglia to the government of the Danish Earl Turketel, or Turkill. On the death of Hardicanute, the fourth and last Danish King of England, in 1041, Edward the Confessor, by general consent, ascended the throne as a Saxon ancestor. He expelled the Danes from the kingdom, abolished the oppressive tax, called Danegelt, and firmly cemented East Anglia to his own dominions. The Saxon invaders were confederated tribes, consisting of the Angles, (hence the term Anglo-Saxons,) the Jutes, and the genuine Saxons, who had long been settled on the shores of the German Ocean, and extended from the Eyder to the Rhine. These "Sea Kings," like the Danes, were constantly in quest of plunder and dominion.

NORMAN CONQUEST.

After the death of Edward the Confessor, in 1066, Harold, the son of Earl Godwin, ascended the throne, but was opposed by his brother Tosti, at whose instance, Harfrager, King of Norway, entered the Humber with a mighty armament, embarked on board a kind of Norwegian armada, and landed his forces in Yorkshire, where they were completely overthrown by Harold, who left his brother and his royal confederate dead on the field. Harold's triumph, was, however of short duration; for, while rejoicing over his victory at York, he received information that William, Duke of Normandy, (whom it was said, Edward with his dying breath nominated as his successor,) had landed at Pavensay, in Sussex, with a numerous and well-disciplined army. To meet this foe, Harold marched his forces to Hastings, where, in a sanguinary battle, he lost both his life and his kingdom. No sooner was William the Conqueror seated on the English throne, in the year 1066, than he showed that his policy was to root out the ancient nobility, and to degrade the native inhabitants of the humbler classes to the rank of miserable slaves; though in this work he was obstinately but unsuccessfully opposed in the north of England, where he burnt York and many other places to the ground, and swore, "by the splendour of God," (his favourite oath,) that he would not leave a soul of his enemies alive. Conscious of the detestation in which he was held, he entertained a perpetual jealousy of the English. He built and garrisoned strong castles to keep them in awe; and in the wantonness of his power he obliged them to extinguish their fires and candles every evening at the ring of a bell called "the Curfew." He also caused a survey to be made of all the lands in the kingdom; the register of which is called the DOMESDAY BOOK, and was finished in 1087, after a labour of six years, on the model of the Book of Winchester, compiled by order of Alfred the Great.—Through all time, this "Book of Judicial Verdict," will be held in estimation, not merely for its antiquity, but also for its intrinsic value. It afforded the Conqueror an exact knowledge of his own land and revenue, while the rights of his subjects, in disputed cases, were settled by it; and to this day it serves to show what manor is, and what is not, ancient demesne. It specifies the extent of the land in each district; the state it was in, whether meadow, pasture, wood, or arable; the name of the proprietor; the tenure by which it was held; and the value at which it was estimated. That nothing might be wanting to render this document complete, and its authority perpetual, commissioners were appointed to superintend the survey, and the re-were made under the sanction of juries of all orders of free men in each district, empannelled for the purpose. This document to the memory of the Conqueror, written in Roman and a mixture of Saxon, is still preserved in the chapter-house at Westminster, amongst the national archives. This valuable manuscript, which had for so many centuries remained unpublished, was printed in the 40th of George III., for the use of the members of both Houses of Parliament, and the public libraries throughout the kingdom.

HISTORY OF NORFOLK

The Conqueror, in parcelling out the lands of the kingdom, gave his Norman followers, gave 379 manors and lordships in Norfolk, as follows :—To Hugh de Abrancis, his sister's son, he gave to hold by the sword, the Earldom of Chester, with 12 manors in Norfolk. To Odo, Bishop of Baieux, (his brother, by his mother's side) in Normandy, he gave 22 manors, and made him Earl of Kent. To Alan Rufus he gave 81 manors, and made him Earl of Richmond, in Yorkshire. On Walter Giffard he bestowed 28 manors, and made him Earl of Buckingham.

Ralph Waher he created Earl of Norfolk and Suffolk, and gave him nine manors. To Wm. Earl of Warren, in Normandy, he gave as "a meed of valour," 139 lordships, and created him Earl Warren and Surrey. He gave nine manors to de Rye or Rhia, and made his elder son Governor of Woolwich Castle. To Wm. de Albini Pincerna, his bursar, he gave the possessions of a Thane, named Edwin; comprising the manors of Snettisham, Sharnborn, Stanhoe, and Buckenham, the latter to be held by the service of bursar, or butler to the king; whence De Albini took the additional name of Pincerna.

To Humphrey de Bohun and Ralph de Limesi, he gave 10 manors; to Peter de Valoines, 20; to Ralph de Bayliff; and to Ralph de Toni, 19. During the reign of the Conqueror, Ralph de Waher having forfeited his honours and lands, by taking up arms against his sovereign, both were given to Hugh Bigod, who had distinguished himself in the Battle of Hastings. The property continued in this family till the reign of Edward the Second; for, in 1312, Thomas de Brothok obtained a charter in-tail general of the honours and estates of Bigod, Marshal of England, and Earl of Norfolk. These remained to him in the reign of King Edward III., in whose reign the manors in the hundred of Brothercross, which, till that time belonged to the Earls of Warren and Surrey, were given to John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster. The great estates in the hundred of South Erpingham, descended from the Barons the Marshals, Earls of Pembroke, and from them to the family of Arundel, passed with their heiress to the Montalts, in the reign of Henry III. The estates of Ralph de Toni, went, in the time of Edward II. into the family of Beaufort of Warwick. Of the great proprietary usurpers created by the Conqueror, but few of their descendants held their estates for any great length of time. The property has frequently changed owners. In the reigns of Henry VI and VIII., amongst the great land owners here, were the families of Townshend, Yelverton, Hobart, Lovel, Southwell, Gaud, Spelman, Howard (Duke of Norfolk,) Fitzallan (Earl of Arundel,) Willoughby de Eresby, Denny, Dacre, Shelton, Kerdister, Coke, Paston, Goring, Berney, &c. By the abolition of feudal customs, the admission of all classes of society to participate in the distribution of legal privileges, and the general diffusion of a spirit of trade and commerce, property has been greatly divided; and though in some cases, large tracts of land have been accumulated into great estates; yet, in numerous instances, both the tenures and the owners have been changed. There are now in the county upwards of 12,000 freeholders and copyholders, and the names, the lords of the manors, and most of the owners of the soil will be seen in the list of seats of nobility and gentry at pages 52 to 60, and in the succeeding Histories and Directories of the Hundreds and Parishes, in which latter, the smaller proprietors of the soil are distinguished by the appellation of Yeomen.

Civil, Political, and Honorial History.—In the early reigns of the Saxon princes, the civil and military authorities were blended together in the same persons, who from their rank were styled Ethelings, and from their office Ealdermen, or Earls.—These were the viceregerents of royalty; being empowered to raise troops and contributions; to repel invasion, quell insurrections, and preserve the King's peace; until Alfred the Great separated their civil and military functions, and founded the basis of the present enviable constitution of England. Before this period, one mote or court served for the decision of civil, ecclesiastical and military causes; for hearing which the earl and the bishop conjointly presided, but a severation was now made between temporal and spiritual concerns. The bishop was allowed to hold a privileged court for his diocese, and the Sheriff had the power granted him of holding courts for determining such civil causes as were previously tried by the Earl. Until 1576, one sheriff served for the two counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, both being in the bishopric of Norwich. The sheriff is elected yearly; attends the judges at the assizes; assists in the execution of justice; has virtually the custody of all the county prisoners; and holds a court called the Sheriff's Turn, for enquiring into all offences committed against the common or statutable law of the realm; and a County Court, for the recovery of debts under 40s., but by virtue of a recent act of parliament, he now holds quarterly, a "Sheriff's Court," for the recovery of debts to the amount of £20. The Assizes and Quarter Sessions are already noticed at page 15, and lists of the Magistrates and Public Officers will be found at a subsequent page. The places and periods of holding Petty Sessions are stated with the general description of the 33 Hundreds into which the county is divided. The Military

The Maritime government of Norfolk is usually vested in the same person. Lord Walsingham is the present Lord-Lieutenant, Custos Rotulorum, and Vice-Admiral. In the two first capacities he is appointed by the king, and as his deputy-governor, presides over the affairs of the county, has the control of the militia, and the appointment of deputy-lieutenants and magistrates. As Vice-Admiral of Norfolk, he is appointed by and executes his authority under the Lord High Admiral of England. He has power to hold a Court of Admiralty for the county, with judges, marshals, and other proper officers, subordinate to him, for the purpose of exercising jurisdiction in all maritime affairs within his peculiar limits; but the mayors of Yarmouth and Lynn have separate jurisdictions on the rivers of their respective boroughs and ports. From the decision of these local courts, an appeal lies to the High Court of Admiralty. Exclusive of the borough and the general jurisdiction of the county, and the king's courts, there are in Norfolk several Honorial Jurisdictions, with courts, secular, privileged by exemptions and powers, vested in the lords; remnants of the Honors or Liberties. The court for the Forest of the Duchy of Lancaster is kept at Aylsham; for the Honour of Rhye, at Hingham; for the Fee of Richmond, at Framham, and for the Liberty of the Duke of Norfolk, at Lynnhall, or elsewhere, within the liberty, at the discretion of His Grace. The latter is very extensive, comprising the four Hundreds of Barham, Guntercross, Lamtitch, and South-Greenhoe, and the following scattered parishes, viz., Yelverton, with Alpingham, Aylsham, Buxley, Baynold, Baughton, Bramerton, Caister next Norwich, Cantley, Ducklington, Duckburgh, Forecote St. Peter, Framingham Earl and Port, Heddington, Horwode, Hylton, London, Loppence, Poringland (Great and Little), Roughton, Saxton, Strumpston, Snettling, Constall, Framham, Little Marks, South-Walsingham, Walsingham, Winteringham, and Wymondham. Two Coroner's are appointed for the extensive Honorial Liberties of His Grace of Norfolk; one for the Liberty of Sir Thomas Hare, one for the Hundred of Clackham, and one for the Liberty of the Duchy of Lancaster, which comprises the Hundreds of Brotherton, Gifford, North and South Erpingham, North Greenhoe, and South Helen.

EARLS AND DUKES OF NORFOLK — Before the Conquest, there were seven successive Earls of East Angles, viz., Etheistun, Ethevald, Alwin, Ulfkettle, Thorkel or Turkel, Harold, and Godwin. Ralph de Walder, or Guader, was created Earl of Norfolk and Suffolk, by the Norman Conqueror. Having rebelled against his benefactor, in 1075, he was obliged to fly to Denmark, and part of his confiscated estates, together with the title of Earl of Norfolk, were conferred on Roger Bigod, who had previously obtained several great lordships in this county, as a reward for his eminent services at the battle of Hastings. Hugh Bigod, the third Earl, died attainted, in 1177; after which, his son, Roger Bigod, was obliged to purchase the title and estates.

by paying a fine of 1,000 marks. In the reign of King John, he joined the refractory barons, and was one of the most active amongst them in procuring for the people that great palladium of English liberty—Magna Charta. Roger Bigod, the sixth Earl, was Marshal of England in right of his mother, Maud, the sister and co-heiress of Anselm, Earl of Pembroke, and Earl-Marshal. He died in 1270, and was succeeded by his nephew Roger, who, having no issue, surrendered his Earldom and Marshal's rod to king Edward I., who conferred them both on his fifth son, Thomas Plantagenet de Brotherton, who died without male issue, in 1338; after which, his eldest daughter, Margaret, was created Duchess of Norfolk for life, and married Lord Segrave. Their daughter, Elizabeth, was married to Thomas Lord Mowbray, who, in right of his wife, succeeded to the honor of Norfolk, and was created Duke of Norfolk, in 1397; but he was banished in the following year, and died at Venice in 1400. His second son, John de Mowbray, having fought valiantly, during the wars in France, was, by an unanimous vote of parliament, restored to the title of Duke of Norfolk, in 1424. John de Mowbray, the fourth Duke, died in 1475, without male issue. His infant daughter was betrothed to Richard Plantagenet, Duke of York, second son of Edward IV., who was created Duke of Norfolk, in 1477, but being murdered in the tower, with his brother Edward, by order of his ambitious uncle, Richard III., all his honours became extinct. Sir John Howard, Kt., who was descended from a daughter of Thomas de Mowbray, the first Duke, was created Duke of Norfolk and Earl Marshal, in 1483, but was slain at Bosworth-Field, in 1485, while fighting for the ruthless Richard III.

HOWARD FAMILY:—The titles of Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal, &c., still remain with the illustrious family of Howard, which ranks in the British Peerage next the Blood Royal; but it has had its share of State sufferings; the block has been several times stained with its blood, and its dignities and possessions have been often forfeited to the Crown, but as often restored. They descended from the Earl of Passy, in Normandy. William Howard, a learned judge in the reigns of Edward I. and II., was one of their early ancestors. His son, John Howard, was sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk, and served in the wars against the French and Scots, in the latter reign. Sir John Howard, the son of the latter, was a renowned admiral in the reign of Edward III. His grandson, Robert, married Margaret, daughter and co-heiress of Thomas de Mowbray, the first Duke of Norfolk. He had issue by that lady, John Howard, who was commonly called "Jocky of Norfolk," and distinguished himself in the wars with France, in the reigns of Henry VI. and Edward IV., in the latter of which he was "Captain-General of the king's forces at sea," Deputy-Governor of Calais, summoned to Parliament among the barons, and Constable of the Tower of London;—and obtained a grant in special tail of divers lands and manors.

He (Jocky of Norfolk) had a pension from France, and in addition to it, he received from Louis XI., in less than two years, in money and plate, "24,000 crowns, by way of direct bribe." He got all the honours of Earl-Marshal, &c., in return for his favouring the usurpation of that blood-stained monarch, Richard III., with whom he was killed in the battle of Bosworth-Field, in 1485, and being attainted, all his honours were forfeited. But his son Thomas subsequently obtained the favour of Henry VII., and was restored to the title of Earl of Surrey. He afterwards routed the Scots at Flodden-Field, and rendered such essential service to Henry VIII., that in 1514, he was created Duke of Norfolk. William, his second son, was created Baron Howard of Effingham; and Thomas, his eldest son, succeeded him as Duke of Norfolk; but after rendering great services to Henry VIII., both as a soldier and plenipotentiary, he was seized and attainted with his son Henry, who lost his head on Tower-Hill, in 1547. He himself, however, lived till the catholic Mary ascended the throne, and restored him to all his honours and estates, in 1553, but he died in the following year, when he was succeeded by his grandson, Thomas, who, in the protestant reign of Elizabeth, was attainted and beheaded in 1572, "for taking part with Mary Queen of Scots." His son, Philip, Earl of Arundel, (by Margaret, sole heiress of Henry Fitz Alan, Earl of Arundel) was found guilty of high treason in the 23rd of Elizabeth, and died in the Tower six years afterwards. Thomas, Earl of Arundel, son of the latter, introduced the "Arundel Marbles" into this kingdom, and obtained possession of Sheffield, &c., by marrying Lady Alethea Talbot. Henry, the Duke of Norfolk of the time of James II., was a staunch protestant. One day, says Burnet, "the King gave this Duke of Norfolk the sword of state, to carry before him to the popish chapel, and he stood at the door: Upon which the King said unto him, 'My Lord, your father would have gone further;' to which the Duke answered, 'Your Majesty's father was the better man, and he would not have gone so far.'" It was owing to his nephew succeeding him, that the title came again into the Roman Catholic line. The titles of the present Most Noble BERNARD EDWARD HOWARD, are Duke of Norfolk, Earl Surrey and Arundel, Hereditary Earl Marshal, Premier Peer, Baron Fitz Alan, Clun and Oswaldestre, and Maltsters, F. R. S. and F. S. A. He married Lady Elizabeth Belasyse, by whom he has issue, Henry Charles Howard, Earl of Surrey, who married in 1814, Lady Charlotte Leveson Gower, by whom he has issue, Henry Lord Fitz Alan and other children. The late Duke renounced the ancient religion of his ancestors, but his present Grace professes the Roman Catholic Faith, as also does his son and grandchildren, who reside generally at Worksop Manor. His Grace's principal seat is at Arundel Castle, Sussex, and his town residence in St. James's-square. The family had formerly seats at Norwich, Kenninghall, and other places in Norfolk, but the only branch of them now left in the county, is the Hon. Fulke Grerville Howard, of Castle Rising, and he now resides, chiefly at Elford-Hall, Staffordshire.

The PEERS who have derived titles from places in Norfolk, are G. H. Fitzroy, Duke of Grafton, Viscount Thetford, &c.; George Townshend, Marquis Townshend, of Rainham, Baron Townshend, of Lynn, &c.; Fins. Chas. Seymoure Conway, Marquis and Earl of Hertford, Earl of Yarmouth, &c.; G. R. Hobart Hampden, Earl of Buckinghamshire, and Baron Hobart, of Blickling, the late illustrious naval hero, Horatio Nelson, was created Viscount Nelson of the Nile, and of Burnham-Thorpe, Baron Nelson, of Hilborough, &c.; the Earl of Orford, is Baron Walpole, of Wolterton, &c.; E. V. Harbord, Baron Suffield, Charles Gough Calthorpe, Baron Calthorpe, Thos. de Grey, Baron Walsingham; J. Wodehouse, Baron Wodehouse, of Kimberly; and in 1835, Sir James Scarlett was created Baron Abinger, of Abinger in Surrey, and of the City of Norwich. Though so long conspicuous in the page of history, Norwich does not appear to have given title to civil honours, till the reign of Charles I., who, in 1626, created Edward Lord Denny, of Waltham, Earl of Norwich, though, in 1342, John de Norwich, being a judge, was summoned to parliament as Baron Norwich. The title of Earl of Norwich passed from the first Earl to his nephew, Baron Goring, and on the death of his son, without issue, in 1672, it became extinct, but was revived in the same year by Charles II., who created Baron Howard of Castle Rising, Earl of Norwich, but he afterwards became Duke of Norfolk. On the death of Edward Duke of Norfolk, without issue, in 1777, the titles of Baron Howard of Castle Rising, and Earl of Norwich, became extinct, but the latter was again revived in 1784, as the secondary title of Alexander Gordon, Duke of Gordon, in Scotland, the present Duke of Gordon, Earl of Norwich, Baron Gordon of Huntley, Baron Mordaunt of Turrey, and Baron Beauchamp of Hietson. Many ancient titles, borne from places in this county, are dormant, or extinct. BARONETS, which were first created by James I., in 1611, seem to answer to the feudal barons of ancient times, when the distinction existed of barons of parliament, and barons by patent. Of the number which have been created in Norfolk, the titles of 29 are extinct, and 20 are still retained. (Vide list at a subsequent page.)

ENCAMPMENTS, ROMAN ROADS, &c.—In addition to the five Roman Stations already mentioned at page 19, some writers have considered Ichborough, as a sixth; and have identified it as the Iccani of the Itinerary. Roman coins, and other vestiges, have been found in various parts of the county, particularly at Brampton, Buckenham, and Thetford; but these furnish no decisive proof that such places have either been occupied by the Romans, as stations or as exploratory camps. At South Creek, in the north part of the county, where a desperate battle was fought between the Anglo-Saxons and the Danes, are vestiges of a circular Saxon encampment, which still retains the name of

Blood-gate. Near Weeting are the remains of another, consisting of a vallum and fossum, known by the name of the Foss.—Near it are places of sepulture, called Grimes Graves. At Narborough is a small circular fort, said to have been occupied, if not thrown up, by the Danes, when they landed on this part of the coast, A. D. 1003. Besides the military fortifications in the county, several of the OLD HALLS were formerly encompassed with moats, and their entrances protected by towers, strong doors, bridges, &c. Remains of some of these features are still preserved in Ozburgh Hall, Stiffkey Hall, Baconsthorpe Hall, Hunstanton Hall, Scales Hall, Fincham Hall, &c. Of the vias militares, or great ROMAN ROADS, made for the convenience of carriages, and facilitating the marching of armies, few perfect vestiges remain in Norfolk. But as several important stations were formed within the county, no doubt can be entertained that such roads once existed, though the traces of most of them are now obliterated. It was the custom of the Romans to open this kind of communication between all their stations, and many appearances of such are still to be seen in those parts of the adjoining county of Cambridge which abut upon this, and in a direction as though they had come from the eastern part. A great Roman road connected the south eastern and north western parts of the kingdom; and another formed a similar communication between the north eastern and the south western extremities.—This commencing on the coast of Norfolk, probably at Burgh, near Yarmouth, passed by Caistor, near Norwich, and is now conspicuous near Downham; crossing the river Ouse, it passes through the fens into Cambridgeshire, and proceeding through the central counties, joins the Julia-strata, and terminates at St. David's head. Sir Wm. Dugdale says it was discovered in the fens sixty feet wide and 3 feet deep, and formed of compact gravel. Extending southward to this great road, from Narborough to the vicinity of Stoke Ferry, along the boundary of the Clackclose Hundred, was an embanked road and foss, still extant in many places, and called the Devil's Ditch. Of the chimini minors, or Vicinal Roads, some traces are still visible. What is called Pedder's, or Pedler's way, passing from Thetford by Ickborough, Swaffham, Castle-Acre, Fring, and Ringstead, to the sea, near Brancaaster, appears one of this sort. The road leading by Long Stratton to Tasburgh, was probably another, whilst a third branched off from this to the north-west, going through Marshland, Upwell, and Elm, to Wisbech. What is called the Milky-way, has been considered Roman; but is more likely of later date, and was probably made for the convenience of the devotees, who went on pilgrimage to the chapel of our Lady of Walsingham. It is traceable in several places, and is pretty perfect in the vicinity of Grimes Graves. Several barrows or tumuli, are to be found in different parts of the county, particularly in the neighbourhood of Creake, Anmer, Rudham, Sedgesford, Stiffkey. Long-Stratton, Weeting, Norwich, and Walsingham. In some, which have been opened, different relics have been discovered, as human bones, wood-ashes, and urns made of baked clay. These were sometimes encompassed with large stones, forming a sort of cell, or kistvaen; and in some of the barrows have been discovered missile instruments, with implements, which are considered by some antiquaries to have been originally employed in sacrifice. On Mousehold Heath, near Norwich, are many excavations in the earth, which Mr. King and some other authors have called hiding pits, or British caves.

CASTLES, &c.—Besides the Roman stations and the Saxon and Danish encampments already noticed, Norfolk contains the remains of several castles and castellated halls, the chief of which were built or materially altered by the Norman barons. The most formidable were at Norwich, Castleacre, and Castle Rising. At Middleton, near Lynn, is a fine gate-house, or tower, which formed the entrance to a castellated structure. Caister Hall, near Yarmouth, Ozburgh Hall, Winwal House, near Wereham; Stiffkey Hall, and Baconsthorpe Hall, are ancient mansions, all of which exhibit some features of a castellated character, though they do not appear to have been regularly or completely fortified. The walls of these buildings, as well as most of the numerous churches, monastic ruins, and other ancient edifices in Norfolk, are composed chiefly of flint, embedded in strong mortar;—the county producing scarcely any stone, except an iron-coloured substance called carr stone, which is got in pieces not much larger than the flints, which latter are found in great abundance, nearly in every part of the county. Both the flint and carr-stone are much used in modern erections, but the quoins, and the windows and door cases, &c. are generally constructed of brick or free stone, forming a sort of frame to the other irregularly shaped materials, and giving to the whole a very picturesque effect.

The Historical Events which have happened in Norfolk, since the Norman Conquest, are detailed in the Histories of Norwich, Yarmouth, Lynn, Thetford, &c. at subsequent pages, therefore, a brief but general survey of their leading features will here suffice. In the time of William Rufus, Norfolk was a scene of confusion, by Roger Bigod having sided with Robert Curthose against the King; in which contest the county suffered very considerable devastation. During the commotions excited in the kingdom by the unnatural attempt of Prince Henry, to wrest the crown from the head of his father, King Henry, this county participated largely in the disasters which arise from civil discord. Earl Bigod espoused the prince's cause, but the King's troops being victorious, the Flemings, in the pay of the prince, were permitted to return to their own country, and Bigod purchased his peace at the expense of 1000 marks. In the turbulent reign of King John, Roger Bigod, Earl of Norfolk, took part with the refractory barons. And while they were taking cities and towns in one part of the kingdom, John was laying waste, with fire and

and the mutual possessions in another. In his career he came to Lymington, where, being well received, he crossed the washes with his baggage, to the abbey of Sarum, in his way to Northampton, where he died. After this the county was ruled by John de Warenne, who excited heavy contentions. In the reign of Richard the Second, a powerful insurrection broke out in the county, led by John de Tiler and two other daring leaders, and the rebellion soon spread into Norfolk, where the rebels were led by John de Tiler, the Norwich dyer, but these "Norfolk Levellers" were ultimately overthrown by the Bishop of Norwich, in 1381. Two other rebellions broke out in the reign of Edward VI., arising to a system of enclosures, adopted by the nobles and gentry, who had been put in possession of the abbey lands. Though they happened in different parts of the kingdom, (in York and Derby) they were evidently the consequence of the same communication, and a preconcerted plan. The Norfolk insurgents were headed by the two *Kett*s, of Wymondham, and after their executions and outrages, the county suffered severely for several months, but they were finally subdued by the army under the Earl of Warwick, in a dreadful battle fought near Barnby on August 27th, 1549. (see p. 75.) At the commencement of the Civil Wars, in the reign of Charles I., Norfolk was a devoted part. When the parliament had voted the necessity of taking up arms against the King and his party, on July 1st, 1642, the inhabitants of this county generally approved of the parliamentary cause, and Norwich, Yarmouth, and other towns were speedily garrisoned by the parliamentary troops.—During this long and unnatural struggle, did the King's forces make much impression in Norfolk, as will be seen on page 72, 263, and 397, though Lynn was occupied by them in September, 1643.

ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY.

After the death of King Arthur, in 518, the religion of the ancient Britons, gave place to the more barbarous superstitions of the Saxons, who worshipped the sun and the moon, adored the god of thunder, had images in their temples, practised sacrifices, and believed truly in spells and incantations. Happily, this idolatry did not long exist in Britain. The Saxons, who had settled in East Anglia, were amongst the first to embrace the Christian faith. Sigbert, son of Roderic, King of the East Angles, was the first convert; being convinced of its truth during his sojourn in France, by the preaching of his friend Felix, a pious Burgundian. He had been banished to France by his elder brother, Erpenwald, after whose death, he returned to Britain, and became King of East Anglia. He brought Felix with him, and encouraged him to undertake the conversion of his subjects, upon which arduous task, Felix cheerfully entered.—Charmed by the impressive eloquence of the evangelist, and inspired by the royal example, numerous converts were soon made, schools were instituted, and churches erected for public worship. Over these Felix was appointed to preside, under the title of Bishop; and, after having been consecrated by Honorius, the second archbishop of Canterbury, in 630, he fixed his seat or see at Silthestow, afterwards called Dunwich, in Suffolk. Such was his piety and zeal, and so extensive was the fame he acquired by his eminent services in the church, that after his death, in 647, he was canonized as a saint, and his festival appointed to be held yearly, on March 8th. The second Bishop of East Anglia was Thomas, who had been deacon to Felix, and died in 653. He was succeeded by Boniface, on whose death, in 669, Bisus, or Bossa became the third Bishop of East Anglia, but in his declining years, finding his diocese much too large for his enfeebled exertions, he obtained permission to divide it into two sees, fixing one at Dunwich, in Suffolk, and the other at North Elmham, in Norfolk. During this partition of the East Anglian diocese, there were eleven BISHOPS OF NORTH ELMHAM, viz — Bedwinus, consecrated in 673; Northbertus, Hedulacus, Edelfridus, Lamferthus, Athelcalfus, Unfertus, Sibba, Hunferth, Humbert, and Wybread. The latter was appointed bishop of both the sees of Norfolk and Suffolk, which having again united, he fixed the episcopal seat at North Elmham, about the year 870. At this period, this part of England was repeatedly invaded by the Danes, and the see was vacant more than half a century. The ecclesiastical government was at length restored by Theodred the First, or Teodred. He was succeeded by Theodred the Second, surnamed the Good, who was also Bishop of London, and held both the sees till his death, about the year 962. After these, there were eleven other Bishops of North Elmham, viz Athulf, Alfric, Athelstane, St. Algar, Alfwine, Alfric the Second, Alfric the Third, Stigand, Grimketel, Egelmar, and Herfast. The latter, in compliance with an order, that all episcopal sees should be removed from villages to the most eminent cities or towns in the respective dioceses, translated the see of North Elmham to THETFORD, in 1070. He was by birth a Norman, a great favourite of the Conqueror's, and Chancellor of England. He died in 1084. Wm. Galsagus, or Beaufo, succeeded, and was afterwards made Chancellor. He died in 1091, and by his will, divided his immense wealth between his family and see. His successor, HERBERT DE LOZINGA, or Losinga, purchased the bishopric of Wm. Rufus, at the cost of £1,900, for which, and other simoniacal practices, he was cited to appear before the Pope, and besides the forfeiture of his polluted staff and ring, was commanded, by way of penance to build certain churches and monasteries. In obedience to this injunction, he laid the foundation of NORWICH CATHEDRAL and its Priory, in 1096, after solemnly translating the see to that city in 1094.—(Vide p. 111.) and being there consecrated by Thomas Archbishop of York. For the site of his cathedral and priory, he purchased of the King and citizens, the meadow land called Cow-holm, and now forming the Cathedral Close and Precincts, (see p. 119,) under the peculiar jurisdiction of the Dean and Chapter. Since the removal of the see to Norwich, 64 prelates have successively presided over it, as will be seen in the following numerical list, with the years in which they were respectively inducted.

LIST OF THE BISHOPS OF NORWICH.

1 Herbert Losinga ..1094	22 Henry le Spencer ..1369	45 Mattw. Wren 1636
2 Eborard or Everard 1119	23 Alex. de Totington 1406	46 Rd. Montague 1638
3 Wm. Turbus1146	24 Ricd. de Courtney..1413	47 Joseph Hall..1641
4 John of Oxford....1175	25 John Wakeryng ..1416	(Vacant 4 years)
5 John de Grey.....1200	26 William Aluwick..1426	48 Ed. Reynolds 1660
(Vacant 7 years.)	27 T. Brown, or Breus 1436	49 Any. Sparrow 1676
6 Pandulphus1222	28 Walter Lyhart1446	50 Wm. Lloyd ..1685
7 Thos. de Blandevill 1226	29 James Goldwell....1472	51 John Moore..1691
8 Ralfo1236	30 Thomas Jan or Janel 1499	52 Cha. Trimmel 1707
(Vacant 3 years.)	31 Rd. Nykke or Nix..1500	53 Thos. Green..1721
9 Wm. de Raleigh....1239	32 W. Rugg, or Reppes 1535	54 J. Leng, D.D. 1723
10 Walter de Suffield..1244	33 Thomas Thirlby ..1550	55 Wm. Baker..1727
11 Simon de Waltone..1258	34 John Hopton.....1554	56 Robt. Butts..1732
12 Roger de Skerewing 1265	35 Richard Cox, D.D..1558	57 Thos. Gooch 1738
13 Wm. Middleton....1278	36 John Parkhurst, DD.1560	58 Saml. Lisle ..1748
14 Ralph de Walpole..1288	37 Edmund Freke1575	59 Thos. Hayter 1749
15 John Salomon1299	38 Edmund Scambler 1584	60 P. Yonge, DD. 1761
16 Robt. de Baldok ..1325	39 William Redman ..1594	61 La. Bagot, DD. 1783
17 Wm. de Ayrminne 1325	40 John Jeggon1602	62 Geo. Horne ..1790
18 Thomas Hemenhale 1337	41 John Overall.....1618	63 Charles Man-
19 Anthony de Beck ..1337	42 Samuel Harsnett ..1619	ners Sutton..1792
20 William Bateman ..1343	43 Francis White.... 1628	64 Henry Bath-
21 Thomas Percy1355	44 Richard Corbet....1631	urst, LL.D ..1806

NOTES ON THE BISHOPS:—(1) Herbert, founded the cathedral. (2) Eborard, divided the archdeaconry of Suffolk into two; persecuted the Jews, and was deposed for cruelty. (3) Turbus was a friend and advocate of Thomas-a-Becket, who induced him to excommunicate the Earl of Norfolk and some other nobles, for which he was obliged to fly till he had appeased the King's wrath. (4) Oxford took part with the King against the insolent Becket. (5) Grey, built a palace at Gaywood, near Lynn, made that town a free borough, and lent large sums to King John, for which he received in pledge the royal regalia. (9) Raleigh, granted an indulgence of 20 years' pardon to all who would contribute towards building St. Paul's Church, London. (10) Suffield obtained a charter of free warren for himself and successors; made a valuation of all the ecclesiastical revenues of the kingdom, for Pope Innocent; endowed St. Giles' Hospital; and built the Virgin's Chapel in the Cathedral. (15) Salomon, enlarged the palace, and founded the Charnel-house school, at Norwich. (17) Ayrminne, enclosed the palace, cathedral, &c. with stone walls, and fortified them with embattled parapets. (19) Beck being of an imperious and quarrelsome temper was poisoned either by the monks or his own servants. (20) Bateman was a native of Norwich, and founded Trinity Hall, Cambridge. (21) Percy, the youngest brother of the Earl of Northumberland, was only 22 years of age when he succeeded to the prelacy. He repaired the choir, and rebuilt the cathedral steeple, which had been blown down in 1361. (22) Spencer, the warlike prelate is noticed at page 72. (27) Brown, left money to pay the city tax, and founded exhibitions at the universities for poor scholars from his diocese. (29) Goldwell, granted indulgences or pardons for 12 years and 40 days. to all who assisted him in beautifying the cathedral. (31) Nix gave the re.

venues of his diocese to Henry VIII., in exchange for the abbacy of Holme; and persecuted the church reformers (see p. 74 and 514) as also did the cruel bishop Hopton (34) who died through fear on the accession of Elizabeth (40) Jeggon, resided chiefly at his palace at Ludham, where a fire destroyed his library, and many valuable documents respecting the diocese. (44) Corbet, wrote sandy pieces of facetious poetry (45) Wren, was father of that prince of English architects, Sir C. Wren (47) Hall, during the civil wars was sent to the tower for asserting his right to vote in the House of Peers, and parliament deprived him of the temporalties of his see (vide p. 79) (48) Reynolds, gave much in charity, and paid great attention to the comforts of his clergy. (50) Lloyd, on the accession of William III., refused to take the oath of abjuration against James II., but retiring to Hammersmith, he continued his episcopal office till his death (51) Moore, collected a valuable library, which was purchased by George I., and presented to Cambridge University. (52) Trimnet was a native of Norwich, and greatly assisted the protestant emigrants, who fled to his diocese from the Palatinate, on the Rhine, through the irruptions and exactions of the French. Many of these emigrants who settled in Norfolk, were artisans, and greatly encreased the general welfare of the county, as those had done who fled from Flanders, in the reign of Elizabeth. (57) Gooch, obtained two charters to incorporate the Norwich Diocesan "Society for the relief of the widows and orphans of the clergy" (63) The Rt. Hon. Charles Manners Sutton, D.D. was translated to the archiepiscopal see of Canterbury, in 1805, when he was succeeded at Norwich, by the present venerable and worthy prelate, the Rt. Rev. Henry Bathurst, L. L. D. who was born in 1744, and is the son of the late B. Bathurst, Esq., of Sydney Park, Gloucestershire, descended from the Bathursts, of Kent. He is eminently distinguished for his firm attachment to the principles of civil and religious liberty, is one of the most elegant scholars of the times, and is now in the 92nd year of his age, and the 31st of his prelacy.

The DIOCESE OF NORWICH comprises the whole of the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, except four peculiars in the latter county, viz. Hadleigh, Manks-Ulleigh, Moulton, and Freckingham. It also includes 16 parishes in Cambridgeshire. It had formerly upwards of 1350 PARISHES, but after the Reformation some of the smallest were consolidated with others, so that its present number is only 1279, of which 744 are in Norfolk, 519 in Suffolk, and 16 in Cambridgeshire, but the number of beneficed clergy only amounts to about 700, and the licensed curates to 270; there being in the diocese many pluralists, some holding 3 or 4 livings. It is subdivided into 47 Deaneries, apportioned amongst the Arch-deaconries as follows, viz. 13 to Norwich, 12 to Norfolk, 8 to Sudbury, and 14 to Suffolk. It was formerly comprised in one archdeaconry, Sudbury being added in 1126, Suffolk in 1127, and Norwich in 1200. The revenues of the bishopric were anciently very valuable, but were much decreased by Henry VIII., who stripped it of all its manors, and gave in exchange only those belonging to the abbey of St Bennet at the Holme, and the priory of Hickling. Its present value is said to be about £4,000 per annum. It stands charged in the King's books at £634 11s.

It pays first fruits but no tenths, those having been discharged by a commutation with Queen Elizabeth, for the manors of Sudbourn and Swanton. The Bishop has the patronage of 49, and Dean and Chapter are patrons of 42 benefices. The latter being the successors of the wealthy prior and monks of Norwich, possess a much larger revenue than the Bishop, and have a Library, in the Cathedral Close, comprising about 3,200 vols., chiefly theological and classical works, many of which were contributed by the late Dr. Sayer, in 1817. The diocese is in the province of Canterbury, and its bishop is a suffragan to the archbishop of that metropolitan see. At an early period, the see enjoyed extensive privileges, as well as great revenues. The bishop possessed all the usual powers granted to lay baronies, the liberty of coinage, exemption from all taxes, tallage and customs, except those of the city of London; jura regalia within his manors, a coroner and prison for his liberty, and all mulcts and amerciaments from his tenants; the right of choosing a justice for the precinct of his palace, and of acting himself as one of the king's justices of the peace for the city, county, and liberty. All these were confirmed by a charter of inspeximus, granted by King Henry VIII., 29th of March, A. D. 1512. But through many ancient statutes becoming obsolete, the abolition of feudal customs, and various subsequent parliamentary regulations, many of these privileges are abridged, if not disannulled. There is, however, one, which the bishops of Norwich have exercised time immemorial, and as it is peculiar to this diocese, ought not to be omitted. It is the power of uniting any two cures within the diocese, at the time of institution, without regard to their value; and that, either by personal or perpetual union. The personal union lasts only during the life of the incumbent, and answers to an archiepiscopal dispensation, requiring in this diocese only the bishop's consent. The perpetual union is made with the joint consent of patron, incumbent, and bishop, and is equal to a consolidation. The Bishop is a Peer of the Realm, and sits in the upper house, not only in right of his barony, but as titular Abbot of St. Bennet's at Holme: and is the only ABBOT at present in England. He nominates the four archdeacons, the chancellor, registrars, steward of the courts, auditor, apparitor, &c. The arms of the see are Az., three mitres labelled, Or. two and one.

The DEAN AND CHAPTER were instituted out of the prior and convent of Norwich, by Henry VIII., and refounded by charter in the reign of James I. The chapter consists of a dean and six prebendaries. The deanery and five of the prebends are in the gift of the King, but presented to by the Lord Chancellor. The dean and chapter revenues are nearly the same as those formerly enjoyed by the priory. They have the exclusive government of the cathedral precincts, (vide p. 119,) in which they have power to hold a Sessions of the peace; but the exercise of such power is discontinued. They have the care of the cathedral. ▲ vice-dean, receiver, and treasurer, are annually appointed from amongst the prebendaries. The other officers are, eight minor canons, two of whom are gospeller and epistoler; eight lay-clerks, an organist, eight choristers, and their master, two vergers, and six poor men, or alms-men, to assist in cleansing the church; a high steward, who must be a nobleman; a deputy steward who is a barrister; a commissary, chapter clerk, auditor, two coroners, a porter, ferry-man, headle, &c. The CHANCELLOR is appointed by a patent from the bishop, confirmed by the dean and chapter—his office is the same as that which before the Reformation was performed by a vicar-general. The arms of the Deanery are the same as those formerly used by the Prior, viz. ar. a cross sable. Since the foundation of the Deanery to the present time, twenty-five DEANS have presided over it, of whom the following is an enumeration with the dates, when each was inducted.—Wm. Castleton, 1534; John Salisbury, 1539; John Christopherson, 1554; John Boxhall, 1557; John Harpsfield, 1558; John Salisbury 1569; Geo. Gardiner, 1573; Thos. Dove, 1589; John Jeggon, 1601; Geo. Montgomery, 1603; Edw. Suckling 1614; John Hassal, 1628; John Crofts, 1660; Herbert Astley, 1670; John Sharp, 1681; Hy. Fairfax, 1689; Humphrey Prideaux, 1702; Thos. Cole, 1724; Rt. Butts, 1731; John Baron, 1733; Thos. Bullock, 1739; Edward Townshend, 1761; Philip Lloyd, 1765; Joseph Turner, 1790, and the Hon. and Very Rev. George Pellew, D.D. the present dean, inducted in 1828. The CATHEDRAL, is described at pages 111 to 120, and the DIGNITARIES, and OFFICERS of the DIOCESE will be seen at page 123.

MONASTIC INSTITUTIONS. In the dark ages of catholicism and superstition, monasteries absorbed a great portion of wealth and population in every part of the kingdom, and no where were they more numerous than in Norfolk, which contained no fewer than 122, including the various distinctions of abbeys, priories, nunneries, colleges, preceptories, commanderies, hospitals for lepers, &c., besides a much larger number of chantries, guilds, and free-chapels. The monks, by amassing riches, usurping power, trampling on the laws, and defeating the ends of justice; by their arrogance, insolence, and luxury, at length brought about their decline, and facilitated their fall. Some of the monasteries were possessed of exclusive jurisdiction, and peculiar exemptions and privileges; others were dependent; and some were still more subordinate. The preceptories and commanderies of the Knights hospitallers and knights templars of St. John of Jerusalem, were peculiars, and governed by distinct laws, and privileged by military service. "The cells were houses belonging to large monasteries, where the monks sent their junior brethren, when too much crowded at home; or refractory monks to do penance for non-compliance with monastic rules. The nature of the other institutions may be ascertained from the particular descriptions given of them in the course of this work. In the number of these religious institutions, England appears to have been inferior to no country; nor less profuse, in granting means for their support. Many in this kingdom were richly endowed, and from their own history, it appears that luxury kept pace with increasing wealth. Their accumulation of property proceeded in an extensive ratio, and prior to the suppression in the time of Henry VIII., they appear to have been possessed of a third part of all the lands in England. When pride, luxury, and licentiousness had, with their train of dependent vices, become inmates of these sacred walls, they, by disgusting the moral feelings of society, inducing the good sense of the nation to enquire into the scandalous abuses, and to question the utility of such institutions to real religion, hastened their dissolution and the abolition of the system on which they were founded." Of the numerous monastic buildings suppressed in Norfolk, several highly interesting ruins still remain at Norwich, Lynn, Thetford, Walsingham, Castleacre, Westacre, &c.

CHURCHES.—In its ecclesiastical architecture, Norfolk presents more curious and ancient, than what may be termed fine buildings. Of those old churches, towers, &c., which are commonly called Saxon and Danish, many specimens are to be seen in the county. The Round Towers, of which many still remain in various parts of the county, are generally attributed to the Saxons and Danes, during their alternate dominion in East Anglia; but many of them are now surmounted by octagonal turrets, raised after the Norman Conquest. The buildings of a county are usually constructed with the natural materials of the district; hence the geological character of a province may generally be ascertained by its public structures; thus Norfolk, producing scarcely any stone, the builders were induced to look for a substitute, and flints being very abundant, were deemed the most eligible and substantial material, as already noticed at page 30. Most of the numerous churches in Norfolk are constructed chiefly with flints, except in Marshland, where there are many noble piles built of freestone, brought from the Midland Counties, by means of the navigable rivers which insulate that flat district of Western Norfolk. Of the large and magnificent Norman and Gothic churches, here are a few fine specimens, the principal of which is the Cathedral at Norwich, and the Parish Churches at Lynn, Swaffham, Wymondham, and Attleborough; and those at Walpole St. Peter, the Terringtons, and several other places in Marshland. These, and all the other churches in the county are noticed in the succeeding historical and topographical survey of the parishes, together with the nature, patrons, incumbents, and value of the BENEFICES,* by which it will be seen that upwards of 200 poor livings in Norfolk have been augmented since 1714, by Queen Anne's Bounty and Parliamentary Grants, and some by private benefactions.

* The KING's BOOK, or Liber Regis, so often referred to at subsequent pages, by the abbreviation K. B., shews the valuation of nearly all the Church Livings in the kingdom, taken by order of Henry VIII., in 1534.

beauties of picturesque scenery; and in some to the sublimer features of nature, especially secluded valleys of the Stiffkey, Ant, Bure, &c. of the smaller streams. The most extensive the Castle-hill, at Norwich, and the heights Greatham, Dunham, Ashill, (near Swaffham) Poringland, Castle-Rising, and Docking. It is seen that Norfolk is of an oval figure, about from east to west, and from its being exposed to north, and to a large extent of marshes and south-west, the air is extremely sharp in the early part of spring. North and north-east winds are prevalent here, than in other parts of the kingdom, and vegetation is consequently backward in proportion to the sea and the marshes and fens, brought from Holland, accounts for the frequent storms of thunder and rain in the summer months, when storms of thunder and rain are not unusual; but they are seldom of so much violence as in more hilly districts. In the Hundreds of Clackclose, (see pages 467 and 476,) and other fens and marshes are now well drained, these are much less frequent than formerly, when a first residence were generally attacked with the

INSTANCES OF LONGEVITY.

39

Died.	Name.	Residence.	Age.	Died.	Name.	Residence.	Age.
1727	Robert KingSkeyton103	—	Mrs. LyngLangham107
1790	Elizabeth Taylor	Mundford	..100	1810	Mrs. CrispLoddou100
1767	John MitchelBircham100	1810	Chpr. Newsteaddo100
1781	Paul HousonHedenham107	1818	Eliza KnightThrextun107
1740	Thomas Aldous	Starston108	—	J. BrownWymondham	104
1797	Anne AmesRingland	..102	1819	Charles Grimmer	101
—	Mary MillSherringham	109	1811	Anne JarrardLynn110
1815	Eliz. Stockings	East Harling	101	1818	Rachel Crawford	.. do104
1830	Mrs. LamyNorwich104	1819	Mary Müllerdo108
1813	T. ArmstrongW. Dereham	101	1784	Mr. BarrettYarmouth100
1818	W. WarrantColtishall	..100	1793	Mattw. Champion	.. do111
1815	Mary DyeElking101	1810	Mrs. Hunterdo162
1840	Ashton Goodyear	Tilney109	1812	A. Royalsdo109
1820	John WaldenWells102	1824	Luke Walkerdo103
1816	Mrs. CrossSwaffham100	1828	Isabella Perowne	Stalham	..103
1826	Neh. HaylettKenninghall	101	1818	Rachel Craworth	Castle Rising	103
—	J. MyhillCatfield101	1819	T. GoodingsLammas	..100
1803	Mary Helleaden	E. Ruston106	1816	Wm. BrownRanworth	..104
1821	Mrs. Aldborough	Trowse101	1835	John Germany	Hempton	} 103
1819	Mrs. ScottHolt100	still living—Dec. 1835 }

MINERALS, FOSSILS, &c.—Norfolk lies within the London "Chalk Basin," which extends northward to Flamborough-Head; but it possesses no subterraneous treasures sufficient to excite a mining spirit;—having but little useful stone, and no beds of coal, the inhabitants being supplied with the latter invaluable substance from the collieries of Durham, Northumberland, and other distant counties. The strata of the county consists of the chalk series, with a superposition of diluvial debris, having the plane of their inclination nearly east. The Diluvial Beds consist of Gravel, Brick-earth, Bagshot-sand, Sand, Blue clay, and Ferruginous clay. The Chalk Series, are Upper-chalk, (in which flints are thickly imbedded, Chalk, Lower or hard chalk, Chalk-marl, Green sand, and Iron sand or carr-stone. An ALUVIAL deposit covers at the east end of the county, the valleys of the Yare, Bure, and Waveney, a large tract lying between Acle and Yarmouth, and a still larger between Winterton and Happisburgh; and in Western Norfolk it occupies Marshland, the Bedford-level, and the valleys of the Nar and Wissey; all forming at an early period, broad estuaries of the ocean. (Vide pages 240, 443, 468, and 676.) The DILUVIAL BEDS occupy about two-thirds of the county, extending from the east side as far as Fakenham, Castleacre, Swaffham, Attleburgh, and New Buckenham. Around Norwich, the diluvium is about fifty feet thick, but its greatest depth is about 300 feet, at the hill on which Foulness light-house is built. The whole line of cliffs from Warborne to Cromer and Happisburgh, (an extent of twenty miles) gives a fine section of this series. The Gravel consists chiefly of water-worn flints, called boulders, in some places so cemented by oxyde of iron, as to form a kind of pudding stone: the large flints contain belemnites, anachytes, spatangi, terebratulæ, inocerami, &c., besides a number of casts of these fossils found loose, having been dislodged from the cavities they occupied in the flints. The Brick-Earth is a dark brown clay, containing a few small boulders, but no organic remains, except small fragments of water-worn belemnites. It lies in beds of from 12 to 20 feet thick, and from it are made the red bricks now in general use. The beds of Sand are various, some of the pits having under the Bagshot (silecious sand and sand stone,) alternate seams of orange-coloured, iron-grey, and white sand; the latter contains about 30 per cent. of comminuted particles of shells. In the lofty cliffs west of Cromer, the contortions of the sand and clay are very remarkable; in the sea-

the clay, are found a variety of vegetable and animal remains, trunks, branches, leaves, and stumps of trees, (in the form of tusks, horns, and bones of the elephant, horse, ox, &c.) which many have been dredged up by fishermen, on the coast, two miles off Happisburgh. The CHALK SERIES of Western Norfolk, its out crop being from north to south, from Great Yarmouth, by Swaffham, towards East Harling; and lying in the same direction from Hunstanton, by Cresswell, to Rockwold. The Upper Chalk has suffered much by weathering, but when found in its original state, it lies between two and only 12 inches asunder. In the cliff at Trimmingham, it is forced from its pristine position, and abounds in nodules. The Chalk is found on the sides of the eastern valley of Western Norfolk, and is burnt into LIME, for the purpose of building. It is divided by parallel layers of flints, about six feet thick. Layers of nodular or tabular flints are always found in the upper part of this formation, and distinguish it from the lower, which is rare. At Thorpe, Whittingham, and many other places, these perpendicular cylindrical flint formations called Flint Pillars. The Lower Chalk is so hard, as to be used instead of stone for the purpose of building, and some of the monuments in the neighbourhood are of this material. The Chalk Marl is of a greyish color, and contains its lower veins a rich variety of fossils, especially Ammonites and Inoceramus Casteri. It is seen in the cliff at Trimmingham, about three feet in thickness, and beneath it is a layer containing ramified zoophyte, resembling the roots of coral, and is called Green Sand, 10 feet thick, is also visible in the cliff at Trimmingham, below the red chalk, and may be traced in a southerly direction with the escarpment of the chalk formation. The Tuff Stone, is a coarse-grained conglomerate, cemented with clay. This stratum appears at Hunstanton.

the barrier to the assailing waves, except Hunstanton Cliff, which is commonly called St. Edmund's Point, (see p. 632) and may be considered as the only rocky prominence of much note on the whole coast; the lofty cliffs and small headlands near Cromer, (vide p. 563) being composed of chalk, clay, &c. are constantly becoming a prey to the depredations of the ocean. The greater part of the coast is comprised of a low sandy beach, covered with heaps of gravel and loose pebbles, here called stingles, and through the violence of the waves are frequently thrown up in immense hills and ridges. These, by the accumulations of sand, are formed into banks, which are kept together by the matted roots of sea-reed grass. Numerous banks of this kind lie off the coast, far out at sea; and being only discoverable at ebb or quarter tides, they often prove fatal to mariners. The most remarkable is the large bank running parallel with the coast, off Yarmouth, and having between it and the shore, a deep channel, called Yarmouth Floods, (see p. 251) where ships ride safely even in tempestuous weather. The ranges of SAND HILLS on this, like those on the coast of Holland, tend to preserve a valuable portion of the county from continual inundation. A line of them, called the Meols, commences at Caister, near Yarmouth, and extends, with occasional interruptions, to Happisburgh, and thence to Cromer bay, beyond which commence what are sometimes called the mud cliffs, which line the shore to Lynn Deep. These sand banks sometimes shift their station, suddenly disappear, and as suddenly rise up again in a new shape, as will be seen in the history of the parishes lying on the coast.

The principal RIVERS of Norfolk are the Great and Little Ouse, the Waveney, Wensum, Yare, Bure, and Nar. The GREAT OUSE rises near Brackley in Northamptonshire, and after receiving the Little Ouse, it crosses the west-end of this county to Lynn, where it receives the Nar from the east, and pursues its northward course to the ocean, emptying itself into the "Metaris Estuarium," after a course of more than 60 miles. This river has been diverted betwixt Wiggshall St. Germain's and Lynn, into a new channel called the Eau-Brink cut, and the tide flows up it for many miles with great rapidity, though checked by the sluices erected at Denver by the drainage commissioners of the Bedford Level. (see p. 399, 676, and 443.) It is navigable for barges 24 miles above Lynn, and for smaller boats, as far as Bedford, thus forming a communication by means of collateral rivers and canals with eight Midland Counties. The LITTLE OUSE and the WAVENEY both rise in the swampy grounds near Lopham, and flowing in opposite directions separate Norfolk and Suffolk, the former passing westward to the Great Ouse, is navigable for boats up to Thetford, and the latter passing eastward falls into the Yare above Breydon Water, and is navigable up to Bungay, for small craft. The WENSUM rises near East Rudham, about 30 miles N. W. of Norwich, and after passing that city it falls into the YARE, which rises near Shipdham, 20 miles west of Norwich, and after bounding the southern liberties of that city, it pursues an eastward but sinuous course to Yarmouth, a little below which, it empties itself into the ocean. It expands into a long and broad lake called Breydon Water, and is navigable for barges up to Norwich, but at Reedham, about 8 miles above Yarmouth, a Ship Canal has recently been cut across the marshes from the Yare to Lowestoft, in Suffolk. (see p. 97.) The BURE, rising near Melton-Constable, takes a south-easterly course by Blickling, Aylsham, Wrotham and Acle, to Yarmouth. It is navigable up to Aylsham, and near Ludham receives the ANT, now navigable up to the bounds of North Walsham and Antingham (see p. 539.) It is likewise augmented by the Thurne, and several other tributary streams, flowing through low marshes and in many places expanding into large meres or pools, here called "Broads," abounding in fish, and some of them navigable for small craft, indeed these broads exist in all the eastern vales of Norfolk. The Tas, rising from several rivulets near Tasburgh flows northward to the Yare near Hertford Bridges, 2 miles S. of Norwich. The Thet rises near Kenninghall, and flows westward to the Little Ouse at Thetford. The navigable Wissay sometimes called Stoke River, is formed by the union of several rivulets rising near Griston, Carbrooke, Bradenham and Cockley-Cley, and flows westward by Stoke Ferry to the Great Ouse, near its confluence with the large drains called the Old and New Bedford Rivers, beyond which the county is skirted by the river Welney, the Wisbeach canal, and the river Nene, the latter of which falls into the Cross Keys Wash, on the borders of Lincolnshire. The Nar rising near Litcham, flows westward by Castleacre and Setch to the Great Ouse at Lynn, and was made navigable for small craft up to Narborough, under an act passed in the 24th of George II. Several small cuts from the navigable rivers have been made in various directions, serving the double purpose of drains and canals.

RAIL ROADS, which are now superseding canals, have been formed in Lancashire, Durham, Northumberland, and Yorkshire, and some others are in progress, and many more are projected, by which it is intended to travel at the rate of 20 miles per hour, to and from all parts of the kingdom. Amongst the numerous Railway Bills now before the consideration of Parliament, is one for a Northern and Eastern Railway, to pass from London to York, and have a branch from Cambridge through Norfolk, by Thetford and Norwich, to Yarmouth. Another Company has a Bill before Parliament, for a line to be called the "Eastern Counties Railway," and to pass from Norwich and Yarmouth to London through Suffolk and Essex. This line is estimated at the cost of £1,600,000, but it is generally considered that the line to join the proposed Northern Railway, at Cambridge, will receive the sanction of Parliament.

THE TURNPIKES and other public ROADS in Norfolk, are better than those of most other counties in England, being generally raised higher than the adjacent lands, well drained by trenches on each side, and having a firm bottom composed of gravel, flint, and chalk; which it has already been seen are found within a few feet of the surface in almost every part of the county. Charles II. "who never said a silly thing, nor ever did a wise one," said, when on a visit to the Earl of Yarmouth, at Oxmoor, in 1671, "that Norfolk ought to be cut out in stone, the stone roads for the rest of the kingdom,"—alluding, no doubt, to the surface being generally level. The road from Norwich to Yarmouth was the first turnpike formed in the county, being made by an act passed in 1694 and 5. The first toll-gate in England was erected on the turnpike from London to Harwich, in 1679.

ARTIFICIAL ENCLOSURES, &c.—The soil of Norfolk is generally "thin skinned," with a hungry gravelly subsoil, but marl, by which the land has been improved, sometimes rises close to the surface—strata of marl in many places to a considerable depth. The use of marl was not revived till the middle of the 18th century, and being mentioned as early as 1550, in that manner, in the name of the marl at Aylsham, in that state of the soil, and the condition of the county about 60 years ago, be taken into a comparative account, the ability and industry for want the Norfolk farmers have long been famed, will be fully acknowledged. This county early took the lead in introducing good husbandry from the fetters of antiquated systems, ready to yield but to far improvement, and continuing to be actuated by a most laudable spirit, it still exhibits an example of the most judicious practices in husbandry. The first thing which strikes the eye of a stranger in Norfolk, is the fine tith of the soil, and the numerous crops. The plough, which is of an ancient construction, is generally provided with wheels, and drawn by two horses harnessed abreast, which, with a pair of oxen are guided by the person who holds the plough. The furrows are repeated till the land is in high tith, when it is properly pulverised with wheeled drags and harrows. After the seed is sown or planted, the utmost care is used to keep the soil free from weeds. The old custom of letting the land lie fallow a year in every three, for the advantage of what is called summer fallow, has here been long exploded; the necessity of it being superseded by a judicious course of cropping; so that one crop may beget as another exhausts. The mode of cropping in former practice a few years ago, was what is termed a six course and viz. first year, wheat, second, barley, with or without clover; third, turnips, fourth, barley or oats, with or without clover; fifth, winter mown for hay; sixth, grazed and ploughed up for the next year, but this mode is now generally varied by a four or sometimes a five course shift. Wheat is a general crop over the whole county, but thrives best on the stiff loamy lands; the soil being more favourable to barley, vast quantities of which are raised, malted, and in that state sent out of the county to the London and other markets. Both wheat and barley are now drilled, (for which several kinds of ingeniously contrived beetle drills are used,) or else planted with the hand by women and children, called dibbling. The quantities produced, according to the seed sown, are very unequal in different parts of the county. Lands in Marshland and the Flegg Hundreds, at the end of the county, generally bear six quarters of wheat per acre, or ten of oats; but in the very light soils, the farmer is glad to reap two of oats, or three of barley. The average crops of the whole county, have been stated at three quarters of wheat, and four of barley, and other articles in proportion, per acre. Oats are sown early as a shifting crop, and seldom more are raised than what are consumed in the county. The other occasional crops are, rye, buck-wheat, peas, beans, vetches or tares, cole-seed, clover, rye and other artificial grasses; burnet, cocks-foot, chick-ary, cabbage, mangel-wurzel, lucerne, carrots, and potatoes. Flax and Hemp were formerly cultivated on the south side of the county, but very little is now grown there, though the manufacture of the "Suffolk Hempen cloth" still exists in the towns and vicinities of Diss and Hareston. In 1796, hemp sold at £61 10s. per ton, — a quantity which four acres of good land will produce.

into Norfolk, whence it spread to all parts
(see p. 650.) A good acre of turnips in Norfolk 30 and 40 cart loads, as heavy as three horse advantage does not end in their abundance leave the land so clean and in such fine condition in the following year, a good crop of barley latter is a most excellent preparative for which their bulbous rooted brethren, now afford a winter food, and consequently ten times as much are now bred and fattened in Norfolk, as was tained before their general introduction in the rutabaga, or Swedish turnip, was introduced late Dr. Miles Beever, of Mulbarton, and they supposed to have been introduced by the first Earl of Hethel. About half a century ago, Norfolk called a rabbit and rye county: in its northern rarely seen, indeed it was scarcely believed to in that large sandy tract, lying between ham, though now the most abundant crops of ley wave over the entire district. This great been effected chiefly through the exertions of
W. Coke, Esq. (see p. 603,) one of the largest land county, who has contrived to fertilize the soil, with it the most exuberant supplies; and his example successfully followed by the occupants, of his own many from 1,000 to 1,500 A. each) as well as less 94,720 a.; and Peat 52,480 a.; making a total of 1,171,200 a., or 1,250 square miles, of which about 50,000 a. are unimproved commons and heaths; 60,000 a. sheep walks and warrens, and 15,000 a. Woods and Plantations. Though Norfolk has but few ancient woods, it has many vigorous and extensive plantations, the first of which were formed by Sir Robert Walpole and Lord Townshend, since whose time the county has greatly increased its sylvan ornaments. About fifty years ago, a hothouse spirit began to spread among the proprietors of large estates, to plant, not merely for embellishment, but for use. In the judicious practice, the late Robt. Marsham, Esq. of Stratton-Sutton took the lead, and his example was followed by many others, among whom Mr. Coke of Holkham, and the late Wm. Wadham, Esq. of Felbrigg, rank deservedly high as beneficial sowers. Woods and plantations are now partially scattered through the county, the largest of them are those around Holkham, Foxley, Wymondham, Shottisham, Ashwellthorpe, Hempnall, Bunwell, Hethel, Hethersett, Westing, and Itteringham. Many smaller plantations are to be seen in the Hundreds of Freebridge-Lynn, Erpingham, Clavering, Earnham, &c., and in many parts of the county, the hedge-rows abound with large trees.

Produce:—During the late war the yearly exportation of coals from Norfolk amounted to more than a million sterling in value. The following calculation is given by Mr. Kent, as an average estimate for one year of the wheat, flour, barley, malt, &c. exported coastwise, from the five principal ports of the county, in 1793, 1794, and 1795,—viz. Yarmouth 259,879 qrs.; Lynn, 175,165 qrs.; Blakeney and Cley 66,796 qrs.; and Wells 2,334 quarters, all the growth of the county, except about one-eighth part brought down the rivers from Suffolk and two or three Midland Counties. In the same year he estimated the stock he sent to the London and other markets as follows;—CATTLE, 2000 home bred bullocks £50,000; 15,000 Scotch and Irish bullocks, fattening profit, £5 each, £75,000; 30,000 sheep, £45,000; swine £10,000; rabbits, £10,000; poultry and game, £3,000; wool about £20,000; herrings, £50,000; and 50,000 lambs £30,000.

Though Norfolk now produces such an immense superabundance above its own consumption, the greater part of it was, about a century and a half ago, a wild, bleak, and sterile district; full half of it being rabbit warrens and sheep walks. The sheep were as natural to the soil as the rabbits, being hardy in their nature, and of an agile construction, with horns, black faces and feet. But this indigenous breed is now nearly extinct, having given place to or being crossed with the South-down, Lincolnshire and Leicestershire breeds, which are larger and more prolific in wool. The number of sheep reared in the county is immense, some parishes upwards of 5000 each. The wool is in high repute among the worsted manufacturers. The horses, whether with the Suffolk, are a bony, active, hardy race, is high, admirably adapted for the purposes of road. The native cow, is a small animal, with shortturned-up horns, approaching to the Alderney, generally of red colour; but very few of them are now kept, the farmers preferring the Suffolk, Lincoln, and other breeds, which are larger and better milchers, though not so hardy. The greater part of the cattle fed in the county are brought from Scotland, and purchased by the farmers about Michaelmas, at St. Faith's and other fairs under the name of Scotch runts. These being bred upon bleak and barren mountains thrive surprisingly, after being admitted to the rich pastures of Norfolk. Many are also imported from Ireland. In 1795, Norfolk sent 20,594 fat bullocks to Smithfield and Islington markets, and 3,000 to St. Ives and other places. Poultry of all kinds are very plentiful, and of a superior quality, especially Turkeys and Geese. The former are in high estimation, even in distant parts of the kingdom. Great quantities of these and other poultry are sent regularly to London, particularly in the week before Christmas, when the vans, coaches, and other conveyances are completely loaded with them. (see p. 84.) The lakes and large pools which abound in the southern Hundreds of East Norfolk, are the nurseries of innumerable Wild Fowl, of various species, but chiefly ducks: they are taken in decays formed on the margin of the "broads" or lakes. The fens and marshes at the west end of the county were frequented by these aquatic birds before their drainage and enclosure, and were then a source of profit to the poor. Of such animals as are feræ-naturæ, RABBITS claim precedence because they are here extremely numerous, not only by their natural fecundity, but also by the congeniality of a great part of the soil to their peculiar habits. The most extensive warrens are on the sandy heaths near Castle-Rising, Thetford, Methwold, Winterton and Sheringham. Pheasants, partridges, and other game are plentiful, and tenaciously preserved by the gentry. Among the rare and curious birds, either resident or occasional visitors of Norfolk, are the Great Bustard, the long-winged Owl, the Hooded Crow, and that singular and proteus-like species of the Sand-Piper, the Tringa pugax, the males called ruffs, and the females revers.

Fruit — Orchards are numerous in Norfolk, especially on the south side of the county, where many of the farmers make cider for their own consumption, and some for sale. There are a great variety of apples peculiar to, or cultivated in Norfolk, some few of which are rare, to be seen elsewhere. The beehn apples are baked as a sweetmeat, by the confectioners, and pressed flat, like small cakes, without breaking the skins, in which state they are sold at from 6d to 9d per dozen. Walnuts and Cherries were formerly grown in great abundance around Cherry-Marham, (see page 667) and these and other fruits are still plentiful in various parts of the county.

FISH — Environed by a great extent of sea coast, abounding in rivers and small streams, accompanied by numerous "broads" or meres, Norfolk is well supplied with fresh and salt water fish. Among the former are pike, tench, trout, perch, smelts, &c. Sea-water fish of nearly all descriptions are taken on the coast in great plenty: but the most lucrative of piscatory concerns are the Herring and Mackerel Fisheries described at page 258. There are oyster beds off Barton, Burnham, Happisburgh, &c. (Vide pages 520, 540, and 619.)

The staple MANTUFACTURES of the county, which have their grand emporium at Norwich, consist of bombazines, crape, and a variety of other articles of silk and worsted, and a brief history of their rise, progress, and present importance, will be found at page 92, to which we may add that the Norwich Silk Company have two acres of land at Thorpe hamlet, near that city, planted with upwards of 1200 will-any town, on which are kept more than 300,000 silk worms. On the south side of the county, at Miss. Harleston, &c. coarse linen cloth, called "Suffolk hempen," is manufactured, but not so extensively as formerly.

COMMERCIAL.—Norfolk, by means of its rivers, &c. has a most extensive internal communication with the Midland and Northern Counties; but having only two good outlets to the sea, its foreign and coasting trade was mostly engrossed by Yarmouth and Lynn, till a few years ago, when Norwich was made a port by means of a ship-railway to Lowestoft, in Suffolk. (See page 97.) Both Lynn and Yarmouth enjoy extensive traffic in corn, coal, timber, &c. in addition to which, the latter is celebrated as a wine port, and the latter for its herring and mackerel fisheries, will be seen in the history of each place.

MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT.

NORFOLK.—Edm. Wodehouse, Esq. and Lord Walpole, for the East Division; and Sir Wm. J. H. B. Folke, Bart. and Sir Jacob Astley, for the West Division.

NORWICH.—Lord Viscount Stormont and Hon. Rt. C. Scarlett.

KING'S LYNN.—Lord George Bentinck and Rt. Hon. Sir S. Canning.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—Thos. Baring and Wm. Mackworth Praed, Esqrs.

THETFORD.—Earl of Euston and Hon. Francis Baring.

PUBLIC OFFICERS OF THE COUNTY.

Lord Lieutenant.—Right Hon. John Lord Wodehouse, Vice-Admiral and Comes Ratorum.

Deputy Lieutenants, and Magistrates.—Vide SEATS, page 49.

High Sheriff (1836).—Anthony Hamond, Esq., Westacre.

Under-Sheriff.—Samuel Stone, Esq. Norwich; office at Mr. A. Taylor's, solicitor. White Lion-street.

Clerk of the Peace.—Rt. Copeman, Esq., Aylsham.

County Treasurer.—H. F. Day, Esq. Swaffham.

Clerk of the County Court.—Adam Taylor Esq., Norwich.

Register of Stamps for all Norfolk, except Yarmouth and Lynn. S. H. Le Neve Stan, Esq., office, Broad-st., St. Andrew's. For Lynn, Wm. Taylor, Esq.

For Yarmouth, J. H. Palmer, Esq.

CHIEF GAOL. Rev. J. Brown, chaplain; P. N. Scott, surgeon; J. F. Bayfield, clerk; John Johnson, gaoler.

HOUSEHOLD KEEPERS. E. A. Johnson, Swaffham; Money Curtis, Walsingham; Thomas Johnson, Wymondham.

County Surveyor, (vacant.)

CORONERS.

For Norfolk, John Pilgrim, Norwich; and Edw. Press, Hingham, gent.

For the Duchy of Lancaster, (see p. 25) P. T. Quarles, Foulsham, gent.

For the Liberty of the Duke of Norfolk, (see p. 26) Daniel Calver, Kenning-hall, and John Muskett, Diss, gent. For Clackness, R. G. Townley, Esq.

For the Liberty of Sir Thomas Hare, Bart. (Vacant.)

For City and Boroughs, see Corporations

CHIEF-CONSTABLES OF THE HUNDREDS.

17 The Magistrates' Clerks and Petty Sessions are noticed with the descriptions of the Hundreds.

Bedford, Rt. Goulder, Blofeld; and C. G. Heath, North Burlingham

Brothercross, W. Mack, Burnham Norton

Clackness, Geo. Woods, Denver; and Joseph Sedgley, Upwell

Clackness, Geo. Grimmer, Haddiscoe; and Thomas Seago, Bergh-Apton

Depwade, John Fryer, Long Stratton; and Samuel Copping, Hardwick

Diss, W. Fincham and S. Farrow, Diss

Erpingham, Burnaby Bond, Alburgh; and John Sydney, Redenhall

Erpingham, (North) W. D. Spurrell, Gallow, John Overton, Fakenham

Thurgarton

Erpingham, (South) T. Rackham, Aylsham; and T. Howlett, Marsham.

Eynesford, John Middleton and James Nelson, Sparham

Flegg, (East) W. W. Sloman, Scrathy

Flegg, (West) T. S. Rising, Martham

Forchae, J. Cullier, Wymondham; and Wm. Spencer, Carlton Forchae

Freebridge Lynn, W. Martin, Castleacre

Freebridge-Marshland, J. Wright, Terrington St. Clements

Gallow, John Overton, Fakenham

Greenhoe (North) Rd. England, Birham
Greenhoe (South) R. Rowell and R. W.
 Snadden, Swaffham
Grimsby, John Paddy, sen Northwold, and John Griffin, Methwold Gullicroft, James (sen), Bawham, and James Mortimer, North Loham
Happing, Rt. Whaltes, Ingham, and J.
 Crowe, jun. Catfield
Holt, Wm. Cooke, 4 Southford
Humbleyard, J. Turner, Mulbarton; and George Barnard, Bracon-Ash Leunditch, Mandy Fisher, North Elm-ham, and Bodham, Butler, Tit Urshall

Loddon, J. R. Adams & J. Spencer, Loddon
Melford, J. Gough, East Pottenham
Shrotham, J. W. Saxon, Hockham;
 and R. Howes, Wils
Smithdon, J. K. Thompson, D. Neale
Taverham, J. East, Backheath
Tunstall, J. Postle, Esq. Smallburgh
Walsham, Benjamin Baker, Acton
Wayland, J. Land, Griston, and W.
 Hoyle, Ashby

P1

Who have Seats in from thence.

1483 Duke of Norfolk,
 1672 Duke of Devon,
 1784 Duke of Devon,
 1793 Marq. Hertford,
 1786 Marq. Lowther
 1815 Marq. of Corn-
 ton Hall
 1896 Earl of Albemarle, Quiddenden Hall
 1743 Earl of Oxford, Wolterton Hall
 1640 Baron Stafford, Costessey Hall
 1720 Baron Berrers, Dabington Hall

HONORABLES.

Viscount Bury, son of Earl of Albemarle Lords H and W. H. Cholmondeley, sons of the Marquis Cholmondeley
 Hon. T. De Grey, son of Lord Walsingham
 Hon. Genl. Fitzroy, Kempstone Lodge
 Hon. F. G. Howard, Castle Rising
 Hon. H. S. Jeruingham, son of Lord
 Stafford
 Hon. & Rev. H. S. Keppel, Quiddenden
 Hon. G. Keppel, son of Earl Albemarle
 Hon. G. J. Miles, Embam Hall (p. 376)
 Hon. W. R. Mow, Worstead House, 557
 Lord Charles V. F. Townshend, Rain-
 ham Hall
 Lord Jas. Townshend, M. P., Yarrow
 Hon. & Rev. A. A. Turnour, Tatterford
 Hon. and Rev. A. Wodehouse, Barnham-
 Broom
 Hon. and Rev. W.; Hon. P.; and Miss
 S. Wodehouse, Hingham
 Hon. E. Wodehouse, Wotton

BARONETS.

1611 Sir Edmund Bacon, premier Bart.
 Raveningham Hall
 1620 Sir H. Berney, Kirby-Bedon
 1641 Rev. Sir W. R. Kemp, Gissing
 1660 Sir H. P. Neddingfeld, Oxburgh
 1660 Sir Jacob Astley, M. P., Melton-
 Constable
 1667 Sir R. Martin, Burnham-Westgate
 1698 Sir C. M. Clarke, Dunham Lodge
 1744 Sir W. B. Proctor, Langley Park
 1772 Sir Rd. Sutton, Lynard Hall
 1774 Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, Hibington
 1783 Sir W. W. Dalling, Earsham House
 1783 Sir T. E. H. Durrant, Scoffow Hall
 1783 Sir Thos. R. Beever, H--
 1791 Sir Chas. Chad. Thur-

LAMENT.

folk or derive their Titles not reside in the County.)

Baron Walsingham, Marton Hall
 Baron Suffol., London House
 Baron G. G. G. Am. G. G. Suffol.
 Baron Bayning, Honingham Hall
 Baron Wodehouse, Kimberley Hall
 Baron Ashgrove, of Ashgrove, Surrey, and of the City of Norwich

Scotch Peers, (not of Parliament)

1791 Marq. Lothian, Hicling Hall
 1793 Earl of Rosebery, Bixley Hall

(Sons &c. of Peers.)

Lord Walpole, son of Earl of Oxford Lord W. C. C. Bentinck, (brother to the Duke of Portland) see North Lynn and Terrington St. Clements
 Lord Nevill, son of Earl Abergavenny, Yarnouth
 Hon. P. W. Primrose, (brother to Earl of Rosebery, Bixley Hall
 Hon. and Very Rev. George Pellet,
 Dean of Norwich
 Hon. and Rev. E. Pellet, Yarnouth
 Dowager Lady Harmond, Terrington
 St. Clements
 Dowager Ladies Suffield, Bickling and Horstead Halls
 Lady H. Evelyn, Southrepps
 Lady C. Goodricke, Clermont Lodge
 Lady Durrant, Norwich
 Lady Playters, Thorpe Hamlet
 Lady P. Smith, Norwich
 Lady Bolton, Burnham Market
 Lady Jane Preston, Beeston Hall

1800 Sir R. J. Buxton, Shadwell Lodge 1809 Sir James Flower, Eccles Hall, and Lobb Hall, Oxford
 1783 Sir G. E. Hammond, Terrington St.
 Clements, and Holly-grove, Berke.
 1818 Sir Thos. T. Hare, Stow Bardolph
 1783 Sir R. P. Jodrell, Sall House 1831 Sir J. T. Jones (Cranmore Somersetshire) has property at Gayton, &c.
 1818 Sir Edmund K. Lacon, Ormesby
 1816 Sir J. H. Preston, Beeston Hall
 1816 Sir Edw. Hardinge Stracey, Back-heath Hall
 (Cravie, Ditchingham Lodge
 L. Harvey, Rt. Mouthold House.

SEATS

OF THE

NOBILITY, GENTRY, AND CLERGY OF NORFOLK

*Those marked * are MAGISTRATES, † DEPUTY LIEUTENANTS, and ‡ are both. There are some other Justices of the Peace for Norfolk; but as they do not reside in the County, their addresses are not inserted. The total number is about 350.*

To avoid an unnecessary augmentation of this list, Gentlemen & Families within the limits and suburbs of Market Towns are not inserted here, but will be found subjoined to the names of the occupants in the Town and Parish Directories.]

- Acle Hall, 10½ m. E. of Norwich, B. H. Baker, gent.
 Aylsham Hall, 5 m. N. by W. of Aylsham, J. J. Gay, Esq.
 Banner Hall, 8 m. N.E. by N. of Lynn, H. W. Coldham Esq.
 *Ashill Rectory, 3 miles N.W. by N. of Watton, Rev. B. Edwards.
 *Ashwellthorpe Hall, 9 m. S.W. of Norwich, Rev. R. test Wilson.
 *Attleborough, 14 m. N.E. by E. of Thetford, Rev. F. Fran. & ‡
 Aylsham, 12 m. N. by W. of Norwich, Wm. Repton, *Robt. Chapman, and James Bulwer, Esqrs., and Rev. P. Hunt, LL.D.
 Baconthorpe, 2½ m. E.S.E. of Holt, Rev. R. J. C. Atterton, M.A.
 *Barton, 5 m. N.E. of North Walsham, ‡Rev. Henry Atkinson.
 *Rev. G. L. Wodehouse Paragoner.
 *Barnham Rectory, 5 m. E. by N. of East Harling, Rev. J. Sartorius.
 *Barnham Broom, 1 m. N.N.W. of Wymondham, Hon. & Rev. A. Wodehouse.
 Barnham Hall, 6 m. E.S.E. of Holt, J. T. Mott, Esq.
 Barnham (Little) 6 m. N.W. by N. of Aylsham, J. Hogge Esq.
 Barnham (East), 3 m. N. of Fakenham, Rev. H. N. Astley, M.A.
 Barnham House, 10 m. N.W. by W. of Fakenham, Der. H. St. Esq.
 *Barnburgh, 3 m. W. by N. of Norwich Benjamin Norton, gent.
 *Barneswell, 4 m. W. by S. of Reepham, Rt. Leeds Esq. & Misses Lloyd.
 *Barnfield Hall, 2 m. N.W. of Holt, George N. Best Esq.
 *Barnhamwell Hall, 5 m. W.S.W. of Swaffham, J. Morieux, Esq.
 *Barnham Hall, 5 m. S.E. of Wisbech, Rev. W. G. Towler, (p. 688).
 *Barnham (West), 4 m. E. of Holt, Cook Flower, Esq.
 *Barnham Hall, 10 m. N.E. of Norwich, Sir J. H. Preston, Bart.
 *Barnham Hall, 3 m. W. by N. of Cromer, Rev. J. B. Creider.
 *Barnham Hall, 3½ m. N. of Norwich, *N. Micklethwaite Esq. (owner).
 *Barnham Apton, 7 m. S.S.E. of Norwich, Richard Denny and Thomas Denny, Esquires, and Rev. H. W. Nevill.
 *Barnham Hall, 1 m. N. of Walsingham, Wm. Brooke Esq. (p. 699).
 *Barnham, 7 m. N.N.W. of Aylsham John Spurrell, gent.
 *Barnhamford, 6 m. W. by S. of Reepham, *Rev. C. Ford & Capt. C. Loftus.
 *Barnby Manor, 8 m. N.W. of Yarmouth, John Loxton, gent.
 *Barnes (West) Lodge, 8 miles E.S.E. of Lynn, Rev. E. B. Leonard.
 *Barnham, 5 m. N.E. by E. of Walsingham, Richard England, Esq.
 *Barnes Hall, 2½ m. S.E. by E. of Norwich, *Earl Rosebery & Hon. F. W. Primrose.
 *Barnham Hall, 1½ mile N.N.W. of Aylsham, Dowager Lady Suffield, *Marguis of Lothian.

- Blofield 7 m E of Norwich & W H Jary, Esq, J H. Tuck, Esq., and *Rev J D Borton, M A
 Bic Norton Hall, 5 m S by E of East Harling, Rev C H Browne, M.A.
 Bolwick Hall, 1½ mile S. of Aylsham, John Warner, Esq. (p. 517)
 Borton Hall, 1 mile E of Reepham, Samuel Bircham, Esq
 Boswell Hall, 9 m S of Norwich. Hon Capt Fdk. P Irby, (p. 761)
 Bracon Ash Hall, 6 m S W by S of Norwich, Mrs & Miss E. Berney
 Bradenham Hall, 6½ m. E of Swaffham, Wm H Haggard, Esq
 Bradston, 6½ m E of Norwich, R. and T. G. Tuck, Esquires
 *Brandon (Suffolk) 6 m. W by N of Thetford, J. R. Barch, Esq.
 Brinton, 3½ m S W. of Holt, W. J. Brereton, Esq
 Brisley, 6 m N N W of East Dereham, Rev. John Maul
 *Bruckdish Hall, 4 m S W of Harleston, T C Brettingham, Esq.
 Brooke, 7 m S S E of Norwich, & Rev J Holmes, & G. S. Kett, Esq.
 Broome Place, 2 m N of Bungay, J L Bond, Esq
 *Brundall, 5½ m. E of Norwich, L. B. Foster, gent
 Brunstead 15 m N N E of Norwich, Wm. Darrant, gent
 Buckenham 9 m. E. by S of Norwich, Rev T W H Beauchamp
 & Buckenham (Old), 3 m S by E of Ayleburgh, Rev T P Slapp Buckenham Tosts), 8 m N by W of Thetford, Col Jonth Peel
 Burlfeld Hall, 2 m S W of Wymondham, Mrs A. D. Burroughes (p. 779)
 Burgh Hall, 2½ m S E of Aylsham, James H Holley Esq
 Burgh Hall, 7½ m N W of Yarmouth, Rev Wm Lucas, M.A Burlingham 9 m. E. of Norwich, & H N Burroughes, Esq, & W Jary, Esq.
 *Burnham Hall, 9 m. W. N W. of Walsingham, Sir R. Martin, Bart.
 Caister, 2½ m. N of Yarmouth, Thos. Clowes, Esq, & Rev. George
 Wm Steward, M.A. The Castle, John Everitt, gent
 Caister St Edmund's, 2½ m. S of Norwich, Mrs. H. Pashwood
 *Cantley, 11 m S.E. by E of Norwich, W. A Gilbert, Esq & Carbrooke Hall, 3 m. E. of Watton, Richard Dewing, Esq
 Carlton, 5 m S W by S. of Norwich, *Revs J. H. Steward & W B Hurnard Castle Rising, 4½ miles N N.E. of Lynn, Hon. P G Howard, and Rev W J Brodrick
 *Caston, 3½ miles S E of Watton, Henry Dover, Esq
 Catfield Grove, 14 m. N W by W of Yarmouth, J. Crowe, jun gent.
 Catton 2 m N of Norwich & Wm Everitt, & Lt. Longe, & James Day, Esquires Col Master, Lieut.-Col. Chutty, Warner Wright, M D., and Mrs Martha Oxley
 Cavenham House 2½ m N.W. by N. of Stoke Ferry, J T Reed, Esq.
 *Cavick, 4 m W by S of Wymondham, W R. Caun Esq (p. 781)
 *Cawston, 4 m. W S W of Aylsham, Rev A. E. L. Bulwer
 *Clenchwarton 3 miles W of Lynn, Rev. F W. Goldfrap
 Clermont Lodge, 3 m W by S of Watton, Lady Goodricke (p. 659)
 Clippesby House, 9 m N W of Yarmouth, Henry Muskett, Esq & Cockley Cley Hall, 3½ m. S S.W. of Swaffham, T R. Buckworth, Esq.
 *Combes, 4 m S W of Norwich, Joseph Scott, Esq, & Rev E Postle
 *Coltishall Hall, 7 m N. by E. of Norwich, Rev Jas. Ward, D D.
 Congham 7 m E N E of Lynn, Captain Fitzroy, J E. Everard, Esq., and Rev J R. E. Nelson
 & Costessy Hall, 4 m. N W. by W of Norwich, Lord Stafford
 Crauwich 1½ m W N W. of Mundford, Rev V E Eyre
 *Crauwith 4 m N W. of Hingham, Rev Philip Gordon
 *Crake (North) 3 m S by E. of Burnham, Archd Bathurst L L B Cressingham (Gt) 5 m. S by E of Swaffham, Rev J C. Hall
 Crumplerham Hall, 2½ m. E of Downham, Mrs E. Hall

- Conglesford, 2½ m S W of Norwich, Rev W J Smith, Mrs J Paterson, The Hall, (3 m.) H Gilbert, M.D.
- Cromer, 11 m N by E. of Aylsham, H. Birkbeck, and (John J. Bevington, Esqrs.; The Hall, 11 Baring, Esq M.P., Coine House, Edmund Baxton, Esq.
- Croxall Hall, 4 m E of North Walsham, M^{rs} Shepherd, Esq.
- Down Hall, 1 m S of Downham J. T. Dering Esq (p 680)
- Down Plant, 1½ m S E of Norwich, Col A Money, (p 798)
- Down Hall, 5 m. N of Swaffham, Mrs Mary Dwyer (p 379)
- Down, 4 m E N E of Harleston, Chas. Unghley Esq. (House,)
- Rev Geo Sandeys, (L. Gen., & Rev. Wm Chester, (Rectory)
- Dereham (East), 10 m W. by N of Norwich, J Gough, and T Smith, Esqrs., and Rev C H Wollaston.
- Dereham, 8½ m N N.E. of Lynn, Rev. John Brett
- Dereham, 5 m N E of Diss, Robt. Dover, Esq., and *Rev. Thos. Gillbank
- Dillington Hall 8 m S by W of Swaffham, Lord Berners
- Downham Hall 5 m S E of North Walsham, S. T. Taylor, gent
- Diss, 22 m S S W of Norwich, M Taylor, Esq and *Rev. Wm. Manning
- Ditchingham, 2 m N by W. of Bungay, *J. L. Bedingfield, Esq., and Sir E. Travis
- Ditchingham Hall, 7 m S W. of Burnham Market, Rev H. J. Hare
- Dove House 4 m W by S of Harleston, Rev G. A. Whittaker, 799
- *Downham Market, 11½ m S of Lynn Wm Day, Esq
- *Downham (Suffolk,) 4 m S W of Tretford, Lord Wm. J P. Powlett
- Drayton, 4 m N W of Norwich Mrs B Payne, & C. H. Layton, Esq.
- Driffield House 8 m. N of Norwich, John Wright, Esq., (p 521)
- *Dunham Lodge 5 m N E. of Swaffham, Sir C M Clarke, Bart.
- *Dunston Hall, 1 m. S by W of Norwich, Rev R. C. Long
- Easingham, 2 m. W of Bungay, Gen Meade, & Rev. W G. Cantley
- Eaton, 2 m S W of Norwich, W C Ewing, & *A. Morrison, Esqrs.
- Edles Hall, 2½ m N E of East Harling, Sir James Flower Bart
- Edyfield Mount, 2½ m S. of Holt, G B Ballachey, Esq
- Eppingham Hall, 4 m S of Loddon, P Dikes Esq
- *Eppingham (Little) 2½ m S S W of Higham, Rev Saml. Colby
- Eltham Hall, 5 m. N of Dereham, Hon G J Miles
- Eltham, 4½ m L N E. of Dereham, Mrs F Browne, & Rev Rd Eaton
- Eppingham, 1 m N of Aylsham, S. Shephard, Esq., Rev Stephen Allen, M.A., Rev W H Maren, M.A., Wm Boorne gent
- *Eaton (Suffolk,) 3 m S E of Thetford, Duke of Grafton
- Fakenham, 2½ m N W by W of Norwich, Baron Hall, A Gwyn, Esq., Rectory, Rev J P Hugan, High Field Rt Campbell, Esq.
- Felbrigg Hall, 2½ m S.W. of Cromer, W H Wingham, Esq
- Flemingham Hall, 2 m W of North Walsham, Miss E Seaman
- Felthorpe, 7 m. N W. of Norwich, Joseph Geldart Esq
- Feltwell, 6 m. W N W of Brandon, Misses Clough and *Rev T. B. Spake
- Field Dalling, 4 m. W of Holt, Rev William Topham, A.M.
- Filby House, 6 m. N W of Yarmouth, Rev Gibson Lucas
- *Fitcham Rectory, 5 m N.E. or E of Downham, Rev A Loftus
- Forsyth Rectory, 11 m. S S.W. of Norwich, Rev F Jack, B.D.
- *Foulden Hall, 8 m. S S.W. of Swaffham, W G H D. Tissen, Esq.
- Foulsham Rectory, 3 m. S E of Fakenham, Rev H M Astley B.A.
- Framingham Earl, 4 m. S.E. of Norwich, Mrs. Anne Rigby

- Frenze Hall, $1\frac{1}{2}$ m. E. of Diss, Sheidrake Smith, Esq.
 Fring Parsonage, 13 m. N. E. by N. of Lynn, Rev. Rt. Bacon, LL. D.
 Garboldisham, $\frac{3}{4}$ m. S. of East Harling, Rev. G. S. and C. M. and
 T. M. Montgomery, Esq.
 Gateley Hall, 7 m. N. by W. of E. Dereham, Mrs. Susanb. Sharrock
 Gaudy Hall, $\frac{1}{4}$ m. N. of Harleston, Mrs. Ann Holmes, (p. 752)
 Gaywood Rectory, 1 m. E. of Lynn, Rev. Thomas Hulton §Geldeston Hall, 2 m. N. by W. of Beccles, John Kerrich, Esq.
 Gillingham, 1 m. N. of Beccles, Misses Chatz, & Rev. John Lewis
 Gunningham, $\frac{1}{4}$ m. N. of North Walsham, Rev. R. Blakelock, M. A.
 §Gissing Rectory, 1 m. N. by E. of Diss, Rev. Sir W. R. Kemp, Bart.
 Godfrey's Hall, 3 m. E. by S. of Walsingham, Geo. Waters, Esq. (p. 602)
 *Gressenhall Hall, $2\frac{1}{4}$ m. N. W. of East Dereham, J. D. H. Hill, Esq.
 Grunston 8 m. E. by N. of Lynn, Rev. Geo. Barnes, and George Harwood, Esq.
 Guist, 2 m. W. of Foulsham, Mrs. Sarah Dewing
 Gunshaw Hall, 1 m. S. W. of Harleston J. B. Pratt, gent. (p. 750)
 Gunthorpe Hall, 5 m. S. W. of Holt, Rev. J. H. Sparke Guntton 1 m. N. W. of North Walsham, § Lord Suffield, and * Rev.
 Charles Heath.
 Hackford, $\frac{1}{4}$ m. W. of Reepham, § Rev. J. B. Collyer, & G. Lloyd, Esq.
 Halvergate 10 m. E. of Norwich, Wm. Gullett and Rt. Howard, Esqrs.
 *Hawersta Hall, 6 m. N. of Aylsham, P. W. Mayow, Esq.
 Hardingham Hall, 2 m. N. N. E. of Hingham, Mrs. L. Edwards §Hargham Hall, 3 m. S. S. W. of Attleborough, Sir T. B. Beevor, Bart.
 Harling (West) Hall, $\frac{1}{4}$ m. W. of East Harling, § N. W. R. Colborne, Esq., M. P.
 Harpley, $1\frac{1}{4}$ m. E. N. E. of Lynn, J. Raven, Esq., (occasionally)
 Rev. W. Pratt
 *Haverlingland Hall, $\frac{3}{4}$ m. S. E. of Reepham, W. H. Fellowes, Esq.
 Haynford Hall, 6 m. N. of Norwich, Rev. Arnold Keppel Heacham Hall, 13 m. N. N. E. of Lynn, § Edmund Rolfe, Esq., and Rev. M. Davis, D. D.
 Hempsall, 9 m. S. of Norwich, J. C. Webb, gent.
 Hempstead Rectory, 8 m. E. by S. of North Walsham, Rev. Edward Wilkins, M. A.
 Hensley Hall & Lodge, $6\frac{1}{4}$ m. N. of Yarmouth, Robt. Copeman, sen.
 and jun. Esqrs.
 Herringby, 9 m. N. W. by W. of Yarmouth, Azariah Waters, gent.
 Hethersett, 5 m. S. W. of Norwich, * Rev. J. Day, Mrs. Browne, and
 Rev. T. S. Baskle
 *Heyes Hall, 6 m. W. N. W. of Aylsham, W. E. L. Bulwer, Esq., M. P.
 *Hilborough Hall, 6 m. S. of Swaffham, H. B. Caldwell, Esq.
 §Hilington Hall, 8 m. N. E. by E. of Lynn, Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, Bt.
 & Hardingham Hall, $2\frac{1}{2}$ m. E. of Walsingham, John Orms, Esq.
 Hingham, 11 m. S. W. of Norwich, * Hon. and Rev. W. Wodehouse; § Hon. Philip and Hon. Sophia Wodehouse, Col. P. Gilman, and William Hurnard, Esq.
 *Hockering 5 m. E. of East Dereham, Rev. E. J. Howman §Hockham Hall, 5 m. N. W. by N. of E. Harling, H. S. Partridge, Esq.
 *Hockwell Hall, 5 m. W. of Brandon, Rev. William Newcome, and § Edward C. Newcome, Esq.
 §Holkham Hall, $2\frac{1}{2}$ m. W. of Wells, Thomas Wilham Coke, Esq.
Holme next the Sea, 9 m. W. of Burnham Market, M. T. Nelson, gt.
Holme Hale, 5 m. E. by S. of Swaffham, Rt. Farrand, Esq.

SEATS IN NORFOLK.

55

- Hall, 11 m N.N.W. of Norwich, *Rev J. W. Flavell, +Captain
 Gilling, and Rev. W. H. Parry
 *Hampden Hall, 3 m S.E. of North Walsham, Ed. Geo. Cubitt, Esq.
 Houghton Hall, 8 m. W. by N. of Norwich, Rd. Crawshaw, Esq.
 Horning, 4 m N.E. of Norwich, C. Grymes & Thos. Heath, gent.
 Horsey, 11 m N. by W. of Yarmouth, Robert Hasing, Esq.
 Hornsea, 5½ m. N. of Norwich, Dowager Lady Suffield, Mrs. Watts,
 Thomas Blake, Esq., LL.D. and E. H. Lyon, Esq.
 Houghton Hall, 10 m W. of Fakenham, *Marquis Cholmondeley, +Lord H. Cholmondeley, and *Lord W. H. Cholmondeley
 Hoveton Hall, 9 m. N.E. of Norwich, Mrs. C. Burroughes
 House of House, 7½ m N.E. of Norwich, Rev T. C. Blizard M.A.
 How Hall, 4 m W.N.W. of Burnham Market, J. N. Keever, gent. (p. 627)
 *Humbly Grove House, 1 m N.W. of E. Dereham, B. Gilling, Esq. (p. 63) Hunsdon Hall, 10 m W. of Burnham Market, H. L. Styeman Esq.
 Hingham, 9 m S.E. of North Walsham, Rt. Wharles and John Parson, Esqrs.
 *Hunston Hall, 3½ m S.S.W. of Norwich, J. S. Maskett, Esq.
 *Hunston Rectory, 12 m N.E. of Norwich, Rev J. Gunn, M.A.
 Houghton Hall, 3 m W.S.W. of Lynn, Edward Bagge, Esq.
 *Hunting Hall, 1 m E. of Foulsham, F. C. Francis, gent. (p. 601)
 *Hunting 3 m N. of Holt, Mrs. P. M. and +Rev W. F. Gurnstone
 *Hunting Lodge, 1½ m. S. of Litcham, Hon. Lieut. Gen. Wm.
 Pitt Rivers
 *Huntinghall, 2½ m E. by S. of East Harling, Daniel Calver, Esq.
 *Huntington, 2 miles W. of Reepham, J. P. Loe, Esq. (p. 505)
 *Hunting, 3 m S. by W. of Norwich, *H. Gurney & H. R. Blacklock, Esqrs.
 *Huntingham Hall, 3 m. E.S.E. of Wymondham, A. Ogilby, Esq.
 *Huntingham Rectory, 3½ m. E.N.E. of Fakenham, Rev James Carr
 *Huntingham Hall, 1½ m. E. of Thetford, John Wright, Esq.
 *Huntingham Hall, 2½ m N.W. by N. of Wymondham, J. J. Woodhouse
 *Huntingham, 3 m S.E. by S. of Norwich, Sir H. Perney, Bart.
 *Huntingham Rectory, 3 m S. of Loddon, Rev Henry Wilson
 *Huntingham Hall, 8 m S.S.W. of Norwich, C. Kerrison, Esq.
 *Huntingham, 3 m N.E. of North Walsham, Rev S. Cock and Henry R. T. T. Esq.
 *Huntingham 9 m N. of Norwich, *Rev W. J. Blake, & Rev W. H. Marsh
 *Huntingham Hall, 5 m W.N.W. of Holt, Rev S. F. Rappingall
 Langley Park, 2 m N. of Loddon, Sir W. B. Proctor, Bart.
 *Langham House, 6 m S.E. of Norwich, Gibbs Murrell, Esq. (p. 797)
 *Langham, 8 m E. by S. of North Walsham, Benj. Cubitt, gent.
 *Letheringsett Hall, 1 m W. of Holt, Wm. Hardy, Esq.
 *Lethering Hall, 5 m N.W. by N. of Hingham, T. F. D. and B. Garden, Esqrs.
 *Lethering (East) Hall, 1 m W. of Litcham, F. W. Keppel, Esq.
 *Lethering, 8 m E. of Norwich, Revs E. Goddard and *Jeremiah Burroughes
 *Lethering, 8 m N.E. by N. of Swaffham, Rev James Hoste
 *Lethering Rectory, 1 m S.E. of East Harling, Rev J. Barrow, M.A.
 *Lethering Hall, 7 m N.N.W. of Thetford, Sir R. Sutton, Bart.
 *Lethering Rectory, 4 m S.W. of Reepham, Hen. & Rev H. Anson
 *Lethering Regis, (see p. 122), *Rev S. Allen, +T. Allen, Esq.
 *Lethering (North), G. Walker, Esq., +Lord W. C. C. Bentinck, owner
 *Lethering House, 8 m S.E. by E. of Downham, H. Vilebois, Esq.

- *Marlingford, 6 m. W. of Norwich, T L'Estrange Ewen, Esq.
 Marsham Hall, 2½ m. S. of Aylsham, Goddard Johnson, Esq.
 Martham, 9½ m. N N W of Yarmouth, T Grove, Esq., (The Hall.)
 T S Rising, and R Purdy, gent., and William Garham, gent.
 Massingham (Little,) 13 m. E. by N of Lynn, *J Wilson, Esq.
 Matlack, 7 m. N N W of Aylsham, Dennis Ganton, Esq.
 Matthehall, 5 m. E. by S. of E. Dereham, Rev T. Paddon
 *Menton Constable, 5½ m. S.W. of Holt, Sir J. Astley, Bart., M.P.
 Menton (Gr.) Hall, 6½ m. S.W. by W. of Norwich, §Ed. Lumbe &
 *E. Lumbe, jun., Esqrs.
 *Merton Hall, 2 m. S. by W. of Watton, Lord Walsingham, and H n T De Grey
 *Metton Rectory, 8 m. N. of Aylsham, Rev Cremer Cremer, M.A.
 Middleton, 1 m. S S E. of Lynn, T Wythe and E. Everard, Esqrs., and Rev P S Wood, Dean of Middleham, Yorkshire
 Mileham, 8 m. N.W. of East Dereham, Rev C. B. Barnwell
 *Mornington 10 m. S. of Norwich, Rev Thomas Howes
 Morston, 6 m. N W of Holt, Wm Back, gent.
 *Morton Hall, 8 m. N W. of Norwich, T. T. Berney, Esq.
 Moulton Rectory, 9 m. N N E of Diss, Rev. J. S. Wiggett, M.A.
 *Mount Amelia, 10 m. N N E of Lynn, Capt J. Davy, R.N. (p. 631)
 Mount Ida, 9 m. W. by N. of Fakenham, *G. W. Chad, Esq (p. 649)
 *Muscot Hall, 14 m. E. of Norwich, Sir Robt John Harvey
 Mundesley, 5 m. N. by E. of North Walsham, F. Wheatley, Esq.
 *Narborough Hall, 6 m. N W by W. of Swaffham, S. Fyssen Esq.
 *Narford Hall, 5 m. N W. of Swaffham, Andrew Fontaine, Esq.
 *Necton Hall, 4 m. E. of Swaffham, Wm. Mason Esq.
 *Northrepps Hall, 3 m. S E. of Cromer, Ts. F. Buxton, Esq., M.P.
 *Northwood, 3 m. S E. by E. of Stoke Ferry, I. Harvey and J. Carter, Esqrs.
 Norwich, *The Bishop, *The Dean, §Rt. Plamtre, Esq., §Isaac
 Preston Esq., *Rev John Taylor, *Rev. E. S. Thurlow, §Rev C. N. Woorhouse, †James Barnham, Esq., §J. Herring, Esq., §Samuel Bignold Esq. — (Vide also p. 162 to 166)
 *Ormesby St Margaret, 5 m. N. by W. of Yarmouth, §Sir E. K.
 Lacon, Bart., (The Hall,) Robert Cory and Timothy Fellowes, Esqrs., and *Rev Jas Symonds
 *Ormesby St Michael 6 m. N N W. of Yarmouth, Rd. Glasspoole, Esq. and Mrs. Lucas
 *Oulton Hall, 3½ m. N W of Aylsham, Rev Samuel Pitman
 *Outwell, 5 m. S E. of Wisbech, Rev Wm. Hardwike
 *Overburgh, 3 m. N E. of Stoke Ferry, §Sir H. P. Bedingfield and *T. Seale, Esq.
 *Overton Hall, 4 m. E S E. of Aylsham, John Spruks, gent.
 Paston Hall, 4 m. N.E. by N. of North Walsham, John Mack, Esq.
 *Pickenham Hall, 4 m. S S E of Swaffham, W. L. W. Chute, Esq.
 *Plawton Hall, 7 m. E. of Norwich, Rev Chas Penrice, M.A.
 *Pocklington Rectory, 4 m. E. by S. of Norwich, Rev J. L. Ose, LL.B.
 *Porter Houghton Hall, 15 m. N E. by E. of Norwich, S. Thaxter, gt.
 *Rusham St Mary Magdalen, 4 m. N N W. of Harleston, Mrs J.
 Deane and *Rev W. Leigh, M.A.
 *Scribbon 4 m. N. of East Dereham, Wm. Wilson Lee-Warner
 Esq. (p. 158)
 *Stadenham Hall, 1 m. 1 by N. of East Harling, Earl of Alton.

- Marle and Hon G. Keppel*, (Rectory, Hon and Rev. E. S. Keppel, M.A.)
 Northgate Hall*, 1 m. N.E. by N. of Norwich, Sir E. Stracey, Bart.
 Ranham Hall*, 3 m. S.W. of Fakenham, Lord C. A. T. T. Washburn
 Ranham Manor*, 9 m. E.N.E. of Norwich, M. Kerrison, Esq.
 Ranham Hall*, 3½ m. S.E. of Loddon, Sir E. Bacon, Bart.
 Ranham*, Esq.
 Reepham*, 12 m. N.W. of Norwich, J. W. Wymes, & W. Harchan.
 Reepham*, Rev. J. Mathew
 Reepham Hall*, 1 m. S.E. by S. of E. Dereham, G. T. G. Browne, Esq.
 Redesworth*, 1 m. S.W. of E. Harling, T. Thornhill, Esq.
 Regstead*, 8 miles W. by S. of Burgham, Rev. H. North
 Rehdy*, 8 miles N.W. by N. of Yarmouth, John & J. M. Lister, Esqrs. and Rev. Thomas Baker
 Rising Hall*, 1½ m. W. of Diss, Rev. T. & Rt. Hon. J. H. Frere
 Rancton Hall*, (North) 3 miles S.S.E. of Lynn, D. Gurney, Esq.
 Ryton*, 3 miles S. of Downham, E. R. Pratt, sen. and jun., Esqrs.
 Rev. J. Pratt*
 Ranham Hall*, 6 miles N.E. of Norwich, Robert Ward, Esq.
 Ranham*, 1½ m. N. of Reepham, Sir R. P. Jodrell, Bart.
 Ranham Hall*, 7½ m. N.N.E. of Lynn, H. J. Henley, Esq.
 Ranham*, 7 miles S. of Norwich, John Gorton, Esq.
 Ranham Rectory*, 3 miles W. of Holt, Rev. S. Jodrell
 Ranham*, 1½ mile W. of East Dereham, Rev. William Goring
 Ranham Lodge*, 2½ miles E. of Diss, exors. of late John Aytton, Esq.
 Ranham*, 5 m. S. of North Walsham, Thomas Wells, gent.
 Ranham Hall*, 5 m. S. by W. of North Walsham, Sir T. H. E. Durrant, Bart.
 Ranham Hall*, 5 miles N. of Yarmouth, Isaac Everett, Esq.
 Ranham*, 2½ miles N.W. of Fakenham, Rev. Edward Marham.
 Ranham Hall*, 3 m. S.W. by S. of Loddon, Mrs. Harriet Kell
 Ranham Lodge*, 1 m. S.E. of Fakenham, E. W. de la Cour, Esq.
 Ranham Lodge*, 3½ miles E. of Thetford, Sir Lt. Buxton, Bart.
 Ranham Rectory*, 6 miles N. of Harleston, Rev. Joshua Carters
 Ranham Grove*, 5 m. W. by N. of Cromer, H. R. Usher, Esq.
 Ranham Hall*, 14 miles N.E. of Diss, Rev. F. B. Morris, A.M.
 Ranham*, 7 miles S. by W. of E. Dereham, Rev. B. Barker and Misses Bullock
 Ranham Park*, 6 miles S. of Norwich, Rt. Fellwes, Esq. and John Fellowes
 Ranham Hall*, 5 miles N.E. of Downham, Thomas Allen, Esq.
 Ranham*, 5 m. N. by W. of E. Harling, H. D. Hemsworth, Esq., Rev. G. Leathes*
 Ranham House*, 5 miles S. of North Walsham, Rev. Benj. Callett
 Ranham*, 2½ m. S.E. by S. of North Walsham, Rev. William
 Ranham*, In Postle gate, the Hall, J. Postle, gent., Holy House
 Ranham Hall House*, 1 mile E. of Thetford, Thomas Redhead, Esq.
 Ranham Hall*, 11 miles N.N.E. of Lynn, Mrs. E. Stycken
 Ranham*, 2 miles S. of Walsingham, Rev. C. Stannard, R.D.
 Ranham House*, 5½ m. N. by W. of Yarmouth, Vice Adm. Stephens
 Ranham (West) Hall*, 9 m. N. by W. of Yarmouth, Wm. Rosing, gent.
 Ranham*, 3 m. N. by W. of North Walsham, Lady H. Evelyn
 Ranham*, Vicarage, and Rev. J. Cabill
 Ranham Rectory*, 3 m. S.W. of Reepham, Rev. James Stoughton
 Ranham Hall*, 1 m. N. by E. of Norwich, John Long, Esq.

Stubbard, 4 miles E. of Fakenham,
 Stiffkey New Hall, 3 miles E. of W
 •Stoke Perry, 14 m. S S.E. of Lyn Stokesby Hall, 9 m. N.W. by W. of •Stow Bardolph Hall, 2 m. N. by E
 •Stradsett Hall, 4 m. E. by N. of I •Stratton House, 10 m. S. by W. of •Stratton St. Michael, 9 m. S. of N
 •Stratton Strawless Hall, 4 m. S
 •Strumpshaw Rectory, $8\frac{1}{2}$ m. E. by S •Summerfield, 5 m. S W by W. of
 Esq. (p. 629.)
 •Sussex Farm, 2 m. N.W. of Bur
 Swaffham, 27 m. W. of Norwich,
 Swafield, 2 m. N. of North Walsham
 Blake, and Mrs. Dolphin
 Swannington Lawn, $4\frac{1}{2}$ m. S.S.W.
 •Swanton Abbott, 3 m. S. by W. of Tasburgh Lodge, 8 miles S. of No
 •Tatterford, 4 m. W.S.W. of Faken
 •Taverham Hall, 6 m. N.W. of N
 Terrington St. Clement's, 6 m. W
 G. E. Hammond, Bart. (and Hol
 Lodge; •Rev. T. T. Upwood, Esq.
 agt. to Lord W. Bentinck, Orange
 Testerton Hs. 3 m. S.E. by S. of Fal •Thelveston Hall, 3 m. N.E. by E. of Thetford, 28 miles S.W. of Norwic
 Place, J. Cole, Esq., King's Ha
 •Thickthorn House, $3\frac{1}{2}$ m. S.W. of Thirning, 6 m. S. of Holt, §Jas. Gay
 •Thompson, 3 m. S. by E. of Watto
 Thornage Rectory, 2 m. S. W. of H
 Thornham Hall, 7 m. W. by N. of B
 Thorpe Hamlet, near Norwich, §N. T.
 §Edm. Wodehouse, Esq. M.P., •H
 Thorpe, $2\frac{1}{2}$ m. E. of Norwich, §J. P
 Onley, Esqrs., The Lodge, §J. Har
 Bailey, gent; The Rectory, Rev. J.
 Thorpland Hall, $1\frac{1}{2}$ m. N.E. of Faken
 Thrigby Hall, 7 m. N.W. by W. of Ya
 Thurgarton, $6\frac{1}{2}$ m. N. of Aylsham, S.
 Thurne Rectory, 11 m. N.W. of Yarm
 •Thursford Hall, 5 m. N.E. by E. of Fa
 Thwaite, $4\frac{1}{2}$ m. N.E. of Aylsham, Mrs
 Titchwell, 5 m. W. by N. of Burgham M

CORPORATION OF NORWICH.

(Elected in 1834, under the Municipal Act of 5th and 6th of William IV cap 76, passed Sept. 9th, 1835)

MAYOR—Thomas Osborn Springfield, Esq. (See also p. 104.)

RECORDER—Isaac Preston, Esq.

SHERIFF—Horatio Bolingbroke, Esq.

AIDERMEN—Henry Burkbeck, Esq.; Mr Henry Chamberlin, jun., Mr John Cozens, Mr Samuel Culey, Lewis Evans, M.D.; Mr W. Robinson, Mr Edward Willett, Mr John Youngs, Mr John Barwell, Thomas Brightwell, Esq.; Mr J. G. Cousins, Wm. England, M.D.; Mr John Marshall, Mr Ebenezer Mills, Philip John Money, Esq.; and Mr John Warden Robberds — (The last eight will go out in 1838.)

NEW WARDS AND COUNCILLORS.—First Ward—The parishes of Sts. Helen, Martin at Palace, Simon and Jude, Michael at Plea, Peter at Hungate, George of Tombland, and Peter per Mountergate, and the Precincts of the Cathedral and the Liberty of the Bishop's Palace. Messrs. John Kitson, Edward Stewart, John Wright, Robert Wortley, Wm. Martin Seppings, and George Morse.

Second Ward—The parishes of Sts. Andrew, John of Maddermarket, Gregory Lawrence, Margaret, and Swithun. Messrs. J. N. Waite, Henry Willett, Wm. Foster, Jacob Johnson, James Spratt, and Joseph Geldart.

Third Ward—The parishes of Sts. Benedict and Giles, and the hamlets of Heigham and Earham. Messrs. Wm. Burt, Nathaniel Bolingbroke, Cannel Darkins, Richard Watson, John Oddin Taylor, and John Hilling Baraard.

Fourth Ward—The parish of St. Peter of Mancroft. Messrs. Horatio Bolingbroke, Arthur Dalrymple, Richard H. Garney, Saml. Mitchell, Edward Freestone, and Seth Wm. Stevenson.

Fifth Ward—The parishes of Sts. Stephen, John's Timberhill, and All Saints, the Town Close, and the hamlet of Eaton. Messrs. Saml. Bignold, Edmund Newton, John Norgate, John Middleton, Edward Temple Booth, and Archibald Morrison.

Sixth Ward—The parishes of Sts. Julian, Etheldred, Michael at Thorn, Peter Southgate, and John Sepulchre, and the hamlets of Lakenham, Trowse, Carrow, and Bracondale, and the Precincts of the Castle and Shirehall. Messrs. John Kitson, James Stewart, Benjamin Bunting, Geo. Seppings, Wm. Rackham, and John Angell.

Seventh Ward—The parishes of Sts. Clement, Edmund, Saviour, Paul, and James, and the hamlets of Pockthorpe, Thorpe, and that part of Sprowston which is within the boundary of the city of Norwich and county of the same. Messrs. Henry Martineau, E. Massey, Edmund Sparshall, Richd. Shaw, Timy Steward and T. O. Springfield.

Eighth Ward—The parishes of Sts. Michael at Coslany, Mary, Martin at Oak, George of Colegate, and Augustine, and the hamlet of Helesuan. Messrs. Peter Finch, Wm. Knifield, John Francis, John Bateman, Saml. S. Beare, and Thomas Davey.

(One-third (the lowest on the poll) to go out on the 1st of November.)

TOWN CLERK—Mr John Hussey Staff.

MAGISTRATES' CLERK—Mr. William Day.

TREASURER OF THE BOROUGH FUND—Mr Thomas Edwards.

UNDER SHERIFF—Mr Charles Staff.

SCOUT OF THE BOROUGH CONSTABLE—N. Palmer, Esq.

Bidwell Jph engr &c., Briggs st.
 Blyth W. B., shoemr., Bethel st.
 Buon Jas tailor, &c., Gun lane
 Borrett J. confr. Westwick street
 Boutell G. H. druggist Upr. walk
 Brown Wm. vict., Red Lion st.
 Browne Z. draper, Magdalen st.
 Bunn Geo. vict., All Saints' st.
 Bunting Jn. glass mercht (Newcastle whs) & plumber, painter,
 &c., Upper Market
 Burrows Thos Y. vict., King st.
 Carter Mary A. boarding school,
 Priory house, St. Stephen's
 Chapman Chas. vict., Middle st.
 Clark Jas. grocer, St. Augustin's Clements Joseph Wm. musician and tunist, Lwr. Westwick st.
 Collins Js shoemkr. 3, Davey pl.
 Cooper Emil. surgeon, Tombland
 Day Starling wine, &c., mercht, Broad street, St. Giles, and brewer, Heigham hill
 Denny D. P. drugt St. Stephen's st.
 Dinmore Harwood, tea and Italian whs Castle street
 Dixon Frk surgeon, Dispensary
 Drossier Frdk druggist, Rampant
 Horse street
 Duncan Jas. wood turner & shuttle mkr Bridge street, St. Miles Edwards John, spirit dlr. Bridge street, St. George's
 Edwards Edw hair drsr London st.
 Frost Rt. dpr & hsr 5, Davey pl.
 Gay John, shoemaker, Bridge st.
 Gayley Rd vict St Gregory's
 Gibbard John, cabt mkr & vict.,
 Royal Oak, Chapel st N. C.
 Gossé Agus, atty & clerk, Free-mantle's court, Theatre street
 Green Jeffrey, tailor, Gregory st.
 Griniter C. E. bookbdr Middle st.
 Haugant Richd grocer King st.
 Ha t St jur & beer hs King st.
 Harvey Sir Robert John K C
 Household house
 Hawkes L. millner, Post office st.
 Howes John, wine & spirit mercht,
 Fletcher's 1 Haymkt., h Close Hursthouse and Co, timber, corn, and coal merchts King street
 Jary John, vict., Middle street
 Jennings Wm. hatr 2, Gents' wk.
 Johnson James vict., Wounded
 Heart, Upper Market
 Knigh Hy vict., Half Moon, Duke st.
 Lake Jn. grocer, Bridge st St. A.
 Leggett Thomas, sellmonger and vict Swan & Anchor Colegt. st.
 Lot Wm grocer, Charing Cross
 Lowue W C. master of the Works.
 Mather John, grocer, 2, Davey pl.
 Newsham Jph. mercht St Miles bldg.
 Page Ez eating hs. Magdalen st.
 Paul Jph artist, St Stephen's st.
 Platten Jas. vict., Westwick st.
 Plummer Wm vict Bridewellaly.
 Randall Wm plumber, &c., ale and porter dr. St Gregory st.
 Schwerer and Tritchler, clock makers, Magdalen street
 Sendall Mrs E Muspole street
 Sharpe J J printer, 62, Pottergt.
 Shickle My milliner, Upper walk
 Smith Geo. glover, St. Margaret's
 Smith Geo manager, Theatre
 Smith Wm. L. drugt White Lion st.
 Springall Jas. watchmr Wensum st.
 Sullivan Chs. jeweller, Post off st.
 Sussans Wm. grocer St John's Mt.
 Taylor G. tressmr Broad st. St. G.
 Thompson Jph grocer, W. Lion st.
 Tillett Thos. vict., Bethel street
 Townshend Samuel carver and gilder, St. Stephen's street
 Travett John Bourne, ironmonger
 and colourman, Swan lane Tyzack Wm V hair dresser and fancy whs White Lion street
 Vince Jacob vict St Stephen's st.
 Warman Wm. gnr 11, Exchange st
 West Benj vict Wensum street
 White James Henry, piano forte maker Post office street
 Watkins Rt. vict., Globe Union pl.
 Williamson J. vict., Middle st.
 Witman, Woollar and Co., clock makers, Charing Cross
 Woods Wm. turner, Dereham rd.
 Wright William, bookseller, autioner & sub.newsmr. Post off st.
 Museum st. now Post Off. st.

East of England Banking Co., (Established 1835,) Central Bank, at Norwich; Branches at Yarmouth, Ipswich, &c

HISTORY

OF THE

City and County of the City

OF

NORWICH.

Norwich, the capital of Norfolk, and the See of an extensive diocese, is the largest city on the eastern side of England, and, with its precincts, a county of itself, containing 61,364 inhabitants, 35 parishes, 10 hamlets, and 6,630 acres of land. It has been celebrated for its crape, bombasin, and other silk and manufactures; for its venerable antiquities; and for the memorable events of which it has been the scene. From its numerous gardens, shrubberies, and shady trees, it has been emphatically called "a city in an orchard;" and though many of these ornaments have given place, during the present century, to streets and modern erections, it still retains much of its rural aspect. It is pleasantly seated on the gently sloping bank of the river Wensum, which, at a short distance to the north, empties itself into the Yare, after having, by several abscissities, intersected and partly encompassed this populous city, which is distant 108 miles N.E. by N. of London; 43 miles from Norwich; 42 miles E. by S. of Lynn-Regis; 49 miles from Newmarket; 19 miles W. of Yarmouth; 25 miles from Lowestoft; 72 miles N.E. by E. of Cambridge; 99 miles S.E. of Lincoln; and about 380 miles S.E. by S. of Wexford; being in 53 deg. 35. min. north latitude, and in 1° 30 min. east longitude from the meridian of Greenwich. The Wensum and the Yare are navigable only for small craft from Norwich, but the shallows near the mouth of the latter river are avoided by a new ship canal cut across the marshes, from Reedham to Lowestoft, and opened in 1833, so that Norwich is now a port for sea-borne vessels;—an advantage which is a great facility and encouragement to its trade and commerce, by avoiding the delay and damage to which its merchandise was often subjected, in its transmission by small-craft to and from the ships at Yarmouth.

The city is said to occupy a larger space of ground, comparatively with its population, than any other in the kingdom; many buildings being (as already observed) interspersed with gardens and other private enclosures, which contribute much to the general appearance of the place, and also to the free circulation of air, which would otherwise be somewhat impaired by the narrowness of many of the streets. The shape or plan of the city, marked by its ancient boundaries, approaches that of a cornucopia, or bent cone, extending more than a mile and a half in length from north to south, and one mile and a quarter in its greatest breadth from east to west; but these admeasurements are now considerably extended by modern erections in the suburbs. It was formerly surrounded by a strong flint Wall, flanked with forty Towers, and having a broad ditch and twelve beautiful Gates; except on its south-eastern side, and a small portion of its northern extremity, where it is bounded by the river Wensum but having fallen into decay, and being considered impediments to the growth and improvement of the city, the whole of the Gates and several large portions of the Wall have been removed at various periods, and their sites occupied by many of the new streets and buildings, which have sprung into existence during the last twenty years, in this ancient city and its hamlets;—the latter of which surround, and most of them form populous, handsome, and contiguous suburbs of the city, from which they were formerly separated by green fields, and frowning fortifications; of which latter, enough still remains to shew their ancient strength, especially on the castle hill, which holds a central situation, and though only of a moderate altitude, commands an extensive and beautiful view of the city and neighbourhood, and was once a formidable citadel, as will be seen at a subsequent page.

The COUNTY OF THE CITY OF NORWICH was separated from the county of Norfolk, by Henry IV. in 1403, and placed under the exclusive jurisdiction of the corporation. According to a survey made in the year 1536, it comprises about 6,630 acres of land; being nearly fourteen miles in circumference, and extending from the Guildhall in the Market-place, $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles to Mile-cross on the north, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile to Thorpe St. Andrew on the east; $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles to Harford bridges on the south; and $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles to Earham Bounds, on the west. It is encompassed by the Hundreds of Humbleyard, Henstead, Blofield, Taverham, and Lerehoe. The river Yare bounds it on the west and south, and with the Wensum, nearly insulates the greater part of it, but it extends beyond the north-east side of the latter river, to Thorpe, Mousehold Heath, Hellesden, and the confines of Catton and Sprowston; and on the Costessey road, its boundary is an imaginary line near the two-mile-stone, drawn between the Wensum and Yare, which here approach within a mile of each other, and after following many circuitous windings, unite their streams at Trowse Eye, a little below the city. The Wensum, in its sinuous course through Norwich, is crossed by nine bridges, two of which are modern structures of cast iron, and several of them are fine specimens of ancient masonry. The Castle hill, though in the heart of the city, belongs to the county of Norfolk, being now the site of the Gaol and Shire-Hall, and vested in the High Sheriff and Justices of the peace, by an act passed in 1808. The Cathedral Close, with its precincts, enjoys several exclusive privileges, though forming part of the city.

PARISHES AND WARDS.—The city is divided into 35 parishes, and has five more, and parts of two others, in its suburban hamlets. There are within the county of the city no fewer than 39 parish churches, exclusive of the Cathedral, the French and Dutch churches, and about thirty dissenting places of worship. It had formerly about twenty other parishes, but they were consolidated with the above, and their churches deserted or taken down many years ago. All the present parishes and hamlets (except Trinity or St. Mary in the Marsh,* are vested for the maintenance of the poor, under an Act of Parliament passed in 1712, but in municipal affairs they are divided into four Great Wards, each of which is subdivided into three Small Wards, with two of the twenty-four aldermen* for each. These wards and their contents are as follows:—

MANCROFT GREAT WARD includes the three parishes of St. Stephen, St. Peter Mancroft, & St. Giles, each forming a small Ward.

WYMER GREAT WARD is divided into the three small Wards, of West Middle, and East Wymer.—West Wymer contains the parishes of St. Benedict, St. Swithun, St. Margaret, St. Lawrence, and St. Gregory.—Middle Wymer has the parishes of St. John Madlemarket, and St. Andrew, with most of the parish of St. Michael-at-Plea.—East Wymer comprises the parishes of St. Peter-Hungate, St. Simon-and-Jude, St. Martin's Palace, St. Helen, and the chief part of St. George Tomland.

CONISFORD GREAT WARD is subdivided into the three small Wards of North and South Conisford, and Ber-Street.—North Conisford comprehends the parish of St. Peter-per-Mountgates, and two small portions of St. George Tomland, and St. Michael-at-Plea.—South Conisford has the three parishes of St. Julian, St. Ethelwired, and St. Peter-Southgate.—Ber-Street Ward contains the parishes of St. John Sepulchre, St. Michael-at-Thorne, St. John Timberhill, and All Saints. Conisford Street, which gave name to this great Ward, is now called King-Street.

GREAT NORTHERN WARD, or Ward beyond the water, is divided into the small Wards of Coslany, Colegate, and Fye-Bridge.—Coslany Ward includes the three parishes of St. Michael-Coslany, St. Mary, and St. Martin-at-Oak.—Colegate Ward comprises St. George-Colegate, and St. Augustine.—Fye-Bridge Ward includes the five parishes of St. Clement, St. Edmund, St. Saviour, St. Paul, and St. James.

The Hamlets enjoy all the privileges of the city wards, and are annexed to them as follows, viz., Lakenham, with Trowse, Carrow, and Bracondale, to South Conisford and Ber Street Wards.—Eatm, to St. Stephen's Ward:—Earlham, to St. Peter Mancroft and West-Wymer Wards:—Heigham and Hellesden, to West Wymer Ward:—Pockthorpe to Fye-bridge Ward, and Thorpe to East Wymer Ward.

* The sixty Common Councilmen are chosen for the Great Wards as follows viz. 14 for Mancroft, 12 for Conisford, 20 for Wymer, and 14 for the Great Northern Ward.

CITY OF NORWICH PARISHES.	POPULATION.						Houses in 1881.
	in 1093.	in 1762.	in 1801	in 1831	in 1861	in 1881
All Saints	425	578	701	607	741	692	158
St. Andrew	933	1,234	1,058	1,366	1,518	1,297	219
St. Augustine	650	1,226	1,232	1,304	1,637	2,022	405
St. Benedict	662	715	830	926	1,125	1,424	295
St. Clement	503	816	653	933	2,364	2,767	589
St. Edmund	570	520	446	492	577	762	165
St. Etheldred	243	247	252	261	273	627	169
St. George Colegate	1,154	1,295	1,132	1,379	1,510	1,513	342
St. George, Tombland	722	737	730	739	797	710	156
St. Giles	910	961	1,076	1,043	1,422	1,595	368
St. Gregory	712	1,202	1,057	1,125	1,244	1,104	233
St. Helen	308	340	303	371	425	591	65
St. James †	416	696	580	555	1,268	1,299	362
St. John Maddermarket	657	1,107	1,020	827	957	814	167
St. John Repulchre	781	1,004	1,144	1,233	1,599	1,832	418
St. John Timberhill	666	810	883	918	1,101	1,055	268
St. Julian	503	595	613	677	922	1,069	250
St. Lawrence	668	952	890	902	1,092	1,008	223
St. Margaret*	664	856	662	797	938	858	162
St. Martin-at-Onk	1,241	1,628	1,747	1,857	2,477	2,524	549
St. Martin-at-Palace	819	1,083	936	978	1,202	1,217	310
St. Mary	949	1,178	1,018	1,077	1,591	1,361	344
St. Michael Costary	1,020	1,046	1,031	947	1,340	1,309	276
St. Michael-at-Plea	479	482	445	501	369	357	77
St. Michael-at-Thorne	865	1,127	1,196	1,450	1,750	2,040	469
St. Paul	983	1,451	1,395	1,583	2,100	2,407	731
St. Peter Hungate	367	341	371	308	511	522	99
St. Peter Mancroft	1,953	2,288	2,120	2,137	2,671	2,901	600
St. Peter Mountergate	1,376	1,480	1,560	1,391	1,789	1,976	470
St. Peter Southgate	470	425	378	386	530	627	169
St. Saviour	701	810	984	990	1,206	1,486	348
St. Simon and Jude	362	420	333	308	447	446	94
St. Stephen	1,769	2,211	2,211	2,198	2,227	4,110	989
St. Swithin	496	751	503	591	750	870	219
* Trinity, or St. Mary-in-the-March	650	700	510	508	583	611	101
HAMLETS.
Barham	50	68	95	84	118	109	18
Baton	153	226	278	294	419	529	117
Beigham	544	653	854	842	1,503	5,296	1,222
Belleaden (part of) †	65	70	166	184	246	382	85
Labram	221	163	428	441	1,875	3,810	1,031
Peckthorpe †	732	1,116	979	1,029	1,313	1,609	385
Thorp (part of) †	69	36	74	67	384	1,211	257
Donew, Carrow, and Bra- mshale	258	966	260	345	605	607	152
Donew Cause Liberty †	14	2
Total	28,881	36,441	36,906	37,313	50,286	61,364	14,367

* Trinity, or St. Mary-in-the-March, and its precinct form the Parish or Extra-Parochial of Trinity, or St. Mary-in-the-March, which maintains its poor separately from the rest of the County of the City.

† These parishes are in the Hundred. The entire parish contains 2,151 persons. The portion of the parish use St. Helen's Church, and the portion use St. Helen's Church, the Poor of Norwich, two persons are appointed for the Poor of St. Helen's and Thorpe.

The POPULATION of Norwich, which is the best criterion of its growing prosperity, has increased since the year 1811, from 37,313, to upwards of 61,000 souls, notwithstanding the depressions and revolutions to which the ancient staple trade of the city has been subjected during the last twenty years; in which period, several branches of the silk manufacture have been successfully introduced, to supply that lack of employment, occasioned by the decreased demand for "Norwich Crepe." The preceding Table shews an enumeration of all the Parishes and Hamlets in the City and County of the City, with the number of inhabitants in each, in the years 1693, 1752, 1801, 1811, 1821, and 1831, and the number of Houses at the latter year.

ANCIENT HISTORY.

Norwich, one of the largest cities in England, and perhaps the most important as respects its manufactures, claims the honour of high antiquity. Its original foundation, being involved in the impenetrable gloom which is cast over the dark ages of the Aborigines of Britian, has been the subject of many absurd legends, and much antiquarian research and conjecture. Some writers have attributed its rise to Guitilino, an imaginary British prince, and others to Julius Cæsar, who never extended his conquests so far northward in the island. Polydore Virgil, who is reported to have destroyed many historic documents, that his own misrepresentations might not be detected, is of opinion that a castle was built here by the Romans, who first established themselves in Norfolk, under Claudius Cæsar, about A. D. 46; when, having overthrown the aboriginal inhabitants, (called the Iorni;) they either built fortifications near the British towns, or invited the subdued natives to assemble round their military stations; the most considerable of which, was the Venta-Icenorum, at Caistor, now a small village on the river Tessa, about three miles

[Notes to Table on the opposite page.]

‡ Pockthorpe is in St. James' Parish.

† Hellodun Parish extends into Taverham Hundred, beyond the jurisdiction of the County of the City. The entire Parish contains 443 souls.

1 TOWN CLOSE is an estate of 112 acres (without St. Stephen's Gate) belonging to the Corporation, and on which the Burgesses had formerly commonage, but in lieu of that right they now receive two shillings each, yearly.

2 Of the 14,307 Houses, 1,063 were empty in 1831. Of the 61,364 inhabitants, in the same year, 37,916 were returned as MALES, and 33,448 as FEMALES. The number of Houses, in 1762, amounted only to 7,131; in 1811, to 8,336; and in 1821, to 11,031; so that upwards of 3,300 were erected during the succeeding ten years; and their present number may be estimated at upwards of 15,000. The greater portion of this increase has occurred in the parishes of Elgham, Lakenham, St. Stephen, and St. Clement. The Annual Value of the Land and Buildings, in Norwich and its Hamlets, was estimated for the Property Tax, in 1816, at £76,000.

outh of Norwich. Caistor appears to have continued the principal station in the territory of the Iceni until A. D. 446, when the Romans finally quitted Britain, for the purpose of defending their seat of empire, then hastening fast to dissolution, by dissensions within and assaults from without. Caistor being now deserted by its founders, fell rapidly into decay, and the Romanized British inhabitants are said to have removed both themselves and their dwellings to the place where Norwich now stands, as is asserted in the following ancient distich:— “*Caistor was a city when Norwich was none,

And Norwich was built with Caistor stone.*”

But the name of Norwich, or North-wic, does not occur till the usurpation of the Saxons; who, after the departure of the Romans, were invited to assist the Britons against the Picts and Scots; and, after driving these enemies back to their northern hills, they speedily turned their swords upon their allies. Having subjugated the fair territory of Britain, the Saxons divided it into seven Anglo-Saxon kingdoms, in which, Norfolk formed part of East-Anglia, as has been seen at a preceding page. Uffa, the first or second king of East Anglia, is supposed to have formed here, about the year 575, a strong entrenchment of earth on the site of the castle, encircled by three broad ramparts, and as many ditches. This fortress was called North-wic, in consequence of its lying north of the old Roman fort at Caistor. From ancient manuscripts it appears, that at this period a large arm of the Sea flowed up to Norwich: the Yare being then divided into two large channels, which freely admitted the tides of the ocean over the marshes below Norwich, until after the Norman conquest, when one of these channels being choked up by the intervening sands, and becoming firm ground, occasioned the building of Yarmouth, which effectually confined the tides in this neighbourhood to the present contracted bed of river. Since the departure of the Romans, great alterations have been effected in many other tide rivers on the English coast, and these changes have occasioned much embarrassment to topographers, and produced apparent contradictions in their writings. There exists positive evidence of Norwich being a fishing town in the reign of Canute; for Alric, Bishop of East-Anglia, at that period, having bestowed his Hagh by Norwich, (the ground on which St. Lawrence's Church was afterwards built,) on the Abbey of St. Edmund's-Bury, it paid a yearly ground rent of a last of herrings to that monastery. Early in the seventh century, Norwich had a castle erected on the entrenchment thrown up by Uffa, and in 1012, it was one of the chief seats of Anna, King of the Angles, who gave this castle with the lands belonging to it, to his daughter, Editha, on her marriage with Tombert, a prince of the Gyren, or Fen-men, who inhabited Lincolnshire and the adjacent parts of Norfolk and Cambridgeshire. At the same time Tombert granted to Ethelfreda, as a marriage settlement, the Isle of Ely; which for greater security was to be held by castle-guard service to the castle of Norwich. After the death of Tombert, his widow married Egfrid, King of Northumbria, but by repudiation, or mutual consent, she parted from him, and retired to her own estate at Ely, where she erected a monastery, and became its first Abbess about A. D. 673. After Ely had been created a bishopric by Henry I., its first prelate, paid to the crown, as a discharge of his lands from the service of castle-guard due to Norwich, no less than £1,000, which was, at that period, a very large sum, and consequently evinces the great extent of lands and services attached to the royal castle of Norwich in the reign of King Anna.

From the time of Anna, the seventh king of East Anglia, till the reign of Alfred the Great, we find few events on record respecting Norwich Castle, but during the frequent incursions of the Danes, it was often attacked and possessed by them and the Saxons alternately. Its situation, on an eminence, commanding an extensive view of the surrounding country, rendered it an object of importance to the contending parties, and it appears to have been occupied by Ingwar, a Danish chief, in the year 870, when the Danes overrun East Anglia, and had their headquarters at Thetford. But the succeeding reign of the great Alfred was distinguished by his repeated and decisive victories over these northern marauders; and one grand object of his care was to strengthen and fortify the principal parts of his kingdom against hostile attacks; castles and cities, which had been destroyed or dilapidated, he rebuilt, and constructed several new and substantial fortifications, which enabled him to make such military dispositions as the impetuous invaders were never able effectually to counteract, though they frequently laid waste and triumphed over a large portion of his country. Finding the walls or ramparts of Norwich Castle too weak for repelling the mode of attack adopted by the ravaging Danes, Alfred caused others to be erected with the most durable materials. That it was a military station of note, and a royal castle in his time, is evident from a coin struck here about the year 872, having round the head ÆLFRED REX, and on the reverse NORTH-WIC. It has already been seen, in the general history of Norfolk, that king Alfred, after conquering and making peace with the Danes, in 878, assigned to them for their residence the territory of East Anglia, and that their leader Guthrum, fixed his seat of viceroyalty chiefly at Norwich, until, breaking his faith, by joining some newly arrived hordes of his marauding countrymen, Norfolk was wrested from him by Alfred, and reverted again to the Saxons during the reign of six successive sovereigns. Edward-the-elder succeeded his father, the illustrious Alfred, in the year 901, and kept the Danes in subjection; Ericr, one of their petty kings, holding East Anglia of him until 913, when he rebelled, but was soon overthrown and slain by King Edward, whose son and successor, Athelstan, totally expelled the Danes, and reduced the whole kingdom under his government. In his reign the city of Norwich flourished greatly, and it is probable that he was here about the year 925, for a coin, still extant, has on the obverse ÆTHELSTAN, and on the reverse BARBE MON. NORTHWIC;—that is Barbe, mint-master of Norwich. Among the other Saxon coins struck here are the following—one of Edmund, the successor of Athelstan, inscribed round the head EADMUND REX, and on the reverse EADGAR MON. NORTHWIC; several of Edred coined about 946, and inscribed round the head EADRED REX, and on the reverse HANNE MO. NORTHWIC;—two of Edward the martyr, having on the obverse EDWARD REX ANGL. and on the reverse LEOFWINE MON. NOR.; and three of Ethelred-the-unready, having on the obverse EDELRED REX, but struck by three different mint-masters, viz.: Leofat, Branting, and Folccard.

In the reign of Ethelred, during the year 1004, Norwich is said to have been burnt and destroyed by the army of Sweyne king of Denmark, who invaded the kingdom for the purpose of revenging the diabolical massacre of his countrymen on the 13th of November, 1002; but he was afterwards defeated by the Saxon Earl, Ulfkettle, and obliged to fly to Denmark. In 1010, Sweyne again invaded the country with a numerous army, and having subdued the East Angles, he fixed his residence sometime at Norwich, which he rebuilt and fortified, so that from this period the present city may be said to have arisen. In 1013, Sweyne extended his conquest further into the interior of the country, and such was the force of his arms and the terror of his name, that the whole kingdom submitted to his yoke, and Ethelred, the Saxon monarch, fled to Normandy. But this ruthless tyrant did not long enjoy the crown of England, for he died early in the following year, either at Gainsborough or Thetford—as is variously stated by the old historians. On the death of Sweyne, the exiled king Ethelred, returned, pursuant to the invitation of his subjects, and after defeating Turkil, the Danish governor of Norwich, he was soon reinstated in power, which he enjoyed till his death in 1016, when he was succeeded by his son Edmund Ironside, who, after fighting many battles, was obliged in the same year to divide his kingdom with Canute, the new Danish sovereign. In the succeeding year, Edmund was murdered, and Canute, having obtained sole power in England, strengthened or rebuilt Norwich Castle, in which he replaced the Danish governor Turkil. The government was afterwards bestowed upon Harold, who succeeding to the throne, conferred this castle on Leofric, Earl of Mercia. Under the dominion of the Danes, Norwich increased rapidly, for, though it had been nearly destroyed by fire in 1004, we find it had in the reign of Edward-the-Confessor, 1320 burgesses and 25 churches, and was then deemed a Hundred of itself, containing 833 acres of arable and meadow land, besides a sheep-walk, held by the burgesses, under a socage tenure, of four proprietary lords, viz. —the King, the Earl of Norfolk, Bishop Suger, and Prince Harold. When William the Conqueror ascended the throne in 1066, he appointed Ralph de Waler to the Earldom of Norfolk, and gave him several manors, with the Castle of Norwich as his residence. In 1075, this earl joined the rebellious barons against the Norman conqueror, and being defeated, he fled with his forces to Norwich, but not receiving the assistance which he expected, he speedily retired to Normandy, leaving to his countess the charge and defence of the castle, which made an obstinate resistance; not yielding to the besiegers till compelled by the imperious necessity of famine; and even then the terms demanded and obtained an honourable capitulation; the countess and her little band of valiant troops being allowed to depart the kingdom as persons abjured and banished, never to return without the king's special license. Blomefield says, "In this year the city suffered much, as we learn from Domesday; many of the citizens who took the earl's part, fled away, and so forfeited all they had; others were forced to go away, because Waleram, under pretence that they had joined the Earl, whether they did or no, invaded and seized their inheritances, and a great part were forced to look out for themselves, the chief of the city being burnt down at the siege, so that they had no place of residence, and others were so heavily fined and taxed by the King, that they were forced to fly; and thus by this one conspiracy the city received prodigious damage every year." The earldom and castle being now confiscated, were conferred by the Conqueror on Roger Bigod, for we find at the Domesday Survey in 1086, its number of churches had increased to 54, its burgesses to 1,505, and its bondsmen, or labourers to 480. Though many of its dwellings are described in that great public record as being then untenanted, it is evident that a considerable number must have been erected since the time of Edward the Confessor.

Roger Bigod, Earl of Norfolk and governor of Norwich, retained these honours during the reign of William Rufus, though he joined in the fruitless attempt to place that king's elder brother, Robert Curthose, upon the throne. Peace being signed between the royal brothers, Earl Bigod was guaranteed, by a prior stipulation, in his landed possessions and the government of the castle. At the same time the citizens received a grant of many privileges from the king, and in 1094, the See of the Bishopric was removed from Thetford to Norwich, by Herbert de Losinga, who, in 1096, laid the first stone of the Cathedral, which tended greatly to promote the increase of the city both in riches and magnitude. Henry I. kept his Christmas at Norwich, in 1122, and granted the citizens their first charter, containing the same franchises and liberties as London then enjoyed, and separating the government of the city from that of the castle, by placing it under the control of a provost. About this time, a considerable addition was made to the population of Norwich, by a vast influx of Jews, who originally came over from Normandy, and were allowed to settle in England by the Conqueror, as chapmen for the confiscated goods of his subjects. They afterwards became so numerous, and were so much in favour with William II., that he is said to have sworn by St. Luke's face, his usual oath, "if the Jews should overcome the Christians, he himself would become one of their sect." They had many brils with monastic and other Christians, and in 1137, it is said they stole and crucified a boy named William, and burned him in Thorp Wood, where the monks in 1144, built a chapel, called in honour of this martyr, St. William-in-the-Wood. For this offence many of the Jews were punished, and the popular fury ran so high against them at the time of the Crusades in the reign of Richard I. (A.D. 1189), that great numbers of them were massacred in Norwich, Lynn, Stamford, London, York, and other places. Thomas, a monk of Monmouth wrote seven books on St. William the boy and martyr of Norwich, and one on the miracles done at his shrine.

In the reign of King Stephen, the castle, and the city charter were seized by the crown, in consequence of Hugh Bigod, the governor, being supposed to have favoured the cause of the empress Matilda, but they were restored in 1152, with additional honours.—¹ King giving license for the city to have a corporation with coroners and bailiffs. In the reign of Henry II., Hugh Bigod was advanced to the title of Earl of Norfolk; but he afterwards rebelled against that monarch, and in 1174, landed a party of Flemings, who plundered the city. For this offence he was attainted, but his estates and honours were subsequently purchased by his son, Roger Bigod, who partly rebuilt and added such strength to the fortifications of Norwich Castle, that it was considered impregnable. In 1193 he obtained from Richard I., a new charter, in which the inhabitants were recognized under the title of "citizens;" but in the succeeding reign of King John, he joined the refractory barons, and was one of the most active in procuring for the people that great palladium of English liberty—Magna Charta, though he was at one time expelled from Norwich, by the King, who appointed the Earl of Pembroke and John Fitzherbert, joint constables of the castle of Norwich and Orford. During these intestine wars, the castle of King John, murdered his nephew, prince Arthur, for whom Henry the Pope excommunicated the whole kingdom, and, when the barons of England made John de Grey, Bishop of Norwich, the king John had borrowed large sums of money, he was at one time a prisoner, and left with him, as a pledge, a great part of the royal treasury, viz.:—his large crown, wood, armour, cloak, dalmatic, girdle, sandals, gloves and c. In 1216, Norwich Castle was taken, and the city plundered by the troops of Lewis, dauphin of France, who had been sent to the English throne by the Pope and the disaffected barons; but these civil broils terminated during the same year by the death of John and the accession of his son, Henry III., who, in 1231, granted the citizens a new charter, and in 1263 gave a licence to surround the city with a large ditch.

In 1264, the monks of Norwich had a serious affray with the citizens, in which, part of the convent founded by bishop Herbert, was destroyed; and in 1272, a still more serious riot occurred, which the cathedral suffered considerable damage. The cause of these disturbances, was the haughty conduct of the monks, who, having charters of liberties older than those of the king, were jealous of those granted by Richard I. and his successors. To quell these riots, the King, in 1273, displaced the monks for three years, and appointed a governor in their stead. In consequence of the citizens representing to Edward I. that their city had suffered greatly during the rebellion against King John, and at other times, they obtained leave to inclose themselves within embattled Walls, and a murage was levied for that purpose. These fortifications were begun in 1294, and finished in 1300; but in 1342, Richard Spynal, a wealthy citizen, erected inner walls and towers, with portcullises to the gates, and stored the garrison with various military engines, ammunition, &c., such as were then in use; consisting chiefly of iron bolts and gageons, arblastens and gageons, with grapples, &c. The cathedral being repaired, was re-consecrated on Sunday, 1278, in the presence of Edward I. In 1290, a flood destroyed several houses and passed over White-bridge. In 1296, Norwich first sent two burgesses to parliament. In the reign of Edward II., the Honour of Norwich Castle consisted of 120 knight's fees, equal to 85,000 acres of land, but the power of the Earl of Norfolk appears to have soon after abridged, for the sheriff of the county was ordered by the King to use the Castle as a prison, to keep persons charged with crimes in safe custody, till the itinerant justices should hold their courts of Oyer and Terminer, and general delivery. This authority of the sheriff was often abused by the Earl, which occasioned an act to be passed in the 10th of Edward III., establishing the right of the sheriff to use the castle as a county prison, though for the purpose of war, a military governor continued to be nominated by the king. This office was, however, gradually curtailed of its powers by repeated grants to the corporation, and of its fees by various alienations; for we find that in 1470, the "constabyl of Norwych castyll" had only 20 knights' fees, though it had 120, when it was surrendered by Roger Bigod, to Edward I.

and tournament here from February to Easter. It visited the city again in 1342 and 1344. At this time it was a very populous place; but it is said that about 1348 the inhabitants were swept away in 1348 and 1349 by the plague, which first appeared in the northern part of the country, extended its destructive ravages from one end to the other, like that modern pestilence, Asiatic Cholera, and committed the most awful devastation in various parts of the kingdom. During the years 1348 and 1349, no fewer than 10,000 (besides religious and beggars) died of the plague in Norfolk; and Bishop Bateman, collated in 1348, had 100 persons to vacant benefices!! so that at least, 100 clergy must have died, or removed during the progress of this dreadful malady. In 1350, another tournament was given at Norwich, in the presence of Edward the Black Prince and queen Philippa, with many distinguished nobles, and was entertained by the city at the cost of £37. 4s. 8d. The battlements on the walls and towers amounted to 100. The population of the city was estimated at only 5,300.

Richard II., at the age of eleven years, ascended the throne in 1377, when the expensive wars in which the nation was long engaged with France and Scotland, had impoverished the people, and occasioned much discontent, considerably aggravated by the levying of a poll-tax, which pressed heavily on the poor, being a demand of 1d. yearly on each person above the age of fifteen. The murmurs of the poor were at length raised into a rebellion, which first reared its bold front in the north, and then spread its influence of War Tides. Each Sheriff was ordered to crushed the Norfolk levellers, that they quietly dispersed; and thus an end was put to this alarming rebellion, chiefly through the vigorous proceedings of Bishop Spencer, who had been bred a soldier, and at this time offered to serve Richard II., a man, with 3000 men at arms, and 2500 archers, well horsed and accoutred. In 1383, he raised several regiments, and transported them to Flanders, to support the cause of Pope Urban against King Clement, in which expedition he took many strong men to assault, and gained a signal victory over 30,000 men. He was a rigid catholic, and consequently an inveterate enemy to the best church reformers, called the Lollards; and having accused Sir Thomas Erpingham, for favouring the doctrine of Wickliffe, he punished him with the expense of erecting the tower at the entrance to the Cathedral Close, which still bears the name of that knight. About this time (A.D. 1380) the city walls were cleansed, and there was a general survey of the walls and towers, by which it appears they were all put in thorough repair, and the latter were each of them guarded by three or four or eight men. Heigham-gate was then called Port Inferna, or Hell-gate, from its low situation near the river. Richard II. and his Queen passed through Norfolk, and visited Norwich abbey in 1383.

Henry IV. having usurped the throne, and instigated the murder of the unfortunate and often misguided Richard II., in 1394, made it his first policy to ingratiate himself in public favour. In 1403, after receiving a gift of 1000 marks from Norwich, he granted the citizens a new charter suitable to their own wishes; separating the city and its liberty from Norfolk, under the name of the County of the City of Norwich, with power to elect a mayor and two sheriffs yearly, in lieu of the four aldermen. The king visited the city in 1406, and granted the corporation another charter for regulating the mode of electing the mayor, sheriffs, and common-council. In 1415, Henry V. before he went to France and gained the glorious victory of Agincourt, visited Norwich, where he lent his coronet in pawn for a 1000 marks, of which 500 were lent by the corporation of Norwich, 500 by that of Lynn, and the remainder by Wm. Westacre, Wm. Walton, and Nicholas Semperet.

During the reign of Henry VI., the citizens, from their quarrels with the monks, and by suing the King in the Exchequer for £100 which they had lent him, lost the royal favour, and had their charter taken from them in 1437 and 1442; but it was restored again in 1439 and 1447, in which latter year, Sir John Clifton, whom the King had appointed governor of the city, was withdrawn. In 1448 and 1449, Henry VI. visited Norwich, and after being entertained at the Bishop's palace, he granted the citizens a charter for two years, which was kept ten days before and on the third Sunday in Lent next, and renewed on the commemoration of St. Paul and the twenty following days. Fortunately Norwich was not the scene of any of those fatal conflicts, by which the kingdom was so often disturbed, during the wars of the rival houses of York and Lancaster, though Queen Margaret visited the city for the purpose of recruiting her forces, when she was preparing to march against the Yorkists, under the Earl of March, then approaching towards London. In 1455, a statute was made, limiting the number of attorneys to six for Norfolk, six for Suffolk, and two for Norwich. In the preamble, an excellent reason is given for this regulation. Edward IV. visited this city in 1460, and Henry VII. kept his Christmas here in 1485, when he went on a pilgrimage to Walsingham, and he was here again in 1497 with his Queen, Elizabeth, and his mother, the Countess of Derby.

Norwich, like many other ancient cities, has at various periods suffered greatly by plagues and scarcity; few places have sustained greater loss from accidental fires, by two of which the Cathedral was greatly injured in 1403 and 1509; and three others reduced a large portion of the city to ashes in 1505, and 1507;—no fewer than 718 houses being consumed in the latter year. These desolating conflagrations induced the corporation, in 1509, to issue an order, that no new erected buildings in the city should be covered with thatch; but this injunction not extending to those previously erected, some few still retain this unseemly and dangerous covering. In 1517, that imperious prelate, Cardinal Wolsey, visited Norwich, to mediate between the citizens and the monks; but their disputes were not finally settled till 1524, when the jurisdiction of the convent was ascertained, and separated from that of the corporation; though the prior and monks were not made a body corporate until 1538, when they were converted into a dean and chapter. On St. Leonard's day, in 1519, the city was visited by a great flood; and in 1527 there was an alarming scarcity of provisions, which caused several riotous disputes between the populace and the corn sellers at the Market-cross. In 1534, during the reign of the lascivious Henry VIII., and the prelacy of Richard Nykke or Nix, the bigotted bishop of Norwich, several conscientious church reformers were burnt at Norwich and other places; amongst those who suffered under the sanguinary judgments of this catholic prelate, were Ayres, Bingy, Norrice, and the amiable Thomas Bilney, a native of East Bilney in Norfolk. Bishop Nix, in the same year, gave the revenues of his diocese in exchange for the abbacy of Holm, to Henry VIII., who, shortly afterwards, denied the papal supremacy, and established the Protestant religion, not so much from the love of truth, as to satiate his greedy concupiscence with the spoils of the monastic foundations, of which he suppressed no fewer than 70 in Norwich and Norfolk. The monasteries which escaped the avarice of Henry, were dissolved by the regency of his infant son and successor, Edward VI., in whose reign, several rebellions broke out in various parts of the kingdom, during the year 1549, swing to a system of enclosing, adopted by the nobility and gentry, who had been put in possession of the abbey lands, which had previously been appropriated for the relief of the poor, who still considered they had a right of commonage on the wastes and open pastures. The rebels, in this neighbourhood, having imbibed the spirit of the ancient Norfolk levelers of 1381, proceeded to execute their nefarious designs under the command of Robert and William Kett, of Wymondham; the former a tanner, and the latter a butcher. About 20,000 rebels having flocked to the standard of these daring leaders, they pillaged the country in their march to Mousehold-heath, near Norwich, where they fixed their grand rendezvous, and where Robert Kett, the elder of the two leaders, assisted by deputies from every Hundred, held his councils under a large tree, styled The Oak of Reformation, from which he pretended to administer justice, and issued his edicts for contributions, which, in a few days, amounted in provisions alone to 3000 bullocks, 20,000 sheep, and an immense quantity of corn, besides geese, swans, &c. During several months, the country suffered under the exactions and outrages committed by this formidable band of insurgents, who murdered many of the inhabitants; shewing no mercy to those who bore the title of gentlemen, in their frenzy for abolishing distinction of ranks. On the approach of these levelers to Norwich, the citizens despatched messengers to the King's council for assistance, and put themselves in a posture of defence; keeping a careful watch and ward, upon the walls and towers, but not daring to act on the offensive against such a numerous and reckless foe. Government having, by means of a herald, offered the King's pardon to all who would abandon their traitorous enterprise, and this promise being attended with no success, sent down the Marquis of Northampton with a body of troops, to subdue them, but they were found too weak for the execution of this object, and, after being completely routed in a second engagement, they abandoned the city to the rebels, who pillaged and burnt a large portion of it. All attempts to quell this violent insurrection, were ineffectual, till a large army, raised to proceed against the Scots, was ordered to march to the relief of Norwich, under the command of the Earl of Warwick, who arrived under the city walls on August 23rd, after being joined at Cambridge by several of the principal citizens, the Marquis of Northampton, and other distinguished persons.

On the following day, after making an ineffectual offer of pardon, the King's troops commenced their attack, and having made several breaches in the walls, and forced open some of the gates, they soon entered the city, and took possession of the Market-place. In the midst of this scene of blood, the King's ammunition carriages having entered apart from the main body of the army, were captured by the enemy, but were soon taken by a detachment from the Market-place. A large number of the rebels still remaining in the city, now made a lodgment in Tombland, and, through their superior local knowledge, greatly annoyed the soldiers, by posting small parties at the angles of the different streets leading to the Market-place. The Earl of Warwick, however, soon brought out his whole force to scour the city, and after setting fire to their camp, the rebels were obliged to quit their advantageous post on the hill, and retreated to Dussyn's-dale, resolving to finish the business by a general engagement in that valley. It is probable they were stimulated to this movement, by the want of provisions, the Earl having taken effectual care to cut off their supplies. On the 27th, being reinforced by a newly arrived detachment, the Earl marched out of the city to attack these deluded men, to whom he again offered pardon, provided they would quietly lay down their arms; but confident in their numbers, and animated by the speeches of their false prophets and leaders, they again unanimously refused to capitulate. A bloody conflict ensued, but the rebels, being unused to the discharge of artillery, were soon in confusion; this was taken advantage of by the light-horse, who advanced to the charge, drove them from the field, and pursued them with great slaughter; upwards of 3000 of them being slain and many more wounded, whilst the royal army sustained but little loss. A corps de reserve, strongly entrenched behind their carts, carriages, &c., had remained unattacked near the scene of action, and to these the Earl again sent a promise of pardon, but they refused to surrender until he had personally assured them of the King's clemency, upon which they immediately threw down their arms.

Some of the principal citizens fell in this battle, in a manner very distressing to their friends; for, having been prisoners in the camp of the rebels, they were by the latter placed in front of their ranks, being first fettered and chained together; all possible care was, however, used by the King's troops, so that many of the intended victims to this inhuman and dastardly contrivance escaped unhurt. About 300 of the rebels were executed shortly after, in different parts of the city; and the Earl was strongly urged to put a much greater number to death, but he declared that enough had been done to satisfy the ends of justice, and that none of those should suffer to whom he had given his promise of pardon. Robert Kett, though the chief in command, was the foremost in flight; but he was taken the day after the battle, in a barn where he attempted to hide himself, when his horse was no longer able to proceed. He was sent with his brother to the Tower of London, and, being both convicted of high treason, they were, on November 29th, brought to Norfolk;—Robert was executed on a gibbet on the top of Norwich Castle, and William suffered the same punishment at Wymondham. Thus perished, with its authors, this desperate rebellion, which threatened the subversion of all lawful authority, and the consequent introduction of anarchy and confusion. After the departure of the King's troops, the citizens began to repair the damages sustained in this unnatural conflict, which was followed by such a scarcity and dearness of provisions, that the corporation issued an edict, requiring all the wealthier inhabitants to provide corn for their own households elsewhere, so that their poorer neighbours might have the exclusive benefit of the city markets.

In 1551, the sweating sickness, which either "mended or ended" its victims in 24 hours, carried off 960 persons in Norwich, in a few days. This dreadful malady first appeared here in 1486, and during the succeeding five years, visited many other parts of the kingdom. Two severe shocks of an earthquake were felt here in 1479 and 1487, and the plague was very fatal in the former year. During the short but bloody reign of that rigid catholic, Queen Mary, Norwich was afflicted by the residence of those merciless persecutors Bishop Hopton and Chancellor Dunning, at whose instigation several martyrs to the reformed religion were burnt here in 1557 and 1558. In the same years, the Quarten Ague and a "new sickness," raged so violently, that at the close of 1558 it was said "fire, sword, and pestilence" had swept away the third part of the men of England; and it is recorded that ten of the Norwich aldermen fell victims to the latter scourge in 1558. The plague again visited the city in 1578 and 1591, carrying off 4,817 persons in the former, and 672 in the latter year. This dreadful pestilence afflicted Norwich at several subsequent periods, and the numbers said to have died of it, amounted in 1602 to 3,076; in 1625 and 6 to 1,431; and in 1665 and 6 to 2,251 persons.

In 1565 and 6, the prosperity of the city, which had begun to decline, was again revived, by the settling here of 330 Dutch and Walloons, who had fled from the Netherlands, during the violent persecution under the Duke of Alva. In 1571, by the fostering encouragement of Queen Elizabeth, the number of these foreign settlers had increased to no fewer than 3,925, and by the introduction of bombasin and other silk and worsted manufactures, they contributed much to the wealth and prosperity of the city. In 1582, they had increased to 4,679, and enjoyed many exclusive privileges, as will be seen at subsequent pages. On February 2nd, 1570, the north side of the city was inundated, and Fye-bridge washed down by a great flood. In the same year, printing was introduced here by Anthony Solen, one of the foreigners; and John Throgmorton, Thomas Brooke and G. Dedman, were hanged and quartered in the city, for having joined in one of the numerous conspiracies formed for the re-establishment of the Roman Catholic religion, during the long reign of Elizabeth. In 1572, the Duke of Norfolk, & several other noblemen, were attainted and beheaded for similar offences, at London, York and other places ;— the Duke having not only espoused the cause of Mary Queen of Scots, but even offered marriage to that unfortunate catholic Princess. In 1574, when a rumour was spread of invasion, by means of the Lousted Invincible Armada, Norwich, towards the general defence, exhibited on its muster roll, 2,120 able men, of whom 400 were armed ;— the total number enrolled in the whole county of Norfolk, being at the same time 6,120 able men, of whom 3,630 were armed. In 1578, Queen Elizabeth made a progress through this county ; and from the 16th to the 22nd of August, she lodged at the Bishop's palace, in Norwich, where she and her suite were entertained with splendid pageantries, principally allusive to the trade and manufactures of the city. The Queen came on horseback, from Ipswich, though she had several coaches in her train. Whilst here, she dined publicly in the north alley of the Cathedral cloister, and often went a hunting on horseback, and to witness wrestling and shooting on Mousehold-hill.

The charges of the mayoralty having much increased, the city, in 1593, ordered that £100 should in future be allowed yearly towards defraying them : this yearly allowance has lately been increased to £300, a sum very inadequate to the Mayor's expenses, which, for the Guild day festivity alone, often amount to about a thousand pounds ; or to one guinea for each person entertained in the hall. In 1597, it was agreed that no person should serve the office of mayor a second-time, until at least nine years after his first mayoralty. In 1599, Wm. Kemp, a comedian in Shakespeare's company, a man of considerable humour, famous for performing the part of Dogberry, came dancing from London to Norwich in nine days ; of which comical exploit he published an account in a quarto pamphlet, in 1600, entitled, "Nine Days' Wonder," with an engraved frontispiece, representing himself in a fanciful habit and dancing attitude, preceded by a person playing upon the pipe and tabor. On April 29th, 1601, the Cathedral spire was much damaged by lightning. On the evening of the guild-day, in 1611, a great crowd assembled on Tombland, to witness a display of fireworks, some of which breaking or taking fire accidentally, created such confusion in the multitude, that thirty-three persons were trampled or pressed to death. The city was visited by great floods in 1640, 1697 and 1706, and so high were the waters in the first of these years that boats were rowed in many of the streets.

CIVIL WARS :— In the fatal contentions between the prerogatives of the Crown and the privileges of Parliament, in the reign of Charles I., when brother fought against brother, and father against son, Norfolk suffered much less than many other counties in the kingdom ; though it was several times the scene of confusion and blood. The principal causes which led to this long and dreiful distraction of the country, were the levying of ship-money, and the duty of tonnage and poundage, without the sanction of Parliament; and the cruel proceedings of that secret and inquisitorial court, called the Star Chamber. There also prevailed in the nation a disposition for republican, in preference to monarchical government; and religion was often made the stalking-horse to avarice and ambition. From these combined causes, the elements of government were thrown into disorder; and they never perfectly re-assumed their proper station, till the glorious Revolution of 1688. When Charles I. had left London, for the purpose of raising forces in the north of England, the Parliament then sitting, voted the necessity of taking up arms in opposition, (July 12th, 1642,) and the inhabitants of Norfolk generally approved of that determination. At an early period of this contest, Norwich was fortified against the royal cause, pursuant to the orders of a majority of the corporation;—though the mayor, (Wm. Gostlin) and some of the principal citizens still preserved their loyalty; and the former, for not confirming the edicts of Parliament, was sent prisoner to Cambridge, by the Earl of Manchester, who was appointed commander of the “associated counties” of Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Hertford, and Essex; to which Lincoln was afterwards added. After the arrest of the mayor, the king’s partisans in Norwich, assembled in the house of one of their friends, to consider what measures should be adopted for their safety; but the meeting being discovered, and the city ordnance planted against the house with threats of immediate destruction, they were compelled to surrender. The Parliamentarians, having now overcome all opposition here, were enabled to direct their attention to the furnishing of money and troops for the subjugation of other parts of the kingdom. A tax, levied for this purpose, to be paid by weekly instalments, amounted, for Norfolk to £1,250 per annum,—of which, Norwich paid £53; Yarmouth £34 6s. 5d.; Thetford £5 11s. 9d.; and Lynn £27 11s. 10d. But this impost was trifling, compared with the loss sustained by the Bishop and his clergy, and all others suspected of loyalty; for they were plundered and maltreated without mercy in these troublesome times; “when, to be rational, was deemed to be impious; when, to be the friend of order, was to be the abetter of tyranny; and to be unostentatiously devout, was only to be the dumb devotee of a blind superstition,”—in the eyes of the puritans and democrats, who then prevailed (see page 254). In 1648, Mr. John Utting, being mayor, was often solicited, by a set of fanatics, to give more effect to certain ordinances against superstition, and for the defacing images, &c.; but not paying much attention to their wishes, a complaint was lodged with parliament against him. Soon after, a pursuivant was sent from the house, to carry up Mr. Utting, to answer these charges; the common people, having had experience of the treatment offered to a former mayor, were determined to prevent a repetition of such insults, and apprehensive of his being carried off in the night, they assembled together and secured the city gates, keeping careful watch: their numbers continually increased: many amongst them were armed; and their watch-word was, "for God and king Charles."

The next day, they were alarmed with a report, that the mayor was about departing, upon which, they marched to the house where the pursuivant was, and would have immediately sacrificed him to their fury, but for the interference of the mayor himself. The messenger, not at all pleased with his reception, quitted the city without his prisoner, and the mob directed their course towards the committee-house, where the depot for the county arms was, committing many excesses by the way: upon their arrival they furnished themselves completely with arms, and retired to Chapelfield. A troop of horse arrived in the course of the day, from the country, and dispersed a great part of them; but one party, having secured the committee-house, they would not have been easily dislodged, but for the accidental firing of 98 barrels of gunpowder; which tremendous explosion is said to have killed and wounded above a hundred, on both sides, and effectually terminated all further hostilities.

In 1649, several persons concerned in the last named disturbance, were put to death; and in the following year, some of the aldermen were displaced for refusing to take the covenant; and twenty-five royalists were hanged here and at other places in Norfolk, for being concerned in a projected insurrection in favour of Charles II., whose father had already fallen a victim to the ambition of Cromwell and the turbulent spirit of the times. At length, the nation finding their miscalled liberty a "succession of tyrannies," brought about the restoration, after the death of Cromwell. The citizens of Norwich were among the first to hail the return of monarchy in the person of Charles II., who was proclaimed here on Thursday, May 10th, 1660, and the joyous occasion was honoured with "continual bonfires, feasting, &c., until the Saturday night following."

In 1663, Charles II. granted the city the charter by which it is now governed; and in 1670, Lord Howard presented the corporation with a noble mace of silver gilt, and a gown of crimson velvet for the mayor. In 1671, Charles II., his Queen, the dukes of York, Monmouth, and Buckingham, with many other nobles, entered the city on September 28th, and were met by the mayor and corporation, and entertained both at the Duke of Norfolk's and the Bishop's Palace. In 1682, the corporation by a majority of votes, (40 to 22) surrendered to the King the charter which he had granted them nine years before; and in lieu of it a new one was substituted, subjecting the city to very extraordinary limitations;—the King having reserved to himself the right of removing such magistrates as he might disapprove of. By the mandate of James II., in 1687, ten aldermen, and 15 common councilmen were displaced. But the arbitrary conduct of this monarch soon brought about his ruin ; and that the corporation here were in opposition to his views, is evident, from his Majesty desiring them to dispense with the usual oaths, on the admission of a certain number of Quakers to their freedom ; but the most unequivocal proof of their accordance with the general spirit of the times, was, when " Henry, duke of Norfolk rode into the Market-place, at the head of 300 knights and gentlemen, and declared for a free Parliament," to which the corporation and citizens responded with loud and fervent acclamations.

After the glorious Revolution of 1688, the first charter of Charles II. was restored to the city, and the aldermen removed by James II., were reinstated in their offices. On December 7th, 1688, a mob destroyed the Catholic Chapel in Black Friars Yard, and pillaged many houses belonging to the Catholics ; but on the following day, the rioters were dispersed by the trained bands. In 1697, a mint was established at Norwich, and coined to the amount of £259,371. The Water Works at the New Mills were commenced in 1697 ; and in 1701, Acts of Parliament were obtained for lighting the streets, and establishing a Court of Conscience in the city. In 1703, Hardley Cross, at the extent of the city's jurisdiction on the river Yare, was repaired at the cost of the corporation. In 1704, there was a great struggle of parties in the elections of Aldermen, and Members of Parliament ; and Wm. Blyth, Esq., the mayor, was committed to the custody of the serjeant-at-arms, for undue proceedings. In 1705, Werner's Hall was broken open and the books destroyed, after which the sealing of stuffs was disused. On December 7th, 1705, Henry Crogrove began a weekly Newspaper, called the Norwich Gazette, in which he was assisted by the celebrated Edward Cave, the original planner and establisher of the Gentleman's Magazine, commenced in 1731. The Act for erecting a Workhouse and Court of Guardians, was passed in 1711 ; and in the following year the steeple of the New Hall in St. Andrew's fell, during a strong gale of wind. The Norwich Artillery Company of 100 men, was formed in 1715 ; and in 1716, Mr. Thomas Hall left £100 and a gold chain to be worn by the Mayor. In the latter year, the Rev. John St. Quintin was convicted at Norwich assizes of asserting that the Pretender was landed in the west with 50,000 men, and drinking his health ; he was sentenced to pay a fine of 20 marks and be imprisoned for one year ; after which to find sureties for three year's good behaviour. Mr. Matthew Fern underwent a similar sentence, for drinking the Pretender's health, and calling King George " turnip bougher ;" and Thomas Shirley, for saying " King George had no more right to the crown than I have," was publicly whipped, and compelled to find sureties for good behaviour for three years. In 1717, two mayors of Norwich died within the space of ten months. In 1722 an Act passed for better qualifying the city manufacturers to bear the offices of magistrates, &c.; and another Act was obtained in 1729, for regulating the city elections. In 1725, an Act was passed for levying a toll on goods, &c. brought higher up the river than Thorpe Hall, for supporting the public works of the city. Ber-street gates and Brazen-doors, were re-built in 1726. Some labourers digging on Mousehold Heath, in 1730, discovered the foundations of the church called "St. William's in the Wood," which were 33 inches thick. In 1731, the market was new paved; and in the following year, Charing-cross and Market-cross were taken down. St. George's Company resigned their books, charters, and records to the corporation in 1731, when the present procession on the Guild-day was commenced. In 1733, Sir Robert Walpole was presented with the freedom of the city in a gold snuff box; Tombland was new paved, and the front of St. Stephen's gates beautified. Sir Robert, in 1734, presented to the city a gilt mace, weighing 168 ounces. The ditches on the south side of the Castle-hill were levelled in 1738, and since then the Cattle-market has been held there. In 1739, Mr. Thomas Emerson, of London, presented to this, his native city, two gold chains, value 100 guineas each, to be worn by the sheriffs. This year it is said 100,000 persons were present at the Races on Mousehold Heath.

In 1740, a great quantity of snow, which had fallen about Christmas in the preceding year, thawed in March and produced a great flood. The season continued so cold, that on May 5th, snow remained on the Cathedral spire till ten o'clock in the forenoon. The dearth of provisions occasioned several riots, which were suppressed by the military after the loss of 6 or 7 lives. In 1741, it was ordered "that no stranger be permitted to exercise his trade in Norwich, more than six months, without taking up the freedom of the city." In 1745, the magistrates and principal inhabitants associated for the support of government and the defence of the civil and religious liberties. In 1746, the Shire-house was destroyed by fire on September 30th; and on October 9th, the city was brilliantly illuminated, after the suppression of the Scotch rebellion. In 1751, a fire destroyed several houses and the Bridewell, where Peter the Wild Youth was then confined. This extraordinary man, was lost when a child, in a wood in Germany, and afterwards found, naked and wild, at the age of twelve years. On January 10th, 1756, a slight shock of an earthquake was felt here, about the same time when Lisbon was destroyed by a dreadful convulsion of nature. The first Norwich Bank was established this year by Charles Weston, Esq.; and the gold chain worn by the mayor was presented by Matthew Goss, Esq. Work was at this time scarce, and provisions dear, but 12,000 persons were supplied by subscription with bread at half the current price.

The Norfolk Militia, commanded by Lord Orford, marched from Norwich to Portsmouth, on July 4th, 1759, and passed in review before his Majesty at Kensington. This was the first Militia regiment that left their county. In digging under the rampart of the Castle-hill, two very curious bones were found in 1760, supposed to have been amulets worn by the Druids in their sacrifices. In 1761, a coach from Norwich to London was established, performing the journey in about 20 hours, which before had employed two days in summer and three in winter. The coronation of George III. and his Queen, was celebrated here with great splendour, and congratulatory addresses were sent to their Majesties; after presenting which, Thomas Churchman, Esq., the mayor, was knighted. On October 27th, 1762, near 300 hundred houses and 8 parish churches were inundated, during a great flood, which rose 12 feet perpendicular in 24 hours;—being 16 inches higher than the flood in 1691, and 13 inches lower than that in 1614. On December 3rd, Trowse Mills were burnt down, and the damage estimated at £2000. In 1764, air-jackets for preventing persons from sinking in water, were invented by Messrs. Cobb and Tinkler, and a hackney coach was set up by William Huggins.

On September 27th, 1768, owing to the high price of provisions, and a want of employment, an alarming riot broke out in Norwich, which the magistrates and principal inhabitants quelled, after much mischief had been done: thirty of the ring-leaders were taken and tried by a special commission, and two of them were executed on the 10th of January following. Wheat sold at from 22s. to 24s.; Barley 10s. to 11s.; Oats 8s. to 9s. 3d.; and Pease at 12s. to 13s. per coomb. On December 25th, Mr. Ward's house in Ber-street, was burnt down, and six persons perished in the flames, viz.: his wife, mother, two children, grand-child, and maid servant. In 1767, an Act was obtained for a new turnpike from Norwich to Thetford. The turnpikes from Norwich to East Walton and Caister near Yarmouth, were formed in 1770; that to New Buckenham in 1772; and that to Aylsham in 1794. Mr. Allday's Bank (afterwards Sir Roger Kerriou and Son's) was opened in 1768.

On December 19th, 1770, here was a greater storm of wind and rain than had been known since 1741. Part of the city wall, between Brazen-doors and Ber-street, fell, and crushed down a new house. In 1771, "the names of the streets, &c. were ordered to be fixed up." In 1773, upwards of £1600 was subscribed for relieving the poor of the city with bread; two felons were suffocated in a fire at the county gaol; and on August 13th, a dreadful thunder storm continued all night, but did little damage. In 1775, Messrs. Gurney and Co.'s bank was opened, and the influenza raged severely in the city. In 1776, a fire consumed four houses near White-friar's bridge; and in 1777, a scheme was proposed for cutting a navigable canal from Norwich to the river Ouse near Downham. It was estimated by Mr. Brindley at the cost of £60,000, but finally abandoned. In 1778, the freedom of the city was presented to Earl Cornwallis: and Wm. Crotch first astonished the world with his musical powers, by playing on the Cathedral organ, at the age of two years and three quarters. In 1779, the new year was ushered in with a most terrible storm of wind, which rolled up the lead of St. Andrew's church, and blew it to a considerable distance; besides doing much damage to other churches and houses. On March 24th, 1783, the pageant of the Golden Fleece, or Bishop Blaize, was exhibited by the woolcombers, in a very magnificent style. In 1784, the moat which surrounds the Castle-hill, and the ascent from thence, were laid out as gardens and shrubberies. On July 23rd, 1785, Major, afterwards General Money, ascended in a balloon, from the public gardens without St. Stephen's-gate, and after passing over Lowestoft, was driven about seven leagues from land, when, from the valve of the machine being defective, the car sunk so low as to be immersed in the sea. After beating about for five hours, the Major was taken up by the Argus revenue cutter. This was the second aerial voyage from Norwich,—the first being made by a Mr. Decker, on June 1st, in the same year.

On November 5th, 1788, the centenary of the glorious Revolution of 1688, was celebrated here, by illuminations, public dinners, bonfires, &c. Similar rejoicings took place in other parts of the county, especially at Mr. Coke's, at Holkham, where there was a grand fete, ball, supper, and display of fireworks. Part of the Lower Close was enclosed by Dean Lloyd, and a handsome garden made in 1788, and in digging gravel in the cloister yard, some human bones were dug up, with hair four feet long, supposed to have lain there 200 years. The second Norwich Musical Festival was held September, 8, 9, and 10, 1790; the receipts amounted to £901 17s. 6d., and number of persons present to 2982. In 1792, seven of the city-gates were taken down; an opening made in the wall by Chapelfield, and another near Ber-street-gates. In January, a subscription, amounting to £2050, was raised for the poor; and two new Banks were opened by Messrs. Harvey and Hudson, and Messrs. Kett, Hatfield, and Co.

Upwards of 1700 TURKIES, weighing 9 tons 2 cwt. 2lbs., and valued at £640, were sent from Norwich to London, on December 21st and 22nd, 1793; and on the two following days half as many more were despatched to the metropolis for the Christmas festivities. This year the city poor rates amounted to £22,000, exclusive of £1800 subscribed for casual relief in January. In May, 1794, Isaac Saint, a publican in St. Mary's, was apprehended by two King's messengers, on a charge of sedition and seditious practices, and with the books of the secretary, he was removed to London.

don, where he was detained till after the state trials, at the Old Bailey. In January, 1795, £1,500 was subscribed for the relief of the unemployed. In February, Norfolk and Norwich raised their quota of 264 volunteers for manning the navy, and a rapid thaw produced such a general inundation in the city and suburbs, that the poor inhabitants near the river were reduced to great distress. In May, several buildings in the city were converted into temporary barracks for 8,000 soldiers.

In 1796, about 100 human skeletons were found in digging on the premises of J. Crowe, Esq., at Lakenham; supposed to have lain there since the plague of 1665, as a tradesman's token dated 1664, was found in the same place. In April, a mob attacked several baker's shops, and did not disperse till after the riot act had been read and three persons taken into custody. On May 17th, a dreadful affray occurred between the privates of the Northumberland and Warwickshire regiments of militia, and several were wounded with bayonets before their officers could part them. This year, £24,000 was collected in poor rates, and Norwich raised 211 men for the Supplementary Militia.

In February, 1797, the Norwich Light Horse Volunteers, and the Loyal Military Association, were embodied; the former under the command of Captain John Harvey, and the latter under Captain John Patterson. In May, "Mr. Thelwall, the political orator, who had been tried for treasonable practices, but acquitted, arrived in this city, for the purpose of giving lectures on 'ancient history.' It had been, about this time, the particular aim of the disaffected to corrupt the loyalty of the soldiers of the United Kingdom, and a party of the Enniskillen Dragoons, then lying in Norwich, had been tampered with for that purpose: the interference of these reforming gentry produced, however, a different effect from what they had calculated: the soldiers thronged to the lecture-room, at the Shakespeare public-house, dispersed the plebes, and forced their self-constituted tribunes to save himself by flight: they then proceeded to demolish the house, but retired on the appearance of their officers." Davey, the master of the Shakespeare, on being pursued by the soldiers, threw himself from the garret into the street, and received considerable injury.

In January, 1798, the sword of the Spanish Admiral, Don Francisco Winthuysen, was presented by Admiral Nelson to the corporation of Norwich, and placed in the Council Chamber of the Guildhall, with an appropriate device and inscription. In February and March, £8,000 was subscribed here for the defence of the kingdom; and in May, five companies of Volunteer Infantry were formed in the city. In September, all the officers and most of the men of the East and West Norfolk militia volunteered their services for Ireland. On November 29, the victory of the Nile, was celebrated here, by public thanksgiving and festivities, which terminated in the evening by a brilliant illumination, in which were many beautiful transparencies. On December 29th, the thermometer stood at 3 below 0—a degree of cold never before noticed in this island. In February, 1799, a deep snow obstructed for a time all travelling and internal communication; the mail coaches were four days and nights in performing the journey from Norwich to London. In many places the snow was 20 feet deep. On October 28th, the guards and several other regiments to the number of 25,000 cavalry and infantry, landed at Yarmouth, on their return from Holland. On the following night they marched into Norwich, many of them by torch light, and through the exertions of John Herring, Esq., the mayor, and the attention of the innkeepers and other inhabitants, these brave men received every accommodation their situation required. The mayor was afterwards presented to his majesty and offered the honour of knighthood, which he declined.

In January, 1800, a meeting of the citizens was held at the Guildhall, and a committee appointed to consider a plan for better paving, lighting, and cleansing the city; the cost of this necessary work was estimated at £55,000. The number of horses and carriages which came into Norwich during the last week of February, was 4,814 horses, 3,653 carts, 989 waggons, 451 gigs, and 378 four-wheeled carriages. On September 1st, in consequence of the high price of provisions, a number of persons, chiefly females, riotously assembled at the New Mills, for the purpose of serving out the flour at a cheap rate; and had begun to sell at 2s. per stone, when several magistrates arrived and prevented the designs of the misguided mob. In October, his Majesty's proclamation was received, exhorting all housekeepers to reduce the consumption of bread in their respective families, to, at most a quartern loaf per week for each individual. In Dec. the price of wheat was 120s. to 150s. per quarter. This year, the city poor rates amounted to £29,500, though large subscriptions were raised for supplying the poor with cheap bread and soup. On June 27th, 1801, the roof of the Cathedral took fire, owing to the carelessness of the plumbers employed in soldering the lead; but the damage was confined to the destruction of about forty yards of the roof, valued at £500. On July 29th, a ship of 120 tons was launched at Thorpe; being the first ship ever built so high up the river, a vast concourse of people attended to witness the novel spectacle. In October, there were great rejoicing and a general illumination, in consequence of the ratification of peace between England and France.

In 1803, this kingdom being again threatened with invasion from France, Norwich, like other populous places, made great preparations for internal defence. In August, £6,000 was subscribed for raising a regiment of Volunteer Infantry, in which 1,000 citizens specially enrolled themselves, under the command of Lieutenant Col. Robert Harvey. A Rifle Corps was also formed, of which R. M. Bacon, Esq., was appointed captain. On September 7th, the brass ordnance belonging to the city, were fired by the artillery-men, in order to prove them, when four of them burst, without doing any damage, and the corporal applied to the corporation to be allowed the old brass, claiming it as a customary right; but the court returned for answer, that they thought he did not want brass. The iron nine-pounders stood the test. On September 29, a new Telegraph was erected on the top of Norwich Castle to communicate with Strumpshaw Mill, Filby Church, and Yarmouth. In October, the Norfolk and Norwich Volunteer regiments agreed to perform permanent duty at Yarmouth, in case of invasion, and many of them were stationed in that port during the two succeeding months. The victory of Trafalgar in 1806; is said to have so blasted the hopes of France, that she relinquished the idea of putting in force her threatened invasion of this land of freedom, although she had 300,000 men ready for the purpose on the heights of Bologne. In February, 1803, nearly 100 pairs of shoes were burnt, in the Market-place, for being made contrary to act of Parliament, by about twenty shoemakers, who were all fined by the mayor, and one of them paid the full penalty of £5 for refusing the searchers to perform their duty.

In 1806, the new Paving Act received the royal assent. On July 31, the estate belonging to the Duke of Norfolk, called the Duke's Palace, was sold in lots, for £5,055. On January 18th, 1807, four cows were killed and a house entirely demolished, by the falling of forty yards of the city wall, near Ber-street. A heavy snow storm in February, 1808, so obstructed the roads, that the Newmarket mail was five days in coming from London. In July, debts to the amount of nearly £460,000, were proved against the bankrupt firm of Sir R. Kerrison and Son;—dividends of 16s. 4d. in the pound were afterwards paid. The Local Militia Act passed in this month, and many of the Volunteers transferred to it their services, under the command of Colonel Patteson, on October 28. The Gates in Ber-street, Magdalen-street, and St. Martin's-at-Oak, were taken down this year. On January 15th, 1809, the Norwich Volunteer Infantry, commanded by Lieut. Colonel De Hague, (successor to Colonel Harvey) was formed into a battalion of five companies of 60 men each. On the 28th, after a rapid thaw, the lower parts of the city were deluged, and boats rowed in the street of St. Martin-at-Oak, where some of the houses were six or seven feet under water.

In 1811, as a club of Odd Fellows were performing their mystic rights, in an upper room at the Three Tuns Tavern, in St. Andrew's, the floor gave way and precipitated the fraternity to the ground; but none of them were much hurt. On March 17th, the warehouse of Messrs. Culleys, grocers, and Mr. Freeman's house, in the Upper Market, were consumed by fire; the loss was upwards of £5,000. On June 16th, 1812, after Starling Day, Esq. had been sworn in mayor, there was no dinner at St. Andrew's Hall; but Alderman Davey, (one of the unsuccessful candidates) dined about 500 freemen of the blue and white interests, under the trees adjoining his house at Eaton. The Prince Regent and the Dukes of Clarence and Cambridge, passed through the city in November. The Volunteer corps of Norwich and Norfolk were disbanded, March 24, 1813. On August 10th, the first steam barge on the river Yare, arrived at Norwich, after travelling at the rate of only five miles per hour. During this and the following year, there were frequent rejoicings at Norwich and other places, in celebration of the victories gained over the French. In January, 1814, upwards of £2,600 was subscribed to relieve the distresses of the poor, occasioned partly by the severity of the weather. On March 17th, 1815, during a show of cattle, on the Castle Ditches, the populace assembled round Mr. Coke, Lord Albemarle, and other gentlemen, (who had rendered themselves obnoxious by supporting the corn laws) and forthwith attacked them with stones; on which they retreated to the Angel Inn, where the tumult did not subside till the riot act had been read, and the Brunswick Hussars called out. On May 11th, 1816, the West Norfolk Militia returned to Norwich from Ireland, and were disembodied on June 17th. The new silver coinage was received here on May 31, in exchange for the defaced shillings and sixpences. On May 16, there was another riot at the New Mills, in consequence of the high price of flour, and much of that necessary article was thrown about the roads and into the Mill-pool, before the military could quell the disturbance.

In January, 1817, upwards of £3,000 was subscribed to relieve the poor, many of whom were employed in making a new road to Carrow, and in other public works; the staple trade of the city being for some months in a state of great stagnation. On April 6th, the boiler of a steam packet burst, shortly after leaving Norwich, and killed nine persons, besides two others who died of their wounds in the hospital. After this accident, a vessel was introduced with paddles turned by four horses working in a circle 18 feet in diameter. This year, the wife of Edward Rigby, M.D., was delivered of four children, who lived to the respective ages of 18 days; 8 weeks two days; 11 weeks three days, and 11 weeks five days; a piece of plate was presented to Mr. Rigby by the corporation, to commemorate this event. On December 3, 1820, the Dukes of York and Wellington, were admitted to the honorary freedom of the city at the Angel Inn. On the 12th, in consequence of the numerous robberies committed in the city and county, public meetings were held, and resolutions passed for granting rewards to such watchmen as should apprehend offenders. More burglaries had been committed in the last three months, than in the twenty preceding years. Acts were this year passed for lighting the city with gas, and for erecting the bridge at the Duke's Palace. On July 7, 1821, the Coronation of George IV. was celebrated here in the most splendid and joyful manner. The corporation went in a procession of carriages to the Cathedral; and on their return, a roasted bullock, with 2,880 penny loaves, and several barrels of beer, were distributed in the Market-place; a bullock was also roasted in Ber-street, and three sheep in other parts of the city. At night there was a grand display of fireworks, and a triumphal arch, erected in the Market-place, was illuminated with 1,480 variegated lamps. In August, Major General Sir Edward Kerrison, K.C.B. was created a Baronet.

On September 27, 1822, the weavers of Norwich presented a magnificent silver vase to John Harvey, Esq., in testimony of the high esteem with which they regarded him as a liberal patron and spirited promoter of the manufactures of his native city; 2,361 weavers subscribed to defray the expence, no individual being allowed to contribute more than one shilling. On February 2, 1823, as a congregation of Primitive Methodists were assembled in a room adjoining the City of Norwich public-house, the floor suddenly gave way and precipitated them into the cellar; some had their limbs fractured, and but very few escaped without bruises. On December 23rd, as some workmen were employed in sinking a well near St. Giles's-gates, they discovered several extensive vaults, running in all directions, at the depth of 35 feet. On January 25, 1827, as a boy was passing over Fyebridge, he applied his tongue to the iron railing, which instantly froze so firmly, that he could not deliver himself from his painful situation without the loss of the skin of his tongue, which was left upon the iron. On December 9th, 1829, a numerous body of weavers held a meeting on Mousehold Heath, to consult on means for keeping up wages; and on their return, they demolished the windows of Mr. Athow, and Mr. Geary. In February, 1830, the numerous unemployed weavers were relieved by a subscription of £2,300, exclusive of £200 given by Hudson Gurney, Esq., and £400 received from London. On March 9th, the premises of Mr. A. Beloe, on Orford Hill, erected a short time before at the cost of more than £4,000, were sold by auction for £860. On August 21, 1831, the new Corporation of Guardians' Act, received the royal assent. On September 8th, the Coronation of William IV. was celebrated here, with a grand procession, public dinners, and a brilliant illumination. Several petitions were sent from Norwich in favour of the Reform Bill.

On February 4, 1832, in consequence of the East India Company having suspended their usual orders for camlets, for the China trade, a memorial, praying for a renewal of the same, was agreed to at a Court of Mayoralty; and on the 7th, a similar address was sent from the Court of Guardians. On February 22nd, the mayor, J. H. Yallop, Esq., received the honour of Knighthood, after the presentation of an address from the corporation to his Majesty. On the 24th, the corporation gave a vote of thanks to the Lord Chancellor, for having granted two gaol deliveries in the year, and a similar vote, with the freedom of the city, was conferred on John Stracey, Esq., for his exertions in obtaining the removal of the Summer Assizes from Thetford, for which an Act of Parliament received the royal assent on June 23rd. The passing of the Reform Bill, was celebrated in this city on the 5th of July, by public rejoicings and festivities, and a numerous and splendid procession, in which were a printing press, a bombasin loom, and a camlet loom, at full work; a great variety of flags, banners, &c., the members of the Norwich Political Union, and a long line of gentlemen on horseback. That baneful disease, Asiatic Cholera, which committed such awful ravages in many parts of the kingdom in 1832, did not visit Norwich till August 17th; and on November 11th, thanksgivings were offered up at all the churches and chapels, for the removal of this malady, and for the mild manner in which the citizens had been afflicted, in comparison with those of other populous places. On December 10, the election of two members of Parliament for the city commenced, and at the close of the poll, after a severe contest, the number of votes were, for Lord Norwicht, 2,016; Sir James Scarlett, 1,962; R. H. Gurney, Esq., 1,810; and H. B. Ker, 1,766.

In January, 1833, a petition was sent to the House of Commons against the return of the successful candidates, but the committee appointed to inquire into the cases of bribery, set forth by the petitioners, declared, on April 3rd, that the sitting members were duly elected, though "the petition was neither frivolous nor vexatious." On May 13th, a meeting of about 300 citizens agreed upon a petition to the House of Commons, "praying that honourable house to enact such laws as would be necessary for reforming the constitution and powers of the corporate body, and to cause an inquiry to be instituted, touching the management and expenditure of the estates, tolls, and other funds under the control of the Corporation." This petition was numerously signed. During a dreadful thunder storm about midnight, on July 7, the electric fluid struck the thatched roof of the Black Tower on Butter-hills, which was instantly in a blaze, and burned with great fury till the whole of the interior of the building was consumed. On September 5, the Norwich Yarn Company was formed at a numerous meeting of the merchants, bankers, and manufacturers. The Norwich and Lowestoft Navigation was opened September 30, when the Squire and the City of Norwich traders, passed through Carrow-bridge, and arrived here without once touching ground, amidst the firing of guns, ringing of bells, and the loud cheers of a multitude of spectators. On November 23rd, two of the municipal commissioners, G. Long and J. Buckle, Esqrs., commenced their inquiry into the state of the Norwich Corporation, at the Guild Hall, and the investigation lasted 22 days. On November 16th, the following resolution was passed by the Common Council, and agreed to by the aldermen, "That this assembly having no wish to withhold from his Majesty's Commissioners any facility for prosecuting their inquiries, do direct the Town Clerk and all other officers of the Corporation, (whom the Commissioners may think proper to call before them,) to produce all charity books, accounts, deeds, papers, and documents of title, in their respective possession, which may be requisite. But this assembly at the same time protests against the Commission as illegal and unconstitutional, and against the right of the Commissioners to make such inquiry." The Sheriffs entered a much stronger protest, and would not permit their officers to furnish any information relative to the Sheriffs' Court, or the Gaol.

On January 7th, 1835, after a violent contest between two whig and two tory candidates for the representation of the city in parliament, the two former were defeated; the number of votes at the close of the poll being, for Lord Stormont 1892; for the Hon. Robert Campbell Scarlett 1878, for the Hon. E. V. Harbord 1592; and for F. O. Martin, Esq. 1582. During the same month Sir James Scarlett, who had sat for the city from 1832 to 1834, was raised to the peerage by the title of "Baron Abinger, of Abinger in the county of Surrey, and of the City of Norwich." Having traced with a rapid, but we hope faithful pen, all that is momentous in the general history of the city, we shall proceed to a review of its manufactures, civil and ecclesiastical government, antiquities, public buildings, institutions, charities, &c.

MANUFACTURES.

The manufactures of Norwich are the grand source of its wealth, and by employing an immense capital, exciting industry, and remunerating labour, they have raised the city to its present commercial importance, and augmented its population, since the year 1811, from 37,413, to upwards of 62,000 souls, and its houses, from 8,336, to about 15,000 (vide p. 64.) No place in England, Manchester excepted, has made a more distinguished figure in the weaving trade than the city of Norwich. That the art of manufacturing cloth from wool was exercised in Norfolk at a very early period, has been conjectured from the simple and primitive mode of spinning with a distaff being continued here long after it was disused in other manufacturing districts; indeed, it was not finally abolished here till about twenty years ago, when the machine spinners of Yorkshire began to supply the city manufacturers with yarn of a finer and more regular texture, at a

... was celebrated in this city on an public rejoicings and festivities, and a number procession, in which were a printing press, a and a camelion, at full work; a great banners, &c., the members of the Norwich and a long line of gentlemen on horseback.
disease, Asiatic Cholera, which committed such in many parts of the kingdom in 1832, did not till August 17th; and on November 11th, the offered up at all the churches and chapels, for of this malady, and for the noble manner citizens had been afflicted, in comparison with popular's plagues. On December 10, the election
bers of Parliament for the city commenced, and the 11th, after a severe contest, the number of Lord Somerset, 2,016, Sir James Scarlett, &
Dunne, Esq., 1,810; and H. B. Ker, 1,706.

In January, 1833, a petition was sent to the to request the return of the successful candi committee appointed to inquire into the cases with by the petitioners, declared, on April 3rd, members were duly elected, though "the petit showed not vexatious." On May 13th, a me 20 citizens agreed upon a petition to the House praying that honourable house to enact such necessary for reforming the constitution and
... and to secure an im...

therefore resolved, if possible, to reduce the trade to his own country (men,) who as yet were ignorant; as knowing no more what to do with their wool than the sheep that wear it; as to any artificial and curious drapery, their best cloths being no better than friezes, such their coarseness for want of skill in their making.* The king, having obtained this treasure of foreign artizans, that the arts they brought might be more generally dispersed, encouraged them to settle in different parts of his dominions. But when left to their unbiased choice, they always preferred a maritime situation; and both the bearing of the country and habits of the people determined many in their choice of Norfolk. The discovery of Fuller's earth, at this time, a substance so useful in the trade, and with which England abounds, did not a little contribute to further their exertions in the weaving craft. Various staples were appointed for the sale of wool, and its exportation was prohibited under heavy penalties. On this occasion the city of Norwich was fixed for the staple of the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk. In the time of Richard II., and succeeding reigns, various statutes were enacted for the encouragement and regulation of the trade; by further prohibitions against sending unmanufactured wool out of the kingdom, and for measuring the manufactured articles, as well as for the sale of cloth. Though the alays had been dropped, as tending to depress the spirit of speculation, yet it was deemed necessary, in the early progress towards manufacturing excellence, that officers should be appointed, whose duty it was to inspect all goods, and pass them, by affixing a seal, as a mark of approbation to the approved pieces. In the twenty-third year of Henry the Sixth, an act passed ordering four wardens to be chosen for the city of Norwich, and four others for the county of Norfolk, "To do right, and make due search of worsteds in Norwich and Norfolk, and which shall set down orders for the true making thereof."† It having been discovered in the following reign, "that divers persons in Norwich and Norfolk made untrue wares, by which means they lose their ancient estimation beyond sea, &c.," the number of wardens was increased. From this act it seems the trade had arrived at such a degree of excellence as to rival other nations in the foreign market; and English goods probably then obtained an extensive sale in those very countries whence the art had first been imported. In the time of Henry the Eighth, according to Blomefield, the sale of stuffs made in the city of Norwich only, amounted to the annual sum of £300,000 exclusive of stockings, which were computed at £60,000 more. Not only did the trade thus flourish at Norwich and Worstead, but it had now spread over the county; for, by an act passed in the fourteenth year of this reign, it appears, "that the making of worsteds, saies, and stammings, which had greatly increased in the city of Norwich and county of Norfolk was now practised more busily and diligently than in times past, at Yarmouth and Lynn." The wardens of these towns, therefore, were put under the control of the jurisdiction of Norwich. During the reigns of Edward the Sixth and Queen Mary, new articles of manufacture continued to be introduced, and new regulations passed for the making of russells, satins, satins-reverses, and Naples-fustians, as had been done before for the making of hats, dornicks, and coverlets, and the manufacturers of such new articles were formed into a corporation, endowed with exclusive privileges. Subsequent to this, the trade fell into decay, and a new era of its revival commenced. By the advice of the Duke of Norfolk, Queen Elizabeth was induced to offer an asylum in her dominions to the inhabitants of the Low Countries, who had fled from the cruel persecution of the Duke of Alva. These people brought with them their arts and their industry, and quickly evinced the folly of attempting compulsion in religious matters, and the wisdom and policy of an enlightened toleration. They were allowed to settle in Norfolk, and each master to bring with him ten servants at the Duke's charge. They rapidly increased, and the county was essentially benefitted by their skill and exertions. New fabrications were introduced by the intermixture of silk, mohair, and wool; and several new articles were manufactured as various in their qualities as their names; such as bayes, sayes, arras, and mochades.

* In the year 1400, at an assembly of the clothiers under the late regulations, it was agreed that the cloth seal should be committed to a proper person, who should be considered sole taker, to seal and token all cloths, called Norwich cloths, with a lead seal or token, after he had found them the proper length and breadth. All the weavers were ordered to deliver in a roll, containing the names of their craft, with the several marks belonging to each individual, by which the goodness of every man's work might be ascertained by his mark, and the measure of the same.

In 1575, the Dutch Elders presented in court a specimen of a novel work, called bombazines, for the manufacturing of which elegant stuff the city has ever since been famed. In the reign of George the First, an act passed to compel the makers of any kind of stuff to become freemen of Norwich, as the manufacturers of russells and fustians had formerly been. The preamble states, that it was made to furnish the city with a proper supply of able magistrates; but the policy of the measure lay deeper than the statement. In the twenty-fifth year of George the Second, a statute was enacted to open the port of Great Yarmouth for the importation of wool and woollen yarn; a circumstance which proved highly beneficial to the general trade of the city and county. For a long time the master manufacturers were men of moderate capital, their concerns were limited, and credit small. Many of them resided in the villages, and brought their articles to the city for sale: indeed most of them disposed of their goods to factors, who supplied the merchants. The trade was then principally confined to home consumption, and the act of 1731, which prohibited the general wearing of cottons, and the order for the court mourning to consist of Norwich wool, during the administration of Sir Robert Walpole; combine to prove, that the trade did not depend so much on foreign demand, as upon internal orders. About sixty years ago, the tide of fashion running strongly in favour of the light and elegant manufactures of India, excited in the genius of Britain a spirit of imitation. The stuff trade had been long on the decline, through the prevalence of Manchester cottons; and from the facility and cheapness with which these were manufactured by the wonderful inventions of Arkwright and other ingenious mechanicians, the destruction of the home trade was almost completed. The merchants and manufacturers were roused to extraordinary exertions, and the channels of trade were soon entirely changed. They improved and extended their continental connections, their travellers were seen in every kingdom of Europe, and the great annual marts of Frankfort, Leipzig, and Salerno were crowded with purchasers for Norwich goods. By these means, though excluded from their usual share of the internal trade, they amply compensated that loss. The tradesman now sent their sons to be educated in Germany, Italy, and Spain, that by learning the languages and manners of the different people, they might enlarge their views, and strengthen their foreign relations. The taste of every country, and the habits of every clime were consulted, from the frozen north to the sultry south. Hence Norwich and the country for twenty miles round it, quickly became crowded with looms. Though the distaff, and the spinning wheel were incessantly plied through the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, and in the former only, it is computed fifty thousand tods of wool were annually spun; yet the produce was inadequate to the demand. It became necessary to import yarn as well as wool; and of the importation of bay yarn from Ireland only, more was at that period consumed here, than had been a few years before imported into the whole kingdom. Exclusive of this, great quantities of yarn were purchased from the neighbouring counties; and Scotland also was induced to contribute a share. At that proud meridian of its prosperity, the trade, from the capriciousness of fashion, began to show some symptoms of decay; and the disastrous war breaking out, abridged its communications, dissolved its continental connections, annihilated all incentives to speculation, depressed the spirit of enterprise, and paralysed the hands of industry.

Arthur Young considered the interval between the years 1743 and 1763, and downward, till the dispute between England and her colonies became serious, to have been a flourishing era in the commercial annals of Norwich. The number of looms was then found to be 12,000, and each of them, with its attendant preparations, was supposed to produce work to the value of £100 per annum, making the total yearly value of the manufactures £1,200,000, of which, only one-fourth was estimated as the value of the raw material, so that the amount then paid for labour exceeded one million per annum.

Among the staple articles of silk and worsted manufactured at Norwich are, bombasins, damasks, shawls, fill-over shawls, crape, crep-de-Lyon, Gros-de-Naples, satin, Italinet, and fine camlets; for the latter, the East India Company have given annually large orders, during the last 50 or 60 years, and thus afforded great relief during the frequent cessations of trade to Italy, Spain, Russia, &c., in the late wars. To the above named articles were added, about the year 1790, the manufacture of cotton shawls, and some other fancy goods, adapted both for furniture and dress, and surpassing in elegance all other articles of the same description made in England. The manufacture of shawls was first introduced here by Mr Edward Barrow and John Harvey, Esq., and afterwards brought to great perfection by Mr P. J. Knights, who presented a counterpane five yards square, with a fringe, and without a seam, to the Society for the Encouragement of Arts; for which he received a medal; he also presented some curious patterns of this manufacture to their Majesties. The staple trade furnishes about fifty distinct occupations from the shearer who procures the fleece, to the mariner who ships the bale of goods; and when trade is good, it employs about 100,000 people. The Lincolnshire, Leicestershire, and half-bred wools are chiefly used, whilst those of Norfolk are mostly sent for the use of the Yorkshire clothiers; for though the neck wool of the Norfolk sheep has been discovered of a fineness of 20 to 7 of the body, its fibre does not suit the staple manufacture of the county.

The earnings of the workmen are various; dyers, hot-pressers, and bombasin dressers, about 15s. per week; some of the best weavers, from 14s. to a guinea, weavers in general average not more than from 8s. to 10s.; but women can earn as much, and children by pipe filling and tyre drawing, can earn about 2s. 6d. per week. At one period the trade gave employment to about 150 woolcombers, who, after the year 1808, were obliged to seek employment among the machine spinners of Yorkshire, but the recent erection of two large worsted mills at Norwich, has again introduced in the city the ancient art of woolcombing. To the various and beautiful stuffs of silk and worsted, and coarse woollens called Duffields, Fearnoughts, &c., have recently been added the manufacture of carpets, worsted ribbons, coach and livery lace, cotton thread, striped and checked cottons, and a few calicoes, huckabacks, napkins, table cloths, counterpanes, &c. Some little business is also done at Norwich in the Suffolk hempen cloth, which is manufactured on the borders of Suffolk and Norfolk, near Diss, where the manufacturers have a cloth-hall. Some of this unbleached linen cloth, is dressed and improved at Norwich, where the looms employed in the various manufactures are now estimated at 1,500, to which may be added a considerable number in the surrounding villages. Here are also extensive establishments for dying and dressing the manufactured goods, besides the spinning and doubling mills, and the large silk mills of Messrs. Baylis and Co., who employ here and at their branch manufactories in Yarmouth, North Walsham, and Bungay, nearly 3,000 people.

THE NAVIGATION of the Wensum and the Yare is a great facility to the manufactures and commerce of Norwich, and has recently been considerably improved by a ship canal cut across the marshes from Reedham to Lowestoft, so that Norwich is now a port for sea borne vessels. Exclusive of the steam packets introduced in 1813, the general navigation from Norwich to Yarmouth is by keels and wherries. The former are chiefly restricted to the freightage of timber, and are much less numerous than formerly. The wherries are peculiar to the rivers of Norfolk and Suffolk, and those used on the Wensum carry from 15 to 40 tons, and draw from three to four feet water; the mast is by the head, and is so balanced, by means of lead, that the strength of one man is sufficient to raise or lower it in the event of passing bridges; on this, by the action of a windlass, the sail is hoisted, being extended on a gaff at the upper edge. These vessels are seldom navigated by more than two hands, and one of them is often a boy, or the wife of the waterman; in the latter case it is not unfrequent for them to have their families in a cabin placed at the stern. The project of opening a communication between the city and the ocean for vessels drawing eight feet water, originated with Crisp Brown, Esq., one of the aldermen, who first submitted his plan of making Norwich a port, by way of Yarmouth, to an assembly of the corporation in 1814; after which Mr. Cubitt was employed to make a survey of the river Yare; and in 1818, he published a report, recommending the avoidance of the Breydon Water, by a cut on the south side, and estimating the cost of his plan at £35,626, 16s. In the same year, Mr. Cubitt was employed to make another survey, "with a view of ascertaining whether or not it was practicable to open a communication with the sea at Lowestoft;" and in 1821, he published his report, strongly recommending this plan in preference to the other, but estimating the cost at £47,000. T. Telford, Esq., afterwards examined the two lines, and fully concurred in the reports of Mr. Cubitt. As the corporation of Yarmouth had announced their intention of opposing either of the plans that might be adopted, it was determined to prosecute that by Lowestoft; subscriptions were entered into, and fresh surveys made, but it was not till the sessions of 1826, that the committee were prepared to apply to parliament, for an act to enable them to carry the plan into effect. The bill being strongly opposed by the Yarmouth corporation and the owners of the marshes, (the latter fearing inundation) it was lost by a majority of five, though the evidence in its favour was so c clusive, that, upon application to the Speaker of the house, it was ordered to be printed at the public expense. In the next session, a second bill was introduced, and referred to a committee, in which, after much opposition, only five members voted against it, while 25 voted for it. The bill then passed the Commons, but was vigorously opposed in the House of Lords. It ultimately passed both houses, and received the royal assent May 28th, 1827, after the corporation of Yarmouth had spent £8,000 in opposing it. This great work, called the NORWICH AND LOWESTOFT NAVIGATION, was commenced in the same year, and finished September 30th, 1833, (vide page 90.) The Yare has been deepened in a small part of its course near Norwich, and the line pursues the navigation of that river as far as Reedham, from whence it is carried across the marshes by a new cut $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles long, to the river Waveney, along which it passes to Oulton-Dike. The latter has been widened and deepened to Oulton-Broad, whence by a short cut the canal enters Lake Lothing, along which it passes to the shore at Lowestoft, where by cutting through the sea bank, the tides have been freely admitted into the lake, which now forms a large harbour, covering 160 acres, nearly three miles in length, and averaging from 15 to 17 feet in depth, at high water. Thus Norwich has become a port, and its vessels from London and the South arrive by a much nearer route than Yarmouth, with greater facilities for proceeding on their voyages, and with the advantage of avoiding the shallow waters of Breydon, and the delay and expense of trans-shipment at Yarmouth. The new navigation also avoids the danger and detention of the bar at Yarmouth, and the plunder to which it is said the small craft are often exposed "in spite of the vigilance of the owners and agents." The London, Lowestoft, Beccles and Norwich Shipping Company was established in 1832, in £25 shares, and now despatches regular trading vessels every week from each place, (vide page 216.) As has already been seen, the river Wensum passes through Norwich by a sinuous course, and soon afterwards takes the name of Yare. In its passage through the city and suburbs, it is crossed by ten BRIDGES. The second on the stream within the city is Costany Bridge, originally built of timber, it was rebuilt of stone in 1521, but falling into decay, was taken down and re-constructed of cast iron in 1804. Blackfriars Bridge was a wooden structure, erected about the time of Henry VIII., rebuilt of the same material in Edward IV.'s reign, and of stone with three arches in 1589; this also decaying, and the narrow arches being a great impediment to the current, the bridge was rebuilt of one stone arch, 44 feet span, in 1784, at the cost of £1,290. This arch is remarkably strong, all the stones being cramped with iron. Fye-Bridge, anciently called "Fyve-Bridge," from its being the fifth principal bridge over the Wensum, was a timber fabric till Henry IV.'th's time, when it was rebuilt of stone, but was washed down by a flood in 1570. Three years afterwards, a new bridge was completed of two arches, the largest 26 feet span; but it underwent considerable repairs in 1756, and was taken down in 1829, when the present handsome cast iron bridge was erected on its site. Whitefriars Bridge was likewise a wooden fabric, till 1501, when it was rebuilt of stone, containing one pointed arch, 30 feet span, but being much decayed, it was thoroughly repaired in 1835, when the old battlements gave place to neat iron railing. Bishop's Bridge was erected or rebuilt in 1275, by the Prior of Norwich, who had a patent granted him for building "a gate with a bridge 20 feet adjoining it." It was afterwards repaired by the Bishop and Prior, but becoming a general inlet to the city, it was granted to the citizens in 1803, and they were charged with its subsequent repairs, and had the appointment of a porter to keep the gate, though the hermit or monk asking alms there, was nominated by the Prior. It has three semi-circular arches, and on the inside of the largest are some old sculptured heads. The five bridges described above are free, but the four following are toll bridges, being built by companies of speculators, viz.—Foundery Bridge, finished in 1811, chiefly of wood resting on stone piers, with a parapet formed by neat iron railing. New Mills Bridge, the first on the river within the walls, is free for foot passengers only;—Duke's Palace Bridge, built of cast iron under the powers of an act of Parliament passed in 1830, at the cost of £29,000;—and Curlew Bridge, originally an iron elliptical arch of 50 feet span, erected in 1810, but rebuilt in 1833, with leaves to draw up for the admission of vessels using the Norwich and Lowestoft Navigation. Hellenden Bridge, on the north side of the city liberties, beyond the walls, was built by the corporation in 1819, chiefly of cast iron, at the cost of £1,169. The Corporation have jurisdiction on the river from Hellenden Bridge to Hardley Cross, a distance of 24 miles; this, however, does not supersede the rights of the proprietors of the manors on the banks, all of them having their respective free fisheries, and to some swan marks are appended; but the city has in all cases, a joint right. The river contains various kinds of fish, such as roach, perch, tench, bream, gudgeon, bream, pike, ruff, and great quantities of eels. Salmon have been occasionally taken, and smelts are found in great plenty in the months of April and May.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

It has already been seen, from pages 69 to 80, that Norwich has received numerous royal charters, conveying many valuable privileges and immunities. That by which the city is now governed was granted by CHARLES II., in 1663, at the petition of the citizens, and states in its preamble, that "the city of Norwich is an ancient populous city and county by itself, formerly named by the name of the mayor, sheriffs, citizens, and commonalty of the city of Norwich, and as such enjoying many privileges and immunities granted by former kings," of which are hereby confirmed with "all manner of liberties, free customs, franchises, exemptions, quit-claims and jurisdictions, belonging to the city, and also all and singular lands, tenements, marts, markets, fairs, customs for cattle, liberties, privileges and hereditaments whatever; whether by grant, custom, or prescription; in as ample a manner as heretofore." The charter then vests the civil government in a mayor, 23 other aldermen, two sheriffs, a recorder, a steward, a town clerk, and 60 common councilmen. "Further granting that the mayor, recorder, and steward, for the time being, and all such aldermen who have borne the office of mayor of the said city, shall be afterwards so long as they continue aldermen, justices of the peace in the city and its county, with the same power as all other justices of the peace have in other counties of this realm, with full power to inquire, hear, and determine by the oaths of lawful men of the said city and county, of all felonies, transgressions, regratings, and offences whatever, committed within their jurisdiction; in which sessions, the mayor, recorder or steward, or two of them, shall be personally present, who shall also make inquiry, &c. of all tumults or meetings of people, contrary to the king's peace, and to proceed thereupon according to the laws of the land." Those aldermen who have not served the office of mayor are justices of the peace only in that ward for which they are respectively chosen. Two of the twenty-four aldermen are elected for life, by each of the twelve small wards, but they may be discharged for neglect or misconduct. When any vacancies occur, either by deaths or removals, others are elected by the citizens residing in the wards where such vacancies have arisen. Persons so elected, and refusing to serve the office, are liable to a fine not exceeding £200, to be laid out in repairing walls, bridges, &c. The charters provide that the sixty common councilmen be annually elected, by the freemen in each of the great wards separately, as named at page 63; but by an act of parliament passed in 1729, for the better regulation of elections in the city and other purposes, it is enacted that no more than three shall be elected by the freemen of each great ward, on the day appointed by the charters, and that those so elected, or the major part of them shall elect and fill up the number required for each great ward. From amongst the aldermen who have served the office of sheriff, the mayor is chosen, in the following manner; four persons qualified are nominated, and two of them chosen by a poll at which all resident freemen in the city vote, the discretionary power, of appointing either of these persons, then remains with the court of aldermen, to whom their names are returned. This election always takes place on the first day of May, and the mayor-elect is sworn into office on the Guild-day, which is the Tuesday before Midsummer-day, except when the latter falls on a Wednesday, in which case, the Guild is on the Tuesday week preceding. One of the two sheriffs is elected by the aldermen, some time between June 24th and September 1st, and the citizen so nominated, receives a letter from the court announcing his appointment; the office is then compulsory, unless he will swear that he is not worth £3,000, his debts being paid; or the court consent to receive a fine of £80. The other sheriff is elected by the freemen, on the last Tuesday in August. The recorder and steward are both barristers, and council for the city; the one assisting as chief judge in the mayor's court, and the other performing the same office in that of the sheriffs. They hold their offices for life; as also does the town clerk. There are besides, two coroners, a chamberlain, sub-chamberlain, under-sheriff, sword bearer, serjeant-at-mace, marshalsmen and other officers. The freedom of the city is obtained by birth-right, by serving an apprenticeship to freemen, by purchase, and by gift. Freemen's sons do not pay any fines on admission, but apprentices pay 13s. 4d.; and foreigners may claim their freedom by paying certain fines, which vary from £3. to £25., according to their respective trades or professions, pursuant to an act of the 9th of George I., one clause of which compels certain tradesmen to take up their freedom; but this is very seldom enforced by the corporation. For the better government of the city, and the several companies and trades therein, the corporation are empowered by the charter of Charles II., to make Bye Laws, which they may alter as occasion serves, and may levy penalties upon the goods and chattels of such as offend against them; provided such laws and orders are not contrary to the statutes of the realm.

Courts:—The charter of Charles II. grants "that the mayor and justices, or any three or more of them, (so that the mayor always be one) shall have and hold, as they immemorially did, a court of equity, by bill or plaint, exhibited before them, by any citizens or inhabitants of the city, against any persons whatever, (so that any cause for relief in equity be made appear, and no remedy to be had by common law,) for and concerning any action, cause, suit, or matter of difference, arising within the city, and to remove all such pleas before them, out of the court of pleas usually held for the said city, before the city sheriffs; the mayor, and justices, having full power to examine witnesses, take depositions, and make decrees in all such cases, according to law, equity, and good conscience, for the speedy dispatch of justice." Also, "the mayor, and town-clerk, for the time being, may take recognizances in Norwich, of the statute simple, in any sum or sums according to the statute, in as ample a form as the mayors of London, York, or Bristol. The same charter also grants that "the sheriffs of the city and its county, for the time being, may hold their court of pleas in the Guild Hall for ever hereafter.

and may there prosecute and try in the name of the MAYOR, SHERIFFS, CITIZENS and COMMONALTY of the said CITY, any plea, in any personal or mized action, and any cause or matter arising, or happening, in the said city or county; and upon every recovery or judgment given in the SHERIFFS' COURT, they may by their mandate issued to any of their serjeants at mace, or other sworn officer of theirs, levy DAMAGE given, and costs of suit, by DISTRESS on the goods and chattels of such persons against whom judgment is passed; or if they have no goods or chattels in the city or county thereof, then on those of their pledges or sureties, or may attach their bodies, or their pledges or sureties, by execution or mandate, to be served upon them by a serjeant or sworn sheriff's officer." And "further, the king granted to the mayor all goods and chattels of all such as were found to be felo-de-se, (or self-murderers,) and all deodands, without paying anything therefore, or rendering any account thereof." The COURT OF CONSCIENCE, held every Monday at St. Andrew's Hall, for the recovery of debts under 40s., was established by an act of parliament passed in 1701. The Commissioners are such of the Court of Aldermen and Common Council as are qualified according to an act of the 26th of George III. One Alderman and two Common Councilmen constitute a court, and business commences at four o'clock in the afternoon. The QUARTER SESSIONS and ASSIZES for the city, are held at the Guildhall, and for the county of Norfolk at the Shire Hall. Only one assize and general gaol delivery was held here yearly till 1832, when an act of parliament was obtained for the removal of the Lent Assizes from Thetford, for which petitions had been repeatedly sent from Norwich during the preceding fifty years. These assizes generally occupy nearly a week, which, from the great attendance of company, is the gayest period known to the inhabitants of Norwich, "every amusement being then provided that can attract the individual tastes of the votaries of pleasure, or satiate those of the more moderate partakers in pursuits of that nature."

PARLIAMENTARY FRANCHISE:—Norwich has sent two burgeses to parliament since the 25th of Edward I. In 1403, Henry IV. summoned four citizens to be returned to parliament from Norwich; but the services of representatives being then paid for by their constituents, the expense was an object of such consideration, that the citizens employed John de Alford to obtain the king's licence to send only two, as before; whose services were remunerated by the payment of three pounds. The elective franchise was confined to the registered freemen, (about 3,000) till the freholders were admitted by an act of 1730; but under the Reform Bill of 1832, it is in the registered freeholders, the owners of property of the rental of ten pounds per annum, and not freemen, only, as are resident and do not receive alms. The electors both of the representatives in parliament and the commen-councilmen of each ward, are carried on with a spirit which is surpassed in no other place. "The ward elections are considered as trials of strength, between different parties; and if they chance to occur at a period, when a general election may be supposed not far distant, the money expended on the occasion, seems to a stranger, quite incredible. It has been asserted, that no less than £16,000 was dissipated in the contest of a single ward, in the year 1814." The last election of MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT for the city and county of the city of Norwich, closed January 7th, 1835, when Lord Viscount Stormont and the Hon. Rt. Campbell Scarlett were returned, as has been seen at p. 91.

THE ARMS OF THE CITY are Gules, a castle triple-towered, argent, in base a lion passant gardant, Or, supported by two angels with wings expanded, that on the dexter side holding a sword, and the other a sword in the sinister hand, all proper. The crest is a cap of maintenance.

The Corporation are receivers of various tolls and dues, and hold in trust for various charitable and other public uses, extensive and valuable property both within and without the city liberties, and as far as these can be ascertained they will be levied under their proper heads. They pay for farm rents to the amount of £100, and deliver at the king's exchequer, yearly, on the last day of November, 120 heerings baked in 24 pies, as the tenure by which they hold the manor of East Carlton, purchased by them about the close of the 17th century. The Burgesses now receive 2s. each yearly in lieu of their ancient claim of common right on the Town (see page 65). Gildencroft, as it is still called, belongs to the city, and adjoins the west side of St. Augustine's church-yard, but most of it is now occupied by buildings. It is supposed to have its name from the court of the ancient manor of Folkthorpe being formerly held in it, and it was the place where the city tournaments and other exercises were held, the north part of it being called the Jousting-Acre. Among other property which passed to the corporation, after the dissolution of the monastery, is Chapelfield, which belonged to the college of St. Mary. In 1578, this field was the campus martis of the city; the trained-bands and artillery being exercised upon it. In 1707, it was ruled in, but was not planted till 1746, a work for which the inhabitants were indebted to Sir Thomas Churchman, who at that time held it by lease of the corporation, who, in 1702, leased it to the lessees of the water works, who constructed the reservoir in its centre. Through this field runs the boundary line of the parishes of St. Peter's Marton and St. Giles. It was till a few years ago a fashionable promenade, but the walks under the trees have been much neglected, and disfigured by the resort of washerwomen. Much of the corporation property has been sold, or leased for long terms at small improved rents, during the last fifty years, and these alienations have been the subject of great complaint among the free-

The following is a list of the CORPORATE BODY in 1835, with their officers; except the 60 Common Councilmen, who are changed yearly, and consequently an enumeration of them is unnecessary.

COURT OF ALDERMEN.

The figures on the right side show the dates of their election.

The Right Worshipful the MAYOR, William Moore, Esq., 1833.

Past the Chair	Thos. Thurtell, Esq. 1814	John Angell, Esq. .. 1827
Chas. Turner, Esq. 1832	N B. Ingbrooke, Esq. 1814	S. W. Stevenson, Esq. 1826
S. Bigood, Esq., D.M. 1831	W. Rackham, Esq. 1817
John Morse, Esq. .. 1777	Rt. Hawkes, Esq. .. 1818	Below the Chair
John Harvey, Esq. 1782	Henry Francis, Esq. 1820	Mr J. Marshall .. 1829
James Marsh, Esq. 1802	T. S. Day, Esq. . 1820	Edw. Steward 1830
J. W. Richards, Esq. 1806	F. T. Booth, Esq. 1821	Edm. Newton.. 1831
Sir J. H. Yalden, .. 1609	T. O. Springfield, Esq. 1821	Wm. Moore 1833
Wm. Hunkes, Esq. .. 1810	Peter Finch, Esq. . 1821	John Cutley 1835

SHERIFFS—William Chambers and John Marshall, Esqrs.

RECORDER—Isaac Preston, Esq. | STEWARD—Fitzroy Kelley, Esq.

SIXTY COMMON COUNCILMEN (changed annually)

Speaker of the Commons—James Winter.

TOWN CLERK—Mr. Adolphus H. Beckwith, Esq.

CHAMBERLAIN—John Skipper, Esq.

CORONERS—William Poll and James Winter, Gents.

UNDER SHERIFFS—Matth w Rackham and J. R. Staff, Gentlemen

Sword Bearer—Mr. Wm. Day | Chief Constable—Mr. P. Barnes.

Under Chamberlain—Mr. R. R. Beardman.

Collector of the Lower Market—Mr. R. Harman.

Collector of the Upper Market—Mr. Hubbard.

Water Bailiff—Mr. G. Dambroge.

Inspector of Corn Returns—T. S. Day, Esq.

Collector of the Prices of Corn Returns—Mr. James Goodwin.

Mass Bearer—George Richard and Thomas Hurry

City Clerk—Nathaniel Estangh.

Mayor's Officers—Isaac Kemp and Abm. Stannard.

Goalers—Mr. R. Paraman.

Committees of the Corporation are appointed for regulating the Tonnage dues, Market tolls, River and Streets, Coal Meters, and City Library; for hearing appeals to the River Water assessment; to superintend the expenditure of money, and for other purposes.

The GUILD HALL, a large antique edifice, chiefly of flint, at the north-end of the Market-place, was originally a small thatched building, erected for the purpose of collecting the market tolls; whence it took the name of the Toll-booth. In Edward III's reign, a room built of stud, and covered with straw, was added; and it then assumed the dignified title of the Guild Hall, though it contained only sufficient sitting room for the first magistrate and six other persons. In 1407, when Henry IV. granted them a charter for a mayor instead of the two bailiffs, the corporation determined on building a new Guild Hall, Prisons, &c., and for this purpose they had a warrant "to raise money, and press all carpenters, carters, and other workmen." But the whole building was not completed till 1453, when the windows of the council chamber were glazed, chiefly with stained glass, illustrative of scriptural and municipal subjects, with the arms of some of the contributors ; but all these ornaments have disappeared, except in the three east windows, and even these have been much mutilated. Many paintings are contained in this chamber: on each side of the entrance are two fine full-lengths, on the left that of Sir Benj. Wrench, and on the right that of Thomas Emerson, Esq., both painted by Heins. Besides these, there are several fine old portraits, amongst the rest, archbishop Parker, chief-justice Coke, Alan Piercy, priest 1549, Serjeant Windham recorder, Sir Peter Rede, Knt., and many others, who were either members of the corporation, or benefactors to the city. Here is also the sword of the Spanish admiral Don Xavier Winthuysen, taken at the battle off Cape St. Vincent, in 1797, by rear-admiral Sir Horatio NELSON, and by him presented to the city : it is enclosed in a glass case, with appropriate embellishments, and accompanied with the original letter, in the hand writing of the Norfolk hero. The principal court is on the ground floor towards the west, it is neat, but not very remarkable. The grand jury chamber is on the east side of the porch, and immediately over the fire-engine-house ; its flat roof, commanding a view of the market, is surrounded by an iron railing, and presents, facing the east, a figure of justice, which is occasionally decorated with a new coat of gold. The common council chamber lies to the west, and was much enlarged and improved in 1806. There was a chapel on the south side, dedicated to St. Barbara, the peculiar saint of the prisoners, but falling into decay it was pulled down, and the present porch and Sheriff's office erected on its site. In the other rooms are offices for the town clerk, chamberlain, and sword-bearer. The Assizes and Quarter Sessions for the city are held here, and petty sessions are held daily at 12 at noon. It is also used for determining the municipal and parliamentary elections, and all other matters relative to the city. The Sheriffs are the returning officers. The city regalia consists of a gold chain worn by the mayor, presented by Matthew Goss, in 1757 ; another gold chain used by the deputy-mayor, purchased with £100 left by Thomas Hall, in 1715 ; a sword of state, presented by St. George's Company, in 1705 ; a curious mace, given by Queen Elizabeth, of silver gilt, with a beautiful crystal ; two maces silver gilt, presented by the Duke of Norfolk and Sir Robert Walpole, in 1670 and 1734 ; four beadle's staves with silver heads, &c. &c.

ST. ANDREW'S HALL is another civic theatre in addition to the Guild Hall, being the common hall where the mayor's feast and other general assemblies of the corporation are held, as well as the triennial musical festival. It occupies the nave of the conventual church of the Benedictine monastery of Black Friars and three at the west end. These originally contained very fine painted glass, but this has all disappeared. It had a handsome steeple, which stood in the centre of the nave and the choir, but it fell down in 1712. A petition of the Black convent, the city, through the intervention of the Duke of Norfolk, obtained a grant of it from Henry VIII. to "to make the church a fair and large hall for the duke and his brethren, with all the citizens to repair unto the same for an assembly, &c." At this period, the choir was converted into a chapel for the corporation and the several guilds, to perform morning and evening, and make their respective prayers. The ancient and numerous guild called St. Andrew's Company usually held their meetings at a stone house in the north aisle. They were first associated as a society of brethren and sisters, for the purposes of charity and posthumous relief. In 1416, they received a charter of incorporation. At that time this guild was in great repute, and reckoned among its members some of the first persons of ability, rank, and wealth; and at one period its annual festivals were held in the hall of the Bishop's palace. After the reformation it assumed more the form of a municipal, than of a religious, corporation. In 1731, the remaining members of the company surrendered their charters to the corporation; their plate and privileges were sold, their debts paid, and their meeting-house demolished. In 1544, the first mayor's feast was held in St. Andrew's. Among the distinguished guests entertained here on several periods, were Queen Elizabeth, and Charles II. with his family. Between the years 1650 and 1725, the corporation used this hall for their meetings.

was ever painted of the illustrious hero. Over the great western window is suspended the Ensign of the French ship Generoux taken by Lord Nelson in 1800. At the opposite end is the clock, above which is a figure of justice, and below it the royal arms of England in carved work. On the Guild Day, (Tuesday before Midsummer-day,) the mayor entertains here, from 700 to 800 persons, among whom are usually many of the most distinguished families in the city and neighbourhood. This is, we believe, the only corporation feast, except that of London, which is graced by the attendance of the fair sex—an indulgence highly creditable to the gallantry and good taste of the citizens.

The old CITY GAOL was in the rooms at the east end of the Guild Hall, until 1597, when it was removed to the building, anciently the Lamb Inn, on the opposite side of the road, where it remained till the completion of the NEW GAOL and HOUSE OF CORRECTION, at the end of St. Gile's-lane. This commodious prison was begun in 1824, and finished in 1827, from a plan by Mr. Philip Barnes, a native architect. It cost about £30,000, and is a large quadrangular building, with towers at the angles of the four wings, and encloses an area of 1A. 2R. 34P. The front elevation is massy, and has three pediments supported at the recessed entrance by two rusticated Tuscan columns. In the wings are niches with cross arrows. Here are two debtors' wards, and twelve classes for felons, &c. with day rooms, and 114 separate cells; the whole are securely built and well ventilated, and supplied with water pumped by the tread wheel in the house of correction, into the cisterns on the four towers, and sent thence by pipes to the various apartments. The number of prisoners committed here in 1834, was 1,446, but here are seldom more than from 80 to 100 incarcerated at one time. There are 14 airing yards between the four wings, six of which are sunk three feet below the others, so that the governor (Mr. Robert Paraman) may command a full view of the whole, from the inspection gallery of his house.

CASTLE AND SHIRE HALL.

The CASTLE, as has been seen at page 66, is supposed to have been first built of stone, in the seventh century, on the bold encroachments thrown up in the heart of the city, by Uffa, king of the East Angles. It was often attacked and nearly destroyed by the Danes, but was partly rebuilt by Canute, after he had obtained sole power in England, (vide page 68.) Blomefield conjectures that the castle built by this Danish monarch, was taken away to make room for the one erected by Roger Bigod, in the reigns of William I. and II., and afterwards repaired and beautified by Thomas de Brotherton, in the reign of Edward II.; but other antiquaries contend that the present remains of the old castle are of Saxon origin. Mr. Wilkins says, although the tower part of it might be built in the reign of Canute, "it is, notwithstanding, in the style of architecture practised by the Saxons, long before England became subject to the Danes, and it is the best exterior specimen of this kind of architecture extant. The altitude of the promontory on which the keep of this castle is built, appears to be chiefly the work of nature, excepting what has, probably, been thrown out from the inner vallum, for it may be observed that the ground from the castle, for the best part of a mile southwards, is nearly level with the upper ballium, although it dips to the west, and most rapidly to the east. The area of the whole castle, including the three ditches which circumscribed it, could not contain less than twenty-three acres, and the principal entrance was from Ber, Berg, or Burgh-street, i. e. the street leading to the castle, through the barbican or advanced work, at the entrance of a castle over a bridge across the outward vallum, which was at the south end of what is now called the Golden Ball lane. The outward vallum has been from time immemorial filled up. On the inside verge of this stood the outward wall of the outward ballium, or space between the middle and outer ditches. The space between the middle and inner ditch, was called the inner ballium, and had a wall in the same manner. Round the upper ballium was another wall, which circumscribed the keep of the castle." These kind of walls, says Captain Grose, were commonly flanked with towers, and had a parapet, embattled, crenellated, or garretted; for the mounting of it there were flights of steps at convenient distances, and the parapet often had the merlons pierced with long chinks, ending in round holes called millets. The middle vallum has been more recently levelled, and vestiges of it may still be seen in the south-east direction from the keep, towards Beaumont's Hill, now called Buffcoat-lane, and towards London-lane, and the Back of the Inns, where there are private yards of 18 or 20 feet descent in some parts. Some small traces of the outer vallum may also be seen near Cornisford-street, and St. Andrew's steps. There were bridges over each of these vallums, and that over the inner vallum is still remaining, and considered one of the most perfect Saxon arches now extant. At the termination of this bridge upon the upper ballium are the remains of two circular towers, 14 feet in diameter, supposed to have flanked the portal of the ballium wall. The great KEEP, which formed the last resort of the besieged, stands within the upper or central ballium, and is a massive pile, 110 feet 3 inches long, 22ft. 10in. broad, and 69ft. 6in. in height to the top of the merlons of the battlements. The height of the basement story is 21 feet, and the outside of it is faced with flints without any ornaments, except two arches on the west side. From the basement upwards the Keep consists of three stories, each strengthened by small projecting buttresses, between which the walls are ornamented with semicircular arches resting on small three-quarter columns. The backs of some of these arcades are decorated with a kind of reticulated work, formed by the stones being laid diagonally, so that the joints resemble the meshes of a net. To give it a greater richness of effect, each stone had two deeply chased lines crossing each other parallel with the joints, so as to exhibit a mosaic appearance. On the east side of the Keep is a projecting tower, of a richer kind of architecture, called Bacon's Tower, and as it is in the genuine Norman style, it was probably an addition to the original building made by Roger Bigod, in the time of William Rufus, and afterwards repaired and finished by Hugh Bigod, who succeeded his brother William in the constablership of the castle early in the 12th century. But this tower, which was an open portal to the grand entrance, and commands an extensive view down the river, has been entirely rebuilt since 1824, in its pristine form, and the whole exterior of the castle is now undergoing the same operation, at the expense of the county; the old fortress with various additions having been long used as the county goal.

In the 14th of Edward III., it was enacted that "gaols which were wont to be in the ward of the sheriffs, and annexed to their bailiwicks, should be rejoined to the sheriffs of counties." This was occasioned by the conduct of the earls of counties, who frequently prevented the sheriffs from imprisoning criminals in the royal castles, (of which the said earls were commonly constables,) but this of Norfolk was a county gaol as early as 1293, if not earlier, and from the date of the above named act, it has continued as such, though it was customary for the king to appoint a constable, for the defence of the castle and city in times of danger, as has been seen at preceding pages. In 1774, the appearance of the CASTLE-HILL was not very pleasing, and the ditch formed a common receptacle for rubbish; as an amendment, the sides of the hill were then planted with trees and shrubs, and a bank was raised round its summit; but these being much damaged by the idle and ill-disposed, a successful remedy was provided by dividing the ditch into garden plots, let to private occupiers, in 1784. The outer ditches on the south side were levelled in 1738, since which time the cattle market has been kept there. In 1746, the Shire-house on the castle hill, (built in 1578) was destroyed by fire, but was rebuilt in 1749. A vast pile of buildings were added to the east side of the castle, in 1793, at the expense of £15,000, as a new gaol; but this and the old shire hall have been levelled to make room for the present gaol and hall, which are on a more extensive and convenient plan. The Castle Precinct contains 6A. 1R. 13P., and the summit of the hill is 360 yards in circumference. Under an act of parliament, passed in 1806, the castle and its limits are vested in the justices of the peace for the county of Norfolk, in trust; by which they are empowered "to build, repair, or alter any part belonging to it, as they may think proper."

The NEW COUNTY GAOL, commenced in 1824, on the site of the old one, on the east side of the old castle, was not completed till 1828. The governor's house contains, besides the family apartments, a chapel and committee room. Branching from it are three radiating wings, each containing a double row of cells on the ground floor, with a day room next the governor's house, and double rows of cells on the upper floor. The number of cells in these wings are 240, and there are 36 in the old Keep. The diagonals, crossing the radiating wings at right angles, contain only a single row of cells, each having an arcade for the use of the prisoners when the weather will not permit their walking in the yard. Behind these are three other diagonal wings of larger dimensions, with arcades below, and double rows of cells on the upper floor. The mill house is on the right hand side of the entrance, and has a machine for raising water (worked by the prisoners) for the use of the establishment. The governor's house being octangular, and placed in the centre, commands a view of all the wings, day rooms and yards. The total number of prisoners incarcerated here from 1821 to 1827, was 520 debtors, 1169 for misdemeanors, and 1207 felons. Mr. John Johnson is the governor; the Rev. James Brown, the chaplain, and Mr. P. N. Scott, the surgeon. The Visiting Committee, consisting of nine magistrates, meets on the last Saturday in every month.

The NEW SHIRE HALL, erected in the Tudor style, from a plan by Wm. Wilkins, Esq., was commenced September 9, 1822, and opened September 27th, 1823, though not entirely finished till some months afterwards. It stands in the inner vallum of the castle on the north-east side, and is a handsome and substantial brick edifice, cemented in imitation of stone, and possessing all the usual accommodations. Attached to the crown court is a small room, called the prisoner's lobby, communicating with the cells on the castle hill, from whence prisoners are brought by a descending shaft through a subterraneous passage. In the grand jury room is an excellent portrait of T. W. Coke, Esq., M.P., painted by Sir Thomas Lawrence.

The whole of the new buildings on the castle hill, are enclosed by a high wall, cased with Scotch granite, and terminated with freestone battlements. The upper boundary of the hill is 360 yards, enclosed with iron palisades fixed in a basement of stone; these are continued upon the parapet of the bridge, and terminated at the porter's lodge. The boundary at the bottom of the hill, is about 570 yards in circuit; this is likewise encircled by iron palisades of larger size, elevated by a low wall, and lighted by lamps at the distance of thirty yards from each other. The castle hill is open to the public, and commands an interesting panoramic view of the city; the lower part laid out as a shrubbery, possesses great attraction for a promenade.

The WALLS AND GATES which formerly environed the city, are already noticed at pages 62, 71, and 73. Seven of the twelve city gates were taken down in 1792, and the other four have since given way to modern improvements and the extension of the city; but many long pieces of the wall still remain, to show its ancient form and strength. The ditches have been filled up, and the houses built upon them, are considered to be within the ambit of the city, though on the outside of the walls.

The DUNGEON TOWER, in St. Giles' Hospital meadow, at the eastern extremity of the city, on the west bank of the Wensum, is a circular building about 52 feet in height, and 24 in diameter, with a round spiral staircase reaching to the top. It was an advance post and watch tower to the castle, for the defence of the river pass; though Blomefield thinks it was built "in order to levy the river tolls then belonging to the prior and church;" and says it was used as a prison for the jurisdiction of the cathedral. It is said to have been rebuilt in 1390, at the expense of the city.

The HORSE BARRACKS, on the opposite side of the river, at Pockthorpe, were built by Government in 1791-2 and 3, partly on the site of the old Manor-house. These Barracks are built of red brick, in a very substantial manner, and consist of a central building facing the south, with large wings on the east and west, containing commodious lodging rooms and stables for five or six troops of cavalry. There are no permanent barracks for infantry in Norwich, though two large buildings in Coslany-street were converted to that use during the late war.

ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY.

Norwich was distinguished at an early period for its numerous monasteries. In the reign of Edward the Confessor it is stated to have contained twenty-five parochial churches, and in the time of the Conqueror, forty-three chapels were in the patronage of the burgesses, most of which were afterwards made parochial. During the reign of Edward III, there were fifty-eight parish churches and chapels within the walls. Besides these, there was the cathedral; a monastic college and chapel in the precincts; also four houses of friars with a chapel to each; a conventual church, four hospitals, with their chapels, &c. In addition to which were several cells, anchorages, and other small religious foundations, amounting in the whole to seventy-six places of christian public worship. At the same time there was a Jewish synagogue. There are at present within the city and county of the city, no fewer than 39 parish churches, exclusive of the Cathedral, the French and Dutch churches, and about 30 places of worship belonging to dissenters. Five of these churches are in the suburban hamlets.

CATHEDRAL :—It has already been seen in the History of the Diocese, at a preceding page, that Bishop Herbert de Loring, removed the See from Thetford to Norwich, in the year 1094. This prelate having purchased the bishopric and other ecclesiastical preferment of William Rufus, was enjoined by Pope Paschal II, to build certain churches and monasteries, as an atonement for these simoniacal practices. In obedience to this injunction, he laid the first stone of the Cathedral in 1096, and in five years had proceeded so far in his work, as to be able to place 60 monks in the Priory, on the south side, endowing it with sufficient lands to maintain the same. How much of the fabric was completed by Herbert is not clearly defined; though, according to Blomefield, the original church, as left by him, was, "the whole choir, tower, and two transepts, with the north and south aisles of the choir, beyond the transepts, and the extent of it then was to the division between the nave and anti-choir, and no further." Eborard, his successor, built the whole nave and its two aisles, from the anti-choir or rood-loft to the west end. Thus it stood, though not fitted up, till 1171, when it was damaged by fire, but was repaired by Bishop Oxford in 1197. About 1247, Bishop Suffield built St. Mary's Chapel (since destroyed) at the east end, which is supposed to have completed the edifice as it stood in 1272, when a great part of it was burnt, and many of the ecclesiastics killed by the citizens, who assembled for the purpose of punishing the monks for the disorderly conduct by which they had long disgraced their profession. For this retribution, however, the city was placed under a papal interdict; all concerned in the riots were excommunicated, many of the lower order put to death, and the principal citizens were condemned to pay a fine of 3,000 marks, with which sum, and the liberal donations of the great, the cathedral was repaired in 1278. A new tower is likewise said to have been built by Bishop Walpole, at his own expense, but a late author (Britton) conceives that it was the spire, and not the tower, which that prelate erected. The old chapter house, and that part of the cloister which extends from the chapter-house to the grand door into the church, were also erected by Bishop Walpole, and three more arches, on the same side, were erected by Richard Uppehall, the clerk of the works. The remaining five arches, and the south side of the cloister, to the arch where the espousals was carved, were erected by Bishop Salmon, with the assistance of the monks; who, on this occasion suppressed the office of Pittancer, and expended on the work the pittances of the convent. The north side, towards the church, was built by Henry de Well, who gave 210 marks himself, and obtained several donations to carry on the work. He was also allowed a portion of the pittance-money. The west side, from the carving of the espousals, the highly ornamented entrance towards the refectory, the lavatories, and the door-way into the pilgrims' hall, were built by Jeffery Simonds, the then rector of St. Mary-in-the-Marsh. The part extending from the pilgrims' hall door-way to the entrance into the church inclusive, was the work of op Wakeryng, who, in his life time, erected the new chapter, which was afterwards destroyed in the civil wars. The was successively executed by the several families of Morley, on, Scales, Erpingham, Gourney, Mowbray, Thorpe, ge, &c., whose arms, and cognizances, were to be seenazoned in the windows before the fine stained glass was lished. Towards this work, Walter de Burney, citizen of rich, had previously made a donation of £400. Thus, A.D. , in the 133rd year from its commencement, was finished spacious, elegant, and justly celebrated CLOISTER, in the ey of Bishop Alnwyck, by whose executors the west end e cathedral was rebuilt.

1361, a violent hurricane blew down the upper part of the ole, and did much injury to the choir. For the reparation is damage, Bishop Percy gave £400 out of his own purse, obtained an aid of ninepence in the pound from all his ry. At that time the present spire was built. In the year 1, the church was much damaged by lightning, which led to its ntification, during the repairs and alterations it underwent in time of of Bishop Lyhart, by whose generosity, and that of powerful coadjutors, many ornamental additions were made. his time the cathedral was paved, the stone rood loft erected, an elegant tomb raised over the ashes of the founder; but latter was demolished in the civil wars. During Lyhart's lacy, the noble stone roof of the nave was constructed and rned with sculptures representative of various stories from Old Testament. His successor, Bishop Goldwell, beautified tower, erected a stone roof over the choir, with sculptured ies from the New Testament; fitted up the choir with colla- l chapels, and covered the whole vaulting with lead. In 9, the aisles of the transepts, being injured by fire, were aired by Bishop Nix, and covered with a roofing of stone, ilar to the other parts of the church, by which the whole roof s completed in an uniform manner. At the Dissolution of the nasteries, much curious work was destroyed in the cathedral, l several crucifixes, images, niches, tabernacles, and even ntings, were removed. In 1601, part of the spire was again ick by lightning, but was speedily repaired. Thus it re- ined till the civil wars in 1643, "when that contempt for v- venerable remains of the arts, which pervaded the majority the people, under a pretence of extraordinary zeal and purity ld only be exceeded by the folly with which it discarded the dom of antiquity." These puritanical reformers entered all e churches, "defacing the ornaments, breaking the windows. ng the bells, and robbing the stones and monuments of their ases." Sheriff Tofts is said to have stolen from the cathedral ne no fewer than 100 brasses. They demolished the organ d carried away the vestments, which, with the singing and vice books, they burnt in the Market-place. The cathedral was partially fitted up again at the Restoration, when a new organ was erected, and the corporation gave £100 towards the communion plate. In 1740, the nave and aisles were new-paved, the decayed stone work repaired, and the whole of the interior cleansed and fitted up in a handsome manner. In 1769, some repairs were done to the stalls, and the pavement of the choir was re-newed. The whole fabric was repaired and beautified on an extensive scale by the Dean and Chapter, in 1806-7, and in 1818, and subsequent years, the decayed ornaments of the west front were restored, and many other improvements effected, at a considerable expense. The edifice was dedicated by its founder to the Holy Trinity; but in the reign of Henry VIII. it was called Christ's Church, by which name it is still designated, though it is now the head of the parish of "Trinity or St. Mary-in-the-Marsh;" the parishioners of which have the use of St. Luke's chapel, at the east end of the cathedral.

PLAN and DIMENSIONS of the CATHEDRAL:—The architecture of this noble pile of building is chiefly in the Anglo Norman style, wherein the semicircular arch, and massive short columns, are the leading features. These are considerably varied in size, mouldings, and ornaments, in different parts of the edifice. The plan displays a nave, with side aisles; a transept, a choir, with a semicircular east-end, and an aisle surrounding it. On the north-east side of the latter is a place called the confessional, from which is a small aperture communicating with the great altar. Attached to, but projecting from, this aisle, near the east end, is a small chapel, dedicated to Jesus, and on the opposite side, at the south-east angle of the church, is another, called St. Luke's chapel. West of this is a square building, projecting from the aisle now used as the consistory court. Between this and the transept is Heydon's chapel, and the old chapter-house. Abutting to the south transept are the Precincts' gaol or dungeon, and St. Edmund's, or the Prior's chapel. West of these, and attaching to the south side of the nave, are the Cloisters. Such are the component parts of the cathedral, which joins to the bishop's palace on the north side, and to the deanery, &c., on the south. The following are the dimensions.—Extreme length of the church, from east to west, 411 feet; and of the nave, from western door to transept, 140 feet. The extreme width of the latter is 191 feet; of nave, with aisles, 72 feet. The CLOISTERS form a square of 174 feet, within the walls. They branch off from the southern transept, and inclose a square court or area; eleven windows or arched openings are on the western side, twelve on the east, eleven on the north, and eleven on the south. All these windows are divided into three lights by two columns, and decorated with a great variety of tracery. At the south-west angle is a large lavatory. The roof is supported by groins, springing from clustered columns, and ornamented with very bold bosses at their points of intersection. The door way leading from the eastern aisle of the cloisters to the nave is very curious, being a pointed arch with four columns on each side, having corresponding archivolt mouldings, in front of which are seven canopied niches with richly sculptured crockets, and each containing a statue. Into these cloisters are passages from several of the prebendal houses.

The West Front of the Cathedral presents a large central compartment, fronting, and corresponding with the width and height of the nave ; also two lateral divisions corresponding with the side aisles. The elevation of the former displays a large pointed window, divided into three leading compartments in height, and the same number in width. These are again subdivided by small mullions, and the whole produces an highly ornamented effect. Beneath it is the grand entrance, formed by a bold deep pointed arch, having its spandrils and side fascia much enriched with mouldings, niches, pedestals, and other sculptured decorations. The lateral divisions of this front retain their Anglo-Norman character, except that the small stairway turrets at each extremity, are now, like the central turrets, disfigured by modern cupolas, instead of the original pinnacles. Above each of the doors opening into the aisles is a series of four windows, separated by small columns, over which are three blank arches.

The nave and aisles display in their southern (as well as in their northern) elevation, five tiers of windows and arcades, though part of the lowermost is obscured by the cloisters. Above this is a series of blank arches or arcades, of the semicircular style, divided into fourteen compartments, by a flat buttress between each, and every division consists of six arches. In the next tier upwards, each compartment shows three semicircular arches, the central of which is opened and glazed, whilst the two latter are blank. Over this is a flatly pointed arch window with two mullions, in each division. This constitutes the elevation of the aisle which is unusually lofty and narrow. Above this is a series of arches to the upper part of the nave, displaying, in each compartment, a pointed arch window in the middle, with a semicircular moulding over it, and two lateral blank arches. The sides and front of the transept nearly correspond in the number and style of arches, with the division just described. At the intersection of this transept, with the nave and choir, rises a lofty TOWER, surmounted by an elegant SPIRE, the whole height of which is 313 feet, exceeded only by that at Salisbury. The tower exhibits four stories, besides that of the battlements ; and each is covered with arcades, columns, and tracery-mouldings, of very varied and curious workmanship. It is an interesting specimen of the Norman style of architecture, exemplifying it at that period, when the semicircular and intersecting arches, with tall light columns, were prevalent, and just before the pointed arch was generally adopted. The battlements, and pinnacles at the angles, are of a later style, as is the octangular spire, which has bold crockets attached to, and running up the ribs at each angle.

In the exterior of the choir and its aisles, a very dissimilar style of architecture is exhibited; for the former has large lofty windows with pointed arches, ornamented with mullions and tracery; whilst the latter displays several with square leads, divided by three mullions and tracery. These windows are curious and rare examples of form. Bold buttresses project from the upper part of the choir, across and over the aisle. As already observed, the east-end is semicircular, with an aisle and projecting chapels, &c. and presents curious traces of the original structure built by Bishop Herbert de Losinga.

The interior is grand and solemn in the general effect, and the piers, columns, arches, and mouldings are in a bold and substantial style; but the modern fittings up of the choir, the pewing in the aisle, the incumbered state of the transepts, &c., greatly disfigure the building, and destroy all harmony and propriety. The present choir, or part appropriated for cathedral service, is made to extend from the semicircular east end, across the transepts, to the third column in the nave. This space is nearly enclosed with boarded and painted partitions, filling up the arches, and shutting out the sight from all general and comprehensive views of the building. The great east window contains full length figures of the twelve Apostles, &c., and the Transfiguration, originally painted by the lady of the late Dean Lloyd, in 1778 and 80, but the colours were not vitrified. These paintings were cleaned and re-coloured by a Mr. Eady, about the year 1818, but by a similar process. In 1826, the representation of the Transfiguration was taken down, and a beautiful piece of painted and vitrified glass, of the same subject, was put up in its place, by Mr. Yarrington, of Norwich, whose taste and skill has ornamented many churches in this county. Among the numerous altar-tombs, and other memorials of the dead, in various parts of this cathedral, the only one enriched with a statue is the MONUMENT OF BISHOP GOLDWELL, in the chancel. This consists of an altar-tomb of white marble, with several niches, canopies, and pedestals at the sides and ends; a recumbent effigy of the bishop on the top, and a canopy adorned with panneling, ogee arches, freize, parapet, &c. The effigy of the bishop is distinguished by the richness of his vestments, consisting of the cope with a rich border of lace, closed on the breast, with a large square morse or fibula; beneath the cope is the dalmatic, alb, stole, &c.; and hanging from the left arm is the maniple. The crozier and mitre, formerly richly ornamented, have long been mutilated. The head rests on two cushions, and the feet against a crouching lion, on who lies an open book, and a small broken figure of a clerk or priest. At the top are the Bishop's arms.

The BISHOP'S PALACE, an irregular edifice, on the north side of the cathedral, is an extensive pile erected by various prelates, in the various styles of architecture which prevailed when they respectively flourished. Part of it, adjoining the north aisle of the nave, appears to be of the same age as the oldest parts of the cathedral, but is now used as the brewhouse and other out offices. During the usurpation of Cromwell, this palace partook of the general injuries committed by the puritans in all ecclesiastical buildings. The greater part of it was let off in tenements, and the grand hall converted into a puritanical meeting-house. At the Restoration, Bishop Reynolds, with some difficulty and great expense, made the palace habitable; and it has since been frequently repaired and beautified by succeeding bishops, so that it is now a neat and convenient residence. One of the rooms is lined with ancient but richly carved oak wainscot, brought from the abbey of St. Bennet's in the Holme, and placed here by Bishop Esgar. On the upper row of pannels are the names and profiles of several worthies of ancient times. Formerly there was a covered way, vaulted with stone like the cloisters, from the door of the north transept to the entrance of the grand hall, which was 110 feet long and 60 broad, but was destroyed by the puritans after they had used it some time as a preaching-room.

The EPISCOPAL CHAPEL, at the east end of the palace, was built by Bishop Reynolds, in 1662, near the site of the old one which was erected by Bishop Salmon, and had its windows filled with beautiful stained glass, representing bishops and saints; but these, and a great part of the building, were destroyed by Sheriff Tofts, Alderman Lindsey, and their puritan followers. The present chapel is ornamented with Corinthian pillars, and fitted up with wainscot sides, and a flat stuccoed ceiling. Near the altar is a monument and bust of the founder.

The DEANERY stands near the south side of the cathedral, and was anciently the porter's lodge. It is a large pile of different periods, with commodious apartments, in which are several fine paintings by Salvator Rosa, and other masters. Near it are the Prebendal houses, and three massive clustered columns of great antiquity, being the only remains of the PRIORY founded by Herbert de Losinga, the first bishop of Norwich, for sixty monks of the Benedictine order, to officiate in the cathedral. These pillars were opened out to view, when the workhouse was taken down for the purpose of improving the entrance to the deanery, in 1804. The shafts appear to have been painted green, and the capitals to have been gilt. At the general Dissolution, the revenues of this priory were seized by the crown, but the prior and monks being converted into a dean and prebendaries, the former were restored, and William Castleton, the last prior, became the first dean in 1538.

The CHANCEL HOUSE, now the Free School, near the west end of the cathedral, was built by Bishop Salmon about the year

1246. He endowed it for four priests, one of whom was to be curator, to sing mass for his own soul, those of his parents, and of all his predecessors and successors in the See for ever. It consisted of a chapel, with offices for the priests, and a vault under them. In the latter, the sacrist was allowed to deposit all bones proper for removal, "to be reserved till the day of resurrection." The arched vault, supported by two rows of columns, 14 feet high, is now converted into cellars, and the priests' apartments into a dwelling-house for the schoolmaster. The portico was built by Bishop Lyhart.

There are two principal GATES communicating with the cathedral close and precincts, and one forming the entrance to the palace garden. ERPINGHAM GATE, which leads to the west front of the cathedral, is a curious piece of architecture, built by Sir Thomas Erpingham, as a penance for his being an abettor of Lollardism, or savourer of Wickhffe, (see page 73.) Its elevation displays a lofty pointed arch, and is enriched with columns, mouldings, and 38 small statues of men and women in canopied niches. The spandrils are highly decorated with tracery, mouldings inclosing shields, &c., and the whole is enclosed in a sort of square frame, with semi-octangular buttresses. Each of these is divided into four compartments, covered with statues, niches, shields, pedestals, &c., and on numerous scrolls is the word Pœna. In a canopied niche in the pediment, which is plain and composed of flint, is a kneeling statue, supposed to represent the founder. ST. ETHELBERT'S GATE, which leads to the south end of the Upper Close, was built by the citizens, as a recompence for the old gate and the church of St. Ethelbert which adjoined it, both of which were burnt down in the conflict between the citizens and monks in 1272. The chapel over it was for some time used by the now dissolved parish of St. Ethelbert. This gate has a modern pediment over the west front, composed of stone tracery inlaid with flints. Beneath is a series of blank niches, with a statue in the centre, and four small windows or loop holes now closed up. In the spandrils of the great arch are figures in basso-relievo, of a man with a sword and a round shield, attacking a dragon. The east front consists of stone tracery, and flint, with a pointed arch window in the centre. Attached to the gate is a porter's lodge, this being the only place of egress or ingress to the precincts during the night. ST. MARTIN'S PALACE GATE, leading to the palace garden from St. Martin's plain, was founded by Bishop Alnwyck, who did not live to complete it, but made a provision for that purpose in his will. It has a large pointed arch of several mouldings, with shields and tracery on each side of it. The principal door has much carving, as also has a smaller one, on which, amongst other ornaments, a heart and mitre frequently appear;—the supposed rebuss of Bishop Lyhart.

The PRECINCTS OF THE CATHEDRAL include the Upper and Lower Close, Life's Green, and 16A. 2R. 38P. of garden ground, extending eastward to the river Wensum, between Sandlin's Ferry and Bishop Bridge. This district is enclosed on every side, except next the river, by walls and houses, and forms the peculiar jurisdiction of the Dean and Chapter, and the parish of Trinity, or St. Mary-in-the-Marsh (vide p. 64.) The whole is the property of the Dean and Chapter, and the gardens, building sites, &c., are let to various persons on 40 years' leases, renewable every 14 years, by paying fines equal to $1\frac{1}{4}$ years' rent. In 1788, the Lower Close was enclosed by Dean Lloyd, and a handsome garden made. A great quantity of the mould, mixed with human bones, being brought out of the cloister grave yard, to level this plat, it obtained the name of Skeleton-square, and some severe lampoons were published on the occasion. In 1825, the Upper Close was enclosed with iron palisades, and laid out in a similar manner. On Life's Green, is the parish Workhouse for about 14 paupers, and the Magdalen, or female penitentiary, established in 1827. Before the erection of this cathedral, this peculiar jurisdiction was called Cow Holm, being the marsh where the cows fed; and that part of the city now called Conisford, was originally designated Cowsford, from the ford by which the cows passed the river. Cow Holm was anciently in the parish of Thorpe, and had a chapel till 1094, when Bishop Herbert de Losinga removed the See to Norwich, and purchased this district for the site of his cathedral, palace, prebendal houses, &c. The old chapel was pulled down to make room for the cathedral, but the bishop built in its place a parochial church, called ST. MARY'S IN THE MARSH. This church stood near Life's Green, but it was desecrated by Bishop Parkhurst, in 1563, and converted to the use of the cathedral, where the parishioners were allowed the use of the chapel of St. John the Baptist. In 1562, it was purchased by Dr. Gascoigne, then chancellor, who pulled the greater part of it down, and the rest was subsequently converted into a dwelling, but was finally demolished about the year 1760, when a handsome row of houses were built partly on its site. The inhabitants have now for their parish church the Chapel of St. Luke the Evangelist, at the east end of the cathedral. The living is a RECTORY, valued in K. B. at £5 0s. 10d. The Dean and Chapter are the patrons, and the Rev. J. C. Matchett, is the incumbent.

Privileges of the Close and Precincts :—On April 10, 1538, immediately after the conversion of the prior and monks into a dean and chapter, the disputes which had so frequently arisen between them and the citizens, (vide p. 71,) were settled by the following composition and final agreement made between the church and the city :—“ That if any affray or quarrel, or misdemeanor against the king's peace happens in the precinct or Close, in the presence of the mayor or any other justice of the peace of the city, or if any beggar comes into their presence in the precinct, or if any opprobrious or contemptuous words be spoken to the mayor or justices of the peace, they may take up every such offender, and carry him to the common city gaol, so that it may not be the dean himself, or any of his prebendaries or canons, or any of their officers or servants; also, if any action, real or personal, be commenced or entered in any court of the city, the process shall be awarded to the bailiff of the dean and chapter abiding there, to be served and executed; and every such mandate, process, &c., shall be delivered to the said dean, or to one of the prebendaries there, and if they all be absent, to one of the canons, or to the bailiff of the liberty, twenty four hours at least before the return of the same process, &c., and the officer that delivers it, shall certify upon oath at the Guild Hall the delivery thereof to some of the said persons, before any process of non omittas to enter into the said liberty shall be awarded by the mayor, justices of the peace, sheriffs, or any of them; and neither the dean, prebendaries, or canons, nor their servants inhabiting in the precinct of the said Close, not being free of the city, shall be called before the mayor, &c., in any city court, to be sworn on any juries, inquests, &c., neither shall they have any manner of customs, amercements, fines, or pains, for any cause or offence committed or done within the precinct, levied upon them otherwise than such as before the date hereof have been used accustomedly to be paid by the said dean, prebendaries, or their servants, &c." Furthermore, no warrant is to be granted by any persons whatsoever belonging to the city to be executed in the Close or precincts, against any of the members of the cathedral, their servants, &c., inhabiting the said precincts, "before that the said mayor or justice of the peace hath given knowledge unto the said dean, or to one of the prebendaries then resident, by whom or by what person any such request (for a warrant) is unto them so made." The Dean is considered as absolute governor of this peculiar jurisdiction, which supports its own poor, roads, watch, lamps, &c., and does not contribute either to the city or county rates. The dean and prebendaries are its magistrates, and formerly had a gaol near the cathedral, but by a recent arrangement they now send their prisoners to the county gaol.

The MONASTIC INSTITUTIONS, which existed in Norwich, before the Reformation, amounted to no fewer than nineteen, at the head of which was the Benedictine Priory at the cathedral, founded by Bishop Herbert de Losinga, as noticed at page 112. To this was a Benedictine Cell, dedicated to St. Edmund, and established by the same founder, on Mousehold Heath opposite Bishop's Bridge, and much resorted to on account of its miraculous image of Henry VI. At the Dissolution, it was granted to Thomas Duke of Norfolk, whose son, Henry Duke of Surrey, built a sumptuous house upon the site. Near the priory cell was St. Michael's Chapel, which was served by the monks, and afterwards became the rendezvous of Kett and his associate rebels, (vide page 75,) from whence it obtained the name of Kett's Castle. The Benedictine Nunnery, at Carrow, was founded in 1146, by two sisters named Seyna and Lestelina, and received a considerable endowment from King Stephen. It was dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and had a prioress and nine nuns. The boundary wall, part of which remains, enclosed an area of about 10 acres. It was granted to Sir J. Shelton. The Chapel-in-the-Fields, founded about 1250, by John le Brun, was originally an hospital, but in a short time became a noble College, consisting of a dean, (the founder being the first), a chancellor, precentor, treasurer, and seven other prebendaries, with six chantry priests. The premises were extensive, and were granted by Henry VIII. to Miles Spencer, the last dean. The Theatre and Assembly Room stand on the site. The Austin Friary stood near the church of St. Michael, in Conisford, where it was founded in the reign of Edward I. The monks afterwards obtained license to add that church to their establishment, and unite its parish with St. Peter-per-Mountergate. Their possessions, bounded on the north by St. Faith's lane, extended as far as the river, and were granted at the Dissolution to Sir Thomas Heneage. A great source of their wealth was derived from a chapel called Scala Celi, of which kind there were only two others in England, all of them having equal privileges with respect to pardons, &c., as one of the same name at Rome. The Black Friars first settled here in 1226, in the church of St. John the Baptist, which they made their conventual church and united the parish to St. George at Colegate, but the friars afterwards removed to a more magnificent establishment, part of which is now St Andrew's Hall, (see page 105.) The Grey Friars settled here about 1226, on the site now occupied by Cook's Hospital, and their possessions were granted to Thomas Duke of Norfolk. The White Friars had a flourishing convent near the bridge to which they gave name, and part of the cloisters remain in the cellars of a public-house, still called the White Friars. John Bale, author of the English Votaries, and a great instrument of the Reformation, was a monk in this friary, which was granted at the Dissolution to Richard Andrews and Leonard Chamberlain. The Friars de Domina had a house in St. Julian's parish, but they perished in the plague of 1349, and their convent became private property. The Friars of St. Mary had a small priory in the churchyard of St. Martin in Balliva, but on the reduction of the lesser orders, they were united to the White Friars. The Friars de Pica had a house at the north east corner of the churchyard of St. Peter-per-Mountergate, but being obliged to join one of the four principal orders, their house became the property of the hospital of Bek at Billingsford, the master of which made it his city house. The Friars de Sacco had a house in 1250, opposite St. Peter's of Hungate church, but it was granted to the Black Friars in 1307. God's House, in St. Giles'-street, was founded as an almshouse, by John le Grant, in the reign of Edward I., and rebuilt by Bishop Lyhart, whose successors nominated the almsmen till the Reformation, when the hospital became private property. Hildebronde's Hospital, founded about the year 1200, by Hildebronde the mercer, for a master and brethren, was dissolved at the Reformation, though merely a charitable institution. Five Lazar Houses existed here in the time of Edward III., for the reception of persons afflicted with leprosy, then a very prevalent disease. These houses were situated without the gates of the city, and were supported by the contributions of the merchants and travellers. There was one without St. Augustine's gate, called the Hospital of St. Mary and St. Clement, and now used as the Infirmary. The other four were without the gates of St. Bennet, St. Giles, Magdalen, and St. Stephen, and the latter was accounted part of the possessions of the priory of Horsham St. Faith. All these five houses were in being, and had relief out of the treasury for the King's Bench and Marshalsea, in 1602 and 1604. ST. GILES' HOSPITAL, in Bishopgate-street, was founded by Bishop Suffield, for four chaplains to celebrate mass daily for his soul; to support any poor and decrepit chaplains of Norwich diocese, and thirteen poor people in lodging and one meal a day. In 1256, the founder signed the statutes of the hospital, to which a provision was added for seven poor scholars to have their dinner daily. Edward VI. granted this hospital with all its revenues and appurtenances to the corporation of Norwich; to be held for ever of the king in soccage, by fealty only, as a place and house for the relief of the poor, to be called God's House, or the House of the Poor, "of the foundation of King Edward VI. and King Henry the VIII., his most noble father." It was now stipulated for the establishment to maintain a priest, to be chaplain to the parish of St. Helen and to the poor in the hospital, and another priest to be chaplain to the city gaol; also a master and usher in a grammar school; a caterer or steward; a collector of rents; a strong and convenient person to cook, bake, and brew for the hospital, with four women to attend them. It was also stipulated that as the revenues increased, the pensioners were to be increased. This hospital still exists, as will be seen in an account of the hospital and other charities, at a subsequent page, and is now attached to the parish church of St. Helen.

ECCLIASTICAL CLERGY, &c.

The names, residences, revenues, and particulars of the several churches and parishes are described in an early part of this work. A list of the names of its former prelates, and a list of its present Dignitaries

DIGNITARIES OF THE DIOCESE.

BISHOP—The Right Rev. Henry Bathurst, LL.D. (1805)

DEAN—The Very Rev. and Hon. G. Pellew, D.D.

PREBENDARIES.

Norwich—Rev. Edward South Thurlow, A.M., Norwich.

Yarmouth—Rev. Joseph Proctor, D.D., Master of Catherine's Hall, Camb.

Precentor—Rev. Charles Nourse Wodehouse, A.M. (Norwich.)

Treasurer and Commissary—Rev. Thos. Methold, LL.D., Aspal Stenham.

Chancellor—Rev. Pp. Fisher, D.D., Master of the Charter-house.

Lynn—Rev. Adam Sedgwick, A.M.

MINOR CANONS.

Rev. Peter Hansell, A.B.

Rev. C. F. Millard, A.B. (Gospeller.)

Rev. Wm. Pitt Drake, A.M.

Rev. Fras. Howes, A.M.

Rev. G. Carter, A.M., (Precentor.)

Rev. George Day, A.M.

Rev. J. C. Matchett, A.M.

Rev. G. Pearse, A.M. (Epistoler.)

CHANCELLOR OF THE DIOCESE—Rev. Wm. Yonge, A.M., Swaffham.

Principal Registrars—E. S. Bathurst, Esq., and John Kitson, Gent. (Office, Close.)

Receiver of the Bishop's Rents—Wm. Foster, Esq., Norwich.

The CONSISTORY COURT is held in the Cathedral about every three weeks. (For Proctors, see page 206.) Principal Apparitor, Wm. Deering.

Chapter Clerk and Registrar—John Kitson, (Office, Cloister.)

Coroners for the Dean and Chapter's Liberty—J. Kitson, and M. Rackham, Gents.

Bishop's Verger—Wm. Green. | Dean's Verger—Richard Sewell.

Prebendaries' Verger—Robert Woolbright.

Organist—Mr. Zachariah Buck.

Sub-Sacriste—James Lovelock, and Thomas Allwood.

LAY-CLERKS—Richard Browne, Samuel Blyth, Wm. Sayer, John Cox, James Capper, Wm. Fenn, Edward Hare, and William Rd. Smith, with ten singing Boys or Choristers.

ARCHDEACONRIES.

ARCHDEACON OF NORWICH—(and Commissary)—Henry Bathurst, LL.B. North Creek:—Official and Registrar—Rev. William Johnson Yonge; Commissary's Registrar—Sir James Bathurst, K.C.B.; Deputy Registrar—Edward Steward, Esq., King-street, Norwich.

ARCHDEACON OF NORFOLK—John Oldershaw, B.D. Starston; Commissary—George Glover, A.M., Southrepps; Official—Wm. Yonge, A.M., Swaffham;—Registrar—J. E. M. Douglas, Esq., Newchurch, Carmarthenshire;—Deputy-Registrars—H. Francis, and C. J. West, Esqrs., Surry-street, Norwich.

ARCHDEACON OF SUDBURY—George Glover, A.M., Southrepps; Commissary—C. N. Wodehouse, A.M., Norwich; Official—Henry Denny Berners, LL.B., Woolverston Park, Suffolk; Registrars—John Yonge, Esq., and Rev. J. L. Gooch; Deputy Registrars—E. and P. J. Case, Esqrs., Whiting-street, Bury St. Edmund's.

ARCHDEACON OF SUFFOLK (and Commissary)—Henry Denny Berners, LL.B. Woolverston Park; Official—C. N. Wodehouse, A.M., Norwich; Registrars—Rev. J. H. Steward, and Coote Bathurst, Esq.; Deputy Registrar—Edward Steward, Esq., King-street, Norwich. The latter is also Registrar for the Peculiar Jurisdictions of Castle Rising and Great Cressingham, both in Norfolk.

PARISH CHURCHES IN NORWICH.

ALL SAINTS', at the east end of Wastlegate, is a small edifice, with a square tower, three bells, and an ancient font on which are carved figures of the twelve Apostles, with St. Michael and the Dragon, and many saints and confessors. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £3 14s. 7d., is consolidated with the rectory of St. Julian, valued in K. B. at £5. The joint benefices were augmented with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1666, and with £200 given by John Drinkwater, Esq., in 1768, and £50 given by Samuel Thoraton, Esq., in 1800 and 1805. The Rev. Stephen Webster is patron; the Rev. George Horatio Webster, rector; and Mr. C. Brown, clerk. The parish of St. Andrew, or St. Catherine in Newgate, was nearly depopulated in the great plague of 1349, after which it was consolidated with St. Andrew's, and its church desecrated.

ST. ANDREW'S, in the "Broad-street," to which it gives name, is esteemed the best parochial church in the city, excepting that of St. Peter of Mancroft. The tower, which has ten bells and a clock, was rebuilt in 1478, and the nave and chancel in 1506. The interior is neatly pewed, and contains many ancient, as well as modern monuments and inscriptions. At the end of the north aisle, formerly the chapel of St. Mary, enclosed with iron palisades, is a sumptuous monument, on which are recumbent effigies of Sir John Suckling and his lady, erected by their son, Sir John Suckling, the poet. To the altar belongs a handsome and costly set of plate, of which two noble flaggons, weighing nearly 60oz. each, were given by Lawrence Goodwin, Esq., in 1704. In the east window was a beautiful representation in stained glass, of the stories of the Brazen Serpent and the stoning of the man that gathered sticks on the Sabbath; but these devices are now nearly obliterated. The organ was erected in 1808. The church of Tomb," which tradition says was raised over the remains of a leper, who being permitted burial here, bequeathed his lands, &c. to the church, but Blomefield discredits this legend, and conjectures that the leper died in the Lazar-house, without St. Augustine's-gate, (now the Infirmary) which entitled him to burial here, that building being in one of the detached parts of this parish. The RECTORY, valued in K. B. at £7 9s. 2d., was augmented in 1738, with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, and £200 bequeathed by the Rev. Edward Brooke. It has annexed to it the rectory of Long Stratton, in the patronage of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. W. Walford. The Rev. S. Titlow, is curate, and N. Beale, clerk.

ST. EDMUND'S, in Fishergate, is a small fabric with a tower and five bells, founded about the time of William the Conqueror. Among the relics formerly preserved here was a piece of the shirt of St. Edward the King and Martyr, kept in a box of crystal, and visited with great reverence. The RECTORY, valued in K. B. at £4 6s. 3d., was augmented in 1726, with £200 given by the Revs. Wm. Stanley, and R. Cory, and from 1726 to 1819, with £1000 of royal bounty. The Rev. Charles David Brereton, A.M., of Little Massingham, is patron and incumbent. The Rev. Wm. Goodwin is curate, and Edmund Bell, clerk.

ST. ETHELDRED'S, in King-street, is supposed to be the oldest church in the city, and had in its burial ground a very ancient anchorage, which continued till after the Reformation. It is a small pile with a short tower and one bell. The benefice is a curacy, certified at £2 14s., but augmented from 1745 to 1802, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty. The corporation are patrons; the Rev. James Deacon, incumbent, and John Lenham, clerk.

ST. GEORGE'S COLEGATE, is a large handsome Gothic structure, rebuilt at different periods, viz. the tower and nave about 1459, the chancel in 1498, the north aisle with the chapel of St. Mary, in 1504, and the south aisle with the chapel of St. Peter, in 1513. The tower is lofty, and has a clock and three bells. The church is neatly fitted up, and has a good organ. The pews, pulpit, &c., are of wainscot. In the chancel is a fine altar tomb to Robert Jannis, a great benefactor to this church and the city; and near it is a beautiful mural monument to John Herring, Esq., (mayor in 1799,) executed by the younger Bacon. Over the communion table is a modern window of painted glass, by Mr. Swan, representing Faith, Hope, and Charity, under which are St. George and the Dragon. The churches of St. Margaret at Colegate and St. Olave in Cherry-lane, were taken down, and their cures consolidated with St. George's; the former in 1349, and the latter in 1546. The benefice is a curacy, augmented from 1737 to 1792 with £1,000 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons; the Rev. Edward Hibgame, incumbent; and J. Laccohee, clerk.

ST. GEORGE'S TOMBLAND, has a handsome square tower, which contains five bells, and was erected by the parishioners in 1445. The nave, aisles, and chancel are covered with lead, and have several spacious galleries, and many monumental inscriptions of ancient and modern times, one of which has the representation of a man and his wife at the faldstool. The living is a curacy in the gift of the Bishop of Ely, and augmented from 1741 to 1817 with £1,000 of royal bounty, and in 1789 with £200 given by Dr. Lewis Bagot, Bishop of Norwich, and in 1817 with £200 given by the Rev. Charles Sutton, D.D.,—the present incumbent. J. P. Sargess is the clerk.

ST. GILES' was founded in the reign of William the Conqueror, by Elwyn the priest, who gave it to the monks of Norwich, and consequently it is now a donative in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter. In ancient records it is frequently called St. Giles-on-the-Hill. The eminence on which it stands commands an extensive view of the lower parts of the city. It was wholly rebuilt in the reign of Richard II., and is now one of the handsomest churches in Norwich, though the chancel has been demolished since the year 1581, when the Dean and Chapter, to acquit themselves of the expense of repairing it, gave all the materials to the parish, for "a stock to be put out for the encouragement of poor traders." The tower (120 feet high) contains a clock and eight bells, and is surmounted by a cupola and battlement. The nave and aisles are 81 feet long, divided by slender pillars, and lighted by large and elegant windows. The costly altar plate is double gilt, and was given by Robert Snell, in 1738. There are many old brasses, and among the modern monuments, the most elegant is that to Sir Thomas Churchman, knight. The curacy was augmented from 1744 to 1791, with £1,000 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. C. F. Millard, B.A. is the incumbent.

ST. GREGORY'S, in Pottergate-street, is a lofty Gothic fabric, of great antiquity, but the chancel was rebuilt in 1395, and the whole pile has received many subsequent repairs. The nave and aisles, with the two chapels at the east end were covered anew with lead in 1537. In 1597, a wooden spire, covered with lead, was erected on the tower, and was the only spire in Norwich, except that of the cathedral; but being considered unsafe, part of it was taken down after the vane had been blown off in 1806. That part of the spire now remaining is terminated by a small cupola. In the tower are a clock and six bells; the latter given by the parishioners in 1818. The font is very large, having an octagonal top, and on its eight sides the four Evangelists and figures emblematic of the four quarters of the globe. In the nave is a fine brass reading desk, in the shape of an eagle with expanded wings. Among the monuments is one to Sir Francis Bacon, a judge of the court of King's Bench, in Charles 2nd's time. Here are also some ancient brass inscriptions, but no effigies. The living is a curacy, certified at £3, but augmented from 1747 to 1812, with £1,400 of royal bounty, partly laid out in land at Raydon and Fritton. The Dean and Chapter are patrons; the Rev. W. Fitt Drake, incumbent; and P. Parry, clerk.

ST. HELEN'S, in Bishopgate-street, belonged to the monks who demolished it, and consolidated the cure with the church of St. Giles' Hospital, on the opposite side of the street, soon after the foundation of the latter by Bishop Suffield, in 1256. The whole of this hospital church, which serves also as the parish church of St. Helen, and partly converted into lodgings for the alms people, is still standing, but it is incumbered with many courts and excrement buildings. It has a square tower at the south-west corner, with one bell; the choir is turned into lodgings for the almswomen; and that part of the nave and aisles extending from the steeple to the south porch is divided into apartments for the men; the intermediate space, with a south chantry, being all that is left open for divine service. The altar is in the chantry, and opposite to it stands a modern seat of handsome Gothic carved work. The church is neatly fitted up in a similar style with open seats. The curacy, certified at £36, received by lot £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1816. The corporation are patrons; the Rev. W. F. Patteson, incumbent; and Thomas Bailey, clerk. (See St. Giles' Hospital at a subsequent page.)

ST. JAMES', in Cowgate, includes within its parish the hamlet of Pockthorpe, and part of Mousehold Heath, and was a well endowed rectory till 1201, when it was appropriated to the cathedral priory, and is now a peculiar of the Dean and Chapter. It is a small fabric with a tower rebuilt in 1743, and containing three bells. The curacy, certified at 20s., was augmented from 1740 to 1765, with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, and is consolidated with the curacy of St. Paul's. The Dean and Chapter are patrons; Rev. Bell Cook, curate; and Simon Payne, clerk.

ST. JOHN'S, Maddermarket, is an ancient but handsome church, founded before the survey made in Edward the Confessor's reign, and dedicated to the Holy Trinity and St. John the Baptist. It is a large structure of flint stone, consisting of a nave, two aisles, two porches, six bells, and a fine tower, under which is an arched road, and on the top are four figures at the angles. Here are many ancient sepulchral inscriptions, with a few brasses, and several neat mural monuments of later date. Lady Margaret, Duchess of Norfolk, (second wife of the Duke who was beheaded in Elizabeth's reign,) died at the Duke's Palace in this parish, in 1563, and was interred with great pomp on the north side of the choir, where a mural monument was raised to her memory, by John Lord Howard of Waldon, in 1791. The benefice is a discharged rectory, valued in K. B. at £7 10s. 2d. and augmented from 1714 to 1814, with £1,800 of royal bounty. It is in the patronage of New College, Oxford, to which it was granted by Henry VI. The Rev. John Perowne is the rector, and James Lemmon, clerk.

ST. JOHN SEPULCHRE, is a large church at the south end of Ber-street, dedicated to St. John the Baptist and the Holy Sepulchre, and founded in the Confessor's reign. It consists of a nave, chancel, transepts, and a lofty tower with five bells and a clock; but has nothing remarkable in the interior. The living is a curacy, certified at £9 1s., but augmented from 1737 to 1812, with £1,600 of royal bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, and the Rev. Peter Hansell has been incumbent since 1788. The church of St. Bartholomew, in Ber-street, was desecrated in 1549, when its bells and ornaments were carried to St. John Sepulchre. A great part of this church is standing, but converted to various uses, and its burial ground is built upon.

ST. JOHN'S, TIMBER-HILL, at the north end of Ber-street, was founded soon after the foundation of Norwich Priory, to which it was appropriated, and dedicated to St. John the Baptist. It has a nave, chancel, and two aisles, with chapels at the east end, and was much injured in 1784 by the fall of the tower, which was never rebuilt; but here is now a small wooden steeple with one bell. The curacy was augmented from 1738 to 1813 with £1,000 of royal bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons; the Rev. Samuel Titlow, incumbent; and Joshua Buttifant, clerk.

ST. JULIAN'S, in King-street, is a very small and ancient church, with a round tower, founded before the Conquest. On the south side may be seen an ancient entrance (now disused) in the true Saxon style. In the church yard was an anchorage, demolished at the dissolution. The rectory, certified at £19 3s. 1d. has long been consolidated with All Saints, as has been seen at p. 123, and the cure of the desecrated church of St. Edmund, in Conisford street, was united with it in 1269. The Rev. S. Webster is patron; Rev. G. H. Webster, rector, and J. Kettle, clerk.

ST. LAWRENCE'S, in Upper Westwick-street, was founded in the Confessor's reign, on the site of an ancient quay for landing fish, but the original church was taken down in 1460, and the present one completed about 12 years after. It is a noble Gothic structure, with a fine tower 112 feet high, containing a clock and six bells. The roof of the nave and chancel is supported by clustered columns with pointed arches. In the spandrels of an arched door on the western side, are two ancient carvings, one representing the cruel martyrdom of St. Lawrence, (broiling on a gridiron) and the other a number of Danish soldiers shooting arrows into the body of King Edmund, whose head is seen lying in a thicket, as described in the legend. The windows are large and handsome, and were formerly decorated with painted glass, all of which was demolished by the puritans in 1643. The interior is fitted up in a modern and handsome manner, and contains several old brasses. The rectory was in two mediocrities divided between the abbey and the rector, and the yearly payment of a last of herrings was reserved to the former, but the were joined about the reign of William II. It is K. B. at £4. 13s. 9d., and was augmented with £400 Anne's bounty, in 1764 and 92, and with a parliament of £1,000 in 1813. The King is patron; Rev. W. F. , rector; Rev. R. C. Hankinson, curate; and W. Griggs, LAWRENCE'S WELL, was a public spring in the time of , and in 1576 was granted to Robert Gibson, on condition should bring the water in a leaden pipe, into the pub- and there erect a pump at his own expense. According to the inscription upon it, St. Lawrence's pump is distant 63 feet from the well.

MARGARET'S, between Upper and Lower Westwick-street, has a square tower, with a spacious nave, chancel, and side aisles, and is covered with blue slate in 1830, when 4 of the 5 bells were sold, to assist in defraying the expense. The rectory, K. B. at £5 4s. 9d., was augmented from 1739 to 1813 with £1,000 of royal bounty. It is of so little value, that it has been neglected by its patrons, and it has since been left for the king or the bishop to present. The Rev. Rt. Elwin is the present rector, and Peter Jones is clerk.

MARTIN'S-AT-OAK, in Coslany-street, has a square tower with five bells, a nave, a chancel, and a south aisle, the latter an addition made by Alderman Wilkin, who died in 1491. It took the latter part of its name from a large oak formerly in the churchyard, with the image of St. Mary in it; and was much visited in the reign of superstition, and many offerings were given towards repairing, dressing, and painting it. A new oak was planted on the same spot, in 1656; but that now in the churchyard was planted about 36 years ago. There are a few monuments and brasses in the church; and on the former are effigies of Jeremiah Ravans and his wife, Catherine. She died in 1711, and he in 1727. In the vestry are old books, given by a late incumbent—the Rev. E. Meags. The parish is a curacy certified at 20s., but augmented with a grant by Wm. Nockells in 1722, and £1,400 of royal bounty obtained from 1723 to 1824. The Dean and Chapter are patrons; Rev. George Pearse, curate; and S. Codman, clerk.

MARTIN'S-AT-PALACE, stands opposite the entrance to the Palace. It has a nave, two aisles, a chancel, and a north aisle with five bells, and was founded before the Conquest, but the north part of the tower is modern. In 1300, a boy's singing school was kept here, and in 1500, John Blomefield gave a robe of blue lined with blue silk for the use of the Boy Bishop. The parish is a curacy augmented from 1743 to 1813, with £1,800 of royal bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, and the Rev. F. Millard, is incumbent.

MARY'S, IN COLEGATE, has a large burial ground, and an octagonal round tower with six bells, but the nave, transepts and chancel were rebuilt in 1477. Here are six antique stalls and several neat monuments. The curacy was augmented from 1733 to 1824, with £2,200 of royal bounty. The Marquis Townshend, is patron, Rev. Rd. Phayre, incumbent, Rev. C. N. Wodehouse, officiating curate, and Wm. Hayden, clerk.

ST. MARY'S-IN-THE-MARSH, stood in the cathedral precinct, but was desecrated in 1563. The parishioners now use St. Luke's chapel in the cathedral, and the rectory was augmented with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, from 1737 to 1767 (vide p. 119).

ST. MICHAEL'S COBLANY, commonly called St. Miles, is a spacious and handsome fabric, with a lofty square tower and eight musical bells. The nave was rebuilt by John and Stephen Stallon, who were sheriffs in 1511 and 12. The south aisle was begun by Gregory Clerk, and was finished by his son, who was mayor in 1514. At the east end of the latter is a chapel founded by Robert Thorp, in the reign of Henry VII., and dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and encrusted externally with black flints and free stone, forming a peculiar sort of tracery, the appearance of which has been compared to that of certain old cabinets inlaid with ivory. Two of the windows contain some ancient painted glass, but the heads of the figures were taken off to gratify the puritans in the reign of Cromwell. The interior of the church is handsomely decorated. The altar-piece by Heins, represents the Ascension and the four Evangelists, and the floor in front is paved with black and white marble, brought from the domestic chapel at Oxnead, and presented by Mr. Wm. Tuck. Here are a few ancient brasses, and several modern mural monuments. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £13 6s. 8d., was augmented in 1738, with £200 bequeathed by the Rev. E. Brooke; in 1818, with £200 given by the present rector; and from 1738 to 1818, with £1,000 of royal bounty. Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, has the patronage of the living, which is usually given to the oldest bachelor of that college. The Rev. James Willis, rector; Rev. T. Watson, curate; and J. S. Boyce, clerk.

ST. MICHAEL'S-AT-PLEA, on the north side of Queen-street, is so named from the Archdeacon of Norwich holding in it his pleas or courts. It is a cruciform building, with a tower and two bells. Its transepts formerly were chapels dedicated to St. John the Baptist and the Virgin Mary. It contains several old paintings of the crucifixion, resurrection, &c., on the pannels. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6 10s., was augmented with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, from 1774 to 1791, and with a parliamentary grant of £1,000 in 1816. The lords of the manors of Sprowston and Horsford are patrons alternately, and the latter has the next turn. The Rev. D. B. Lennard is rector, and Wm. Stevenson, clerk.

ST. MICHAEL'S-AT-THOORN, in Ber-street, has still a large thorn growing in its cemetery. It is a small fabric, with a tower (built in 1436) and three bells, but contains nothing of peculiar interest. The curacy was augmented from 1744 to 1812, with £2,000 of Queen Anne's bounty and parliamentary grants. The Dowager Lady Suffield, of Blickling, is the patroness; the Rev. John Taylor, incumbent; and Robert Houghton, clerk.

ST. PAUL'S, in the square called St. Pauls' plain, is an ancient building with a round tower, the upper part of which was octangular, but was rebuilt about 1819, of white brick, with a stone coping. It has a handsome screen and sounding board. The curacy was certified at only £2, but was augmented from 1745 to 1779, with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons; Rev. Bell Cook, incumbent; and Simon Payne, clerk.

ST. PETER HUNGATE, is a venerable edifice, on Elm Hill, at the west end of Princes-street, formerly called Hungate or Hounds-gate, from the bounds anciently kept there for the use of the bishop. The original church was demolished in 1458, when the present one was commenced, and finished in 1460, by John Paston and Margaret his wife. It is of black flint, in the form of a cross; having a nave, chancel, transepts, and a square tower with two bells. The interior is neat, and the altar contains some curious old plate. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £3 1s. 5½d., was augmented from 1743 to 1810, with £600 of royal bounty. The King is patron; Rev. C. Stannard, rector; Rev. T. C. Colls, curate, and Geo. Draper, clerk. The Well by the Elm on Elm-hill, was made a common pump in 1639, and is repaired at the expense of the parish.

ST. PETER MANCROFT, (Magna Croft) near the Market-place, is a large handsome cruciform structure of free stone, begun in 1430, and finished in 1455, on the site of the old one, which was founded by Earl Ralph Walet. It is considered the finest parish church in the city, measuring 212 feet in length, and 70 feet in breadth, and having a noble tower 98 feet high, containing an excellent peal of twelve bells, with a clock and chimes. The bells were exchanged for the old peal of ten, in 1775, at the cost of more than £800 raised by public subscription. The tenor weighs 41 cwt., and the ringers are in great celebrity. The nave and aisles are 90 feet long, and the chancel 60. The clustered pillars supporting the roof, with the arches surmounting them, are lofty and slender, and the windows are large and numerous, so that the whole has a light and roomy appearance. The organ erected in 1707, is large and finely toned. The crimson furniture of the altar is elegant, and the plate exceedingly grand, especially a superb standing cup and cover given by Sir Peter Gleane, knight, in 1633, and embellished with a scriptural account of Abigail bringing presents to David, &c. The altar-piece, representing the delivery of Peter from prison, was painted by Catton, a native artist, and presented to the church by Alderman Starling, in 1768. The east window is filled with beautiful stained glass, and in the vestry are several ancient books, among which is a beautiful manuscript bible, written

serv to i her.
W.
S but cha £6
S cio ma
St
her ma by Vi
fre wh wi gl.
po.
is r

1871.

... of the Egyptian
... dated. How
... Barlana, St
... the same sub.
... Sir Thomas
... in alabas
... direct holding
... and modern
... inscriptions,
... be found.
... conversion of
... sily taber-
... pulhes.
... mented in
... £1,000 of
... scribed by
... was for-
... but it
... to
... and are
... the
... J. De con,

Bennet's-at-Holme ; and the Bishop of Norwich as titular of that dissolved convent, still enjoys it, and has the parsonage of the curacy, which was augmented from 1737 to 1792, £1,000 of Queen Anne's bounty, and is now in the incumbrance of the Rev. James Deacon. Mr. Robert Smith is clerk.

S. SAVIOUR'S, near Stump-Cross and Magdalen-street, is a Gothic structure dedicated to the Transfiguration of our Lord, and has a square embattled tower with a clock and one bell.

The interior is neat and has some modern monuments. It was appropriated in Bishop Oxford's time to the almoner of the cathedral convent. The curacy was certified at £3, but augmented from 1729 to 1813 with £1,800 of royal bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons ; the Rev. John Tate Matchett, Rector, and John Huby, clerk.

S. SIMON AND JUDE'S, at Elm-hill, adjoining Wensum-street, has a nave, chancel, and tower, with five bells, and contains a number of old brasses and several monuments and effigies of the Pettus family; upon one of them lies in complete armour, the figure of Sir Robert Pettus, the first of the family who was knighted. This church is of great antiquity, and was held by the Bishops before the removal of the See to Norwich. The rectory valued in K. B. at £3 10s. was augmented from 1718 to 1799 with £2,000 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Bishop is the patron ; the Rev. C. Holloway, Rector ; Rev. J. Owen, curate ; and J. D. Woods, clerk.

S. STEPHEN'S, at the west end of Rampant-Horse-street, is a large and handsome Gothic edifice with a nave, two aisles, a chancel, two small chapels, and a square tower at the west end.

The nave is divided from the aisles by fluted columns with pointed arches. The windows are large and numerous, and that at the east end is filled with stained glass representing the whole history of the Virgin's life, dated 1610. A new organ and bells were erected in 1814. This church was founded before the Conquest, but has been all rebuilt at different periods—the chancel about 1520, and the nave in 1550. The pewing of the interior is neat, and the altar part remarkably handsome. Here are several old brasses, and many neat mural monuments of the last and present centuries. In the vestry is a manuscript description of the church, written by Benj. Mackerell, author of a history of Lynn ; also an alabaster carving similar in execution to that of the neighbouring church of St Peter, except that these are female saints. The benefice is a discharged vicarage valued in K. B. at £9, but augmented from 1715 to 1812 with £1,000 of royal bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons ; the Rev. Fitt Drake, vicar ; and John English, clerk.

S. SWITHEN'S, between Upper and Lower Westwick-streets, is a small neat church, with a square tower and three bells. The interior of the nave is supported on one side by square pillars and pointed arches, and on the other by round fluted columns and pointed arches. During the cleansing and painting church in 1834, an ancient portrait of Edward the Confessor was found nailed under one of the seats, where it is supposed to have been placed for security during the Civil wars, or perhaps at the Reformation. The altar-piece is a painting of Moses and Aaron, and the plate is valuable. On the font are carved emblems of the Trinity, Euclirist, and the Passion, with the arms of East Anglia. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6 3s. 4d., was augmented in 1755, with £200 given by Earl Harecourt, and from 1744 to 1816 with £1,600 of royal bounty. The Bishop is patron, the Rev. R. B. P. Kidd, A.B., is incumbent, and Benjamin Minns, clerk.

The five Parish Churches in the Hamlets of the city are as follows:—EARLHAM CHURCH, dedicated to St. Mary, is a small building on the east bank of the Yare, about two miles W. of the Market-place. It has a low square embattled tower containing three bells, and partly mantled with ivy. It was re-pewed in 1834, and is a vicarage valued in K. B. at £5 7s. 8½d., in the gift of the heirs of the late Bacon Frank, Esq., and now enjoyed by the Rev. W. H. Holworthy, for whom the Rev. Robert E. Hankinson, officiates. EATON CHURCH, dedicated to St. Andrew the Apostle, stands also on the Yare, about two miles S. W. of the Market-place, and is a long ancient fabric covered with thatch, and having an embattled tower with two bells. It is a vicarage, not in charge, but augmented in 1732 with £200 given by the Earl of Thunet, and £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Dean and Chapter are patrons, and the Rev. George Day, incumbent. HELIGHAM CHURCH, dedicated to St. Bartholomew, stands on an eminence above the Wensum, about a mile W. by N. of the Market-place, and is a small neat structure, with a nave, south aisle, north porch, chancel, and a square tower in which are three bells. It has a mural monument to the memory of the pious Bishop Hall. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £6 13s. 4d. The Bishop is patron, and the Rev. W. Robbins is incumbent. HELLESDEN CHURCH, about two miles W. N. W. of the Market-place, stands within the county of the city, though part of the burial ground and the parish is in Taverham Hundred. It is a small building dedicated to St. Mary, and has an octangular turret surmounted by a small wooden spire, and containing one bell. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £12, is consolidated with Drayton, (see p. 347,) in the gift of the Bishop, and incumbency of the Rev. R. N. Raikes. LAKENHAM CHURCH, about 1½ mile S. of the Market-place, stands on an abrupt acclivity above the river Yare, and is a small structure dedicated to St. John the Baptist and All Saints. It has a tower with three bells. The benefice is a vicarage in the gift of the Dean and Chapter, and now enjoyed by the Rev. George Carter.

The JEUCH CHURCH, as has been seen at page 106, occupies the clere of St. Andrew's Hall, and was originally the conventual church of the Black Friars. For some time it was used as a chapel for the corporation, who leased it to the Dutch for 200 years in 1713; but in 1895, the lease was re-granted to the corporation for the use of the poor in the workhouse, reserving to the Dutch congregation the right of burying their dead in the church, and of preaching there one sermon yearly in their own language, and by their own minister who comes from London for that purpose. It is endowed with £65 a year, of which £30 is paid to the Dutch minister, and the rest is divided among the poor Dutch families resident in Norwich, of whom there are at present only 4 or 5.

THE FRENCH CHURCH, in Queen-street, formerly belonged to the parish of St. Mary the Less, which being united to that of St. George, soon after the Reformation, this church was granted by the Dean and Chapter, for 500 years to the city, at 4d. yearly rent. It was afterwards used as a hall for the sale of yarn; country fairs being prohibited from selling any where else within the city. In 1637, it was granted by the corporation on lease to the French or Walloon congregation, by whom it was fitted up as it now appears. Dutch and Flemish artisans were very numerous in Norwich as early as the reign of Edward III., (see page 73) and they were greatly increased in the reign of Elizabeth, by the arrival of the Walloons and other Protestant refugees who had fled from the religious persecution of the Duke of Alva, in the Netherlands, (vide page 77.) They for some years assembled for religious worship under the Dutch pastor, but when most of the old Dutch families had died off and their language had become neglected by the trading world for the French, the greater part of the foreigners then in the city formed themselves into a French congregation, and obtained possession of the church of St. Mary the Less. None of their descendants are now resident in Norwich, but some of them as trustees still hold possession of the church with an endowment of about £70 per annum, to retain which, a sermon is preached here in the French language once a year, and the church is sub-let to the Swedenborgians, on condition that they keep it in repair. It is a small and venerable edifice with a square tower, a nave, and chancel, but so closely encompassed with houses and other buildings that very little of the exterior can be seen.

THE ROMAN CATHOLICS have two chapels in Norwich, viz. St. John's Chapel in the parish of St. John Madder-market, an ancient building with a dwelling for the priest, partly rebuilt in 1637; and the CHAPEL OF THE APOSTLES in Willow-lane, a handsome building of white brick in the Corinthian and Ionic styles, erected a few years ago by the college of Jesuits at Stonyhurst, to be used instead of the old chapel in St. Swithen's-lane, now occupied as a Catholic School, attended by 60 boys and 50 girls. The new chapel is about 90 feet long and 40 broad, and is elegantly fitted up for a numerous congregation under the ministry of the Rev. Wm. Rowe. The priest at the other chapel is the Rev. Ignatius Collingridge.

DISSENTING CHAPELS.

The UNITARIANS occupy the Octagon Chapel in Colegate, erected in 1756, on the site of the old Presbyterian Meeting-house, built in 1687, at the cost of £5,174 15s. 8d. As its name imports, it is of an octagon plan, and has a portico supported by four Ionic columns. Its beautiful dome roof is sustained by eight fluted Corinthian columns, and the interior is admirably planned and fitted up both for seeing and hearing the minister, which office is now filled by the Rev. W. J. Bakewell.

The INDEPENDENTS, who spring from the Brownists, were assembled in Norwich before the year 1640, under the ministry of Mr. Bridge, in a Brewhouse, in St. Edmund's parish. In 1693, they completed the erection of the Old Meeting-house in Colegate, St. Clements. This is a large and handsome square building of brick, with Corinthian pilasters and other ornaments, and is now under the ministry of the Rev. John Innes. They have another Chapel in Princes-street, of white brick, erected in 1819, at the cost of £4,500, including £1,000 paid for the land. It will seat 1,000 hearers, and is now under the pastoral care of the Rev. John Alexander.

The BAPTISTS have no fewer than eight Meeting-houses in Norwich, but several of them are small. The General or Arminian Baptists, first congregated in 1686, in a hired building, but they subsequently purchased part of the White Friary in St. James', on the site of which the present chapel was erected in 1812. It has an endowment of about £75 per annum, bequeathed in 1778 by Mr. Grantham Killingworth, and is now under the ministry of the Rev. Thomas Scott. The Particular or Calvinistic Baptists, assembled about the same period as the Arminians, and in 1744 purchased a Chapel in Soutergate, St. Mary's, which was rebuilt in a more handsome manner, in 1811. The Rev. Wm. Brock is minister. They have a larger Chapel in Colegate, St. Clement's, built in 1814, at the cost of £5,000; for the congregation which had previously assembled in Peacock-street, and is now under the pastoral care of the Rev. Jas. Puntis. The Chapel in Pottergate, where Mr. S. Sly preaches to a small congregation, was built by the Methodists in 1790, as also was Providence Chapel, in Pitt-street, which was enlarged in 1818, and is now under the ministry of the Rev. Abraham Pyc. Rehoboth Chapel, in Union-placc, Heigham, was built in 1823, at the cost of £1,400, and its present minister is the Rev. Chas. Thos. Crate. The Chapel on Orford Hill, was a warehouse, but was purchased by the Particular Baptists, and converted into a chapel at the cost of £1,150, in 1832. The Rev. John Green is minister. The New Tabernacle, in Bazaar court, where Mr. John Reynolds officiates to a Baptist congregation, is a large building with a dome light, but fitted up only with loose forms.

METHODISTS:—The Revs. John and Charles Wesley paid

their first visit to this city in 1754, but for several years their votaries were few in number, and were treated with much ridicule and persecution, (see page 255,) so that they had no settled place of worship here till 1769, when they built a small chapel in Cherry-lane, where the late Dr. Adam Clark was stationed in 1783, and began to display that mighty genius which afterwards "burst forth with so much splendour on the world." The Wesleyan Methodists deserted their original chapel in Cherry-lane, in June, 1811, after the completion of their new Chapel in Calvert-street, a large brick edifice with seats for about 1,250 hearers, and two houses for the ministers. Their Chapel in Lady-lane was built in 1824, and has two handsome portico entrances. They have also a modern Chapel in Crooks-place, and a smaller one at New Lakenham, used also as a Sunday School. Ebenezer Chapel in Ber-street, was built many years ago by the Baptists, but is now occupied by the Methodist New Connexion, under the ministry of the Rev. Thos. Jackson. The Primitive Methodists have two chapels here, one in Peafield, erected in 1823, but rebuilt on a larger scale in 1832, and the other in Rose-yard, St. Augustine-street, built in 1824.

Lady Huntingdon's Connexion occupy the TABERNACLE near St. Martin's-at-Palace, built by the Calvinistic Methodists, under Mr. Wheatley, in the year 1752, at the cost of £1,752, previous to which their temporary chapel, on Timber-hill, had been unroofed and its windows broken, by a misguided mob. In 1775, the Tabernacle was sold to the Countess of Huntingdon, who visited Norwich in the following year, and vested the building in trust with four clergymen and three laymen, to appoint such ministers whose preaching and sentiments are according to the articles and homilies of the Church of England. The present minister is the Rev. John Dryden.

The SOCIETY OF FRIENDS form a numerous and respectable body in this city, where they originated in the days of their indefatigable founder, George Fox, who was here in 1655, 1659, and 1667: "during his first visit to Norfolk he was taken up with his companion by hue and cry, on a charge of having broken into a dwelling house on a certain night, and carried before a justice. The plot appears to have been poorly contrived, as it turned out that both had lodged during the night in question at Captain Lawrence's, at Wramplingham. "The magistrate regretted that they had not been found guilty, and they sharply rebuked him on the impropriety of his conduct. The constable is said to have been much disappointed by their acquittal, for he had looked with longing eyes on the two horses which they rode, expecting to have them for his trouble, if the "culprits" had been committed to the castle. Captain Lawrence on becoming a quaker, had abandoned the profession of arms." The history of this society is full of the many hardships they endured in imprisonments, fines, &c., until the time of the Revolution, when milder system prevailed. In 1683, John Gurney with 14 others, were committed to Norwich gaol, for refusing to take the oath of allegiance, which was again tendered to them in 1685, but they still refused to take it, and were consequently re-committed to prison, nor does it appear when they were released. Their objection was merely because it was an oath, and not to its contents, for all the friends voluntarily signed a declaration of allegiance in an address to the members of the city. This persecuted John Gurney was the direct ancestor, and the founder of the fortune of the present numerous family of the Gurneys, to whom Norwich owes so much of its prosperity, and many of whom are now filling the most distinguished stations in the commercial world. His son was a man of eloquence, a preacher in the society, and a great friend of Sir Robert Walpole, who wished him to exchange the Friends' gallery for the house of commons. The Friends have two MEETING HOUSES in Norwich, one in Goat-lane, erected in 1676, but rebuilt in 1826; and the other in Gilden-croft, built in 1680, on a burial ground of one acre, purchased in 1670 for £72. The latter building is only used for funerals, and occasional meetings, and is a large square fabric with a roof supported by two lofty oak pillars cut out of single trees. The present Meeting house in Goat-lane, is a handsome building of white brick, with stone dressings, and a Doric portico with four columns upon an elevated landing of five steps. The general proportions of the building are in unison with the Grecian style, but divested of many of its ornaments. The centre part of the building, fitted up for divine service, is about 60 feet by 40, and receives most of its light from a large dome lantern. Behind this is another building 40 feet by 25, used by the female friends at their quarterly meetings.

The Swedenborgians occupy the French Church as already noticed at page 135, under the ministry of the Rev. Thomas Goyder; and the Jews, who are but few in number, have a new Synagogue in St. George's Tomblard, and a burial ground in Ber-street, but their meetings are often held in a room in Gowing's court, St. Stephen's-street.

ROSAERY GENERAL BURIAL GROUND, in Thorpe hamlet, near Foundry bridge, is an extensive cemetery, established in 1819, by the Rev. Thomas Drummond, who, being aware that most of the burial grounds attached to the Dissenters' places of worship, in Norwich, are held on leases under the corporation, and considering that most of the churchyards had from long appropriation become objectionable, had long urged the necessity of a general cemetery on freehold land, so securely vested in trust that it could not at any subsequent period be perverted to other uses. The Rosary occupies about five acres of land, commanding a fine view of the city and surrounding country, and vested in trustees on behalf of the holders of 500 shares. It is divided into sections separated by plantings of trees and shrubs, and affording space for 600 graves; each family grave being dug 12 feet deep, will admit of five coffins, with flag-stones, or a two inch plank over each;—hence the ground is sufficiently capacious for 30,000 interments, without disturbing the ashes of any individual. It was registered in the Bishop's office on June 14th, 1821, for the use of persons of all denominations, like Bunfields, in London, but not being consecrated, some members of the establishment refuse to use it for the interment of their deceased friends, though all sects are allowed to bring their own ministers to perform the funeral service, or may employ for that purpose the Rev. T. Drummond, the founder, who resides on the ground, near the small rectory or chapel. This cemetery will admit of the erection of numerous catacombs, and was at first ridiculed as a visionary plan; but since its establishment, Manchester, Liverpool, Yarmouth, Sheffield, Leeds, Newcastle, and many other large towns have been accommodated with General burial grounds on a similar plan.

The RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES of Norwich are as numerous and as liberally supported as those of most other places. The Norfolk and Norwich Auxiliary Bible Society, under the presidency of the Bishop, was established in 1811, since which it has distributed 33,817 bibles, and remitted to the Parent Society £51,095. The Norwich Bible Association which had distributed 10,000 bibles and remitted £1,297 to the Parent Society in free contributions, was re-organized in 1829, as a "Ladies' Branch Bible Society," since which it has circulated 1473 bibles, and remitted £250 to the Parent Society. The Norfolk and Norwich Church Missionary Association, was instituted in 1804, for the propagation of christianity throughout the world, especially in Africa and the East. The Norwich Diocesan Committee of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, has its depository at No. 4, St. Giles' street, where 1941 bibles, 2759 prayer books, and 35,518 other books and tracts, were sold at reduced prices in 1834, and a donation of £70 was remitted in the same year to the Parent Society. The Norwich Diocesan Association of the Incorporated Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign parts, has remitted to that institution £631 16s. 10½d; and here is also an Association for Promoting Christianity among the Jews, founded in 1821. The first Sunday School in this city was established in St. Stephen's parish, in 1785, since which others have been attached to most of the churches and chapels, and ample provision has been made for the education of those poor children who can attend for instruction during six days in the week, as will be seen in the following summary view of the endowed and other CHARITY SCHOOLS, which are attended by upwards of 2,600 children, many of whom are clothed as well as educated, and some of them likewise maintained, but most of them pay one 1d. or 2d. per week towards the expense of books, slates, &c. In addition to these, here are upwards of 3,000 Sunday sch-

The FREE GRAMMAR SCHOOL, which now occupies the Charnel-house, near the west end of the Cathedral, was founded by Bishop Salmon in 1325, and annexed to a small collegiate chantry. At the Dissolution of this college, the corporation, by their Hospital charter granted in the first of Edward VI., were required to find a master and usher, and to remunerate them out of the ample revenues assigned to them by that charter. Both the teachers are to be learned in grammar, and nominated by the mayor and a majority of the aldermen. The master has a yearly salary of £50 and the use of a convenient dwelling; and the Usher has £30 a-year, but no house. Both of them may take boarders, and their charges are optional. The school was originally kept in the fratory of the Black Friars, but after the Reformation it was removed to the Charnel-house, where the apartments of the chaplains were converted into a dwelling for the master, and the chapel appropriated for the school room. The master's salary was only £10 a-year, but was advanced by the corporation in 1562 to £20; in 1602 to £26, 13s. 4d.; in 1610 to £40, and in 1636 to £50. The corporation have the power of sending an unlimited number of the sons of freemen to this school, free of expense, but with due consideration, they generally leave room for as many boarders and other day scholars as will sufficiently remunerate the teachers. In 1567 and 1569, five scholarships were founded by Archbishop Parker, at Benet's college, Cambridge, of which the mayor and aldermen are patrons; three of them are for boys born at Norwich and educated there or at Aylsham, and two of them are for natives of Norwich, Wymondham, or Aylsham, and students of their respective schools. John Catus, M.D., who died in 1573, ordered his executors to purchase lands of the yearly value of £100 and settle them on Gonville and Catus college, Cambridge, where he appropriated his fellowships and scholarships to his own countrymen of the diocese and city of Norwich. In 1618, Wm. Branthwait founded four scholarships of £5 per annum each, at Emanuel college, Cambridge. In 1626, John Goutten, M.D., gave £5 per annum each at Gonville and Catus college, to four scholars born in the city of Norwich. In 1635, Matthew Stokby founded in the same college, three scholarships of £5 each, and a fellowship of £15; two out of the three to be occupied by persons born in Norwich, but all three to be appointed by the Bishop of Ely. The fellow has also 20s. and the scholars 10s. each per annum for the rents of their chambers. In 1659, Edward Coleman charged his estate at Wymondham with a yearly rent charge of £20, towards the maintenance of four scholars, from the schools of Norwich and Wymondham, in either University. It is a custom in this school for the head boy to deliver a Latin oration, from the he mayor and corporation on the guild-day, after is conveyed in the mayor's carriage to the guild by he the procession on a white horse.

Among the eminent men educated here, are recorded the names of Coetan, bishop of Durham; Green, bishop of Norwich; Dr Caius, Sir Edward Coke, Erasmus Earle, a celebrated lawyer; Wald, the orientalist; Stillingfleet, the naturalist; Lord Nelson; Headley, the poet; and many other departed worthies.

THE "CHARITY SCHOOLS" were established in 1709, and have since been supported by benefactions and annual subscriptions, and are now nine in number, affording instruction and clothing to 626 boys, and 422 girls, besides an additional number of 208 who attend on Sundays. The five Boys' Schools are in St. Peter's Mancroft, St. Peter's Hungate, St. Paul's, St. Martin's at Oak, and St. Julian's; and the four Girls' Schools in the Hole-in-the-wall-lane, St. James', St. Martin's at Oak, and St. Julian's—all are commodious buildings, and are now conducted on Dr. Bell's system of national education. Annual subscribers of £1 or upwards, or benefactors of £10 and upwards, are Trustees for the management of these schools, and hold a meeting on the first Wednesday of every Month, except January. The Mancroft School was founded in 1721, by John Raschew, who endowed it with an estate at Walpole, now let for £77 a year; but it was united with the other eight charity schools many years ago. The late John Moy, and James Elmy, Esqrs., respectively bequeathed the sums of £1,000 and £4,000, and directed the interest to be applied in binding out apprentices from these schools; the former sum is vested in trust with six resident clergymen, and the latter with five inhabitants of the great ward of Mancroft. All the boys in the schools are clothed in Irish coloured coats, and the girls in camlet frocks, at the cost of about £180 per annum. The total expenditure for the nine schools, in 1834, was £894 1s 2½d, and the receipts for the year amounted to £828 10s 10½d, of which £77 was the rent of the estate at Walpole; £129 10s dividends of funded property, £178 annual subscriptions; £86 11s 6½d, collections after several sermons (preached yearly), £14 rent of two houses; and £313 school receipts, from the scholars, who pay 3d.; 2d.; or 1d per week each, according to their respective classes, towards the books, pens, ink, clothing, &c, with which they are provided by the trustees, to whom the Rev. C. F. Millard is treasurer. The DISTRICT SCHOOLS of ST. STEPHEN'S and ST. MARGARET'S, are in union with the above, but are supported by distinct funds raised in those parishes by annual subscription, for the instruction of 450 children, of whom 140 boys and 140 girls attend St. Margaret's schools in Lower Westwick street, and 120 boys and 50 girls attend St. Stephen's schools in Muddleton's yard. The Norfolk and Norwich National School Society, established in 1822, has given a donation of £50 to the above charity schools, and renders assistance to upwards of 200 Day and Sunday schools in various parts of the county.

The LANCASTERIAN SCHOOL, in Palace-street, was established in 1811, and is supported chiefly by dissenters, for the education of 200 boys. The dissenters have also about 3,000 children in their Sunday School Union. The Gurney family support a School in Surrey News, where sixty girls are educated and partly clothed. The Society of Friends have a school at Prospect-place, for 200 children; and Mrs. Ash has one in Trafalgar-street, for thirty scholars. Here are also several Infant Schools, partly supported by subscription; one in the New City has 120, and another in Barrack-yard 130 children.

NORMAN'S CHARITY SCHOOL, in Fisher's-lane, was founded by John Norman, of Catton, who bequeathed an estate for teaching and apprenticing the children of his own relations, during the succeeding sixty years after his death in 1724, and afterwards to be employed in founding and supporting a Hospital School, in Norwich, for educating and apprenticing 36 poor boys, of whom 4 are sent from Catton. The estate was let in 1786 for £100 per annum, but it is now considerably increased in value. The Catholic Charity School in St. Swithen's-lane, was formerly a chapel, and is now supported by voluntary contributions for the education of 60 boys and 60 girls.

THE BOYS' AND GIRLS' HOSPITAL SCHOOL, is a commodious building, with a dwelling for the master and mistress, in Fisher-gate-street, St. Edmund's. It owes its origin to Thomas Anguish, who was mayor in 1611, and by his will in 1617, bequeathed a house and part of an estate in St. Edmund's parish, to the corporation, for the use and endowment of a hospital or convenient place for keeping, bringing up, and teaching young and very poor children, born in the city. In 1618 the house was fitted up for the intended purpose; some valuable donations being received in that and the following year. In 1621, it was re-founded by a charter of the 4th of Charles I., under the title of "The Children's Hospital, of the foundation of King Charles, with power for the corporation to add, increase, or diminish the number of officers and children at their pleasure." In 1623 the endowment was augmented by John and Edmund Anguish, and John Ward, who gave the Lazar-house, at St. Stephen's gate, and other property, on condition that a sermon in aid of the charity, should be preached yearly at St. Edmund's church. In 1649, Robert Haron left £250 for the establishment of a Girls' Hospital, and the corporation afterwards fitted up a house for that purpose in Golden-dog-lane, but this was consolidated with Anguish's hospital some years ago, and both had previously been governed by the same statutes, and received numerous benefactions. There are now 69 boys and 50 girls on the foundation. By the present regulations none of the children are boarded in the house, but the parents or friends of each boy receive £10, and those of each girl £8 per annum, in quarterly payments, out of which they defray the charges of schooling and books; but the charity provides all the children with suits of blue clothing every Lady-day. The boys' caps are red, and on leaving school they are apprenticed with fees of £10. The average annual expenditure of this excellent charity is upwards of £1,800.

The HOSPITAL AND SCHOOL FOR THE INDIGENT BLIND, in Magdalen-street, was founded in 1803, by Thomas Tupper, a blind gentleman, who presented the house and garden occupied by the institution, and which he had previously purchased for £1050. Since its foundation, this excellent charity has been liberally supported by benefactions, legacies, and annual contributions, and has fully answered the most sanguine expectations of its promoters, both as an asylum for the aged, and as a school for the young; having enabled many of the latter, who would otherwise have passed their days in idleness and dependence, to rise superior to their forlorn and abject condition. Though it was at first restricted to the county of Norfolk, it is now open to the kingdom at large, under the management of a president, three vice-presidents, a committee of subscribers, &c. who appoint a matron and a male and female teachers, and select the objects of the charity. On December 31st, 1834, there were in the hospital 11 aged persons, and in the school 40 pupils; the former are admitted after the age of 55, and the latter after the age of 10 years, and are instructed and employed in the manufacture of hats, combs, mats, lines for sashes, linen, clocks, blinds, stockings, &c. The pupils remain only three years, or may leave as soon as they have gained a sufficient knowledge of their trade. In 1834 the receipts of the charity arising from benefactions, subscription, and sale of articles, &c. amounted to £1393 15s. 8d. and the disbursements to £1021 14s. 10d. The expenditure in 1834 was £17s. 10d. The Bishop is president; Rev. W. F. Dorr, secretary; Mr. J. H. Oldfield, secretary and superintendent; Mr. Elizabeth Christopher, matron; Mr. W. Swan and Mrs. T. Swan, teachers; Dr. Wright, physician; and Mr. J. Troughton, surgeon.

CHARITIES:—The stream which flows from the fountain of charity for the religious and moral instruction of children, is not more ample than that which extends to the aged, poverty, and sickness. There are in the city, almshouses, founded for the residence of about 250 aged poor, most of whom have weekly stipends for their maintenance. Here are also, a large County House for the relief of the sick and lame; two Lunatic Asylums, one for the county and the city; a Dispensary; an Eye Infirmary, a Lunatic Penitentiary; a spacious Workhouse, with an Infirmary and Lunatic asylum attached; a Lying-in-charity, and a variety of benevolent Societies, supported chiefly by donations and annual contributions, and partly by posthumous charity, in which latter few places are richer than Norwich, as its yearly income from that source alone, amounts to upwards of £5,000, a large portion of which is in trust with the corporation, but the total amount of charity, dispensed in the city and its suburbs amounts upwards of £10,000 per annum, exclusive of the poor's rates, which in 1828, amounted to £20,000, and in 1834, to upwards of £

The NORFOLK AND NORWICH HOSPITAL, for the relief of sick and lame poor, occupies an extensive brick building on the London road, a little without St. Stephen's gate, erected in 1771, at the cost of more than £21,000, including about £8,000 expended in subsequent additions and improvements. The building is in the form of the letter H, and was considerably enlarged in 1805. It is fitted up in the most improved manner, and has spacious and well ventilated galleries extended through all the wards. The institution, which ranks as one of the largest and most useful charities in the county, was commenced by the voluntary contributions of the benevolent, and it has since received many valuable donations and legacies; the liberal assistance of a numerous list of annual subscribers of two guineas and upwards; and the profits of a yearly musical performance at the Cathedral, during the assize week. Since the year 1824, there has been performed for its benefit a triennial musical festival at St. Andrew's Hall, which generally yields upwards of £2,000. The expenditure of the hospital for the year 1833, amounted to nearly £4,000, and its receipts to £4,574, including £877 10s. obtained by the sale of £1000 three per cent stock, and £336 2s. 9d. received from the treasurer of the Musical Festival. The annual subscriptions in that year amounted to £166 12s. The funds property now possessed by the hospital consists of £10,646 17s. 4d. three per cent consols; £4,766 13s. 4d. three per cents reduced; £1116 13s. 4d. three-and-a-half per cents reduced annuities; £595 new three-and-a-half per cent annuities, £166 13s. 4d. bank stock; £13 6s. 8d. long annuities, and £1000 three per cent consols. The latter sum was bequeathed by Thomas Cooke, Esq. in 1811. Among the benefactions and legacies to the hospital we find the Earl of Monmouth, £2000; Edward King, jun. Esq. £1,100; William Fellowes, Esq. £1000; Rt. Dean, Esq. £1000; Mrs. Ann Wood, £1000; John Vere, Esq. £1000 in three per cent consols; Lady Graves £880 14s. 10d. Mr. Thos. Clabourn £800, and a great number of donors of from £100 to £500. The total receipts of the institution since its foundation amounted in December, 1833, to £177,804 16s. 8½d. and the number of patients admitted in the same period to 49,541, of whom 30,890 had been In, and 18,651 Out-patients. The number remaining on the books in Dec. 1833, was 42 In, and 204 Out-patients, and the total number admitted during the year 1823, of whom 715 had been In-patients. From its frequent occurrence, the operation for the stone is performed here in the greatest perfection; the whole number cut for this dreadful disease since the opening of the hospital is about 700, of whom not more than 100 died, and the whole of the eleven patients cut in 1833, were discharged, cured. Three physicians and three surgeons of the city attend the hospital gratuitously; and its affairs are under the management of the governors, consisting of persons who have contributed 30 guineas or upwards, at one time. The physicians and surgeons attend every Saturday, at 11 o'clock, to take in patients, and every Tuesday at the same hour, to prescribe to the out-patients; but sufferers by accidents (admitting of no delay) are admitted at all times. Formerly, the hospital contained only about eighty beds, but now it has 105 for the reception of patients. The principal officers of the charity are Lord Wodehouse, president; G. S. Kett, Esq. treasurer; Drs. Wright, Evans, and Lubboch, physicians; Messrs. Dalrymple, Case, and Norgate, surgeons; Mr. J. Deacon, secretary; Mr. C. Godwin, apothecary; and Mrs. Sar. Lightfoot Gaze, matron.

The DISPENSARY, commenced in 1804, occupies a house in Belwell-street, Elm-hill, and is supported by donations and yearly contributions, for the purpose of rendering medical and surgical aid to the sick and lame poor of the city and its hamlets, as out-patients, of whom 1556 were relieved in 1834, at the small cost of £257 19s. 0½d.; and the total number of patients admitted since the foundation of the institution is upwards of 30,000. Two physicians lend their assistance gratuitously. Mr. E. Cooper, the surgeon and apothecary, resides at the Dispensary, and such patients as are not able to attend, are visited at their homes.

The EYE INFIRMARY, or "the Norfolk and Norwich Infirmary for the cure of Diseases of the Eyes," occupies a building in Pottergate-street, St. Benedict's, where it was instituted in 1822, chiefly through the exertions of three medical gentlemen, who submitted a report of the necessity for such an establishment in Norwich. Notwithstanding the great importance of this charity, its funds at present only allow accommodations for eight or nine in-patients, though it relieves annually about 500 out-patients, at the cost of about £300. Mrs. Sarah Boyd is the matron.

The BETHEL HOSPITAL, or as usually called Bedlam, occupies a commodious building in Bethel-street, erected in 1713, by Mrs. Mary Chapman, agreeably to the request of her late husband, the Rev. S. Chapman, rector of Thorpe-next-Norwich, "for the convenient reception and habitation of lunatics, and not for natural born fools or idiots." For its endowment she settled, by will dated 1717, all her estates in Norwich and Norfolk, on seven trustees, giving to them the sole power and management of this useful asylum for distressed lunatics; as many of whom "are to be kept here gratis as the revenues will afford, the city of Norwich always to have the preference." It has now accommodations for 79 patients, of whom about 35 are free, and small weekly sums varying from 3s. to 6s. are paid for each of the other by their friends or parishes. The seven trustees are A. Hudson, W. Foster, J. J. Gurney, T. Hudson, S. Martin, C. Weston and C. W. Unthank, Esqrs. Dr. Wright is the physician; Mr. Dalrymple, the surgeon; and Mr. S. King, the master. The foundress appears to have been no admirer of the corporate body, for one clause in her will prohibits them from being "in any way concerned in the execution of this trust." Considerable additions were made to the hospital in 1807 and subsequent years. Visitors may examine this abode of the wretched from four to five o'clock on Tues. and Thurs. afternoons, or on Saturday from 11 at 10 in the forenoon. There is a PRIVATE LUNATIC ASYLUM at Mayhem House, conducted by Drs. Wright and Dalrymple, and another in the village of Heigham, belonging to Messrs. Wm. Jellie and P. W. Nichols. John Dundas and Mrs. Smart are keepers of the former, and Isaac Gibbins and Mrs. Frost, of the latter. For the gigantic NORFOLK LUNATIC ASYLUM See p. 348.

The Norfolk and Norwich Magdalen, on Life's-green, was established in 1827, and its object is to afford an asylum to females who, having deviated from the paths of virtue, may be desirous of being restored to their station in society by religious instruction and the formation of moral and industrious habits. The house has accommodations for 20 objects. Out of 90 admitted since its establishment, 41 had been restored to their friends, or placed in respectable situations, and 19 remained in the house, on the publication of the report for 1833. The expenses of the establishment in 1833, amounted to £550. The Marquis Cholmondeley is president, and the Rev. J. Perowne, chaplain.

The Society for the Relief of the Sick Poor was instituted in 1816, and is managed by a committee of ladies, who search out the abodes of those families who are labouring under the complicated afflictions of disease and penury, in relieving whom, the charity dispenses about £400 per annum, a large portion of which is derived from the sale of fancy articles contributed by the ladies. The Lying-in-Charity, for delivering poor married women at their own habitations, was established in 1832. It provides its objects with midwives, medical and pecuniary assistance, bed linen, &c., and also portable beds when required. The depository is in Castle-ditches, and Mrs. Morris is the matron. The Benevolent Association for the Relief of decayed Tradesmen, their Widows and Orphans, was instituted in 1790, and in 1834, had dispensed £8149 1s. and then possessed a standing capital of £4700 three and a half per cent. stock. The subscribers may recommend one object for every guinea which they contribute annually. S. Bignold, Esq. is president; Edw. Browne, Esq. secretary, and Mr. Henry Bassett, clerk. The Humane Society for the recovery of persons apparently drowned, has ceased to exist; but the corporation generally give premiums to persons rescuing others from drowning, and many of the citizens subscribe to the Norfolk Association for preserving Lives from Shipwreck, formed in 1823, and now having life boats, &c., on all the dangerous parts of the coast. A Benevolent Society, supported chiefly by the Wesleyan Methodists, was established in 1785, for the relief of poor families; and here is also a Mendicity Society, supported by annual contributions, and established in 1819, for the relief of distressed travellers, the detection of vagrants and impostors, and the suppression of mendicity in Norwich and its vicinity.—The office is in St. Andrew's Hall, where tickets to be given to mendicants, may be had, gratis. Mr. F. G. Moore is the registering clerk. The Protestant Dissenters' Benevolent Society, of Norfolk, was formed in 1800, for the relief of decayed Ministers, or their Widows and Orphans, and has distributed among its objects upwards of £6000. S. S. Beare, Esq. is the treasurer. The Charity for Clergymen's Widows and Children in Norfolk and Norwich, had its origin in 1685, but the charter by which it is incorporated was not obtained till 1741. It distributes upwards of £1500 per annum. The Bishop is the president, and the Dean and Chapter the vice-presidents. The Rev. J. Taylor is treasurer, and Mr. W. S. Millard, steward of the estates. The Amicable Society of Attorneys, and the Benevolent Medical Society of Norfolk and Norwich, were established for the purpose of providing funds for the relief of the widows and children, and of indigent members of the two professions. The former was commenced in 1784, and has now upwards of £3500 in the three per cent. consols; and the latter was instituted in 1786.

ST. GILES' HOSPITAL, in Bishopgate-street, commonly called the Great Hospital, was founded by Bishop Suffield, but being of a monastic character, it was dissolved by Henry VIII., and afterwards refounded as an almshouse for aged poor, and its ample revenues vested in trust with the corporation, for that purpose and the support of a Grammar School, with a chaplain to serve also as curate of St. Helen's parish, (see pages 122, 127 and 140.) Queen Elizabeth bestowed on it the lands of Robert Redman, a grocer, who was attainted for high treason, and its revenues have so increased in value, that the charity now lodges, maintains, and clothes 83 men and 83 women, who must be 60 years of age before their admission. The choir of the hospital church was rebuilt in 1383, by the benefactions of Bishop Spencer and others. and is now divided into apartments for the women. The cloister, master's lodgings, the nave, and the tower, were rebuilt in 1541, by bishop Lyhart, prior Molet and others. The men's apartments occupy the old refectory and part of the nave and aisles, and the remainder is the parish church of St. Helen. In 1558, Thomas Codd, who was mayor during Kett's rebellion, bequeathed to this hospital certain lands and tenements, which are now let for £32 10s. per annum. In 1762, John Sparrell, alderman, bequeathed £1355, to the corporation, in trust, to pay £52 yearly to the inmates of this hospital, and 30s. to the poor, and 14s. to the minister of the parish of St. John Sepulchre, yearly. The alms people are clothed in dark blue. Mr. William Lewis Lohr, is master of the hospital.

DOUGHTY'S HOSPITAL, in Calvert-street, was founded by Wm. Doughty, gent. who in 1687, bequeathed to certain trustees £6000 to be laid out in building and endowing it for the reception and maintenance of 24 poor men and eight women of the age of 60 or upwards. Owing to the improved state of the funds, there are now in the hospital 28 men and 10 women, who each receive 5s. 6d. per week, except the master, who has 11s. a week. Each has likewise a chaldron of coals and clothing annually. The mayor and aldermen are the trustees. In 1811, Thomas Cooke, Esq., of Pentonville, (a native of Norfolk) bequeathed £6600, three per cent. consols to Doughty's, and £1750 of the same stock to COOKE'S HOSPITAL. The latter is an ancient almshouse in Rose-lane, founded and endowed before the year 1701, by Robert and Thomas Cooke, two brothers and aldermen of the city, for the reception of ten poor women, either maids or widows, of 60 years of age or upwards, who have previously resided ten years in the city, and been "of good report." Each has an apartment and a small weekly stipend. PYE'S ALMSHOUSES, near St. Gregory's church, were given by Thomas Pye, in 1612, but taken down in 1825, and rebuilt in West Pottergate-street. They consist of six houses for the residence of old people, married or unmarried, two belong to St. Michael Coslany, two to St. Giles, and two to St. Peter Mancroft parish. The three oldest aldermen present the inmates, who have no stipends. The NINE ALMSHOUSES, for poor widows in St. Giles', Colegate, front Muspole-street and Middle-street, and were given by Alice Crome, in 1516, but the inmates have no endowment. In 1819, THOMAS CLABURN bequeathed £800 to the almswomen of Cooke's Hospital, £800 to the treasurer of that hospital; £800 to the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital; £200 each to the parishes of St. John Timberhill, St. Michael-at-Thorn, St. Michael Coslany, and St. John Sepulchre; £400 each to All Saints and St. Paul's, for the poor; and £200 to Bethel hospital.

The other BENEFACTIONS, left at various periods for yearly distribution among the poor of the various parishes of the city, are numerous, but generally small in amount. The names of the donors, and the yearly value of the bequests, in 1798, may be briefly stated as follows:—All are distributed in doles of money, bread, or clothing, except where otherwise expressed. Those marked thus* are in trust with the corporation, and of most of the others, the ministers and churchwardens of the respective parishes, are trustees.—All Saint's Parish, 1669, Robert Rosse, houses, £6* for one child in Hospital school, — St. Andrew, 1574 to 1675, R. Mundes, N. Sotherton, Sir John Suckling and S. Jay, £26 6s. 8d.*; and 1765, Benjamin Trappett (interest of £1000) £50. — St. Augustine 1626 and 1685, Sir J. Suckling and Bernard Church, £2 15s.*; — 1759, Edward King (apprentice fee) £1 10s., R. Reeve and G. Morse trustees. — and 1821, Samuel Chapman, land in Hellesdon for five widows — St. Benedict, 1660, Edward Haywood £3, and 1701, Michael South, houses for one child in hospital — St. Clements, 1752 to 1767, J. Harvey, S. Hipkin, A. Faucett, T. Allen and T. Evered, £9 10s. — St. Edmund, 1619 to 1772, H. Faucett, W. Dixon, B. Trappett, J. Boycott and C. Maltby (£350 stock) £10 10s.*; and 1772 to 85, C. Maltby, J. & E. Anguish, J. Ward, B. Church and J. Boycott, £5 19s. 1d. — St. Etheldred, 1611 to 1788, A. Johnson, R. Craske, J. Hall, and R. & J. Wegg, £8 15s. — St. George Colegate, 1516 to 1800, Alice Crome (7 houses,) J. Ringall, B. Church and others £18*; St. George Tombland 1609, J. Symmond, house, £7 10s. and 1819, E. Squire, £5. — St. Giles, 1583 to 1770, J. Baleston, A. Payne, J. Elmy, J. Moy and R. Deane, £42 1s. 6d., 1770, John Moy, (£1000, now bank stock) £59 14s.* for apprentice fees; and Stephen Martin, (£1000 three per cents) £30 — St. Gregory 1613, Margaret Stephenson 20s., and 1625, J. & T. Weaver, £3 11s. — Heigham, 1675, Robert Powell, 20s., and 1823, Mrs. Ann Parr, (£1353 18s. 9d. three per cents.) £40 12s. 4d. to 12 aged poor. — St. James, 1679 to '98, T. Chickering, E. Topcliff, J. Cary, R. Mallet and W. Gedge, £10 11s. —

BENEFACTIONS.

111

St. John Maddermarket, 1642 to 1729, A. Powell, J. Wilson and others, £11 4s.; 1771, B. Trappett, (£200 and houses) £25; and 1719, Francis Gillian, £90 18s.* for poor and apprentice fees in this and other parishes.—St. John Sepulchre, 1672, N. Cock, £21; 1638, John Fisher, £48; 1607, James Baker, £30 to poor butchers; 1824, Ann Yallop, (£400) £20, half to oldest butchers; 1686, M. [?], £5 4s.; and 1685 to 1763, J. Spurrell, B. Church, Mrs. Kemp, others £11 2s.—St. John Timberhill, 1663, Robert Rosse, £6 for children in hospital*; and 1763, B. Trappett, £4.—St. Julian, Robert Craske, £5 10s., and 1684, A. Briggs, £10 apprentice.—St. Lawrence, 1463 to 1685, Elizabeth Wicks, Edward Hey, B. Church, T. Warren, A. Topcliffe and J. Smith, £15 7s. 6d.—St. Margaret, 1660 to 1730, E. Heyward, A. Topcliffe and C. Emerson, £3 15s., and 1803, Ann Matthews, (£171 5s. 11d. three per cent.)—St. Martin-at-Oak, 1711, J. Bean, houses; 1706 and 18, John and James Demee, £8; 1748, J. Warnes, 10s.; and 1711, Rev. J. Revans, 10s. for educating six girls.—St. Martin-at-Palace, 1690 to 1765, Moore, Rev. J. Gray and B. Trappett, £19 16s. 2d. and a parish next the palace gate, £5.—St. Mary, 1558 to 1725, T. Maltby, Wingfield, C. Herne, M. Brettingham, and Dutch Congregation.—St. Michael Costary, 1619, H. Fawcett and others, 20s.—St. Michael-at-Plea, 1648 to 1763, Elizabeth Gibbs, C. Brereton, B. Trappett, and J. Warner, £17.—St. Michael at Thorn, 1763, B. Trappett.—St. Paul, 1694, and 6, William Gedge and B. Penning, £10, to thirds to St. James and St. Benedict; 1707, Thomas Blofield, to Fyebury, and Pockthorpe ward; and 1558 to 1698, R. Mallet, Carr, and seven other donors, £10 13s. 8d.—St. Peter Mancroft, 171, John Blackhead, 4s. 1s. 5p. let for £16, (£1 10s. to St. Stephen's, 10s. to city prisoners,) 1658 to 1729, H. Davy, N. Bickerdyke and Addey, £16 9s., and 1825, Gilbert Ives, £200, after death of his house per.—St. Peter per-Mountergate, 1558, Thomas Codd and Peter Gerson, house and land, £12 5s.; 1694, Rev. E. Warnes, house and land at Hantboys, £180* (for the poor of Wymer Ward,) 1696, Robert Mallett, house and land, £12 12s.; 1681, Elizabeth Berney, £6; 1691, John Leaman, houses, £5; and 1696, E. Monday.—St. Peter Southgate, 1638, Robert Craske, 40s.; and 1684, A. Eggs, £10, apprentice fees.—Pockthorpe, 1698, J. Cory 40s. books children.—St. Saviour, 1613 to 1775, E. Nutting, P. Blois and Bullock, £9 3s. 8d.; and Sir J. Sockling, J. Brownfield and Wm. Well, £2 9s.—St. Stephen, 1593, and 1693, George and Henry Minors, £3 2s.; 1558, J. Atkin, house and land, £14; 1658, James Fred, 6a. of land; 1712, F. Gillian, £5 apprentice fee; and F. Lamp, B. Church, J. Smith and others, £16, and Mr. Rudd, £4 6s. to twelve parishes.—St. Swithin, 1700, Edward Temple, houses and land, £36 5s., bread and clothing; 1660, Mr. Heyward, £3; 1777, Abraham Robinson, £50, apprentice fees, and £5 for shirts and shifts; 1801, Thomas Rodwell, £7 10s.; and J. and C. Emerson, £5 apprentice fees. Wm. Johnson left a house and land, let for £30, distributed in parts, to the poor of St. John Sepulchre, Trowse, Carrow, and Bracondale; 1696, the Rev. Benjamin Pennvag, left £500, to be lent to young tradesmen, free of interest, for seven years, and a house let for £5 a year to the poor of St. Benedict, St. Clement, St. George Colegate, St. Paul, St. James, and Pockthorpe. In 1700, Thomas Seaman, left £10 a year of lands in Earham, for apprenticing poor boys, and £5 for poor of Heigham, St. Benedict, St. Swithin, and St. Margaret. 1a

1715, Sir Peter Seaman bequeathed £10 a year for apprenticing poor boys of the six parishes of St. Gregory, St. Peter Hungate, St. George Tombland, St. Simon and Jude, St. Martin at Palace, and St. Helen.

The Norfolk and Norwich Savings' Bank, at No. 67, Broad street, St. Giles', is a provident institution for the beneficial investment of the savings of the humbler classes, established in April 1816, and having in Dec. 1834, deposits amounting to £126,080 17s. belonging to 4,181 individuals, 15 Friendly Societies, and 27 Charitable Societies. Of the individuals, 2,223, were owners of deposits of from 1s to £20, and 102, of from £150 to £200, each. William Herring, Esq. is the treasurer, and Mr. John Hart the secretary. The bank is open every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday, from 12 to 2 o'clock. The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society, established in 1797, was the first to introduce the principle of returning a portion of the profits to the insured, which it did some years ago to the amount of £114,072. It now ranks as the second office in the kingdom, having a capital of £350,000, and insuring property to the amount of nearly fifty millions. Partly under the same management, but distinct in its capital and accounts, is the Norwich Union Life Insurance Society, commenced in 1808, on the equitable principle of mutual guarantee, and now having a capital of nearly a million and a half. The office for both is in Sarrey street, (see p. 188.) The General Equitable Fire Insurance Society, formed in 1807, has lately been consolidated with the Norwich Union. The New Equitable Fire Assurance Society has its office in Bank street, and was established in 1829, with a capital of £100,000. Besides the provident institutions already noticed, there are in the city a number of Friendly Societies, for mutual assistance in sickness, superannuation, &c. and partaking of these benefits here are several Secret Orders. Among the latter are eight lodges of FREE MASONS, of which T. W. Coke, Esq. is provincial grand master; several lodges of ODD FELLOWS, and five lodges of STAGORIANS, a fraternity which originated at Stag-ria, when Aristotle was its arch grand.

The WORKHOUSE, in Bridge street, St. Andrew's, forms with St. Andrew's Hall and the Duten Church, part of Black Friary, but was thoroughly repaired and greatly enlarged after the year 1802, by new ranges of buildings extending down the river, so that it has now accommodations for about 600 paupers, though it has seldom more than 350 inmates, who are maintained at the average weekly cost of 2s. 5d. per head. Those who are able to work are employed in the manufacture of woested and cotton goods. A detached part of the workhouse establishment is the INFIRMARY, in an airy situation a little beyond St. Augustine's gate, in the parish of St. Clements, formerly a leazar house founded by a bishop of Norwich, but now the pleasant retreat of infirm and superannuated paupers, none being admitted under the age of sixty-five. It has accommodations for 68 women and 43 men, with a good house for the master. Adjoining it is a new building erected in 1826, as an asylum for 19 pauper lunatics, with a ward for seven sick paupers. All the parishes and hamlets of the city and county of the city, see p. 64 except Trinity or St. Mary's in-the-Marsh, were ~~under~~ for the support of the poor under an act of parliament passed in 1812, vesting the management in a COURT OF GUARDIANS, ~~composed of~~ the mayor, recorder, sheriffs, and aldermen for the time ~~being~~ and 22 other persons chosen yearly on May 3rd, in an assembly ~~at the corporation~~. They were empowered to assess to the poor rates, ~~all such houses, tenements, lishes, stocks, and personal estates.~~ To assessment of the two latter gave rise to much dissatisfaction among the merchants, manufacturers, and shopkeepers; and the mismanagement of the guardians, together with depressions in trade, and the increased population, having augmented the poor rates from twenty to forty thousand pounds per annum, and in 1826, to upwards of £30,000, the inhabitants applied to Parliament for a new act, which received the royal assent on May 27th, 1827, and abolished the assessment of stocks and personal estates, and changed the constitution of the Court of Guardians, which has been again altered by another act of Parliament passed in 1832. Under this act the Court consists of 63 Guardians elected yearly on the first Monday in June, in the parish vestries, one or more being chosen for each parish according to its size and population, and the churchwarden being returning officer and having a casting vote in case of an equality. All parishioners occupying to the amount of £10 have one vote; and those of £20 or upwards have two votes; and £30 and upwards three votes. The mayor, recorder, steward, justices of the peace, constables, ale-house keepers, publicans, and persons not rated at £5, are excluded from being elected guardians. The assessment of estates in the city is according to the full rental, and in the hamlets on five-sixths of the annual value. The Poor Rates amounted in 1828, to £20,000; in 1833, to £30,000; and in 1834, to £26,252. Mr. Wm. Corfield is master of the Workhouse, J. S. Turner, master of the Infirmary, S. Wild, removal officer, R. Kerrison, clerk, G. W. Wilson, cashier; Ed. Baker, office clerk, and J. Bilham, visitor of the poor. The Rev. J. B. Thompson is the chaplain, and performs divine service in the Dutch church which adjoins the workhouse, (see p. 134.) A DISPENSARY is attached to the workhouse; W. England, is the attending physician, W. P. Nichols and R. Griffin, the surgeons, W. Dalrymple the man-midwife, and Robert Cremer, the apothecary. The guardians form themselves into eight committees for transacting the various departments of their affairs, and hold a general court on the first Tuesday of every month. One of them is appointed Governor, and another Deputy Governor.

The PAVING, CLEANSING, LIGHTING and WATCHING of the city, are now amply provided for by two acts of Parliament, one passed in 1806, and the other in 1825. These acts are carried into execution by a number of permanent commissioners, consisting of the mayor, dean, resident prebendary, aldermen, recorder, steward, sheriffs, speaker of the common council, and others, together with forty parochial commissioners elected yearly by the parishes on Easter Monday. The expenses are defrayed by annual rate on the inhabitants, not to exceed 5s. in the pound on half the annual rent of property assessed to the poor rates; and of 1s. 4d. per pound on half the rental of those houses, &c. which are not assessed to the poor; also by a frontage rate of 2d. per foot. There are 34 watchmen and six supernumeraries employed on the "new system," not being allowed to call the hours, and their omissions of duty being clearly pointed out by watch clocks placed at certain stations, and having revolving faces with certain pegs, each of which require to be put down by a bolt every quarter of an hour. These clocks are examined every morning by the superintendent, and each watchman is fined one penny for every omission in putting down the pegs. An act of parliament was first obtained for lighting the streets in 1701, and in 1725, an act was obtained for levying a duty on all goods brought up the river into this city, for the reparation of the bridges, staiths, wharfs, &c. The COUNTY RATES of the city and

Markets, Fairs, Improvements, &c.—The new paving of the city commenced soon after the passing of the act in 1806, but this necessary work suffered several long interruptions for want of money. During the last twenty years the improvements and enlargements of the city have been very extensive, the population having increased since 1811 from 37,313 to 61,364 souls, and the houses from 8,336 to 14,365. (see p. 64.) Many new streets and handsome rows of houses have been built on the site of, and beyond, the city walls, and the largest of these modern suburbs is the New City, extending from St. Stephen's to St. Giles'-gate, and lying chiefly in the parishes of St. Stephen and Heigham, the latter of which has now nearly 6000 inhabitants, though in 1811 it had only 842. A similar increase has taken place in St. Clements, St. Stephen's, Lakenham and Thorpe, and some of the other parishes have nearly doubled their population since 1801. The approaches to the Market-place have been much improved by the formation of Exchange, Museum, and Sussex-streets, and Davey-place; and the widening of Briggs-street, London-street, and some other public avenues, where obstructions have been removed, and the angles rendered less acute. The MARKETS held every Wednesday and Saturday, are abundantly supplied with cattle, corn, and provisions of every description.—Tombland Fair held on the day before Good Friday, is a large fair for horses and cattle, which are now exposed for sale in the new cattle market, formed on the Castle-hill, but the stalls for toys, sweetmeats, &c. are still set up in the open square, called Tombland, adjoining the entrances to the Cathedral Close. Pleasure Fairs at Bishop's Bridge, are held on Easter Monday and Tuesday, and Whit-Monday and Tuesday, and are numerous attended by the young and gay, and by shows and rarities which rival in their diversity and novelty the great metropolitan fair of St. Bartholomew. The two ancient fairs formerly held on Tombland, on the feast of St. Mary Magdalen, and the Tuesday after Michaelmas day, have long been obsolete. The MARKET PLACE, anciently the "Magna Crofta," of the castle, from which it is now separated by a dense mass of buildings, is about 200 yards long, and 110 broad, but half of the area on the western side and the south-end is occupied by the Guild-hall, the Church of St. Peter Mancroft, the butcher's stalls, (rebuilt in 1773,) the fish market, (erected in 1727,) and some other buildings. The Cross or market house which stood in the centre of the area, was erected in the reign of Edward III., and contained a small chapel or oratory, but after being rebuilt in 1503, and subsequently repaired and used for various purposes, it was taken down in 1732. The seed and skin market is held in the Old Haymarket, at the south end of the Market-place, the whole of which is now well paved and lined with well-stocked shops, though many of the buildings are ancient, with grotesque roofs presenting their gables to the front. The tolls received by the corporation for stalls in the Market-place, amount to nearly £600 per annum. The corn market, which is very extensive, was held in St. Andrew's Hall, from 1796 till 1828, when it was removed to the CORN EXCHANGE, an elegant building in Exchange-street, commenced in 1826, and finished at the cost of £6000, of which £2000 was subscribed by the agricultural gentlemen of Norfolk, and the remainder was raised in £50 shares, limited to the yearly interest of four per cent. It is about 120 feet long, 90 broad, and 27 high, exclusive of the arched part of roof which rises 13 feet higher. The building is open from end to end, but divided by two rows of Grecian pillars, with a fine proportioned entablature, supporting the roofs of the two side divisions, from which springs a lofty arched ceiling divided into pannelled compartments, in which are inserted eight large skylights and four enriched ventilators. In the walls of the two side divisions are twelve windows and two fire-places, and there is a large window at the east end. The interior has 62 stands for the corn merchants, let at three guineas each per annum, and when filled with people, the noisy hum which reverberates from the arched ceiling, never fails to strike the stranger with astonishment. The walls are decorated with two fine full-length portraits of John Culley, and T. W. Coke, Esqs.; the former being the first and most active promoter of the edifice, and the latter being considered the father and patron of the Norfolk agriculturists. The facade which fronts the street is of the same style of architecture as the interior, having a portico supported by four columns; and under the building are extensive arched cellars. The CATTLE MARKET is held on the south side of the Castle-hill, (see p. 109) every Saturday, and presents a busy and interesting scene. The Royal Bazaar in St. Andrew's, Broad-street, is a large and handsome building, the first stone of which was laid Sept. 8th, 1831—the coronation day of William IV. It was built by a company of shareholders, but is now the property of Mr Peter Thompson, the occupant. The spacious room on the ground floor is filled with drapery, mercery, &c., a side room with new and old books, the gallery with fancy goods, toys, &c. and another apartment is a subscription News Room. The manufactures, commerce, and navigation of Norwich have already been shewn at pages 91 to 99. Here are two old established BANKS, also a branch of the Bank of England opened in 1829, and the Norfolk and Norwich Joint Stock Bank opened in 1827. The Post Office is in Museum-street, (see p. 162.) The EXCISE OFFICE is in Pottergate-street, Wm. Boyd, Esq. is the collector; Robt Hutson, clerk; Thomas Smith, supervisor; and T. B. Worster, and H. Sawyer, permit writers. There is also a permit office in the school yard, Princes-street. The STAMP OFFICE is in Broad-street, St. Andrew's, and Samuel Heyhoe Le Neve Gilman is distributor for Norwich and the whole of Norfolk, except Lynn and Yarmouth: Thomas John Woodrow is the office clerk.

LITERARY INSTITUTIONS, &c. The Norwich Public Library, in Broad-street, St. Andrew's, was instituted in 1784, and now possesses a valuable collection of about 13,000 volumes, besides 1638 volumes belonging to the City Library which has been deposited in the same room since 1816. The former are the property of about 600 shareholders who pay an admission fee of five guineas, and subscribe one per annum. They have access also to the City Library books, which were sent to them under an order of the Chamberlain of the Corporation signed by the President. Mr. Edward Langton, the librarian, daily, except Sundays and holidays from ten to the evening till seven in the

The Norfolk and Norwich Literary Institution, 11 & 12 Haymarket, was founded in 1818, and has now a library of about 30,000 volumes and well-stocked, in the various departments of literature. The photographical of 60 pence per annum and a half, and the other as heretofore to a guinea per annum. F. R. S. is the librarian. The Norfolk and Norwich United Medical, at the Dispensary, Elm-hill, was instituted in 1800, and has now about fifteen, belonging to about 70 subscribers. These in the year 1844, 1845, in the country 18s. a year. The Penny Library at 26, F. R. S. street, founded in 1818, is devoted to the sale, and adapted as a public institution.

It has now about 2000 volumes, and 200 readers who each pay 1d. per year. The Norwich Institution, at 11, Thayer place, was founded in 1818, and has now a valuable library, a variety of photographic apparatus, and other apparatus. It has about 300 members who each contribute 1s. per annum. Mr. C. Jones is the librarian. The Norfolk and Norwich, in Museum-street, was established in 1818, but the handsome building (now complete) was built in 1823, in shape of the cost of £150,000 which it now pays four per cent. interest. This museum of Natural History and fine, is extensive and highly interesting, though it has not yet received that support which it deserves. Yearly subscribers of 5s. have admission for two, of 10s. for themselves and families; and of 21s. for themselves, and families. Ed. Griffin, Esq. is the secretary, and G. B. Drury, Esq. and George, or St. John's College, in Crown-court, Elm-hill, was instituted for the participation of useful knowledge, and exhibits in the weekly meetings, a picture of a current, with its object, price, and other objects. It is entirely supported by the Ship Charity, which they still continue to support since 1800. The Norfolk and Norwich Society of Artists was founded and expanded into two societies in 1818, but both are now dissolved for different engagements, though a commodious building for their use was about five years ago. This edifice, called the Exhibition Room, is in East-street, and now let to Mr. G. Reed, who has accumulated in its apartments a large and interesting collection of paintings, prints, vases, models, and other specimens of art. There are four rooms at the Museum and in the Old-street Yard and there are published in the city two weekly newspapers, the Norfolk Mercury, which commenced in 1791, and the Norfolk and Norwich Gazette, which began in 1791, besides which a paper is still published the Norfolk and Norwich Post, but printed at St. John's College, p. 118. From 1791 to 1818, attempts were made here, to establish newspapers called the Post, the Budget, and the Journal, but they all failed, till the Norfolk Gazette commenced in 1818.

Notes.—To sketch the names and characters of the numerous eminent men of letters in the Norwich society of letters, would furnish ample materials, and interesting volumes of local biography, we must therefore confine us to a brief enumeration of a few of the most distinguished, passing William of Norwich and some others already noticed of preceding pages. A. Prynne, born near in 1518, was a minister of Canterbury, and author of about 1000 "Antiquities Britannicæ." John Day, better known by the name of "John Day," was born in 1518, was an eminent physician, and founded Christ Church College, Cambridge. He was also distinguished as a mathematician, astronomer, and historian. Edward Brown, another eminent man, was born in 1518, and died at Northfleet, in Kent, in 1571. Dr. S. Augustus, a learned divine, was born near in 1571, and died in 1720. One John Prynne of Norwich, born in 1518, wrote several learned treatises on law, metaphysics, divinity, and medicine, and died 1590. Thomas was distinguished poet, and was the father of the famous English play "The Tempest." He died in 1597. John Compton, another author, born near in 1518, and died 1612. Edward Day, F. R. S. and learned writer, author of several treatises, was born near in 1518, was the successor of Compton, and died in London in 1617. Dr. John Prynne, born near in 1518, was a learned divine, and was the author of the "Prynne Letters," for which he was imprisoned in 1637. Francis Godwin, a minister of Llandudno, was born near in 1518.

Notes.—The Theatre is a large and commodious building, which was erected in 1818, near the site of the old theatre, and is now the property of the Corporation. The Theatre is a large and commodious building, which was erected in 1818, near the site of the old theatre, and is now the property of the Corporation. The Theatre is a large and commodious building, which was erected in 1818, near the site of the old theatre, and is now the property of the Corporation.

one 66 ft by 33, and the other 50 ft by 27. All the rooms communicate with each other by large doors, easily removed, so that the eye may command a suit of room 143 feet in length. The Concert Room, in Broad-street, St Andrew's, was built 1816, and is 50 feet long by 3 broad, covered with a ceiling of the same form, having an elevated orchestra, and an excellent organ. The Concert Society who meet here for practice every Friday evening, has long been celebrated for musical talent, both vocal and instrumental. Here is also a Choral Society, and a Harmonic Society. There are in the vicinity several Public Gardens, and Flower-Greens. In Lakenham, about a mile S. of the city, is the Norwich Nurseries, established about 60 years ago, by Mr John Mackie, and now conducted by Frederick Mackie. This nursery comprises upwards of 100 acres of land, thick stored with fruit-trees, and ornamental trees and shrubs. It has supplied germes from which have sprung the greater part of the extensive plantations have been formed on the wastes and around the gentlemen's seats of Norfolk and Suffolk, during the last half-century. Races were formerly held on Monday Heath, (enclosed in 1810), and efforts were made a few years ago to revive them under the patronage of John Harvey, Esq. who instituted the Hegatta, or water-fringe, held yearly on the river.

The Duke's Palace at one time was a large quadrangular building near Blackfriars-bay. It was purchased by the Duke of Norfolk in the reign of Henry VIII and received a larger and more splendid plan in 1602, by Henry, Duke of Norfolk, who grandly decorated it, owing to the conduct of the mayor, who refused his company of comedians to enter the city with trumpets, &c. From that time it was entirely neglected, and after being used as a common stuth and part as the workshop of the city was used by various persons. Among its accommodations for amusement were a theatre, tennis-court, and covered bowling-green; the latter had been the great indulgence. Surrey House, in Surrey-street, now occupied by Mr Seth Stephens, was a splendid occasional seat of the Earl of Surrey, is a fine specimen of domestic architecture, in the Tudor style. Opposite James's church, is an ancient house called Faustoff's Palace, being built by John Faustoff, of Cambray. Vide p. 406.

HAMLETS IN THE COUNTY OF THE CITY

For their Population see page 61, Churches page 134, and Improvements p. 135.

EARLHAM is a small hamlet on the banks of the Yare, 2 miles W. of N. wide. The greater part of the soil, and the manor belongs to the eldest son of the Baron Frank, Esq., but the Hall is occupied by Joseph John Gurney, Esq. who has an estate here. The bridge was built in 1402, and rebuilt in 1570 and 1641. See Directory p. 210. FATON, 2 miles S. W., is also a hamlet of the Yare. The manor is about 400 acres and belongs to the Dean and Chapter, but the soil is a number of houses, many of whom have lost some houses here. For particulars see p. 210. HAYMARK, which has increased its population since 1801, is 641 to 1,000 souls, comprises a large and handsome north-western suburb of the city, and a small village on the Wensum, 1 mile W. N. W. of the city. HITCHAM, a small village in an eminence, 2 miles S. W. of the city, its parish is partly in Exeterham Hundred. (Vide p. 134 and 348.) The manor was anciently a lordship. The Bishop is lord of the manor, and owner of a great part of the soil. For inhabitants see p. 220. LAKENHAM, an ancient populous manor, east of the city, and extends from St Stephen's and Ber-street gates, near the millers' thwaite. Hertford, or Bartford bridge, on the river Yare, is a road for the family who built them in the reign of King John. The road leading to the bridge was formerly very steep, but the descent was much reduced by cutting through it in 1804. Mrs Southwell owns a great part of the parish. For particulars see p. 220. ST JAMES'S parish, and adjoins the north-east side of the city. It is a long narrow street of humble dwellings, and the Horse-Barracks. The Dean and Chapter are lords of the manor. THORNTON hamlet, on the south-east side of the city, opposite Holby bridge and Faustoff's bridge, and contains the burial ground, the Roady burial ground, &c. It extends to Mauselund Heath, and was formerly a part of the Exeterham parish. For particulars see p. 342. TROWERS, Mitchell, Cannow, and Rea parishes, extend southward from Kings-street to the river Yare, opposite Trower Newton, St Nicholas Hundred. They are all as direct as the Yare, but have no parish church, though they had anciently parochial churches, and there was a vicarage at Cannow. (See p. 121.) A great part of the soil belongs to Mrs. Masterson of BRACKENHURST HOUSE, a handsome mansion, with delightful grounds, which owe most of their beauties to the late Philip Meadows Masterson, Esq., who collected here many remains of British architecture in 1604, and used them in the erection of a fully arch, and an edifice representing a small priory, with windows of stained glass. At Trowers Mill gate is a large water-mill and an independent Chapel.

LIST OF STREETS, &c. IN NORWICH,

WITH REFERENCES TO THEIR RESPECTIVE SITUATIONS.

PARISH REFERENCES —The figures at the end of each line show the parishes or hamlets to which the streets respectively belong, the figure 1 denoting All Saints; 2, St. Andrew; 3, St. Augustine; 4, St. Benedict; 5, St. Clement; 6, St. Edmund; 7, St. Etheldred; 8, St. George Colegate; 9, St. George Tombland; 10, St. Giles; 11, St. Gregory; 12, Hingham; 13, St. Helen; 14, St. James; 15, St. John Baptist, Timber hill; 16, St. John, Madders market; 17, St. John Sepulchre; 18, St. Julian; 19, Lakenham; 20, St. Lawrence; 21, St. Margaret; 22, St. Martin at Oak; 23, St. Martin at Palace; 24, St. Mary; 25, St. Michael Coalany; 26, St. Michael at Plea; 27, St. Michael at Thorn; 28, St. Paul; 29, St. Peter, Hungate; 30, St. Peter, Mancroft; 31, St. Peter per Mountergate; 32, St. Peter, Southgate; 33, Pockthorpe hamlet; 34, St. Saviour; 35, St. Simon and Jude; 36, St. Stephen; 37, St. Swithun; 38, Thorpe hamlet; 39, Trinity, or St. Mary-in-the-Marsh, (which includes the Cathedral close;) and 40, Trowse Carrow and Bracondale hamlet.

Northam, Koton, and Hellisdon, have separate Directories; being detached hamlets.

THE CONTRACTIONS used in the following list, and in the subjoined Directory of the inhabitants, are such as, it is hoped, will be easily understood:—those most frequently repeated are the usual abbreviations of Christian names, and blags for buildings; bdg bridge; bookr bookkeeper; c. a. church alley; cyd. or chd. church yard; coml commercial; coman. commissioner; ct. court; gt. gate; gn. green; h. or ha house; Lakam. Lakenham; ln. lane; lwr lower; Madkt. Madders market; Mkp. Market place; mkt. market; N. C. New City; pal. palace; pla. plain; St. Saint; st. street; solr. solicitor; ter. terrace; ttr. traveller; upr upper; vict. victualler; whsm. wharshouseman; and W for West.

Alderson's buildings, St. Catharine's plain, 17	Bear yd Gentleman's walk, 30
All Saint's Church yard & green, Wastlegate street, 1	Bear and Staffyard, Fisher's h., 27
All Saint's st. All Saint's ga. 15	Ber street, Timber hill, 15, 17, 27
Alms house lane, Middle street, St. George, 8	Ber street gate, Ber street, 17
Anchor yard, Surrey street, 36	Bethel street, Upper market, 10, 30
Angel street, Castle street, 30	Bethel street open, Bethel st. 30
Asylum road, Hingham road, 12	Bird's court, Red Lion street, 36
Austin's court, Bethel street, 30	Bishop bridge, Bishopgate st. 13
Back Cross street, Cross street, 12	Bishopgate street, Tabernacle row, 13, 38, 39
Back of the Inns, White Lion st. 30	Blackfriars bridge, Bridge, st. St. Andrew, 8
Baker's road, St. Augustine's gt. 5	Blod's ct. Broad st. St. Andw. 2
Bank place, London street, 26	Boarded house ln. Cattle mark. 27
Bank street, Bank place, 9, 26	Botolph street, Magdalen st. 3, 34
Barnes' yard, Magdalen st. 34	Bracondale, beyond Ber st gate
Barrack street, St. James' st. 33	Bracondale terrace, Bracondale
Barwell's ct. St. Stephen's st. 36	Brazen doors, Rodney street, 1
Bazaar ct. St. Andrew, Broad st.	Brazen doors road, Brazen doors, 19
	Brewery lane, Brazen doors, 19

- Brewhouse yard, Coslany st. 22
 Brickwood's buildings, World's-end lane, 23
 Bridewell alley, Pottergate st. 2
 Bridge st. St. Andrew, Broad st. 2
 Bridge st. St. Geo. Blackfriars, 8
 Bridge street, St. Lawrence 20
 Bridge street, St. Miles', 25
 Briggs street, Old Haymarket, 36
 Broad street St. Andrew, Museum street, 2, 16
 Broad street St. Giles, Market place, 10, 11, 30
 Brown's bldgs, St. Faith's ln 31
 Brown's court, St. Stephen's st. 36
 Brown's yd Upr Westwick st 11
 Brundell's court, Redwell street, 2
 Buffcoat lane, Golden Ball st. 27
 Bull close, Cowgate street, 28
 Bull lane, St. Stephen's st. 36
 Burrell's yard, Magdalen st. 34
 Butchers' market, Upr. mkt. 30
 Calvert street, Colegate st. 8, 34
 Cannell's court, Ber street, 27
 Capon's court, Bethel street, 10
 Carrow, King street gate
 Carrow New road, Ber street gate
 Castle ditches, Cattle market, 2, 15, 26, 27, 30, 31
 Castle meadow, Cattle mkt. 9, 31
 Castle street, London street, 2, 30
 Cattermouls lane, London street
 Cattle market, Orford hill, 15, 27
 Catton rd. St. Augustine's gate, 5
 Chalk farm & place, Aylsham rd. 5
 Chalk hill, Hellesden road, 5
 Chantry, Theatre street, 36
 Chapelfield, Theatre street, 10, 30
 Chapelfield grove, Chapelfield, 36
 Chapelfield road, St. Stephen's gate, 10, 12, 30, 36
 Chapel lane, Ber street, 27
 Chapel street, Church path, 19
 Chapel street, Crook's place, 36
 Chapel yard, Botolph street, 34
 Charing cross, Broad st. St. A. 16
 Chatham place, Chapelfield rd. 36
 Chequer's passage, Middle street
 Cherry lane, Middle street, 8
 Cherry street, Hall road, 19
 Cherry tree yard, Middle st, 8
 Church path, Southwell road, 19
 City road, Dereham road, 12
 City road, Ber street gate, 19
 Clement court, Bank plain, 26
 Close (Upr. & Lwr.) Tomtland, 39
 Cibourg st. Stephen's gate, 30, 36
 Cockey lane, London st. 2, 16, 30
 Cockey lane, King street
 Cocksedge's yard, Ber street, 27
 Coleby place, Lwr Westwick st. 4
 Colegate st. Bridge st. St. Geo. 5, 8
 Cole's yard, Upper Westwick st. 20
 Cooke's lane, King street, 9
 Coslany street, Bridge street, St.
 Miles, 22, 24, 25
 Cow hill, St. Giles' street, 10
 Cowgate st. Magdalen st. 14, 28
 Crescent, Chapelfield road, 36
 Crook's place, Chapelfield rd. 36
 Cross lane, Middle street, 8
 Cross street, Heigham hill, 12
 Davey place, Gentleman's walk, 30
 Day's court, Upper market, 30
 Day's yard, St. Stephen's st. 36
 De Caux's court, Wensum st. 35
 De Haugue's court, Elm hill, 29
 Dereham rd. St. Benedict's gate
 Dial court, Coslany street, 25
 Distillery street, Dereham rd. 12
 Distillery yard, Coslany street, 24
 Dix's buildings, Coslany street, 22
 Dove street, Market place, 16, 30
 Duck lane, Pottergate street, 4
 Duke's palace, Charing cross, 16
 Duke's Duke's palace bldg 24, 25
 Eldon row, Chapelfield road, 12
 Elm hill, St. Andrew's plain, 2, 26, 29, 35
 Exchange street, Market place, 30
 Excise office ct. Pottergate st. 4
 Field sq. St. Stephen's gate, 19
 Fish market, Market place, 30
 Fishgate street, Magdalen st. 5, 6
 Fisher's lane, St. Giles' st. 10, 11
 Fisher's yard, Fishgate street, 6
 Fletcher's court, Old Haymkt. 30
 Foundrybridge & rd. Rose ln. 31
 French Church court, Middle st. 8
 Fuller's hole, Coslany street, 22
 Fye bridge, Wensum street, 35
 Fye bldg quay, Wensum st. 23, 35
 Gentleman's walk, Market place, and Old Haymarket, 30
 Gilden croft lane and row, St.
 Augustine's, Church row, 3

- Globe lane, Rising Sun lane, 27
 Gloucester place, St. Catherine's plain, 19
 Goat hill, Market place, 30
 Goat lane, Pottergate street, 11
 Golden ball st. Cattle mkt. 15, 27
 Golden dog lane, Calvert st. 9, 34
 Gowing's passage, St. Stephen's street, 36
 Graham's court, Uppermarket, 30
 Great yard, World's-end lane, 23
 Green hill, St. Augustine's gate, 5
 Green's lane, Middle street, 8
 Gregory street, Pottergate st. 11
 Greyfriar's priory, King street, 9
 Groat's court, Timber hill, 15
 Groul's court, Magdalen st. 34
 Grove & cottage, Ipswich road, 19
 Grove place, Brazen doors road, 19
 Grove place, Heigham hill, 12
 Gunhouse yard, Goat hill, 30
 Gun lane, Old Haymarket, 36
 Half-mile lane, Eaton road
 Hamlet place, St. Giles' hill, 12
 Harford hill, Ipswich road, 19
 Harrison's yard, Castle meadow, 31
 Haw's place, Hall road, 19
 Haymarket, Cattle market, 15, 27
 Haymarket (Old), Market pl. 30
 Heigham village, street, & gate, Lower Westwick street, 12
 Heigham hill & grove, St. Giles' gate, 12
 Heigham ter Newmarket road, 12
 Hingham road, St. Giles' gates, 12
 Hole-in-the-Wall lane, Pottergt. 2
 Holkham street, Castle ditches, 27
 Horn's lane, Ber street, 17, 18
 Horse fair, St. Faith's lane, 31
 Horseman square, Timber hill, 15
 Houghton's yard, Elm hill, 35
 Howard st. Brazen doors rd. 19
 Huggins row, St. Benedict's gate
 Hungate, now Princes street
 Imperial Arms yard, King st. 31
 Ivory square, Scoles green, 31
 Jenkins lane, Coslany street, 22
 Juhan place, Chapelfield road, 12
 Kensington place, St. Catherine's plain, 19
 King's head yard, St. Stephen's st.
 King street, Castle meadow, 7, 9, 18, 31, 22
 King st. Crook's place, N. C. 36
 King street gates, King street, 17
 Lady's lane, Bethel street, 30
 Lady's row, St. Stephen's gate, 19
 Lakenham hall-road, and place, St. Catherine's plain, 19
 Lakenham (New), Ber st. gate, 19
 Lakenham terrace, City road, 19
 Library ct. Broad st. St. Andw. 16
 Life's green, E. end of Cathedral, 39
 Ling's yard, Magdalen street, 34
 Ling's yard, Pottergate street, 2
 Livingston's court, Goat hill
 London road, St. Stephen's gate, 19
 London street, Market pl. 2, 26, 30
 Long lane, Charing cross, 16
 Long walk, Bethel street, 10
 Maddar market, Pottergate st. 16
 Madon's buildings, Dereham road
 Magdalen gate, Magdalen st. 28
 Magdalen place, Cowgate st. 28
 Magdalen st. Fye bridge, 5, 28, 34
 Manchester bldgs Union pl. 12
 Mancroft yd. Bk. of St. Peter's. 30
 Marner's lane, Ber street, 17
 Market lane, Scoles green, 31
 Market place, Guild hall, 30
 Mason's bldgs. Dereham road, 12
 Middle st. Bridge st. St. Geo. 3, 4
 Milesbrdg Bridge st. St. Lawrence 25
 Mill lane, Newmarket rd. 12, 36
 Mill hill & street, New Catton, 5
 Mill street, Lakenham hall rd. 19
 Mission place, King street, 18
 Moushold hill, Bishop bridge, 38
 Museum street, Exchange st. 16
 Muspole st. St. George's plain, 24
 Nailor's lane, Charing cross, 16
 National school yd. Princes st. 26
 New Catton, Catton road, 5
 New City consists of Crook's pl. Juhan pl. Union pl. &c. 12, 36
 Newmarket rd. St. Stephen's gt. 12
 New Catton, Lakenham road
 New mills, Lwr Westwick st. 37
 New mills ln. & yd. Coslany st. 24
 Northumberland place, King st. 18
 Old Barrack yd. St. Miles' bldg. 25
 Old Post office yard, Gentleman's walk, & Market place
 One post passage, St. Stephen's st.
 Orford hill, White Lion st. 15, 30, 39
 Orford st. (Gt.) Orford hill, 15

- Orford st. (Little), Briggs st. 30, 36
 Oxford st. St. Catherine's plain, 17
 Paddock, Silver road, 33
 Palace st. Tombland, 23, 35, 39
 Paradise row, Hall road, 19
 Pattison's yard, Magdalen st. 34
 Peacock street, Fishgate st. 6, 31
 Peasfield, Lakenham
 Peeke's court, Magdalen street, 5
 Philadelphia, Aylsham road, 5
 Pig lane, Palace street, 23, 35
 Pigg's buildings, Water lane, 6
 Pitt st. St. Mary's church, 3, 5, 22, 24
 Pockthorpe, St. James' street
 Pottergate street, Exchange street,
 2, 4, 10, 11, 20, 21, 37
 Princes street, Elm hill, 9, 26, 29
 Princes Inn lane, Princes st.
 Priory yard, Cowgate street, 14
 Providence place, New Catton, 5
 Providence place, Derham rd. 12
 Pudding lane, Market place, 30
 Pump street, Buffcoat lane, 31
 Pye's yd. St. Martin's plain, 23
 Quaker's lane, Pitt street, 22
 Queen street, Bank place, 26
 Queen street, Crook's place, 36
 Rampant Horse st. Briggs st. 36
 Red Lion street, Orford hill, 36
 Red Well street, Bank place, 2, 26
 Reeve's yard, Coslany street, 24
 Regent street, Union place, 36
 Regent st. (Upper), Union pl. 12
 Richmond place, Ber st gate, 19
 Higby's court, Broad st. St. Giles, 10
 Rising Sun In. Golden ball st. 27
 Roach's court, Elm hill, 35
 Roach's court, Fisher's lane
 Robinson's yard, Coslany st. 22
 Rodney street, Surrey street, 1, 36
 Rosary, Thorpe hamlet
 Rose lane, King street, 31
 Rose yard, St. Stephen's st. 36
 Rosemary In. St. Mary's church, 24
 St. Andrew's hill & steps, London street, 3
 St. Andrew's plain, Broad st. 2
 St. Anne's lane, King street
 St. Anne's staith, Lower King st.
 St. Augustine street, wall, and Church row, Pitt street, 3
 St. Benedict's Church yard and gates, Upper Westwick st. 4
 St. Catherine's hill and plain,
 Surrey road, 17, 19
 St. Clement's, Church alley, Magdalen street, 5
 St. Clement's hill & place, New
 Catton, 5
 St. Edmund's Church yd. Fishgt. 6
 St. Faith's lane, King street, 31
 St. George's plain, Colegate st. 8, 25
 St. George's Church yard & alley,
 Princes street, 9
 St. Giles' hill, St. Giles' gate, 4, 12
 St. Giles' street & gate, Broad st.
 St. Giles', 10
 St. Giles' terrace, Bethol st. 10
 St. Gregory's, Church alley, Pottergate street, 11
 St. Helen's square, Bishopgt. st. 13
 St. James' palace, St. James' st. 14
 St. James' street, Cowgate st. 14
 St. John, Madder market, Potter-gate street, 16
 St. Julian's Church, King st. 18
 St. Lawrence, Church alley, Upper Westwick street, 20
 St. Lawrence In. Pottergate st. 20
 St. Margaret's In Pottergate st. 21
 St. Margaret's plain, Upper West-
 wick street, 21
 St. Martin's lane, Pitt st. 22, 24
 St. Martin's at Palace, Palace st. 23
 St. Martin's at Oak, Coslany st. 22
 St. Mary's plain & Church alley,
 Coslany street, 24
 St. Michael's Coslany, Coslany
 street, 25
 St. Michael at Plea, Redwell st. 26
 St. Miles' bridge, Lower West-
 wick street, 25
 St. Paul's Back street, Peacock
 street, 28, 34
 St. Paul's street, plain, Church alley, and School open, Peacock street, 28
 St. Peter's (Back of), Upr. mrkt. 30
 St. Peter's Church yd. King st. 32
 St. Saviour's Church yard & alley,
 Magdalen street, 34
 St. Saviour's lane, Magdalen st. 34
 St. Stephen's Back at Cobourg st. 36
 St. Stephen's street, gate, road, square, and plain, Rampant
 Horse street, 36

in's, Church alley and Upper Westwick st. 37
 r's lane, Pottergate, 37
 Hercules court, Tomb-ferry, Lower close, 39
 lgs. Lower Heigham, 12 en, Rising Sun ln. 15, 31
 1, Barrack street, 33
 buildings, Union pl. 12 buildings, Lady's ln. 30 road, Brazen doors, 19 street, Duke street, 24 ls, Thorpe hamlet ice yard, Broad street, crew, 2,
 lace, Cobourg street, 30
 lane, Scoles green, 31
 s, Dereham road, 12
 ss, Magdalen street, 34
 urt, Surrey street, 36
 ove, Surrey road, 27 ice, Brazen doors rd. 19
 ews, Rodney street, 36 ad, Surrey street, 1
 eet, St. Stephen's, 36
 St. Augustine st. 3, 5, 22
 e, London street, 2 d, St. Stephen's st. 36
 le row, St. Martin's at 23
 t. Rampant Horse st. 36 square, Theatre street, 36 ne, Ber street, 27, 31 fare yard, Magdalen st. 5
 amlet, Bishop bridge ill, Orford hill, 15 lane, Lower Heigham, 12
 urt, Little Orford st. 36
 l, Queen street, 9
 se, Ipswich road street, Hall road, 19
 Brazen doors road, 19

Trowse Millgate, Bracondale
 Tubby's yard, Muspole street, 24
 Turner's ct. Upper Westwick st. 20
 Union place, Chapelfield road, 12
 Unthank's road, St. Giles' gates, 12
 Upper market, Market place, 30
 Upper Queen street, New City
 Upper walk, Market place, 30
 Waggon & Horses ln. Elm hill, 29
 Wales' bldgs. St. Augustine gt. 3, 5 Wastlegate street, St. Stephen's plain, 1, 36
 Water lane, Fishgate street, 6
 Water ln. St. George's Bridge st. 8
 Water lane, St. James' St. Martin's, and King street
 Weaver's lane, Market place, 30
 Wellington pl. & st. Pottergate, 10
 Wellington yard, St. Stephen's st.
 Wensum street, Tombland, 35
 West end place, Brazen doors, 19
 West end place, Chapelfield rd. 12
 West Pottergate st. St. Giles' hill, 12
 Westwick street (Lower & Upper),
 Charing cross, 4, 11, 20, 21, & 37
 Whitefriars' bridge and street, St.
 Martin's at Palace, 23
 White Lion lane, St. Martin's at
 Palace, 23
 White Lion st. Gentln's. walk, 30
 Wilde's buildings, Scoles green, 15
 Willow lane, St. Giles', 10
 Windsor place, Hall road, 19
 Wiseman's yard, Muspole st. 24
 Woodcock's yd. Little Orford st. 36
 Wooden entry, Pottergate st. 20
 World's end lane, St. Martin's at Palace, 23
 Wounded Heart ln. Upr. market, 30
 Wright's bldgs. West Pottergt. 12
 Wymer street, now St. Andrew's,
 Broad street
 York place, Chapelfield road, 30

NORWICH DIRECTORY.

POST OFFICE, Museum street; Wm. Power Hicks, Esq., Post master; Mr. W. J. Hicks, Assistant; Mr. Francis Bean, Clerk.

The London Mail, via Ipswich, arrives at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 7 morning, and is despatched at 7 evening with letters for all parts of the South. The Newmarket Mail arrives at 9 morning, and is despatched at 5 evening, with letters for the South, West, and North.

The Mail to Yarmouth, with bags for Acle, Blofield, and Thorpe, arrives at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 4 afternoon, and is despatched at 10 morning.

Three Mail Carts, for Aylsham, Cromer, and Hevingham; Coltishall, Scotton, North Walsham, and Worsted; Brooke and Loddon leave at 10 morning, and arrive at about $\frac{1}{2}$ past 4 afternoon.

Foot Posts, from Norwich to Reepham, and from Coltishall to Stalham, daily, except Monday—No letters being received from London on that day, nor despatched thither on Saturday.

The Office opens at 7 morning, in summer, and 8 in winter, and closes at 9 evening. The Box is closed an hour before the departure of the mails, but letters are taken in at the window on the payment of 1d. each, until the closing of bags. Letter Carriers are sent out on delivery twice a day, about one hour after the arrival of the mails; except on Sundays, Good Friday, and Christmas day, when there is only a morning delivery.

 The postage of all foreign letters (his Majesty's colonies in the West Indies and British America excepted,) must be paid at the office where they are put in, or they will be opened in London, and returned to the writers.

MISCELLANY of Gentry, Clergy, Partners in firms and other residents of Norwich, who are not arranged in the succeeding classification of Trades and Professions, to which an alphabetical index is appended.

Abbott Capt. J. St. Stephen's sq.	Alpe Capt. Hammond, 6, Gun ln.
Aberdeen Miss, Mason's bldg.	Alpe Mrs. Harriet, Lower close
Adams Mr. W. Bayes, Elm hill	Amos John, sexton, St. Giles' st.
Adamson Ralph, clerk, Middle st.	Angell Euz. midwife, Middle st.
Aggas, Mr. John, Hall road	Angell Miss Harriet, Bracondale
Aggs, Mrs. Lucy, Castle mdw.	Archer Miss Ann, King street
Alderman Misses, A. & S. Cross st.	Arthurton, Mrs. Reb. Horse fair
Alderson Miss Eliza, Wensum st.	Artis Mrs. Sar. Pottergate street
Aldred James, gent. Stephen's gt.	Asker Jas. clerk, Newmarket rd.
Alexander Rev. John Ind. min.	Atkins Mr. Rd. Bethel street
Middle street	Atkinson J. clerk, Middle st.
Allred Hy. dyer, Distillery st.	Aufreze Miss A. J. Lower close
Allred Mrs. S. West Pottergt. st.	Austin Mrs. Rachl. Dereham rd.
Algar, Mrs. Sar. Bracondale ter	Ayton Jas. Old Post office yard
Allen Miss, Johanna, Dereham rd.	Back Miss Ann, Surrey street
Allen Wm. bookkpr. Cow hill	Back Miss Jane, Broad st. St. G.'s
Allwood T. sub-sacrist, Lr close	Back James, gent. Surrey place

Bacon Mrs. Sar. Rigby's court
 Bacon R. jun. printer, Foundry rd.
 Bacon Nicholas, gent.; h. Thorpe
 Bacon George P. wine mercht.
 Surrey street
 Bailey Any. clerk, St. Giles' hill
 Bailey Thos. clerk of St. Helen's,
 Bishopgate street
 Bailey Jno. thatcher, Barnes' yd.
 Bainbridge John, clerk, Goat lane
 Bakewell Rev. Wm. Johnstone,
 Unit. min. Elm hill
 Baldry Wm. surveyor, Bird's ct.
 Red Lion street
 Baldwin Rd. gent. Newmarket rd.
 Balls Hepburn, bankers' clerk,
 Castle meadow
 Banks Robt. grocer, Peacock st.
 Banks W. mfr. West Pottergt. st.
 Banyer, Wm. gent. 16, Crescent
 Barber John, gent. St. Stpn's. gt.
 Barch Mrs. Jane, Distillery street
 Bardwell G. bookr. St. Giles' st.
 Barham Miss E. & S. St. Stpn's. gate.
 Barker Mrs. Alice, Pottergate st.
 Barker Wm. winder, Sussex st.
 Barnard Ca. irongr. Hingham rd.
 Barnard John Hilling, ironmonger, Heigham grove
 Barrow, James, R.N. Howard st.
 Barwell Mrs. Har. St. Stpn's. st.
 Baseley Mrs. Margt. Bethel st.
 Basey John, gent. Chapelfield rd.
 Bassett Mr. Hy. St. Giles' hill
 Bates Osborn, wood pill box mkr.
 New Catton
 Bately John, gt. 5, Richmond pl.
 Baxter Mr. Wm. King street
 Bayfield John F. clerk, West end place
 Bayfield Mrs. J. 66, Broad st. St.
 Giles'
 Beacham Mr. John, Scoles gr.
 Bean Francis, post office clerk,
 Foundry Bridge
 Bean Mr. Mark, Charing cross
 Beane Mrs. Mary, Thorpe
 Beare Miss Amelia, Calvert st.
 Beaumont Rev. Geo. Chapel lane
 Beekham Mr. Edm. Middle st.
 Beckwith Augustus Adolphus
 Hamilton, Town clk. palace st.

Beddingfield John, jun. Gun ln.
 Beecroft Mrs. Judith, Tombland
 Beeston Rt. F. gent. Heigham grv.
 Beevor Mrs. Bridget, Pitt street
 Belding Mr. Geo. Bridge street
 Bell John, slay mkr. Stump cross
 Bell John, barrack serg. Barracks
 Bell Edm. clerk of St. Edmund's,
 Peacock street
 Bell Wm. coroner, Carrow bridge
 Bell W. bookpr. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Beloe Hy. dyer, Bridge street
 Belson Rt. painter, Lady's lane
 Bennett Jas. gent. St. Giles' st.
 Bennett Hy. schoolr. Colegate st.
 Bensley Chas. gent. 66, St. Stephen's st.
 Bendley T. gent. 5, Lakenham pl.
 Benson Geo. gent. Dereham rd.
 Bevans Miss Ann, Lower close
 Bexfield Mr. John, City road
 Bexfield Mr. Rd. Union place
 Bilham John, visitor to the Court of Guardians, Hingham road
 Bindley Chas. & Geo. gas fitters,
 Princes street
 Bird Mr. Bailey, Red Lion st.
 Blake Dodshon, gent. Magdalen st.
 Blake Isaac, dresser, Middle st.
 Blake John, attorney, Surrey st.
 Blake John, Jph. atty. Palace st.
 Blake Mrs. Mary, Magdalen st.
 Blackley, Mrs. Sophia, Lady's row
 Blancks Mrs. A. Bracondale hill
 Blofield Mr. Geo. Rose lane
 Blomfield John, cattle dlr. Mason's buildings
 Blunderfield Mr. Clark, Cherry st.
 Blunderfield Mrs. Eliz. Pitt street
 Blyth Thos. millwright, King st.
 Boardman Jas. wharfgr. King st.
 Boardman Rd. Roper, Under Chamberlain, 1, York place
 Bolden Mr. F. St. Stephen's plain
 Bolingbroke Hy. wine merchant,
 St. Giles' street
 Bolingbroke Horatio, merchant,
 Chapelfield
 Bolingbroke Nathl. mercht. Willow lane
 Bolton Mr. Rt. Rose lane
 Bond Hy. clerk, W. Pottergt. st.
 Bond Mrs. J. 13, Lakenham pl.

- Bond Mrs. Milcent, Broad st.
 Bone Nichs. gent. Heigham hill
 Bonney Mrs. Sarah, Bethel st.
 Booth Edw. gent. Rodney street
 Booth G. clerk, 13, Richmond pl.
 Boothwright Mrs. Heigham hill
 Booty Mrs. Sarah, King street
 Borrow Mrs. Ann, Cow hill
 Boulton Mrs. Mary, Spittlefields
 Bowden Mr. John, St. Stphn's, gt.
 Bowen Mrs. Mary, St. Martin's at Palace plain
 Bowman Rev. John, Surrey st.
 Boyce Geo. bookpr. Coslany st.
 Boyce Jas. Stanford, clerk of St.
 Michael's Coslany, Bridge st.
 Boyd Sar. matron, Eye Infirmary,
 Pottergate street
 Bradley Misses Susanna & Ann,
 Upper Westwick
 Bradfield Mr. G. St Stphn's, sqr.
 Bradshaw, Capt. F. St. Giles' st.
 Branch Mrs. Sus. St. Paul's st.
 Barnaby Mrs. R. Tabernacle row
 Brett Mrs. Sarah, Peacock street
 Brettingham Mr. R. L. Dereham rd.
 Bristoe Mrs. Rose lane
 Brock Rev. W. (Bapt.) Middle st.
 Brookes Misses S. & J. Theatre st.
 Brooks, Jas. jun. Hingham road
 Brown Chas. clerk of All Saints,
 All Saints' green
 Brown Rev. J. Broad st St Andw.
 Browne Mrs. Ann, King street
 Browne, Mrs. Ann, St. Margaret's
 lane
 Browne Edw. irongr. Ber st. gate
 Browne, Mrs. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Browne John, turnkey, City gaol
 Browne Mrs. Ives, Upper close
 Browne Michl. clerk of ordnance works, Spittlefields
 Browne Capt. Rd. Lower close
 Browne Mr. Thos. Trafalgar st.
 Browne W. lay clerk, Lwr. close Brownfield Mrs. A. Magdalen st.
 Brownson Miss My. The Chantry
 Buck Mr. John, Trafalgar street
 Buck Zach. organist, Upr. close
 Bugg Mr. Saml. Surrey grove
 Bullen Mrs. Ann, 1, Crescent
 Bullen Mrs. M. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Bunn Wm. gent. 3, Lakenham pl.
 Bunn John, builder, Lakenham pl.
 Bunting Benj. tallow chandler,
 Bracondale hill
 Burgess Wm. farmer, Heigham
 Burks Mrs. Eliz. West end place
 Burnett Mrs. Cht. Castle ditches
 Burt W. brewer Broad st. St. G.'s
 Butler Rt. St John's clerk, Ber st.
 Buttifant John, millwright, Hole in Wall lane
 Buttifant Mrs. M. Castle meadow
 Buttifant Thos. crier of Norfolk courts, Chapel st. New city
 Buxton John, gent. Lakenham rd.
 Bygrave Robert, gent. St. Giles',
 Broad street
 Calthorpe Miss, Chtte. Chapel ln.
 Campin Mr. Rt. 1, Howard street
 Camplin Mr. Sar. Union place
 Cannell Nun, gent. Newmkt. rd.
 Candler Miss Sarah, Bracondale
 Capon Cphr. gent. St. Catherine's
 plain
 Carlos Miss Mary, Theatre street
 Carr Mrs. Hanh. Julian place
 Carr Mr. Wm. St. Michl. Coslany
 Carter Rev. Geo. Upper close
 Carter Mrs. Hanh. St. Helen's sq
 Carver T's. printer, W. Pottergt. st.
 Cattermoul Geo. builder, Ber st.
 Chalker Mr. Robt. Regent street
 Chamberlin Hy. draper, St. Stephen's gate
 Chamberlin Henry, jun. draper,
 Heigham grove
 Chamberlin Rt. draper, Chapel-field grove
 Chamberlin Mrs. Ber street
 Chambers Chas. bookpr. St. Michael Coslany
 Chambers John, Esq. Lwr. close
 Chaplin Thos. tvr. West end pl.
 Chapman Rev. Chas. John, M.A.
 Pottergate street
 Chapman Mrs. Eliz. St. Giles'
 Chapman Geo. teacher, Cole's yd.
 Chapman Gdnr. atty. Upr. close Charlwood Arthur, (Morrison med. vender,) back of St. Peter's Chaston Mr. Ths. Sothern's bldg.
 Chester Mr. Fras. 3, Richmond pl.
 Cheston Mr. Const. 8, Richmond pl.

Chesham Mrs. Sophia, St. Benedict's
 Church Mr. Chan, Sotham's bldgs.
 Clark Jno. mfr. Calvert street
 Clark Ja. bookr. Chapel st. N. C.
 Clarke Mrs. Newmarket road
 Claxton Mr. F. Baker's road
 Clayton Miss, Bethel street
 Clayton Rev. Wm. St. Giles' st.
 Clement Mrs. Sar. King street
 Clifford Hy. comdr. Heigham hill
 Coast Mrs. Ruth, Heigham hill
 Cobb Wm. bookr. Calvert street
 Cockedge Ja. Page, gent. Her st.
 Codman Stepa. clerk of St. Martin's, Conalany street
 Colbourn Mrs. Chapel lane
 Cole Mrs. Ann, 71, St. Giles',
 Broad street
 Cole Mr. Wm. New Catton
 Cole Mr. Wm. Hall rd. St. Giles'
 Colby Mrs. Troy street
 Coleman Mrs. Saml. Willow la.
 Collier Mrs. Cath. Upr. King st.
 Collingridge Rev. Ignatius, Cath.
 priest, Charing cross
 Collins Mrs. Mary, Duke street
 Colman Mrs. West end place
 Colman Jph. atty. Redwell street
 Colman Mr. Ta. St. Stephen's st.
 Colla Rev. Theo. Cooper, St. Cle-
 ment's hill
 Collett Mrs. Sus. Union place
 Colyer Col. Wm. Tombland
 Cook Rev. Ball, Heigham grove
 Cooke Rev. Ja. (Wm.) Calvert st.
 Cooper John, F. Castle ditch
 Cooper Mrs. All Saint's green
 Cooper Mrs. Sar. Lower close
 Couper Mr. Wm. St. Clement's
 Copeman John, Surrey grove
 Copeman Mr. Matt. Hingham rd.
 Corbould Mrs. E. Chapelfield
 Cork W. gent. Heigham cottage
 Cornwell Eliz. A. Howard street
 Corbie Jph. & Denis T. bookprs.
 Lower Heigham
 Cotman Edm. gent. Heigham ter.
 Cousins Jas. ironmfr. Bennett st.
 Craske Mrs. Eliz. Union place
 Crate Rev. Chas. Theo. Baptist
 min. Pottergt. street
 Cramer Rt. apoth. Elm hill

Crickmer John, gent. Lakenham terrace
 Crooms Mrs. Phoebe, Calvert st.
 Crowfoot Tobias, Philadelphia
 Cubitt Miss, 7, Richmond place
 Cubitt St. shopm. Surrey road
 Cubitt Capt. Hy. Upper close
 Cubitt Geo. gent. Upper close Cullington Mrs. M. Lakh. hall rd.
 Currie Geo. dyer, Calvert st.
 Curtis Chpr. clerk, Brazen door
 Custance Capt. Nevil, Stone hills
 Cutler Rev. Cha. A. Bracondale gn.
 Cutler Ta. gent. A. Bracondale gn.
 Dade Mr. Jonth. 16, Richmond pl.
 Daniell Rev. Edw. Theo. 68, St.
 Giles', Broad street
 Darby Rev. Wm. Heigham hill
 Darkins C. brickr. St. Geo.'s pla.
 Dashwood Mr. Geo. City road
 Dashwood Miss M. A. Lady's la.
 Daveney Mrs. Sar. Bethel street
 Davey Ann, doctress, Fishgate
 Davey Mrs. Emma, Magdalen st.
 Davey Wm. gent. Chapelfield rd.
 Davidson Mrs. Ann, Lady's row
 Davis Mr. Jas. West Pottergt. st.
 Davis Mrs. Rebecca, Lady's row
 Davy Mrs. Sarah, Calvert street
 Davy Mr. Wm. 51, Pottergate
 Davy John, bookr. Sussex street
 Day Miss Chas. Pottergt. st.
 Day Rev. Geo. Foundry road
 Day Mr. Jas. 12, Lakenham pl.
 Day Theo. Starling, corn inspector, Upr. market; h. Eaton rd.
 Day Starling, papermfr. Heigham
 Deacon Rev. Jas. Pottergt. st.
 Debney Mrs. M. A. King st. N. C.
 De Carlo Mr. Robt. St. Simon's
 Deday Theo. gt. St. Clement's hl.
 Decker Mrs. M. 69, Broad st. St. G.
 Denny Geo. Rd. curator, Museum
 De Veer John, merr. Lower close
 De Veer Mrs. Susanna, Cow hill
 Dewing Mrs. Elz. Fisher's lane
 Dixon Theo. iron fndr. Sussex st.
 Dobson Mrs. Sar. Sotham's bldgs.
 Docking Mrs. Caroline, Thorpe
 Doman John, gent. City road
 Donne Mrs. Hannah, Surrey st.
 Doughty Mrs. Bethia, St. Cle-
 ment's hill

- Doughty Mr. John, Sussex street
 Drake Mrs. Charlotte, Middle st.
 Drake Fras. gt. 1, Bracondale gn.
 Drake Rev. Wm. Pitt, Upr. close
 Drane Hy. coach prop. Union pl.
 Drane Hy. coachman, Union pl.
 Draper Geo. clerk of St. Peter's
 Hungate, Elmhill
 Drew Mr. Jas. 10, St. Stephen's sq.
 Dring, Mr. Geo. St. Paul's Back st.
 Driver Wm. clerk, Newmarket rd.
 Drucry John, clerk, Distillery st.
 Drummond Rev. Thomas, Rosary
 Dryden Rev. John, Tabernacle row
 Duckett Mrs. Ann, Bethel street
 Durrant Lady, King street
 Durrant Mr. Mattw. Pottergt. st.
 Dyball Mr. Wm. St. Stephen's gate
 Dye Geo. Arthur, atty. Palace st.
 Dyert Alb. canewkr. Chapel st. N.C.
 Dyson Mrs. Mary, Foundry road
 Edwards Ann, Howard street
 Edwards Wm. G. gt. Bracondale
 Edwards Wm. Hy. gent. Union pl.
 Elin Mrs. Mary, Surrey street
 Elliot John, gent. 2, Crescent
 Ellis Thos. clerk, Baker's road
 Elwin Hastings, gent. Thorpe
 Elwin Miss P. E. Upper King st.
 Elwin Rev. Robt. F. Elm hill
 Enfield Wm. mfr.; h. Colegate st.
 English John, clerk of St. Stephen's, Browne's court
 English Jph. gent. Foundry road
 English Mrs. Mary, Cook's lane
 Evans Benj. clerk, St. Faith's ln.
 Everett Geo. S. dresser, Middle st.
 Ewing John, gent. Bethel street
 Fair Chas. gent. 7, York place
 Fairweather Mr. Jon Lwr. Heigham
 Faulke James, gent. Theatre st.
 Favery C. bookkeeper, Calvert st.
 Fawell Mr. Thos. West end place
 Felmingham Wm. travlr. Bracondl.
 Fenn Wm. lay clerk, Life's gn.
 Fickling Robert, mort. Elm hill
 Fickling Mrs. Bracondale
 Firth Mrs. Betty, Brewery lane
 Fisher Jas. wine mort. Asylum rd.
 Fisher Rev. P., D.D. Upper close
 Fisher Rev. Thos. Up. Westwick st.
 Fisk Rev. John H. Bracondale hill
 Fisk John, clerk of St. Aug.; St.
 Augustine street
 Fisk John, lodgings, Surrey road
 Fitch Mrs. Mary, Heigham hill
 Fitt Misses M. A. & J. Cowgt. st.
 Flower Horatio, gt. Mason's bldgs.
 Flower Mr. Saml. Lakehm hall rd.
 Ford Wm. brushmkr. Unthank's rd.
 Foster Wm. solr. Thorpe grove
 Foulger Hy. clerk, Chapel field
 Foulger Mr. Wm. Upr. King st.
 Fountain Mrs. Eliz. Pitt street
 Fowler Adj. Jas. (W.N.) Julian pl.
 Fox Mrs. Mary, Middle street
 Fox Thos. C. clerk, 4, York pl.
 Franklin Rev. Hy. Heigham hill
 Francis Mr. Thos. 21, Julian place
 France Robt. soap mfr. Sussex st.
 Froggatt Jas. clrk. W. Pottergt. st.
 Fromow Mrs. Eliz. Lower close
 Fulcher Mrs. Mary, Grove house,
 Bracondale
 Fulcher Mr. Stgn. Upr. King st.
 Fuller Mr. John Jas. 1, Chatham pl.
 Futter Mrs. Char. Prospect place
 Ganning Mrs. Diana, The Chantry
 Gapp Mrs. Sus. Chapel field grove
 Garman Jas. farmer, Pockthorpe
 Garrad John P. gent. Heigham rd.
 Garbham Rt. apothecary, Crown and Sceptre yard
 Gavell Thos. painter, Dereham rd.
 Gaze Mr. Geo. Botolph street
 Gaze John, hide dlr. Muspole st.
 Gaze Sarah Lightfoot, matron of Norfolk and Norwich hospital
 Gaze Wm. millwrt. St. Saviour's
 Gedge Mrs. Sarah, Church side
 Gee Chs. chmn. Wounded heart ln.
 Gibbs Hy. Harris, Wilderness hs.
 Gibson Miss Eliz. Lower close
 Gibson Henry, constable, Old
 King's head yard
 Gidney Mr. John, West end pl.
 Gidney Lieut. T. D. Laknham, hl. rd.
 Gilbert Robert, gent. Thorpe
 Girdlestone J. bkpr. Unthank's rd.
 Gittins Mrs. Martha, Distillery st.
 Glascock K. guard, W. Pottergt. st.
 Glendening John Brown, travlr.
 7, St. Stephen's square
 Glover Mrs. C. Chapel field grove

Geat Wm. bookpr. Sussex street
 Golding Jas. A. clk. Distillery st
 Golding John, excise, W. Pottergt.
 Goodings Wm. bookpr. Castlemead
 Goodwin Chas. apoth. Norfolk &
 Norwich Hospital, London road
 Goodwin Rev. Wm. Chapelfield
 Goss Agas, clerk, Grave place
 Gotts Mrs. Eliz. Surrey road
 Gould John, Esq. Bracondale
 Gower Mrs. Sus. Chapelfield rd.
 Goyder Rev. T. (Sweden) Sussex st.
 Graham Mr. George, Mill hill
 Grand John, bookr. 18, Howard st.
 Grand Robt. shopman, Lady's ln.
 Graves Mrs. Judith, Lower close
 Gray Mr. James, Union place
 Green Mrs. A. St. Stephen's gate
 Green Mr. Corneaus, Rosemary yd.
 Green Mrs. Grace, Lower close
 Green Rt. gent. St. Giles' hill
 Green Mrs. Sus. W. Pottergt. st.
 Green Wm. sen. verger, and Bishop's gardener, Life's green
 Green Wm. clerk, Lower close
 Grew Wm. drainer, Duke street
 Griffin Mrs. M. 1 p. Westwick st.
 Griffiths Thos. gt. St. Clement's hl.
 Grimmer Mrs. Martha Newmkt. rd.
 Grubbing Jas. mptr. of weights & measures Colwell, b. Chapelld. rd.
 Groat Geo. gent. Magdalen st.
 Guntton Geo. taur. Gressy pl. Highm
 Gurling Mrs. Eliz. Coslany st.
 Gurney Mrs. Jane, Ipswich road
 Gygell Daniel, fire work maker,
 St. Stephen's square
 Hales Mrs. Barbara, St. Giles' st.
 Hall H. gent. Ber. st. St. Michl's.
 Halsey Mr. Jas. 16, Howard st.
 Hamerton Eliz. Distillery street
 Hancock Mrs. Hannah Calvert st.
 Hansell Rev. Pet. A. B. Lwr. close
 Harbord Wm. printer, W. Pottergt.
 Harcourt Wm. gent. St. Giles' st.
 Hardy Chas. magistrates' clerk,
 Tolls' court, Little Orford st.
 Hare Edw. lay clerk. Roach's ct.
 Harman Lnd. distiller, Sussex st.
 Harmer Mr. St. Stephen's street
 Harmer D. L. wharf, Pottergt. st.
 Harmer Mrs. Eliz. King street
 Harmer Rd. mkt. clerk, Canon pl.

Harmer Thos. wharfe St. Giles' ter.
 Harmer Wm. wharf St. Giles' ter.
 Harper Isaac, bookpr. King st.
 Harper John, gent. Sussex street
 Harper Mrs. W. 1, Lakenham pl.
 Harrod Jas. Saml. Sutherland's bldg.
 Harris Nathan, captnr. Rose yd.
 Hart Alfred, bookr. Julian place
 Hart Es. bookr. Broad st. St. G.'s
 Hart, Mrs. Eliz. Bethel st. open
 Hart Mr. Wm. West end place
 Hartley Esq. J. 6, Chapel st. N.C.
 Hart J. gent. Broad. st. St. G.'s
 Harvey John, clerk, Heigham hall
 Harvey Jph. collar & frill maker,
 Castle meadow
 Haslewood Edw. Walter, seed-man, 33, Chapel st. & Cbpr. J.
 Prospect place
 Hartings Mrs. Margt. Lake's yd.
 Hawkes Geo. gent. Sussex street
 Hawkes Wm. clerk. All Saint's gn.
 Hawkins John gent. 11, Heigh-am terrace
 Hawkins Thos. gent. Colgate
 Hawa Wm. gent. Hawk's place
 Haycock Rt. bookr. West Pottergt.
 Hayden Wm. clerk of St. Mary's,
 Wiseman's yard
 Hayes Mrs. Sarah, Pitt street
 Hayward Mrs. M. St. Giles' hill
 Hayne Mrs. Mary, Distillery st.
 Heath J. guard, 10, King st. N.C.
 Hedgeman Mr. Rd. Cook's lane
 Herring Mrs. Eliz. All Saint's gn.
 Herring John, Esq. Bethel street
 Herring Rt. gent. Bracondale hill
 Herring W. gent. Broad st. St. G.'s
 Hewett Wm. bookr. New Mills
 Hewitt Chas. atty. Day's court
 Hewitt E. B. atty. St. Stephen's sq.
 Higginson Rev. Edw. Upper close
 Hill H. shopman, West Pottergate
 Hill Mr. William, Thorpe
 Hills David & Reed Rt. wine merchants, &c., b. St. Faith's ln.
 Hinton Miss Hannah 11, Richmond pl.
 Hinned Jas. surveyr. of taxes, Pitt st.
 Hiscox Martin Jph. terr. Julian pl.
 Hitchcock Mr. James, Union place
 Hitchen Mrs. Mary. Stamp cross
 Hodge Mrs. Anna M. Carrow abbey
 Hodge Mrs. Sus. Madon's bldg.

- Hodgson Mrs. Sus. Tabernacle row
 Hogan Mrs. Ann, Rampant horse st
 Holmes Mr. John, All Saint's green
 Holroyd Rev. Jas (Wes.) Calvert st
 Hook Samuel, whsman, 2, St. Giles' terrace
 Hope James, cattle salesman, Lakenham hall road
 Horner Mr. Jared, St. Greg. Ch. yd.
 Houghton Rt. clerk of St. Michael's, Ber street
 Howard Mr. John, St. Saviour's ln.
 Howes Rev. Francis, Lower close
 Howes Mrs. Lucy, 53, Pottergate
 Hubbard Chas. toll colr. Cattle mkt.
 Hudson Anthony & Thos. Esqrs. bankers; h. King street
 Huggins Sarah, Castle ditches
 Humfrey Rev. John, Upper close
 Hurel Mrs. Ann, St Paul's back st.
 Hutson Rt. clerk, Upper market
 Innis Rev. John B. (Ind.) Thorpe rd
 Irving Danl. printer, Union place
 Isaacs Mr. Jph. 15, Richmond pl.
 Isley Wm. traveller, Chapel lane
 Ives Jerh. Esq. St. Catherine's hill
 Jackson Mrs. Elizbth Lakenham
 Jackson Hy. bookr. 11, Eldon row
 Jackson Rev Thos. New Con Meth. min. 6, Bracondale green
 Jackson Mr Wm. St. Stephen's gt.
 Jeffries Walter L. 6, Julian place
 Jenner Hy. gent. Bethel street
 Jennings John, bookpr. Pottergate
 Jervis Mrs. Frances, Distillery st.
 Jessup Thos. clerk, West Pottergt.
 Johnson Benj. gent. St. Giles' hill
 Johnson John, gent. Chapel field
 Johnson Jno. governor, County goal
 Johnson John Godwin, surgeon; h. 64, St. Giles', Broad street
 Johnson Samuel, gent. Sussex st.
 Jolly Cc. coach mkr. St. Stephen's gt
 Jollye Mrs. Ruth, Bethel street
 Jollye William, gent. Bethel street, and Heigham
 Joy Mttw. Bowles, ironr. Bellefield
 Joyce Mrs. Ann, Sussex street
 Juby Mrs. 9, St. Stephen's square
 Judd Mrs. Lydia, St. Paul's Ch. alley
 Keith Thos. Moore, atty; h. St. Benedict's plain Kamball Mrs. St. Swithin's lane
 Kemp Isaac, mayor's officer. St. Stephen's street
 Kemp Wm shoe mfr St. Augustn. st
 Kendle Thos. gent. Bracondale hill
 Kent Thos. rabbit, &c. dir. Mkp.
 Kerney Major Chas Life's green
 Kett Mrs. Harriet, Heigham hill
 Kettle James, clerk of St. Julian's, King street
 Keymer Hy. whsmn 10, Surrey rd.
 Kidd Mrs. Sus. 11, Lakenham pl.
 King Mr. Geo. Lakenham hall rd.
 King Hammond, gent. Newmkt. rd.
 King Jas. jun. plumber, Calvert st.
 King Mrs. Union place
 King Mr. John, Bracondale
 King Mr. John, Lakenham hall rd.
 King Mr. Joseph, Bracondale hill
 Kingsbury Mrs. 9, Lakenham pl.
 Kinnebrook Wm. printer, Pottergt.
 Kitson Roger, gent. Thorpe
 Kitmer Mrs. Mary, Queen street
 Knight Thos. jun. bird & animal preserver, 9, London street
 Laccohee Jno. clerk of St. George's, Muspole street
 Lacey Mrs. Rebecca, St. Giles' st.
 Lacon Mrs. Sarah, Chapel field
 Ladell Wm. mfr.; h. Bracondale
 Lake Rt. gent. Distillery street
 Lamb Benj. C. bookr. Magdalen st.
 Lane Israel, travlr. Tabernacle row
 Langford Mrs. Upper close
 Langton Edw. hb. Distillery st.
 Lany Mrs. Eliz. All Saint's green
 Laton Mrs. Eliz. Upper close
 Lawrence James, colour maker & printer, Distillery street
 Laws Mr. Edward, King street
 Lawter Mr. Rt. Chapel field
 Leaman Rt. bookr. 5, Heigham ter.
 Lee Edw. mail guard, Julian pl.
 Leeds Mrs. Harriet, Union place
 Leigh Miss Sar. St. Gregory's C. yd.
 Lenham Geo. bookr. West Pottergt.
 Lenham John, clerk of St. Etheldred's, King street
 Lindley Mr. George, Cowgate st
 Littleboy George, solicitor, Cross
 Lloyd Misses S. & M. Heigham hill
 Lloyd Mr. James, Grove place
 Lofy Mrs. Grove place
 Lock Mr. Lakenham hall road

- Lohr Wm. Lewis, master of St. Giles' hospital, St. Helen's sq.
 Lord John, Whitefriar's bridge
 Lord Thomas, Lakenham mill
 Loudon Thomas, manager, King st.
 Lovelock Jas. sub-scriber, Life's gn
 Lovick Mrs. Margt. St. Stephen's gt
 Lovick Mrs. Sus. Bridge street
 Lowden James, butcher, Bethel st.
 Lowden Mrs. Sarah, Goldenball st.
 Lowne Wm. Chas. victr Pitt street
 Maidstone Mr. Robert, Tombland
 Markham Mary, Gun lane
 Mallett John, gent. Haigham cottage, Mill lane
 Mann Mrs. Ann, Thorpe
 Mann Rev. Thos. St. Giles' street
 Marchant John, 10, Richmond pl.
 Marshall Jerh. gent. Sussex street
 Marshall Jno. distiller Lakenham ter.
 Marshall Mrs. Terry street
 Marshall Mr. Nichs. Haigham hill
 Martin Jas. farmer, Hingham road
 Martin Mrs. Mary, Distillery st.
 Martin Mrs. Broad street, St. Giles'
 Martin Simon, Esq. bankr. Bank pl.
 Martin Mr. Thomas, Surrey grove
 Martin Wm. silk mfr. Pitt street
 Martineau Mrs. Ann, Bracondale hls
 Mason John, bookr. Goat lane
 Massey Edw. mfr.; h. Foundry rd.
 Massey Thos. mfr.; h. Pitt street
 Massingham Jph. banker's clerk, All Saint's green
 Matchett Rev. J.C. Bracondale hill
 Matthews Abm T. irr. 2 Lackam. pl.
 Mayhew John, shopman, Cow hill
 Matthews Mrs. M. Bracondale hill
 Mays George, solr. Surrey grove
 Mayston Mrs. Sarah, St. Giles' hill
 Mealing Samuel Woodcock, corn merchant, h. 3, Lakenham terrace
 Mear Stephen, builder, Pottergate
 Meek Mr. James, Lower close
 Merry Mr. John, King street
 Merrison Mr. Ths. 2, St. Swithin's ln
 Methold Rev. Ths. L.L.B. Up. close
 Middleton Jas. clerk, Grove place
 Millard Rev. Chas. Freeman, B.A. perpl. curate of St. Giles', 4, St. Giles' terrace
 Miller Mrs. Ann, 2, Chatham place
 Miller Elia. St. Michael Oostway
 Mills Ebar. gent. All Saints' grn
 Mills James, dyer, Calvert street
 Mills Mrs. Mary, Lady's row
 Mills Rt. merch. Lwr. King street
 Minna Mr. Haigham hill
 Minty Miss Mary, St. Giles' st.
 Mitchell Mr. Rd. Chapel st. N. C.
 Mitchell Saml. mfr. 1b, Crescent
 Money Miss Eliza, Bracondale
 Money Capt. Pp. Jno. Trower Milt
 Money Thos. bookr. Surrey mews
 Moneyment Mr. Edm. Timber hill
 Moneyment Mr. Geo. Castle meadow
 Moore Foster Grand, clerk of the Mendicity Society, St. Stephen's st.
 Moore Capt. Rt. St. Clement's hill
 Morgan Bd. clerk, Chapel field grv.
 Morgan Rd. clerk, 6, Haigham grv.
 Morley Mrs. Broad st. St. Andrew's
 Morris Rt. gent. 12, Haigham ter.
 Morris Mr. Rt. Castle ditches
 Morse Geo. brewer, Lower close
 Morse John, alderman, Rodney st.
 Morse John South, atty. 10, Crescent
 Mottram Mr. Jas. Upper King st.
 Mottram Jas. clerk, Castle ditches
 Merry Mrs. Maria, West end pl.
 Murton Thos. gent. Willow place
 Muskett Mrs. D. Chapel field grv.
 Muskett Mrs. My. St. Clement's hill
 Nash Mr. Thomas, Middle street
 Neave Rt. bookr. St. Stephen's st.
 Nethercote Miss E. Scholcs green
 Neve Edw. Chandler, Coslany st.
 Neve Thos. gent. Chapel field rd.
 Nevill Mrs. S. Lower close
 Newton Rev. Chas. tutor, Union pl.
 Newton Wm. land agt. Up. close
 Nichols Thos. gent. 3, Chatham pl.
 Nicholson Mrs. Catherine, Bank st.
 Nimmo Thomas, gent. Theatre st.
 Ninham Tisd. painter, Bethel st.
 Nockall James, Lower Westwick
 Nokes Fras. merch. Castle meadow
 Nulbrow Mttw. gent. Southwell pl.
 Norman Robert, 6, York place
 Norman Wm. gent. Dereham rd.
 Norman Wm. gent. Windsor pl.
 Northen Abm. gent. Newnham rd.
 Norton Mrs. Catha. Mill lane
 Norton Isaac, gent. Chapel field
 Norton Mrs. J. 31, Chapel st. N. C.
 Norton Miss Sarah, Colegate street

- Nudds Mr. John, Sussex street
 Nudds Mr. Rt. 7, Chatham place
 Onion Jph. nail maker, Costany st.
 Opie Mrs. Amelia, Lady's lane
 Owen Rev. John, Princes street
 Padgett John, coachpr Theatre st
 Page Mrs. Eliz. All Saint's green
 Page Mr. John, School open
 Page Mr. Jph. Newmarket road
 Page Mrs. Marth J, St Stephen's st.
 Paraman Rt. governor of the City goal, St. Giles's gate
 Parke Wm Baldy gent St Giles' st
 Parker Francis, Esq. Willow ln
 Parker Thos. clerk, London road
 Parker Wm. overlrk Sussex street
 Parkinson Wm W gent Hegm ter
 Parsons James, gent Lady's lane
 Parsons Mrs. M. 9, Lakenham ter
 Patience Jno. Ths jun West end pl
 Partridge Miss Cathn. Lower close Patteson Rev. William Frederick,
 St. Helen's square
 Payne Mr. John, Bracondale
 Payne S. clerk of St Paul's, Cowgt.
 Pearse Rev. Geo. A. M. Lower close
 Pearson Mr. Jas. Golden Dog lane
 Peck Mrs. New Catten
 Peck Wm. gent. St. Clement's hill
 Pedler Wm. shopman, Princes st.
 Peeke Mrs. Chrliste. Peeke's court
 Pellet Hn & V. Rev Geo. D. D.
 Dean, Upper close
 Perowne Rev. John, Surrey street
 Perowne Miss E. Castle ditches
 Phillips Saml. bookr Newmkt rd
 Phillips Rt. mercht. 17 Crescent
 Pitcher Mrs. Rebec. 17, Howard st.
 Pitchford Elis. gentwn. Bank st.
 Pizzey Samuel. clerk, Thorpe
 Playters Lady Ann, Foundry rd.
 Plummer James, Assembly rooms
 Plummer Chas. T. bookr Howard st
 Plumptre Rt. gent. Lower close
 Popay Miss, Gloucester place
 Pottle Misses, Bracondale green
 Potter Wm. gent. Flundry road
 Press Rev. Ed. Theatre street
 Price Mrs. Mary, Windsor place
 Price Thomas. gent. Calvert st
 Price Wm. Jun. All Saint's green
 Price Wm. Rt. Pottergate street
 Price Mrs. Eli. N. 14, Crescent
 Price Mr. George. Union place
 Priest Hy. Raven, mcht. St Giles' st
 Priestley Mrs. Mary, Rigby's court
 Prince Mrs. Chrliste. Botolph st.
 Prince Jph. St. Gregory's Ch. yd.
 Provart Wm. traveller, Sussex st.
 Pulley Hy. attorney, Surrey street
 Pull John, Sandling & ferryman
 Puntis Rev. Jas. (Bapt.) Sussex st.
 Purland John, constable, Bethel st.
 Puxley Mr. Jas. 2, Richmond place
 Pye Rev. Abm. (Bapt.) Lake's yd.
 Pye Mrs. Mary, St. Lawrence lane
 Pye Mrs. Sus. St. Benedict's Ch. yd.
 Racey Mr. Thos. Brazen doors rd.
 Rackham Thos. clerk, St. Faith's ln.
 Rackham Wm. atty. Broad st. St. G.
 Rainger Geo. Hy. clerk Chapelfield
 Ralison Rd. bookr. All Saints' grn.
 Randall Wm. dentist & corn cutter,
 Union place
 Ransome Jas. watchmkr. Middle st.
 Rant Mrs. Sarah, Magdalen street
 Ray Mrs. Elizabeth, St. Giles' street
 Read Sar. doctress, Calvert street
 Read T. Wm. milr. Bracondale ter.
 Redhead Mrs. All Saints' green
 Reeve Mrs. Frances, Unthank's rd.
 Reeve Mr. Thomas, Pitt street
 Reeve Mrs. Bracondale hill
 Reeve Mrs. Martha, Botolph street
 Reynolds Wm. farmer. Philadelphia
 Riches John, reporter, Bridge street
 Riches Mrs. Lydia, Tubby's yard
 Risticauz Jph. clerk, Wastlegate st.
 Rivett Fras. whsman, Lower close
 Rivett Henry Charles, printer, St.
 Stephen's gate
 Rix Mr. Hy. Golden hall street
 Roach Mrs. Ann, West Pottergate
 Roach Mr. Rd. 27, Chapel st. N. C.
 Robberds Jonas Hy. paper mfr.; h.
 Chalk hill
 Robberds John, mfr. Magdalen st.
 Robbins Rev. Wm. rector, Heig-
 ham hall
 Roberts Miss L. Lower close
 Roberts Jno. clerk, Lakenham hall rd.
 Roberts Wm. traveller. Bridge st.
 Robinson Mrs. M. A. Theatre st.
 Robinson Mr. Rd. Surrey street
 Robinson Rt. brush mkr. Union pl
 Roe Wm. jeweller, Theatre street
 Rogers Mrs. M. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Roper Mr. Thomas, Dereham road

- Rose Pp. Wm. mercht. Hingham rd.
 Rose Thos. bookpr. Julian place
 Routh Mrs. Mary, Bank street
 Rowe Rev. Wm. (Cath.) Willow ln.
 Rowling Wm. St. Michael's Coslly.
 Rump Mrs. Mary, Distillery street
 Rump Mrs. Mary, Sussex street
 Sabberton Thos. gent. Middle st.
 Sadler Mrs. Distillery street
 Sadler Thos. gent. 2, Crescent pl.
 Saffery Miss Har. Cow hill
 St. Quintin E. gent. Foundry rd.
 St. Quintin Jas. gent. Upr. close
 St. Quintin Mr. Perry, Howard st.
 Sales John, manager, Muspole st.
 Salkeld Mr. Chas. Howard street
 Salmon T. gent. U. Westwick st.
 Sanders Wm. bookr. Coslany st.
 Saunders Wm. farmer, Chalk hill
 Sawyer Hy. permit writer, Distillery street
 Sayer Wm. lay clerk, Thorpe
 Sayles Ts. gent. 8, Lakenham pl.
 Scales, Mrs. Frances, St. Faith's ln.
 Scarlett Dl. gent. Distillery street
 Scott Miss Ann, Lower Close
 Scott Miss J. M. All Saints' gn.
 Scott Page Nichol, surgeon; h. St. Giles', Broad street
 Scott Rev. Thos. (Bapt.) Thorpe
 Seaman John, gent. Thorpe
 Sedgwick Rev. Adam, A.M. Upper close
 Sendall Mrs. Mary, Heigham hill
 Seppings G. mert. Lakenham ter.
 Sewell Rd. verger, Lower close
 Sexton Mr. James Calvert street
 Sharman Mr. Jno. 15, Howard st.
 Sharpe J. clerk, Chapelfield rd.
 Sharpe Mr. Wm. Union place
 Shaw Wm. gent. 9, Richmond pl.
 Sheen Mr. Geo. All Saint's grn.
 Sheen Saml. gent. Distillery st.
 Shepherd Chpr. gent. W. end pl.
 Shibley W. lodgings, 5, York pl.
 Shickle John, inspector of weights and measures for Norfolk, West Pottergate street
 Shickle Chas. mfr. Upr. King st.
 Shildrake Thos. banker's clerk, Bracondale hill
 Shreeve Mrs. Amy, Pottergate st.
 Shreeve Mrs. E. Chapelfield road
 Sidel Mrs. Ann, Pitt street
 Sillis Mrs. E. St. Catherine's pn.
 Simon Rd. picture dlr. Chatham pl.
 Simpson Mrs. Union place
 Sinclair Adj. Chas. 14, Chapel st. New City
 Skipper Mrs. Ann, Chapelfield rd.
 Slack Mr. Wm. V. Green's lane
 Slater Rt. mercer, Lakenham hall rd.
 Smith Benj. clerk of St. Giles', Willow lane
 Smith Chpr. Princes street
 Smith Mrs. Hanh. Calvert street
 Smith Mr. John, Union place
 Smith Mr. John, St. Faith's lane
 Smith Mrs. My. 2, St. Stphn.'s sq.
 Smith Miss My. Lakenham hall road
 Smith Lady Plesance, Surrey st.
 Smith Rt. clerk of St. Peters, K. st.
 Smith Capt. Saml. All Saints' gn.
 Smith Saml. Lower Westwick st.
 Smith Mrs. Sarah, Magdalen st.
 Smith Mrs. Sarah, Carrow hill
 Smith Thos. supervisor, Elm hill
 Smith Thos. poulterer and game dealer, Back of the Inns
 Smith Wm. Richd. lay clerk, St. Martin's at Palace
 Soman David, shoe trimming mfr. Back street
 Sothern Mrs. Mgt. Cook, Lady's ln.
 Sowels Mrs. Mary, Union place
 Sowter Mrs. Mary, Back street
 Spanton Wm. coach prpr. Union pl.
 Sparke Mrs. Eliz. Eldon row
 Sparke Mrs., Scoles green
 Sparshall Edm. mert. Magdln. st.
 Sparshall Jph. gent. Golden Dog ln.
 Spooner John, St. Swithin's lane
 Spratt Jas. gent. West end place
 Spratt Wm. coach mkr. Bethel st.
 Springfield Thomas, Osborn, silk merchant; h. St. Mary's alley
 Stacy George, gent. Back street
 Stagg Henry, excise, Back street
 Stannard Abm. Mayor's officer, White Lion yard
 Stannard Mr. Jas. Distillery street
 Stannard Wm. St. Paul's Back st.
 Stark Mrs. Jane, Foundry road
 Stark Michael, dyer, St. Clements'
 Stark Wm. dyer; h. St. Geo.'s plu.
 Starkey Rd. gent. Bracondale ter.

- Starling Edm. A travlr Potter gt.
 Starling Thos bkpr. Surrey grove
 Start Mr. 12, Richmond place
 Stebbing Rt. sddlr. Bracondale hl.
 Stevens Mrs. Martha, Lady's row
 Stevens Thos. law stationer, St.
 Stephen's plain
 Stevens Mr. Jas. Calvert street
 Stevens Wm. clerk, St. Faith's ln.
 Stevenson Seth. Wm. printer; h.
 Surrey street
 Stevenson Thos. Wm. adjuster of weights & measures, & clerk of St Michael's at Plea. Bank st.
 Steward Mrs. Ann, King street
 Steward Chas. solicitor, King st.
 Steward Tthy. brwr Heigham ldg.
 Stewardson Nathaniel, clerk of St.
 James's, Cowgate street
 Stockings Mr. Jno. Bracondale ter.
 Stocks Mrs. Middle street
 Stone Fras. county surveyor, St.
 Stephen's gate
 Sturges John Patrick, parish ck
 Woodrow's yd St. Geo. Tmd.
 Stone Rev. Saul. Castle street
 Stracey Rev. George, Thorpe
 Suckling Mrs. My. Ann, Theatre st.
 Suffield Henry, gent. Thorpe
 Sutton Rev. Chs. D D. Cooks ln
 Suttin Misses, Brown's buildings
 Swann Mrs. Ann, St. Paul's, Bk st.
 Swann Cnls clerk, Tabernacle row.
 Swann Jsha. bookpr. Distillery st.
 Swift Mrs. Mary, King street
 Sword Henry, Heigham hill
 Sword John, clerk of St. Peter's,
 Mountergate, King street
 Syder Mrs. Hart. 4, Heigham ter.
 Sykes Mrs. Frances, Pitt street
 Tadman Wm. Gas Works, Thorpe
 Talbot Mrs. Ann, Lower close
 Talbot Mrs. Fanny, Lower close
 Tallowins Mrs. Rebecca London rd.
 Tasker Miss Frs. Castle meadow
 Taylor Mr. Danl. Chapel st. N. C.
 Taylor Rev. John, Upr. King st.
 Taylor John Edw. gold leaf mfr.
 Bethel street
 Taylor Mrs. Ellen, Lower close
 Taylor Zach musician, Castl. dtchs
 Taylor Saml bkpr 10, Lkham. pl.
 Taylor Wm. gent. Upper King st.
 Tebenham Wm. excise, Peacock st.
 Tempary Wm J paper hanging
 mfr. Back of the Inn
 Tennant Jas. gent St Augstn st.
 Theobald Miss Sarah, Magdalen st.
 Theobald Thos. gent St. Paul's,
 Back street
 Thompson Rev. Jas. B., King st.
 Thorne Wm. gent. Unthank road
 Thorold Mrs. Eleanor, Pottergt. st.
 Thoaloss Mr. James, Pottergt. st.
 Thrower Mrs. Sarah, Stump cross
 Thurlow Rev. Edw. preb. Upr. cl.
 Thurlow Mr. Saml. Lower close
 Thurlow Thos. gent. Coslany st.
 Thurtell Thos. farmer, Harford hill
 Thurtell Mr. Robt. Heigham hill
 Thwaites Mr. John, Heigham hill
 Tinkler Mrs. bath kpr Heigham
 Tinkler Geo. clerk, Eldon row
 Tipple Saml ter. St. Stephen's gt.
 Todd Saml. cattle dlr Lkham. hall rd.
 Toll Henry, gent. Julian place
 Toll Mrs. F. All Saints' green
 Tomlinson Wm. upstr Upr. K. st.
 Tompson Jerh. Lwr. Brown sbdgs.
 Tompson Wm. West Pottergt. st.
 Tooke John, gent. St. Faith's lane
 Torris Jph. mfr 5, Crescent
 Towler Mrs. Hanh. Magdalen st.
 Towler Abel, mfr. Lower close
 Townsend Tmthy. ck Peeke's et.
 Trivett Jn Bourne, irongr Mkt. pl.
 Trory Wm. brewer, Poekthorpe
 Trowse John, clerk of St. Peter's
 Mancroft, Bethel street
 Trull Mrs. Mary, Theatre street
 Tucker Mr. Chs. Cook, Drhm. rd.
 Turner John, S. master of the Infirmary, Catton road
 Turner Jas. M yarn agt. Duke st.
 Turner Mrs. Mary, Upper close
 Turner Mrs. Lower close
 Tutbail John, gent. 6, Crescent
 Twaite Mrs. Mary, Surrey grove
 Underwood Mrs. E. Lkham. hall rd.
 Unthank Clement Wm. solicitor,
 Heigham grove
 Unthank Wm. colr Tombland
 Utting Thos. gent 10, Heigham ter.
 Utten Chs Esq landagt Bredte. hill
 Varlo Miss Charlotte, Tombland
 Varnish Edw. gent. Bracondale hill

Vincent James, gent. St. Clements
 Wagstaffe Mrs. Hannah, Mason's buildings, Dereham road
 Wall Misses, H. & M. Bracondale
 Waite Mr. Hy. N. Chapel street
 Waite John, N. gent. Chapel st.
 Walden Jhn. hortlgdna. Bracondl.
 Walker Mrs. B. West Pottergt. st.
 Walker Miss Theresa, Calvert st.
 Walker Wm. S. bkpr. Lknm. hall rd.
 Ward Mrs. Hanh. Surrey grove
 Ward Mrs. F. 5, Bracondale green
 Ward Miss, Castle ditches
 Ward Mr. Rt. Castle ditches
 Ward Rt. cattle dlr. Castle ditches
 Ward Wm. merchant, St. John
 Maddar market
 Warman Wm. land agt. Ipswich rd.
 Warne Hy. bookpr. Fisher's lane
 Warne Mrs. Elizabeth, Queen st.
 Warner Mrs. Ann, 14, Richmd. pl.
 Warner Chs. gent. St. Stephen's gt.
 Warner Edw. bookpr. King street
 Warren Wm. Calvert street
 Watson John Wilcox, coach proprietor, Surrey mews
 Watson Mrs. Rebecca, Tombland
 Watson Rev. Thos. Colegate st.
 Watson Rd. gent. Hingham road
 Watts Miss Eliz. L. Capon's ct.
 Watts Thos. file cutter, King st.
 Watts Wm. coachman, Roach's ct.
 Weavers Geo. coachn. Fisher's ln.
 Webb John Barton, mert. Bdg. st.
 Webster Mrs. M. A. Chpl. st. N.C.
 Webster Rev. Stpn. Laknm. hall rd.
 Webster Rev. George Horatio, St.
 Catherine's plain
 Wegg Mr. John, St. Stephen's gt.
 Wells Mrs. Mary, W. Pottergt. st.
 Wells Misses M. & H. Queen st.
 Wells Stphn. bkpr. Castle meadow
 Wering Mrs. Mary, Sussex street
 Whall Mrs. Ann, Middle street
 White John Edw. gent. Crescent pl.
 White Mr. Wm. Fredk. Stepping ln.
 Whiting Susanna, Tombland
 Whitred Mrs. Eliz. Pottergt. street
 Wicks Wm. gent. Dukes palace
 Wigg Mrs. Sarah, Pottergate st.
 Wiggins Jph. coach prpr. Eldon rw.
 Wiggins Ts. coach prpr. Eldon rw.

Wilcockson Miss A. Castle mdw.
 Wilde Mrs. M. Distillery street
 Wilde Stphn. removal officer,
 Workhouse, Bridge street
 Wiley Thos. agent, Muspole st.
 Wilken Mrs. Mary, Silver road
 Wilkin Misses, Upr. Westwick st.
 Willby Rd. gent. Foundry road
 Willett Edw. mfr. St. Stephen's gt.
 Willett Hy. mfr. Middle street
 Williams Thos. All Saints' grn.
 Williams Mrs. Laknm. hall road
 Wills Anthy. par. clerk, Heigham
 Wilsea, Mr. Saml. Peter, Thorpe
 Wilson Geo. W. acct. Pottergate
 Wilson Miss P. Bracondale hill
 Wilson Rt. gent. W. Pottergate
 Wilson Mr. W. St. Stephen's gt.
 Winkup Rt. B. tvr. Brown's bldgs.
 Wodehouse Rev. Chas. Nourse,
 A.M., Upper close
 Wodehouse Edm. Esq. M.P. Foundry road
 Wodehouse Miss E. Tombland
 Wolstenholme Adam, excise officer, Calvert street
 Wood Mr. John, Bear & Staffyd.
 Woodhouse Geo. Gloucester pl.
 Woodrow J. currier, Peacock st.
 Woodrow Thos. J. clerk, Broad st.
 Woodrow W. R. land agt. Tomb-land
 Wood John Dack, clerk of St.
 Simon's, Elm hill
 Woodthorpe Mrs. Sar. West Pot-
 tergate
 Woodward Saml. clerk, Brazen doors road
 Woollett Wm. T. guard, Pitt st.
 Woolsey Mr. John, Sussex st.
 Woolterton Mrs. Sar. 4, Lakenham place
 Wormer Mr. John, 32, Chapel st.
 New City
 Worster Ths. B. excise, Grove pl.
 Worth Wltr. C. mert. 3, West end
 place
 Wrench Mr. Ellis, Cross lane
 Wrench Mrs. Sus. Colegate st.
 Wright Mrs. E. West Pottergate
 Wright Jerh. bldr. Lakenham pl.
 Wright J. gent. Botolph street

NORWICH DIRECTORY.

Wm. W. Fox & Son, 2, St. Stephen's gate
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Young Wm. gent. Lakm. hall rd
Youngs John, brewer, King st.

CLASSIFICATION OF TRADES & PROFESSIONS.

I. ACADEMIES

Wm. W. Fox & Son, 2, St. Stephen's gate
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill
Wm. W. H. St. Clement's hill

* Dye Harriet, Theatre street
Farnell T. St. John Madr. mkt.

* Farnell Wm. K. Theatre street
Faulkes Jas. St. Swithin's lane

* Fisher George, Calvert street
Fox Denny, Middle street

Fox Mary, Magdalen street
Fox Thomas, Fisher's lane

* Foyson Susanna, Sussex street
Garwood Jane, West Pottergate

Green Joshua, St. John's, Mdkt.
Grammar, Upper close, Rev. H.

Banfather, B.D. head master, and the Rev John Baney, A.B.

second master
Green Rev John, Pottergate

Greenwood Eliz. Surrey mews
Heidi Misses, Rose lane

Hilling J Gloucester pl. Queen st.
Hospital School, Fishergate st.,

Frederick & Mrs. Gidney
Howitt Jane, Cowgate street

* Hubbard Mrs. A W St. Geo. pl.
Infant Schools, Union pl. Charles

Warnes, Old Barrack yd. Lydia Anthony, Prospect place,

Thomas Lincoln, and Trafalgar street, Eliz. Bayfield.

Jarvis Wm. Great Orford street
Jones Barbara, Castle meadow

Joy Debora, Timber mill
King Mary Ann, Back of Inn

Kilton Wm. Pecke's court
Lafin Jph. Queen st. New City

Lambert Mary, Cow hill
Lancasterian, Palace street; Rd.

Teasdel
* Larke Anna Sus. 26, St. Giles',

Broad street
Lawter Elizabeth, Ber street

* Ling Hy. St. George's plain
Littell John, St. Clement's C. al

Littleboy Amelia, 31, Pottergt. st.
* Littleboy John, 33, Pottergt. st.

Lounds My. Northumberland pl.
Mace Amelia, Calvert street

* Matchett Maria Jane, Elm hill

Martin William, New Catton
Maxey Eliz. West Pottergate st.
Middleton Jas. Golden Dog lane
Middleton M. A. Up. Westwick st.
Minns Henry, Browne's court
Moore Wm. Cherry street

National Schools, Old Haymkt.

John Hales; Princes st. Hy.
Line: Hole in the Wall ln. Cht.
Buttisant; St. Paul's, William
Whiting; St. James's, Harriet
Peed; St. Martin's at Oak, Hy.
Bennett and Sus. M. Murton;
St. Julian's, Abm. Fitzgerald and Abigail Brooks; St. Stephen's, James Wright and Sar.
Burrage; St. Margaret's, Fras.
Phillips and My. Ann Haddon.

Norman's Charity, John Roach,
Fisher's lane

Norman Judith, King street
Peck Har. R., St. Margaret's pln.
Pemberton Misses, Lt. Orford st.
Phillips Wm. Bird's court
Pigg My. Ann, St. Paul's plain
Pigg Jas. Wm. Wensum street
Plummer John, Ber street
Plummer Samuel, Coslany street
Reeve Eliza, West end place
Rivetts Jane, Princes street
Saint Samuel, Chapelfield road
* Sandell Rev. Smn. Bracondale
Rushbrook Robert, Thorpe
* Shaul Eliza, Queen street
* Short William, Colegate street
Slipper Samuel, 3, Eldon row
* Smith Hanh. Bracondale hill
Smith William, Bridge street
Staff Maria, Alderson's bldg.
Stewardson H. M. & E. Pottergt. st.
Stratford Edm. St. Michl.'s Caly.
Talbot Eliz. West Pottergate
Thompson Maria, Heigham hill
* Thompson Sus. Belle vue house,
Pottergate street
Thouless Jas. St. Mary's C. alley
* Thurgar Cpr. & Mrs. Colegate
Thursby & Spratt, Bethel street
* Tipple Geo. Henry, Cow hill
Titlow Rev. Saml. Pottergate st.
Triggs Ruth, West Pottergate
Tremlett Emily, Toll's court
Turner Charles 48, Pottergate

Warner Wm. (charity) King st.
Webster Ann, Middle street
Whiting Eliz. L. Groat's court
* Wicks Wm. jun. Duke's palace
Woodward Cht. Lakenm. hall rd.

(2) AGENTS.

*Marked * are Commission, † General, and ‡ News Agents.*

Foster & Waite, (to the Mines Royal Copper Co.) 2, St. Gls.
Broad street

Griggs Wm. (to the London Mutual Insurance Benefit Society)
Upper Westwick street

† Pigg Rt. & W. 14, London st.

* Rackham Simon, 52, Pottergt.

*† Raven Wm. Distillery street

Reavell Rt. (Sovereign packet)
King street

† Riches John, Bridge street

† Watling Jas. Bridewell alley

* Wigger John Hy. A. Gun lane

† Woodrow Wm. Wensum street

(3) AGRICULTURAL MA-CHINE MAKERS.

Francis & Blythe, Buff Coat lane
Holmes John, Rising Sun lane
Lamb David T. (& wire worker)
Golden Ball street

(4) ARCHITECTS.

Brown Arthur, Upper close
Brown John, Unthank's road
Hinsley Wm. 3, Gun lane
Patience John Thos. 3, York pl.
Stone Francis, St. Stephen's gate

(5) ARTISTS.

*Marked * are Drawing masters, and † Portrait painters.*

Barlow John, City road
† Calvert Hy. 37, London street
* Colkett Saml. Dd. Princes st.
Cotman John Sells, Old haymkt.
† Clements Anthy. Museum st.
† Earl Wm. Eldon, Surrey st.
* Hodgson David, Tombland
* Ladbrooke Robt. Scoles green
* Ladbrooke John B. Bridge st.
† Love Horatio B. Pottergate
M'Kenzie Nichol, Distillery st.
Mazzotti P. (modeller) Gout lane
Morrison Peter Arch. Julian pl.
† Sands Anthy, 7, St. Giles' hill
† Sendall John, Heigham grove

Sillett Jas. Upper King street
 † Stannard Abm. Rose lane
 † Tinkley Fdk. (& glass enameler) Rampant Horse street
 (6) ATTORNEYS.

Bardwell Everett, Castle meadow;
 h. Sprowston
 Barnard Alfred, Broad street, St.
 Andw.; h. Chalk farm
 Barnham James, Muspole street
 Beckwith and Dye, Palace street
 Bignold, Pulley, and Mawe, All Saints' green, and 4, New Bridge street, London Blake Fras. John, (& clerk to the County Lunatic Asylum) Kg. st.
 Boyce Fras. Lewis, Bethel street
 Brightwell Thos. Surrey street
 Chapman & Hansell, Upper close
 Coaks, John Rd. King street
 Cole John, St. Giles' street; h.
 11, Crescent
 Colman and Cozens, Elm hill
 Cooper John, N. V. 3, Crescent
 Cooper Jno. W. Bethel street
 Cuddon Jas. (conveyancer) Theatre st.; h. Unthank's road
 Dalrymple Arthur, Broad st. St.
 Giles'
 Dalton Saml. 5, St. Giles' terrace
 Daveney Chas. Burton, Bethel st.
 Day Peter, Up. market; h. 8,
 Heigham terrace
 Day Wm. (sword bearer) Sampson & Hercules' ct. Tombland
 Deacon John, 6, St. Stephen's sq.
 Dawson John Withers, Bank st.;
 h. Bracondale
 Durrant George, Surrey court
 Fickling Rt. jun. Elm hill
 Francis Henry, Surrey street
 Freestone Edw. Lile. Orford st.
 Gilman Chas. S. Bethel street
 Gilman St. H. Le Neve, Broad-
 st. St. Andrew
 Goodwin James, Willow lane
 Goodwin John, Willow lane
 Grand J. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Grant Wm. Wells, Theatre st.
 Jay George, Toll's court, h. 13,
 Crescent
 Kerrison Roger, Tombland

Kitson and Rackham, Bishop's
 Registry

Lloyd Rd. Hastings, Tombland
 Mendham Wace Lockett, Broad street, St. Giles'

Miller Henry, Surry street
 Newton Edmund, Surrey street
 Nixon John H. Broad st. St. And.
 Nobbs Rt. Harrison, Pottergate
 Powley Samuel, St. Margaret's ln.
 Purland Geo. R. Brazen doors rd.
 Rackham & Morse, Broad st. Gl.
 Rackham Wm. Princes street
 Robberds Wlfr. Js. Brd. st. St. And.
 Sewell, Blake, Keith, and Blake,
 The Chantry

Simpson Geo. E. Broad st. Gl.
 Skipper Jno. Bank st.; h. Thorpe
 Staff J. Rising, Broad st. S. And.
 Steward Edw. & Chas. Up. King
 street

Stone Samuel, Castle street
 Taylor Adam, jun. White Lion st., h. Lakenham terrace
 Taylor Adam, sen. White Lion
 st.; h. Surrey street
 Taylor Jno. O. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Tuck Chas. Edw. Castle ditches
 Turner W. N. H. Up. King st.
 Unthank, Foster, and Unthank,
 Queen street

Waters Thos. St. Stephen's st.
 Watson Frdk. Elwin, Colegate
 West Chas. John, Surrey street
 Wilkinson Jph. 46, Pottergate
 Winter Jas. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Woodcocks Thos. Surrey road
 Woolbright Wm. H. Tombland;
 h. Close

Wartley Robert, Tombland

(7) AUCTIONEERS, &c.
*Marked * are Appraisers only.*
 Athow John, Castle street
 Bullen Zach. Lady's lane
 Butcher Wm. Theatre street
 * Chapman Cs. King's st. N. C.
 Culley John, St. Andrew's hill
 Harper John, Pottergate street
 Kitten John, Lady's lane
 Lovick S. Broad st. St. Andrew's
 * Manning Thos. 55, Pottergate
 Pigg Robt. & W. 14 London st.

- Rix Benj. Unthank road
 Spelman Wm. Duke's palace
 Wilde Wm. Broad st. St. Andrew
 (S) BAKERS & FLOUR DLRS.
 Algar Robert, Princes street
 Allcock John, Cowgate street
 Allen Isaac, Magdalen street
 Appleton Charles, Barrack street
 Atkins Mathw. Upr. Westwick st.
 Bacon Jas. King street, New City
 Bacon Robert, Union place
 Bacon Thos. Coslany street
 Bardwell Wm. Trafalgar street
 Basingthwaite John, Mill street
 Baxter Eliz. Brazen doors
 Bayfield Ann, Ber street
 Bayfield Arthur, Chapel st. N. C.
 Bayfield Henry, Coslany street
 Bennett Wm. Wellington street
 Bensley Rt. St. Stephen's street
 Betts John, Heigham hill
 Bidewell George, Cherry street
 Birch Mary, Carrow new road
 Bone Thos. Upper Westwick street
 Boughen John H. Upr. Westwk. st.
 Boulton Fras. St. Catherine's pln.
 Brock Samuel, Bethel street
 Brock Wm. Coslany street
 Brown Jas. E. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Brown Edmund, Silver road
 Browne Ann, Coslany street
 Browne Hezekiah, Botolph street
 Burrage Edw. St. George's plain
 Burrage Edwin, Botolph street
 Burrows Geo. Henry, Magdalen st.
 Bushell Ann, All Saints' street
 Cannell Hy. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Cannell Robert, King street
 Carneil Michl. Upr. Westwick st.
 Clarke Rowland, St. Augustine st.
 Cock John, West Pottergate st.
 Cogman Benjamin, Ber street
 Cogman Harriet, Rising Sun lane
 Collett Robert, Pitt street
 Comer Sarah, St. Paul's Ch. alley
 Cook George, Charing cross
 Cott William, Bethell street
 Craske Chrpr. Trory street
 Culyer Wm. St. Andrew's steps
 Daplyn John, E. St. Augustine st.
 Davison Matthew, Trowse Millgt.
 Doughty Benj. Bethel street
 Dunn John, West Pottergt. street
 Dyball Thomas, Magdalen street
 Ellis Sml. Cockey ln. St. Benedict's
 Flory Benjamin, Cherry street
 Fox Eliz. Lower close
 Fox Wm. Cowgate street
 Freeman William, Bull close
 Freestone Anthy. Church path
 Fuller Wm. Mill st. New Catton
 Gooch John, Trafalgar street
 Gooch Samuel, City road
 Goring Geo. Lwr. Westwick street
 Graham Nathaniel, Union place
 Greenfield Harriet, Coslany street
 Haddon Rt. Curson, Rose lane
 Hall William, Bull close
 Harding John, Chapel st. N. C.
 Harrison John, Middle street
 Harrison Mary, 14, King st. N.C.
 Harrison Wm. Magdalen street
 Hewett John, Philadelphia
 Hewett Thos. Buff coat lane
 Hewett William, Lower Heigham
 Hill John, Coslany street
 Hill Reuben, Heigham
 Houghton Robert, Ber street
 Hubbard Henry, Bishopgate st.
 Hughan Wm. Magdalen street
 Isaacs Edward, Spittlefields
 Iverson Edward, Union place
 Jackson George, Fishgate street
 Jarvis Vittellius, Trafalgar street
 Jary Lydia, Coslany street
 Jay Hy. Rosemary ln. St. Miles'
 Johnson Rt. St. Stephen's street
 Kane Thos. St. Mary's plain
 Lack Susanna, King street
 Lambert Rt. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Land Chas. Back of St. Peter's
 Larkman Wm. Castle meadow
 Le Frank Fras. Botolph street
 Leamon Charles, Cobourg street
 Le Neve Charles, Fishgate street
 Le Neve Fras. World's end lane
 Lincoln James, King st. & Thorpe
 Lock John, Ber street
 Long John Plumbley, St. Jas. st.
 Lowe Frederick, Bridge street
 Maltster Stpn. St. Mrtn.'s at Palace
 Manning Robert, Duke street
 Manning Saml. St. Paul's plain
 Marshall Robert, Regent street
 Marshall Robert, Coslany street
 Mendham John, Barrack street

Mitchell Henry, Palace street
 Mott John, 45, Pottergate street
 Murrell Rt. Stephen, King street
 Myhill Benj. St. Martin's lane
 Nelson Wm. St. James' Palace
 Newman Richard, Ber street
 Nichols Henry, Coslany street
 Nockolds Henry, Calvert street
 Oakes Wm. St. Stephen's gate
 Pegg Thomas, New Catton
 Pinching Wm. Queen street, N. C.
 Platt Francis, King street
 Pooley Richard, Charing cross
 Proudfoot Wm. Coslany street
 Quantrell Robert, Surrey street
 Reeve John Sayer, Coslany street
 Richardson Thos. Wensum street
 Riches Jas. Lwr. Westwick street
 Robinson Fras. C. Bridge street
 Silvey Robert, Ber street
 Silvey Wm. White Lion street
 Skedge Wm. Fishgate street
 Smith John, Middle street
 Staff Mary, St. Giles' street
 Staff John, Broad street, St. Giles'
 Stafford William, Elm hill
 Steward John, Ber street
 Steward Thos. Breaton, City road
 Stringer Robert, Colegate street
 Tann John, St. Swithin's lane
 Thompson Joseph, West Pottergt.
 Thorsby Hannah, West Pottergt.
 Thurston Chy. St. John, mad. mkt.
 Thurston Richd. 115, Middle st.
 Tuck James, Broad st. St. Giles'
 Wall Sarah, Bear yard, Mkt. pl.
 Ward Widow, Red Lion street
 Watson John, White Lion street
 Webster George, Pump street
 Welton Wm. Upper Westwk. st.
 Whenstall William, Bridge street
 Whitehead Philip, 6, Upper mkt.
 Wilch John, King street
 Wilch James, King street
 Winter Ambrose, Timber hill
 Winter John, St. Margaret's lane
 Winter Robert, Cobourg street
 Winter Samuel, Coslany street
 Woodward George, Junian place
 Youngs John, St. Stephen's street
 (9) BANKS
 Bank of England, (branch of)
 Queen st. George Hyde, Esq
 agt., Jno. Gould, Esq. sub-agt.

Curneys Barkbeck & Martin, Bank place, (draw on Barclay & Co.)
 Norfolk & Norwich Joint Stock
 Co. Surrey st. (draw on Man-terman, Peters, & Co.) Samuel Bignold, Esq. secretary
 Onley, Harvey, & Hudsons, King street, (draw on Hankey & Co.)
 Savings' Bank, 67, Broad street
 St. Giles', (open Mon. Wed. & Sat.
 12 to 2.) Wm. Herring, Esq. treasurer, & John Hart, secretary
 (10) BARRISTERS.

Browne W. J. Utten, Lower close
 Cooper Charles, White Lion st.
 b. Lakenham
 Couper Wm. White Lion street
 Evans Charles, Upper close
 Palmer Nathl. B. Broad street
 St. Andrew; b. Thorpe
 Preston Isaac, (recorder) Surrey st.
 (11) BASKET MAKERS.
 Carr Charles, Elm hill
 Cuddon Ts. St. Benedict's Ch. yd.
 Gay Elizabeth, Tombland
 Gay Mary, Upper market
 Greene Ann, Upper Westwick st.
 Hammond Thos. Brewery lane
 Hovell Wm. Charing cross
 Kent Henry, Fre bridge quay
 Kettle James, King street
 Mason Saml. (& sieve) Ber st.
 Mills Wm. St. Stephen's street
 Swan Robert, Pottergate street
 (12) BENDWARE & HOOP
 MAKERS.

Calthorpe Wm. Cherry tree yard
 Scott Benjamin, Chapelfield road
 Simons, Edw. Rising Sun lane
 Turner John Stephen, (measurer)
 Mill street, New Catton

(13) BILLIARD ROOMS.
 Clark John Fras. Castle meadow
 Dady Sarah Ann, Market place
 De Caux Peter, St. Stephen's st.
 Gibbard John, White Lion st.
 Kemp Hy. Old Post office yard
 Pammell Thomas, Upper walk
 Snow Wm. Old Post office yd. Mkp.
 Stannard Alm Hole in the Wall ln.
 (14) BLACKING MFRS.
 Cocks George, Muspole street
 Simpkin Wm. King st. N. C.
 Steward Robert, Elm hill

BLACKSMITHS

Samuel, Cherry tree yard
James, Old Hay market
Barnard, Church path
Stephen, Julian place
St. Fishgate street
Edward, Pottergate street
Robert, Baker's row
Ber street gate
John, St. Stephen's road
John, Thorpe Hamlet
Ber street
James, Lower Heigham
St. St. Benedict's gate
Daniel, Ber street gate
Wm. Magdalen street
Philip, St. Martin's ln.
Charles, King street
Wm. Palace street
J. & W. St. Augustine st.
St. & Wm. (patent arms &
St. Benedict's gate
Daniel, Upper Regent street
Wm. Trowse Millgate
Wm. Chapel field road
John Barrack street
Saml. Pottergate street

BOAT BUILDERS.

Robert, Barrack street
John, Carrow abbey
Wm. Carrow abbey
Jas. J. St. Anne's staith
GLASS & CRANE MFRS
See Manufacturers
EMBROIDERERS.
Beloe, Bridge street
Everett (and packers),
St. Clement's, C. alty.

Thomas & Wm. Coslany st.
John & Son, Wensum street

BONE MERCHANTS.

John Michl. Palace plain
Jas. Dial ct., h. Pockthorpe

BOOKBINDERS

* are Paper Rulers.
John Sharpe Middle st.
George Turner's court
Berry 13, Pottergt. st.
Chas. Edw. Elm hill
Henry, Pitt street
Geo. Rampant Horse st.
Joseph, Gregory street

Lemmon James, Charing cross
* Locke Eliz. Fye bridge
Morgan Robt. Exeter office court
Quinton Jno. & Wm. Pottergt. st.
Shalders John, Bethel street
Smith Jonth. & Co. Broad st St. G.
Stewardson Geo. N. Magdalen st.
Upcroft Wm. Magdalen street
Yarlington Fredk. Grant's court
(20) BOOKSELLERS, STA-
TIONERS, PRINTERS, &c.
*Marked * are Copper plate and* Lithographic Printers.

(See Printers & Stationers also.)

Bacon & Kinnebrook, 12, London street

Barrett Abm. (periodical) Dereham road

Copper Jas. Rampant Horse st.

Darley Wm. (old) Soutergate st.

* Fletcher Josiah, Old Haymkt.

Gooch Robert, White Lion st.

* Jarrold & Sons, 3, London st.

Matchett, Stevenson, & Matchett,
Market place

Muskett Chas. Bridewell alley

Page W. Durrant, 6, Gent.'s wlk

Riches John (old) Bridge street

Rose John (old) Castle street

Stacy John, 5, Old Haymarket

Thompson Peter, Royal Bazaar

Woodrow Wm. Wensum street

(21) BOOT & SHOE MKRS.

*Marked * have Warehouses, and*

+ are whsl. Mfrs. & Leather Ctrs.

Abbs Zachariah, Bridge street

Addison Robert, Magdalen street

Anderson Benj. Trafalgar street

Anthony Wm. Bridge street

Baker Edw. Magdalen street

Baker John, 11, Princess street

Bardwell Everett, Life's green

Barker George, Bridge street

Barnes James, St. James's street

Base Wm. Bridge street

Batterbee Jas. Ber street

Beare Luke & Jno. Bridge street

Beaumont John, City road

Bell Charles, Sussex street

Bell Chas. St. Mules' Ch. alley

Benns Henry, 10 Upper market

Betts John, St. Augustine street

Blyth Wm. Bates, Lady's lane

- Boast Wm. Upper Westwick st.
 Bolton Geo. Trafalgar street
 Borrett Robert, Swan lane
 *Bowtell Thomas, Davey place
 Brown Wm. Upper Westwick st.
 Browne Joshua, 12, Castle street
 Bull Isaac, Angel street
 Bullock Thomas, Trafalgar street
 Burleigh John, Bridge street
 †Burrell Jas. jun. Magdalen st.
 *Buttisant Tmzn. S. Exchange st.
 Buttisant Thomas, Bank street
 Cann John, Middle street
 Cannell George, Ber street
 Carr Wm. Upper Westwick st.
 Challis John, London street
 Clarke Isaac, Botolph street
 Clarke Jas. Upper Westwick st.
 Cocker Wm. Church path
 Coe John, Blake's buildings
 Collins Jas. 17, Davey place
 Cooke Edw. Magdalen street
 Copland John, Lwr Westwick st.
 Cork John, King street
 Cott Henry, Union place
 Cousens John, Rising Sun lane
 Cox John, Stump cross
 Cox Robert, Red Lion street
 *Cullington Charles, Elm hill
 Culyer Samuel, Timber hill
 †Davey, Son. & Kemp, Pitt st.
 Dawson John, Lwr Westwick st.
 De Caux Shakespeare, Ber street
 Dowsing Wm. 7, Julian place
 Duffield Edw. Sussex street
 Engleton John, Ber street
 Empson Edw. St. Lawrence lane
 Fakenham Benj. Duck lane
 Fisher Wm. 38, Pottergate st.
 Fisk John, St. Augustine street
 Fisk Robert, St. Stephen's road
 Forster Jas. 11, Chapel st. N.C.
 Foyster Thos. 1, Angel street
 Franklin Wm. & Chas. (ladies & gentlemen's) 38, London street
 Fuller John, Middle street
 Fuller Samuel, City road
 Gardner Thompson, St. Giles' st.
 Gathercole Richard, Duke st.
 Girdlestone Zach. Timber hill
 Godfrey Geo. Upr Westwick st.
 Goose Wm. Timber hill
 Grove Richard, Ber street
 Hammond Jno. Upr. Westwick st.
 Harrison Charles, New Catton
 Harrison Charlotte, Cross lane
 Harrison Robert, Elm hill
 Harrison Wm. Elm hill
 Harrison Wm. St. John Mad. mkt.
 Harvey John, St. Clement's hill
 Haybo Wm. Botolph street
 Haylett Dd. St. James's palace
 Hewen John, Duck lane
 Hewett Geo. C. St. Stephen's st.
 Hipper Wm. Bridge street
 Holl Geo. 15, Castle street
 Holl Rt. Durrant, Gaol hill
 Holmes John, Surrey street
 Hooper Wm. Hy. St. Swithin's ln.
 Horne Robt. Cockey lane
 Howard Wm. Upr. Westwick st.
 Howes Abm. Rampant Horse st.
 Howes Thomas, New Catton
 Jarvis James, Water lane
 Kent Henry, White Lion street
 Lake John, St. Augustine street
 Lakeman James, New Catton
 Lee Wm. All Saints' street
 Lenham John, King street
 Lincoln Jasper, Julian place
 Livock Robert, Union place
 Littell Charles, Market place
 Littell Wm. Upper market
 Long & Senior, Bridge street
 Lubbock Wm. Middle street
 Lumb John, West Pottergate st.
 Manning Wm. Upr. Westwick st.
 Mayfield Jas. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Miller Brereton Wm. Gloucester pl.
 Miller Stpn. Peter, Peacock st.
 *Mingay Clementina, Gent.'s walk
 Minns Robt. Back of the Inns
 Nolt James, Middle street
 Ormsby John, St. Stephen's st.
 Orshorn Mark, Ber street
 Osborn Samuel, Coslany street
 Palmer Isaac, Middle street
 Parker Samuel, Middle street
 Patteson Jas. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Pegg Wm. 27, Chapel st. N.C.
 Pitcher Wm. Thorpe
 Pleasants Jas. Lower Heigham
 Postle Wm. Gregory street
 Quantrell John, West Pottergate
 Rant Wm. Calvert street
 Rogers Jonathan, 17, Exchange st.

• Robert Josc. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Russell John, Upper Regent st.
 Sampson Wm. Manecroft yard
 Sands Saml. Upr. Westwick st.
 Sapey John, Back street
 Shreve George, West Pottergate
 Silver Robert, Middle street
 Smith Jas. Imperial Arms yard
 Spalding Amor, Pudding lane
 Stacey Edw. Orford hill
 Stapleton Rt. St. John Madmkt.
 Starling Thos. Botolph street
 Stone John, Wounded Heart ln.
 Syder Samuel, Pottergate street
 Taylor Henry, Coslany street
 Teach Chas. Botolph street
 Thetford Thos. St. Paul's street
 Thistle Jas. 56, Pottergate street
 Thompson Jno. St. Clements, C. al.
 Tidnam Samuel, Orford hill
 Tillyard Abm. C. Magdalen street
 Tillyard Robert, Elm hill
 Tinker Wm. Red Well street
 Tinkley Saml. Rampant Horse st.
 Tompson Wm. Bethel street
 Townsend Zachariah, Mill street
 Tuman Jas. Dove street
 Turner Benj. 44, Pottergate st.
 Turner Edw. Orford hill
 Turner Nchs. & Isc. Upr. King st.
 Turner Thos. Pottergate street
 Turner Thos. New Catton
 Turner good Wm. St. Mary's plain
 Turner James, Ber street
 Turner Robert, Union place
 Turner sole Wm. St. Giles' street
 Turner Thos. St. Margaret's lane
 Turner ring Jerh. Laknham. hall rd.
 Turner ter Shem, Gloucester place
 Turner Wm. Goat lane
 Turner ett John, King street
 Turner n Robt. Gloucester place
 Turner s Henry, Willow lane
 Turner ms James, All Saints' st.
 Turner George, Barrack street
 Turner Chas. 9, Upper market
 Turner in Jas. Ber street
 Turner Jas. Cherry street
 Turner r Clint. Amos, Bridge st.
 Turner Rt. 33, London street
 Turner Thos. Cattle market
 Turner Wm. Chapel st. New City
 Turner Jas. Barrack street

(22) BRAZIERERS AND TIN-PLATE WORKERS.

Marked • are Copper-smiths.

• Alden Rt. Foster, (& patentee &
 mfr. of carriage lamps,) Red
 Lion street
 Bedford Chas. Rampant Horse st.
 • Bedford & Son, Pottergate st.
 Bolley Stphn. Benj. Upper West-
 wick street
 Callow Wm. Julian, Church path
 • Foster & Waite, 2, St. Giles',
 Broad street
 Hayward Carey, Middle street
 Hayward Carey, Ber street
 Hayward Isaac, Wensum street
 Hayward Edm. Magdalen street
 Helsden Henry, Magdalen st.
 Hotblack John, Orford hill
 Marriam Wm. Upr. Westwick st.
 Merton Robert, Bridge street
 • Scott Samuel, Charing cross
 Stubbs Edward, Broad street
 Swann Jas. Magdalen street
 Thompson & Wharam, Bridge st.
 Vincent Henry, Charing cross
 • Waite Wm. 32, London street
 (23) BREWERS.

Arnold John, St. Margaret's pln
 Bullard Richard Gregory street
 Burdett Jonathan, Distillery st.
 Clark William, Coslany street
 Crawshaw Rich. St. Stephen's st.
 Dawson Henry, Duke's palace and Geldestone
 Finch Peter, Coslany street
 Gooch Noah, Charing cross
 Hardyman Jno. West Pottergt. st.
 Heigham Rd. Lakenham Hall rd.
 Howell Thomas, Goat lane
 Jagger Anderson, St. Swithin's ln.
 Kent Rbt. Thos. St. Stephen's rd.
 King Geo. Clement, (ale and porter merchant,) 2, Gregory st.
 Massey Thos. St. Stephen's gate
 Moltman James, Back lane
 Mollett Rizen, Cowgate street
 Riches H. Smith, King street gt
 Rix Richard, Peacock street
 Sexton Richard, New Catton Steward, Patterson & Co. (ale and porter,) Pockthorpe
 Tompson Chas. & Sons, King st.

Weston Chas. & Miles, Bridge st
St. George's, h. Thorpe
Whitehead Wm. Bridg. st. St. M's
Wright William, Fishgate street
Youngs & Bart, King street

(24) BRICKLAYERS

Aldis James, 10, Princes street
Aldis William, Cowgate street
Allison Robt. Wounded Heart ln.
Barnes Philip, All Saints green
Basey James, Cowgate street
Bean Thomas, Charing cross
Botts John, Dereham road
Blanch John, Lower Heigham
Browne Henry, Surrey road
Carter George, Rising Sun lane
Cattermoul Everett, Pitt street
Chapman Samuel, Cowgate street
Coalman George & Isaac, Castle meadow

Coe Mark, Cattle market
Crampton Stephen, Philadelphia
Curtis Francis, West Pottergt. st
Darkens & Blake, St. Geo. ph
Drane William, Cobourg street
Duckett Henry, Pottergate street
Fairhead Chas. Lane Cowhill
Freeman John, St. Giles' hll
Gosse Robert, Union place
Haydon Isaac, Ber street
Hopson James, Castle ditches
Howes James, Cowgate street
Kingaby Samuel, Union place
Lake Samuel, St. Augustine st
Ling Wm. St. Stephen's back st.
Livock Samuel, Brazen doors
Parker Clare, Coslany street
Pearce Philip, Blod's court
Rant Jonathan, Fye bridge quay
Read Charles, Union place
Rix John Gardner, St. M'n's ln.
Rowe William, Ber street
Sexton Robt. Watling, Calvert st.
Shore Daniel, Bishop bridge
Skeet Robert, Oxford road
Sutton Jeremiah, Prospect place
Tann John, Pottergate street
Tann William, Palace street
Thompson James, Fishgate street
Tillot John, Julian place
Underwood John, (bldr.) King st.
Wanrett Charles, King street
Woods Richard, Bishop bridge

Wilkins John, Coslany street
Wiseman Robert, Magdalen st.
Wright & Cattermoul, Ber street
Youngs William, Ber street gate

(25) BRICK MAKERS

Berney Thos. T. Esq. (& Round cement) Fisher's yd. & Reedham Blake Robert, St. Stephen's road
h. Lower Heigham
Brooks John, Brazen doors
Bunn John, Chapelfield road
Conks Richard, (dlr.) Fishgate.
Coalman George & Isaac, (importers of Welsh bricks) Catl. mdr.
Underwood & Gaze, Thorpe, h. King street

Wyeth Nathaniel, Brazen doors.
(26) BRITISH WINE DLRS.

Mann Ann, Pottergate street
Skelton & Co. Pottergate street

(27) BRUSH MAKERS

*Marked * are Patten Makers.*
*Bradfield James, Cockey lane
Brown John, Stump Cross
Copley James, Paradise row
Edgar Geo. Chapel st. New City
Ford & Robinson, 6, Davey place
Gooch Thomas, Groat's court
*Hutchin John, Bridge street
*Leeds Thos. St. Andrew's steps
*Ling William, St. Stephen's st.
*Page Saml. D. & Son, 23, Old Haymarket
Ransome James, 18, Gent.'s walk
*Rogers Henry, Wensum street
*Scott Peter Thos. White Lion st.
(28) BUTCHERS

*Marked * are Pork Butchers, and † have shops in the Market pl.*

Adams Wm. Ber street
Artherton John, Coslany street
Baker John, Coslany street
Bell Wm. Up. Westwick street
Bilby Wm. Peter, 12, Julian pl.
Blade Thos. Pottergate street
*Booty Edward, Froxy street
Bowles Wm. Up. Westwick street
Chapman Saml. St. Giles' street
Clark Eliz. Timber hall
Clark Isaac, Chapel st. New City
Cobb Leggett, Botolph street
Cordran Wm. Magdalen street
Curtress John, Ber street

- Davies Barthw. Lower King st.
 Davy William, Bridge street
 Dawson Jonathan, Stump cross
 Day Wm. St. Stephen's street
 Dean Thomas, Trafalgar street
 Darrant Saml. Upr. Westwick st.
 Ellen John, St. Stephen's street
 Ellwood Henry, Timber hill
 • English Richd. St. Stephen's st.
 George Edward, Ber street
 George Wm. Lakenham hall rd.
 Gibson Jas. St. Augustine's wall
 • Green Jonthn. Lower Heigham
 Hall Charles, Wentum street
 Hart Jesse, Pitt street
 • Hawkes John, Cross lane
 Haylett Leonard, Tombland
 Hibbert James, Pottergate street
 • Howard John, Ber street
 • Kerr John, Lower Westwick st.
 † Kett George, Ber street
 Kett Peter Mellish, Coslany st.
 King Edward, Lakenham hall rd.
 • King Samuel, Red Lion yard
 Lamb Alexander, Ber street
 Lamb Charles, Market place
 Lamb James, Market place
 Lamb James, Ber street
 Lamb John, Upper walk
 Larter John, Trafalgar street
 • Laws John, Upper Westwick st.
 † Linstead Samuel, Ber street
 Lowdon Jas. & Jno. Market place
 Mason Newton, Two Quarts yard
 Moore Joseph, Magdalen street
 • Newman Philip, Coslany street
 Nichols Robert, Baker's road
 • Nobbs Charles, New mill yard
 † Parr Thomas, Ber street
 † Peck Edward, All Saints
 • Plummer Henry, Pitt's yard
 Porrett William, Dereham road
 • Potter Robert, King street
 Powley R. St. Martin's at palace
 Puxley Thomas, Pitt street
 Pycroft Nathaniel, Magdalen st.
 Pycroft Thomas, St. James' street
 • Quadling James, King street
 † Rayner James, Ber street
 Roe James, Ber street
 Rudd Noah, Union place
 • Ru'rum Chpr. Upr. Queen st. N.C.
 • Sealey Isaac, Bridge street
 Shickle Robert, Gloucester place
 Slaughter Christopher Middle st
 Smith Samuel, Sussex street
 Smith William, Chapel st. N. C.
 Sparkhall John, Cobourg street
 Stunex William, Surrey grove
 Tilyard Susanna, Market place
 Tufts John, Bridge street
 Walker James, Coslany street
 † Ward Randall, Newmarket road
 Wells John, Market place
 • Weston John, Palace street
 (29) CABINET MAKERS.
*Marked * are Upholsterers, (see Furniture Brokers also.)*
 Bailey Leonard, Duke street
 Barnard John, West Pottergate
 Bell, John, Middleton's court; h. Gregory street
 Bexfield James, Golden ball street
 • Bexfield Joseph, Pottergate st
 Blomfield John, Baker's road
 Brown John, Charing cross
 Bruning John, Grout's court
 Bush Hy. Roach's st. Fisher In Chamberlain Wm. Colegate st.
 Claxton Thos. Back of the Inns.
 Cork Jph. Ling's yd. Magdalen st.
 Cox John, Queen street
 Currey William, Field square
 • Freeman Wm. 2, London st. & Pottergate
 • Gull James Carver, 97, Pottergt.
 Goreham Edward, Middle street
 • Gray Joseph, Dove street; h. Heigham grove
 Howes Simon, St. Gregory's C. yd.
 • Huggins Hy. Upr. Westwick st.
 Kerr James, Distillery street
 Kerry John, Lower Westwick st.
 Larter Thos. St. Gregory's Ch. yd.
 Larter William, Colegate street
 • Ling John T. Bridewell alley
 Lord Aaron, St. John Madder mkt.
 • Martin Samuel, Surrey street
 Moanscar Robert, Princes street
 Norris John, Elm hill
 Ringer James, Rampant Horse st.
 • St. Quintin Perry, Queen street.
 Scott Samuel, Lwr. Westwick st.
 • Scott Rt. & Son, Charing cross
 Scott Wm. Ber street
 Smith Benjamin, Palace street

Tallack Wm. Robinson's yd. Coslany street

*Thurston Samuel, Duke's palace

Wiles Samuel, King street

Wooltorton Jas. Poston, Bethel st.

*Wolverton Edm. Culvert street

CARPET MANUFACTRS.

(See Manufacturers)

CARPET MANFACTRS.

(See Duffield Manufacturers)

(30) CARVERS & GILDERS.

Cushing Samuel, Surrey street

Freeman W. London st. & Pottergt.

Ladbroke Rt. White Lion street

Nurse Rl. Old Post office yard

Rudd Thomas, Culvert street

Thurtle John, Magdalen street

Townshend Samuel, Colegate st.

Wellman Hy. 101, Pottergate st.

(31) CHAIR MAKERS

Batley Wm. St. George's plain

Clapham John, Ber street

Hubbard Wm. (Windsor) Bethel st.

Yallop Jerh. Lwr. Westwick street

(32) CHEESE & BUTTER FACTRS.

Banks Rt. & Thos. Bridge street

DeCaux, Son & Pratt, Wensum st.

Freeman Chas. Rt. 11, Upper market.

Mace John, White Lion street

Slater Wm. Old Haymarket

(33) CHEMISTS & DRUGGISTS

Allred Chas. St. Stephen's st.

Browne Ann, Lakenham hall rd.

Chambers Wm. Market place

Cross Chas. (proprietor of Cross' cough pills) King street

Cubitt Geo. 2, Upper market

Dixon Arthur, 6, Exchange st.

Fromow Wm. St. Augustine st.

Gutten John, Upper Westwick st.

Grant Thomas, Ber street

Greeves Jno. Williams, St. James's st.

Juler Wm. Fox, Union place

Letts Sanl. H. St. Gregory's Ch. yd.

Moore Jas. Brett, Rampan Horse st.

Notley Henry, Chapel street

Priest Rt. R. Broad st. St. Giles'

Ransome John, 14, London street

Rooke Josiah. Red Lion street

Rudd John, Bridge street

Rudd Joseph, St. Stephen's plain

Sims John, Upper walk

Smith C. & Son, Stump cross

Smith John, Porter & Co. Dove st.

Smith Wm. Lyall, Upper walk

Sothorn George, 13, Gentleman's walk; & 12, Crescent

Spatchett Jas. St. John, Mad. mkt.

Squires Paul (soda water mfr.) 26, London street

Stacy Geo. White Lion street

Stacy Wm. S. Wensum street

Woolner John, Bridge street

(34) CHEMISTS (MFRG.)

Marshall & Harman (orchal, cudbear and extract of indigo) Coslany street

CHIMNEY SWEEPERS.

Bougen John Hart, L. Westwick st.

Finch Wm. St. Miles' Church alley

Worff Wm. Charing cross

(35) CLOTHES SALESMEN.

Balls Jas. Bridge street

Barnes Thos. Pottergate street

Bayes Elizabeth, Orford hill

Bennett William, Tombland

Bowes Barnet, Up. Westwick st.

Bowes Wm. Upper Westwick st.

Christian Friday, Botolph street

Creake Sar. Bridge st. St. Andrew.

Cullum John, Bridge st. St. Lawrence.

Draper Mary, Orford hill

Goose William, Middle street

Hardyman Rt. St. Margaret's ln.

Hare John, Lower Westwick st.

Lawkins Vertue, Lwr. Westwick st.

Medler Edward, Princes street

Mills Maria, Lower Westwick st.

Motts William, Bridge street

Parish Solomon, Coslany street

Preston Elizabeth, Cowgate street

Tipple Thos. St. John, Maddermkt.

Turner Wm. Orford hill

Webster Robert, Coslany street

Wright Rt. St. Lawrence Ch. side

(36) COACH & GIG BLDRS.

Marked * are Gig Makers only.

Adams, Hooper and Jolly, St

Stephen's gate

*Dixon Fuller, King street

*Franklin Clint. St. Benedict's gt.

Gidney James, Red Lion street

*Goodwin Wm. Browne's court

Howes Jph. & Jas. Red Lion st.

Hart Philip, jun. Red Lion street

*Matthews John, New Mill yard

Noale Philip, St. Giles' gate
 Nobbs Wm. Castle ditches
 Smith Saml. Swan yd; h Austin's st.
 Spratt Wm. Chapel field
 *Stanbow George, Magdalen st.
 *Thompson Wm. King street
 *Thurst James, Castle meadow
 Woodcock Chas. Little Orford st.
 (37) COACH & LIVERY LACE
 AND FRINGE MANUFACTRS.

Gooch Thomas, Middle street
 Priest Rd. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Tany Wm. Little Orford street
 (38) COAL DEALERS.

Beet James, Chapel street
 Blyth John, Cowgate street
 Briggs John, Church path
 Browne Cornelius, Wellington st.
 Clarke Wm. Coslany street
 Clear James, King street
 Davison James, Fishgate street
 Fisher Jesse, Upper Regent st.
 Flatt John, Back at St. Stephen
 Gale Benjamin St. Martin's at pal.
 Hall Robert, Botolph street
 Page Benjamin, Reeve's yard
 Sowter Peter, St. Paul's plain
 Suffolk William, King street, N. C.
 Vyall Danl. Broad st. St. Andrew's
 Wilde Rt. Rising Sun lane
 Wittrick Daniel, Julian place

(39) COAL MERCHANTS

See also Corn Merchants.

Barnes Benj. Fye bridge quay
 Bean George, Foundry bridge
 Beloe Henry, St. Miles' bridge
 Bessey Jas. H. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Bullen Saml. Lower Westwick st.
 Coaks Rd. Fishgate street
 Cogens Rd. King st., h. Calvert st.
 Crane Francis, King street
 Cross Jerh. Lower Westwick st.
 Crowe My King st., h. Pottergate
 Dunch Denmark, Cowgate
 Dunn James, Magdalen street
 Edwards John, Calvert street
 Fiddyman Samuel, King street
 Gedge George, Coslany street
 George Rd. Magdalen street
 Green Isaac, Rising Sun lane
 Jay & Co. Lower Westwick street
 Juby Thomas, King street
 London John, Fye bridge

Miles George, Bishop bridge
 Minns Ann, Bridge street
 Minns Edward, Water lane
 Murrell Jas. Balloon yd. St. Mgt.'s
 Nobbs Rt. King st.; h. Fisher's yd
 Phillips Edward, King street
 Polgrave Ths. King st.; h. Braendl
 Poil Jerh. St. Swithun's Church yd.
 Pooily Alex. Foundry bridge
 Pope Rt. W. St. James' palace
 Porter Robt. Elm hill
 Pye David, Lower Westwick st.
 Read Rt. Bishop bridge
 Read Saml. Gurney, Fye bridge
 Richardson Ths. Bridge st. St. M.
 Scotter Rt. Whitefriars bridge
 Sexton Simon, Bridge st. St. Geo.; h 4, Crescent

Smith Carles, Water lane
 Watson Edward, King street
 Whickham Wm. King street
 Woods Rt. John, Lwr Westwick st.
 Yarnes Samuel, King street

(40) COLLECTORS (Rents, &c.)

Bayliss Andw. 1, Lakenham ter.
 Carsey John, West end place
 Clark John, Lakenham hall road
 Cassey John & John, Botolph street
 Hall James, Peacock street
 Hill Samuel, St. Augustine street
 Hitchcock John, Distillery street
 Horne John, King street
 Leeds Rt. Lwr. Westwick street
 Lifford Thomas, King street
 Minns Isaac (paving rate) King st.
 Osborn Samuel, Coslany street
 Pegg Wm. 27, Chapel st. N. C.
 Sayer John, 9, Chapel st. N. C.

(41) COMB MANFRS.

Bray John Michl. 12, London st. &
 St. Michael's at Palace plain
 Harvey John, Timber hill

(42) CONFECTIONERS.

Black Thomas & Raynes Michael,
 Gentleman's walk
 Brock Samuel, Bethel street
 Brock Wm. Coslany street
 Chettleburg Hy. Rampant Horse st.
 Clabburn Sarah, Wensum street
 Fountain John, Gregory street
 Gill Wm. St. Stephen's gate
 Harrison Francis, Elm hill
 Harrison John, Middle street

Harrison Wm. Magdalen street
 Hilling Wm. 1, Gentleman's walk
 Lock Charles, 7, Exchange street
 Nichols Edward, King street
 Poulter Wm. Bridge street
 Skipper Samuel, Magdalen street
 Stimson Edward Dove street
 Stockings Jonathan, Gregory st
 Turner Isabella, Swan lane
 Whenstall Wm. Bridge street
 Wilson Ths & Son (wholesale & retail)
 Queen st.; h. Magdalen street

(43) COOPERS.

*Marked * are Wine Coopers.*

* Amy Henry, St. Augustine st.
 * Amy Thomas, Magdalen street
 * Banham George (& son) near the Rose corner King street
 Calthorpe Christopher, London st.
 Calthorpe Wm. Elm hill
 Culyer Wm. Rampant Horse st.
 Dunn John, Ber street gate
 Giv Mary (white) Upper market
 * Graver Abm. Ber street
 King George Clement, Gregory st.
 Leeds Clement, Fishgate street
 Livock James, Nailor's lane
 Mason Edmund, Middle street
 * Merry Robert Pottergate street
 Paston James Fisher's yard
 * Riches John, West Pottergate
 Scott Benj. Chapelhill road
 Smith Francis, St. Stephen's st.
 Stacey Anthony, Thorpe
 Tidman James, Coslany street
 Turner John Stephen, Mill street
 * Wyatt John, Ber street

(44) CORK CUTTERS.

Clarke Mary, Magdalen street
 Robinson Wm. Bridge street
 Rose George, St. Stephen's street
(45) CORN & COAL MERCHANTS.

(See also Coal Dealers only.)

*Marked * are Corn Merchants only.*
 Bell Wm. Lower Westwick st.
 Brown Fredk. King st., h. Brendl.
 * Cooper Thomas, Bridge street
 Correns Jas & Son, Up Westwick st.
 * Cross James, Surrey street
 Cross Jeremiah, Newmills yard
 Dawson Benj. C. & Sons, Duke's pl.
 Drane James, Stamp office yard
 Elze William, Middle street

Geldart Joseph, Wensum street
 Hanks W & Son, St. Michael's Coslany
 Kett Henry, King street
 Mealing & Mills, King street
 Merry Rt. King st. gate; h. Wilderness house, Ber street gate
 Newsham Jph. Lower King st.
 Riches Rt. Smith, King street gate;
 h. Bracendale

* Roper George, Distillery street
 Rose Robert, St. Miles' bridge
 Waters Samuel, Duke's palace;
 h. 8, York place

(46) CORN & FLOUR DLRS

De Caux Wm. Duke street
 Fleet John, New mills
 Fuller Wm. Red Lion street
 Gaze John, Magdalen street
 King Thomas (& son) Green hill
 Kingsbury Geo. 1, Richmond pl.
 Leatherdale John, Thorpe
 Miles George, Bishop bridge
 Painter William, Magdalen street
 Prentice Saml. (& son) 1, Gun la.
 Read Rt. Bishop bridge
 Rose William, Up Westwick st.
 Smith John, Red Lion street
 Sparshall & Cubitt, Magdalen st.
 Spratt Robert, St. Stephen's gate
 Winter Elizabeth, Calvert street

(47) CORN MILLERS

*Marked * are Grout & Oatmeal
 Makers*

Allen Henry, Heigham mill
 * Browne William, Red Lion st.
 Bell James & Co. Trowse mill
 Bush Thomas, Thorpe
 Clare Charles, Mill street
 Davy & Wadnough, Mill street
 De Caux Wm. St. Stephen's gate
 Kidall Robert, New Catton
 New Mills (Proprietors of), Lwr.
 Westwick st.; Wm. Hewett, agt.

* Porter & Co. Magdalen street
 Royall James, Magdalen street
 Weeds Rd. Bishop bridge

(48) COTTON MANUFACTRS.

Geary Wm. (sawing) Botolph st.
 Ponting John, Coslany street
 Uph Wm. St. Giles' hill

(49) COWKEEPERS & CART OWNERS.

Banham John, Lakenham hall rd.

Barter James, St. Benedict's gt.
Beck Philip, Chapel street
Brighton John, West end place
Burnham Rd. City road
Calver Thomas, Newmarket road
Carlton Henry, St. Giles' hill
Elvia Edward, New Catton
Farrow Wm. Upper Queen street
Hubbard John, Church path
Lacey Robert, Bracondale
Money Elizabeth, St. Giles' hill
Nichols Alice, Baker's road
Postle William, King street
Puxley Fras. Cherry street
Shalders Thomas, King street
Staggles Wm. Coslany street
Starling Wm. Trafalgar street
Suffolk Wm. King st. New City
Thompson Michl. Upper Queen st.
Vincent Miller, Chapelfield road
Wigg John, Julian place

GRAPE (See Manufacturers.)
(50) CURRIERS & LEATHER CUTTERS.

*Marked * are Leather Merchants.*
Angell John, Golden bail street
Archer Saml. St. Stephen's street
*Beare Saml. Shalders, Bridge st.
St. George's; h. Pitt street
Boulton Henry, St. Giles' hill
Brooke Cooper, St. Mary's plain
Brooke & Thompson, Upr. market
Brooks William, Wensum street
Cousins John, 3, Upper market
Culyer Rd. Rampant Horse street
Eagleton John, Ber street
Ecclestone Chas. St. Stephen's st.
Elliot Rt. Upper Westwick street
Foulcher C. J. Ber street
Goose Wm. Timber hill
Howell James, Castle ditches
Howell Wm. (cutter) Gregory st.
Page John, Dove street
Page & Woodrow, Magdalen st.
Pratt Thomas, Charing cross
Roe Rt. (harness) St. Giles' hill
Shalders Wm. (& patentee of the expressing fountain) Bank place
Skippon James, Orford hill
(51) CUTLERS & HARDWMN.
Allison David (& surgeons' instrument maker,) Bethel street
Critchfield Samuel, Market place

Hagg Edw. Cockey lane
Knights George, Dove street
Whitlam Thos. Upper Westwick st
(52) DENTISTS

Crawcour Henry, Magdalen street
Neep Edw. 64, Bethel street
Sullivan Chas. Broad st. St. Andw.
Woodcock Hy. Broad st. St. Giles'
(53) DRYSALETERS.

Cocks George, Muspole street
Judson & Wilson, St. Michael's,
Coslany
(54) DUFFIELD, CARPET, & COARSE WOOLLEN. MFRS
Bleakley Rt. & Page, St. Mary's alley

Hawkes Robt. Bethel street
(55) DYERS.—(Bombasin, &c.)
Aldred & Beloe, Bridge street
Browne Wm. Fisher's yard
Bullen Saml. Lwr. Westwick st
Cattermoul Wm. Blad's court, h
St. Andrew's steps

Gedge George, Dial court, h Cos-
lany street
Harper Richard, Bridge street
Horton Wm. Robinson's yard
Coslany street

Hubbard Henry, Coslany street
Johnson Jas. Bridge st. St. Miles
h. St. Augustine street
Metcalf Francis, Wensum street
Mills Stephn. St. Martin at pal. pln
Starks and Co. Duke street
Sudbury Thomas, Fishgate street
Wright Wm. Elm hill

Yarrington & Son, Wensum street
(56) DYERS.—(Clothes, &c.)

Aldborough Jas. Calvert street
Alden Wm. Botolph street
Allen Bryant, Market lane
Barber Samuel, Timber hill
Breeze James, Middle street
Bugg Moses, Botolph street
Bush Francis, Princes street
Campling Robt. Stump cross
Carter John, Ber street
Cooke Ann, Botolph street
Cooke Thos. Paul, Coslany street
Deeks Christiana, Middle street
Emms Samuel, Pattison's yard
Fletcher Ann, Fye bridge quay
Hill Rt. Lower Westwick street

James Tachman, St. Giles' st.
 Thomas Wm. Upr. Westwick st.
 Bennett Benjamin, Charing cross
 Jackson Benj. Westlegate street
 Jarrett Thomas, Magdalen st.

Jay Joshua Bethel street
 King John, Lower Heigham
 Love Harrison, St. Giles' hill
 Ramon Lee, St. Swithun's Ch. aly.
 Stafford Pp. St. George's plain
 Steward Jph. Fye bridge quay
 Thwaites John, Lwr King street
 Tillet Jacob, Fye bridge quay
 Uplh Wm. St. Swithun's; h. Pot-
 tergate

Warren Thomas, Alnhouse lane
 Wilson Thomas, Ber street

EARTHENWARE. (See Glass.)

(57) EATING HOUSES

Blomfield Wm. Pottergate st
 Browne Wm. Red Lion street
 Burden John, Bridewell alley
 Bush John, Castle street
 Holland Thos. Gregory street
 Russell Wm. Golden Ball street
 Ship Thomas, Weavers lane
 Webster John, Golden Ball street
 Worby Robt. Bridewell alley

(58) ENGINEERS & STEAM ENGINE MFRS.

Buttinfant, Blyth, & Francis King st.
 Cawdron John. (lathe and tool
 mkr) Duke street
 Howlett & Bacon, All Saints' grn
 Jordan Edw. (& patentee of force pumps, water closets, &c) St.
 Giles' street

Hamfredk (physical) Scoles grn.
 Watts J. Rose la; h. St. Faith's la.

(59) ENGRAVERS & COPPER PLATE PRINTERS.

Bidwell Jph. Red Lion street
 Cushing Samuel, Surrey street
 Dallinger Jph. (& lithographer,) 18, Davey pl.; h. 7, Heigham
 terrace

Earl Wm. E. (wood,) Surrey st.
 Fuller James, Old Hay market
 Nibham Henry, Chapel field
 Sharpe John Jld. (printer only) St.
 George's plain

Stanton Wm. (printer,) Goat st.
 Steward Thomas, Lady's lane

Willson Thomas, 35, Chapel st.

(60) FELLMONGERS

Churchyard George, Fuller's hole
 Everett Wm., Thorpe; h. Magdalen street

Hawkes Robert, Bethel street
 Leggett Thomas, Coslany street

(61) FIRE & LIFE OFFICES.

Argus, Benj. Rix, Unthank road
 Atlas, Mattw. Rackham, Close
 Alliance, British and Foreign,
 Roger Kerrison, Tomblaud
 British Commercial, Peter Day,
 Day's court Upper market
 Clerical and Medical Life, Geo.
 Cubitt, Upper market

Economic, (Life,) Horatio Boling-broke, St. Clement's Ch. alley

Globe, Wm P. Hicks, Post office
 Guardian, Rackham and Morse,
 Broad street, St. Giles'

Imperial, W. Rackham, Princes st.
 London Union, William Heron

David, Julian place

Norwich, Equitable (Fire,) John
 Skipper, Esq. registrar and sec.

Bank street; h. Thorpe

Norwich Union, Surrey st. Adam
 Taylor & Saml. Bignold, sectre

Palladium, John Richard Coaks,
 King street

Pelican, (Life,) Edw. and Chs.
 Steward, King street

Phoenix, John Athow, Castle st.
 Protector, Colman and Cozens,

Elm hill
 Royal Exchange, Newton and

Woodrow, Tomblaud
 Suffolk W. S. Millard, Princes st.

Sun, John W. Dowson, Bank st.
 United Kingdom, (Life,) Thomas

Waters, St. Stephen's street
 Westminster, (Life,) Unthank,

Poster, & Unthank, Queen st.
 Yorkshire Fire, George Cubitt,

Upper market
(62) FISHMONGERS

*Marked * are Game Dealers also.*

* Bagshaw Abm. Wensum street

* Bagshaw Geo. Coslany street

* Bagshaw Jph. St. Stephen's st.

Baldwin John, 4, Fish market

Barber James, St. Stephen's st.

Crowe Wm. Ber street
 Dunn James, Magdalen street
 Dye Anthony, 3, Fish market
 Dye James, 5, Fish market
 Field Wm. Magdalen street
 Gurney Eliz. 6, Fish market
 Gurney Samuel, Orford hill
 * Jay Chas. 7 & 8, Fish mkt.
 Jay James Fish market; h. Bethel street
 London John, Fye bridge
 Pratt John, King street
 * Pratt Wm. 1, Fish market
 Parry Simon, Pottergate street
 Scott Jas. Fish mkt., h. Day's ct.
 Smith Mary, 2, Fish market

(63) FRUITERS.

Bradbury Mary Ann, Swan lane
 Cousins Jas. St. Gregory's Ch. yd.
 Gidney John, (whols.) Queen st.
 Horstead Thos. Rigby's court
 *later Wm. Old Hay market

(64) FURNITURE BROKERS.
Marked are Cabinet Makers also.*

Abel George, Ber street
 Ashley John, Magdalen street
 Crawford Wm. Ber street
 De Caux Wm. (& looking glass mfr.) St. John Madder mkt.
 Foulsham Thomas, Bridge street
 Gaffer Benj. Upr. Westwick st.
 Greaves Eliz. Southergate street
 Herbert Wm. Upr. Westwick st.
 * Hubby Hy. Lwr. Westwick st.
 * Hubby Rd. Lwr. Westwick st.
 James Wm. Calton road
 Larkman Hy. Coslany street
 Leeds Rt. Lwr. Westwick street
 Mackie Geo. Pitt street
 Mason Hy. St. Gregory's Ch. yd.
 Mason Hy. J. St. John Madder market
 Mason John Lees, Coslany street
 Mason Sar. St. Gregory's Church yard and Charing cross
 Middleton Sus. Bridewell alley
 Palmer G. St. John Madder mkt.
 Pigg Rt. & Wm. 14, London st.
 Pull Robt. St. Michael Coslany
 Pooley Rd. Charing cross
 Salkind Simon, Up. Westwick st.
 Seales Susan, Bank place
 Skyles Wm. Up. Westwick st.

Tazford Walter, Back of Inns
 Watson Ed. C. St. John Madder market
 Womack Geo. St. John, Madder market

(65) FURRIERS.

Blakely Edw. (to her Majesty,) London street
 Boardman John, 5, London st.
 Cotman Edm. & Co. London st.
 English John, B. London street
 Fox Joel, (imptr.,) 2, Davey place
 Potter Ts. & Co. Gentman's walk
(66) GARDENERS & SEEDSMEN

See Nurserymen also

Alger Thomas, Pitt street
 Allen Robt. St. Andrew's steps
 Bales Jonth. Portland place
 Beaneey Barnard, King street
 Bullerd Saml. St. Stephen's st.
 Butler Robert, Ber street
 Chapman Geo. Dorham road
 Chapman Luke, Tanker's lane
 Cooper John, Lakenham
 Cork John, Mill lane
 Dunn David, Trafalgar street
 Drew Brituff Edm. Thorpe
 Diggins James, St. Paul's lane
 Elmer John, Lower close
 Emms Wm. St. Stephen's gate
 Frost George, Lower close
 Frost John, Little Orford street
 Goodings James, Bank street
 Graver Mountain, Middle street
 Green John, Asylum road
 Greenfield Saml. King street
 Grimmer Wm. Ber street
 Hall George, Lakenham hall road
 Hammond John, Lakenham
 Hannet Rt. J. St. Augustine street
 Harper Geo. Trafalgar street
 Hayton Edward, Lakenham
 Heald Henry, Rose lane
 Heslop Wm. Lower Heighan.
 Jermy Thos. Lakenham Hall
 Lambert Edw. Great yard
 Manning Jph. Ber street gate
 Muffet Samuel, Bishopgate
 Neale Lawrence, St. Giles, Lm.
 Newman Chas. Lakenham
 Palmer John, Hellesdon
 Osborn Wm. New Cott w

Parke James, Brazen doors road
 Parr Thos Burrell, Heigham
 Pigg Jas (tea gards.) Ipswich rd.
 Powell Thomas, Union place
 Pratt Chas Newmarket road
 Reeve Jas Old Post office yard
 Reeve Wm, Magdalen street
 Rix Jas Dereham road
 Rope Wm, Rising Sun lane
 Sadler John, Crook's place
 Seaman Henry, Cherry street
 Smith Robt, New Catton
 Smith Wm Wales' buildings
 Stringer Mary, Mill lane
 Strouger John, Green hall
 Tickle Saml Upr. Westwick st.
 Watchan Thos, Lr Westwick st.
 Wiseman Jeffrey Thorpe
 Woolbright Robt, St. Faith's lane
 Wright James, Ber street
 Wyhett Dd, Chapel st New City

(68A) GAS FITTERS

Bindley Chas. & Geo Princes st
 Waite Wm 32, London street
 (67) GLASS, CHINA, AND EARTHENWARE DLRS
 Buddley Chas, St Stephen's st.
 Cooke Edward, Magdalen st.
 Cope Thos Upr. walk; h. Heigm.
 Eastaugh Nathl White Lion st. and Upper market

Foulsham Thomas, Bridge street
 Gill John, Broad st. St. Giles'
 Heap William, Charing cross
 Howard Hy Rampant Horse st.
 Jarvis Francis, Oxford hall
 Lovick Saml, Broad st. St Andws'
 Mends ws George, Magdalen street
 Murray Jph, Moravia, Museum st.
 Onley Daniel, Brazen doors
 Seales Susan Bank place
 Swanu George, 12, Gent's walk
 Tinkley Saml, Rampant Hrs. st.
 Yates Wm, Upper Davey place
 (68) GLASS STAINERS.

King Jas & Sons, Elm hall
 Middleton Jno. (dlr.) St. Stphn.'est
 Yarrington Saml C Upr. King st.
 (69) GLOVES & Leather Selrs.
 Callum Joshua, King street
 Hanworth Geo. White Lion street
 Smith Geo. Charing cross
 Swan Thomas, Magdalen street

Theobald Thos, London street
 (70) GROCERS & TEA DLRS.
*Marked * are Tallow Chandlers, & † Oil and Italian Warehs. also.*
 Abbott Charles, Market place
 Aldrich John, West Pottergate Allen Joseph Howse, (wholesale & retail.) Bank place

Andrews Chas. St. Stephen's st.
 Andrews Richard, Charing cross
 Atkins Wm, White Lion street
 * Back Edward, 3, Old Haymarket.
 Banks Robert & Thos Bridge st
 Barber John, 11, Old Haymarket
 Baxter Pdk Jonth Bridge street
 Bennett Edward, 11, Upr. Mkt.
 Bugden Thos, Muspole street
 Burgess Jas. St. Stephen's street
 Burrows Geo. C. Magdalen street
 Burrows Geo. Hy. Magdalen st.
 Butcher Jeremiah, 1, Queen street
 Butterfant Wm, Geo. Magdalen st.
 Cannell Jas. Upr Westwick street
 Chamberlain Jas. White Lion st.
 Cozens & Copeman, 12, Gent's wk.
 * De Carle Eli, St. John Maddler market row

* DeCaux, Son & Pratt, Wensum st.
 Diver Owen Albert, Upr. walk
 Durrant Rt. St. Michael's Coslany
 Dye Saml, Rampant Horse street
 Easto John, Upr Westwick street, and St. Stephen's street Freeman Chas. Robert, 14, Upper market, Cowgate st. & Barrack st.
 Giles Hy. & Rt Mohine, 14, Gentlemen's walk

Grant Fras. Trafalgar street
 * Grant John, 9, London street
 Green Thos. Anthony, Middle st.
 Hardesty John, Bridge st. St. Geo.
 * Hardy Geo. & Jn. Rampt. Horsest.
 High George, New Catton
 Howes Andw. Upr. Westwick st.
 * Howes John, Goat lane
 Howes John & Co. Trafalgar st.
 * Ivory William, Tombland
 Jones Wm. Renney, Coslany st.
 Kerrison Simon, Magdalen street
 * Kilton John, Ber street
 Lacey Robert, Timber hall
 Lamb Chas. Henry, 63, St. Giles'
 Broad street

Lessey Saml. Magdalen street
 Lockett Wm. Potterygate street
 Mace John, White Lion street
 Mace Mark, Up'r mkt. & Bethel st.
 Mann Edmund Scott, Ber street
 Mather John, 2, Gentleman's walk
 Mayhew Geo. St. Stephen's street
 Mayston John Lwr. Westwick st.
 Newman & Co. 7, Davey place
 Newson Wm. Magdalen street
 * Norgate & Co. Surrey street
 Norton Robert, Magdalen street
 Ranger John Manshop, (wholesale)
 St. Martin's Palace plain
 * Redforth Freeman 47, Lowin, st.
 * Russell Jas. Palace street
 Sadler Wm. St. Giles' street
 Shalders Edw. St. Miles' bridge
 Skelton & Co. Potterygate street
 Smith John, Bethel street
 * Steel Henry, Coslany street
 Turner Edmund, Ber st.

(71) GLN MAKERS

Dyball Edward, Briggs street
 Harrison Saml. Gr. Orford street
 Mayes Charles, Cockey lane
 Offord George, Ber street
 Walker Isaac, St. Stephen's plain,
 b. Newmarket road

(72) HAIR DRESSERS, &c.

*Marked * are Perfumers*

Aker George, Back of St. Peter's
 Atkins Henry, St. Stephen's gate
 Barnes John, Broad st. St. Giles'
 Bayes Wm. Magdalen street
 Betts Thomas, Cockey lane
 Bilby John, St. Paul's plain
 Bilby William, Pitt street
 Burrows Thos. Yeomans, King st.
 Buttifant Joshua, Tumbor hill
 Codrnan Sten. Coslany street
 Colman Thos. Magdalen street
 Daphu Rt. Wm. Ber street
 * Davies George, 13, London st.
 * Dearing Geo. Rampant Horse st.
 Dixon Dani. Back of St. Peter's
 Dixon James, Ber street gates
 Dixon William, Catth. market
 Dunn George, Trisalgar street
 Fairman Wm. Barrack street
 Fiech William, King street
 Gaze Samuel, Coslany street
 Gedge William, Bethel street

Gidney Benjamin, Red Lion st.
 Girdlestone Reuben, St. Giles' st.
 Grant James, Middle street
 Hallows Joseph, Angel street
 Hartley Wm. P. Little Orford st.
 Harvey George, St. Stephen's st.
 Hewett John, Magdalen street
 * Hill Robert, Red Lion street
 Hinds Mark, Up'r Westwick street
 Holmes James, Fye bridge quay
 Houston Wm. Alex. Barrack st.
 Howlett Baldwin, Pump street
 Kerrison Hy. Michl. Orford hill
 Kerrison James, Castle ditch
 * Kew Flora, 19, White Lion st.
 Kew Robert, 8, Exchange street
 Loftis Jas. Walter, Magdalen st.
 Lovett Henry, Bridge street
 Lovett Wm. Ber st. & cattle mkt.
 Marris Wm. Duke street
 Middleton Edward, Potterygt. st.
 Miller James, Golden Dog lane
 Miller Nathaniel, Palace street
 Moore James, Ber street
 Plumstead Rbt. Wensam street
 Porter John, Up'r Westwick street
 Reeve Wm. Golden Ball street
 Riches Edward, Potterygt. street
 Roberts John, Magdalen street
 Rose Robert, Elm hill
 Scotter John, Potterygate street
 Silom Wm. Cowgate street
 Smith John, St. Stephen's street
 * Staggles Dani. Bank place
 Storey John R. St. Augustine st.
 Taylor Henry, Bridge street
 Thorpe Thomas, Coslany street
 Varnish Richard, King street
 Walker Chas. 21, Chapel st. N. C.
 Whall John, Union place
 Woodcock John, Mkp. & Up'r mkt.
 Youngman Peter, St. James' street
 (73) HAIR SEATING AND CURLED HAIR MFRS

Hawkes Robert, Bethel street
 Howlett Peter, Batolph street
 (74) HAM & BEEF DEALERS.
 Coote Chadnuts, Old Haymarket
 Kerrison Simon, Magdalen st.
 Slater Wm. Old Haymarket
 (75) HARDWARE DEALERS.
 Bray John, Michl. 12, London st.
 Cohen Jph. Bridge street

Hart Daniel, White Lion street
 Levine Myers, (& brace maker,) Rampant Horse street
 Ransome Jas 18, Gent.'s walk
 Wiseman Jph White Lion street
 (76) HATTERS

 are Hat Mfrs. & † Hosiery.*

† Beasley Geo. & Co. London st.
 † Blyth John, 12, Davey place
 Boardman Benj. 11, Briggs street
 † Brown & Barker, 10, Londn. st.
 Felstead Emanuel, Davey place
 Isaacs Naphali, Lady's lane
 Jennings Wm 2 & 3, Exchange st.
 Knight Thomas, 9, London street
 * Metcalfe Joseph, Fye bdg. quay
 † Orton James, Briggs street
 Perowne John, Gent.'s walk
 † Potter Thos. & Co. 5, Gent.'s wk.
 † Ringer Saml. S. 7, London st.
 * Surpson Wm. St. Gregory's C yd.
 Smirkie Jas. E. Distillery street
 † Tomlinson Rt. S. Castle street

(77) HORSE DEALERS

Abel Jno Barwell's et. St. Stpu's st.
 Jolly Henry, Heigham grove
 Laws Wm St. Stephen's gate

(78) HORSES, GIGS AND COACHES FOR HIRE.

Baxter Peter, Theatre street
 Beddingfield Benson, Wastlegate
 Cheverton & Padgett, St. Stephen's Back street

Clark Rbt Magdalen street
 Daines Robert, Bethel street
 Frost Geo. All Saints' green
 Johnson Geo. Rt. St. Giles' gate
 Osborne John, Geo. yd St. Stpu's
 Powley Wm Golden Ball street
 Puxley Thos. Old Haymarket
 Twogood Wm. St. Mary's plain
 Wakefield Fras. Ramp. Horse st.
 (79) HOSIERS AND HABERDASHERS.

See Hatters also.

Beare Louis, Magdalen street
 Boardman Benj. Briggs street
 Bray John Machl. 12, London st.
 Brown Wm. (mfr) Magdalen st.
 English Jph. 8, Old Haymarket
 Jennings Chas. 4, London st.
 Lane Jph. All Saints' green
 Pigg Sarah & Co. 14, London st.

Powell Hannah, 35, London st.
 Press Wm. Weaver's lane
 Ransome Jas 18, Gent.'s walk
 Riches Wm. Danl. London st.
 Smith Jhn. & Co. Broad st. St. G.
 Towler and Son, 3, London st.
 (80) HOT PRESSERS

Barker Mtlw E & Son, Rosemry. la.
 Bolley Stephen, Up. Westwick st.
 Crotch Benj. Bridge street
 Howes Ths. & Jerh. Coslany st.
 Middleton Chs. Up. Westwick st.
 Towler Samuel, Pulace street

(81) HOTELS, INNS, AND TAVERNS

Adam and Eve, Henry Greaves, Upper Westwick street
 Adam and Eve, Thomas Turner, Tabernacle row
 Albion Tavern, Wm. Cushing, Market place

Anchor, Jph. Turner, Surrey st.
 Anchor, John Thompson, Silver rd.
 Anchor, Jn. Holmes, Risg. Sun ln.
 Angel Inn, Wm. Thomas Sadler, 16, Gentleman's walk

Angel, Wm. Seeley, New Catton
 Angel, John Wilkins, Coslany st.
 Angel, Jn. Spratt, St. Stephen's st.
 Angel, Wm. Harris, Trowse mill gt.
 Arabian Horse, Susanna Claxton, Coslany street

Artichoke, Wm. Rumbold, Magdalen gate

Axe and Gate, James Francis, Gregory street

Bakers' Arms, St. Clapham, Berst.
 Bank Tavern, Thomas Buttsant, Bank street

Barleycorn, Wm. Clarke, Coslany street

Barley Mow, Isaac Lovewell, Old Haymarket

Bear, John Norman, et. 13, Gentleman's walk

Bear and Ragged Staff, Susanna Holmes, Fisher's lane

Bee Hive, Wm. Anthony, 13, Upper market

Bee Hive, Gabriel Bell Durrant, Upper Westwick street

Bee Hive, Thomas Rust, St George's plain

Bell Inn, Samuel Leggatt, Orford
hill and Cattle market
Bess of Bedlam, John Bacon,
Coalany street
Black Boys, Lda. Barker, Colegt.
Black Boys, John Green, Barrack street
Black Chequers, Denmark Dunch,
Cowgate street
Black Horse, J. Aymer, Tombland
Black Horse, Robert Riches,
Hingham road
Black Horse, Robert Moll, Broad
street, St. Giles'
Black Horse, S. Scales, Oxford st.
Black Horse, S. Yeames, King st.
Black Prince, Wm. Turner, Market place
Black Swan, John Barnard, Upper market
Bine Bell, Wm. Springfield, Grogory street
Board, George Dawson, St. Savior's lane
Board, Robt. Drewell, Palace st.
Board, Wm. Browne, Red Lion st.
Boarded House, Wm. Knights,
Cattle market
Boatswain's Call, James Warnes,
Botolph street
Bowling Green Coml. and Family
Hotel, Chas. Taylor, Chapelfld.
Bowling Green Tap, Richard
Stannard, Theatre street
Boy & Cup, Jas. Lemon, Pottergt.
Bricklayers' Arms, Wm. Storey,
Bull close
Bricklayers' Arms, Mark Coe,
Cattle market
Brickmakers' Arms, Saml. Seeley,
Brazen doors
British Lion, John Payne, Cobourg street
Britons' Arms, Chs. Carr, Elmhill
Brown Cow, Wm. Buckenham,
Barrack street
Buck, Richd. Fish, Coalany st.
Buck, My. A. Harmer, Church path
Buck, Jno. Doy, St. Michl.'s at pal.
Buff Coat, John Wymer, Buff coat lane
Bull, Eean Pye, Bull close
Bull, Jph. Caston, St. Stephen's st.

Bull, Jas. Duckett, Magdalen st
Bullock and Butcher, Saml. Colley, St. Giles' hill
Bull's Head, Gry. Robinson, Ber st.
Bushell, Wm. Harper, St. Augustine street
Butchers' Arms, James Furnish,
Ber street
Cabinet Makers' Arms, Robert
Miller, Red Well street
Canteen, Henry Oakes, Barracks
Carpenters' Arms, John August,
Pottergate street
Carpenters' Arms, Jas. Bullock,
Thorn lane
Carpenters' Arms, J. Dale, Fuhgt.
Carrowinn, Wm. L. Hinsby, Carw.
Castle Inn, John Shingles, Castle ditches
Cat and Fiddle, Robert Clarke,
Magdalen street
Cat and Fiddle, John Bell, Bo-
tolph street
Catherine Wheel, John Duffield,
St. Augustine street
Cattle Market Inn, Edw. Painter,
Cattle market
Cellar House, Abm. Willis, Coa-
lany street
Cellar House, Wm. M'Cluer, Bridge street, St. George's
Cellar House, Henry S. Riches,
King street gate
Champion, John Price, St. Stephen's gate
Chequers, J. Bouton, Buff Coat In.
Chequers, Wm. Scott, Bridge st.
Cherry Tree, Wm. Hardy, Middle street
Church Style, Rt. Fox, Up. market
Cinder Ovens, James Linstead,
King street gate
City of Norwich, Robt. Harrison
St. Stephen's plain
Coach and Horses, Robt. Daines,
Bethel street
Coach & Horses, Thos. Andrews,
Foundry road
Coach and Horses, Henry Yallop,
Red Lion street
Coach Makers' Arms, Wm. Cater,
St. Stephen's gate

- Coach Makers' Arms, Charles Howen, Bethel street
 Cook, Mary Miller, King street
 Cock John Woods, St Giles' st
 Cock, Edw Mauns, Lakenham
 Cock and Magpie, Jas Townsend, Fye bridge quay
 Coffee House, Wm Snow, Upper walk
 Compasses, Geo Dawson, King st
 Coopers' Arms, Abm Herbert, Thorn lane
 Coopers' Arms, Wm. Calthorpe, Elm hill
 Coopers Arms, Henry Mounsear, Princes street
 Coopers' Arms, Thos Tallwin, St Margaret's lane
 Cork Cutters' Arms, Geo. Tooke, Bridge street
 Corn Exchange, Isaac Moore, St. Andrew's steps
 Corner's Cap, Wm Sparrow, Upper Westwick street
 Cottage, Geo. Matthews, Silver rd
 Cow and Hare, Wm Armes, Lower Heigham
 Crispin, Jas Mann, Bethel st.
 Crow-dile, Thos. Thayne, Lower Westwick street
 Crooked Billet, John Stone, Lwr Heigham
 Cross Keys, Wm. Crowe, Magdalen street
 Crown, William Petchell, Upper Westwick street
 Crown, John Kerrison, Elm hill
 Crown, Ann Birch, Bridge street, St George's
 Crown & Anchor, Wm. Browne, Middle street
 Crown & Sceptre, Edw Empson, St. Michael, Coslany
 Cupid, Benj. Gale, St Martin's at palace
 Curriers' Arms, Allen Beckham Webster, St. Giles', Broad st.
 Curriers' Arms, Cs Read, Union pl
 Distillery, Jonathan Bardett, Distillery street
 Dog, John Bilby, St. Paul's plain
 Dolphin, Richd. Piggin, Heigham
 Dolphin, Geo. J. Turner, Coslany st.
 Dove, Rt. Clark, Lwr. Westwick st.
 Dove, Jas. Woods, Dove street
 Dove, John Nockolds, Muspole st.
 Dove, Elbz. Lacey, St. James' st
 Dove & Shuttle, Lubbock Lawn, Lower Heigham
 Drum, Edmund Holmes, Lower Westwick street
 Duke of Marlborough, Jeremiah Middleton, Fishgate street
 Duke of Wellington, Geo. Cooper, Pottergate street
 Duke of Wellington, Cornelius Browne, Wellington street
 Duke of Wellington, Jas. Smith, St. Stephen's street
 Duke of Wellington, Edw. Powell, Union place
 Duke of York, Thomas Baldwin, Lower Westwick street
 Duke of York, Jas. Laws, Cow hill
 Duke of York, James Murrell, King street
 Duke of York, J. Garrard, Thorpe
 Duke of York, Samuel Kingaby, Union place
 Duke of York, Charles Palmer, Barrack street
 Duncan's Arms, William Reeve, Magdalen street
 Dyers' Arms, Joseph Metcalfe, Fye bridge
 Dyers' Arms, Zachariah Holmes, St. Giles' street
 Eagle, Jas. Faulke, Newmkt. rd.
 Eight Ringers, Thomas Canningham, Coslany street
 Elephant, Clarke Miller, Stump cross, Magdalen street
 Elm, Job Hastings, New Catton
 Elm Tavn, Wm. Powley, Elmhill
 Exchange, T. Howard, Cockeyln
 Farriers' Arms, Rt. Neale, Pottergt.
 Follmongers' Arms, Wm Springall, Coslany street
 Fishmongers' Arms, James Bradfield, Bridge street
 Flecker'd Bull, Thomas Bernard, Ber street
 Fleece, Wm. James, Tomblaud
 Fleece, T. Walkley, Bridewell at Flora, Bartholomew Piller, Lwr, Westwick street

Flower-in-Hand, Wm. Furse, Pit street
 Flower-in-hand, Solomon Betts, Lower Westwick street
 FlowerPot, J. Shipman, Coslany st.
 Fortune of War, Wm. Carey, Calvert street
 Founders' Arms, John Riches, West Pottergate street
 Fountain, Thos. Carter, Briggs st.
 Fountain, Jas. Debbage, Upper Westwick street
 Fox & Hounds, Jno. Cook, Ber st.
 Free Masons' Arms, Henry Kett, Lakenham hall road
 Gardeners' Arms, Jno. Doubleday, Lower Heigham
 George, R. Porrett, St. Stephen's st.
 George and Dragon, John Dixon, Calton, Old Haymarket
 George & Dragon, John Taylor, Barrack street
 Geo. IV., Ts. Watts, Chapel st. N.C.
 Geo. IV., James Ulph, Ber st.
 Geo. IV., Mary A. Green, Middle st.
 Gibraltar, John Custance, Heigham
 Globe, Richd. Dawson, Union pl.
 Globe, John Moore, Rising Sun ln.
 Golden Ball, Wm. Girling, Cattle market
 Golden Can, H. Callow, Middle st.
 Golden Cross, Henry Vincent, Charing cross
 Golden Key, Henry Simmons, Old Haymarket
 Golden Lion, Ann Hallnight, St. John Madder market
 Golden Lion, Theophilus Stringfellow, Brazen doors
 Goose and Gridiron, James Clear, Little Orford street
 Grapes, John Payne, Dove street
 Grapes, John Rickwood, St. Michael's Coslany
 Grapes, G. R. Johnson, St. Giles' gt.
 Green Drag. Ts. Riches, Cockey ln.
 Green Man, John Harper Smith, King street
 Greenland Fishery, Aquila Cannel, Coslany street
 Greyhound, Js. Spanton, Surrey st.
 Greyhound, Jas. Page, Ber st.
 Griffin, Edw. Horth, Barrack st.

Griffin, Saml. Vince, King st.
 Guild Hall, Rt. Cooper, Gaol hill
 Half Moon, Jas. Puxley, court 9, Gentleman's walk Half Moon, W. Pritty, Derehm. rd.
 Half Moon, Hy. Bottle, King st.
 Hampshire Hog, Jeremiah Poll, St. Swithin's church yard
 Hare and Cat, Peter Sowter, St. Paul's plain
 Hassets Hall, John Burton, Barrack street
 Hen and Chickens, Thos. Fenn, St. Mary's plain Hole-in-the-Wall, Wm. Brittain, Museum street
 Holkham Arms, John Brooks, Castle ditches
 Hope & Anchor, Robert Egerton, Bracondale
 Horse Barracks, Robert Besford, Barrack street
 Horse Breakers' Arms, John Mendham, Golden Ball st.
 Horse and Dolphin, Joseph Read, Union place
 Horse and Groom, John Edward Barnes, Back of the Inns
 Horse and Groom, Henry King, Middle street
 Imperial Arms, Jonathan Boast, King street
 Jack of Newbury, James Pearce, Magdalen street
 John Bull, Jno. Dennant, Union pl.
 Jolly Butchers, Rt. Foulger, Ber st.
 Jolly Dressers, Edw. Rickward, St. George's plain
 Jolly Dyers, Jas. Freeman, Fishgt.
 Jolly Dyers, My. Dunn, Wensum st.
 Jolly Dyers, Rt. Monsey, Bridge st.
 Jolly Farmers, John Flood, Charing cross
 Jolly Farmers, Wm. George, St. Martin's at Palace plain Jolly Farmers, James Thurling, Cattle market
 Jolly Gardeners, Wm. Digby, Paddock
 Jolly Gardeners, Charlotte White, Catton road
 Jolly Hatters, Wm. Russell, Cowgate street

- Jolly Malsters, Noah Outlaw,
 King street
 Jolly Malsters, Thos. Lovewell,
 Cowgate street
 Jolly Sportsman, Noah Thrower,
 Barrack street
 Jolly Topers, Thos. Rix, Coslany st.
 Jubilee, Fran. Spanton, Ber st.
 Kett's Castle, Rt. Smith, Spittlefields.
 King's Arms, Jas. Carver, Ber st.
 King's Arms, G. Lamb, Bethel st.
 King's Arms, Rt. Bray, Ber st. gt.
 King's Arms, Sml. Jeffries, Lakenham hall road
 King's Arms, John Soame, Bo-
 tolph street
 King's Arms, Robt. Curtis, Magdalen street
 King's Arms, Wm. Humphriss,
 Coslany street
 King's Arms, D. Shore, Bishopsg.
 King's Head, John Davy, St.
 Stephen's street
 King's Head, Hy. Lovett, Pump st.
 King's Head, Wm. Pearce, Davey
 place
 King's Head, Geo. Coe, Cowgt. st.
 King of Prussia, Jas. Pigg, Ten
 Gardens, Ipswich road Labour in Vain, Susanna Posties, Upper market
 Lamb, Thos. Bowles, Ber street
 Lamb, Wm. Nobbs, Coslany st.
 Lamb, J. Websdale, lt. Gent.'s wlk.
 Lamb Dog, Robert Edwards, St.
 Stephen's road
 Light Horseman, Samuel Dale,
 Barrack street
 Light Horseman, John Buddell, Westgate
 Lion Kiln, John Harbord, St.
 Giles' street
 Lock & Key, Pet. Woods, Ber st.
 London Coffee House, Thomas
 Magpy, Rampant Horse street
 London Steam Packet, Wm. Middleton, St. Catharine's plain Lord Burgham, Robt. Edwards,
 Cowgate street
 Lord Camden, Wm. Hodgson,
 Cowgate street
 Lord Exmouth, Peter de Caux, St.
 Stephen's street
 Lord Howe, Paul Greenwood,
 Upper Westwick street
 Magpie, Wm. Smith, Wales' bds.
 Maid's Head Hotel, Edw. Howell,
 Wensum street
 Man-in-the-Moon, —, Duke st.
 Man-loaded-with-Mischief, Thos.
 Rising, St. Paul's back street
 Marquis of Granby, Ezekiel Page,
 Barrack street
 Marquis of Granby, Wm. Knott,
 Bishopgate street
 Masonic Tav. Hy. Pitt, Elm hill
 Mill Tav. Jph. Strutt, New Catton
 Mitre Tav. Chas. Betts, Briggs st.
 Moon and Stars, Jonas Durrant,
 Duke street
 Nelson, Wm. Murrell, Trafalgar st.
 Nelson's Monument, Robert Rad-ling, King street
 Nelson Tav. Saml. Dix, Market pl.
 Nelson Tavern, Wm. Young,
 Timber hill
 New Barge, Geo. Paul Banham,
 King street
 New Brewery, Lwr. Westwick st.
 New Brewery, James Barber,
 Fishgate street
 New City, Benj. Farrow, King st.
 New Corn Exchange, Ann Cooper, Bridge street
 New Goat, Joseph Daines Bond,
 Goat lane
 New Inn, Thos. Winter, Green hill
 New Mills, Wm. Thorpe, Lower
 Westwick street
 New Star, S. G. Read, Fye bridge
 Norfolk Hotel, Wm. Durrant,
 Broad street, St. Giles'
 No-Where, John Drake, Lower
 Westwick street
 Oak, Robt. Carpenter, Coslany st.
 Old Barge, Dd. F. Harmer, King st.
 Old Crown, Jas. Sadler, Coslany st.
 Old Globe, John Slater, Botolph st.
 Old Goat, Rd. Skipper, Goat lane
 Old Lion and Castle, Geo. Warner,
 Timber hill
 Old Lobster, Stpn. Swan, Pottergt.
 Old Music House, Harman Dunham, King street
 Palace Inn, W. Culyer, Duke's pal.
 Paul Pry, Wm. Paston, St. Giles' hill

Peacock, Charles Taylor, St. Stephen's plain
 Pheasant, Benj. Ellis, Coslany st.
 Pheasant, Jas. Bunting, Ber st. gt.
 Pine Apple, Rd. Jarvis, Trowse
 Pine Apple, John Beeston, St. Martin's lane
 Plane Makers' Arms, Jas. Annison, Browne's yard
 Plasterers' Arms, Robt. Vineyard, Cowgate street
 Plough, John Gray, Upr. Westwick street
 Plough and Horses, Jas. Curtis, Cattle market
 Plumbers' Arms, Edward Hook, Cowgate street
 Plumber's Arms, Reuben Widdows, Princes street
 Popes' Head, Wm. Coldham, 12, Upper market
 Port of Norwich, Susan Nobbs, Bridewell alley
 Prince of Orange, Fras. Crane, King street
 Prince of Wales, Stephen Raven, Upper Westwick street
 Prince of Wales, Gilbert Pritchard, Pump street
 Prince Regent, Robert Rackham, Weaver's lane
 Princess Charlotte, Thos. Walker, Queen street, New City
 Punch and Chophouse, Thomas Thirkettle, Market place
 Queen Adelaide, Chas. Britcher, Pitt street
 Queen Anne, Jonathan Green, St. Michael's Coslany
 Queen Caroline, Charles Austin, Coslany street
 Queen's Head, Jas. Howes, Cowgt.
 Queen's Head, Richard Mutton, St. Giles' street
 Queen of Hungary, Thos. Thorpe, Upper Westwick street
 Rainbow, Jno. Thwaites, King st.
 Ram, Geo. Turney, Brazen doors rd.
 Rampant Horse Hotel, Chpr. Twiss, Rampant Horse street
 Ranelagh Gardens, Lucas De Caux, St. Stephen's gate
 Raven, Fuller Dixon, King st.

Recruiting Sergeant, John Rupert, Ber street
 Recruiting Sergeant, Geo. Dawson, Soutergate street
 Red Cow, Thos. Bates, Cow hill
 Red House, Ts. Fish, Timber hill
 Red Lion Tavern, Henry Wm. Goodings, Red Lion street
 Red Lion, James Berry, Bridge street.
 Red Lion, Thomas Brown, 19, London street
 Red Lion, Ann Minns, Brdg. st.
 Red Lion, Job Rudrum, Magdalen street
 Red Lion, Wm. Clabburn, Magdalen street
 Red Lion, St. Chandler, Bishopst.
 Ribs of Beef, J. Burton, Fye bdg.
 Richmond Hill, Wm. Youngs, Ber street
 Rifleman, Edward Ewellis, All Saints' green
 Rifleman, Js. Campling, Cross In
 Rising Sun, Js. Howard, W. end
 Rising Sun, W. Plummer, Mkp.
 Robin Hood and Little John, Austin Bennett, Barrack street
 Rose Inn, Hy Thos. Sturley, St. Augustine street
 Rose, Thos. Watts, King street
 Rose, Rd. Bullard, Gregory st.
 Rose, Fdk. Watring, Coslany st.
 Rose Tavern, Henry Brockhall, Back of the Inns
 Rose Tavern, Thomas Pummell, Upper walk
 Rose, Nath. Stewardson, Cowgt. st.
 Rose and Crown, Francis Wells, Bishopgate
 Rose and Crown, Wm. Skipper, Trowse
 Royal Oak, James Futter, St. Augustine street
 Royal Oak, Goe. Buckle, Chapel street, New City
 Royal Oak, Robt. Emms, Lower Heigham
 Rump and Dozen, Elz. Neal, Elm hill
 St. Andrew's Steps, Robt. Liddlelow, St. Andrew's hall

- St. John's Head, Robt. Ashen,
 Rumpsey street
 St. Paul's Pav. F. a. Clare, Cowgt.
 Sawyers, J. Clarke, St. Paul's pln.
 Seed Mart, James Legood, Old
 Haymarket
 Seven Stars, Wm. Waters, Barrack street
 Shakespear, W. Kemp, Theatre st.
 Shakespear wine & spirit vaults,
 John Judd Sharpe, St. George's pln.
 Ship, John Blyth, Cowgate
 Ship, Saml. Scales, King st. gate
 Ship, Ricad. Varnish, King street
 Ship, Wm. Arminger, Thorn ln.
 Shire Hall Tavern, John Fras.
 Clark, Castle meadow Shoulder of Mutton, Nathl. Banham, St. Stephen's street
 Shoulder of Mutton, Hy. Swann,
 St. Augustine street
 Shuttles, Jph. Engall, Botolph st.
 Sir John Barley Corn, W. Adams,
 Cowgate, street
 Southwell Arms, Sar. Kett, La-kenham hall road
 Sovereign Steam Packet, James
 G. Inney, King street
 Spread Eagle, Joseph Howlett,
 Sussex street
 Star Inn, Thos. Puxley, 9, Old
 Haymarket
 Star, Robert Bygrave, Fye bidge.
 quay
 Star and Crown, Eliz. Shimmer,
 Timber hill
 Steam Packet, William Hilling,
 King street
 Steam Packet, Wm. Thompson,
 King street
 Sun, John Seaman, New Catton
 Sun, Wm. Vincent, Coslany st.
 Sun and Anchor, Colegate street
 Sussex Arms, David Haylett, St.
 James' palace
 Swan Hotel, Saml. Asker, Back
 of St. Peter's
 Swan, John Burton, Swan lane
 Swan with two Necks, Jas. Furnish, Market place
 Swan with two Necks, John Scott,
 St. Stephen's street
 Swan-with-two-Necks, Jas. Gibson, Coslany street
 Ten Bells, John Browne, Upper
 Westwick street
 Thatched House, Mrs. Fras. Wakefield, Rampant Horse street
 Thorn Tav. Rt. Howard, Ber st.
 Three Horse Shoes, Robt. Goffin,
 Palace street
 Three Kings, William Stratford,
 Upper Westwick street
 Three Pigeons, Wm. Newman,
 Fishgate street
 Three Pigeons, Thomas Slack,
 Charing cross
 Three Tuns, Jacob Laccohee,
 Whitefriars, Bridge street
 Three Tuns, Eliz. Livock King st.
 Three Turks, Eliz. Westgate, Lwr.
 Westwick street
 Tiger, William Newby, St. Stephen's back street
 Tiger, John Symonds, Fishgate
 Thompson's Cellar, Martin Fountain, Lower King street
 Town House, Robert Allen, St.
 Andrew's steps
 Trowel and Hammer, Robt. Powley St. Stephen's gate
 True Briton, Geo. Thursby, New
 Catton
 Trumpet, Rt. Palmer, St. Stephen's street
 Tumble-down-Dick, Saml. Parish,
 Ber street
 Tuns, John Cheverton, All Saints'
 green
 Tuns, Ts. Bloom, St. Giles' gate
 Turkey Cock, Robert Mitchell,
 Wensum street
 Two Brewers, George Womack,
 St. John Maddler market
 Two Brewers, Wm. Smith, Cos-
 lany street
 Two Brewers, Jacob Campling,
 Magdalen street
 Two Brewers, John Howman,
 Magdalen street
 Two Quarts, Hy. Riches Mann,
 Pottergate street
 Unicorn, Micl. Reeder, Coslany st.
 Unicorn, James Fuller, St. Stephen's street

Vauxhall Gardens, William Clements, Julian place
 Victory, John Clarke, Rampant Horse street
 Waggon & Horses, John Bushell, Tombland
 Waggon and Horses, John Press, St. Giles', Broad street
 Waterman, Charles Mills, Lower Westwick street
 Waterman, Ts. Shalders, King st.
 Wellington Tavern, John Gibbard, White Lion street
 Whale Bone, Rd. Sexton, New Catton
 Whale Bone, Hy. Kett, King st.
 Wheat Sheaf, John Sainty, Bethel street
 Wheat Sheaf, John Wm. Monk, St. Stephen's street
 Wheat Sheaf, Clement Leeds, Fishgate street
 Wheat Sheaf, Stephen Maltster, Castle ditches
 Wheel of Fortune, John Spencer, Whitefriars bridge
 Wherry, Jerh. Howes, King st.
 Whip and Egg, Stphn. Brewster, Pitt street
 White Friars, Robert Scotter, Whitefriars bridge
 White Hart Inn, James Just, Back of St. Peter's
 White Hart, W. Blyth, Bridge st.
 White Hart, Shgm. Pank, Ber st.
 White Horse, Wm. Mason, Magdalen st.
 White Horse, J. Cullum, Bdg. st.
 White Horse, James Sutherland, St. Mary's Church alley
 White Horse, Simon Goose, Castle ditches
 White Lion Coml. Inn & Family Hotel, Robt. English, White Lion street
 White Lion, James Butcher, Coslany street
 White Lion, Wm. Brittain, Palace plain
 White Lion, James Howard, Upper Westwick street
 White Lion, G. King, Princes st.

White Lion, John Hewett, Magdalen street
 White Swan, James Manthorpe, King street
 White Swan, Ld. Benton, Cowgt.
 Wild Man, James Horstead, St. Andrew's hill
 William IV., Geo. Arnold, Middle street
 William IV., Jn. Self, Cobourg st.
 William IV., Alex. Clayton, King street, New City
 Wind Mill, Abm. Graver, Ber st.
 Wine Coopers' Arms, Ca. Emms, Cross street, Heigham hill
 Wine Tavern, James Woods, St. Gregory's Church yard
 Wine Vaults, George Young, 15, Gentleman's walk
 Woolpack, John Scarle, Golden Ball street
 Woolpack, My. Barnes, St. Geo.'s
 Woolpack, Bd. Carrage, Coslany st.
 Woolpackers, Wm. Alden, Botolph street
 World's End, Ts. Bacon, World's end lane
 Wounded Heart, James Kett, Upper market
 Wrestlers, Thomas Cooper, St. James' street
 Yarmouth Arms, John Woods, Pudding lane
 Yarmouth Bridge, Wm. Allington, Red Lion street
 York, Eliz. Youngs, Castle ditches
 (82) BEER HOUSES.

See Shopkeepers also.

Adams William, Barrack street
 Bacon William, Botolph street
 Baldwin, Rt. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Betts John, Dereham road
 Blyth Louisa B. Distillery street
 Booty Edward, Trory street
 Brett Thomas, Church path
 Brown James, Julian place
 Bush John, Castle street
 Carey Michael, Pottergate street
 Coleman Thomas, Chapel street
 Culger Thomas, Trafalgar street
 Earl John, Magdalen street
 Fair Thomas, Bishop bridge

Fisk Robert, St. Stephen's road
 Frost William, Crook's place
 Garrard John, Carrow
 Green Isaac, Rising Sun lane
 Hammond James, Church path
 Harman Adam, Trafalgar street
 Harris John, New Cutton
 Havers My Ann, St Stephen's gt
 Hill Peckover, St Mile's, Ch al
 Holdsworth Thom Bishop bridge
 Howard John, St Mary's plain
 Howes Richard, Gregory street
 Hubbard Stephen, Cherry street
 Jackson George, Fishgate street
 James William, Wales buildings
 Ladell Richard, jun Back lane
 Lambert Edward, World's end ln
 Laws Robert, Union place
 Lines My Ann, Cattle market
 London John, 1st bridge
 Mann Matthew, Pockthorp road
 Marriam Wm Up Westwick st
 Miller Mary, Trowse Millgate
 Moore John, Cherry street
 Mortimer George, Union place
 Muffet Samuel, Bishopgate street
 Murrell James, Fishers' lane
 Pegg Thomas, New Cutton
 Russell William, Golden Ball st.
 Sannervill Thomas, Castle ditches
 Seago William, Union place
 Seddleson James, Providence pl
 Sheedy Roger, Thorne
 Shingles Edward, Bridge street
 Short Henry, Duke's palace
 Stanley John, Cattle market
 Taylor John Edw Bethel street
 Tench William, Cabborg street
 Uph William, 13, Pottergate st
 White Richard, Pottergate street
 Widdows Robt St Augustine st
 Wilehouse Samuel, Back street
 Woodard Robt 1st Westwick st
 Worragham W St Cathn's pln
 Wright Jas. 1a St Anne's stath
(83) IRON & BRASS TNDRS.
Marked are Brass Founders only.*
 Blyth Robt Timberhill
 Dixon Thos and Son, Broad st.
 Foster and Waite, 2, Broad st
 Francis and Blyth, Bassat ln
 *Harris Wm Timberhill
 Holmes John Rising Sun lane

Howlett & Bacon, All Saints' gn
 Mann John, Thorn lane
 *Self Thomas, Pottergate street
 *Taylor Wm, Lwr Westwick st.
 Watts James, Rose lane
(84) IRON MERCHANTS
 Browne John & Sons, Upr. mrkt.
 Howlett & Bacon, 6, Old Haymkt.
 Hay Jas Reynolds, Gregory st.
 Thompson Robt Castle street
(85) IRONMONGERS AND OIL COLOURMEN
 Barnard and Jny (and tool makers)
 Upper walk
 Bayfield Ann, Magdalen street
 Browne John & Sons, 1, Upr markt.
 Colman Rt and Jas (furnishing) 7,
 Rampant Horse street
 Cuppin Edw Tombland
 Hill Hy 3, West Pottergate
 Hottlack John, Orford hill
 Howlett & Bacon, 6, Old Haymkt.
 Moore and Barnard (and stove grate mfrs) London street
 Parlour John & Sons, 15, London st.
 Pleasants Thos 11 Magdalen st
 Plummer Wm Bank plain
 Scott Rt & Son, 1st Westwick st.
 Scott Samuel, Charing cross
 Slipper Charles, Costany street
 Thompson & Wharam, Bridge st.
 Trivett and Cozens, Market pl
86 JEWELLERS & (Working) Herbert John (horat^l chaser and har worker) 31, Pottergate st.
 Hooper Wm Hy jun St Swath's ln
 Keep Edw (diamond and pearl setter, and gold and silver chaser)
 61, Bethel street
 Sall van Charles, Broad street
 Woods Robert, Red Lion street
 Younghusband Jhn Daves place
(87) JOINERS AND FLDRS
 Alderton Elz Chisvert street
 Anns Rt Back Trafalgar street
 Bailey Isaac West Pottergate
 Bailey Rt 1st Westwick st
 Bailey Wm West Pottergate
 Benn James St Cries' hill
 Beaver John Day's yard
 Bell Edm Pruck street
 Bell John Steward Peacock st
 Beasley John All Saint's green

Edm Samuel, Pitt street
Edna Timber hall
Rev. Tabernacle row
Br. East St. Andrew
Theatre street
Rev. Frost and King st.
Chapel field road
Wm. Upper Regent st.
West Pottergate st.
Princes street
Wm. Bethel street
Marinan, King street
Magdalen street
Coslany street
Library court
Golden Ball street
Coslany street
New King street
St. Mary's Ch. alley
St. Augustine st.
Thos. St. Martin's lane
Bethel street
King street
6. Chatham place
St. Augustine street
Robert, Ber street
Charles, Ber street
Hellenston road
Lakenham hall rd.
Cow hill
Pottergate street
Lakenham hall road
St. Martin's lane
Bracondale hall
Robt. Princes street
Middle street
James. Magdalen st. and Stjn. Surrey road
Upper Westwick st.
Wm. Castle meadow
Middle street
Back of Terrace
Augustus, Coslany street
Valentine, St. Giles' hall
George, Pottergate st.
Thomas, Union place
Pottergate street
Richard, Pottergate st.
Richd. Castle meadow
St. Paul's Back street
Charles, St. Stephen's rd.
George, Holkham st.
Thomas, Golden Dug lane

Quinton Words, Church alley
Road Joseph, Union place
Robinson John, Cowgate street
Rollings Wm. All Saint's green
Rollins Edm. Heigham grove
Rump James, St. Stephen's st.
Saul Samuel, City road
Saul Wm. Pottergate street
Sayer John, 9 Chapel street
Sinclair John, King's Head yard
Smith Wm. 1 aller & hole
Stannard Jph. St. George's plain
Starr John, Coslany street
Stearman Fras. Stamp Office yard
Stone Thomas, Upper King st.
Stout Simon, Pottergate street
Tessel John, Middle street
Tungate Wm. Golden hall street
Wales Wm. Welton yd. h Union pl
Walker Jas. Upper Westwick st.
White Jerh. Thorne lane
Woodrow John, Cowgate street
Worthingham Wm. St. Cathen's pl.
Worman James, Castle meadow;
h 6, Richmond place
(88) LAND SURVEYORS, &c.
* are Building Surveyors.
Browne Wm. Red Lion street
Butcher Wm. (land agent & valuer)
Theatre street
Clarke Adam Taylor, St. Stephen's street, h Keswick
Drane James, Union place
Drane William, Theatre street
Glenister Wm. Bracondale
Hinsbey Wm. 3, Gun lane
Lenny Isaac, Pottergate street
Manning Jph. Broad st. St. Giles'
Millard Wm. SALTER, Princes st.
Newton and Woodrow, Tombland
* Patience John Thos. 3, York pl.
Pratt Rt. St. Michael's Church yd. 3
h. Hellenston
Spalding Fras. (agent) Little Orford street; h. Stoke
* Stanard Jph. St. George's plain
Wright Robt. Upper close
(89) LAST AND BOOT TREE
MAKERS.
Adams Wm. Swan lane
Barker Thos. St. Andrew's steps
Foyster Thomas, 1, Angel street

(90) LEAD & GLASS MERTS.

Brady Gosker, Redwell street
 Bunting John, Magdalen street
 Johnson Jas. Upper market
 Middleton John (bottles, stained glass, & zinc) St. Stephen's st.

(91) LIBRARIES.

*Marked * are Subscription, and the others Circulating.*

Bird Mary, Red Lion street
 Black Hannah, Coslany street
 Church Mary, Cockey lane
 Cupper James, Rampant Horse st.
 Downes, Saml John, Old Haymkt
 Hancock Anna M. Bridewell alley
 Leal Edw. Staffect. St. Giles'
 Lemmon James, Charing cross
 * Mechanics', Davey pl.; Chs. Jones
 * Medical, Dispensary, Elm hill
 Mueller Chas. Hy. (music) 13, Exchange street

* Norfolk & Norwich, Old Haymkt.
 Saml. Wilkins, Esq. F R S. lib.
 John Quinton, sub-lib.
 * Norwich Public, Broad st. St. And.
 Eas. Langton, libn.
 * Norwich Penny, John Quinton,
 36, Pottergate street

Rose John, Castle street
 Thurston Mary, Broad street
 Whiting Wm. St. Paul's plain
 Woodrow Wm. Wensum street

(92) LIME BURNERS.

Blake Robt. St. Stephen's rd.; h.
 Lower Heigham
 Brocks John, Brazen doors
 Cattermoul Edw. New Catton
 Coalman Geo. and Isaac, Thorpe;
 h. Castle meadow

Freeman John, Heigham hill
 Curtis Fras. West Pottergate st.

Underwood & Gaze, Thorpe

(93) LINEN AND WOOLLEN DRAPERS, &c

*Marked * are Silk Mercers, and * Linen Drapers only.*

Betts John, 11, London street
 Bidwell Hy & Son, 17, Gent's walk
 * Blakely Edw. (to Her Majesty)
 15, London street
 * Boddy Geo. Market place
 * Browne Ths. Coldwell, 6, London st.
 * Campling Abm. Mgdaen street

Chamberlin Hy. & Sons, Market pl.

* Clarke Mary & Jane, 6, London st.

Coleman and Sons, London st.

+ Coleman Geo. Lovick, London st.

Copeman Bell, 16, Exchange st.

+ Cotman Edm. and Co. London st.

Candall Benj. 19, Gentleman's wk.

Denny Martin, 14, Briggs street

* Eaton Ths. De Mont, 3, Gent's wk.

+ English John B. London street

+ Fairweather Lydia, 5, London st.

Frost Jas. Hy. White Lion st.

Frost Robt. 2, London street

Goddard Saml. 2, Old Haymarket

Gonderson and Moll, Upper mrkt.

Gwen Thos. St. Mary's Ch. alley

+ Gown Jeremiah, St. Mary's plain

Mingay Geo. 7, Old Haymarket

+ Monteith Geo. T. 15, London st.

More Rd. 8, Gentleman's walk

* Newton Fras. London street

Pigot John, Bridge street

+ Powell John and Rt. 36, London st.

Sendall Saml. 7, Gentleman's walk

Smith Hannah, Tombland

Snowdon John (lanc. whs.) Bridge st.

Towler John, Magdalen street

Vincent James. 2, Exchange st.

Watling John, St. Stephen's st.

* Wheelhouse Wm. 9, Gent's walk

+ Woodhouse Geo. Fdk. London st.

(94) LIVERY STABLE & PRS.

Baxter Peter, Theatre street

Beddingfield Benson, Wastlegate

Deut Samuel, Chapelfield

Frost Geo. All Saints' green

Kerridge John, Pottergate street

Miller John, Rose lane

Petley John, Chapelfield

Platten Peter, Brazen doors

Thistle Thos. Golden Ball street

(95) MAHOGANY MERCHTS.

Bexfield Jph. Pottergate street

Brown John, Charing cross

Freeman Wm. 2, London street

Pigg Jph. Bridge st. St. George's

St. Quintin Perry, Queen street

(96) MALTSTERS.

*Marked * are Hop Merchts also.*

Adams Wm. Cowgate street

Barclay Arthur Kett, Cowgate

Bransford Benj. Duke's palace; h.

Flodden hall

Browne Fredk., King street; h.
Brackendale hill
Clarke Wm. Coslany street
Cozens Jas. & Son, U. Westwick st.
Cubitt Wm. Jary, St. Paul's pln.;
h. Princes street

Elliott J. L. & Co. Duke's palace
Geldart Thos. Wensum street; h.
Magdalen street

* Hanks Wm. & Son, St. Michael's Coslany

Heigham Rd. Lakenham hall rd.

Howell Thomas, Goat lane

Martineau Richard, King street

Massey Thomas, St. Stephen's rd.

Mealing & Mills, King street

Riches Rt. Smith, King street gt.

Sexton Rd. New Catton

(97) MANUFACTURERS,
(SILK & WORSTED.)

*Those marked * are Silk only,
and the others manufacture Bom-basin, Crape, Crep-de-Lyon, Grosde-Naples, Camlet, Italianet, Merino, Plaid, Satin, and Saxony Cloth, &c.*

See also Shawl Manufacturers.

Arniss Robert, St. Augustine st.

* Bambridge Wm. Lower close

Baylis and Co., Silk mills

Bolingbroke, Enfield, & Co., St.

Clement's Church alley

Campling Wm., Barrack street

Christian Hy. King st. New City

Churton and Clarke, Calvert st.

Clabburn Thos. Magdalen street

Coe Chas. & Co. Coslany street

Cooper, Torris, & Garford, 4, Gentleman's walk

Daynes John, Botolph street

Francis John, Calvert street

Freeman James, Fishgate street

Gunton Thomas, Pitt street

Hinde Ephraim & Sons, Botolph st.

Howes James, St. Paul's street

Jackson S.G. Dixon's yd. Broad st.

Lacey Philip & Co. Bridge st.

Ladell Wm. & Rd. Calvert st.

Ladly Francis, Coslany street

Langton Richard, Middle street

Martineau Ths. & Son, Magdalen st.

Massey & Son, Pitt street

* Melvin Wm. Lower Close

Middleton Charles, Calvert street;

h. Surrey place

Mitchell & Banks, Market place

Perowne Js. Jph. (bolting) Pitt st.

Robberds John Whitaker & Son,

St. Saviour's lane

Robinson Wm. Calvert street

Shaw Rd. & Co. Colegate street

Sheppard Rt. I, Upper market

Shickle, Towler, & Campin, Elm

hill; & 31, St. Paul's Ch. yd. Londn.

Simpson Geo. St. Stephen's st.

Spencer John, Whitefriars bldg.

Stannard Cubitt, Pitt street

Watts James, Colegate street

Watts Thomas, Pitt street

Willement Geo. & Rd. Calvert st.

Willet Henry & Edw. (silk, &c.)

Pottergate street

Woodgate Philip, Livingston's ct.

Market pl.; h. 14, Crescent

Woodgate Pp. jun., Bethel street

Worth, Carter, & Worth, Pottergt.

Wright John, Elm hill; h. Midl. st.

(98) MERCHANTS.

*Marked * are Silk, † Foreign,
and the other General Merchts.*

Bessey Jas. H. Lower Westwick street; h. Bracondale

Bidwell Jno. (hemp) Botolph st.

* Blake Dodshon, Colegate st.;

hs. 1, Crescent place

† Bolingbroke, Enfield, & Co.

St. Clement's Church yard

Clark Benjamin, Surrey place

Culley Saml. Duke's palace

* Davey & Son. Pitt st.; h. Thorpe

† Hawkes Robert, Bethel street

Merry Rt. King st. gate, & Wilderness house, Ber street gate

Newsham Joseph, King street

* Norwich Silk Co.; Esau Pye, Sec

* Springfield & Fickling, St. Martin's lane

† Tetley Jph. Muspole street

† Worth, Carter, & Worth, Pottrgt.

(99) MILLINERS & DRSMKS

*Marked * are Straw Hat Makers.*

also, & † Baby Linen Warehs.

Adams Frances, Bank street

Adamson Tabitha, Elm hill

Barchan Jessey, King street

* Barnard Rebecca, King street

* Barney Charlotte, Museum st.
 Benstead Hannah, Castle ditches
 Boardman Martha, 5 London st.
 Boddy Mary, Market place
 Bolden Harriet, All Saints' gn.
 Boswell My. Ann, Golden Dog ln.
 * Burleigh Eliz. & My. Magdla. st.
 Capon Helen, Bethel street
 Child Emily, Trory street
 Colman Mary, Magdalen street
 Cousens Eliz. Rising Sun lane
 Cox Mary Ann, St. Mary's plain † Cruso Ann, Briggs street
 Culyer Maria, Gregory street
 Dartins Harriet, Julian place
 Denbair & More, Davey place
 De Veer Emma, St. Swithin's ln.
 * Dickinson Eliz. 22, Gent.'s walk
 Fayerman & Crane, St. Giles' st.
 Frewer Rebecca, Pitt street
 † Frost Mary, Davey place
 * Garnham Sarah & My. King st.
 Gilbert Elizabeth, Palace plain
 Gooch Ann, St. Jno. Maddler mkt.
 Gown Ann, St. Mary's plain
 Gray Harriet, Ber street
 Green Clara, Broad st. St. Andw.'s
 Hagou & Mayes, Wastleg. st.
 Harrison Harriet, Bank street
 Holl Sarah, Middle street
 Holmes Elizabeth, Ber street
 Howell Ameha, King street
 Hunt Mary Ann, Coslany street
 Jarvis Eliz. 10, Old Haymarket
 Jones Sarah, St. Mary's Ch. alley
 Kilburn Ann, St. Stephen's street
 Lamb Ann, St. Bennet's Ch. yd.
 Land Julia, Julian place
 Lane Ann, Pottergate street
 Laws Susanna, Crescent place
 * Ling Elizabeth, 40, London st.
 Moore Martha, St. Stephen's st.
 Neale Sarah, All Saints' green
 Norton Phillis, Magdalen street
 Preston Hannah & Mary Ann,
 47, Bethel street
 Purday Hannah, Gt Orford street
 Pyeroff Charlotte, Magdalen st.
 Quanten Euz. Grouts' court
 * Rachel Mary, Bank street
 * Robberds Maria, Market place
 † Roberts Caroline, Bridewell alley
 Robinson M. P. & M. Surrey st.

Rudd Frances, Calvert street
 Saunders Mary, Chalk hill
 Smith Mary, Castle ditches
 Smith Susanna, Chapel st. N. C.
 † Snelling Ann, 30, London st.
 Snelling Eliz. 7, Julian place
 * Stacey My. Ann, Orford hill
 Stafford Sarah, St. Margaret's ln.
 * Stone Ann T. St. Andrew's steps
 Tempamy M. A. E. Back of Inns
 Townshend Sarah, Botolph street
 Tunwell Har. & Sarb, St. Giles' st.
 Vyall Anna M. Broad st. St. Andw.'s
 Waters Sus. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Whall Mary, Julian place
 White Phillis, 94, Pottergt.
 White Sarah, Back of the Inns
 Willsea Eliz. Middle street
 Woodcock Sarah, St. Augustine st.
 Woodward R. Upr. Westwk. st.
 * Woodhead Ann, Cow hill
 Wright My. A. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Wright Sarah, Ber street
 Younghusband Mary, Davey pl.
 (100) MILLWRIGHTS
 Buttifant, Blyth. & Francis, Kng. st.
 Cudbard Wm. Theatre street
 Howard & Gaze, St. Paul's, Bk. st.
 Hunt Roger, Cherry street
 Southgate Chpr. Rose lane
 Thorold Wm. Coslany street
 Wiseman John, Wiseman's yard
 (101) MUSIC & INSTRUMENT
 DLRS. PRECEPTRS & MFRS
 Abell Christian John, (organ builder,) Burrell's yard
 Blogg Emma, 8, Chatham place
 Clarke Fdk. Edward, (piano forte mnfr. & tuner,) 2, Duke street
 Buck Zach. (organist,) Upper close Colman Thos. (brass instrument maker,) Bank street
 Fish William, 7, London street
 Gathercole Mary Ann, Duke st.
 Gosnold Thomas, Trory street
 Howlett William, Lower close
 Howlett Wm. (dlr) 2, London st.
 Lovewell Jas. F. Back of St. Peter
 Mueller Chs. Hy. 13, Exchange st.
 Pettet Alfred, organ. st, Chapel fd.
 Trory John, Elm hill
 Warne George, 27, London st.
 Warne Reuben, (tuner) Calvt. st.

White Jas. Hy. (piano forte mfr. & tuner,) 5, Exchange street
(102) MUSTARD MANFRS.
Squire, Hills, & Son, St. Faith's ln.
(203) NEWSPAPERS.

Bury and Norwich Post, (Wed.)
Josiah Fletcher, Old Haymkt. agent

Norfolk Chronicle, and Norwich Gazette, (Sat.) Matchett, Stevenson, & Matchett, Mkt. place
Norwich Mercury, (Sat.) Bacon and Kinnebrook, 12, London st.
(104) NEWS ROOMS.

Kemp Henry, Old Post Office yd.
Thompson Peter, Royal Bazaar
(105) NURSERY & SEEDSMN.
See Gardeners also.

Dover George, Magdalen street, and St. Paul's Back street
Mackie Frederic, 10, Exchange st; Nursery, Ipswich road

Reynolds Wm. Laknm. hall road
Roe Jerh. Freeman, 47, London street & Bracondale

Smith Wm. St. Augustine street
(106) OPTICIANS.

Dixey John, (mfr. of mathematical instruments, & telescopes,) Upper Market

Martin Edw. (astronomical telescopes,) Middle street

Malton Francis, (and barometer and thermometer mfr.) Dove st.

Piggin John, 1, Gentleman's wk.
Rossi George, (& barometer and thermtr. mfr.) 14, Exchange st.
(107) PAINTERS.

(See also Plumbers, &c.)

Chiddick James, Fisher's lane

Grimble Geo. Upper market

Hall Jas. Orford hill

Hinsby Wm. Lake, Carrow

Hodgson Wm. (coach) Chg. cross

Moore John Geo. Calvert street

Ninham Henry, Chapel field

St. Quintin Chs. Upr. Westwk. st.

Thorne Geo. St. Stephens' gate

Vyall Geo. Broad st. St. Andrw.

Wood John Martin, Duke street

(108) PAPER MAKERS.

Day & Robberds, Heigham hill; and Taverham

Johnson & Murray, Bridge st. and Lyng mills

(109) PATTEN & CLOG MKRS.
See also Brushmakers.

Barker Thos. (French clog) St. Andrew's steps

Chilvers John, St. Cath.'s plain

Curson Thos. Stump cross

Hardy Charles, Timber hill

Knevett J. & H. Upr. Westwk. st.

Meadows Geo. Magdalen street

Playford Robert, Dove street

(110) PAWNBROKERS.

Durrant Eliz. St. Martin's lane

Hall Wm. Middle street

Harris Joseph, Chapel st. N. C.

Knights Jas. Upr. Westwick st.

Morgan John, St. Saviour's lane

Owen Thos. King street

Pitcher Isaiah & Hy. Pottergate

Shalders Noah, Wastlegate st.

Spratt & Brundell, Upr. Weswk. st.

Stone Rebecca, Crooke's place

Thetford Mary, St. Paul's street

Woodrow Benj. Bridge street

Woodrow Charles, Timber hill

(111) PHYSICIANS.

Ash Edward, Grove Cottage

England Wm. Bank street

Evans Lewis, Surrey street

Hutchinson Charles, 8, Crescent

Johnson James, 47, Pottergate st.

Lubbock Edward, Bethel street

Thomson Allan Miller, 13, Briggs street; h. St. Stephen's plain

Wright Warner, Little Orford st.

(112) PLANE MAKER.

Griffiths John, Gregory street

(113) PLASTERERS.

Aldis James, Princes street

Berry Wm. Mills, Peacock street

Blyth Samuel, 2, West end place

Hardy James, Bethel street

Lacey John, Excise ct. Pottergt.

Lord James, Coslany street

Pearson Edw. Pottergate street

Read James, St. Peter's Hungate

Rowe Wm. Ber street

Sexton Robt. Watling, Calvert st.

Wright Hy. J. St. Lawrence ln.

(114) PLUMBERS, GLAZIERS,

AND PAINTERS.

Arminger Wm. Thorn lane

Barker Robert, Orford hill
 Bensley Daniel, Timber hill
 Boyce Eliz. St. Andrew's hill
 Boyce James Stanford, Bridge st.
 Brady Gosker, Redwell street
 Brady Thomas, Tombland
 Bunting John, Magdalen street
 Camping Wm. Coslany street
 Candler John, Peacock street
 Capon Wm. Bethel street
 Crowe Spicer, Up. Westwick st.
 Davy Elijah, Peaheld
 Delphie Wm. St. Augustine street
 Devereux Edm. & Wm. Middle st.
 Dixon John, Bethel street
 Drake Robert, Bank street
 Fatt Henry, Elm hill
 Gudgeon Thos. Up. Westwick st.
 Harvey Rd. Old Hay market
 Hurry George, Red Lion street
 Johnson James, 7, Upper market
 Jones Peter Margt.'s Ch. walk
 Kerr John, Gregory street
 King Enoch, Trowse Millgate
 King James & Sons, Elm hill
 Ling Nichs. Magdalen street
 Lovick John, Ber street
 Mason John, Barrack street
 Matthews Thomas, King street
 Middleton John, St. Stephen's st.
 Manns Wm. Jas. Coslany street
 Mollitt James, Chapel street
 Nauham John, Princes street
 Parsons Thos. Rising Sun lane
 Purdy George, Dove street
 Purdy Rd. Howes, Lakma hall rd.
 Quanning Henry, King street
 Reeve & Dunsin, Duke street
 Robinson John C. Magdalen st.
 Rudd John, All Saints' green
 St. Quentin Chs. Up. Westwick st.
 Salmon Richard, St. Giles' hill
 Sax Thos. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Starnard John, Surrey street
 Starnard Aldb. Edm. Coslany st.
 Taylor John, Palace street
 Turner Wm. West Pottergate st.
 Weeks Wm. Botolph street
 Wright & Nelson, King street
 Yarrington Saml. C. Bishopsgt. st.

115 PRINTERS

See also Bookbinders
 Cranfield Philip, Timber hill

Davy & Berry, 13, Pottergate st.
 Dawson Rt., St. Michael Coslany
 Langius Joseph, Gregory street
 Sharp John J. St. George's pln.
 Stewardson Geo. N. Magdalen st.
 Uperoff Wm. Magdalen street
 Walker Robt. Timber hill
 Webster Thos. Pottergate street

(116) PROCTORS

*Marked * are Notaries Public*

* Francis Henry, Surrey street
 * Hansoll Henry, Upper Close
 * Kitson John, (registrar of the Diocese and Chapter clerk.)
 Bishop's Registry, Close, h.
 Thorpe

* Rackham Mattw. Bishop's Registry, Close, h. Thorpe

Skipper John, Bank street

* Steward Edward, King street

West Chas. John, Surrey street

(117) PROFESSORS

*Marked * teach Dancing, and the others Languages*

Ara Casar (Ital.) Chapelfield rd.

* Lambert Fras. Jph. Cow hill

* Noverre Fras. Theatre street

* Noverre Frank, Theatre street

* Sizeland Adam, Bethel street

* Steel Benj. Chapelfield road

Thurgar Chpr. (French, Italian, and Latin,) Collegate street

Vieland J. (French,) Broad st.

(118) PUMP MAKERS, &c.

Banham Geo. Paul, King street

Banham James, Horns lane

Pake Joh. New Catton

Hastings John, New Catton

Hudson Geo. Ber street gate

RAG MERCHANTS

See Stationers

(119) REGISTER OFFICES.

Atherton Alice, Orford hill

Beddingfield John, Gun lane

Betts John, 27, Castle ditches

Butler Jane, Calvert street

Downes Saml. John, Old Haymkt

Kent Henry, White Lion street

Tidman Samuel, Orford hill

(120) REPOSITORIES.

(Fancy)

Buttsant Tamz. S. Exchange st.

Murry Jph. Moravia, Museum st.

Ransome Jas. 18, Gentlman.'s walk
 Riches Wm. Danl. London street
 Steal George, Queen street
 Thompson Peter, Royal Bazaar
 (121) ROPE & TWINE MKRS.
*Marked * are Sacking and Wool-sheet mfrs. also.*

Adcock Jph. Coslany street
 Armes Robt. Lower Heigham
 * Bacon Edm. Sussex street
 * Bidwell John, Botolph street
 Dewing Robt. Middle street
 * Hindes Henry, Red Lion st.
 * Hindes Wm. Upr. Westwick st.
 * Hurn Isaac, Dove street
 Littell Jph. Cattle market
 Nichols Thomas, Gloucester pl.
 * Osborn James, Cowgate street
 Webb Wm. Magdalen street

(122) SADDLERS & HARNESS
 MAKERS.

Calver Geo. Wright, King street
 Cannell Aquila, Coslany street
 Cannell John, Ber street
 Cannell John, Stump cross
 Chettleburgh Robt. King street
 Dickinson Richd. Cattle market
 Drewell Robt. Palace street
 Fuller James, Old Haymarket
 Gowen Charles, Bethel street
 Greenwood Wm. St. Stephen's st.
 Grimes Geo. 47, St. Stephen's st.
 Harrison Thos. St. Giles' street
 Haynes John, Trowse Millgate
 Laffin Jph. Upr. Westwick street
 Maggs Wm. Trowse Millgate
 Newton Jas. St. Giles' street
 Oliver John, Cattle market
 Prentice Saml. Magdalen street
 Stebbing and Hallows, Rampant
 Horse street

Turner J. (collar mkr.) Day's yd.
 Webb Thos. St. Stephen's street
 Westby Thos. Magdalen street
 Wilkinson Jph. Broad st. St. G.'s
 Youngs Peter, St. Stephen's st.

(123) SAIL MAKERS.

Gooda Matthew, King street
 Warnes Rt. Old Barge yd. King st.

(124) SAW MILLS.

Bird Bailey, Philadelphia
 Carver Robt., Sprowston & New
 Catton

(125) SEED MERCHANTS.
 Culley John, St. Andrew's hill
 Drane James, Stamp Office yard
 Fison and Sons, Duke's palace
 Haslewood John & Walter & Co
 Weaver's lane

Sparshall & Cubitt, Magdalen st.
 Waters Saml. Duke's palace: 2.
 8, York place

(126) SHAWL MANUFERS.

Barlow Rd. Jerh. St. Margaret's st.
 Campling John, Cowgate street
 Gunton Thomas, Pitt street
 King Henry, Middle street
 Ladell Wm. and Rd. Calvert st.
 Massey and Son, Pitt street
 Shaw Richd. & Co. Colegate st.
 Shickle, Towler, & Campin. Elm
 hill

Smith Rt. Tubby's yd. Muspole st.

(127) SHERIFF'S OFFICERS.

Bacon Wm. Grout's court
 Howlett Thos. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Martin Rt. (county & city), Back
 of St. Peter's

(128) SHOEMAKERS' TOOL
 MANUFERS.

Steward Robt. Elm hill
 Thompson J. St. Clement's Cl.

(129) SHOPKEEPERS.

* Are Beer Sellers also.

Able Robt. Coslany street
 Aldridge John, Twenty-one row
 Allen Jno. Upr. Westwick street
 Ansdell Saml. Orford hill
 Armes Robt. Lower Heigham
 Atkins Barthw. Lower Heigham
 Bacon Arabella, Chapel street
 Bacon Robt. Union place
 Bacon Thos. World's end lane
 Bacon Wm. St. Paul's plain
 Barham Edw. West Pottergate
 Barnard John, Magdalen street
 * Barrett Geo. Howard street
 Beddingfield Sar. Trafalgar street
 Bell Edm. Peacock street
 Bidel John, Coslany street
 Blandon Wm. Ber street
 Booty James, Coslany street
 Bowles John Sharpe, Magdalen st.
 Bradberry Thos. Lwr. Heigham
 Britee Jas. St. Stephen's street
 Brittain Anthy. World's end lane

Browes Ann, Church path
 Brown Mary, St. Paul's street
 Browne Edm. Botolph street
 Browne Hall, Golden Ball street
 Burton Benj. St. James' street
 * Buxton Jas. Up'r Westwick st
 Capes Wm. Cowgate street
 Catchpole Jonth. Pump street
 Cattermoul Sar. St. Miles' Ch. a
 * Chambers Edward, St. Michael
 Coslany
 Church James, St. Stephen's gate
 Clark Ann, Union place
 Clarke James, Distillery street
 Clarke John, Queen street, N. C
 Claxton Susanna, New Catton
 Cocks Eliz. Gloucester place
 Coe Chas. & Co. Coslany street
 Cook Wm. St. Giles' street
 Cossey Unah, St. Augustine's C. a.
 Crisp Esther, St. Augustine street
 Cowles Chas. Brazen doors road
 Coxford John. St. Augustine st.
 Cozens Barthw. St. James' palace
 Crome Jas. Cowgate street
 Culyor Charles, Muspole street
 Cutler Fras. St. Margaret's plain
 Day John, West Pottergate st.
 Denham James, Rosemary lane
 Downing Eliz. Palace street
 Durrant Eliz. St. Martin's lane
 Eagleton Geo. Lower Heigham
 Eastaugh Hy. Up'r Westwick st.
 Edwards Maria, St. Martin's at Palace
 Eglinton Saml. Barrack street
 Ellis Edward, Coslany street
 Empson Chas. Queen st. New C.
 Evans Geo. Barrack street
 Evans John, Starling place
 Frost James, Magdalen street
 * Gardner Thompson, St. Gl's st.
 Gerrard John, Coslany street
 Goat Wm. Coslany street
 Gooch Thos. Lower Westwick st.
 Goodrum John, Tabernacle row
 Gray Robert, Ber street
 Green Jonthn. Lower Heigham
 Griston James, Bull Close
 Gunton Thos. Pitt street
 Gurney Wm. Heigham hill
 Hall Robt. Botolph street
 Harbord John, St. Giles' street

Harrison Robert, Elm hill
 Hart Samuel, King street
 Harvestone Wm. King st. gate
 Havers James, St. Augustine st.
 Head Wm. Ber street
 Hill, John, Corner of Cow hill
 Hill Joseph, Ber street gate
 Hill Reuben, Heigham
 Hodds Richard, Ber street
 * Holmes Chpr. Philadelphia Hood Robert, Coslany street
 Horn Mary, Trowy street
 Howes James, Wellington street
 Hutchinson Jacob, St. Augustine
 street
 Ireson Samuel, 15, Chapel street
 Jackson Wm. Starling place
 Jermy Thos. Lakenham hall road
 Kippin Jph. Ber street gate
 Lake John, jun. St. Augustine st.
 Lambert James, City road
 Lacey Philip and Co. Bridge st.
 Lauder Leond. St. Stephen's st.
 Large John, Julian place
 Libbis Haywood G. Regent st.
 * Lifford Thomas, King street
 Lott Wm. Church path
 Lownd James, Cowgate street
 Manser Wm. Scoles green
 Marshall Ann, Distillery street
 Mason My. Ann, All Saints' gn.
 Mayes John, Bridge street
 Mayes Wm. Almshouse lane
 Mayhew James, Oxford road
 Meadows Jonth. Coslany street
 Miles George, Bishop bridge
 Miller Jno. Up'r Westwick street
 Minns Isaac, King street, New C.
 Minns John, St. Paul's back st.
 Murrell Sus. St. George's Ch. yd.
 * Nelson Thomas, Barrack street
 Nelson Thomas, Silver road
 Nobbs John, Coslany street
 Norton Mary, Lady's lane
 Offord George, Ber street
 Owen Thomas, King street
 Palmer Wm. St. Augustine st.
 Paye Simon, Cowgate street
 Peel Edm. Lwr. Westwick street
 Ponting James, Coslany street
 Rainer Francis, Botolph street
 Ralphs, Geo. Fishgate street
 Riches Robt. Dereham road

Roberts John, Queen st. New C.
 Roberts John, Magdalen street
 Rope Wm. Rising Sun lane
 Rouse Thomas, Union place
 Rudd Robt. Coslany street
 Russell Rebecca, Princes street
 Ryan Peter, King street
 Sadler John, Julian place
 Sadler John, Magdalen street
 Secrett Rt. St. Stephen's plain
 Self Thomas, St. Mary's plain
 Sexton Benj. Trafalgar street
 Skiles Saml. St. James' street
 Skillings Sarah, Mill street
 Skipper Robert, Barrack street
 Slater Francis, Julian place
 • Smith James, New Catton
 Smith John, St. Stephen's street
 Smith Maria, Timber hill
 • Smith Wm. New Catton
 Spencer Daniel, King street
 Spurdens My. Ann, Ber street
 Stangroom Jn. St. Michael Cosy.
 Starling Thomas, Botolph street
 Stone Rebecca, Crooke's place
 Storey Wm. Bull close
 Stubbs Edw. Mill st. New Catton
 Sussams Wm. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Todd Thos. 5, Blake's buildings
 Tooke Mary, Ber street
 Towler Michl. Spittlefields
 Turrell James, Ber street
 Walker John, Cobourg street
 Wallow Wm. Union place
 Walpole Geo. Botolph street
 Ward John, Barrack street
 Ward & Spooner, 95, Pottergate
 Watkinson John, West Pottergt.
 Watson Jas. Crane, Union st. pl.
 Watts Samuel, Pottergate
 Watts Thomas, Chapel street
 Weeds Rd. Bishop bridge
 Whitworth Wm. Cowgate street
 Wicks Robert, Oxford road
 Wilson Geo. Barrack street
 Winter Thomas, Magdalen street
 • Wiseman Jn. St. Margt.'s pln.
 Woolsey Cardinal, Coslany st.
 Woolsey Isaac, 9, King st. N. C.
 Wright Jacob, King street
 Wright Thos. New Catton
 Wright Wm. King street
 Youngs John, Up. Westwick st.

(130) SHUTTLE & BOBBIN
 MAKERS.

Ashton John, Coslany street
 Debson Robt. Stump cross
 Gaul John, Magdalen street
 Gudgeon Jn. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Hunter Wm. Ta. (& box & ivory rule mkr.) Bridge street

(131) SILK MANUFACTRS.

(See Manufacturers.)

(132) SILK & WORSTED
 DOUBLERS.

(See Worsted Spinners.)

Brundell John, Woolpacker's yd.
 Coe James, Pitt street
 Cole Saml. St. Paul's plain
 Mills Chas. Cherry lane
 Piggin John, Calvert street
 Pummell John, Old Barrack yd.
 Rix Henry, Distillery yard
 Stannard Robt. Magdalen street
 Turtle Frs. Gilling, Botolph st.

(133) SILVERSMITHS AND JEWELLERS.

See also Jewellers (Working.)

Aaron Simon, Elm hill
 Cohen Solomon, 17, London st.
 Dodson Wm. 41, London street
 Etheridge Geo. & Wm. Ellis, 10.
 Gentleman's walk
 Hart Wm. Geo. St. Cathn.'s plain
 Kew Flora, 19, White Lion st.
 Mann John, Wensum street
 Newton Francis, London street
 Rossi Geo. 14, Exchange street

(134) SLATERS & SLATE
 MERCHANTS.

Darkins & Blake, St. George's pln.
 Morris George, King street

(135) SLAY MAKERS.

Chambers Geo. Calvert street
 Dodman & Bell, Magdalen st.
 Hewett Wm. St. Swithin's Ch. yd.

(136) SOAP MANUFCTRS.

Andrews and French, Cowgate st.
 Freeman Chas. Rt. 14, Up. mkt.
 Leeman, Staff, & Co., St. Martin's at palace

(137) STATIONERS AND PAPER WAREHOUSES.

Marked * are Rag merchts. also.
 (See also Booksellers & Binders.)

* Ames Danl. Little Orford st.

*Bray John Michl. 12, London street and Palace plain *Candler John, Theatre street
 Craske Thomas, 33, London st.
 *Hatch Chpr. Museum street
 *Johnson Wm. Barrack street
 Kitton Geo. 42, London street
 Murray Rd. Bridge st. St. Geo
 Nash Spooner, Lwr. Westwick st.
 Page Samuel Deyns and Son, 23, Old Haymarket

(138) STAY MAKERS

Boswell Elhz. Blod's court
 Colsey Ann, Bridge street
 Colsey Chas. Red Lion street
 Kidd and Aldis, Princes street
 Roe Mary Ann, Bethel street
 Stebbings Henry, St. Giles' hill
 Wyer Mary, All Saints' green

(139) STONE & MARBLE MASONS.

*Marked * are Statuaries.*

Allen Wm. St. Stephen's back st.
 Athow John, Castle street
 Deaves Daniel, Distillery street
 *De Carle Mary, Duke's palace
 *Hardy Wm. St. Stephen's gate
 High and Craitree, Middle street
 Pank Sherringham, Ber street
 Pooley Richard, Charing cross
 *Watson James, Castle meadow
 (140) STRAW HAT MKRS.

(See Milliners also.)

Chaplin Wm. Wensum street
 Clare Rebecca, St. Stephen's gt.
 Clarke Har. Upper Westwick st.
 Cox Eleanor, Stump cross
 Denton Jph. (blocker) Surrey st.
 Drake Sarah, Lwr. Westwick st.
 Farrow Wm. Magdalen street
 Felstead Elhz. White Lion st.
 Felstead Hanh. 11, Davey place
 Ford Rose, Surrey road
 Forster John, 28, London street
 Gaze Lydia, Colegate street
 Gidney Richard, Magdalen st.
 Griggs Elhz. Upr. Westwick st.
 Ganton Sarah. 4, Richmond pl.
 Harvey John, St. Gregory's Ch. yd.
 Isaacs Louisa, Exchange street
 Iungus Elhz. 31, London street
 Killington Mary, Castle meadow
 Lamb Rachel, Market place

Littell Hannah, All Saints' grn.
 Mann Mary, City road
 Mann Rebecca, Pleasant place
 Mollett Anna Maria, Grove place
 Moss Ann, All Saints' green
 Pratt Sarah, Gregory street
 Purdy Mary, Dove street
 Robinson Ann, Bridge st. St. G.
 Rump Thos. (blocker) Ber st.
 Seach Eliza, All Saints' green
 Saldrake Mary, 29, London st.
 Spooner Sophia, Day's ct. U.mkt.
 Swan Sarah, 1, London street
 Sydell Sus. 5, Alderson's bldgs.
 Tinkler Charlotte, St. Stephen's st
 Watts E. Rose lane

(141) SURGEONS.

Ashwell Jas. Alderson's bldgs.
 Bell John C. Rampant Horse st.
 Bell Thomas, Tombland
 Borrett Jas. Tombland
 Cooper Emanuel, Red Well st.
 Crosse John Green, Orford hill
 Dalrymple Wm. Calvert street
 Dashwood Lancelot, Bank place
 Drake Charles, King street
 Garthorn Jas. 50, Pottergate st.
 Gilbert and Taylor, Castle ditches
 Gowing W. Green, St. Stephen's st
 Griffin Rd. Broad st. St. Andw.'s
 Hull Robert, Red Wall street
 Mills Frederick, All Saints' grn.
 Nichols Wm. Peter, Surrey st.
 Norgate Benj. Henry, Bank st.
 Rand Wm. Fell, Sampson and Hercules' court, Tombland
 Robinson James, 30, Pottergate
 Roper Wm. Tawell, Colegate
 Scott & Johnson, 64, Broad st. St. G.
 Thompson Allan Miller, M.D. 13, Briggs st., h. St. Stephen's pln.
 Troughton Jas. Coslany street
 Wells Edw. 1, White Lion st.
 Wiles Chas. Barcham, Willow ln.

(142) TAILORS.

*Marked * are Woollen Drapers, and † Clothes Dirs & Hatters*
 *Allen Thos. Howse, 21, London st.
 Baker Robt. Nobb, Market lane
 *Barker James, Duke street
 Bird Michael, 13, Eldon row
 *Boardman Benj. Briggs street
 †Bray J & Son, Bridge end St. And

*Bray Rd. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Bridge John, Pottergate street
 Brown Bnj. St. Clement's Ch. alley
 Browne John, Upr. Westwick st.
 Brundell John, Woolpacker's yd.
 Bullard Wm. Trory street
 *Callanan Chas. Royal Bazaar;
 h. Distillery street
 Caston Joseph, St. Stephen's st.
 Chapman Wm. Bridge street
 Chittock Wm. Surrey road
 Clarke James, Distillery street
 †Claxton Rd. 3, Davey place
 †Claxton Rt. 9½, Davey place, &
 5, Orford hill
 †Claxton Thomas, Orford hill
 Cocks Thos. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Codman James, Coslany street
 *Crisp Jno. Wiseman, Castle dtchs.
 Cullington Charles, Elm hill
 Daniels Fras. Bear yard, Mkt. pl.
 Daniels Thos. Wounded heart ln.
 *Davis Geo. 13, London street
 Dawson Edw. H. Fisher's lane
 Dawson George, King street
 Dawson Robert, Upper market
 Denmark Hamlet, Scole's green
 Drake John, Broad st. St. Giles'
 Drake Thos. Saml. Stepping ln.
 Dunton Robert, Trafalgar street
 Dye Walter, Muspole street
 *Edwards Thomas, Orford hill
 Elliott Charles, Red Lion street
 †Esam Wm. Bridge st. St. Andw.
 †Frery Richd. Jenner, Swan lane
 *Fuller Wm. Red Lion street
 Galey John, Duck lane
 Gilham Jas. Pottergate street
 Gooch Danl. Knight, Union pl.
 Grand Edw. Distillery street
 *Green Jeffrey H. White Lion st.
 Greeves Henry, Princes street
 *Griggs Wm. Upr. Westwick st.
 Hawkes Wm. Lord Howe's yard
 Hill James, Bridge street
 Hill John, corner of Cowhill
 †Howlett Rd. Bridge st. St. Geo.
 Hutchinson Jcb. St. Augustn. st.
 Knights Jas. Upr. Westwick st.
 Lane Samuel, Lwr. Westwick st.
 †Larkman Wm. Upr. Westwick st.
 Ling Wm. Saml. (robes) Princes st.
 Mackley Wm. King street

Macraffin John, Upr. Westwick st.
 *Macro Jacob, London street and Davey place
 Mason Abm. King street †Mayston John E. St. Stephen's spln.
 Mills John, Theatre street
 Minns Benj. Church alley
 *Newby John, 3, Cockey lane
 Page and Sons, St. Andrew's pln.
 Peck Rt. Day's yd. St. Stephen's st.
 *Phillips John, Orford hill
 *Puncher Rt. St. Giles' Broad st.
 Raven Geo. Golden Ball street
 Reeder Rd. Back of St. Peter's
 Roe Richard, Bank street
 Rogers Wm. Gimwood, Orford hill
 Rouse Rd. Guildencroft row
 *Royall Daniel, Palace street
 *Shildrake John, 29, London st.
 *Skelton George, Pottergate
 Smith Baker, Surrey road
 Smith John, Great Orford st.
 Sparks John, Colegate street
 †Steward James, Elm hill
 Steward Stephen, Magdalen st.
 Stock Daniel, Charing cross
 *Story Wm. Broad st. St. Giles';
 h. Heigham grove
 Swann Thos. Magdalen street
 Symonds Rt. Stebgs. Trowse mill gt.
 Thirkettle Robert, St. Giles' st.
 *Tipple John, Orford hill
 Tipple Thos. St. John Madrmkt.
 Todd John, Queen street
 *Tuck Jas. Stannard, Gregory st.
 Turner Jas. Peacock street
 Watson John, St. Andrew's steps
 Wilkin Josiah, Bethel street
 *Wiseman Saml. 44, London st.
 *Woolsey Saml. Broad street
 Wright James, Ber street
 (143) TALLOW CHANDLRS.
See Grocers also.
 Bunting & Durrant, Coslany st.
 Greenfield & Saunders, Whitefriars Bridge
 (144) TANNERS.
 Back Harriet, Trowse Millgate
 Boulton George, Lower Heigham
 Rump Jas. Smith, Lower Heighm.
 Smith Wm., Thorpe; h. Calvt. st.
 (145) TEA & COFFEE DLRS.
 Beckwith Martha, Lknm. hall rd.

Deach Ann, & London street
 Gittings Charles, St. Saviour's ln
 Herdett Wm. 115 Up Westwk. st.
 Hogg James, Lady's lane
 Hunt James, 25, Gent's walk
 Lovick Samuel, Bridewell alley
 Nere Eliza, Duke street
 Riches Wm. Daniel, London st.
 Smith Hannah Tomblaud
 Sparkhall Alex. Market place
 Taylor Henry, Bridge street
 Woodrow Wm. Wensum street
 (146) TEADLERS & DRAPERS,
 (TRAVELLING)

Blaze Simon, Cherry street
 Campbell Robert, 61, Pottergate
 Chalmers Thomas, Cow hill
 Cooke Robert, Bethel street
 Cowen David, 14, Lkum place
 Crawford John, Fletcher's st.
 Elwin Charles, Chapel street
 Foster John, 8, Julian place
 Gallant Jas. Back Cross street
 Grimling James, 2 York place
 Hazenah Alex. St John Mad. mkt.
 M'Kay James, Pottergate street
 Pentin James, 21, Julian place
 (147) TIMBER MERCHANTS.
*Marked * are English Wood Dls.*

* Applegate Jas. Pottergate st.
 * Batley Thomas, Carrow
 Blunderfield Samuel, Pitt street
 Browne Edward, Fishgate street
 Bunn John, Chapelheld road
 Coaks Richard, Fishgate street
 Culley Saml, Duke's palace
 Gray Wm. Holden, Wt. Pottergt.
 * Grimmer Thos. St. Martin's lane
 Hubbard Wm. Bethel street
 * Johnson Danl. Trowse Millgate
 * Mayhew Jas. St. Cath's plain
 * Moore William, Mill street
 Newsham Joseph, King street
 Pigg Joseph, Bridge street
 * Riles Lt. King street gate
 * Smith John, Carrow
 Steward Jas. King street gate,
 h. Bracondale hill
 (148) TOBACCO PIPE MKRS
 Browne J. h. St. Stephen's street
 Browne Wm. Up Westwick st.
 Pitt Robert, Ber street
 Graves Thos. Magdalen st.

Hensall Wm. Pockthorpe road Hicks Leonard, (German and Dutch,) Cherry st.; h. Ber st
 Lincoln John, Pump street
 Metcalf John, Coslany street
 (149) TOBACCONISTS

*Marked * are Manufacturers*
 Havers My Ann, St. Stephn's st.
 Hewett Geo. C. St. Stephn's st.
 * Miller Robert, 4, London st.
 Newbegin Jas. Bridewell alley
 Norton Robert, Magdalen street
 * Scott Jas. Chas. (& snuff mfr)
 Bridewell alley; h. 5, City rd.
 Smith John & Saml. Gent's wk.
 * Wigham Rt. 10, Gent's walk,
 Old Haymkt, h. Lower close
 (150) TOY DEALERS.

Barnascone My Ann, Magdalen st.
 Burrell Jas. sen. Magdalen st.
 Child Enoch L. Red Well street
 Howlett Wm. 2 London street
 Hunter Wm. Thos. mfr. Bridgest
 Ransome James, 18, Gent's wk
 Thompson Peter, Royal Bazaar
 (151) TRUNK MAKERS.

Atkins Thos. Back of the Inns
 Gulney Ben. Red Lion street
 Greene Jas. Back of the Inns
 Playford Robert, Dove street
 (152) TRUSS MAKERS.

Priest Rt. R. St. Gnes' Broad st.
 Taylor Geo. 112, Pottergate
 (153) FURNERS IN WOOD, &c
 Bransby and Goaring, (& shaft makers and benders,) King st.
 Buttisant Thos. St. Geo's Ch. yd.
 Cawdron Jouth (& lathe & tool maker,) Duke street

Chilvers John, St. Cath's plain Darley Henry, (& silk machine maker) Blod's court
 Dodman Rt. (metal,) City road
 Drew Wm. Huggin's row
 English John, St. Stephen's st.
 Gudgeon John Lwr Westwk. st.
 Hubbard Wm. Bethel street
 Pattman Rbt. Little Orford st.
 Perry Paul, St. Gregory's alley
 Turner J. S. (dish) Mill st N. Cin
 Wiggett Joseph, Dial court
 (154) UMBRELLA, &c. MFRS
 Forster John, 28, London street

Gidney Benj. Red Lion street
King Tyrrel, St. Saviour's lane
Martin Hanh. 37, London street
Miller John, Upr. Westwick st.
Ransome Jas. 1b, Gent.'s walk
(155) UPHOLSTERERS.

See Cabinet Mkr. also.

Arnold Geo. Middle st.
Bennett Thos. Broad st. St. Giles'
Clements John, Dove street
Mills Joseph, Castle meadow
Roe Benj. St. George's plain
Sadler George, St. Giles' street
Spooner Rd. F. Day's ct. Upr. mkt.

(156) UPHOLSTERERS,
(WORKING)

Higgins Maria, St. Andw.'s Bd. st.
King Elz. H. St. Augustine st.
Lindsay Sarah, Elm hill
Withers Maria, Austin's court

(157) VENETIAN BLIND
MANUFACTURERS.

Browne Wm. (& roller & shutter blinds) St. Stephen's street Jackson John, (& billiard table maker,) St. Stephen's street
Parkinson Fraa. Princes street
Westfield John, Timber hill

(158) VETERINARY BRGNS.

Moneyment Geo. jun. Castle mdw.
Perowne Geo. Wastlegate st.
Petley John, St. Stephen's back street; h. Theatre street

Sibel John Saml. Pottergate

(159) VINEGAR MAKERS.~

Dalton S. & Co. St. Martin's lane
Squire, Hills, & Co. St. Faith's ln.

(160) WAREHOUSEMEN.

(Wholesale Drapers, &c.)

Barker John, 12, London street
Bidwell, Keymer, and Hook, 19,
Gentleman's walk

Cooper, Torris, and Gayford, 4,
Gentleman's walk

De Vear & Phillips, Upr. Davey pl.
Mitchell & Banks, Gool hill, Mkp.

Page Saml. Deyns & Son, 23, Old
Haymarket

Pigg Saml. Bank pl.; h. 102, Potrgt.
Rivett, Harmer and Son, Old Post office yard, Market place

Sheppard Rt. 1, Upper market; h.
Theatre street

Woodgate Philip, Livingstone's ct.
Market pl.; h. 14, Crescent
Woodgate Philip, jun. Bethel st.; h. St. Benedict's

(161) WATCH AND CLOCK
MAKERS.

*Marked * are Jewellers also.*

Barnsdale John, Middle street
Barratt George, Howard street
*Bell Joseph, Bridge street
Buckenham John Chas. Tombland
Clark Rt. Upper Westwick st.
Danby George, Gregory street
Davy Edward, Queen street

*Etheridge Geo. and Wm. Ellis,
10, Gentleman's walk

Gidney Rt. St. Stephen's street
Guntton Henry, 15, Briggs street

Mann Matilda, Wensum street

Merrison James, Cross lane

Moore John, Coalany street

*Piggin John, 1, Gent.'s walk

*Priest George, Briggs street

*Ransome Hy. Bridewell alley

Russell Benjamin, Magdalen st.

*Shildrake Wm. 34, London st.

Sly Samuel, White Lion street

Wittman, Waltfogel, & Co. (German clocks) Pottergate st.

Zipfel Brnd. Geo. St. Gregory's C. yd.

Zipfel John, Stump cross

Zipfel Joseph, Ber street

(162) WHARFINGERS.

Boardman & Harmer, Duke's pal.

Harrison Robert, King street

Jay & Co. Lwr. Westwick street

Pope Rt. Waller (London tradrs.)

St. James' palace

Rudrum Rt. & Spencer, King st.

Squire Wm. (London tradrs.) King

st.; h. St. Clement's hill

Wright Cook, King street

(163) WHEELWRIGHTS.

Ashen Rt. Bridge st. St. Miles'

Bayfield Wm. Lower Heigham

Beertham, Wm. Browne's yard

Hardy John, Trafalgar street

Hart Philip, Botolph street

Holdren William, King street

Howlett Jph. Sussex street

Meadows John, New Mill yard

Moore John, Ber street gate

Pond Philip, Ber street

Riches Rt. & Wm. (and patent arms mfrs.) St. Benedict's gate
 Scott Levi, Bull lane
 Smith James, New Catton
 Springall John, Baker's road
 Wordingham Wm St. Cath.'s plain
 (164) WHIP MAKERS
 Hardy Charles, Timber hill
 Webb Thomas, St. Stephen's st.
 (165) WHITESMITHS, &c.
 Atterton Rt. West Pottergate st.
 Barker Geo. Back of St. Peter's
 Barnes Wm. Long lane
 Boswell John, Broad st. St. Andw.
 Brooks John, Golden Ball st.
 Bullmor John, Surrey street
 Butcher Ezekiel, St. Stephen's st.
 Cawdron Jonathan, Duke street
 Cook Robt. Coslany street
 Cullyer Christmas, Cow hill
 Drew Wm. Ber street
 Finch Wm. Hy Wagn. & Horses ln.
 Fisher Robt. Baker's road
 Gillham Rt. St. Martin's lane
 Golding Jas. Bishopgate street
 Gough Richd. Cherry street
 Hart Thos. (and lock) Botolph st.
 Jarvis Francis, Orford hill
 Key Jph. Water ln.; h. Calvert st.
 Mollett Fras. Rose lane
 Nichols Jas. Castle meadow
 Nichols John, Cocksedge's yard
 Norman John, Lower Hingham
 Palmer John & Wm St. Augustn st.
 Parkerson Fras. Princes street
 Rogers John, 112, Pottergate st.
 Scott Fras. Geo. Ber st.
 Scott Jesse (letter mkr.) Goat ln.
 Self Thomas, Pottergate street
 Silcock Hy St. Saviour's lane
 Springall Saml. All Saint's st.
 Stammers Rt. Little Orford st.
 Turner Joseph, Colegate st.
 (166) WHITING MFRS.
 Clements Jas. Ber street
 Jessop William, New Catton
 Lovett Henry, Pump street
 Pearce Philip, Blod's court
 Wright James, Wellington st.
 (167) WINE, SPIRIT, AND
 PORTER MERCHANTS.
 Amy Henry, St. Augustine street
 Arnold John, St. Margaret's plu.

Barwell & Bacon, St. Stephen's st.
 Butcher James, Muspole st.
 Cater John, Castle meadow
 Chase Wm. Willow lane
 Clabburn Rt. & Son, Magdalen st.
 Culley John, St. Andrew's hill
 Dady Sur A. Old Post office, Mkp.
 Finch Peter, Coslany street
 Geldart Jph. Wensum street
 Howell Thomas, Goat lane
 Kahera John Rd. Broad st. St. Adw.
 Martineau Hy. Magdalen street
 Priest, Turner and Pilgrim, Broad street, St. Giles'
 Robinson Thos. Coslany street
 Roper Reuben B. Duke's palace
 Rose Pp. Wm. & RL St. Andw.'s plu.
 Sendall Isbl. Broad st. St. Giles'
 Seppings Wm. & Geo. Tombland
 Skeele Hy. Market place
 Sparshall & Cubitt, Magdalen st.
 Squire, Hills, and Son (and distillers) St. Faith's lane
 Steward, Patteson and Co. Pock-thorpe brewery
 Tompson Chs. and Sons, King st.
 Tooke George, Bridge street
 Ward and Fisher, St. John's,
 Maddet market
 Willett Eagle, St. Stephen's gate, and Croke's place
 Wiseman Isaac (importer) Exchange st. corner, h. Colegate st.
 Woods Jas. St. Gregory's Ch. yd.
 Wright Henry, Redwell street
 Youngman Wm. (wine and porter)
 Whitefriars bridge
 Youngs and Burt, King street
 Yallop Sir J. H., Bollingbroke and Co. (Norwich Wine Co.)
 St. Giles' street
 WOOLLEN MANUFACTRS.
See Duffield Manufacturers.
 (168) WOOLLEN DRAPERS.
See also Tailors.
 Barker Benjamin, 5, London st.
 Barker John, 12, London st.
 Lovick and Johnson, London st.
 Parr Wm. B. (whols.) St. Giles' st.
 Wade John (whols.) 18, London st.
 (169) WOOLSTAPLERS.
 Bateman John, Middle street
 Filby John, 5, Charing cross

Fison and Sons, Duke's palace
Gardiner Geo. Golden Dog lane
Hawkes Rt. Bethel street
Mann Jas. Magdalen st.; h. Pitt st.
Sheppard Rt. Upper market; h.
Trinity street
Tetley Joseph, Muspole street; h.
Colegate street
Tolson Rd. St. Saviour's lane
WORSTED.—See Manufacts.
(170) WORSTED SPINNERS.
Dale Wm. Howard (knitng.) Mid. st.
Lakenham Yarn Co. Lakenham;
Dodshon Blake, manager
Norwich Yarn Co. Fishgate st.;
Dodshon Blake manager
Springall William, Coslany st.
(171) YARN MERCHANTS.
Bateman John, Middle street
Stannard Rt. Magdalen street
Tetley Joseph, Muspole street
Tolson Rd. St. Saviour's lane
Webb and Newbegin, Bridge st.
Wiley and Turner, Duke street
(172) YEAST MAKERS.
Dyball Rt. St. Stephen's Back st.
Stimson Rd. Muspole street
Tilley Jph. Upper Westwick st.

COACHES.

FROM THE ANGEL INN.

To LONDON, by Ipswich, &c.
the Mail, at 7 evening; and the Times, through Bury St. Edmd.'s, at 7 morning, daily.

To CROMER, a post coach every
Mon. Tue. Wed. and Thu. at $\frac{1}{2}$ p.
3, and Sat. at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 4 afternoon.

FROM THE NORFOLK HOTEL.

To LONDON, by Scole, Bury &
Sudbury, the Phenomena, at $\frac{1}{2}$ before 7 morning, daily; and the Altered Times, every Tu. Thu. and
Sun. at 6 evening.

To BURY ST. EDMUND'S, by Banningham, New Buckenham,
&c. the Tally Ho, every Mon.
and Wed. at 3, and Sat. at 4 affn.

To LOWESTOFT, by Loddon and Beccles, the Pilot, every Mon.
Wed. and Sat. at 5 afternoon.

To LYNN, the Rising Sun, at 4 afternoon daily except Sunday.

To LYNN and NEWARK, the Unson, by Dereham, Swaffham,
Wisbech, Long-Sutton, Holbeach,
Boston, and Sleaford, at 6 morning daily, except Sunday.

To WATTON, by Wymondham and Hingham, a coach, every Sat at 5 afternoon.

To WELLS, the Nelson, by Hawdeswell, Gt. Fakenham, and Walsingham, Wed. and Fri
 $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 4 afternoon

To YARMOUTH, the Royal Mail, at $\frac{1}{2}$ before 10 mng., and from the Castle Inn, at 10 morning, daily.

To YARMOUTH, the Dart (call-at the Bell, Orford hill), at 8 mng and 5 aft. during summer, and at 9 mng. and 4 aft. winter, daily, except Sunday. This coach uses the Old Road on Wed and Sat and the New Road on other days.

RAMPANT HORSE INN

To LONDON, the Magnet, at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 4 aft. and the Telegraph, by Thetford, at 7 mornng daily

FROM THE STAR INN

To LONDON, the Mail by New market, Bury, &c. at 5 aft

To BUNGAY AND HALF BURY, by the Eclipse, at 4 aft. daily, except Sunday.

Brooke & Loddon Mud Cart
at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 10 mng

Cromer & Aylsham Mud Cart
at 10 mng.

To HARELTON, by
Wed. and Sat. at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 4

SNOW'S COFFEE HOUSE

The Phenomena,
the Unson to Lynn
(See Norfolk Hotel)

FROM THE ST.

To LONDON, by the Magnet, at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 4

To AYLSHAM, by Enterprise, at 10 mng.

To DUNSTON, by
Mon. Thu. at 10 mng.

TO HEAT

To HEAT, by and Wed. at $\frac{1}{2}$ before 6

WOUNDED HEART INN.

To AYLESHAM and CROMER, a Coach, every morning at 10.

Black Horse, St Giles'.

To DEREHAM, the Self Defence, Mon Wed and Sat, $\frac{1}{2}$ bef. 5, aft.

From the Pope's Head

To LITCHAM, a car, by North Elmham, &c. evy. Sat. $\frac{1}{2}$ bef. 10mg.

WATER CONVEYANCE

STEAM PACKETS TO YARMOUTH — The Emperor, from Watt's Wharf, St Faith's lane, every Mon. Wed. and Fri. at 9 morning; and the Royal Sovereign, from Foundry Bridge, every Tue. Thu. & Sat. at 9 morning — Fares — First cabin, 3s., after cabin 2s. — Robt. Reavell, agent. (Goods forwarded on Saturdays, to Hull, Goole, &c.)

SAILING VESSELS.

The Original London, Yarmouth and Norwich Traders, from Harrison's Wharf, King street; to the Custom House and Wool Quays, London every week — Cook Wright, agent.

From Boardman & Harmer's, and King's Wharfs, a Vessel every week to London, Hull, &c.

The London, Lowestoft, Beccles, & Norwich Shipping Company's Vessels every week, to Griffin's Wharf, London — Agent, R & S Rudram, King-street.

To Yarmouth, Vessels, daily, from Boardman and Harmer's, and Jay & Co's Wharfs; and one every Monday night, from Mealing & Mills' Wharf. Goods forwarded from Yarmouth, by London, Hull, and Newcastle Traders — Agents, Wm. Bell, Lower Westwick street, and W. R. Pope, King street.

CARRIERS BY LAND.

Mary Mack & Co.'s Waggon, from 73, Broad street, St Giles' to London, Thetford, Newmarket, and Cambridge, with goods for all parts of the Kingdom every evening at 7, except Sundays.

Marsh and Swann's Van, from the Greyhound Inn, Surrey street, to London, Cambridge, Lynn, &c. every Mon. and Thu. at 10 morning. Robt. Neave, agent.

Benj. Beart's Waggon, from the Greyhound Inn, Surrey street, to Ipswich and Colchester, every Wednesday, at 8 evening.

Isaac Carter's Waggon, from the Coach & Horses, Bethel street, to Wisbech, Swaffham, Downham, Peterborough and Stamford, with goods for all parts of the North and West, every Thur. at 5 morning.

Newdick's Waggon, to London, by Bury, from the Star Inn, every Fri. at 6 evening, and from the George & Dragon, every Tue. at 3 afternoon.

John Smith's Waggon, from the Golden Lion, Maddler market, to Fakenham, Ryburgh, Foulsham, and Bawdeswell, every Tue. and Fri. at 1 afternoon.

CARRIERS FROM THE INNS.

 INNS — The figures attached on the left side of the carriers' names, refer to the Inns which they respectively attend — the figure 1, denoting the Anchor, in Rising Sun lane, 2 Angel St Stephen's street, 3, Barley Mow; 4, Black Horse, Broad street, St Giles; 5, Black Horse Tombland, 6, Black Swan, Upper Market, 7, Bull Magdalen street; 8, Crown, Bridge street, St George's, 9, Carriers Arms, Broad street, St Giles', 10, Duke's Palace Inn; 11, Elephant Magdalen street; 12, Eight Ringers; 13, Greyhound, Surrey street; 14, George and Dragon, Old Haymarket, 14a, Golden Lion, Maddler Market, 15, Labour in Vain; 16, Lamb, Old Haymarket, 17, Jolly Farmers, St. Martin's at Palace, 18, Old Lobster, 12, Pope's Head; 20, Prince of Wales, Upper Westwick street; 21, Star Inn, Old Haymarket; 22, Swan-with-two-Necks; 23, Thatched House; 24, Three Horse Shoes; 25, White Hart, back of St. Peter's; 26, Waggon and Horses, Tomblard; 27, White Horse, Magdalen street; 28, White Horse, Broad street, St. Andrew; 29, White Lion, Palace plain; 30, Wheat Sheaf, Bethel street; 31, Woolpack, St. George's; 32, Wounded Heart, Upper Market; and 33, White Lion, Magdalen street.

The Capital Letters denote the Days, and the Figures after them the Hours of Departure. All leave in the Afternoon, except otherwise expressed.

Acle, 5, Gales & Tills, W. S. 3
 Aldborough, 32, Mr. Wood, 14a; Ed. Swallow, Wed. & Sat. 1
 Ashwellthorpe, 16, M. Moore, Wed. and Sat. 3 aft.
 Attleburgh, Bull, St. Stephen's st. Saml. Crow, M. W. S. 2; Wheat Sheaf, St. Stephen's st. George Moss, W. S. 2; and 13, Mr. Johnson, M. W. and S. 1
 Aylsham & Hovingham, 15, Boughton; & 6, J. Chapman, W. S. 3
 Bacton, 7, John Watts, Sat. 12
 Banningham, 27, Culley, S. 5
 Barningham, 11, Barnes, S. 1
 Bassingham, 21, Blyth, S. 1
 Beccles & Lowestoft, 21, Rt. Mann, F. 1; and White Hart, back of St. Peter's, Buck, W. S. 1
 Brighton, 24, James Howard, S. 4
 Bingham, 6, John Gloster, W. 3
 Bircham, 6, John Sharp, Tue. 4
 Blofield, 17, Devereux, W. S. 3
 Botesdale, 14, M. Tidman, S. 1
 Briston, 11, Burton; Woolpack, St. Mary's, Wm. Farmer; and Cellar House, J. Woodcock, S. 1
 Brooke, 13, Mickleburgh, W. S. 2
 Brandall, 17, Ramm, S. 3
 Buckenham, New, 2, S. Johnson, Sat. 1 aft.
 Buckenham, Old, 22, S. Childers, Sat. 2 aft.
 Bungay, 16, Robt. Hogg, and 19, Wm. Sawyer, W. T. and S. 1
 Burnham, 15, Wm. Gagen, Tu. & Th. 3; 28, Tthy. Nichols, S. 5; 4, J. Sporne, Tu. 3; 8, E. Hammond, F. 4; and 3, C. Francis and Robert Kemp, S. 1
 Buxton, 7, Jph. Lambert 3, W. S.
 Cantley, 24, Reynolds, S. 3
 Castlesore, 14, Edwards, S. 3
 Caston, 23, St. Brown, F. 1, and Coachmakers' Arms, J. Hardy, Wed. and Sat. 2 aft.
 Catfield, 26, Hindry, S. 2
 Cawston, 12, Wm. Tidman, and Lord Comden, Jas. Howes, W. and Sat. 3 aft.
 Coltishall, 6, J. Barnard, & Cellar House, Duke's palace, Saml. Rice, M. W. S. 4
 Corpesty, 6, Jas. Hutton, S. 1
 Costessey, Fountain, Westwick st. Wm. Neville, M. W. F. 4 4
 Coston, 12, Wm. Tidman, W. S. 4
 Cromer, 14, Jph. Plumley; 19, Newman; & 32, Wiggett, W. S. 1
 Dereham, 20, Geo. Farrer, & 19, Abm. Carter, W. S. 3; also Waterman, Westwick st. Jas. Amos, Tu. Th. S.; & Plough, Edw. Miles, Geo. Duck, & John Ostler, daily, 2
 Diss, 32, J. Land, F. 12; 16, Saml. Bolton, Tu. & S. 1., 21, J. Bray, Wed. & Sat. 1
 Docking—See Bircham
 Edgefield, Bee Hire, St. George's Joseph Green, S. 1
 Elmham, (North) 26, R. Spooner, Sat. 11
 Elsing, 6, Wm. Cooper, S. 3
 Erpingham, 1, Pp. Newstead, S. 1
 Eye, 4 & 21, Wm. Rayson, W. S. 1
 Fornett St. Peter, King's Head St. Stephen's, Richard Kemp, Wed. & Sat. 3
 Foxley, 20, Thos. Wright, S. 4
 Fressingfield, 13, J. Hart, S. 12
 Palmodeston, 19, Olley, S. 11

Guestwick, 28, P Codling, S. 11
 Hainford, 12, J. Wright, S. 3
 Halesworth, White Hart, St. Peter's, Hy. Taylor, S. 1
 Hapton, 14, Beighton, S. 3
 Harleston, 13, J Debenham, W. S morn., & 21, Denny, S. 1
 Hencham, 9, T., Sapey, F. 1
 Hempnall, City of Norwich, Wm. Leggett, M. W. S. 1; and 14, J Spooner, W. S. 4
 Hempstead, Hen & Chickens, Edward Foul, S. 1
 Hethersett, 2, Bennett, W. S. 6
 Hingham, —See Aylsham.
 Hickling, 5, Jerh. Woolston, and 21, J. Goose, Sat. 3
 Hindolveston, 31, J. Austin, W. & S. 10 mg.; and 14, Rt. Gardner, S. 1
 Hingham, 4, Rt. Lait, M. Thu. 5, also 27, J. Lack, Sat. 4; and Queen's Head, St. Giles', Sml. Adcock, T. W. F. S. 4
 Hockham, 14, W. Edwards, S. 2
 Holt 7 & 14, Jas. Crowe, W. S. 1, also 19, Lacey, S. 2; and Duke's Palace, Thu. & Frid. 2
 Honing 33, Palmer, Sat. 4
 Hopton & Suffolk, 13, Fiske, S. 12
 Horning, 33, Elgood, W. S. 3
 Ipswich, 16, Smith, Sat. 1, and 9 Wm. Mein, Thu. 12
 Kenninghall, 16, J. Bowen, W. S. 1; and 21, J. Wells, Sat. 1
 Litcham, 19, John Betts, W. S. 3
 Loddon, 16, Jph Foyster; 13, J. Bear, and Woolner, from White Lion, White Lion st. W & S. 2; also mail cart, from Star Inn, daily
 Long Stratton, Peacock, Aldis; and 23, Mrs. Barrett, W. S. 3
 Lowestoft—see Beccles
 Ludham, 6, Hy Harris, W. S. 2
 Lyng, 10, Burton, Sat. 3
 Lynn, 4, Rt. Menham, S. 9 mg.; 16, Jas. Brett, Thu. 12; 32, Elbs, Thu. 2—See also Swaffham.
 Marsham, 24, Edw. Jarvis, W. 4
 Martham, 26, Shalders, Sat. 5

Massingham, 18, Wm. Pryer; & Cherry Tree, Jb. Watson, S. 5
 Matlack, Three Tuns, King st. John Tyrell, Sat. 12 noon
 Mattishall, 6, R. Howes; and 20, Fraz. Philo, Wed. & Sat. 3
 Moulton, 14, Stimpson, Sat. 3
 Mulbarton, Trouel and Hammer, Saml. Kedge, Mon. Wed. Fr. 4
 Mundesley, 6, John Earl, & 11, Rt. Mack, Sat. 1
 Neatishead, 5, Ford, Sat. 4, and 16, S. Smith, Wed. Sat. 2
 Pulham St. Mary, 23, Thomas Reeves, and Peacock, Wm. Boulton, Wed. and Sat. 3
 Rainham, 19, Southgate, Tu. 12
 Ranworth, 26, Skipper, Sat. 4
 Reepham, 10, Bircham, W. S. 3; and Moon and Stars, William Leeds, Tu. Wed. Th. Fr. & S. 2
 Repps (Nith) 31, R. Summers, S. 11
 Repps, (South,) 7, Jarvis, S. 12
 Reymersstone, 6, J. Jessop, S. 2
 Rudham, 15, W. Fairhead, W. S. 2
 Ruston, (East), 27, Wilkin, S. 2
 St. Faith's, Cherry Tree, Joseph Woodcock, Sat. 5
 Saxlingham, Jubilee, Ward; and York Tavern, Lyon, W. S. 4
 Scottow, 9, Sl. Reynolds, Sat. 3
 Sherringham, (Lower,) 32, Steward, Sat. 2
 Sherringham, (Upper,) 32, Jordan, W. S. 2; and 5, Emery, S. 1
 Shipdham, 30, Thos. Clark, Tue. & Frid. 1, and 6, John Stagg, Wed. and Sat. 12
 Smallburgh, 7, Amos, W. S. 3
 Stalham, 11, Rt. Ward, W. S. 4; and 27, J. Neve, Wed. 2
 Stowe-Market, 16, Barham, Th. 12
 Strumpshaw, 24, John Beck; and 17, J. Waters, Sat. 3
 Swaffham, 15, Wm. Goode, Thu. 1; 9, Jph Payne, W. & S. 2; 32, J. Walker, Thu. 2; and King's Arms, Bethel st., J. Allen, Wed. and Sat. 12
 Swanton-Abbott, Cross Keys, Jph. Spooner, Sat. 4
 Thetford, 21, Clark, Fr. 6

Thornham, 32, Coston, Trev. 5
 Tittleshall, 16, T. Twiss, Th. 4 mg.
 Tivetsball, 3, A. Watson, W. S. 1
 Topcroft, Star & Crown, Thomas
 Tidnam, Wed. and Sat. 4
 Tottingham, 18, Thos. Ives, S. 5
 Walsham, (North,) 32, J. Bird;
 14a, T. Bradfield; and 19, T.
 Bensley, M. W. Th. & Sat. 3;
 also G. Laycock, from Coffin
House, Duke's palace, W. S. 2
 Walsham, (South) 29, Skipper and Browne, Sat. 4
 Watton, 30, R. L. Bailey, W. & S. at 1; and 15, John Harvey,
 Tues. and Frid. 2

Weasenham, 32, Robert Cocket,
 Wed. 6 mg.
 Wells, 15, J. Gagen, F. 2; 4,
 Jas. Stearman, Thu 6 mg;
 32, Raven, Tues. 11 mg; and
 9, Richd. Belsham, Sat. 2
 Weybourne, 21, Garduer Sat. 1
 Winfarthing, Plough & Horse,
 J. Fisher, Tu. Th & S. 12 mg
 Wood-Norton, 4, W. Jeckell,
 Tues. Sat. 12
 Worsted, 27, Wiseman, Sat. 4
 Wymondham, 2, J. Colman; 22,
 R. Pickling; and 14a, J. Betts,
 W. & S. 4; also Red Cow, J.
 Fiddiman, Sat. 5
 Yelverton, Subtee, Chapman, S. 1

VILLAGES IN THE COUNTY OF THE CITY

EARLHAM.

Gurney Jph. John, Esq. The Hall
 Adcock Richard, gamekeeper
 Bright Edw. gardener
 Bright John, joiner
 Burton Burton Cole, farmer
 Cross John, farmer, Lwr. Earlham.
 Girling John, farmer
 Hankinson Rev. Robert, curate
 Scarnell Hannah, farmer

EATON.

Marked 1 reside at Eaton; 2,
Eaton Bower; 3, Eaton Grove,
4, Eaton Hall; 5, Eaton Villa;
6, Grove Farm; 7, Half-mile
Lane; 8, Mile End Lane; 9, Mile Hill; 10, Mount Pleasant; and 11, Unthank's Road
 3 Barker Mrs. Mary Ann
 1 Barnes Sarah, lime burner
 9 Bensley Robert, gent.
 9 Brewer John S. brdg. school
 7 Brown Mr. Nathaniel
 1 Bunting John, wheelwright
 7 Carter Jph. Chamberlin, merr.
 2 Crook Wm. Esq.
 10 Culley Mrs. Hannah
 11 Curtis Mr. traveller
 8 Dalliston Robert, bank agent
 5 Day Capt. James

10 Day Thos. S. corn & mill
 6 Dix Wm. James farmer
 11 Drake John Wythe gent.
 1 Ewing Wm. Crosey Esq.
 9 Fennell Edw. gent.
 1 Fish Benj. & Miles, shoemaker
 7 French Mr. John Fountain
 1 George George Brown, farmer
 1 George Thos. Wm. Brown
 9 Gilman Charles, gent.
 10 Hansell Henry, Esq. school
 9 Harvey James, gent.
 1 Ladbroke John, farmer
 Larrance Mr. Samuel
 8 Marston Robt. solicitor & agent
 4 Morrison Archibald, Esq.
 7 Nash Wm. japanner & painter
 3 Pattman Mr. Robert 1 Perfect Samuel, shopkeeper & victualler, Lamb
 1 Porter Eliza, shopkeeper
 1 Porter John, vict. Red Lion
 9 Riches Robert, farmer
 8 Sayer Robert, gent.
 1 Springhall Geo. lodgings
 1 Stannard Charles, joiner
 8 Stichall Mrs. Priscilla
 9 Walne Daniel, gent.
 6 Walne Mr. Wm. Randall
 1 Warner James, blacksmith

GARDENERS.

11 Custance W. | 8 Thirtle Geo.
7 Holliday Jas. | 1 Twidney Wm
1 Laist Charles | 7 Wathing Rd.
9 Snelling Jph. | 7 Wilson John

HELLESDON.

Those marked 1 reside at Hellesdon; 2, Old Hall. 3, Mile Cross; 4, Upper Hellesdon; and 5 are in the Taverham Hundred.

3 Austin Edw. vict. Mile cross
4 Baldrey Rt. jun. agril. seedsman.
4 Batson Edw. miller & grocer
4 Cole Lieutenant Edward, R.N.
1 Coleman James, farmer
4 Cooke Timothy, bombasin mfr.

4 Cooke Timothy, jun. cab-maker
1 Culley Samuel, merchant
1 Culley and Pratt, corn millers, seed crushers, oil manufacturers, and wood chippers
5 Goose Robert, farmer
2 Gowing George, farmer
4 Greenfield St. vict. Wind Mills
4 Hill John, miller; h. Norwich
5 Howard David, farmer
4 Marshall Mr.
1 Pearce Wm. blacksmith
1 Pratt Rt. land agt. miller, &c.
4 Reynolds Joshua
4 Werts Mrs. Elizabeth

GARDENERS.

4 Baldrey C.R. | 4 Palmer John
4 Overman Ts. | 4 Pitcher Wm.

INDEX OF PERSONS

ARRANGED IN

THE NORWICH TRADES' DIRECTORY.

To facilitate the finding of any name when the Trade of the person sought for is not known, the following alphabetical index is given, pointing out the corresponding number of the Profession or Trade under which that name stands in the preceding Commercial Directory, in which all the Lists are arranged in numerical order, so that a reference may be instantly made to any of them. The names in the MISCELLANEOUS parts of the Norwich Directory, being already in alphabetical order, are not inserted in this index.—(See page 162 to 171.)

*. * The figures refer to the Trades, and not to the Pages.

Aaron Simon, 133	Aldis Jas. 24, 113; Wm. 24	Amaron Chas. 1
Abbott Chas. 70	Aldwick John, 70	Ames Danl. 137
Abbs Zach. 21	Algar Robt. 8	Amis Robt. 87
Abel John, 77	Aldridge John, 129	Amy Hy. 43, 167; Thos. 43
Abell Chas. J. 101	Algar Thomas, 66	Anderson Benj. 21
Able Geo. 64; Rt. 129	Aldred & Beloe, 17	Andrews & French,
Adams, Hooper and Jolly, 36	Aldred Chas. 33
Adams F. 99; Wm. 28, 81, 82, 89, 96	Alcock John, 8	Andrews Chas. 70; Thos. 81
Adamsen Tabitha, 99	Allen Bryant, 56; H. 47; Isaac, 8; Jno. 129; Jph. H. 70; Rt. 66, 81; Thos. H. 112; Wm. 139	Angell John, 50
Adcock Jph. 121	Alexander Wm. 1	Annison J. 1. 81
Addison Rt. 21	Allington Wm. 81	Ansell Saml. 129
Aldborough Jas. 56	Allison Dd. 51; Rt. 24	Anthony L. 1; Wm. 21, 81
Alden R. F. 22; W. 55, 81		Applegate Jas. 147
Alderton Eliz. 87		Appleton Chas. 8

- Ara Cassimer 117
 Archer Saml. 15, 50
 Armes Rt. 121, 129; Wm. 81
 Arminger W. 81, 114
 Arniss Robt. 97
 Arnold Geo. 81, 151; John, 23, 167
 Ash Edward, 111
 Ashen Robt. 81, 163
 Ashley John, 64
 Ashton John, 130
 Ashwell James, 141
 Asker Geo. 72; Sl. 81
 Atherton Alice, 119
 Athow J. 7, 61, 139
 Arthurton John, 28
 Atkins Bar. 129; Hy. 72; Mattw. 8; Ta. 151; Wm. 70
 Atterton Robt. 165
 August John, 81
 Austin Chas. 81
 Aylmer John, 81
 Back E. 70; Har. 144
 Bacon & Kinnebrook, 20, 103
 Bacon Arabella, 129; Edm. 121; Jas. 8; John, 81; Robt. 8, 129; Thos. 8, 81, 129; W. 127, 129
 Baddley Chas. 67
 Bagg Lucy 1
 Bagshaw Abm. 62; Geo. 62; Jph. 62
 Bailey Han. 1; Ic. 87; Rev. John, 1; Lnd. 29; My. 1; Rt. 87; Wm. 87
 Baker Edw. 21; J. 21, 28; Rt. N. 142
 Baldwin John, 62; Rt. 82; Thos. 81
 Bales Jonth. 66
 Baley Eliz. 1
 Balls James, 35
 Bambridge Wm. 97
 Banfather Rev. H. 1
 Banham Geo. 43; G. P. 81, 118; Jas. 118; John, 49; Nath. 81
 Banks Robt. & Thos. 32, 70
 Barber Jas. 62, 18; John, 70; Saml. 56
 Barcham Jessey, 99
 Barclay A. K. 96
 Bardwell E. 6, 21; Wm. 8
 Barham Edw. 129
 Barker Benj. 168; Geo. 21, 165; Jas. 49, 142; John, 160, 168; Lydia, 81; Mttw. E. and Son, 80; Rt. 114; Ta. 89, 109
 Barlow J. 5; Rd. J. 126
 Barnard & Joy, 85
 Barnard Alfred, 6; John, 29, 81, 129; Rebc. 99; Ts. 81
 Barnascone, M. A. 150
 Barnes Benj. 39; Js. 15, 21; John E. 81; John, 72; My. 81
 Philip, 24; Ts. 35; Wm. 165
 Banney Charlotte, 99
 Barnham Jas. 6
 Barnsdale John, 161
 Barrett Abm. 20; G. 129, 161
 Barton Thos. 1
 Barwell & Bacon, 167
 Base Wm. 21
 Basey Jas. 24
 Bassingthwaite J. 8
 Bateman J. 169, 171
 Bates Thos. 81
 Batley T. 147; W. 31
 Batterbee Jas. 21
 Baxter Eliz. 8; Fdk. J. 70; Peter, 78, 94
 Bayes Eliz. 35; W. 72
 Bayfield Ann, 8, 85; Arthur, 8; Hy. 8; Wm. 163
 Baylis Adw. 40
 Baylis & Co. 97
 Bean G. 36; J. 87; T. 24
 Beany Barnard, 66
 Beare Lois. 79; Luke and John, 21; Sl. S. 50
 Beatley G. & Co. 76
 Beaumont John, 21
 Beck Philip, 49
 Beckwith E. 1; M. 145
 Beckwith & Dye, 6
 Beddingfield B. 78, 94; Jno. 119; Sar. 129
 Bedford C. 22; S. 1
 Bedford and Son, 22
 Beeston John, 81
 Beet James, 38
 Beevor John, 87
 Bell Chas. 21; Edm. 87, 129; Jas. & Co. 47; John, 29, 81; J. C. 141; J. S. 87; Jph. 161; Ts. 141; Wm. 28, 45
 Bell Wm. coms. agt. Lwr. Westwick st.
 Beloe Henry, 39
 Bennett Edw. 70; J. A. 81; Hy. 1; Ts. 155; Wm. 8, 35
 Benns Henry, 21
 Bensley Danl. 114; John, 87; Rt. 8
 Benstead Hanh. 99
 Bentley Eliz. 1
 Benton Leond. 81
 Berney Thos. T. 25
 Berry J. 81; W. M. 113
 Besford Robt. 16, 81
 Bessey J. H. 39, 98
 Betts John, 8, 21, 24, 82, 93, 119; Sol. 81; Thos. 72
 Bexfield Jas. 29; Jph. 29, 95
 Bidel John, 129
 Bidewell Geo. 8
 Bidwell Hy. & Son, 93; John, 98, 121; Jph. 59; Keymer and Hook, 160
 Bielby Wm. P. 98

- Bignold, Pulley, and Mawe, 6
 Bignold Saml. 9, 61
 Bilby J. 72, 81; W. 72
 Birch A. 81; Isa. 1; M 8
 Bird B. 124; M. 91, 142
 Black & Raynes, 42
 Black Hanh. 91
 Blade Thos. 28
 Blake & Everett, 17
 Blake D. 98; F. J. 6; Jonth. 141; Rt. 25, 92
 Blakely Edw. 65, 93
 Blanch John, 24
 Blandon Wm. 129
 Blazey Simon, 146
 Bleakley Rt. & Page, 54
 Blogg Emma, 101
 Blomfield J. 29; W. 57
 Bloom Thomas, 81
 Blunderfield S. 87, 147
 Blyth John, 38, 76, 81; Louisa, B. 82, R. 83
 Saml. 113; W. B. 21, 81
 Boardman Benj. 76, 79, 142; and Har-mar, 162, Martha, 99
 Boast J. 81; W. 21
 Boddy, G. 93; M. 99
 Bolden Harriet, 99
 Bolingbroke Enfield,
 and Co. 96, 98;
 Horatio, 61
 Bolley S. B. 22, 80
 Bolton George, 21
 Bond Jph. D. 81
 Bone Thomas, 8
 Booty E. 28, 82; J. 129
 Borrett J. 111; R. 21
 Boswell Elia. 138;
 John, 165; Mary
 A. 99
 Bootle Henry, 81
 Boughen John H. 8
 Boul Geo. 144; H. 50
 Boulton Francis, 8
 Bouton John, 81
 Bowes Bar 35; W. 35
 Bowles Bar. 15; J. S. 19, 129, Ts. 81;
 Wm. 28
 Bowtell Geo. H. druggist, Market place
 Bowtell Thomas, 21
 Boyce Elz. 114; Fr. L. 6; Jas. 8. 114
 Bradberry T. 129
 Bradbury My. A. 63
 Bradfield Eliz. 1; J. 27, 81
 Brady Gosker, 90 114;
 Thomas, 114
 Bransby and Gearing, 153
 Bray J. & Son, 142;
 J. M. 18, 41, 75, 79, 137; Rd. 142;
 Robt. 81
 Breeze H. S. 1; J. 56.
 Brett Thomas, 82
 Brewer John, S. 1
 Brewster Edm. 87;
 Stph. 81
 Bridge John, 142
 Bridges James, 1
 Briggs J. 38; M. 1
 Brighton John, 49
 Brightwell Thos. 6
 Britcher C. 81; J. 16
 Britee James, 129
 Britain A. 129; W. 81
 Broadhurst W. 1
 Brock Han. 1; S. 42;
 S. and W. 8; W. 42
 Brockhall H. 81
 Brooke C. 50; Wm 1, 67
 Brooks & Tompson, 50
 Brooks J. 25, 81, 92, 165; T. 87; W. 50
 Browes Ann, 129
 Brown A. 4; B. 142;
 Edm. 8; Isa. 82;
 Jas. E. 8; John 4, 27, 29; Mary 129;
 Thos. 81; W. 21, 79; W. J. U. 10
 Browne & Barker, 76
 Brwne Agas, 87; Ann, 8, 33; Edm. 129;
 Edw. 87, 147; Fdk. 45, 96; Hall, 129;
 Hy. 24; Iliz. 8.
 John, 81, 142; Ju. and Sons, 81, 85;
 Jph. 148. Isa. 21;
 Thos. C. 93; Wm. 47, 55, 57, 81, 88, 148, 157
 Brundell J. 132, 142
 Brunning John, 29
 Buckenham John C. 161; Wm. 81
 Buckle George, 81
 Buddell John, 81
 Bugden Thomas, 70
 Bugg Moses, 56
 Bull Isaac, 21
 Bullard Rd. 23, 81, Wm. 142
 Bullen S. 39, 55; Z. 7
 Bullerd Samuel, 66
 Bullock J. 81; Ts. 21
 Bunn J. 25, 87, 147
 Bunting & Durrant, 143; Jas. 81; Jno 90, 114
 Borden John, 57
 Burdett Jonth. 23, 81
 Burgess Jas. 70
 Burleigh Elia. & My. 99, John, 21
 Burnham Rd. 49
 Burrage Ed. and Rd-win, 8; Jph. Jas. 1; Wm. A. 1
 Burrell Jas. 21, 150
 Burrows Geo. C. 70;
 Geo. Hen. 8, 70;
 Thos. Y. 72
 Burtham Wm. 163
 Burton Benj. 129;
 Har. 99; John, 81
 Bush Frs. 56, Geo. 19; Hy. 29; John, 57, 82; Thos. 47
 Bushell A. 8; J. 81
 Butcher Jas. 81, 167;
 Jerh. 70; W. 7, 88
 Butler J. 119; Rt. 66
 Butterfant W. G. 70

- Buttinfant, Blyth, and Francis, 58, 100; Thos. 153
Buttinfant G. 1; J. 72; T. S. 21, 120; Thos. 153
Buston Jas. 129
Bygrave Robt. 81
Callanan Chas. 142
Callow H. 81; Wm. J. 22
Calthorpe Cphz. 43; Wm. 12, 35, 81
Calton J. D. 81
Calver G. H. 122; T. 49
Calvert Henry, 5
Campbell Robt. 146
Campling Abm. 93; Jacob, 81; Jas. 81; John, 126; Rt. 56; Wm. 97, 114
Candler J. 114, 137
Cann John, 21
Cannell Aq. 81, 122; Geo. 21; Hy. 8; Jas. 70; Jno. 122; Michl. 8; Ra. 8
Capes Wm. 129
Capon H. 99; W. 114
Carey M. 82; W. 81
Carlton Henry, 49
Carpenter Robt. 81
Carr Chas. 11, 81; Wm. 21
Carrage Barnard, 81
Carsey John, 40
Carter Geo. 24; Jno. 56; Mary A. 1; Thos. 81
Carver J. 81; Rt. 124
Castle Wm. hair drwr. Back of St. Peter's Caston Jph. 81, 142
Cater J. 167; W. 81
Castilla Misses, 1
Catchpole Jth. 129
Cattermoul Edw. 92; Eret. 24; Sarah, 129; Wm. 55
Cawdron Jth. 58, 153
Challis John, 21
Chalmers Thos. 146
Chamberlain W. 29
Chamberlin Hy. and Sons, 93, Jas. 70
Chambers Edw. 129; Geo. 135; W. 33
Chandler Samuel, 81
Chaplin Wm. 140
Chapman & Hansell, 6
Chapman Charles, 7; Geo. 66; Luke, 66; 81, 24, 28; W. 142
Charity Wm. 87
Chase Wm. 167
Chettleburgh Rt. 122
Chettlebury Hy. 42
Cheverson & Padgett, 78; John, 81
Chiddick Jas. 107
Child E. L. 150; S. 15
Chilvers J. 109, 153
Chittock Wm. 142
Christian F. 35; H. 97
Church J. 129; M. 91
Churchyard Geo. 60
Churton & Clarke, 97
Claburn R. & Son, 167; Sar. 42; T. 97; Wm. 81
Clapham J. 31; S. 81
Clare Ca. 47; Fraz. 17, 81; Robt. 140
Clark A. 129; B. 98; J. 40; J. F. 13, 81; Rt. 161
Clarke A. T. 88; E. 28; Har. 130; Ia. 21, 28; Fdk. E. 101; Jas. 21, 129, 142; John, 81, 129; Jph. 81, Mary, 44; M. & J. 93; Rt. 15, 78, 81; Rld. 8; Wm. 23, 38, 81, 96
Claxton Rd. 142; Rt. 142; Sus. 81, 129; T. 29, 142
Clayton Alex. 81; C. 1
Clear Jas. 38, 81
Clements Anthy. 5; Ja. 166; Jph. 57, 82; Wm. 81
Clitherow Ann, 1
Coaks J. Rd. 6, 61; Rd. 25, 39, 147
Coalman G. & J. 24, 92
Cobb Leggett, 26
Cock John, 8
Cocker Wm. 21
Cocks A. 15; Elz. 129; G. 14, 53; Thos. 142
Codling John, 1
Codman Ja. 142; S. 72
Coe Chas. and Co. 97, 129; G. 81; Jas. 132; Jno. 21; Mark, 24, 81; My. A. 1; Misses, 1
Cogman Benj. & Har. 8
Cohen J. 75; S. 133
Colby Saml. 81
Coldham Wm. 81
Cole John, 6; S. 132
Coleby Clarissa, 1
Coleman & Sons, 93; Geo. L. 93; Thos. 82
Colketti Saml. D. 5
Collett Robt. 8
Collins James, 21
Collis Chpr. J. 1
Colman and Coxens, 6, 61; Mary, 99; Rt. & Jas. 85; Thos. 72, 101
Colsey A. 138; C. 138
Comer Sarah, 8
Cook Geo. & John, 81; Rt. 165; Wm. 129
Cooke Ann, 56; Edw. 21, 67; Rt. 146; Thos. P. 56
Cooper A. 81; C. 10; E. 141; J. 66; J. N. V. 6; J. W. 6; Rt. 81; Thos. 45, 81; W. 10
Cooper, Torris & Gayford, 97, 166
Coote Chad. 74
Cope Thos. 67
Copeman B. 93; E. 1
Copland John, 21
Copley Jas. 27
Coppin Rd. 85
Cord-
Corb

- Cossey J. 40; U. 129
 Cotman E. & Co. 65, 93
 Cott Hy. 21; Wm 8
 Consens E. 99; J. 21
 Cousins Jas. 63; J. 50
 Cowell Robt. 15
 Cowen David, 146
 Cowles Chas. 129
 Cox E. 140; J. 21, 29;
 M. A. 99; Rt. 21;
 Wm 15
 Coxford John, 129
 Coxton Wm. 1
 Cozens & Cupeman, 70
 Cozens B. 129; Jas. &
 Son, 15, 96; Rd. 39
 Crampton Stpn. 24
 Crane Fras. 39, 81
 Cransfield P. 115
 Craske C. 8; Thos. 137
 Crawcour Henry, dentist, St. Stephen's plain, 52
 Crawford John, 146
 Crawshay Rd. 23
 Creake Sarah, 35
 Crisp Es. 129; J. W. 142
 Crichfield St. 51
 Crome Jas. 129
 Cross Chas. 33; Jas.
 45; Jerh. 39, 45
 Crosse John G. 141
 Crotch Benj. 80
 Crowe My. 39; Spicer,
 114; Wm. 62, 81
 Crowfoot Wm. 64
 Cruso Ann, 90
 Cubitt G. 33, 61, W. J.
 96
 Cudbard Wm. 100
 Cuddon Jas. 6; Thos. 11
 Culley Jno. 7, 125, 167,
 Saml. 98, 147
 Cullington C. 21, 142
 Cullum, I. 35, 81, 69
 Culver Chrst. 165
 Culyers Cha. 129; J.
 7, M. 99 Rd. 30;
 St. 21, Thos. 82,
 Wm. 8, 13, 81
 Cundall Benj. 93
 Cunningham T. 81
 Cupper Jas. 20, 91
 Currey Wm. 29
 Curson Thos. 109
 Curtis E. 1; F. 24, 92;
 Jas. 81; John, 15;
 Rt. 81
 Curtress John, 28
 Cushing Saml. 30, 59;
 Wm. 81
 Custance John, 81
 Cutler Fras. 129
 Dady Sar. A. 13, 167
 Daines Rt. 78, 81
 Dale J. 81; S. 81; W.
 170
 Dallinger Jph. 59
 Dalrymple A. 6; W.
 141
 Dalton S. G. & Co. 159
 Danby Geo. 161
 Daniels F. 142; T. 142
 Dann David, 66
 Daplyn J. 8; M. 87;
 Rt. 72
 Darken John, 87
 Darkins & Blake, 24
 Darley Hy. 153; W. 20
 Dartins Har. 99
 Dashwood Lanct. 141
 Daveney Chas. B. 6
 Davey & Son, 98
 Davey, Son & Kemp, 21
 David Wm. H. 61
 Davies Bartw. 28
 Davis Geo. 72, 142
 Davison Jas. 38; My.
 & Eliz. and Mattw.
 C. 8
 Davy & Berry, 19, 114
 Davy Ed. 161, Eliz.
 111; J. 81; Wm. 28
 Davy & Woolnough, 47
 Dawson Edw. H. 142;
 Geo. 81, 112; John,
 21; Jth. 28; Rd. 81;
 Rt. 115, 142; Wm. 1
 Day & Robberds, 108
 Day John, 129; Peter,
 6, 61; Wm. 6, 28
 Daynes John, 97
 Deacon John, 6
 Dean Thos. 28
 Dearing Geo. 72
 Death Ann, 145
 Deavey Danl. 139
 Debbage Jas. 81
 Debson Rt. 130
 DeCarle E. 70; M. 139
 De Caux & Pratt, 32
 De Caux Lucas, 81;
 Peter, 13, 81; Shagr.
 21; Wm. 46, 47, 64
 Deeks Chrstna. 56
 Delph Wm. 111
 Denham Jas. 129
 Denmark Hamlet, 142
 Dennant & More, 99
 Dennant John, 81
 Denney Martin, 93
 Dent Saml. 94
 Denton Jph. 140
 De Vear & Phillips, 160
 De Vear Emma, 99
 Devereux E. & W. 114
 Dew Brituff E. 66
 Dewing Robt. 121
 Dickinson E. 99; J.
 R. 122
 Diggins Jas. 66
 Digby Wm. 81
 Diver Owen A. 70
 Dix Eliz. 1; Saml. 81
 Dixey John, 106
 Dixon A. 33; Fuller,
 36, 81, Jas. 72; J.
 114, Thos. & Son,
 83; Wm. 72
 Dodman Rt. T. 153
 Dodman & Bell, 135
 Dodson Wm. 133
 Doubleday John, 81
 Douce Jph. 1
 Doughty Benj. 8
 Doyer Geo. 105
 Downes St. J. 91, 119
 Dowding E. 129; W.
 21, 87
 Dowson B. U. 45; Hy.
 23, J. W. 8, 61
 Doy John, 81
 Drago My. Ann, 1
 Drake Chas. 141; J.
 81, 142; Rt. 114;
 Sar. 140, T. 142
 Drane J. 15, 88; W.
 24, 88
 Draper Mary, 35

- Drew Wm. 153, 165
 Drewell Rt. 81, 122
 Dring Ann, 1
 Dromer Fdk. druggist,
 Rampant Horse st.
 Duckett Hy. 24; J. 81
 Duffield E. 21; J. 81
 Dunch Denmk. 39, 81
 Dunham Hrmn. 81, 87
 Dunn Geo. 72; Jas.
 39, 62; John, 8, 43;
 Mary, 81
 Dutton Rt. 142
 Durrant Eliz. 110, 129;
 G. B. 81; Geo. 6;
 Jones, 81; Rt. 70;
 Saml. 28; Wm. 81
 Dyball Agnes, 1; Edw.
 71; Rt. 172; T. 8
 Dye Anthy. 62; Har.
 1; Jas. 62; Saml. 70;
 W. 142
 Eagleton Geo. 129;
 John, 21, 50
 Earl J. 82; Wm. E. 5, 59
 Eastaugh H. 129; N. 67
 Easto John, 70
 Eaton Thos. D. M. 93
 Ecclestone Chas. 50
 Edgar Geo. 27
 Edwards Edwd. hair
 drsr 13, London st.
 Edwards John, 39; M.
 129; Rt. 81; Ths. 142
 Egerton Rt. 81
 Eglington Saml. 129
 Ellen John, 28; B. 87
 Elliot Robt. 50
 Elliott Chas. 142; J.
 L. and Co. 96
 Ellis Ann, 87; Benj.
 81; Edw. 129; S. 8
 Ellwood Hy. 28
 Elmer John, 66
 Else Wm. 45
 Elvin Edw. 49
 Emma Chas. 81; Rt.
 81; Saml. 56; W.
 66
 Empson C. 129; B. 21, 81
 Engall Jph. 81
 England Wm. 111
 English John, 153; B.
 65, 93; Jph. 79;
 Rd. 28; Rt. 81
 Esam Wm. 142
 Etheridge G. & W. B.
 133
 Evans Cha. 10; Geo.
 129; John, 129;
 Lewis, 111
 Everett Wm. 60
 Ewels Edw. 81
 Fair Thos. 82
 Fairhead Chas. L. 24
 Fairman & Crane, 99
 Fairman Wm. 72
 Fairweather L. 93
 Fake John, 118
 Farnell Ta. 1; Wm.
 K. 1
 Farrow B. 81; W.
 49, 140
 Faulke Jas. 81
 Faulkes Jas. 1
 Felstead Eliz. 140;
 Em. 76; Han. 140
 Fenn Thos. 81
 Fickling Rt. jun. 6
 Fiddyman Saml. 39
 Field Wm. 62
 Filby John 169
 Finch Peter, 23, 167;
 Wm. 72; Wm. H.
 165
 Fish Rd. 81; Ta. 81;
 Wm. 101
 Fisher Geo. 1; Jesse,
 38; Rt. 165; Ths.
 87
 Fisk J. 21; Rt. 21, 82
 Fison & Sons, 125, 169
 Fitt Hy. 81, 114; Jno.
 87; Rt. 148
 Flatt John, 38
 Fleet John, 46
 Fletcher Ann, 56;
 Josiah, 20, 103
 Flood John, 81
 Flory Benj. 8
 Ford Rose, 140
 Ford & Robinson, 27
 Forster Ja. 21; Jn. 140
 Foster & Waite, 2, 22
 Foster John, 146
 Foulcher C. J. 50
 Foulger Rt. 81
 Foulsham Ts. 64, 67
 Fountain J. 42; M. 81
 Fox D. 1; Eliz. 8;
 Joel, 65; My. 1;
 Rt. 81; T. 1; Wm.
 8, 87
 Foyson Susan, 1
 Foyster Thos. 21, 89
 Francis & Blyth, 3,
 83; Hy. 6, 116;
 Jas. 81; John, 97
 Franklin Clemt. 36
 Fry Rd. G. 142
 Freeman C. B. 32, 70;
 Jas. 81, 97; John,
 24; Wm. 8, 29, 30,
 96
 Freestone A. 8; Edw. 6
 Frewer Rebecca, 99
 Fromow Wm. 33
 Frost Geo. 66, 78, 94;
 Jas. 129; Jas. H.
 93; John, 66; Mary,
 99; Rt. 93; Wm. 82
 Fuller Jas. 59, 122;
 John, 21; Sm. 21;
 Wm. 8, 46, 142
 Furnish Jas. 81
 Furze Wm. 81
 Futter Jas. 81
 Gaffer Benj. 64
 Gale Benj. 38, 81
 Galey John, 142
 Gallant Jas. 146
 Gardiner Geo. 169
 Gardner Tmpn. 21, 129
 Garpham S. & M. 99
 Garrard John, 81, 82
 Garthor Jas. 141
 Garwood Jane, 1
 Gathercole Mary A.
 101; Rd. 21
 Gaul John, 130
 Gay Eliz. 11; Mary, 11
 Gaze J. 46; Lydia, 140;
 M. 87; S. 72
 Geary Wm. 48
 Gedge Geo. 39, 55;
 W. 72
 Geldart J. 167; T. 96

- George Edw. 28; Rd. 39; Rt. 87; Wm. 28, 81
 Gerrard John, 129
 Gibbard John, 13, 81
 Gibson James, 28, 81
 Gidney B. 72, 151, 154, Frdk. 1; Js. 36, 81; John, 63; Rd. 140; Rt. 161
 Gilbert Eliz. 99; and Taylor, 141
 Giles Hy. & Rt. M. 70
 Gilham Jas. 142
 Gill J. C. 29; J. 67; W. 42
 Gillham Rt. 165
 Gilman Chas. 8, 6; Saml. H. L. N. 6
 Girdlestone Reuben, 72; Zach. 21
 Girling Wm. 16, 81
 Gittens John, 33
 Gittings Chas. 143
 Glenister Wm. 88
 Goat Wm. 129
 Goddard Saml. 93
 Godfrey Geo. 21
 Goffin Rt. 81
 Golding Jas. 165
 Goldspink John, 49
 Gooch Ann, 99; Dnl. K. 142; John, 8; Josa. 1; Noah, 23; Rt. 20, 165; Sl. 8, Thos. 27, 37, 129
 Gooda Mattw. 123
 Gooderson & Moll, 93
 Goodins H. W. 81; J. 66
 Goodrum John, 129
 Goodwin J. 6, Wm. 36
 Goose Rt. 21; Simon, 81; Wm. 21, 35, 50
 Gorham Edw. 29
 Goring Geo. 8
 Gosnold Thos. 101
 Gowen C. 122; Ths. 93
 Gower Cs. 81; Jas. 87
 Gowing Wm. G. 141
 Gown Ann, 99; Jer. 93
 Graham Nathl. 8
 Grand Edw. 142; J. 6
 Grant Fras. 70; John, 70; Thos. 33; Wm. W. 6
 Grave Rd. 21
 Graver A. 43, 81; M. 66
 Graves Ths. 148
 Gray Har. 99; John, 81; Jph. 29; Rt. 129; W. 11, 147
 Greaves E. 64; Hy. 81
 Green Clara, 99; Isc. 39, 82; J. H. 142; John, 1, 66, 81; Jth. 28, 81, 129; M. A. 81; T. A. 70
 Greene A. 11; Jas. 151
 Greenfield and Saunders, 143; Har. 8, Sl. 66
 Greenwood Elhz. 1, Paul, 81; Wm. 122
 Greaves H. 142; J. W. 33
 Grew Nathl. & Wm. 17
 Griffin Rd. 141
 Griffiths J. R. 112
 Griggs E. 140; W. 2, 142
 Grimble Geo. 107
 Grimes Geo. 122
 Grimmer Ths. 87, 147; Wm. 66
 Grinling G. 167; J. 146
 Grint Jas. 72
 Grinter Chas. E. 19
 Griston Jas. 129
 Gudgeon J. 153, T. 141
 Gunton Hy. 161; Sar. 140; Thos. 97, 126, 129
 Gurney Elhz. 62; Sl. 62; Wm. 129
 Gurneys, Birkbeck, & Co. 9
 Haddon M. A. 1; Rt. C. 8
 Hagg Edw. 51
 Hagon & Mayes, 99
 Hales John, 1
 Halfpight Ann, 81
 Hall C. 28; G. 66; J. 40, 107; R. 38, 129, Saml. 87; Wm. 8, 15, 110
 Hollows Jph. 72
 Hammond Jas. 82; J. 21, 66, T. 11
 Hanks W. & Son, 45
 Hannah Alex. 146
 Haunent Rt. J. 66
 Hansell Henry, 116
 Hanton Henry, 19
 Hanworth Geo. 69
 Harbord J. 70, 81, 129
 Harding John, 8
 Hardy C. 109, 164; G. & J. 70; J. 113; J. 163, W. 81, 139
 Hardyman J. 23; R. 35
 Hare John, 35
 Harman Adam, 82
 Harmer D. F. 81; M. A. 81
 Harper G. 66; J. 7; Rd. 55; Wm. 81
 Harris Jerh. 110; J. 62; Wm. 81, 83
 Harrison Cts. 21; C. 21; Frs. 42; Har. 99; J. 8, 42, 81; My. 8; Rt. 21, 81, 129, 162; T. 122; Wm. 8, 21, 42
 Hart D. 75; J. 28; Pp. 36, 163; Sl. 87, 129; Ths. 165; W. 9, 133
 Hartley Wm. P. 72
 Harvestone Wm. 129
 Harvey Geo. 72; J. 21, 41, 110, R. 114
 Haslewood John and Walter & Co. 125
 Hastings Job, 81, 118
 Hatch Chpr. 137
 Harvers Chas. 87; J. 129, A. 82, 149
 Hawkes John, 28, R. 54, 60, 73, 98, 169
 Wm. 142
 Haydon Isaac, 24
 Hayho William, 21
 Haylett D. 21, 81; L. 28
 Haynes John, 122

- re, 66
 rey 22;
 mac 21 29 l; H. 66
 a, 67
 23, 96
 ry, 22
 . 148
 l; J. 86;
 . H. 145
 am, 66 21 21, 149;
 , 81; W.
 28
 P. 61;
 3 tree, 139
 , 70
 Jas. 142;
 29, 142;
 Peckr. 82;
 29; Rt.
 . 40, 87
 W. 42, 81
 Sons, 97
 ry, 121
 l; W. 121
 n. 4, 88
 L. 81, 107
 . 21
 ohn, 40
 ard, 129
 . 5; J. 15;
 107 , 145
 n. 163
 Thos. 82
 Lucy, l;
 ; Sh. 99
 os. 57
 129; E.
 9; J. 72;
 l, 81, 83;
 56, 81
 t, 129
 rd, 81
 L. H. 21, 86
 . 24
 , 129
 40; B. 21
- Horstead J. 81; T. 63
 North Edward, 81
 Horton Wm. 55
 Hotblack John, 22, 85
 Houghton David, 56;
 Robert, 8, 87
 Houston Wm. A. 72
 Howell Wm. 11
 Howard Ca. 87; Hy.
 67; Jas. 81; John,
 28, 82; Rbt. 81;
 Thos. 81; Wm. 21
 Howard & Gage, 100
 Howell A. 99; E. 81;
 Jas. 50, 87; W. 50
 Howes Abm. 21; Adw.
 70; Jas. 24, 81, 97,
 129; Jerh. 81; John,
 70; Jph. & Jas. 36;
 Rd. 82; S. 29; Ths.
 21, T. and Jerh. 80
 Howitt Jane, 1
 Howlett & Bacon, 58
 Howlett Bdn. 72; Bj.
 56; Jph. 163; Ptr.
 73; Rd. 142; Ths.
 127; Wm. 101, 150
 Howman John, 81
 Hubbard A. W. 1; H.
 8, 55; John, 49;
 Stgn. 82; Wm. 31;
 147, 153
 Huby Hy. 64; Rd. 64
 Hudson George, 118
 Huggins Henry, 29;
 Maria, 156
 Hughan Wm. 8
 Hull Robert, 141
 Humphris Wm. 81
 Hunnoek Anna M. 91
 Hunt Jas. 145; Mary
 A. 99; Roger, 100
 Hunter Wm. Thos.
 131, 150
 Hurn Isaac, 121
 Hurry George, 114
 Hutchin John, 27
 Hutchinson Cha. 111;
 Jacob, 129, 142
 Hyde George, 9
 Ireson Saml. 129
 Isaacs Edw. 8; N. 76
- Iungius Elia. 140;
 Jph. 19, 115
 Iverson Edward, 8
 Ives George, 19
 Ivory Wm. 70
 Jackson B. 56; G. 8,
 82; J. 157; W. 129
 Jagger Anderson, 23
 James Wm. 64, 81, 82
 Jarratt Thomas, 56
 Jarrold & Sons, 20
 Jarvis Elia. 99; P. 67,
 165; Jas. 21; Rd. 81,
 V. 8; Wm. 1
 Jary Lydia, 8
 Jay & Co. 39, 162,
 Chas. 62; Geo. 6;
 Hy. 8; J. 66, 62
 Jeffries Samuel, 81
 Jennings C. 79, Wm. 76
 Jermy Thos. 66, 129
 Jassop Wm. 166
 Johnson Dt. 147, G
 R. 78, 81; Jas. 56,
 111, 114; Moss, 87;
 Rbt. 8, Wm. 137
 Johnson & Murray
 108
 Jolly Henry, 77
 Jones Brba. l. P. 111,
 Sh. 99; W. R. 70
 Jordan Edward, 58
 Jay Debora, 1
 Juby Thomas, 29
 Judson & Wilson, 54
 Juler Wm. P. 34
 Just James, 81
 Kahere Jno. H. 167
 Kane Thomas, 8
 Kemp 13, 104, Wm. 41
 Kent H. 11, 21, R
 T. 23
 Kerr Jas. 29, John 28, 114
 Kerridge John, 34
 Kerrish Hy. M. 72
 Jas. 72; John, 8
 Rgt. 6, 61; S. 7
 74
 Kerry John, 29
 Kell Geo. 24, 11
 81; Jas. 81 Sh
 P. M. 25

- Kettle James, 11
 Kew F. 72, 133; R. 72
 Key Joseph, 165
 Kidall Robert, 47
 Kidd and Aldis, 138
 Kilburn Ann, 99
 Killington Mary, 140
 King Enh 114; Ed. 28; Eliz. H. 156; Geo. C. 23, 13, 81; Hy. 81, 126, J. & Sons, 68, 114; Jno 56; M. A. 1; S. 28, Ts 46, 87, Tyrrell, 154
 Kingsby Saml. 24, 81
 Kingsbury Geo. 46
 Kippin Joseph, 129
 Kitson & Hackham, 6
 Kitson John, 116
 Kitson Geo. 137; J. 7, 70; W. 1
 Knevet Jh. & H. 109
 Knight Thomas, 72
 Knights Geo. 51; J. 110, 142, Wm. 81
 Knott William, 81
 Laccohee Jacob, 81
 Lacey Eliz. 81; Jno. 113; P. & Co. 97; Rbt. 49, 70
 Lack Susan, 8
 Ladbroke John B. 5; Rbt. 5, 30
 Ladell W. & R. 97, 126
 Ladly Fras. 97
 Laffin Jph. 1, 122
 Lake J. 21, 129; Sl. 24
 Lakeman Jas. 21
 Lakenham Yarn Co 170
 Lamb Alex 28; A. 99; Chas. 58, 70, D. T. 3; Jas. 28; J. 28; Geo. 81, R. 140
 Lambert Ed. 66, 82, F. J. 117, J. 129; Mary 1; Rbt. 8
 Land Chs. 8; Jls. 99
 Lander Leond. 129
 Lane A. 99; Jph. 79; Samuel, 142
 Large John, 129
 Larke Anna, S. 1
 Larkman H. 64; W. 8, 142
 Larter John, 28; T. 29; Wm. 29, 81
 Lawkins Vertue, 35
 Law Lubbock, 81
 Laws Sus. 99; J. 81; John, 28; Rt. 15, 82; Wm. 77
 Lawter Eliz. 1
 Layton Joseph, 87
 Leamon Chas. 8
 Leatherdale John, 46
 Leo William, 21
 Leech C. 87; W. 87
 Leeds Clement, 43, 81; Rt. 40, 64; Ts. 27
 Le Frank Fras. 8
 Leggett Thos. 60
 Leggett Sml. 81
 Legood Jas. 81
 Leil Edward, 91
 Leman, Staff, & Co. 136
 Leramon Jas. 19, 91
 Lemon James, 81
 Lenham John, 21
 Le Neve Charles, 8; Francis, 8
 Lenny Isaac, 88
 Lessey Saml. 70
 Lettis Saml H. 33
 Levine Myers, 75
 Liblis H. G. 129
 Liddlelow Rt. 81
 Lifford Ths. 40, 129
 Lincoln Jas. 8; Jspr. 21, John, 148; T. 1
 Lindsey Sh. 156
 Line Henry, 1
 Lines Mary A. 82
 Ling Eliz. 99; H. 1; J. T. 39, N. 114; Wm. 24, 27, 142
 Linstead J. 81; Sl. 28
 Littell Chas. 21; H. 140; J. 1; Jph. 121; Wm. 21
 Littleboy A. & J. 1
 Livoock Eliz. 81; Jas. 48; Rt. 21; Sl. 24
 Lloyd Rd. H. 6
 Lock Chs. 42; H. 87; John, 9
 Locke Eliz. 19
 Lockett Wm. 70
 Lofly Jas. W. 72
 London J. 39, 62, 82
 Long J. P. 8; & sen. 21
 Lord Aaron, 29; Jas. 113
 Lott Wm. 129
 Lounds Mary, 1
 Love H. 56, H. H. B. 5
 Lovett Hy. 72, 61, 166; Wm. 72
 Lovewell Isaac, 81; J. P. 101; T. 81
 Lovick & Johnson, 160
 Lovick J. 114; Sl. 7, 67, 145
 Lowdon J. & J. 28
 Lowe Frederick, 8
 Lowne James, 129
 Lubbock Edw. 111; W. 21
 Lumb John, 21
 Mace A. 1; J. 32, 70; M. 70
 Mackie F. 105; G. 64
 Mackley Wm. 142
 MacLaffin J. 142
 Macro Jacob, 142
 Maggs Wm. 122
 Maltinan James, 23
 Maltster Stpu. 8, 81
 Mandall Robert, 87
 Mann Ann, 26; E. S. 70; Hy. R. 81; Jas. 81, 169, Jno. 83, 133; Mary, 140; Mttw 82; Matilda, 161; Rebecca, 140
 Manning Jph. 66, 88; Rt. 8; Sl. 8, Ths. 7; Wm. 21
 Manser Wm. 129
 Manthorpe James, 81
 Marris Wm. 72
 Marrison Samuel, 71; Wm. 22, 82

- & Harman, 81; John, 68, 90, 114; Mary A. 1; Sox 64; Wm. 81
A. 129; R. 8
dw. 87, 106;
h. 154; Rt.
l. 29; W. 1
a Hy. 167;
; Thos. and 7 hm. 142; R.
. 64; John,
l. L. 64; M.
9; Newton,
lammol, 11;
1; Wm. 81
and Soc. 97,
Thos. 22, 96
M. J. 1
, Stevenson,
chett, 20, 103
John, 70
Robert, 81
s Geo. 81;
f; John, 36;
m, 114
Eliz. 1
ha. 71; Jno.
'm. 129
James, 21
George, 70;
29, 147
John, 70;
E. 142
Pelgruo. 5
Wm. 81
James, 146
to Nichol, 5
G. 67, 107;
163; Jona.
129 & Mills, 45
m. & Stpn. 87
Edw. 35
Wm. 97
m John, 8, 81
James, 161
t. 43, 45, 96
F. 55; John,
Jph. 76, 81
m. 87
m Chas. C
ha. 80; Edw
as. 1; Jerk.
81; John, 68, 90,
114; Mary A. 1;
Sox 64; Wm. 81
Miles G. 39, 46, 129
Millard Wm. 8, 61, 88
Miller B. W. 21; C
81; Hy. 6; Jas.
72; John, 94, 154,
129; M. 81, 82;
Nath 72; Rt. 81,
149; Stpn P. 21
Mills Chas. 81, 122;
Pdk. 141; J. 142;
Jph. 155; M. 35;
Stpn 55; Wm. 11
Mingay Clementina,
21; George, 93
Mians Ann, 39, 81;
Benj. 142; Edw
39, 81; George
W. 87; Henry, 1;
Isa. 40, 129; J. 129;
Rt. 1, 21; W. J. 114
Mitchell and Banks,
97, 160
Mitchell H. 8; R. 81
Moll Robert, 81
Mollett A M. 140; P
165; J. 114; R. 23
Molton Fras. 106
Money Eliz. 49
Moneyment Geo. 158
Monk John W. 81
Monsey Robert, 81
Monteith G. T. 93
Moore & Barnard, 85
Moore DL. 15; Jas.
72, 87; James B.
33; John, 81, 82,
161, 163; Joseph,
28; J. G. 107; M
99; Wm. 15, 147
More Richard, 93
Morgan J. 110; R. 19
Morris George, 134
Morrison Peter A. 5
Mortimer George, 82
Moss Ann, 140
Mott John, 8
Motts Wm. 35
Mounsear H. 81, R. 29
Mueller C. H. 91, 101
Muffatt Saml. 66, 82
Murray J. 87; R. 137
Murrell Jas. 39, 81,
82, Rt. S. 8; Sus
129; Wm. 81
Murry J. M. 67, 120
Morton R. 22; S. M. 1
Muskett Charles, 20
Mutton Richd. 81
Myhill A. 87; B. 6
Nash Spooner, 137
Neal Eliz. 81
Neale L. 68; Pp. 36;
Rt. 91; Sarah, 99;
W. V. 87
Neep Edw. 52, 86
Nelson Ths. 129; W. 8
Neve Eliz., 145
Newbegan James, 149
Newby J. 142; W. 81
Newman & Co. 70;
Chas. 66; Pp. 28,
Rd. 8, Wm. 81
Newsham J. 45, 98,
147
Newson Wm. 70
Newstead Philip, 15
Newton Edmund, 6,
Fras. 93, 133, Jas
122
Newton & Woodrow,
61
Nichols Alice, 49,
Edw. 42; Hy. 8;
Jas. 165; Jno. 165;
Rt. 28, Thos. 121,
Wm. P. 141
Nickolds Henry, 8
Ninham Hy. 59, J
114
Nixon John H. 6
Nobbs Chas. 28, Jn.
129, Rt. H. 6; R.
39, Sus. 81; Wm.
36, 81
Nockolds John, 81
Nolt James, 21
Northgate and Co. 70
Norgate B. H. 141
Norman Charles, 15;
John, 81, 165, Ju. dith, 1
Norris C. John, 23

- Norton Mary, 129; Phillis, 99; Robt. 70, 149
 Notley & George, 87
 Notley Henry, 33
 Noverco Fras. 117
 Norwich Yarn Co. 170
 Norwich Silk Co. 98
 Nurse Robt 30
 Oakes Hy. 81; W. 8
 Oakley Wm. 15
 Offord Geo. 71, 129
 Oliver John, 122
 Onley, Harvey, and Hudsons, 9
 Onley Daniel, 67
 Ormsby John, 21
 Orsborn Mark, 21
 Orton James, 76
 Osborn James, 121; John, 78; Sml. 21, 40; Wm. 66
 Outlow N. 81; T. 87
 Owen Thos. 110, 129
 Page and Sons, 142
 Page S. D & Son, 160
 Page & Woodrow, 50
 Page Benj 38, Ezl 81; Jas. 81, John, 50; Sl. 87; Wm. D 20
 Painter Edward, 81
 Palgrave Thomas, 39
 Palmer Charles, 81, Geo. 64, 1st. 21; J. and W. 15, 185; John, 66; N.P. 10; Robt 81; Wm. 129
 Pank S. 81, 139
 Parish S. 81; Sol. 35
 Parke James, 66
 Parker C. 24; S. 21
 Parkerson Fras. 165
 Parlour J. & Sons, 85
 Parr Ts. 28; T.B. 66; Wm P 168
 Parsons Thomas, 114
 Paston Jas 43; W. 81
 Patience J. T. 4, 88
 Patteson James, 21
 Pattman Robert, 153
 Payne J. 81; S. 129
 Pearce Jas. 81; Pp 21, 166; Wm. 81
 Pearce Richard, 87
 Pearson Edw. 113
 Peck E. 28; H. 1; Robert. 142
 Peed Harriet. 1
 Peel Edmund, 129
 Pegg T. 8, 82, Wm. 21, 40
 Pemberton Misses, 1
 Pentin James, 146
 Pentney Richd. 87
 Perowne Jas. J. 97; Geo. 158; Jno. 76
 Perry Paul, 153
 Petchell Wm. 81
 Petley John, 94, 158
 Pettet Alfred, 101
 Phillips Edw. 39; F. 1. John, 142; W 1
 Pigg James W. 1, John, 87; Jph. 95; 147; M. A. 1, R. and W. 2, 7, 64; 81, 160; Sar. & Co. 79
 Piggm Jno, 106, 132, 161; Rd. 81
 Pigot John, 93
 Pilgrim Chas. 87
 Piller Bartw. 81
 Pinching Wm. 8
 Pitcher Sarah & Hy. 110; Wm. 21
 Platt Francis, 8
 Platten Peter, 94
 Playford Rt. 109, 151
 Pleasants James, 21, Thos. H 85
 Plummer Geo. 87, Hy 28, John, 1; Sl. 1, Wm 91, 85
 Plumstead Rt. 72
 Pointer Wm. 46
 Poll Jer. 39, 81; R. 64
 Pond Philp. 163
 Ponting James, 129; John, 48
 Pooley Rich. 8, 64
 Pooly Alex. 39
 Pooly Rich. 139
 Pope Rt. W. 39, 162
 Popjoy Joshua, 18
 Porrett Rt. 81, W. 28
 Porter and Co. 47; John, 72; Rt. 39
 Postle Sus. 81; Wm. 21, 49
 Potter G. C. 81; Rt. 28; Thos and Co. 65, 76
 Poulter Wm. 42
 Powell Edward, 81; Hank. 79, J. & R. 93; Thos. 66
 Powley Rt. 28, 81; St. 6; Wm. 78, 81
 Pratt Ch. 66, John, 62; R. 88, Sarah, 110, T 50, W. 68
 Prentice Sl 46, 122
 Press J 81, W. 79
 Preston Eliz. 35; 1st. 10; M. A. & H. 99
 Price John, 81
 Priest Geo. 161; Rd. 37, Rt. R. 33, 152
 Price Turner & Pilgrim, 167
 Pritchard Gilbert, 81
 Priddy Wm. 81
 Proudfoot Wm. 8
 Pummell John, 132; Thos. 13, 81
 Puncher Rt. 142
 Purdy Geo. 114; H. 99; M. 140; Rd. H. 114; Simon, 62; Thos. 87
 Purland Geo. R. 6
 Puxley Fras. 49; Ja. 81, Ts. 28, 78, 81
 Pycroft C 99; N. 28; Thos. 28
 Pye Dd. 39; Esau, 81
 Quadling Henry, 114; James, 28
 Quantrell J. 21; R. 8
 Quantin Weeds, 87
 Quinton E. 99; J. & W. 19
 Rackham & Morse, 61
 Rackham Mattw. 61, 116; Rt. 81; S. 2; Wm. 6, 61

- Shildrake John, 142;
 My. 140, W 161
 Shummon Eliz 81
 Shingles E. 82; J 81
 Ship Thomas, 51
 Shipman Jas. 81
 Shore Daniel, 24, 81
 Short Hy 82; W 1
 Shreeve Geo. 21
 Sibel John S. 158
 Silcock Henry, 165
 Sillett James, 5
 Silom William, 72
 Silvey Rt. 8, 21, W. 8
 Simmons Hy. 81
 Simons Edw. 12
 Simpkin Wm. 14
 Simpson Geo. 97; G.
 E. 6, J Wm. 76
 Sinclair John, 87
 Sizeland Adam, 117
 Skedge Wm. 8
 Skeele Henry, 167
 Skeet Robert, 24
 Skelton & Co. 26; G
 142
 Skiles Samuel, 129
 Skellings Sarah, 129
 Skipper John, 6, 61,
 116, Rd. 81; Rt.
 129; Sl 42; W 15,
 ■
 Skippon James, 50
 Skoyles Wm. 64
 Slack Thomas, 81
 Slater Fras. 129; J
 81; Wm. 32, 63,
 74
 Slaughter Chpr. 28
 Slipper Chs. 65; S. 1
 Sly Samuel 161
 Sloman Wm. 59
 Smirkie Jas. E. 76
 Smith Baker, 142;
 Benj 29, C. & Son,
 33; Chas. 39; Fras.
 43; Geo. 69; Hb.
 93, 145; Jas. 21,
 81, 129, 163; Jno.
 W. 70 72, 129, 142,
 147; J H. 81; J.
 P. & Co. 33; J. &
 S. 149; Jonth. &
 Co 19, 79; Maria,
 129, My 62, 99,
 Rbt. 66, 81, 126;
 Saml. 28, 36; Sn
 99; Wm. 1, 15, 28,
 66, 81, 87, 105, 129,
 141; Wm. L. 33
 Smithson John, 15
 Snelling A 99, E. 99
 Snow Wm. 13, 81
 Snowden John, 93
 Soame John, 81
 Sothorn Geo. 33
 Southgate Cpr. 100
 Sowter Peter, 38, 81
 Spalding A. 21; F 88
 Spanton Fras. 81;
 Jas. 81; Saml. 15
 Sparkball Alex. 145;
 John, 28
 Sparks John, 142
 Sparrow Wm. 81
 Sparshall & Cubitt,
 46, 125, 167
 Spatchett Jas. 33
 Spelman Wm. 7
 Spencer Danl. 129;
 John 81, 97
 Spooner R 155; S.
 140
 Spratt & Brundell, 110
 Spratt J. 81; R. 46;
 W 36
 Springall J 163; S.
 165; Wm. 81, 170
 Springfield & Fickling
 98 Springfield W. 81
 Spurdens My. A. 129
 Squire, Hills, & Son,
 102, 159, 167
 Squire Wm. 162
 Squires Paul, 33
 Stacey A 43; E. 21;
 M. A. 99
 Stacy G 33; J. 20;
 W. 33
 Staff John, 6; John
 R 6; M. 1, 8
 Stafford P. 56; S. 99;
 Wm 8
 Stagglers Wm. 49
 Stammers Rt. 165
 Stangroom J. 129
 Stanhaw George, 36
 Stanley John, 82
 Stannard Abm. 5, 13;
 Cubitt, 97; Jph. 87;
 Rd. 81, Rt. 132,
 171; Thos 59
 Stapleton Robt 21
 Starks and Co. 55
 Starland John, 114
 Starling A. E. 114;
 T 21, 129; W 49
 Starr John, 87
 Stebbing & Hallows,
 122
 Stebbings Hy. 138
 Stearman Fras. 87
 Steel B. 117; G. 120;
 H. 70
 Steward Edw. 116; E.
 & C. 61; J. 142,
 147, John, 8; Jph.
 56; Rt. 14, 128;
 Stpn. 142; T B. 8
 Steward, Patteson, &
 Co. 23, 167
 Stewardson G. N. 19,
 114; H. M. & E. 1;
 Nathaniel, 81
 Stigles Daniel, 72
 Stimson E 42; R 172
 Stock Daniel, 142
 Stockings Jonth. 42
 Stone A. T. 99; F. 4;
 John, 21, 81; Rbe.
 110, 129; S. 6; T.
 87
 Storey J. R. 72; W.
 81, 129, 142
 Stout Simon, 87
 Stratford E. 1; W. 81
 Stringer M. 66; R. 8
 Stringfellow T. 81
 Stroulger John, 66
 Strutt Jph. 81
 Stubbs Edw. 22, 129
 Stunex Wm. 28
 Sturley Hy. T. 81
 Sudbury Thos. 55
 Suffolk Wm. 38
 Sullivan Cs. 52, 86
 Sussans Wm. 129
 Sutherland James, 81

- Swan Mark 7; Rt. 11; Sar. 140; St. 81
 Swann Geo. 67; Hy. 81; Jas. 22; Thos. 69, 142
 Sydeall Susan, 140
 Syder Saml. 21
 Symonds J. 81, R. S. 142
 Talbot Eliz. 1
 Tallack Wm. 29
 Tallawin Thos. 81
 Tann J. 24; W. 81
 Tany Wm. 37
 Taylor Adm. 6, 61; C. 81; G. 152; H. 21, 72, 145; John, 61, 114; J. E. 62; J. Oddin. 6; W. 82
 Teasdel Richd. 1
 Teasel John, 87
 Tempany M. A. E. 99
 Tench Co. 21; W. 82
 Tetley Jph. 98, 169, 171
 Thayne Thos. 81
 Theobald, Thos. 69
 Thetford M. 110; T. 21
 Thirkettle Rt. 142; Thomas 81
 Thirtle Jas. 21; Jno. 30; Thos. 94
 Thompson and Wharham, 22, 85
 Thompson Jas. 24; John, 21, 81, 128; Jph. 8; M. 1, 49; Peter 28, 104, 120, 150; Rt. 84; Sna. 1; Wm. 36, 81
 Thomson A. M. 111, 141
 Thorne Geo. 107
 Thorald Wm. 100
 Thorpe T. 72, 81; Wm. 81
 Thorsby Hank. 8
 Thouldess Jas. 1
 Thrower Noah, 81
 Thurgar Chpr. 1, 117
 Thurling Jas. 81
 Thursby & Spratt, 1
 Thursby Geo. 81
 Thurst Jas. 86
 Thurston Chy. 8; M. 91; R. H. 8; S. 29
 Thwaites J. 56, 81
 Tickle Saml. 66
 Tidnam S. 21, 119; Jas. 43
 Tillett Jacob, 56
 Tilley Jph. 172
 Tillot John, 24
 Tillyard A. C. 21; Robert, 21
 Tilyard Susan, 28
 Tinkler C. 140; W. 21
 Tinkley F. 5; S. 21, 67
 Tipple G. H. 1; J. 142; Ts. 35, 142
 Todd J. 142; T. 129
 Tolson Rd. 169, 171
 Tomlinson R. S. 76
 Tompson Ca. & Sons. 23, 167; W. 21
 Tooke G. 81, 167; Mary, 129
 Towler and Son, 79; Jno. 93; Ml. 129; Saml. 80
 Townsend James, 81
 Townshend Saml. 30
 Sar. 99; Zach. 21
 Tremlett Emily, 1
 Triggs Ruth, 1
 Trivett & Couzens, 85
 Troxy John, 101
 Troughton Jas. 141
 Truman James, 21
 Tuck C. E. 6; J. 8; J. S. 142
 Tuffs John, 28
 Tugate Wm. 87
 Tunwell H. & S. 99
 Turner B. 21; C. 1; Edm. 70; Ed. 21; G. J. 81; Isb. 42; Jas. 142; John, 12, 122; John S. 153; Jph. 165; J. S. 43, 81; N. and L. 21; Thomas, 21, 81; W. 35, 81, 114; W. N. H. 6
 Turney Geo. 81
 Turrell James, 129
 Turtle Fras. G. 132
 Tuxford Walter, 6
 Twiss Chpr. 81
 Twoood Wm. 21, 78
 Ulph Jas. 21; Wm. 114
 Underwood & Gare, 25
 Underwood John, 24
 Unthank, Foster, and Unthank, 6, 61
 Upcroft Wm. 19
 Ulph J. 81; W. 48, 56, 82
 Vernish Rd. 72, 81
 Vince Samuel, 81
 Vincent H. 81; Jas. 93; Miller, 49; Wm. 81
 Vineyard Rt. 81
 Vlieland Jm. 117
 Vvall C. M. 99; Dl. 38; Geo. 107
 Wade John, 168
 Waite Wm. 22
 Wakefield Mrs. F. 78
 Wales William, 87
 Walker Isc. 71; J. 28, 87; John, 129; R. 21, 115; Thos. 81
 Walkley Thomas, 81
 Wall Sarah, 8
 Wallow Wm. 129
 Walpole G. 129; W. 21
 Ward and Fisher, 167
 Ward & Spooner, 129
 Ward John, 129; R. 28; T. 21; Widow, 8
 Warne G. 81; R. 101
 Warner William, 1
 Warnes Chs. 1; J. 81; Rt. 123
 Warnett Chas. 24
 Warren Thomas, 56
 Watcham Thos. 66
 Watering F. 81; J. 21; John, 93
 Waters Sl. 45, 125; Sna. 99; T. 6, 61; W. 81
 Watkinson John, 129
 Watling James, 2
 Watson Edw. C. 64,

- Edw. 39, F. E. 6,
 Jas. C. 129; Jas
 139, John, 8, 142
 Watts E. 140; J. 58,
 82, 97, Saml. 129;
 Ths. 81, 97, 129
 Wayte Mary A. 1
 Webb and Newbegin,
 171
 Webb T. 122, 164,
 W. 121
 Websdale John, 81
 Webster A. B. 81;
 Ann, 1; Geo. 8;
 John, 57; Rbt. 35;
 Shem 21; Ths. 115
 Weeds Rd. 24, 47, 129
 Weeks Wm. 114
 Wells Edw. 141
 Fraa. 81; John, 28
 Wellman Henry, 30
 Welton Wm. 8
 West Chas. J. 6, 116
 Westby Thos. 122
 Westfield John, 157
 Westgate Eliz. 81
 Weston C. & M. 23;
 J. 28
 Whall J. 72; My 99
 Wheelhouse Wm. 93
 Whenstall W. 8, 42
 Whickham Wm. 39
 White C. 81; J. H.
 101; Jerh. 87; Phs
 99; Rd. 82, Sh. 99;
 Wm. 21
 Whitehead Php. 8,
 Wm. 23
 Whiting E. L. & W. 1
 Whitlam Thos. 51
 Whitworth Wm. 129
 Wicks Robert, 129
 Widdows R. 81; R. 82
 Wigg John, 49
 Wigger J. H. A. 2
 Wiggett John, 21; J.
 153
 Wigham Robt. 149
 Wilch Jas. 8, John, 8
 Wilde Rt. 38; W. 7
 Wiles C. B. 141; S. 29
 Wilcy & Turner, 171
 Wilkin H. 21, J. 112,
 Robert, 21
 Wilkins John, 24, 81
 Wilkinson J. 6, 122
 Willement G. & Rd.
 97
 Willett E. 167; H. &
 E. 97
 Williams Jas. 21
 Willsea Eliz. 99
 Willson Thomas, 59
 Wilson Geo. 21, 129;
 Thos. 56; Thos. &
 Son, 42
 Winter A. 8, C. 21;
 E. 46; Jas. 6, Jno.
 8; Rbt. 8; Sl. 8;
 Thos. 81, 129
 Wiseman Isc. 167;
 Jas. 21; Jeff. 66;
 John, 100, 129; J.
 75; Rt. 24; S. 142
 Withers Maria, 156
 Wittman, Waltfogel,
 and Co. 161
 Wittrick Daniel, 38
 Wodehouse Saml. 82
 Womack Geo. 64, 81
 Wood John M. 107
 Woodard Rbc. 99; R.
 82
 Woodcock Chas. 36;
 Hy. 52; J. M. 72;
 Sarah, 99
 Woodcocke Thos. 6
 Woodgate Pp. 97, 160
 Woodhead Ann, 99
 Woodhouse G. F. 93
 Woodrow Benj. 110;
 Chas. 110; John, 87;
 Wm. 2, 20, 91, 145
 Woods Jas. 81, 21,
 167; John, 81; P.
 81; Rt. 86; Rt. J. 39
 Woodward Ch. 1; G. 8
 Woolbright Rbt. 66;
 Wm. H. 6
 Woolmer Clint A. 21
 Woolner John, 33
 Woolsey Cardl. 129;
 Isc. 129, Sl. 142
 Woolterton J. P. 29
 Woolverton Edm. 28
 Worby Robt. 57
 Wordingham Wm. 82,
 87, 163
 Worman Jas. 87
 Worth, Carter, and Worth, 97, 98
 Wortley Robert, 6
 Wright & Belson, 111
 Wright & Cattermole
 24
 Wright Cook, 162
 Hy. 167, H. J. 113
 Jb. 129; Jas. 66
 142, 166; Jas. J. 16
 82; Jno. 97; M. A.
 99; Rt. 21, 35, 88
 Sar. 99; Thos. 21
 129; Wm. 21, 28
 55, 129
 Wyatt John, 43
 Wyer Mary, 138
 Wyeth Nathl. 25
 Wyhett David, 66
 Wymer John, 81
 Yallop Sir J. H., Bolingbroke & Co. 167
 Yallop H. 81; J. 31
 Yarrington & Son, 17,
 55; Fdk. 19; Sl.
 C. 68, 114
 Yates William, 67
 Yeames Saml. 39, 81
 Yeomans Jas. 21
 Young G. 81; W. 81
 Younghusband Jph.
 86; Mary, 99
 Youngman P. 72; W.
 167
 Youngs and Burt, 23
 167
 Youngs Eliz. 81; J.
 8, 129; P. 122;
 Wm. 24, 81
 Zipfel Bd. G. 161; J.
 161, Jph. 161

EAST & WEST FLEGG HUNDREDS.

EAST AND WEST FLEGG, two of the smallest Hundreds of Norfolk, are on the sea coast, at the east end of the county, and are nearly of equal extent, containing together about 30,000 acres of land, stretching nearly eleven miles northward from Yarmouth, and forming, in ecclesiastical affairs, the DEANERY OF FLEGG, to which the DEANERY OF YARMOUTH was perpetually united in the year 1345; so that the Archdeacon's visitations for the whole district, have since been held at Yarmouth, which in civil matters is a separate jurisdiction, being a free borough, with courts and magistrates peculiar to itself. Petty Sessions, for the rest of the two Hundreds, are held every Saturday, at the Feather's Inn, Yarmouth; and every Tuesday, at the House of Industry, in Rollesby, when there is business to transact. The magistrates are Sir E. K. Lacon, Bart., E. H. K. Lacon, Esq., Rev. W. Lucas, and Rev. J. Symonds, who have for their clerk Mr. J. F. Ranney, of Yarmouth. Of the twenty-five villages and parishes in East and West Flegg, no fewer than fourteen of them have the Saxon termination, by, signifying a dwelling. They were all incorporated for parochial purposes by an act of the 15th of George the Third; and a HOUSE OF INDUSTRY, for the reception of the poor of both Hundreds, was erected at Rollesby, in 1776, and enlarged in 1818 and 1834, so that it will now accommodate 400 paupers, though the number of inmates seldom amounts to 300, who are maintained and clothed at the cost of about 2s. per head per week, and are partly employed in the manufacture of rope, twine, fishing-nets, cacking, canvass, tarpauling, &c. This large workhouse, for a thinly populated district, is built in the form of the letter H, so as to admit of a complete separation of the two sexes. It is under the control of 48 guardians, chosen yearly; and a number of directors, consisting of all the magistrates and freeholders of £200 per annum, resident in the incorporated parishes, amongst which Yarmouth is not included. R. B. Norman is the governor; Mrs. Norman, the matron; J. F. Ranney, the clerk; Rd. Ferrier, the treasurer; W. Cooper and T. Marston, the surgeons; and the Rev. John Morton, the chaplain.

EAST FLEGG Hundred, the most eastern division of Norfolk, is of a very irregular figure, terminated by the long but narrow tongue of land, which forms the parish of Yarmouth, and bounded on the east by the German Ocean, and on its other sides by the rivers Yare and Bure, and the Hundred of West Flegg; from which latter, it is separated for a considerable extent by a chain of marshland lakes or pools, called "Broads," and forming a small river, which flows westward the Bure; indeed both the Flegg Hundreds are nearly saturated with salt and fresh water. East Flegg extends about ten miles along the coast northward, from the mouth of the Yare, and for about half of this distance it is only about a mile in breadth; but it afterwards spreads out about seven miles westward, along the banks of the Bure, which divides it from Walsham Hundred, as the Yare parts it from Suffolk.

WEST FLEGG is bounded by East Flegg on the south, Walsham Hundred on the west, Happening Hundred on the north and the Ocean on the east. It extends about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles along the coast, and $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles inland; and is nearly surrounded by marshes, but its interior rises in bold and well cultivated swells. Mr. Young, in his "Farmer's Tour," recommends the method of farming practised here; and even Camden extols the soil as being fruitful in corn, and says that here "the Danes seem to have made their first settlement, both because it was nearest their landing, and pretty well fortified by nature; being almost surrounded by water."

There were formerly 26 Parish Churches in these Hundreds, but seven of them were dilapidated many years ago, and their cures annexed to the remaining parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing the population of each in 1831, the annual value of their land and buildings as assessed for the property-tax in 1815, and their territorial extent.

EAST FLEGG Parishes	Pop. in 1831	Ann. Val. £	No. of Acres	WEST FLEGG Parishes.	Pop. in 1831	Ann. Val. £	No. of Acres
Calster next-Yarmouth	864	4,100	4,000	Ashby-with-Oby and Thurne . . .	82	2,101	1,387
Filby	464	2,802	1,400	Billockby	120	581
Mouthby	61	2,200	1,560	Burgh St. Mgt & My	67	497	305
Ormsby St. Margt. } with Scratby. . . }	720	4,101	1,300	Chippesby	49	1,555	1,377
Ormsby St. Michael.	273	*	90	Hemby	79	1,190	170
Rusham	249	2,343	1,900	Martham	500	2,320	1,600
Stokesby-with- Herringby . . . }	324	2,616	2,000	Martham	825	3,014	2,500
Thrlgby	42	743	50	Repps-cum-Bastwick	265	1,722	1,10
YARMOUTH † . . .	21,115	24,333	850	Stollesby	710	2,030	1,800
				Somerton East ‡ . .	54	1,029	300
				Somerton West . .	243	1,114	1,00
				Winterton	63	1,136	1,000
Total	24,113	43,000	14,860	Total	4,214	18,319	14,374

* Ormsby St. Michael valuation is included with Ormsby St. Margaret

† To Yarmouth may be added its south-western suburbs in the parish of Gorleston, (Suffolk), which swell its total population to 24,536 souls.

‡ East Somerton church is in ruins, and the parish annexed to Winterton

HISTORY
OF
THE BOROUGH AND PORT
OF
YARMOUTH.

YARMOUTH, the principal sea port and second town of magnitude in Norfolk, stands pre-eminent for its prolific herring and mackerel fisheries, and during the late war was an important naval station. It also enjoys an extensive traffic in coal and corn, and is in great celebrity as a bathing place, being pleasantly seated on that narrow peninsular strip of land which is less than a mile in breadth, and stretches about five miles from north to south betwixt the German Ocean and the estuary of the rivers Bure and Yare; from the latter of which it has its name. It is distant 123 miles N.E. of London; nineteen miles E. by S. of Norwich, by the new road; and 9 miles N. of Lowestoft; being in 52 deg. 35 min. North latitude, and in 1 deg. 46 min. East longitude from the meridian of Greenwich; and standing on the east bank of the Yare, at its confluence with the Bure, about two miles from the mouth of the haven, which is very extensive and commodious, lined with spacious quays, ship yards, warehouses, &c., and protected on the coast by noble piers; in addition to which, a jetty, on the beach, west of the town, (erected in 1808,) is extended into the sea upwards of 450 feet, with a platform 21 feet in width, surrounded by a substantial railing, and forming a delightful promenade in the bathing season. The Parish of Great Yarmouth, as it is sometimes called in contra-distinction to South Town, or Little Yarmouth, on the opposite side of the river, in Suffolk, comprises the whole of the narrow peninsula just described, and contains about 860 acres of land, and 21,115 inhabitants, of whom 8980 are males, and 12,135 females, according to the returns of 1831; but to these may be added the 3420 inhabitants of South Town and Gorleston, on the opposite side of the harbour, in the county of Suffolk, swelling the total population of the town and suburbs to 24,535 souls, who, in 1801, only amounted to 16,573; in 1811, to 19,691; and in 1821, to 21,007, exclusive of about a thousand mariners, and 40 soldiers on the staff of the East Norfolk Militia.

The Town of Yarmouth, from the shape of the peninsula on which it stands, is built in the form of a long and irregular parallelogram, comprising 133 acres, and extending upwards of a mile along the river, from north to south, and nearly half a mile in breadth, to within about the same distance of the ocean. On its western side, it is bounded by the Yare, over which there is a handsome draw-bridge; and on the east, north, and south, it is encompassed by the extensive remains of an embattled wall, 2238 yards in length, and formerly having ten gates and sixteen towers, mostly of flint, but all the former, except Pudding-gate, have been removed since 1790, for the improvement of the entrances to the town, and, though many of the towers remain, they have been variously disfigured and altered. The town was formerly divided into four leets, and is now subdivided into eight wards. The principal streets are uniformly in the direction of north and south, except two at the extreme ends, and Regent-street, a spacious opening from the centre of the Quay to the Market-place, lined with neat buildings, of white brick, and completed in 1813 at the cost of nearly £30,000. Before the erection of this street, there was no carriage-way through the town, except by Fuller's hill, on the north, and Friar's lane, on the south, both distant and inconvenient. The streets are connected by about 156 remarkably narrow lanes or alleys, crossing them at right angles, and bearing the common name of Rows, but distinguished from each other by numbers. Adapted to the straitness of these rows, the inhabitants use low, narrow carts, for the conveyance of goods to and from the shipping.—These singular one-horse vehicles are about 13 feet long, and 3½ broad; and their wheels 2 feet nine inches high, sometimes made of solid wood, without tire. The drivers, with short whips, stand on the cross-staves, and guide the horses with a rein. Formerly, carts of this description, but more elegantly made, were let to pleasure parties, by the name of Yarmouth couches; and almost every visitor, in the bathing season, made a point of riding in one of the most whimsical carriages which any place in the kingdom can produce. The Market-place, nearly encompassed by large and respectable shops, is spacious and handsome, having a well-paved area of 2½ acres, with a neat covered Cross in the centre. The MARKETS, held here every Wednesday and Saturday, are well supplied with fish, flesh, poultry, fruit, vegetables, swine, &c., and corn is exposed for sale on the Quay, opposite the Star Inn. A FAIR, for all kinds of merchandise, except cattle, is held on the Friday and Saturday after Easter; and a pleasure mart, or "gig fair," sometimes called "the orange fair," is held on Shrove-Monday and Tuesday. The Races, first established in 1810, by the officers of the Berkshire Militia, take place in the latter part of August, on the excellent turf of the South Dene, near the Barracks, and an elegant Naval Pillar, erected to the memory of Lord Nelson. The space between the north end of the Market-place and the Churchyard-gate, is occupied by a fine avenue

ly trees, whose clustering and umbrageous foliage, all-pervious to the sun and rain, affords a cool and delightful promenade in the summer season. But the grand object of attraction to visitors, in this busy town, is its unrivalled commercial

QUAY, which is allowed to be the most extensive and fine in Europe, except the far-famed one at Seville, in Spain. It is one mile and 270 yards in length, and in many places 150 yards broad; divided into two nearly equal parts, extending away from the bridge, and distinguished by the names of North Quay and South Quay; the latter of which is the most beautiful and interesting, being the resort of the larger ships, and in its centre a charming promenade, planted on each side with a row of fine trees, and enclosed on the East by large and fine houses, mostly of modern erection, and occupied by the nobility and gentry. The west side of the Quay, in the neighbourhood of Suffolk, also presents a busy assemblage of buildings, for shipping, &c. and is approached by a Draw-Bridge, of wood, thrown across the stream from the centre of the quay near the Town-Hall, where the communication was by a boat until 1427, when a bridge was erected, but several years falling into decay, it was rebuilt in 1553, 1570, and 1785. In 1799, the centre arch of the present bridge was renewed, so as to be elevated with greater ease than the old one, by means of a screw, working upon four large iron wheels. A handsome Iron Bridge, chiefly of iron, has been thrown across the river, at the North end of the town, by Robert Cory, Esq., in consequence of the powers of an act of Parliament passed in 1827, and at a cost of about £4000. This bridge is the entrance to the Wier, which was formed under an act passed in 1834, and shortens the distance to Acle from 11 to 7 miles; the old route from Acle and Norwich passing by a circuitous sweep on the west side of the river. Of late years, many houses have been erected without the walls, on the Dunes, or town commons; the Corporation having let, on leases, about 146 acres, in small lots, now occupied by buildings and gardens. The rest of the Dunes, extending southward to the haven's mouth, is common, and the sea-beach, which latter presents a varied and interesting scene to the spectator, especially in the fishery season, the whole business of the herring-boats may be viewed from the jetty; but, at all times of the year, ships of various kinds, and sometimes in considerable numbers, may be seen passing the shifting and dangerous shoals of sand, in the so-called the Yarmouth Roads. As a bathing-place, few towns possess more attractions than Yarmouth; for, besides the excellent facilities for the resort of passing travellers, here are a considerable number of comfortable private boarding and lodging houses, baths, bathing machines, public gardens, and bowling-greens, in the best description. Pleasure and exercise may at all times be enjoyed in an infinitude of shapes. To such as de-

the bustle of mercantile pursuits, its noble quays, its wharfs, and its rivers, offer an enlivening treat; whilst the admirers of nature, in her quiet and rustic garb, may solace themselves in the more remote parts of the beach, and the Denes, where the lover of scenery may enjoy extensive marine views; and the botanist may amuse himself with examining a variety of RARE PLANTS, among which may be enumerated, the Arundo Arenaria, or sea red grass, springing in scattered tufts above the sand; the Arenaria Peplodes, or sea chick-weed, growing upon the beach, near the turf of the common; the Bunias Cakile, or sea-rocket, rendered distinctly visible by its enlivening flowers of purple hue, shooting above the shingle; the Convolvulus Soldanella, or sea-bird weed; the Eryngium Maritimum Eryngo, or sea holly, scattered indiscriminately over the beach; and the Ononis Repens, or creeping restharrow, with many others, frequently sought after and admired.

Owing to the general salubrity of the air, this town is but seldom infected with epidemic diseases. The wholesome exhalations, arising from the fish, during the operation of curing, are said to have a tendency to dissipate contagious disorders, and to be generally beneficial to the human constitution, which is here sometimes preserved to extreme LONGEVITY, for we find that, in 1784, Mr. Barrett died here, aged 100 years; in 1793, Matthew Champion, aged 111; in 1810, Mrs. Hunter, aged 102; in 1812, A. Royals, aged 103; and in 1824, Luke Waller, aged 105. The plague, however, is recorded as having raged here to a dreadful extent in the years 1349, 1579, and 1664, carrying off at each period upwards of 2,000 off the inhabitants.

The Borough of Yarmouth extends beyond the limits of the parish; South Town, or Little Yarmouth, on the opposite side of the river Yare, in Suffolk, being annexed to it in 1681, and the rest of Gorleston parish, in the same county, being added to its elective franchise by the Reform Bill, in 1832. The admiralty jurisdiction of the mayor and corporation, as conservators of the rivers, extends to Hardley Cross, on the Yare, St. Olave's Bridge, on the Waveney, and to Weybridge, on the Bure; and to perambulate these boundaries, a grand aquatic procession takes place yearly in August, when the corporation, after dining in great state, near the ruins of Burgh castle, finish the day, and the "Water Frolic," as it is called, with sailing and rowing matches, in the presence of thousands of gay and joyous spectators.

ANCIENT HISTORY:—From the appearance of the country, and an ancient chart supposed to be drawn about A. D. 1000, it is evident that a broad and extensive estuary, dissociated this part of the eastern coast, not only in the time of the Iceni, (its aboriginal inhabitants), but for a long period after the Saxon conquest; extending its mighty waters westward to the city of Norwich; northward to Caistor, Reedham, Herringby, and Strumpshaw; and southward to Gorleston, Burgh, Bungay, Harleston, and Haddiscoe. This large arm of the ocean, forming the grand receptacle of all the eastern rivers of Norfolk, (as it still continues, under the circumscribed form of the Yare) began to disappear early in the fifth century, when the sand collecting at its entrance, was, by the action of the waters, gradually formed into an island, which ultimately extended itself to the main land, and became the peninsula on which Yarmouth is founded; the term Iar or Yare, being conferred by the Saxons on the present narrow estuary, from the turgid appearance and dark hue of its waters. 'This redemption of the eastern valleys of Norfolk, is supposed, by most writers, to have been gradually effected by the layers of sand and silt, brought by the tides from other parts of the coast, and deposited here; but Mr. Robberds, in his Geological Observations, rebuts this opinion, and says, that as it is physically impossible for water to raise any permanent barrier above its own level, and as no sluice-gates, nor continuous line of artificial embankments have been raised, "it follows, of course, that the change here observed, is the result of a depression of the German Ocean itself, which is now at least forty feet below the height, where there is evidence of its having been stationary at some distant period." From a comparison of facts recorded at different intervals, he estimates the gradual fall of the level of the sea, at from 8 to 9 inches in every century; so that, according to this data, it must be about 6,000 years since it was here at its greatest elevation. He likewise asserts that similar traces of receding waves are observable on the shores of all the seas and gulphs of Europe, whilst an opposite effect is visible in the Indian and Pacific oceans.

The ROMANS, who held this country in subjection from about A.D. 80, till their final departure in 446, gave to the broad estuary, just described, the appellation of Garienis, and guarded its entrance on the north and south by two military stations at Caistor and Burgh, to one of which they gave the name of Garianonum; but historians are not agreed which of the two bore that name; Spelman and Parkin ascribing it to Caistor, and Camden, Ives, and other later antiquarians, to Burgh. It is probable, however, that both stations were garrisoned at the same time by the Roman Stablesian horse, for the purpose of keeping the conquered inhabitants in subjection, and guarding the shore from the predatory invasions of the confederated tribes of Saxons, Angles, and Jutes, who even at this early period often crossed from the opposite coasts of the German ocean, to plunder the fair territory of Britain. After the retirement of the Romans, who had been recalled by the intestine wars of Italy, Britain became an easy prey to the incursions of these tribes of northern marauders; and in '495, Cerdic, a Saxon.

prince, with Cenric his son, and a considerable body of soldiers whom he had transported in five ships, effected a landing on the sand bank, at the entrance of the estuary, and having put the Britons to flight, he commemorated his conquest, by naming the place where he landed, Cerdic Shore or Cerdic Sand. This sandy island had then become firm land, and so large as to confine the waters, at the outlet of the estuary, within two narrow channels, one passing on the north by Caistor, and the other on the south by Horleston; but the northern channel called Cock water, or Grub's haven, was afterwards choked up; and the Cerdic Sand became a peninsula, and the waters of the Bur, the Waveney, and the Wensum have since passed to the ocean through the present channel of the river Yare, which, above the town, still expands into a broad but shallow lake, 3 miles long and $1\frac{1}{2}$ broad, called the Breydon water, and navigable only for small craft, though the tide often flows up to Norwich. When the Saxons had gained a firm footing, they began to turn their attention to trade and commerce, and as the waters had receded from the Roman stations at Caistor and Burgh, they founded a new town on the west bank of the Yare, which they called in the Tentonic language, Jernud, since corrupted to Yarmouth; but the town was soon extended across the stream to Cerdic shore, which for some time had been the resort of fishermen from Norway, Holland, France, &c., who had erected on it booths or tents, for their temporary residence during the herring fishery; the place having been found convenient for drying nets and salting fish. The first houses are said to have been built near the spot now called Fulter's hill, so named, as tradition says, from the fisherman or merchant, who first settled there. The town, henceforth, continued gradually to increase; but of its local affairs, under the government of the Anglo-Saxons, scarcely anything is authentically known; and as a specimen of the traditional legends of this period, Samuel Henry Spelman has preserved the story of Lothbroch, the Dane, of whom it is said that, being hawking for birds near the islands of Denmark, he was driven by a sudden tempest across the sea, and entering the Yare, landed at Reedham, where the court of Edmund, king of the East Angles, was then kept. Lothbroch being received into court favour, frequently associated with Bern, the king's huntsman, whom he soon excelled; this creating envy in Bern, he murdered Lothbroch in the woods, but was detected by the affection of Lothbroch's dog; and being convicted, was committed to the mercy of the wind and waves, which carried him to Denmark, where, being examined on the rack concerning Lothbroch's death, he confessed his own guilt, and attributed it solely to king Edmund; in consequence of which, Hingvar and Hubba, two Danish chieftains, to revenge the death of their countryman, immediately raised an army of 20,000 men, and taking Bern for their guide, suddenly ravished all East Anglia, overcame Edmund took him prisoner, and soon afterwards beheaded him; and by these means put an end to the Saxon dynasty in East Anglia, about the year 870.

After the dissolution of the Saxon Heptarchy, and the consequent union of the kingdom under one sovereign, Yarmouth began to make rapid strides in the scale of commercial importance; and to settle the frequent disputes of its fishermen and merchants, certain port-reeves, or bailiffs, were sent by the barons of the Cinque Ports, invested with the necessary powers; but they staid only forty days during the herring season, viz., from Michaelmas to Martinmas. Subsequently, a free fair was established, and a burgh was founded, for the mutual consideration of comfort and defence. According to Domesday Book, the town belonged to the king in the reign of Edward the Confessor, (A.D. 1041,) and had a chapel dedicated to St. Bennet, and seventy burgesses, besides a number of soccagers.

About the year 1100, Bishop Herbert de Lozinga, the founder of Norwich cathedral, built here a church and priory, the former of which is now the parish church; and the black monks of the latter were in great repute for sanctity and devotion, being under the control of the Priory at Norwich. In 1109, Henry I. placed the town under the government of a provost, whose magisterial office was in or near the Broad-way, now called The Conge, and often styled, in old deeds, The King's Conge. King Henry thus took the town under his protection, for the purpose of terminating the frequent disputes between its inhabitants and the Barons of the Cinque Ports, who for a long period despatched bailiffs here to superintend and regulate the business transacted during the grand mart, or free fair, held yearly for the sale of herrings. The Cinque Ports appear to have exercised this prerogative long subsequent to the period when the town was constituted a borough; their bailiffs having been admitted into court, to hear and determine causes, in conjunction with the municipal magistrates. In 1208, King John, by a charter granted at Marlborough, constituted the town a free borough, and granted it many privileges, on condition of its paying to him and his heirs, a yearly fee-farm rent of £55, in lieu of all the customs arising from the port. Different charters, to the number of twenty-five, have been granted to the burgesses, by succeeding sovereigns, each conveying additional immunities, and the last (obtained from Queen Anne, in 1702) settling the municipal government as it now exists.—After the receipt of King John's charter, the burgesses made considerable progress in commerce, and formed themselves into guilds, or associations, for the protection of trade. In the succeeding reign of Henry III., two houses of black and grey friars were founded; and the long-subsisting disputes between the burgesses and the inhabitants on the west side of the river, n Little Yarmouth and Gorleston, broke out at intervals with such acrimony and violence, that the interference of royalty was called for. The King, consequently, instituted an inquiry into the pretensions of both parties, and a verdict was found, "that the haven of Yarmouth appertaineth of right to the burgesses, and that all wares and merchandizes ought to be unladen and sold in the borough." Henry III. afterwards granted the burgesses two charters of privileges, with the liberty of having a gaol, for the security of their own prisoners. Considering that Yarmouth was the key to the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, he also granted his letters patent to the burgesses, in 1260, to fortify the town with a WALL AND MOAT, and to use every precaution against a foreign enemy. These fortifications, however, do not appear to have been commenced till the 13th of Edward I. (1285,) when King Henry's tower was erected at the north east corner of St. Nicholas's churchyard; but the other works were subject to frequent interruptions, from a lack of money, and the intervention of the plague, and were not completed till the reign of Edward III. The wall and ditch encompassed the town on all sides but that next the river, and measured 2238 yards. The wall had ten gates, and sixteen towers, and the ditch was navigable for boats, and had a draw-bridge at each gate. A CASTLE was also erected near the centre of the town, surmounted by a beacon, and flanked at the corners by four turrets, or watch-towers. Thus fortified, the town was considered impregnable, until the introduction of cannon made it necessary to improve the works. On war being declared against France, in 1345, a large rampire was thrown up on the eastern side, and afterwards extended along the north and south walls. In 1588, when the Spanish Armada was hovering off the coast, it was deemed advisable to erect other works; for which purpose, the deputy-sheriffs and justices met, and assessed on the county the sum of £1375. 4s. 9d. A strong garrison was immediately quartered here, a boom laid across the river, and a mound of earth raised higher than the walls, called the South Mount, on which were placed several pieces of ordnance. Another mound, called the New Mount, was afterwards thrown up near the site of St. George's chapel, and a warlike ship was fitted out, at the expense of the town, to annoy the enemy at sea. Of these fortifications, a great part of the wall, and a few of the mutilated towers, still remain. (vide p. 238.) In 1550, the castle was used as the borough gaol; but during subsequent periods of alarm, it was again repaired. The upper part of it was taken down in 1620, and in the following year, the whole fabric was ordered to be dismantled and demolished. The north gate, taken down in 1807, was flanked with square towers, of curious workmanship, and is said to have been erected at the expense of persons employed in the revolting office of interring the dead, during the plague, which is said to have swept away 7000 of the inhabitants.

in 1349. The south gate, taken down in 1812, presented two massive round towers, flanking a square curtain, beneath which was the arch. The most perfect tower now standing is the south-east, which, like that at the north-west corner, is semicircular, having its diameter next the wall, and projecting inward beyond the rampart. It is quite entire, chequered with black and grey flints; the ground floor has been rendered habitable, and the upper apartments are used as a warehouse. The modern defence of Yarmouth was by three Batteries, erected on the verge of the beach, during the American war, and mounted with thirty-two pounders. The harbour was also defended on each side by two bastions, of a mural construction; but these, as well as the town-batteries, were dismounted after the general peace, and the guns removed to Woolwich. The Royal Barracks, on the South Denes, form a large quadrangular building, with piazzas and a detached range of offices, built in 1809, at the cost of £120,000, and used as a naval hospital, until Saint Nicholas' Gatt, by shoaling its waters, rendered that entrance to the roads unsafe for men of war; and the Admiralty consequently ordered this establishment to be converted into Foot Barracks; but it is now commonly unoccupied. In 1815, upwards of 600 of the wounded Waterloo heroes were lodged here. The Royal Armoury, in South Town, was built in 1806, at the cost of £15,000, for the reception of naval and military stores, but it is now disused. It is a brick building, with a dwelling-house and offices, enclosing a court-yard; and, during the war, about 10,000 stand of arms were arranged in it.

Though many inquisitions had been taken by royal authority, for settling the disputes between Yarmouth and the Cinque Ports, they broke out again in an open rupture, in the 25th of Edward I., when Hollingshed says, "the King passing into Flanders to assist the Earl thereof, against the King of France, had no sooner landed, than the men of the Ports, and those of Yarmouth, through an old grudge long pending between them, fell together upon the sea, and fought with such fury, that notwithstanding the King's commands to the contrary, 25 ships of Yarmouth were burnt." In this desperate encounter, many lives were lost, and goods to the value of £15,356 were destroyed; but we are told by Manship, that "a grievous requital was not long after made by the men of this burgh, against the Portsmen." These disagreements continued until Queen Elizabeth adjusted matters to the satisfaction of both parties, after a quarrel of long duration, much bloodshed, and great loss of property. In the same reign the ship carpenters of Yarmouth were in such repute, that they received orders to prepare a large and very elegant ship, to be sent to Norway for the King's daughter, who was to marry Prince Edward. In 1287, the Church, and a large portion of the town, were inundated by the sea, during a tremendous storm. In 1294, the French attempted to invade England with a fleet of 400 ships, assisted by the treachery of Tuberville, an English Knight; but the plot miscarried, and the men of Yarmouth, putting to sea a fleet of armed ships, captured and burnt Cherburgh, in Normandy, while a fleet from the Cinque Ports ravaged the whole coast of France, within twenty miles of Dieppe. For this and other services rendered by the burgesses, Edward I. granted them two more charters, one in 1292, for acquitting them of tollage, aids, and other taxes; and the other in 1306, for regulating their trade and commerce, and the suppression of regrating within the town.

In 1332, a new controversy arose between the burgesses and the inhabitants of Little Yarmouth and Gorleston, the latter of whom were tenants of the Earl of Richmond. The Earl, as lord of the half hundred of Lothingland, on the west side of the Yare, persisted in claiming one-half of the haven, and the burgesses as strenuously opposed him. At length the contest was decided by the Lord Chancellor, in favour of the burgesses, to whom Edward III. immediately granted a new charter of confirmation. Similar disputes, however, arose in the reign of Elizabeth, when the "foot ferry" across the Yare was conceded to Gorleston; and in the reign of Charles II., when Little Yarmouth, now called South Town, was finally incorporated with the borough, by letters patent, dated 1681. The burgesses were afflicted with another long and turbulent dispute respecting the boundary of Yarmouth and Caistor, which had formerly been marked by the channel of the north haven, which was choked up, and converted into pasture land soon after the Norman Conquest. After many acts of open hostility, in the time of Edward I. and subsequent reigns, a royal commission, in 1546, determined the boundary, and ordered a ditch to be cut along it, and kept in repair at the expense of the burgesses of Yarmouth and the Lord of Caistor. The town was plunged into another litigious contest, respecting a sand bank, or small island, about a mile square, which was thrown up by the ocean in 1578, opposite the village of Seratty, and having become firm, grass grew, and sea fowls built their nests upon it. Parties in summer went upon it for their recreation; and the corporation, thinking it permanent, formally took possession of it in 1580. In this appropriation, they were opposed by Sir Edward Clere, who claimed it as part of his manor of Seratty, and accordingly placed a frame of timber upon it, in support of his right. The litigation of the case afforded high sport for the lawyers, who, however, were put to their acutus ultro, to determine, whether the bottom of the sea, if the water thought proper to leave it, could come under the denomination of either waif, wreck, or flotsam. In the midst of the contention, nature easily determined a point which they found so difficult to decide,—for a boisterous storm with a strong easterly wind, in a single night, swept away the whole island!!

THE HAVEN.—In addition to the grievous and expensive litigations already noticed, the inhabitants of Yarmouth, from the foundation of the town to the present century, have experienced great difficulties, and incurred continual and heavy expenses in preserving the Haven from decay, owing chiefly to the level state of the adjoining coast; the extensive shoals of sand, silt, and gravel in the roads, and the scanty flow of water even at the highest spring tides, which seldom exceed six or seven feet, whilst the neap tides only rise about four feet, so that the water on the bar of sand at the haven's mouth, is not often more than 11 feet deep during the spring floods. When the north channel of the estuary had entirely choked up, as noticed at page 242, a powerful impulse was given to the inland waters down the south channel of the Yare, which then emptied itself into the ocean near Newton, a hamlet which was situated near Corton, in Suffolk, more than four miles south of the present haven, but long since swallowed up by the sea, which has left no vestiges of it but a small plot of land called Newton green, and the base of a stone cross. This channel subsequently forced an opening a little further to the south, beyond Corton; but from its great length, and the many natural obstructions, it began, about 1337, to be so choked with sand banks at the entrance, as to prevent the navigation from being continued with safety, and in about ten years the trade of the town was entirely stopped. Under these distressing circumstances, the inhabitants obtained permission from Edward III. to cut a new haven opposite the village of Corton; but this, after costing an immense sum of money, became so filled with stones and gravel in 1373, as to be navigable only for boats. In 1393, a second artificial haven was cut across the Denes, a little to the north of the present foot-ferry; and to assist in defraying the expense, Richard II. empowered the corporation to levy a tax of 12d. upon every last of herrings brought to Yarmouth during the succeeding five years. Though this haven passed by a short and straight channel to the ocean, all the pains taken to preserve it were fruitless, for it followed the fate of the former in 1409, when Henry IV. granted them leave to make another channel near Newton, and gave £500 towards the expense, out of the receipts of his customs. But in the course of a century, the charges of this haven were so oppressive, that the commerce of the port was almost ruined, and the inhabitants were so reduced as to be unable to pay the common subsidies of Government, from which the King generously exempted them. They were in this forlorn state when Edward IV. assisted them with a gift of 2000 marks, and a remission of the fee-farm rent for twenty years. But these and many subsequent aids, were all unavailing; and in 1508, the burgesses were obliged to petition for a fourth haven, which was cut much nearer the town; but this was abandoned in 1528, when they made another cut opposite the south end of Gorleston. This failed like its predecessors, and the burgesses, in utter despair, called to their council and assistance the principal persons in the adjoining counties, and after much consideration, it was resolved to try another cut a mile nearer the town. Towards the expense, they sold the plate, ornaments, vestments, and beds of St. Nicholas's Church, and whatever also they could turn into money. By these means, and private donations, they raised the sum of £1516. 9s. 7d. This cut across the South Denes, nearly a quarter of a mile below the south gate, where the trench is still visible, was commenced in 1549, but the work was soon interrupted by the great rebellion under Kett, the tanner, who sending a party of men to Yarmouth, to demand a supply of provisions, and not finding the people well affected towards them, they surprised and captured the town bailiffs, and carried them to their camp on Mousehold heath, near Norwich. The bailiffs soon afterwards made their escape, and strongly fortified the town against the rebels, who, in revenge came in the night, and breaking in upon the works at the haven, destroyed the greatest part of the implements and materials collected by the industrious townsmen, who, with their magistrates, kept watch day and night upon the walls till Kett was taken and the rebellion crushed, as noticed at a preceding page. The works at the haven were renewed in the following year, but the funds being exhausted, they were suspended till 1553. In 1554, it was agreed that each alderman should find two men, and each of the common council one man, for actual labour until such time as the haven should discharge itself into the ocean, but after continuing the works till 1557, and expending £6300 of the common stock, besides other moneys and contributions, they found, by sad experience, that the place was unsuited for the purpose, and were consequently obliged to stop up the haven with furze and rubbish, which were washed away fourteen days after by a great flood, in which the town was so deeply inundated, "that men might row up and down the streets, and several vessels were forced from their moorings and lodged upon the Denes." In 1559, having somewhat improved their finances, the burgesses, with a perseverance highly commendable, determined on beginning the present haven, (the seventh formed by artificial means,) and in this their efforts were ultimately crowned with success. The work was commenced by re-opening and deepening the channel which had been cut in 1528 opposite the parsonage house at Gorleston. In this scheme the people were enjoined to assist generally in the work on the 2nd. of March, which they did to the number of one thousand men, women and children; and in the short space of two days, their united efforts were so successful, that the water issued forth into the sea, leaving a depth of ten feet at ebb tide. A pier was then erected to prevent the current from running southward into the old channel, and the stones and rubbish of the ruined church of St. Mary in South Town were employed in strengthening it; but after an expense of £2600, the water, in 1567, forced a passage down the old channel towards Corton. After this disaster the unfortunate burgesses engaged Joyce Johnson, a celebrated Dutch engineer, who commenced his operations by driving and hedging down large stakes and piles to make a firm and substantial foundation. This was first done on the north, and afterwards on the south side of the entrance, for the purpose of forcing the reflux tide to run out by a north-east channel. The next step was the erecting of piers and a jetty, for preventing the haven from being overflowed, and preserving at all times of tide, a sufficient depth of water for the ships to float at their moorings. The North Pier and the Jetty (see p. 237.) have since been rebuilt. The South Pier, near Gorleston, has been greatly enlarged; and a continuation of it, in a fine curve, carried up the river, forms an extensive and excellent wharf. It is constructed chiefly of large timber trees, joined and braced together by cross beams and iron work, and it measures 340 yards long, 30 feet broad, and 30 feet deep, of which latter, 26 feet are generally under water. The expense of cleansing the harbour and repairing the piers, quays, &c. averages about £2000 per annum; and according to Swinden's history, no less than £241,578. 9s. 11d. was thus expended, from 1567 to 1770. For meeting this vast expenditure, various powers have been granted since 1769, by eleven acts of parliament, the last of which, obtained in 1800, appoints twelve "Haven and Pier Commissioners," consisting of three members of each of the corporations of Yarmouth and Norwich, and three magistrates from each of the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk. They have the power of levying a harbour tax of one shilling upon every chaldron of coals, also on every last of grain and weigh of salt, and on every ton of goods of a different description, (except fish) which are unladen in the harbour. These dues produce about £10,000 per annum; but as the term of the act is nearly expired, a new one is about to be applied for, with much smaller harbour dues, so as to enable this port to compete on more equal terms with the new navigation from Lowestoft to Norwich, in opposing which, the corporation of Yarmouth fruitlessly expended £8000. The corporation dues, payable under an act of the 5th of Queen Anne, and arising chiefly from 6d. per chaldron on all coals imported by non-freemen, and from tonnage, mettage, cranage, ballast dues, &c. levied on all vessels using the port, whether belonging to freemen or not, amount to about £2000 per annum, the whole of which is expended in municipal and church affairs, though originally imposed chiefly for the use and improvement of the haven, quays, &c.

Among the many difficulties connected with this haven, the contest between Yarmouth and Lowestoft, concerning Kirkley roads, was not one of the least. When the haven at Corton had become so much obstructed with sand and gravel, that the Yarmouth ships were obliged to unlade their cargoes in Kirkley roads, the burgesses petitioned Edward III. to unite that portion of the sea-coast to Yarmouth, to which his Majesty acceded, (after an opposition of six years,) by granting them a charter, in 1372, empowering them, on paying to him and his successors 100s. yearly, to receive the same customs there as were collected at Yarmouth, and to seize the ships and goods of all defaulters, who bought or sold within seven leuks of the same. This charter excited much animosity and litigation between the men of Yarmouth and Lowestoft; and such was their various success, that the charter was repealed in 1376, 1381, and 1383, and re-granted in 1378, 1382, and 1386; since which Yarmouth has continued to enjoy the customs and other privileges which the charter confers, although much altercation was afterwards carried on between the two places. Towards the end of the controversy, there was much disputation respecting the true situation of Kirkley road; the Yarmouth men insisting that it was opposite the village of Kirkley, about a mile south of Lowestoft; and the Lowestoft men as strenuously asserting, that the real name of that part of the sea was Pakefield bay; that in consequence of Kirkley having been formerly a town of considerable trade in the herring fishery, it gave to all the sea thereabouts, even as far as Yarmouth, the name of Kirkley sea; part of which, namely, that situated a little to the south of where the haven's mouth then was, was called Kirkley road, and then annexed to Yarmouth haven. It was also alleged by the men of Yarmouth, that the seven leuks or miles were not to be measured from the quay of their town, but from the haven's mouth, which would have included within their port the town of Lowestoft. It was finally determined, "that the admeasurement should take place from the Crane Key, in the haven of Great Yarmouth, where the herring fair was usually held; and at the end thereof, a post should be erected, to denote the termination, within which extent the bailiffs of the burgh should enjoy the privileges and immunities afforded them by their charter, but no further." The jurisdiction of the haven, as now fixed, includes that part of the sea called Yarmouth roads, extending northward to Scratby, and southward to Corton, in Suffolk.

Though Yarmouth never obtained the honour to which it long aspired, of being reckoned one of the Cinque Ports, it was evidently an important NAVAL STATION, at an early period. At the commencement of the long and glorious reign of Edward III., it had 80 ships with forecastles, and 40 without. In 1337, the Yarmouth fleet, consisting of 20 men of war, convoyed Edward the Third's plenipotentiaries to the court of Hanault; and on its return, took two Flemish ships, laden with men, money, and provisions, for Scotland. In 1342, the King embarked on board this fleet, on his expedition to Brittany; but while he lay entrenched before Venues, Prince Lewis of Spain, dispersed the fleet, and thus drove Edward to great straits for want of provisions. For the memorable siege of Calais, in 1346, the principal sea ports, were commanded to provide a certain number of ships and men, and the quota furnished by Yarmouth, was not equalled by London or any other port in the kingdom. The north sea fleet consisted on that occasion, of 240 sail, out of which number Yarmouth supplied 43, on board which were 1075 sailors. John Perebourn, a burghess of the town, was the admiral, to which rank he had been elevated in 1340, when he defeated the French fleet off Sluys, in Holland, after a desperate engagement in which the French lost 230 ships and 30,000 men. In this fatal battle, was used that destructive preparation, Greek fire, composed of sulphur, bitumen, naphtha, and some other ingredients, combustible under water, and burning with such intense heat, as to consume stones and metals, and consequently, if it fell on a warrior, would penetrate his armour, and peel the flesh from his bones with exquisite torture. One Dupre, some years ago, discovered this lost invention, and offered his secret to the French government, who humanely refused to receive it, and gave him a pension not to disclose this horrid method of destroying mankind. During the late war, Yarmouth became a grand station for part of our navy; and its relative consequence may be seen by an act passed in 1797, requiring 17,948 men to be raised in the sea ports according to the tonnage of each place. The quota for London was, 5725; Liverpool, 1711; Newcastle, 1240; Hull, 731; Sunderland, 669; Bristol, 666; Whitby, 573; and Yarmouth, 506. It was formerly supposed that ships of the line could not ride safely in Yarmouth Roads; but it has been discovered that they afford a safe anchorage for a numerous fleet, immediately opposite the town; and consequently they are a great rendezvous for the colliers which are constantly passing to and from London, and other ports. But though this part of the roads and the haven afford a secure asylum from the wasting elements and ruthless storm, the coast is the most dangerous in Britain, especially from Winterton-ness to Flamborough Head, between which, for a distance of 140 miles, the land retreats inward, forming a large bay, the bottom of which is the metaris-estuarium.

Shipwrecks.—A melancholy instance of the dangers of this part of the sea, occurred in 1692, when a fleet of 200 sail of colliers, having left the roads with a fair wind, were suddenly assailed by a violent gale from the north-east. After they had passed Winterton-ness, some of them tacked, and arrived back safe in the roads; the remainder pushed out to sea, but were unable, through its violence, to clear the ness to the southward.

The night was excessively dark, and missing the lights, few could find their way, some rode it out at a distance, but the rest, amounting to more than 140 sail, were driven ashore, completely wrecked, and scarcely any of their crews saved. At the same unfortunate juncture, a number of coasting vessels, laden with grain, bound to Holland, from Lynn and Wells, having just left the roads, experienced the same disaster, so that in the whole, more than 200 vessels and 1000 people were lost in one fatal night. In 1554, fifty sail of ships were lost here in one day; and a similar catastrophe betel a larger number in 1790. The dangers of this part of the sea, arise chiefly from the formation of the coast, and the course which vessels navigating it are obliged to steer. If vessels leaving Flamborough Head, proceed southward, and meet with a hard gale from any point between N.E. and S.E.; or, if leaving Yarmouth Roads, proceeding northward, they are retarded by the wind blowing hard from the N.E., so that they cannot weather Winterton-ness, they become embayed, and the only chance of safety is to run for Lynn-deeps; in attempting which, they are in danger of foundering on the rocks near Cromer, or stranding on the flat shores between Cromer and Wells. Captain George William Manby, who has long held the office of barrack master at Yarmouth, has happily succeeded in perfecting a plan for saving the lives of shipwrecked sailors. His apparatus, under the care of proper persons paid by Government, is stationed at almost every port on the British coast, and has been the means of preserving many valuable lives. His humanity and ingenuity have been rewarded by Parliament. The life-boat, stationed on the beach near the Jetty, is built after the plan of the first of these properly named vessels, invented in 1790, by Mr. Greathead, of South Shields.

In 1352, the corporation of Yarmouth gave to the College of Windsor, a last of red herrings, and agreed to render the same quantity yearly, as a mark of their attachment to Edward III., who had been baptized there. Owing to the Dean and Canons making frequent complaints of the quality of the herrings, they were subsequently changed for a payment of £10 per annum, which still continues. In 1368, John Lawes, a mariner, was executed here, for exporting seven sacks of wool, without paying the customs. In the reign of Richard II., the charters of the borough were twice repealed, but as often re-granted and confirmed. During the rebellion of Wat Tyler, a party of the insurgents under Lettester, the Norwich dyer, marched into Yarmouth, and after plundering many of the houses, broke open the gaol, executed three of the prisoners, and set the rest at liberty. The townsmen having armed themselves attacked and routed the rebels without the walls, and they were shortly afterwards completely overthrown by the warlike Bishop of Norwich. In 1395, several ships were captured on the coast by Danish Pirates, who demanded large sums of money for the ransome of their prisoners. A large whale was cast on shore, in 1475. The porpoise, being then a favourite dish at civic feasts, the burgesses presented one of these sea-creatures to the Earl of Orford in 1491. The French Queen, and the Duke and Duchess of Suffolk, were sumptuously entertained here in 1515, during a stay of three days. The seven monastic institutions of Yarmouth were suppressed at the general dissolution in 1536; and in 1538, the Church was stripped of its images, pictures, and richly decorated altar. In 1541, Thomas Myleyn and Thomas Hammond were fined twenty shillings each for having bargained and sold a last of white herrings in the Church during divine service. The brass plates were removed from the tombs in 1551, and cast into weights for the use of the town. The Grammar School was founded in the same year; but in 1579, it was shut up for six months during the prevalence of the plague, when booths were erected on the quays for the safety of the fishermen in the herring season.

In 1574, the town was so full of Protestant refugees from France and the Netherlands, that the bailiffs published an edict forbidding the influx of any more of these foreigners, many of whom were ingenious artizans, and by settling in Norwich and its neighbourhood, greatly improved the staple manufactures of this county. In 1580, the fishermen caught and brought into the haven, during a single tide, no fewer than 2,000 lasts of herrings. In 1584, twenty-four tons of stone were brought from France for the use of the piers, at the cost of £144. In 1625, an order was made that the poor of this town should be prohibited from marrying, unless they could show, by the handwriting of the alderman and chief constable of the ward in which they resided, that they were capable of maintaining a family.

During the CIVIL WARS between Charles I. and Parliament, Yarmouth declared for the latter, on the 9th of July, 1642, and the town was consequently put into a state of defence. The houses and workshops adjoining the walls were taken down, the gates rampired and locked, and the east leaf of the bridge drawn up every night. On October 12th, a ship with 140 soldiers, collected by the Queen in Holland, was compelled, through stress of weather and leakage, to put into the harbour, where she was captured by the inhabitants, who sent the men and arms to London. In December, £1200 was assessed on the inhabitants for the fortifications; and they had afterwards to pay £34. 16s. 5d. weekly to what was called the parliamentary state. In February, 1644, twenty fishing barks belonging to Yarmouth were taken by a small fleet of Royalists, under the command of Captain Allen, of Lowestoft. Additional fortifications were made in 1645, and breastworks and platforms built at the sea-side. In 1648, the burgesses raised 600 foot and 50 horse; and in the following year, after Cromwell had secretly solicited and contrived the King's death, they received orders not to proclaim the Prince of Wales, or any other person, to be King of this realm. On the death of Oliver Cromwell, in 1659, an address was unanimously voted by the Corporation to his son Richard, testifying in the most obsequious terms their readiness to submit to his government, and in the fanatical phraseology of the times, designating his deceased father as "the good, the great man, the captain of the Lord's host who is fallen in Israel," and deprecating the Royalists as the "sons of Belial," and "the children of darkness." Notwithstanding the contemptible epithets applied to the Royal party in this fulsome epistle, the corporation were politic enough to present a congratulatory address to Charles II. on his restoration in 1660, when they dutifully surrendered to his Majesty the fee-farm rent which they had purchased of parliament, together with all arrears, and a present of £500. As a further mark of loyalty, they ordered, in January, 1661, that the name of Henry Cromwell, as High Steward of Yarmouth, should be erased from their records, and that their address to Richard Cromwell should be "utterly disclaimed, obliterated, and made void." By these means they gained the favour of Charles II., who, in 1663, granted them a new charter with more extensive privileges. Judge Bradshaw, who signed the death warrant of King Charles, resided here in the early part of his life, and his family retained some property in the town many years after the restoration. Oliver Cromwell was a frequent visitor here, at the house of his Presbyterian friend and counsellor, John Carter, Esq. This house, still standing on the South Quay, formed part of the precinct of the Grey Friary, granted at the dissolution to Thomas Lord Cromwell, but it was rebuilt in 1591. At one of the meetings held here by Cromwell and his officers, the death of the unfortunate King is said to have been proposed and determined on; and an upper room in the house is pointed out as the place in which this sanguinary act was contemplated. Mrs. Cromwell, lineally descended from the usurper, died here in 1750.

In 1669, a great number of farthings were coined here for the use of the poor, which so offended the king, that it cost the corporation £90 before they could obtain his pardon. In 1671, Charles II. visited the town, and the corporation presented him with four golden herrings, and a chain of £250 value, for which his majesty knighted three of the burgesses; and by his charter of 1684, he empowered them to elect a mayor, instead of the two bailiffs, and to hold two fairs yearly, with a court of Pie-poudre; but these privileges were abrogated by James II., and not restored till the reign of Queen Anne. James II. also removed eight aldermen, and sixteen common councilmen, and placed others in their stead. On Oct. 18th, 1692, William III. landed here with his retinue, and was sumptuously entertained by the corporation. In 1711, an act was obtained for making a causeway across the Denes to Caistor; and in 1712, twenty people were drowned by the upsetting of a wherry, on Breydon water. The mayor's gold chain was purchased, by subscription, in 1734, at the cost of £166; and a silver car, double gilt, was presented to the town, in 1744, by Samuel Killest, Esq., as the ensignia of the admiralty court.

Methodism was first preached here, in 1754, by Thomas Olivers, an itinerant preacher, who, after the church service was concluded, assembled a numerous meeting in the Market-place; but, as soon as he had read his text, a clamour arose among the multitude, and he was forthwith mobbed out of the town. A more successful attempt to introduce the doctrines and forms of John Wesley, was afterwards made by Mr. Howell Harris, who had previously been a preacher in South Wales, and arrived here, in 1760, at the head of a volunteer corps, raised by himself for the defence of the nation, and then attached to a regular regiment. Finding that there were no Methodists in Yarmouth, and hearing of the treatment shewn to Olivers, he secretly caused the town crier to give notice that a Methodist teacher would preach to the people, in the Market-place, on a certain day. The passion for novelty in some, and a feeling of curiosity and mischief in others, attracted a large assembly to the spot, many of them armed with sticks, brick-bats, and other weapons. Mr. Harris, apparently unconcerned at their proceedings, had been exercising his men at a short distance from the mob, and when the clock struck the appointed hour, he quietly walked into the midst of the crowd, and coolly demanded the reason of its assembling. Those nearest him replied, that a Methodist had advertised his preaching there at that hour, but it was well he had not come, for, if he had made his appearance, they certainly would not have left him alive. Mr. Harris expressed his sorrow for their disappointment, and said, if they would favour him with their attention, he would give them a little friendly advice. His men then surrounded him; and, mounting a table, he proceeded to sing a hymn, in which the soldiers most zealously joined; a prayer succeeded, and the military preacher then exhorted the people to abstain from their wicked courses. The wondering mob, awe-struck by the presence of the military, and subdued by the novelty of the scene, offered no opposition; their hostile intentions were abandoned, and the preacher, after a long and uninterrupted hearing, succeeded in converting many, and gained the esteem of all: thus did Methodism gain that firm footing in Yarmouth which it has ever since retained.

In 1766, and 7, owing to a lack of employment, and the high price of provisions, a subscription was raised for supplying the poor with bread, at about half the current price. On Feb. 2nd, 1791, a raging tide inundated the Denes and the meadows to such a depth, that boats rowed on South Town turnpike. On January 19th, 1795, the Princess of Holland, her son, and several of the Dutch nobility landed here, after their escape from Holland, and were received with great hospitality. The Hereditary Prince and the Stadtholder, arrived from Harwich two days afterwards, and accompanied the party to Colchester. The Duke of York arrived next day, but finding the royal refugees were gone, he followed their route, after taking some refreshment, and receiving the acclamations of the multitude, who took the horses from his carriage and drew him in triumph round the Market place. On June 1st, 1797, a mutiny broke out on board the North Sea fleet, stationed in Yarmouth roads, and several vessels hoisted the red flag of defiance, but it happily subsided before much damage was done, and the squadron was speedily called into active and successful service; for in October, Admiral Duncan, after defeating the Dutch, returned here with the following prizes, viz. seven sail of the line, two of 56 guns each, one of 44, and one of 32. In the year 1800, Lord Nelson was presented with the freedom of the borough, and in 1801, he arrived here with his flag on board the London of 98 guns, to join the fleet under Admirals Dickson and Parker. The Rows or alleys here were first numbered in 1804, and in 1805 a tremendous storm nearly destroyed the old jetty. The King of Sweden having abdicated his throne, landed here Nov. 14th, 1810, under the title of Count Gottorp. On April 19th, 1814, the return of peace and the restoration of Louis XVIII. to the throne of France, were celebrated here by a public dinner, purchased by subscription at the cost of £1106. 8s. 6d. and spread out on 58 tables along the South Quay, where no fewer than 8023 persons made an excellent repast of roast beef, plum-pudding, and ale,—the standard fare of old England. In the evening, the effigy of Napoleon was consumed in a bonfire on the Denes.

The first stone of the NORFOLK NAVAL COLUMN, to the memory of the gallant NELSON, was laid on August 15th, 1817, by the Hon Colonel Wodehouse. This beautiful monumental pillar stands on the South Denes, about a mile from the town, and was erected by the contributions of the gentlemen of Norfolk, under the direction of Wm. Wilkins, Esq. the architect. It is of the Grecian Doric order, elegantly fluted, and 144 feet in height, ascended by an easy flight of 270 steps, and commanding an extensive view of the ocean, and of the country as far as Norwich. Upon the plinth are the names of the four ships "Vanguard, Captain, Elephant, and Victory," on board which the heroic Admiral's flag was so valorously displayed; and on the coping of the terrace, are inscribed the names of the four principal battles "Aboukir, St. Vincent, Copenhagen, and Trafalgar." On each of the four sides of the pedestal is a flight of steps leading to the terrace, which affords a promenade round the shaft. The roof is supported by Caryatides, sur mounted by a ball and figure of Britannia, exquisitely cast, holding in her hand a trident and laurel wreath. On the east side of the pedestal are the names of the committee, architect, &c. and on the west side, is a very elegant Latin inscription from the pen of Mr. Sergeant Frere, of which the following is a translation:—

HORATIO LORD NELSON,

Whom, as her first and proudest champion in naval fight,
 Britain honoured, while living, with her favour,
 and, when lost, with her tears;
 Of whom, signalized by his triumphs in all lands,
 the whole earth
 stood in awe on account of the tempered firmness of his counsels, and the undaunted ardour of his courage;
 This great man

NORFOLK

boasts her own, not only as born there of a respectable family, and as there having received his early education, but her own also in talents, manners, and mind.

The glory of so great a name though sure long to outlive all monuments of brass and stone, his fellow countrymen of Norfolk have resolved to commemorate by this column, erected by their joint contributions

He was born in the year 1758;
 Entered on his profession in 1771;
 And was concerned in nearly 150 naval engagements with the enemy,
 Being conqueror, among various other occasions,
 At Aboukir, August, 1798;
 At Copenhagen, April, 1801;
 And at Trafalgar, October, 1805.

Which last victory, the crown of so many glorious achievements, he consecrated by a death, equally mournful to his country, and honourable to himself.

TRADE AND COMMERCE:—Yarmouth is very advantageously situated for commerce, particularly to the north of Europe; and lying on the estuary of the rivers Yare, Bure, Waveney, and Wensum, which are navigable for keels of from 20 to 40 tons burthen, it has a ready communication with the interior.* The number of registered vessels belonging to the port is about 530, exclusive of fishing smacks and small craft, and the seamen are considered amongst the most able and expert navigators in the kingdom.
 The shipwrights are also much esteemed for their professional knowledge. From 30 to 40 vessels, many of them from 300 to 500 tons burthen, are built here yearly, for London and other merchants; but the number launched here in 1818 amounted to nearly one hundred. Two large Bonding warehouses or

* During the spring floods, vessels of 60 or 70 tons may get up to Norwich.

South Town quay, were built some years ago by Messrs. Fellowes and Barth, and Saunders and Son; and there is one on the South Denes belonging to the Custom house, a large and handsome edifice on the South Quay. In its coasting trade Yarmouth imports about 100,000 chaldron of coals yearly for supplying a great part of this and the adjacent county; and exports annually from 3 to 400,000 quarters of barley, malt, wheat, flour, beans, peas, and rye. The coasting vessels are generally from 70 to 100 tons; but ships of a much larger description are employed in performing foreign voyages to Russia, Sweden, Norway, Holland, Hamburg, &c. There are nine windmills on the Denes, and three in South Town, most of them very lofty, and each capable of grinding from 70 to 80 quarters of wheat per week. On Cobholm Island are the silk works of E. Preston, Esq. formerly carried on by Bridget Rendish, the eccentric and enthusiastic grand daughter of Oliver Cromwell. On the Denes are the extensive silk mills erected by Messrs. Grout, Baylis, and Co., of Norwich, in 1818, but considerably enlarged in 1825, so that they now give employment to about 700 men, women, and children. But the chief business of the port lies in its extensive and unrivalled visnaries, which have been a constant and uninterrupted source of wealth and employment to the inhabitants, from the foundation of the borough to the present time.

THE MACKEREL FISHERY, upon this coast, commences in the last week of April, and terminates in the first week of July, during which period it employs about 80 decked boats or luggers, of from 30 to 50 tons, each carrying a crew of ten men, and built at the cost of from £300 to £500, (exclusive of fishing tackle,) being of excellent workmanship, and calculated for fast sailing. Every boat is furnished with from 80 to 100 nets, each of which is about 20 yards long and 8½ deep; they are fastened in length to a wear rope by cords or seasonings, and are floated by corks at intervals of a few feet from each other, whilst the wear rope, (nearly a mile and half in length,) is supported by small tubs or buoys, about 35 yards distant from each other. These boats fish from 30 to 40 miles off the shore, and mackerel are brought in every morning, often in very large quantities, and sold on the beach to the highest bidder, after which they are conveyed in fast sailing Cutters, and some by land carriage, to London and other markets, but about 25 of the boats discharge their mackerel on the fishing station, into cutters, which for greater despatch are often towed by a steam packet to London. The mackerel caught here in 1825, sold for about £17,000. Yarmouth Roads also abound in sprats, cod, skate, turbot, soles, eels, whittings, and shrimps.

The HERRING FISHERY, begins a few days before Michaelmas, and ends about the last week in November. This prolific source of wealth to the trader, employs about 120 luggers or decked boats of from 30 to 50 tons, belonging to Yarmouth besides about 40 cobles employed by the merchants, but belonging to Whitby, Scarbro', and other places in Yorkshire. Each of these vessels carry on an average 10 men, and from 60 to 70 nets, each 14 yards long upon the rope, and fastened together and floated in the water in the same manner as the mackerel nets just described. Providing themselves with a sufficient quantity of salt, in the event of being kept long out of the harbour, these vessels proceed to sea, and generally take their drift, as it is termed, about 8 or 10 leagues to the north-east of Yarmouth; but at some periods they meet with fish much nearer home. Early in the evening, the nets are thrown over the side of the boats, which are steered away under an easy sail, and hauled or drawn up again at day-light, when the success of the cast is ascertained: a single boat has thus been known to take in one night, 12 or 14 lasts of herrings.* The boats generally land their herrings every morning upon the beach, whence they are carried to the fishing houses and salted. After remaining 50 hours, they are washed in vats, then spit-ted through the head or gills, and hung up in tiers reaching to the top of the building; after which fires of oak billets are kindled under them, but extinguished two or three times during the operation, to allow the oil or fat to drip from the herrings, until they are properly smoked,† which usually occupies 9 or 10 days; they are then packed into barrels, ready for exportation or home consumption. This fishery gives employment to upwards of 1600 fishermen, exclusive of about 100 ferrymen; 160 men and 400 women employed in the curing houses, and a considerable number of rope and twine spinners, net makers,

* A last of white herrings is 13,200 fish; the long tale hundred being here 132. A barrel of red herrings contains from 600 to 1000 fish. Ten of the largest make a last of red herrings.

† William Buckels, a Swede, who died in the year 1397, was supposed to have been the inventor of pickling herrings. But in Leland's Collectanea, Vol. III. p. 173, it is recorded as a fact, that pickled herrings were sold as early as A. D. 1273. It may fairly be presumed that preserving herrings, by smoking and drying, if not by pickling, is more ancient than has been recorded. Mr. Thomas Nashe, in a pamphlet he published in the year 1599, entitled "Lenten Stuffe, containing the description and first procreation of the town of Great Yarmouth, with a new play of the praise of red herrings," ascribes the discovery to accident, by a fisherman having hung some up in his cabin, where, "what with his firing and smoking, or smokie-firing, in that his narrow lobby, his herrings, which were as white as whalebone, when he hung them up, now looked as red as a lobster." The same facetious author, in enumerating the excellencies of herrings, says, "a red herring is wholesome in a frosty morning: it is most precious fish-merchandise, because it can be carried through all Europe. No where are they so well cured as at Yarmouth. The poorer sort make it three parts of their sustenance. It is every man's money, from the King to the peasant. The round or cob, dried and beaten to powder, is a cure for the stone. Rub a quart pot or any measure round about the mouth with a red herring, the beer shall never foam or froth in it. A red herring drawn on the ground will lead hounds a false scent. A broiled herring is good for the rheumatism."

and menders, basket makers, coopers, &c. Owing to the Dutch, French, and other fishermen being now engaged in this fishery, the exports from Yarmouth to foreign countries have somewhat declined; but they still amount to from 30 to 40,000 barrels yearly. The home consumption has of late years greatly increased, so that, in good seasons, from 60 to 70,000 barrels are sent coastwise to various parts of the kingdom. During the last seven years, many of the Yarmouth fishing merchants have sent their boats to the coast of Yorkshire in August, and brought the fish here to be reded, but these summer herrings, are much inferior to those caught here at Michaelmas; though by glutting the market, they often cause a reduction in the price of the latter.

A few of the spirited merchants of Yarmouth, formerly embarked in the North Sea Fishery, near Brassey, one of the Shetland Islands, to which their boats proceeded about the month of June. This fishery was chiefly monopolized by the Dutch till the beginning of the 17th century, after which it was regulated by an act of Parliament, and the merchants had a bounty allowed them for encouragement, according to the tonnage of their boats, and the number of barrels caught; but the act was repealed and the bounty discontinued some years ago, and the fishery consequently ceased.

Migration of Herrings:—The herring has been noticed by naturalists, for its gregarious and migratory propensities. Shoals of them pass from the north to the south, and from the east to the west, in quest of food, for the purposes of depositing their spawn in the rivers, and enjoying that proportion of warmth which appears essential to their existence. When the weather becomes cold, they leave the North Seas, and steer to the American rivers, and other more southern climes; as the weather changes to heat, they revisit the north, and then descend to the shores of Britain and Ireland, and thus, by an instinctive change of place, experience that perpetual temperature which appears to be best adapted to their nature. A large shoal appears off the Shetland Isles in the month of June. Here they separate into two divisions, one of which takes the eastern side of Britain, and the other the western. The latter is again divided by Ireland, part of which appears on its eastern coast, while the other crosses the Atlantic Ocean, and visits the American shores. Some of these brigades, belonging to the former grand division, appear off the eastern coast of England about the month of September, when the grand fishing season commences.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

It has already been seen that the burgesses have at various periods, from 1208 to 1702, received no fewer than twenty-five charters. Some confirmatory of former privileges, and others conveying additional immunities. The last granted by Queen Anne, March 11, 1702, settled the mode of government in its present form, and constituted the burgesses one body politic and corporate, by the style of "the mayor, aldermen, burgesses, and commonalty of the borough of Great Yarmouth." The municipal body consists of a mayor, high steward, sub-steward, recorder, eighteen aldermen, inclusive of the mayor; thirty-six common-councilmen, a town-clerk, two coroners, two chamberlains, a water-bailiff, and other inferior officers, as named at pages 278-9. The mayor, high steward, recorder, sub-steward, and such of the aldermen as have served the office of mayor, are justices of the peace within the borough. The mayor is elected yearly, with other officers of the borough, on the 29th of August, by an inquest of the freemen, in a very peculiar manner,* and sworn into office on the 29th of Sept., at the Guild Hall, from whence he proceeds in procession to the Town Hall, where an elegant entertainment is given to his friends and the members of the corporation. Towards the expense of this feast the mayor is allowed £150. In token of his office, the mayor wears a gold chain on all public occasions; and he is preceded by the town regalia, consisting of two maces, silver gilt; an oar of the same metal, a sword, and banners, on the last of which are depicted the arms of the town, viz., "per pale, gules and azure, three demi-lions, empaling three herrings' tails." When a vacancy occurs in the common council, they have the privilege of nominating two freemen for the office, one of whom is selected to fill it by the aldermen, and a vacancy in the latter is filled up by a majority of themselves. The coroners, who are chosen from the aldermen, are perhaps the most ancient officers

* Mode of electing the Mayor, &c.—In 1491, an assembly of twelve burgesses agreed to certain ordinances, which were ratified by Sir James Hobart, then attorney-general. In these it was decreed, that on the 29th of August, annually, an inquest should be chosen of twelve persons, who were to be locked up in the hall, without meat, drink, fire, or candle, till nine of them agreed in the choice of a mayor and other officers. The names of twenty-four persons, either common councilmen, or freemen, are put into four hats, and three from each are drawn out by a person, called an 'Innocent,' to form the inquest. This mode is still adopted, and a child is employed as the Innocent. Such an impartial plan of election is not, however, very congenial to the spirit of intrigue and party zeal, which commonly characterises the civil and political electioneering proceedings of England, and which are too generally prevalent both in appointing corporation officers and members of the senate. Private friendship, bribery, or some other undue influence, is often exerted to seduce majorities, and obtain nomination, even where the constitution has been so cautiously planned as in the present instance. Illustrative of this fact, we find, that in the year 1775, the 12 burgesses who formed the inquest, could not agree in their election, and were consequently locked up during six days, and every possible method resorted to by one of the parties to starve out their opponents. Notwithstanding the vigilance of the officers in attendance, it is well known that these gentlemen generally contrive to secrete certain estates for their support, when any obstinate disagreement is premeditated or expected.

in the borough—the right of electing them being inferred from a clause in King John's charter.

The corporation, as has already been seen, are invested with extensive privileges. They have a court of oyer and terminer, and general gaol delivery, which was only held once a year till 1814, when, in consequence of the great increase of prisoners, and the confined limits of the borough gaol, it was ordered to be held twice a year. This assize court and the quarter sessions have power of life and death,* and the recorder or sub-steward is the presiding judge. The borough court is a court of record, held every Tuesday, for hearing and determining all manner of trespasses, covenants, deceits, debts, and contracts, to any amount, arising within the borough. The mayor presides in this court, which had its origin in the "Court of Hustings," held by prescription before the incorporation of the borough. Its practice nearly resembles that of the Court of King's Bench. Queen Elizabeth's charter, in 1559, gave the corporation the important privilege of a court of admiralty, to be held every Monday throughout the year, for trying all manner of maritime cases (except piracy) arising within their jurisdiction, which, as conservatives of the rivers, extends about ten miles up the Waveney, Yare, and Bure.—(See p. 240). James I. gave the corporation the additional power of punishing pirates in this court, of which the mayor is judge and admiral, and has the privilege of nominating the four proctors who practise in the court, and whose office is generally purchased at the cost of from £100 to £200. A weekly Court of Requests, commonly styled the Court of Conscience, was established by act of Parliament in 1758, for the recovery of debts under 40s., and is now held every Monday, in an apartment over the gaol, called the "Toll-house Hall," from the ancient tax on fish having been collected there. In this room the business of all the other courts is transacted, and a petty session is held daily before the mayor, or other magisterial aldermen.

Yarmouth sent two burgesses to Parliament in the reign of Edward I., equally early with Norwich and Lynn. Until the passing of the Reform Bill in 1832, the election of these representatives was confined to the freemen, who obtain their freedom by birth right, servitude, gift, or purchase. The sons of freemen are entitled to their freedom at the age of twenty; and those who have served an apprenticeship to a freeman within the borough, at the age of twenty-one years. There are about

* Executions at Yarmouth are happily of rare occurrence: the last person who suffered here being John Hannah, a miserable old man, upwards of 70 years of age, who was hanged in 1813, for the murder of his wife. Only two others suffered here during the last ninety years, viz John Barcham, in 1730, for the murder of Robert Bullen; and Elis. Martin, for the murder of her illegitimate child; but in 1781, Wm. Paine, a pirate, was hanged in London, and afterwards gibbeted here on the North Denes.

2000 freemen, of whom more than 800 are disfranchised under the Reform Bill, for non-residence ; but the number of electors has been greatly increased by the admission of householders of the yearly rent of £10 or upwards, not only in the borough, but in the parish of Gorleston. The number of votes given at the last election, on January 7 and 8th, 1835, were—for W. M. Praed, Esq., 768; T. Baring, Esq., 772; Colonel Anson, 680; and C. E. Rumbold, Esq. 675. The unsuccessful candidates are Whigs, and had sat for the borough since January 9th, 1826. A petition against the return of Messrs. Praed and Baring, signed by about one-fourth of the electors, and setting forth that bribery and corruption were resorted to in their election, is now (July, 1835) lying before a committee of the House of Commons.

All the freemen are exempt from stallage and from serving on juries in the county. Those residing in the parish of Great Yarmouth, together with the householders at large, have a right of pasturage on the Denes or Commons, which now comprise only 64A. 3R. 19P. on the East, and 492A. 1R. 11P. on the West Common; upwards of 146 acres having been enclosed some years ago, and let for buildings and gardens, on renewable leases, by the corporation, who, in 1816, enclosed 60 acres more; but a party of freemen threw down the banks, and since then no further encroachment has been attempted. For paying the herdsman and keeping the Commons in order, 1s. was formerly charged for each horse, and 1s. 6d. for each cow, but these annual charges have of late years been advanced to 20s. and 30s.

The present yearly income of the corporation appears to be about £3,200; for we find that in 1834 they received £812 for rents of land, &c.; £38 in fines; £404 for ballast; about £600 from a duty of 6d. per chaldron on coals imported by non-freemen; £396 for pilotage; £300 for tonnage; £240 by sale of a coal meter's place; £280 for metage and lastage, and £157 for cranage. Among the items of expenditure in the same year, are £377 to clergy and church; £56. 3s. 3d. fee-farm rent; £798 police, gaol, and sessions; £894 mayor's allowance, officers' salaries, and law charges; £81 subscription to the poor, &c.; £278 for repairs of hall, roads, &c., and £373 for interest of part of the £8000 expended in opposing the Lowestoft and Norwich Navigation.

The corporate body form part of the 130 commissioners of the act passed in 1810, "for better paving, lighting, cleansing, and watching, and for removing nuisances, making improvements in the streets, &c. Under this act, a yearly police rate of 2s. 6d. in the pound is levied on the poor's rate assessment.

The Gas Works, on the South Denes, have two gasometers, each capable of containing 10,000 cubic feet of gas, and were erected by Mr. G. H. Palmer, who afterwards sold them to a company of persons in London. The works were finished and the town first lit with gas in December, 1824.

In the 17th century, the town was supplied with WATER, brought in leaden pipes from the Denes, but these works were subsequently disused on discovering that water could be supplied at a less expense by boring, in any part of the town; so that now almost every house has a well or pump, affording an ample supply of the pure beverage of nature.

The Guild Hall is a convenient building near the parish church, erected above a century ago, on the site of the old one, which in 1544 was repaired and covered with a roof that had previously belonged to Mettingham College. It is an oblong building, with a spacious assembly room, lighted by nine handsome windows, and commodiously fitted up for the reception of the corporate body, who hold their two principal assemblies here yearly. The town chest is deposited here, and in it are preserved the whole of the charters and other borough records, some of them beautifully engrossed and richly illuminated. The candidates for representing the town in Parliament are nominated here, and a folding door at one end of the room opens into the council chamber, used as a retiring room for the inquest when about to elect a new mayor, and here he receives the corporate body on holidays and other public occasions.

The Town Hall, erected in 1716 for the general use of the corporation, stands nearly in the centre of the Quay. The front is in the Tuscan style, having a fine portico, supported by pillars, on each side of which an angular flight of stone stairs ascends to an elegant and well-proportioned dining room, with a richly embossed stucco ceiling, from which descend three very brilliant cut-glass chandeliers. At the upper end is the fireplace, over which hangs a fine full-length portrait of George II. in his coronation robes, by Wardsale. An elevated orchestra extends across the lower end, and in a recess opposite the entrance door is a model of Nelson's pillar, executed in wood. In the card-room is a good full-length portrait of Sir Robert Walpole. In the dining-room, the mayor usually convenes public meetings of the inhabitants; and balls are given there by his permission. On the north side of the building is the town clerk's office, where petty sessions are held daily.

The Town House, on the South Quay, is another edifice belonging to the corporation, and is the general office of the water bailiff, who holds his appointment under them, and is commonly chosen from among their own body. His duty is to collect the town dues, and to regulate the harbour and shipping interest. This building was originally a Dutch chapel, built in 1600, and afterwards used as an English chapel, by Mr. Brinsley, one of the ministers ejected from St. Nicholas' church; but not being consecrated, it was suppressed by the bishop. Two of the upper rooms are occupied by the Public Library and Mechanics' Institute.

The Goal and Bridewell, in Goal street, form commodious prison buildings, all erected since the year 1818, at the cost of £3397, except the Old Goal, which fronts the street, and has a neat court room, in which the Sessions are held. The new buildings were planned by Mr. Stone, of Norwich. The floors are divided into galleries, each having a number of cells, with a sick and day room. The roof of each cell in the lower range is composed of a huge block of stone, which forms the floor of the one immediately above it, and the whole are well aired and ventilated. The yards are so divided as to admit of a complete classification of the prisoners; the debtors being kept apart from the felons, and the tried from the untried.

MONASTRIES:—Yarmouth had formerly seven monastic establishments, all of which suffered the general fate of such institutions under the suppressing acts of Henry VIII. and Edward VI. A Benedictine Priory was founded on the Denes, in the 11th century, by Bishop Herbert de Losinga, at the time he built St. Nicholas' Church, to which it was attached. It was a cell to the Priory at Norwich, and some remains of it are still standing on the north side of the church, partly converted into a stable and other offices. Two Leper Houses, founded before the year 1374, stood near the North gates, but their sites are unknown. St. Mary's Hospital, founded in the reign of Edward I. by Thomas Fastolf, still exists in an altered form, being converted into the Workhouse and Hospital School. The other three were founded in the reign of Henry III., viz. the Grey Friary, built by Sir Wm. Gerbrigge, in that part of the town now called the Broad row, and granted at the dissolution to Thomas Lord Cromwell and Sir Richard Williams; the Black Friary, founded by Geoffrey de Pikgrin and Thomas Fastolf, at the South end, near Friar's lane, but burnt down in 1525; and the White Friary, which stood at the north end of the town, and was burnt down in 1509. Several Alms houses at Priory place, and near the town walls, are supposed to have formerly appertained to the leper houses, or some other of the above institutions, and they have long been appropriated as residences for poor parishioners. The buildings which had belonged to the Grey Friary, became the property of the corporation, who sold them in 1657, for £2600.

ST. NICHOLAS' CHURCH was founded, as before mentioned, by Herbert de Losinga, the first Bishop of Norwich, in the early part of the 12th century. It is a stately edifice in the form of a cross, but has undergone so many repairs and alterations, that it retains but little of its pristine appearance. The transepts were added about 150 years after the original foundation, by Bishop Middleton; and in 1370, the Prior of St. Olave's erected a magnificent rood loft, and a chapel at the east end, dedicated to our Lady of Arneburgh. Sixteen other chapels or chantries, with altars, were subsequently founded within the walls of the Church, and in many of them were interred the bodies of their benefactors. These chapels were rich in silver utensils, jewels, and precious stones, furnished by their respective guilds, and by various legacies, until the 37th of Henry VIII. when all the guilds were dissolved, except the merchants'; the plate and ornaments belonging to them sold, and the money applied to other uses. The old spire which originally surmounted the tower, appeared crooked from whatever direction it was viewed; but being much injured and partly burnt by lightning in 1683, it was considered to be so insecure in 1803, that it was taken down, and a new spire 168 feet in height, covered with tinned sheet copper, was erected in its place at the cost of £1890. The church was further repaired under an act passed in 1806, when the south and west sides, instead of being renewed with the grey flints originally used, were injudiciously covered with cement. In 1807, a new clock was furnished; and in the following year, ten excellent bells were added, and the old ones sold. The window of the south transept was rebuilt about ten years ago. The grand object of attraction within the church is its magnificent and powerfully toned organ, said to be inferior to none except the celebrated instrument at Haerlem, in Holland. It was built in 1733, and completely repaired about the year 1810. It is divided into three parts, and has eleven stops consigned to the great organ, five more to the choir, and eight others to the swell, which goes down to C, besides two octaves of pedal pipes. The chancel contains a number of marble tablets, and other memorials of the dead. In the north aisle are interred the remains of John Carter, Esq., and Mrs. Bridget Bendish, the former the bosom friend, and the latter the granddaughter of Oliver Cromwell. The churchyard, which is very extensive, was enlarged about twelve years ago, and is approached from the Market-place by a fine avenue of trees. On the north side are the ruins of the priory cell, which had a dean, three chaplains, and eight monks, who performed divine worship here under the control of the prior of Norwich, until the dissolution, when the Dean and Chapter of Norwich became the appropriators and patrons of the benefice, which is a perpetual curacy, not in charge, and now enjoyed by the Hon. and Rev. Edward Pellew, A. M., who is assisted by the Rev. Thomas Baker, A.M. the lecturer.

St. Nicholas', the parish church, was the only episcopal place of worship in the town till 1714, when, in consequence of a great increase in the population, the corporation obtained an act of parliament to erect St. George's Church, as a chapel of ease; and for liquidating the expense, they were empowered to levy a tax upon all coals, culm, and cinders imported and consumed within the town. This church is a handsome building of brick and stone, and of an extended octangular form, with a square tower, surmounted by an octagon turret and dome. It is neatly pewed for about twelve hundred hearers, and has a good organ, a clock, and a bell. It is in the patronage of the corporation, and its present ministers are the Rev. John Homfray, B. A., and the Rev. Mark Waters, B. A.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH is another chapel of ease, erected in consequence of a further increase of the town, and finished in August 1833, at the cost of £12,000, of which £2000 was raised by subscription, and the remainder was paid by his Majesty's commissioners for building new churches. It is a large and beautiful Gothic structure, of white brick; but the buttresses are ornamentally chequered with square flints. It stands on the site of part of the town wall, near the Jetty road, and measures 123 feet 9 inches in length, 64 feet in breadth, and 40 feet to the height of the ceiling; but the tower rises to the altitude of 107 feet 6 inches, exclusive of the pinnacles, which are 16 feet 9 inches long. It is neatly paved, and has 1800 sittings, of which 1096 are free. In the chancel is a fine painting of the descent from the cross, copied by T. Myers, from Reuben's picture at Antwerp, and presented to the church by Colonel Mason. The Dean and Chapter of Norwich are patrons of the benefice, and have endowed it with £22 a year. The Rev. Wm. Henry Clarke, M.A. is the first and present minister.

The General Cemetery, near the Market gates, was formed in 1828, by a company of proprietors, in 120 shares of £5 each, no person being allowed to hold more than two. It is only 155 feet long, and 137 broad, and is well enclosed, having the town wall on the east, high walls and buildings on the north and west, and lofty iron palisades, with a neat entrance gate on the east. It is enrolled in the Bishop's court, and is under the management of a committee of 15 shareholders. Mr. N. S. Palmer is the secretary, and Mr. E. Clowes the treasurer.

CHAPELS.—Besides the three churches, there are in Yarmouth eleven other places of worship, of which nine belong to Dissenters, one to the Catholics, and the other is the Mariners' Chapel, in Southgate, a neat cemented building, erected by the late Mr. G. D. Palmer, as a free meeting house for sailors, who are preached to every Sunday morning and Thursday evening, by ministers of various religious denominations. The Catholic Chapel, in George street, was formerly a warehouse, but converted to its present use in 1825, by the Rev. Joseph Tate. The Unitarian Chapel, in 92 Row, Goad street, is an ancient meeting house, of which the Rev. Henry Squire is minister. The Wesleyan Methodist Chapel, in Theatre gate, is a large building, erected in 1793, and will seat 1000 persons. It has two portico entrances, and a good house for the minister. The New Connexion have lately opened a meeting room in the Town House; and the Primitive Methodists have a chapel called the Tabernacle, in Priory yard, erected in 1829. The General and Particular Baptists have each a chapel here, the former in 85 Row, where the Rev. G. Maddeys officiates; and the latter in 14 Row, Church square, erected about 1760, and now under the ministry of the Rev. H. Betts. The Independents

Calvinist Chapel, in Gaul-street, was erected about a century ago, and is now under the pastoral care of the Rev. Alexander Crenk. It is commonly called the New Meeting House, in contradistinction to the Old Meeting House, in 92 Row. Both were originally Presbyterian, but the latter has long been occupied by Unitarians. The Lady Huntingdon Chapel, near the Market gate, was built by the Calvinists, but has been occupied for its present use during the last twenty years, and is now under the ministry of the Rev. J. Meffen. The Friends' Meeting House, in 66 Row, Howard street, is an ancient building, chiefly of flint, and has a small burial ground. Sunday Schools are attached to most of the places of worship; and here are several auxiliary Bible, Missionary, and other Religious Societies. The Society for promoting Christian Knowledge, has a depot of books at Miss Hawes, in Regent street. Here are also a number of Charitable Institutions, and Public Day Schools for the benefit of the poor.

The Andrew's Hospital School has two spacious school-rooms, with apartments and lodgings for the master, and 30 boys and 20 girls, in addition to whom here are 111 boys and 50 girls as day scholars, the other 50 being clothed and maintained, as well as educated, from the funds of the charity. This large school, though it has been often repaired and modernized, still retains much of its pristine Gothic character, and with the adjoining Workhouse, constitutes the remains of St. Mary's Hospital, founded in 1277, by Wm. Gerbrigge, for the reception of two priests, eight brethren, and eight sisters, who subsequently received many benefactions from the pious and charitable. At the dissolution, this hospital was valued at £4. 13s. 4d., and the building was afterwards vested with the corporation, who, in 1654, appropriated it to its present uses; having in that year purchased with £600 of trust money, an estate of 1333a. 1a. 13r. in the county of Tipperary, in Ireland, being part of the estates forfeited in the rebellion. In 1714, this estate was let for 1000 years, to Robert Hamerton, Esq., and his heirs, at the yearly rent of £100, but subject to a fine of £600 on the granting of the lease, also a further fine of £100, to be paid every seventh year during the term of the lease. In addition to this estate, the corporation, as trustees of the charity, have the sum of about £4800, lent to the Church Trustees, Highway and Poor Commissioners, Paving Commissioners, and Commissioners of the Yarmouth and parish; swelling the total yearly income to £1100. The children may remain at the school till they are 14 years of age, and many of them are then put out apprentices by the charity.

The charity also provides clothing and educating 100 boys and 20 girls by voluntary contributions, and the present school-room was built ten years afterwards, on a piece of ground at the south-east corner of the Market, given by the corporation. The school was enlarged in 1785, and a dwelling-house added for the master and mistress. Many worthy and useful members of society are indebted for their education to this well conducted institution, which is under the management of the minister of the parish, a treasurer, and six directors, chosen by the yearly subscribers of 20s. or upwards. The annual subscriptions amount to about £90; two sermons, preached yearly for the charity, produce about £60; and there is some property belonging to the school, which swells its total yearly income to about £260. The scholars are recommended by the subscribers, and are clothed every alternate year at the cost of about 36s. each.

The British Free School, better known by the name of the Lancasterian School, is situated in an airy part of the Denes, near St. George's gate, and was built by subscription in 1813, for 300 boys; but it has now only 177, who are educated partly by small payments from themselves, but chiefly by the aid of annual subscriptions. The erection of the school, with the purchase of slates, &c., cost £655. 12s. 5d.

The School of Industry, in King-street, was founded by the ladies of Yarmouth, in 1810, for the instruction of poor girls in reading, writing, and needlework, between the ages of 8 and 14. The erection of the school and house cost about £700. Here are generally upwards of 90 scholars, who each pay 1d. per week. Here are also two Infant Schools, one near St. Peter's Church, and the other in Troy-alley, commenced in 1832, and each having about 80 scholars, between the ages of 2 and 8. The teachers receive 3d. per week for each child, one-half paid by their parents, and the other by the subscribers.

The Yarmouth Proprietary Grammar School is a neat white brick building, in the form of a cross, and standing in South Town, near the Bridge. It was erected in 1833, by a company of proprietors, in 100 shares of £15 each. These owners have the privilege of nominating to the school one pupil, in respect of each share which they may hold; but a charge not exceeding ten guineas per annum, must be paid for the tuition of each of the scholars, for whom every thing is provided, except printed books and mathematical instruments, which are supplied by the institution at cost price. The establishment consists of a Head Master, a second Master, an Assistant Master, and a French Master. The two first must be graduates of the University of Oxford or Cambridge, or of Trinity College, Dublin; and all of them are elected by the proprietors. The school was opened on the 12th of May, 1834, and is under the management of a President, four Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and a Secretary, (appointed annually,) and twelve other proprietors; and the property is vested in the names of thirteen trustees. (For teachers, see page 286.)

The Mechanics' Institute, established in 1829, occupies a spacious apartment in the Town House, and has a small library, with apparatus for the illustration of lectures in the various arts and sciences; but in mechanism it has not yet met with that attention which it deserves. Mr. H. Boulter is the secretary, and Mr. William Ellett the librarian. The PUBLIC LIBRARY, in the same building, was instituted in 1802, by a number of shareholders, and yearly subscribers of one guinea each. It now possesses a valuable collection of about 1,000 volumes in the various branches of literature, and among them are forty large folio volumes of the Public Records, printed by Government, and deposited here, for public use, in 1825; but among these copies of the national archives, the great Domesday Book is wanting. Mr. Thomas Hammond is the librarian.

The Subscription Rooms form an elegant white brick building on the Quay, nearly opposite the Bridge, erected in 1807. They are well supplied with London and Provincial newspapers; and in an upper room is an excellent billiard table. The rooms are managed by a person solely employed for that purpose; and the whole establishment is one of the highest respectability, being supported by ninety annual subscribers of two guineas each. The Tradesmen's News Room, in George-street, was commenced in February, 1835; and Mr. Alexander, the bookseller, in King-street, has a Public Reading Room and Library, supplied with daily and weekly papers, magazines, &c.

The THEATRE, near the Market place, was built in 1778, at the cost of £1500, raised in fifteen shares of £100 each; but in 1820 the building was so dilapidated, that it was deemed proper to remove and remodel the whole of the interior, which was done at the expense of £1000, raised by the creation of ten new shares. The upper and lower boxes form an amphitheatre, after the manner of the metropolitan houses, and are very neatly fitted up; the pit is spacious, and the gallery extremely small.

The BATH ROOMS, near the Jetty, form an elegant building, erected in 1759, at the cost of £2000; but about twelve years ago it underwent a considerable repair and much judicious improvement. Hot, tepid, cold, shower, vapour or medicated baths, may be taken here in great perfection. Here are news, card, and billiard rooms; and adjoining the original building, is a spacious and handsome Assembly Room, commanding an extensive and highly interesting view of the ocean, the jetty, and the beach. In this room public breakfasts, balls, and concerts, are held; and an excellent band of music attends every Tuesday and Friday evening, during the bathing season, when it is generally filled with a numerous party of the fashionables of the town, and visitors. The establishment belongs to Mr. John Bly, and is spiritedly conducted by Mr. S. W. Bly. The Brighton Bath House is another convenient establishment, with hot, tepid, cold, and shower baths, situated in King-street, and conducted by Mrs. M. A. Cunstance. On the beach are many excellent Bathing Machines for immersion in the open sea.

Public Gardens and Bowling Greens are also among the various sources of amusement and recreation provided by Yarmouth for the use of the inhabitants and the numerous visitors who resort here in the bathing season. During the Races, the Apollo Gardens, on the Caistor road, and Vauxhall Gardens, on the opposite side of the Bure, are brilliantly illuminated, and singers of great celebrity are generally engaged for the orchestras; excellent bands are in attendance, and every method resorted to by the proprietors to insure the comfort and convenience of the visitors.

The Dispensary, on the Short quay, was instituted in 1822 for the purpose of affording medical and surgical aid to the sick and lame poor. It is supported by the contributions of the benevolent, and is open every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday.

The Fishermen's Hospital is a low quadrangular building, near the Church trees, erected by the Corporation, in 1702, for the reception of twenty decayed fishermen, of the age of 60 or upwards, and the wives of such as are married. Each has two rooms, and a weekly stipend of 2s. 6d., in winter and spring, and 2s. in summer and autumn; and a chaldron of coals yearly. In the Hospital yard is a square pedestal, surmounted by a figure of Charity, cast in lead; and above the inner gate is a cupola, within which stands a figure of St. Peter. In the wall on the left side of the entrance, is a tablet recording the various benefactions to the hospital, which now produce about £200 a year, including the annuity of £160, granted to the poor fishermen, by King Charles II. in 1668, out of the Excise, as a compensation for the duties paid on beer, consumed in the fisheries. When the beer duty was repealed, this annuity was discontinued; but it was soon afterwarwards restored, through the influence of Earl Grey, and is now paid out of the customs. Among the benefactions to the Hospital, are £500, left by Robert Warrington, in 1812; £200, by John Lawn, Esq. in 1811; and £100 each, by Elizabeth Blennerhasset, John Baldwin, Benjamin Jolly, and Eleanor Wright.

The District Visiting Society, established in 1832, has for its objects the relief of the aged and sick poor, and the encouragement of saving habits among the labouring poor, by offering very liberal premiums on the amount of their weekly deposits, which are returned to them at the end of each year. In the year ending January 1834, this useful charity relieved 1825 families, expending amongst them £72. 16s. 10d. in clothing, and £226. 10s. 5½d. in coals, bread, flour, groceries, &c. Its receipts from annual subscribers in the same year, amounted to £279. 1s. 9d. Here are also a Benevolent Society, a Lying-in Charity, and several other institutions for ameliorating the condition of the poor, who are likewise periodically relieved by the yearly proceeds of the following BENEFACTIONS:—Thrigby Charity consists of 244 acres of land, in the parish of Thrigby, now let for £375 a year, and bequeathed in 1700, by the Rev. Edw. Warnes, rector of Lannias and Hautboys, in trust to the corporation, for the relief of poor widows and other indigent parishioners. In 1556, Katharine Rogers, who built three wells on the Denes, bequeathed £100 to be lent to small tradesmen, and £100 to be employed for ever in buying and grinding corn, to be sold to the poor at the cost price; but whether these sums are lost, or still in the hands of the corporation, has not been ascertained. In 1786, seven other benefactions of which the corporation are trustees, produced the following yearly sums, viz. £8, rent charge, left by William Paston, in 6th James I; £10, rent charge, by Ann Hall, in 1686; £10, as interest of £250, left by Dover Colby, in 1752; 30s. from £30, left by Susan Packer, in 1711; 40s. from £50, left by Robert Abbon, in 1758; 40s. from money left by Mrs. Davy; and 32s. rent charge, left by John Warren, in 1693.

The Savings' Bank, in 66 Row, was established September 14, 1818; and in November 1834, its deposits amounted to £38,720. 18s. 3d., belonging to 1336 individuals, and 23 charitable and Friendly Societies. John Brightwen, Esq. is the treasurer, and Mr. James Parker, the secretary; and among the trustees and directors, are many of the most wealthy gentlemen and merchants of the town and neighbourhood. The ship-owners here have two mutual Ship Insurance Societies, and Mr. J. H. Palmer and Mr. Wm. Barber, are their secretaries. There are in the town several Friendly Societies and Secret Orders; and in Gaol paved row, is the Masonic Hall, a neat brick building, erected in 1823.

The Poor Rates for the parish of Great Yarmouth amounted in the year ending Lady-day, 1834, to £8867. 7s. 4d., of which £3507. 19s. 7½d. was expended for the use of the workhouse, and in salaries of officers, &c.; and the remainder was distributed among the out-door paupers. The Workhouse, as has been seen at page 268, adjoins the Children's Hospital School, and forms part of the dissolved Hospital of St. Mary, the Virgin, the chapel of which is now the dining room, upwards of 100 feet in length, but low and extremely narrow. This workhouse is rented of the corporation, and it generally has from 300 to 400 inmates, maintained at the cost of about 3s. per head per week. The parish has 78 Poor-houses in different parts of the town, which are occupied rent free by poor families, most of whom are paupers. These houses were obtained by the parish soon after the dissolution of the monasteries, to which they appertained. The yearly salaries paid by the parish are as follows:—Governor of the Workhouse, £100; agent at Norwich, £10; gaoler, £40; bridewell keeper, £21; two collectors, (Wm. Pratt and John Breeze,) £84; parish beadle, £42; and matron at gaol and bridewell, £10. [For names of officers, see p. 279.] The total number of persons who received parochial relief in the year ending Lady-day, 1834, was 3015, of whom 1483 were children under 16 years of age.

GORLESTON PARISH, on the opposite side of the river Yare, in the half Hundred of Lothingland, Suffolk, forms a populous south-western suburb of Great Yarmouth, containing 3420 inhabitants, and about 1150 acres of land, divided into the two hamlets of Gorleston and South Town, the latter being annexed to the Borough of Yarmouth, in 1681, and the former being admitted to its elective franchise by the Reform Bill, in 1832. The Rev. Geo. Anguish is lord of the manor of the whole parish, and owner of the two ferries, but has no landed property here. Gorleston belongs to a number of freeholders; and the Earl of Lichfield owns most of South Town, the greater part of which is let on building leases for the term of 99 years.

GORLESTON VILLAGE, about two miles S. by W. of Yarmouth, is pleasantly situated on the crown of a hill, overlooking the river Yare, which flows in a rapid stream near its foot, and is soon afterwards lost in the wide expanse of the ocean, near the piers and the batteries already noticed. The white cliffs, which are here studded with many handsome houses, extend in an uninterrupted curve to Lowestoft, and are of considerable elevation, affording delightful views of the harbour, the town, the ocean, and the adjacent country. The noble pier, (which extends into the sea, at the foot of the cliffs,) and about 30 acres of marshy land, called Cobham Island, belong to the parish of Great Yarmouth; the old channel of the Yare having formerly cut off the latter from the county of Suffolk. Tradition says that Gorleston had once a weekly market; and a small fair for toys is still held at Whitauntide. Near the centre of the High-street, is the site of the conventual Church of St. Nicholas, of which nothing now remains but some fragments of the tower in the lofty wall, which encloses part of what was formerly the churchyard. The Parish Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is a large ancient structure, on the south-west side of the village, built chiefly of flint, covered with thatch, and having a substantial square tower, embattled, strongly buttressed at the angles, ascended by a projecting spiral staircase, and containing a fine peal of six bells, the tenor of which weighs 13 cwt. The benefice is a vicarage, now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Gunn. It has no glebe land, but is endowed by prescription, and claims the tithe of wood, hay, and clover, in Gorleston, and all the tithes of South Town, both great and small. The Wesleyan's and Independent's have each a chapel in the village.

SOUTH TOWN, or Little Yarmouth, the northern hamlet of Gorleston parish, stands on the river opposite Great Yarmouth; and the two places are connected by a good bridge. It forms a handsome suburb, with 1204 inhabitants, and about 537 acres of land; and the road through it is one of the best in the kingdom, adorned on the west side by a line of very handsome houses, extending more than half a mile southward from the bridge. The bank of the river on the opposite side of the road from the Bear Hotel to the Toll-gate, is occupied by docks, timber wharfs, and ship yards; in the latter are constructed the greater part of the vessels built in the harbour. South Town was anciently a separate parish, and had a church dedicated to St. Mary, which was desecrated before the year 1559, when its ruined walls were used in building the pier, as has been seen at pages 249; but the foundations may still be traced near the garden of David Simpson, Esq. Near the haven's mouth was a lofty pile, called Gorleston Steeple, but it fell down during a strong gale of wind, in 1813. Its great elevation was a sure friend to the mariner in making the land during thick weather; and its loss is now fully supplied by the Naval Pillar, erected on the Dunes, in memory of the immortal Nelson, who, though not a native of Yarmouth, was a freeman of the borough, by gift from the corporation, and consequently may be properly placed at the head of the following list of worthies.

The Right Hon. HORATIO VISCOUNT and BARON NELSON, of the Nile and of Burnham-Thorpe; Duke of Bronté, in Sicily; Knight of the Bath; Senior Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Sicilian Order of St. Ferdinand and of Merit; Senior Knight of the Imperial Order of the Turkish Crescent of the First Class; Knight of the Order of St. Joachim; and a Vice-Admiral of the White; was the fourth son of the Rev. Edmund Nelson, rector of Burnham-Thorpe, in Norfolk, and was born in the parsonage house of that parish, Sept. 29th, 1758. He was educated partly at Norwich, and partly at North Walsham; but in his twelfth year commenced his glorious career as midshipman, on board the Reasonable, of 64 guns, commanded by his maternal uncle, Captain Maurice Suckling. His knowledge of naval affairs was afterwards improved by a voyage to the West Indies, which was followed by his admission on board one of the ships commanded by Captain C. J. Phipps, and destined for a voyage of discovery towards the North Pole. While yet young, and necessarily in a state of subordination, he exhibited many proofs of that spirit of enterprise, and that inventive skill, combined with an intelligence uncommon at his years, which laid the foundation of his future fame; though his constitution was originally delicate, and, to the last, valetudinary. On his return from this expedition, he went to the West Indies, on board the Seahorse, commanded by Captain Farmer. During all that time, although there was much in him that was extraordinary, his disposition to his profession was rather irresolute. He had some imperfect view of his future destiny, but he did not see clearly, he felt the ambition of a hero, but saw no manner in which it might be gratified. In 1779, he arrived, through the usual gradations, at the rank of post-captain, but had no opportunity for the display of his professional talents until the war with France, commencing in 1793; when, as commander of the Agamemnon, of 64 guns, he assisted in the capture of Toulon, and the siege of Bastia. He was afterwards engaged in the siege of Calvi, where he lost the sight of his right eye; and with the French fleet in March and July, 1796; and in the blockade of Genoa. From the Agamemnon he was removed to the Captain, was now Commodore, and was employed in the blockade of Leghorn, and the taking of Porto Ferrajo. In the memorable engagement off Cape St. Vincent, between 15 English and 27 Spanish ships, he attacked the Santissima Trinidad, of 136 guns, and obliged the St. Nicholas, of 80 guns, and the San Joseph, of 112, to strike. After this victory he was made rear-admiral of the blue, and appointed to the command of the inner squadron in the blockade of Cadiz. In a subsequent attack on the town of Santa Cruz, in the island of Tenerife, he lost his right hand. But it would require a volume to detail the progressive steps which were now leading to the consummation of his renown, in the battles of the Nile and of Trafalgar: sufficient to say, that he had already been engaged with the enemy nearly 150 times, and on very few of those occasions escaped without a wound. By the victory over the French fleet in the bay of Aboukir, in 1798, he captured and destroyed 11 ships of the line, with an inferior force fighting under every disadvantage. In the engagement with the French and Spanish fleets, off Cape Trafalgar, October 21, 1805, of 33 ships of the line, belonging to the enemy, sixteen were destroyed, four were carried to Gibraltar, six escaped into Cadiz, totally disabled, and four, which retired from the action, were, a few days after, captured by Sir R. Strachan's squadron. During this unparalleled victory, Lord Nelson fell by a shot from the top of one of the enemy's ships, but lived to know that the triumph of his fleet was secured. His body was brought to England, and interred in St. Paul's cathedral, with the honours due to the greatest naval hero recorded in history, and one with whom the most decided success was the result of the most consummate skill. He was created Baron Nelson of the Nile and of Burnham-Thorpe, in 1798, and Viscount of the same, in May, 1801; but in the August following, he was created Baron Nelson of the Nile, and of Hilborough, in the county of Norfolk, which title devolved on his elder brother William Nelson, who, in 1805, was created Viscount Merton and Trafalgar, of Merton, in the county of Surrey, and Earl Nelson of Merton and Trafalgar, with remainder, failing his issue, to the issue male of his sisters.

Among the Eminent natives of Yarmouth, are the following:—ARTHUR WILSON, who was born in 1596, and published an account of the Life and Reign of James the First, written with much freedom, and displaying a thorough knowledge of court intrigues; but the liberty he took in exposing the propensities of that monarch and his son, towards the Catholic cause, brought upon him the vehement censure of the friends of the Stuart family, who said that he had written from conjectures, rather than from records, and that his work was more like a pasquinade than an authentic history. He was for many years an attendant on the Earl of Essex, and afterwards steward to the Earl of Warwick. He died in 1652. NICHOLAS FACON, Bishop of Ely, another native, was one of those prelates.

employed by James I. in the new translation of the Bible, and died in 1626. Dr THOMAS SOAME was the son of a fisherman here but related to a wealthy family of the same name, at Burnham. He lived in the reign of Charles I., and having entered holy orders, he became minister of Staines, in Middlesex, and pretendary of Windsor. During the civil wars, he was so zealously attached to royalty, that he sent all he had to the King, so that when the rebels came to plunder him, "they found nothing to take but himself, which they did, and imprisoned him first in Newgate, and afterwards in the Fleet prison, where he died in 1652." Sir Wm Gooch, Bart., was born here in 1681. He entered early in the army, and distinguished himself in the rebellion of 1715. George I. made him lieutenant-governor of Virginia, in 1727; and in 1740, he was appointed colonel of an American regiment, and assisted at the memorable siege of Carthage. For his services he was promoted, being first made brigadier, and then major-general, in which capacity, in 1747, he commanded in the expedition to Quebec. His health declining, he returned to England, and died in 1751. JOSEPH AMES, author of the "Typographical Antiquities, or Memoirs of Printing and Printers in England," was born here in 1688, and died in 1759. ANTHONY ELLIS, Bishop of St. David's, and author of several theological works, was born here in 1691, and died in 1761. HENRY SWADEN, a diligent antiquary, who had collected and digested a large mass of information respecting this his native town, died while the last sheet was in the press, January 11th, 1772, in which year it was published with a preface written by John Ives, F.R.S. and F.S.A. another native eminent for his skill in antiquarian science, born in 1730, and died in 1776. James Sayer, the late celebrated caricaturist, who died at London in 1823, was the son of a Yarmouth block maker, and author of many satirical poems, suited to the political topics of the times. Edmund Girling, the celebrated self-taught engraver, is a native of Yarmouth, as also are those ingenious marine painters, the Jons, two brothers, now in London, and the sons of a mail guard, who owe much of their fame to the patronage and assistance afforded them in their youth by Captain Manby, the barrack master of Yarmouth, whose ingenious apparatus for saving lives from shipwreck, will ever blazon his name in the maritime annals of his country. Dawson Turner, Esq. A.M., F.R.S., A.S. and L.S. is one of the surviving worthies of Yarmouth, eminently distinguished as a botanist, and author of many articles in the "Philosophical Transactions."— 'A Synopsis of British Fungi,' and many other works; but to speak of the living is invidious, or we might numerate many other distinguished townsmen.

Earl of Yarmouth—Sir Robert Paston was created Baron Paston of Paston, and Viscount Yarmouth, in 1673, and Earl of Yarmouth, in 1679, but on the death of his son William, the second earl, in 1732, the title became extinct. Anet o Sophia de Walmoden, presumed to have been the mistress of George II. was created Baroness and Countess of Yarmouth for life, in 1740, and died in 1750. "Earl of Yarmouth" was revived in 1793, as the secondary title of the Margrave of Hertford, which it still continues. Among the titled gentry who reside here occasionally during the bathing season, are, Lord Berners and Viscount Deville; the latter of whom occupies Telegraph Cottage, a delightful residence, belonging to Mr. T. E. Garwood.

STREETS, &c., IN YARMOUTH.

Those with D attached to them are in the Denes.

Apollo gardens, North end	Harrison's bldg., St. George's gt
Archer's bldgs. Jetty road, D.	Hogg hill, Church trees
Bath house & buildings, North beach, D.	Howard street, Market row
Bath place, St. George's gate, D.	Jetty road, King street
Bridge foot, Short quay	John's square, Factory gate, D.
Broad row, Market row	King st. and walls, Market pl.
Chapel square, Jetty road, D.	Laughing image, North quay
Charlotte street, Market row	Market gate, Denes to mkt. p.
Church plain, Fuller's hill	Market place, King street, and Regent street
Church square, Market place	Market row, Market place
Church trees, Church square	May place, East open, D.
Cinder ovens, North end	Mill road, Jetty road, D.
Clarence place, Theatre gate, D.	Mitford place, Factory gate
Conge, (The.) North quay	Moyse's alley, South quay
Crowes buildings, South quay	Neaves walk, North end
Crown place, Theatre gate, D.	North beach, North of jetty, D.
Davies court, Short quay	North beach terrace, Market gt.
Denes, without the walls & gates	North quay, North end
Drakes buildings, South open, D.	Paved row, King street
Drum open, now East street	Preston's buildings, South quay
East hill, Market gate, D.	Priory pl. & yd., Church trees
East street and open, King st.	Prospect place, South Town
Factory gt. & yd., Pudding gt. D.	Pudding gate, Market place
Fish market, Market place	Quay (The,) Regent street
Fishers' quay, North quay	Quay (Short,) Nth. end of quay
Friar's lane, now South street	Queen square, Market gate, D.
Fuller's hill, North end	Regent street, Market place
Garwood's buildings, South st.	Rainbow corner, North quay
Gaol street, King street	Rows.—There are 156 short and narrow alleys, called Rows , and distinguished only by Numbers .*
George street, Short quay	St. George's gate, & St. George's plain, D.
Gorleston parish, S. side of harbour, in Suffolk
Greenwood's bldg., Mrkt. gt. D.
Greenwood's pl. St. George's gt.

* The Rows are numbered from the North end in the following singular order :—Those branching from North end to North quay, are numbered 1, 2, 3, 4; Church plain to North quay, 4, 5, 6, 7; Church square to Charlotte street, 10, 12, 14, 15, 16; Market place to Charlotte street, 20, 22, 24, 26, 29, 32, 35, 38, 40, 43, 44, 46; Market place to Howard street, 49, 51, 54, 58, 60; King street to King street walls, 64, 65, 81, 86, 114, 115, 126; King street to Howard street, 63, 66, 70, 73, 74, 78, 79, 80, 85, 87, 89; King street to Gaol street, 90, 93, 95, 97, 99, 101, 102, 105, 108, 110, 113, 116, 119, 121, 122, 125, 127, 130, 131, 134, 135, 135½, 140, 141, 144; Charlotte street to George street, 19, 20, 21, 23, 25, 30, 33, 36, 39, 41, 42; Howard street to Short quay, 50, 52, 53, 55, 57, 59, 61, 62, 67, 71, 72; Howard street to Gaol street, 75, 77, 84; George street to North quay, 11, 13, 17, 18, 28, 31, 34, 37, 45, 47, 48; Gaol street to Quay, 76, 83, 92, 92½, 96, 100, 103, 104, 106, 111, 112, 117, 118, 123, 124, 128, 129, 132, 133, 136, 137, 138, 139, 142, 143, and 145 Row.

St. Peter's square and terrace, Jetty road, D	Three Herrings Row, Quay
Smiter's bldgs., Jetty road, D	Town-hall row, Quay
South beach, S. of jetty, D.	Tower place, South open, D
South dunes & gate, South quay D.	Troy alley, 15 Row, George st
South open, S. end of King-st. D.	Union place, Theatre gate, D.
South quay, S. end of quay	Vauxhall gardens, suspension bridge, North quay
South Town, S.W. side of the harbour, in Garlestone parish, Suffolk	Vinces bldgs., St George's gt. D.
Swanton's buildings, East open, D.	Wellington pl., Theatre gt. D.
Telegraph cottage South end, D.	West quay, South Town
Theatre plain & gate Market pl.	Winter's buildings, Mkt. gate, D.
	York square, Factory gate, D

CORPORATION & PUBLIC OFFICERS, 1834.

Mayor—The Right Worshipful Isaac Preston, the younger, Esq
High-Steward—Horatio Earl of Orford.
Recorder—Henry Alworth Merewether, Sergeant-at-Law
Sub-Steward—Isaac Preston, Esq
Deputy-Mayor—John Danby Palmer, Esq
Members of Parliament—W. M. Praed and Thos. Baring, Esqrs

ALDERMEN

I. Preston, jun Esq	John Preston, Esq	J. G. Fisher, Esq
Jno. D. Palmer, Esq	Robert Cory, Esq.	Chas. Costerton, Esq
Isaac Preston, Esq.	Sir E. K. Lacon, Bart	J. M. Lacon, Esq
F. R. Reynolds, Esq.	Wm Palgrave, Esq.	Geo Bateman, Esq
W. Barth, Esq	Rt. Cory, jun, Esq	John Baker, Esq
Edm. Preston, Esq	Samuel Paget, Esq.
Below the Chair , Charles John Palmer, Esq

COMMON COUNCILMEN.

Richard F. Moysc	John K. Preston	Robert B. Fern
Thos. Fryer Garwood	Edward Youell	James E. Laws
Wm Taylor	Samuel Costerton	James Jay
Rev. J. Watson, D.D.	Richard Fernier	John T. Bracey
John Ker	John M. Bell	James Clark
Geo. D. Palmer	Thos. W. Howes	Fredenck Preston.
Wm Harbord	William B. Palgrave	John E. Lacon
George Costerton	J. T. Gooch	E. H. L. Preston
Amos Palmer	Samuel B. Cory	Henry Costerton
Robert Fern	Charles Symonds	Samuel Jay
Wm. Fern	W. Norfor	Wm. Mabon

PUBLIC OFFICERS.

279

rs—George Bateman, Esq., and John Baker, Esq.
lerk and Clerk to Paving Commissioners.—Sl. Tolver, Esq.
in to the Corporation—The Hon. & Rev. Edw. Pellew, A.M. rlains—Mr. James Eastmure Laws and Mr. T. W. Howes.
s—Sir E. K. Lacon, Bart.; Isaac Preston, Esq.; Mr. R.
rier, and Mr. W. Yetts
r of Assize Returns—Mr. Watling.—Corn Inspector—Mr.
acey.
n—Mr. Joseph Eller—Neatherd—Mr. P. S. Grudgfield.
or of the Workhouse—Mr. James Kemp.
Bearer, Gaoler, and Bridewell-Keeper—Mr. Thos. King.
uts-at-Mace—Messrs. Peter Coble, (Parish Beadle,) Wm.
 , Henry Shreeve, Robert Carter, and Joseph Morley.
n—Mr. Richard Paul.
's Officer—Mr. Robert Andrews Barnaby.
 SH COURT.—Judge—The Mayor; Clerk—S. Tolver, Esq.; ys—The four Proctors of the Admiralty Court.
 ALTY COURT.—Judge and Admiral—The Mayor.
rs and Notaries Public—Edmund Preston, Esq.; Messrs. C.
 rs, Edward R. Palmer, and Charles J. Palmer.
ar—Robert Cory, jun. Esq.; Marshal—Mr. Thomas King.
ers—Mr. Frederick Preston and Mr. Samuel Jay.
ors of Fishing Doles—John Baker, Esq., and Mr. J. Jay.
Bailiff and Metfarm Officer—Mr. John Fisher Costerton.
 N & PIER Commissioners—The Mayor, Deputy Mayor
 E. K. Lacon, Bart.; Isaac Preston, Esq.; J. M. Bell, Esq.; Charles Symonds, Esq.
er—James Walker, Esq.; Deputy ditto—Mr. John Crane.
aster—Mr. John Bracey; Ballast ditto—Mr. Thos. Clarke.
 OF REQUESTS—Thomas Clowes, clerk
 DISTRIBUTOR—J. H. Palmer, Esq.

CUSTOM-HOUSE.

 or—Sl. P. Edwards, Esq. to ditto—Messrs. R. Welch, Davie, and J. B. M. Stagg. oller—Jno. Preston, Esq. to ditto, and Deputy Pa- e to Bill of Entry Office r. D. B. Preston. g Surveyor, W. Green, Esq. 	 Landing Waiters, &c.—Messrs. W. Auckland, J. Lorimer, and Joseph Poole. Tide Surveyor—Mr. B. Silvers. Coast Waiter at Lowestoft—Mr. H. Yaxley.—Ditto at Beccles —Mr. Wm. Carter.  ing Commander of Coast Guard—Capt. Spencer Smyth, R.N.
--	---

EXCISE-OFFICE, HOWARD-STREET.

 or—W. Boyd, Esq. (acting) or's Clerk—Mr. Rt. Hutson 	 Supervisor—Mr. Jas. Hopkins Permit Writer—Mr. W. Dawson
---	---

YARMOUTH DIRECTORY,

INCLUDING

SOUTH TOWN & GORLESTON, ON THE SOUTH-WEST SIDE OF THE HARBOUR.

Post-Office, 63 Row, King street, near Market place; Miss Elizabeth Seaman, Postmistress. Letters from London, and all parts of the South, arrive at $\frac{1}{4}$ past 9 morning, and are despatched at 5 afternoon. Letters from Beccles, Lynn, and all parts of the North and West arrive at a quarter before 12 noon, and are despatched at a quarter before 3 afternoon. Letters from Norwich arrive at $\frac{1}{4}$ before 1 noon, and are despatched at $\frac{1}{4}$ before 2 afternoon. The Office opens at 9 morning, and closes at 8 night. There is a Receiving House in Gorleston, at Mr. Owen Skinner's, where letters are received at $\frac{1}{4}$ past 2 afternoon, and despatched at 9 morning. The Letter Carriers are, James Cole, 63 $\frac{1}{2}$ Row; Hy. Whiting, 80 Row; Jas. Thompson, South street, and Robt. Palmer, of Gorleston.

MISCELLANY of Gentry, Clergy, Partners in Firms, and other residents of Yarmouth, South Town, and Gorleston, who are not arranged in the succeeding classification of Trades and Professions.

☞ The contractions are similar to those at page 157.

Absolon John, bookpr. 109 Row
Absolon Mrs. M. St. Geo.'s plain
Agnew Mrs. Mary, Gaol street
Ainge Mrs. Eliz. South Town
Aiken Mrs. Eliz. 51 Row
Aldis Thos. clerk, South Town
Aldis John, cashier, North end
Aldret E. R. watchmkr. Short quay
Alexander Jonathan, sawyer,
Charlotte street
Alger John, bookkeeper. St.
George's plain
Allen Jas. bookpr. South Town
Allen John, clerk, South Town
Allison Fras. B. excise, S. Town
Ames Edw. gent. East street
Andrews Hy. gent. North beach
Annesley Capt. Fras. C. Gorleston
Ansell Miss A. North beach ter.
Artis Mrs. Eliz. St. George's pin.
Ashley Lieut. B. R. N. South Town
Atkinson Jno. gent. Church sq.
Atthill Edw. gent. King street
Auckland W. customs, 2, Crown pl.
Austin Mr. Wm. Gaol street

Ayres Robt. dep. harbour master.
Gorleston pier
Baker Hy. bookkeeper, 56 Row
Baker Nhs. cstms. 2, Archer's bds.
Bales John, gent. South Town
Barber Jas. farmer, Gorleston
Barber John, gent. North beach
Barber Robt. rope mfr. Gaol st.
Barber Rt. D. clerk, St. Geo.'s pn.
Barclay Mrs. My. A. South Town
Bardwell Mrs. Marg. Gorleston
Barker Saml. gent. George st.
Barnes Joseph, R. N., Gorleston
Barrett Robt. pilot, South open
Barth Wm. timber merr. S. Town
Barton Jas. in customs, 93 Row
Batchelor Thos. H. gent. King st.
Bawtree Rev. Hvy. Gorleston cliff
Baxfield Jph. organist, George st.
Baxfield Mrs. Ann, 100 Row
Bayes Wm. mason, North quay
Bayly Wm. gent. South Town
Bean Rd. meter, 80 Row
Beart Lieut. Chs. R. N., S. Town
Beart Mrs. Helen, Gaol street

- Beaumont Rt. meter, Theatre gt.
 Beckett Wm. D. gent. North quay
 Beever Arthur, gent. King st.
 Berners Right Hon. Lord, North beach, and Didlington hall
 Bell John, wine mert. King st.
 Bell John B. gent. Gorleston
 Bell Mr. Wm. 36 Row
 Bennett Mr. John, Church trees
 Betts Rev. Hy. Bap. Min. 15 Row
 Bircham Wm. Esq. South beach
 Blackburn Anty. gent. S. Town
 Bly John, gent. Bath house row
 Bly Mrs. Susanna, 118 Row
 Bly Sml. W. Bath house keeper
 Boardman Mrs. Emma, Gaol st.
 Borrett Giles, surgeon, King st.
 Borrett Mrs. Sarah, Queen st.
 Bossley Wm. gent. South Town
 Boulton Mr. Jas. Swanton's bldgs.
 Bowater Mrs. Maria, South Town
 Bowthorpe Mrs. My. A. George st.
 Bowles Mrs. Eliz. The Conge
 Bracey John, pier mstr. King st.
 Breeze Mrs. Keziah, Queen sq.
 Breeze Mrs. Martha, 45 Row
 Brightwen Jno. Esq. Short quay
 Bristow Mrs. Cath. Gorleston
 Bristow Mr. John, 58 Row
 Brookes Mrs. Frances, 110 Row
 Brown Mrs. Lucy, Church sq.
 Brown Miss Sarah, King street
 Browne Mrs. Eliz. South Town
 Browne Mrs. Lucy, Gorleston
 Browne Miss Martha. S. Town
 Browne Thos. caulker, N. quay
 Brundish Mrs. Judith, 85 Row
 Bull Mrs. Lydia, 61 Row
 Bunn Thos. meter, 95 Row
 Burroughs Mrs. L. Church sq.
 Burcham Mrs. Mary, Regent st.
 Burgess Thos. mason, N. quay
 Burdon Mrs. Maria, Bath place
 Burton Chs. Esq. Denes cottage
 Burton Hy. gent. South Town
 Burton Thos. gent. Quay
 Capon Mrs. Jane, Theatre plain
 Carrier Mrs. Mary, 121 Row
 Carrington Mrs. E. Clarence pl.
 Carter Rt. mayor's officer, Geo. st.
 Chittleburgh Mr. Jas. 33 Row
 Chapman Wm. waiter, Howard st.
 Cheeper Edw. meter, Market gate
 Chevalier Mrs. Sophia, S. Town
 Child Mr. John, Town hall row
 Christmas C. H. mert. Market gt.
 Church Thos. upholsterer, 34 Row
 Clabourn Mrs. Eliz. South Town
 Clark Mr. John, 139 Row
 Clarke Mrs. Martha, Gaol st.
 Clarke Rev. Wm. Hy. M.A. Min. of St. Peter's, Quay
 Clifton John T. meter, 61 Row
 Clowes Edw. ironmgr. Howard st.
 Cobb Mrs. Anna M. South Town
 Cobb Simon, tanner, King street
 Coble Peter, Mayor's officer and hall keeper, Town hall quay
 Cockle Mr. John, 97 Row
 Colby Rev. Wm. South Town
 Cole James, postman, 63½ Row
 Colls Mrs. Ann, Gorleston
 Cooper Mrs. M. 4, Greenwood's pl.
 Crane John, pier engineer, Gorleston
 Costerton J. F. water bailiff, &c. Quay
 Creak Rev. Alex. (Ind.) Gaol st.
 Crickmay Mrs. Mary, S. Town
 Crisp Wm. coal meter, 119 Row
 Cross Mrs. A. & Miss J. Gorleston
 Crow Saml. gent. South Town
 Crow Lieut. Wm. Howard street
 Cupper Mrs. Nancy, Gorleston
 Custance Mrs. Mary, Brighton bath house, Theatre plain walls
 Cutts Geo. mail guard, 116 Row
 Davenport Mrs. M. 7, Prospect pl.
 Davy Mrs. Mary, Quay
 Dawson Mrs. Eliz. King street
 Dawson John, gent. George st.
 Davie Mrs. Ann, 57 Row
 Davie Manby, customs, King st.
 Day Chas. gent. King street
 Deeks Jas. musician, George st.
 Denew Mrs. Hanh. North end
 Diggins Mrs. Eliz. South Town
 Diver Rd. gent. King street
 Dixon Mr. Joseph, Paved row
 Dodson Jas. castrator, Fuller's hill
 Doughty C. G. currier, Charlotte st.
 Douglas Jas. superintendent at Silk mills, Church plain
 Drake Mrs. Amana, South Town
 Durant Wm. gent. Gorleston
 Dye John, ironmgr. North quay

YARMOUTH DIRECTORY.

New John, caulker, 99 Row
 Nether Mrs. Phoebe, King st.
 Nether Mrs. Frances, Jetty road
 Newlands Saml. Price, Esq. collector of customs, Quay
 Niles Jph. gent, 121 Row
 Niles Wm. customs, 100 Row
 Niles Capt. J. R.N. South Town
 Nisling Mrs. Maria, South Town
 Nisling Mrs. Hannah, Short quay
 Farrer Mrs. Cath. North end
 Farrow Mr. John, King street
 Farrow Jno. bookpr. Smiler's bdg.
 Fick John, clerk, East hill
 Fennell B. armourer, South Town
 Fidler Jph. gent. Church square
 Fills Jph. meter, Charlotte street
 Fisher James, gent. North quay
 Fisher John Goate, solr. Quay
 Fisher Thornton, gent. King st.
 Fisher Wm. gent. North quay
 Fisher Capt. William, R.N. St.
 Peter's terrace
 Pitt George, bank ck. North end
 Fleming Mrs. Eliz. South Town
 Porter Mr. Wm. St. George's terrace
 Foreman Mrs. Eliz S. 45 Row
 Foster Rev. Abm. Rector of Faustall, Gaol street
 Foster Mrs. Grace, South beach,
 Foster Wm. gent. South beach
 Fountain John, Bridge toll colet.
 Fotheringham John T. gentleman,
 Gorleston
 Fotheringham John, R.N. Gorlestr.
 Fowler Rev. Wm. (Wes.) King
 street
 Fulcher Wm. grocer; h. Theatre
 plain
 G. Gardner Mr. Wm. South Town
 Gurnham John, Esq. South Town and Buxhall hall
 Gledwood Thos. Fryer, painter; h.
 South quay
 Gledge Capt J., R.N. South Town
 Gledges Mrs. Eliz. South Town
 Gledges Henry gent. Market gate
 Gledges the tide waiter and timber measurer, Bath place
 Gledges Mrs. Mary, South Town
 Gledges John Tiddle, gent. Quay
 Gledges Mrs. A. Laughing image

Gonda John, meter, St. Petr.'s walls
 Gonda Lieut. Matthew, Gorleston
 Goodchild Rev Cecil Wray, B.A.
 King street
 Gooderham Mrs. Eleanor, Quay
 Goose Wm. gent. Gorleston
 Gould Thos. gent. South Town
 Gourlay Mr. David, Theatre gate
 Grant Mrs. Lydia, South street
 Green Mr. James, Gorleston
 Green J. lime burner, South Town
 Green Rt. excise officer, Prospect
 place
 Green Wm. customs, South Town
 Grimes Mr. George, Market gate
 Guild Rt. Alex. bookpr. South
 denes
 Gunthorpe Mtw. gent. Theatre gt.
 Gunton Misses Ann & Susanna,
 Hog hill
 Guthrie Adgt. Jas. E. N. Crown pl.
 Hagon Mr. Benj. North end
 Hall Hy. horse dr. Priory yard
 Hallmarke Mrs. Eliz. King street
 Hammond Jas. farmer, Gorleston
 Hammond Mr. Rd. 6, North ter
 Hammond Thos. librn. Howard st.
 Hanchett Mrs. Maria, Theatre pln.
 Handley Edw. gent. South Town
 Harbert Wm. bookpr. 96 Row
 Hardingham Stpn. Factory yard
 Harley Cornelius, G. gent. 36 Row
 Harman Jas. gent. North quay
 Harmer Lieut. St. F. 2, Bath pl.
 Harris Mrs. Sarah, Gorleston
 Hart Chas. mail guard, North qy.
 Harvey Col. John, Gorleston cliff
 Hastings Mrs. Ruth, 45 Row
 Hewitt Mr. Danl. Market gate
 Hawking Jno. excise, The Conge
 Hinder Rd. farmer, North quay Hoggett John, horsebrkr. Laughing image
 Holland Mrs. Caroline, North qy.
 Holland Mrs. Margt, South Town
 Holmes Mr. Thos. 116 Row
 Hornsby Lieut. Wm. R.N. 3,
 North terrace
 Hornfray Rev John, B.A., F.A.S.
 St. George's terrace
 Horsbrough Mrs. My. Howard st.
 Houghton John. meter, Queen qy

- Houghton Mrs. Susanna, St. George's plain Howard Wm. joiner, 4 Row
 Hubbard Jas. sweep, 60 Row
 Hubbard Mrs. Susanna, 141 Row
 Huke Wm. gent, 121 Row
 Hunt Hy. watchmr. 4, Clarence pl.
 Hunn Edw. fisherman, Lghg. im.
 Hurst Mrs. S. King street
 Hudson Thos. Esq. South beach
 Humphreys Mrs. Ann, Gorleston
 Humphries J. bookpr. Gorleston
 Hunt John, excise, Gorleston
 Hogarth, D. coach propr. Short qy.
 Inman Jas. pilot, Smiter's bdgs.
 Jay Mrs. Thomasin, Quay
 Jeab Rt. reporter, King street
 Jeffries Capt. Jas. South Town
 Jenner Lieut. Geo. R. N. S. Town.
 Jex Mr. James, Jetty road
 Johnson Mrs. Hanh. Hog hill
 Johnson Mrs. Martha Ann, South Town
 Keisby Lieut. Thomas, R. N. North beach
 Kelley Mrs. Susanna, Gorleston
 Kemp Jas. Governor of Workhouse, Market place
 Kemp Robert Palmer, Esq. Quay
 Kerrison John, gent. North end
 King Alfred, turnkey, Paved row
 King Mr. Joseph, 41, Row
 King Mrs. Church plain
 King Thos. Governor of the Gaol, Gaol street
 Lacon Mortlock, Esq. Short quay
 Lamb Allen, R. N. South Town
 Language Mr. Wm. Gaol street
 Larke Capt. Wm. R. N. King st.
 Larter Mrs. Susanna, Gaol street
 Lash Mrs. Susanna, South Town
 Last James, agent, South Town
 Lawter Mrs. Hannah, North quay
 Lermite Rd. gent. Gorleston
 Lettis Mrs. Eliz. Howard street
 Lew Lieut. Hy. R. N. 13, Bath pl.
 Libbis John, gent. South Town
 Linder Mrs. Mary, Gaol street
 Lings Mrs. Eliz. Fuller's hill
 Loddy Thos. gent. South Town
 Lloyd Mrs. E. E. 2, St. Peter's ter.
 Long Jas. R. N. Gorleston
 Lonsdale Rd. gent. North quay
 Lovewell Mrs. Eliz. South Town
 Lowne Mrs. Eliz. Howard street
 Lowry Mrs. Margaret, 54, Row
 M'Cormick Mrs. Mary, South Twn.
 Maddeys Rev. Geo. (Bap.) 85 Row
 Manby Mrs. Eliz. Swanton's bdg.
 Manby Capt. Geo. Wm. Barrack Master, Royal Barcks. S. Denes
 Mann Jas. sawyer, Theatre pln.
 Mann Wm. gent. King street
 Margerum Misses S. & M. King st.
 Marsh Mrs. Ann, Quay
 Marsh Saml. Chas. mert. Quay
 Marston Mr. James, 26 Row
 Martin Mr. Chas. 129 Row
 Martin Mr. Jas. South Town
 Mayhew Mrs. Sarah, 50 Row
 Meal Mrs. Sophia, St. George's pln.
 Meffen Rev. John, Lady Huntingdon's Chapel, Market place
 Miles Mr. James, Jetty road
 Miller Mrs. Mary Ann, North end
 Miller Wm. clerk, South Town
 Money Miss Anna M. Short quay
 Moon Mrs. Prudence, North end
 Moor D. B. Boarding house for proprietary school, South Town
 Moore Mrs. My. Ann, Short quay
 Morley Mr. Jas. Theatre plain
 Morley Jph. myr's. officer, 36 Row
 Morrison Danl. purser, South Town
 Moss Chas. spirit mert. Quay
 Moss Wm. shopman, George st.
 Moxon Miss Eliz. King street
 Moyse Robert, gent. Quay
 Nash Mr. Abm. Theatre gate
 Nash Mrs. Lydia, South Town
 Nave Mr. Jas. St. George's ter.
 Neale Mr. Fras. South Town
 Neale Mr. James, 100 Row
 Neave Matthew C. gent. North end
 Nelson Wm. grocer, George street
 Nevill Viscount, Telegraph Cottage, & London
 Neville Mrs. Jessica, King st.
 Nichols Mr. Thos. The Conge
 Nichols Mr. Danl. King street
 Nightingale Sl. bookpr. North end
 Nobbs Mrs. Harriet, North end
 Norfor Mr. Jas. North beach
 Norton Mr. James, North end
 Onslow Capt. John Jas. Wellington place

Over Thos. H. gent. South Town
 Orfeur John, merchant, Queen st
 Owles Mrs. Elz. North end
 Page Saml. D. merr. North beach
 Page Wm. gardener, 61 Row
 Paget John, brewer, North quay
 Paine Thos. R. N. King street
 Palmer A. R. shipldr. Southgate
 Palmer Mrs. Lorino, Gaol street
 Palmer Mrs. Susanna, Quay
 Palmer Rt. postman, Gorleston
 Palmer Wm. farmer, Gorleston
 Pardy Wm. C. meter, Gaol st.
 Parker Sir George, Quay
 Parker Jas. (sec. to Savings' Bank,) 66 Row
 Parson John gent. South Town
 Paul Rd. towncrier, 55 Row, Quay
 Pearson Capt. Chas. R. N. Quay
 Pellew Hon. Rev. Edw. A. M. Church square
 Pells Mr. Thos. Gorleston
 Penrice John, Esq. King street
 Perry Peter, oatmeal & groats manufacturer, 110 Row
 Pestell Mr. Edmund, Crown place
 Pettet Mrs. Mary, Gorleston
 Pigg Mrs. Elz. North quay
 Pike John, gent. 1, Jetty road
 Plan Rev. Wm. (Ind.) Gorleston
 Ploman Miss Barbara, Bath Edgs.
 Pitt Lieut. Wm. R. N. South Town
 Ploughman Mrs. Jane, King st.
 Poole John, customs, South Town
 Pope Thos. ferryman, South Town
 Porrett John, meter, 118 Row
 Porter Wm. in customs, 97 Row
 Pratt James, gent. North quay
 Pratt Wm. sergt. at mace, 61 Row
 Preston John, Esq. comptroller of customs, South quay
 Preston Mrs. Sarah, Church sq.
 Preston Edw. H. L. mercht. Quay
 Preston Isaac, merchant, Quay
 Preston Isaac jun. solr. Theatre gt
 Pretty Geo. tide waiter, South gt
 Pugh Philip, gent. South Town
 Quinlan John, gent. Gorleston
 Rabbitt Mrs. J. Bath place
 Randall Wm. gent. South Town
 Raven Mr. Jas. 10, Prospect place,
 Read Mrs. Ann, tambour worker, 132 Row

Read James, bookpr. North end
 Reeve Mrs. Eliz. George street
 Reid Walter, gent. Belle vue cottage, Market gate
 Reynolds Fras. Riddell, solicitor, King street
 Reynolds Misses S. & O. King st.
 Rice Mrs. Mary, Gaol street
 Riches Mrs. North end
 Ringwood Mr. Saml. Fuller's hill
 Rivett Mr. Jas. Gorleston
 Rivett J. jun. overseer, Gorleston
 Rix Miss Mary, Gaol street
 Roberts Wm. gent. Prospect pl.
 Roberts Jas. customs, Paved row
 Robson Mrs. Letley, King street
 Rope John, farmer, Gorleston
 Rowling Mrs. Mary, North end
 Ruxby Mrs. Ann, 63 Row
 Safferey Henry, gent. Quay
 Salisbury Rbt. excise officer, 3, Prospect place, North end
 Sampson Mr. Moses, Howard st.
 Savory Mrs. Rebecca, Church sq.
 Sayer Wm. bookpr. 130 Row
 Sayers Chas. solicitor, Quay
 Scott Saml. gent. South Town
 Seaman John, parish clk. Ch. trees
 Sewell Abm. grocer, North end
 Sharman Mr. John, North end
 Sharman Mrs. My. Ann, East hall
 Shearing Mr. Abm. Market gate
 Shelley John, merchant, Quay
 Shipman Rev. John, Wesleyan methodist minister, King street
 Shreeve Hy. sergeant at mace, 112 Row
 Shuckford Mr. Isaac, North end
 Silvers Brighton, tide surveyor, Gorleston cliff
 Simonds Mr. Wm. 57 Row
 Simpson Dvd. gent. South Town
 Simpson Mrs. My. Church square
 Sinclair Henry, gent. Quay
 Skinner Mr. Thos. St. George's gt.
 Sloman Mrs. Anna, King st. et
 Smee Mrs. Eliza, Neaves w^{re}
 Smiter Wm. gent. 1, St. Peter's ter
 Smith Mrs. Jane, 77 Row
 Smith John, clerk, George street
 Smith John, musician, 106 Row
 Smith Mrs. Martha, 139 Row

Smith Mrs. Mary, North quay
 Smith Mr. Thos. Church square
 Smith Wm. gentleman, Queen st.
 Smith Wm. Briggs, gent. Gorleston
 Smyth Capt. Spencer, R. N. Jettyrd.
 Southam Mrs. Sarah, Fuller's hill
 Spalding Danl. gent. Gorleston
 Spence Mrs. Frances, South Town
 Springall Mrs. Eliza, South Town
 Squire Rev. Hy (Unit.) South gt.
 Squire Matthew, gent. Jetty rd.
 Stagg Mrs. Charlotte, Theatre pls.
 Stanford Mrs. Elizabeth, Quay
 Stanley Mrs. Eliza, North end
 Steward Thos. meter, North Quay
 Steward Wm. Esq. Quay
 Stothworthy Mrs. Eliza, South Town
 Stringer Mr. Thos. Theatre gate
 Stringer Rt. merc. Bridge foot
 Swann Mr. Jas. North end
 Swanton Mr. Wm. Swanton's bldgs.
 Tanqueray Rev. Thos. Gorleston
 Tate Rev. Jph. (Cath.) George st.
 Taylor Mrs. North end
 Tensell Mrs. Isabella, 118 Row
 Theobald Mrs. 124 Row
 Thompson Lieut. John L. R. N.
 Regent street
 Thompson Miss Mary, 132 Row
 Thorndick Wm. tidewtr. Gaol st.
 Thrower Wm. farmer, Gorleston
 Thurtell Wm. gent. Quay
 Todman Capt. Wm. R. N. 105 Row
 Tolver Bl. solicitor and town clerk,
 Town hall; b. Quay
 Tomlinson Rd. gent. South Town
 Trett Robt. bookpr. George st.
 Tabby Henry, gent. Gorleston
 Tuckfield Mrs. S. South Town
 Turner Dwan. Esq. baker, Quay
 Turner Rev. Rd. (surgat.) Quay
 Tuthill Miss Eliza 101 Row
 Urquhart Mrs. Hank. 139 Row
 Urquhart Mrs. Lydia, S. Town
 Vale Mrs. Priscilla, North end
 Valpy Mrs. Anna, South Town
 Varden Mr. John, East hill
 Waite Mr. Wm. North end
 Ward Hiram, cotton mfr. Gaol st.
 Warner Isc. pilot, Smiter's bldgs.
 Warner Mrs. Mary, South Town
 Warren Jas. customs, 96 Row

Warren Thos. pilot, 7, Morrison's buildings
 Waters Mrs. Ann, Gorleston
 Waters John, farmer, Gorleston
 Waters Mrs. Mgda. M., S. Town
 Waters Rev. Mark, B.A., min. of St. George's, Theatre gate
 Watson Mrs. C. midwife, Cenge
 Watson J. Taylor, timber measurer, North quay
 Watson Mrs. Mary, Paved row
 Watson Miss Sarah, King street
 Watts Geo. mail guard, 106 Row
 Webb Rd. Baggott, pilot, N. b.
 Welch Robt. customs, King st.
 Welch Miss Sophia, 132 Row
 Wheeler Thos. gent. 9, Bath pl.
 White Mrs. Eliza, Market gate
 White Hy. Lavahall, gt. King st.
 Whiting Hy. postman, 80 Row
 Wicks Thos. gent. South Town
 Wilkinson A. H. gent. Gorleston
 Williams John H. merc. King st.
 Wittler Mr. Jacob, North end
 Woods Alex. solr.; b. Queen st.
 Woodthorpe John, R. N. Gorleston
 Woolverton Chas. painter, S. Quay
 Woolverton Wm. gent. South Town
 Worship Rev. Wm. Gorleston
 Worts Mr. Wm. King street
 Wright Thos. gent. Gorleston
 Yallop Jas. Northend gardens
 Youell Edw. Esq. banker, Quay
 Youell John, clerk, Church sq
ACADEMIES.

*Marked * take Boarders.*
 Andriot Claude Anne (languages),
 Regent street
 Barrett Benj. North quay
 Bayly Jph. King street
 * Bowles Eliza, Regent st.
British Free, St. George's gate:
 Wm. Howes
 Birch Thomas, Gorleston
 Burrows Eliza, South st.
 * Casborne Meralina & Lucretia,
 George street
 Chapman David, King st.
 Charity School, Theatre plain
 Gersham and Mrs. Davis
 Church Edw. Foster, Theatre pls.
 Cooper John, 109 Row

•Cowles Reuben Fdk. 15 Row ;
 h. Fuller's hill
 Cranes Sarah H. Market gates
 Crockett Sar. & Maria, Market pl.
 Crow Mary, Davies' court
 Cudden Wm. Market gates
 Dye Wm. King street
Free Schools, Gorleston, Thomas
 Potter and Ann James Grammar (Yarmouth Proprietary), South Town, Rev Thos.
 Clowes, M A ; Rev Cecil Wray
 Gundehald, B A ; Mr. D. B
 Moore ; and Mons. C A. Audriot
 Graves Danl. Wellington place
 Green Edw 63½ Row
 •Griffith Ann & J. Townhall row
 Holland James, Gorleston
Hospital (Boys & Girls), Markt. place, Saml & Mrs. Crowther
 Howes Wm. 13 and 35 Row
Infant Schools, St. George's plain Walls, Caroline Thompson ; and Troy alley, 45 Row, Matilda
 Goffin
 Jarmony Walter, East hill
 Jenney Mary, 2, Prospect place
 Maddeys Rev. Geo. 142, h. 85 Row
 Meffen Rev John, Market place
 May John, 60 Row
 Ottey Wm. (nautical) 42 Row
 Palmer Wm. Balls, Wellington pl
 •Peterson Mary Ann, King st.
 •Plummer Jph. King st. house
School of Industry, King street,
 Sar Bricknell
 •Sivers Ann, Gaol st.
 Sims Wm. King st.
 Skakel John, Howard street
 Sloman Wm. Hny. Regent st.
 Smith Sl Howard st. and Gorleston
 •Storey Mary Ann, Theatre plain
 Stove Sarah, The Conge
 Sutton Rd. (nautical), 137 Row
 •Swain Malw Hastings, Queen st.
 Thomas Mary, Church square
 Thompson Thomas, Gaol st.
 Tydeman Hanh. Regent street
 •Walpole Chtte. & Miha George st.
 Watling Fms. Charlotte st.
 •Watson Eliz. 92 Row
 •Woolley Sarah, South Town
 Woolmery Mary Ann, North quay

AGENTS (Ship &c.)

Barrett Hy (railway), Bath place
 Bird Wm West quay, South Town
 Brown Chas (Gas Co.) South Town
 Bunn Thomas, South Town
 Beeston John, Jetty road
 Butcher Mattw. King st
 Clarke Thos. & Co South gate
 Davie Wm. (Trinity house) 92 Row
 Jermyn Danl. 100 Row
 Kemp Stph. (Porter) Short quay
 Laws Jas. Eastmure, Quay
 Palmer Jas. Hurry & Co. Regent st.
 Saunders and Son, Quay
 Shelly John & Co. (to Lloyds') Quay
 Teasdel Rt. 96 Row ; h. Gaol st.

ANCHOR SMITHS, &c.

Eabbage Wm. Boulton, South st.
 Minister John, 76 Row
 Moore Saml. Velaz, South gate
 ARCHITECT, &c.

Hulley Thos. S. Howard st.
 ARTISTS & Teachers of Drawing,
 Barrett Benj. North quay
 Haw Miss Jane & Sisters, Regent st.
 Housego Hy. Winter's buildings
 ATTORNEYS.

Marked are Notaries, † are Pro-* ctors in the Yarmouth Admiralty court, and ‡ are Commissioners for fiats of Bankruptcy

•Baker John, North quay
 •† Bell Chas 97 Row ; h. King st.
 ‡ Clowes & Son, Regent st. & Caistor
 •Cobb Jas. Regent st.
 •† Cory Rt. jun. (Registrar of Admiralty court), 76 Row ; h. Gaol st.
 •Crickmay T. Regent st. h. S. Town
 •Fisher & Lucas, Gaol paved row
 Hodkinson Frederick, Quay
 Holt Geo. Wells, Gaol street † Palmer Chas. John (see Reynolds and Palmer) ; h. South quay •† Palmer Edm. Reeve, Regent st.
 Palmer Nathl. Regent street
 •Palmer Saml. Short quay
 Pitt Thos. Regent street
 •† Preston Edm. North quay Ranney John (freemason magistrates' clerk for E & W Flegg) Hog hill
 •Reynolds & Palmer, 13, Regent st.
 •† Sayers and Woods, Queen st.
 •Steward Thos. Fowler, Regent st.

*Tolver and Preston, Town hall
Waters Jas. Denew, Regent st.
*†Worship Harry Verelst; 80
Row; h. King street

AUCTIONEERS.

Clarke John Shelly, St. Geo. gate
Cory Edw. Theatre plain walls
Fill Jaa. Charlotte street
Forder Thos. Charlotte street
Pettingill Walter D. Regent st.
Thurtell John, South Town

BAKERS & FLOURDLRS.

See also Confectioners.

Archer Thos. White Lion open
Ayres Rebecca, Broad row
Barnaby Thos. 30 Row
Bayfield Thos. Fuller's hill
Beever Wm. Howard street
Bennett Rt. George street
Bird John, Wellington place
Clarke Edmd. Howard street
Cocks Robt. North quay
Craske Robt. King street
Dawson Eliz. Quay
Duncan Jaa. Gorleston
Emms Jaa. Gaol street
Farman Mary, North quay
Feek John, Town hall row
Grimble John, May place
Hacon Jaa. George street
Hall Wm. Market place
Harnton Ann, North end
Hewett Stephen, Gaol street
Hewitt Thos. Gorleston
Holland George, Gorleston
Houchen Chas. Laughing image
Houchen Jathn. Howard street
Howard John, Charlotte street
Howard Saml. Market gate
Jay Thomas, King street
Julier Mattw. George street
Kemp My. Ann, 125 Row
Kemp Wm. Gaol street
Laky Jane, Market place
Lincoln Jaa. Jetty road
Linhen Saml. Michl. Gaol street
Martin Rt. Knowles, Market gate
Matthews Jasper, Gorleston
Mobbs Saml. 34 Row
Powley Rd. Jetty road
Reynolds Geo. Gorleston
Sayer Hy. Rainbow corner
Sayer Saml. South street

Scott James, Gaol street
Smith Thomas, 3 Row
Stevenson Saml. Gorleston
Tooke Rt. George street
Ward Edw. Charlotte street
Woodrow Edmd. King street

BANKS.

Gurneys, Turner, and Brightwen, Short quay, (draw on Barclay
and Co.)

Lacon Sir Edm. Knowles, Bart., Lacona, Yousell and Co., Short quay, (draw on Eadaile and Co.)
Savings' Bank, 66 Row; open every Wed. from 12 till 1; Jas.
Parker, Sec.

BASKET MAKERS.

Blake Rt. Post Office row
Lamb Jas. Market pl.; h. Gaol st.
Miller John, King street
Newson Jas. Gorleston
Page Wm. South street
Shuckford Benj. Market place
Whiting Benj. South Town

BATH KEEPERS.

Bly Saml. Walker, Subscription
Bath house

Custance M. A. Brighton Bath h.

BILLIARD ROOMS.

Bath Rooms, Saml. W. Bly, Jetty
Private Subsn. Rooms, Short quay
George IV., Eliz. Morse, King st.
Shakespeare, R. Cruckless, King st.

BIRD, &c. PRESERVERS.

Colby John, Howard street
Harvey Isaac, 42 Row

BLACKSMITHS.

Banns John, North quay
Cannell Jaa. Gorleston
Carr John, South Town; h. Geo. st.
Crane Eliz. Market place
Fulcher Isaac, Church plain
Gooda Wm. South Town
Harburd John, North quay, 37 Row
Ingram John, North quay
Lovick Thos. North end
Manning Wm. Pudding gate
Masterson Wm. Gorleston
Randle Wm. 132 Row
Read John, Gorleston
Read Saml. Gorleston
Smith John, Caistor road
Smith Saml. St. George's plain

BOAT BUILDERS.See also Ship Builders.

Cobb Robt. South Town
 Froadick Thos. North quay
 Godfrey Jph. North quay
 Hastings Jph. South gate
 Houghton Philip. North quay
 Jermyn & Mack, S Town, Quay
 Lowther —, North quay
 Westgate Rt. South quay

BOOKBINDERS, &c.

Campbell John, Fuller's hill
 Paul Thos (account book mfr.)
 Gaol street

Smith Wm. Howard street

BOOKSELLERS, &c

*Marked * are Bookbinders, & † are Printers & Stationers only*

* Alexander Wm. King street
 † Barnes John, Regent street
 † Crisp Fortunatus, Regent st.
 * Duncan Alexander, Market rw.
 Foreman John, (old,) Theatre pln.
 * Gooch Borrett, Market place
 * Skill Frdk. (News Agt.) Short
 quay
 * Sloman Chs. (News Agt.) King
 street

† Swanton Frances, Market row

BOOT & SHOE MAKERS

Ames Thomas, George street
 Artis Francis, St. George's plain
 Baldwin Charles, Market place
 Bayly Robert, Charlotte street
 Beckett Geo. W. Broad row
 Bee James, Gaol street
 Bennett Abm. St. George's gate
 Blyth John, Broad row
 Bristow John, King street
 Browne Benjamin, 51 Row
 Bulmore Robert, North quay
 Bunn James, Broad row
 Bunn Robt. North end
 Burgess Richard, Market place
 Burman Richard, South street
 Buston Jno. Trueman, Paved row
 Clarke Wm. South quay
 Cobb John, 26 Row
 Crane Clement, 3 Row
 Dawson Wm. Charlotte street
 Daw James, 26 Row
 Dunnell John, Gaol street
 Durrell Samuel, Gorleston

Elmer James, 130 Row
 Eastick John, Gaol street
 Feke Edwd. 54 Row
 Fransham John, North end
 Feltham Jas. Market place
 Fisk Rt. Howard street
 Fromow Thos. East street
 Flowerday Job, George street
 Fountain Rt. Market gate
 Gooda Thos. Gaol st; h South
 Grand Rd. 22 Row
 Hales Wm. Charlotte street
 Houchen Geo. Gaol street
 Jillings Benj. Gaol street
 Langley Saml. Gorleston
 Langley Wm. Jetty road
 Laxon Henry, North quay
 Lockhart Adam, 145 Row
 Martins Simon, Gaol street
 Made John, East hill
 Miller Wm. Quay
 Minter Robt. Gorleston
 Neale Philip, Charlotte street
 Newrick John, Church square
 Newton Wm. South Town
 Nichols Edmd. Market place
 Nobbs Edw. 79 Row
 Nolloth Wm. Gaol street
 Panks Hy. 101 Row
 Perry Wm. Gaol street
 Rainer Fras. King street
 Remlance Wm. 96 Row
 Roberts Vincent, 44 Row
 Rushmer Saml. Broad row
 Sacret Thos. Broad row
 Short John, Market row
 Simpson Geo. Barber, Market row
 Simpson Wm. Jasper, Market row
 Smith Benj. George street
 Spratt Stph. Gaol street
 Stevenson Saml. Gaol street
 Swanton Wm. Market row
 Theobald Benj. Gaol street
 Toud Robt. George street
 Tripp Wm. Church square
 Walton Wm. King street
 White Abm. (old) George street
 White Peter, Church plain
 Woodcock John, Fuller's hill
 Wright Jas. 60 Row
 Wright Rd. Charlotte street
 Yarham Benj. Gaol street

BRAZIERE AND TINNERS.

See Ironmongers also.

Adams Wm. South street
Barlow Saml. 23 Row
Belson Rd. George street
Crisp John, 41 Row
Grice Wm. David, 13 Row
Hamman Rt. George street
Smith Rd. Gaol street

BREWERS & MALTSTERS.

Bell John Sayer, Gorleston
Costerton Saml. St. George's gt.
Ferrier Rd. Gaol street
Lacon Sir Edm. K. Bart., and Sons, George street
Lubbock Chas. The Conge
Mann Wm. 124 Row; h. Gaol st.
Martin Hy. Crown place
Minter Thos. White Lion open
Paget and Son, North quay
Palmer Jas. Hurry, jun. Jetty road
Tomlinson Jph. 4, Howard street
Vince Isaac, Vince's buildings
Watling Rt. Shingles, West quay,
South Town; h. Church square

BRICK, TILE, AND LIME
MERCHANTS.

Green Jas. and Thos. West quay
Green Wm. North quay; Benj.
Burton, agent
Green Wm. South quay; Benj.
Newson, agent
Nuthall Philip, North quay
Reedham Brick & Cement Works,
North quay; Jas. Last, agent

BRICKLAYERS, &c.

Arbon Danl. 26 Row
Arbon Geo. South open
Bull George, Gorleston
Burrage Thos. 105 Row
Burwell Jas. 95 Row
Deekens Saml. 54 Row
Dibol Thos. 19 Row
Maddeys John, 101 Row
Maddeys Thos. Howard street
Page James, 119 Row
Popay Geo. Stringer, South Town
Pratt Jas. 47 Row
Pratt Mark, 87 Row
Pyle John, 28 Row
Sadler Wm. 130 Row
Stringer Thomas, 45 Row
Thompson Amb. Market gate

Tooley Edw. Market gate

Woods Thomas, Gorleston

Wright Wm. Hy. 87 Row

BRUSH & PATTEN MKRS.

Ellis Chpr. Taylor, Market place
Lowe Saml. (pattens only,) 41 Row
Willamant Thos. Charlotte street

BUTCHERS.

*Marked * are Pork Butchers.*

Balls Frans. Market place
Barnes Jeremiah, Market place
Bell John, Gorleston
Bellamy Robt. King street
Bellamy Winter, King street
Burman Edward, Charlotte st.
Carsey Robt. Market gate
Carsey Wm. Market gate
Collins John, North end
Draper Jacob, King street
Draper John, Market place
Draper John, jun. Market place
Durrant Sarah, King street
Gunton Abraham, George street
Gunton Simon, George street
* Harris George, Gaol street * Herring Chas. Gottlieb, (and bacon curer,) King street
Howard John, Greenwood's bldgs.
Howard Maria, George street
Hughes John, Greenwood's bldgs.
* Jex Henry, Gorleston
Jex Jacob, Gorleston
Keable John, Market place
Lamb John, Greenwood bldgs.
Lamb Rd. Conyers, Gaol street
* Marsh Wm. George street
Martin Nathaniel, Market place
Newman, Samuel, Gorleston
Pleasant Charles, Market gate
Presant J. Quay; h. Gorleston
Read Robt. Greenwood bldgs.
* Rounce John, St. George's pa.
Savory Wm. Market gate
Shipston Wm. Market place
Swan Wm. Market place
Winter Henry, Market place
Wright Edward, King street

CABINET MAKERS.

*Marked * are Upholsterers.*

* Blowers Mark, Charlotte street
Burman James, 40 Row
Crabtree Edward, Charlotte street
Crow John, Howard street

Fish John, Howard street
 Goffin Robt. North quay
 Greenacre Thos. Charlotte street
 • Hart, William, George street
 • Haynes John, King street
 Johnson Joshua, 99 Row
 Maddison Samuel, 85; h. 87 Row
 • Moon Philip, Charlotte street
 • Norman Simon, Charlotte st.
 Pope John, Charlotte street
 Reddish James, George street
 Richmond John, Howard street
 • Utting Robt. Leneve, Gaol st.
 Ward George, South Town

CARPET WAREHOUSES.

Blowers Mark Charlotte street
 Hart Wm. George street

Moon Philip, Charlotte street

CARVERS & GILDERS.

Townshend John, 24 Row

West Henry, King street

Woolby John, George street

Wormald James, George street

CHAIR MAKERS.

Aldred Wm. North quay; h. 37 Row

Mallett Robert, Market gates

Newark Henry, George street

CHEESE, BACON, & BUTTER FACTORS

May Wm. & Co. North quay

Pulford George, Market row

CHEMISTS & DRUGGISTS.

Bond John, King street

Davie Cufaud, Short quay

Greaves George, Gorleston

Hewitt Geo. Hy. King street

Mabson Wm. Market place

Markland Edwin, Market place

Owles John, George street

Steward Chas. Saml. Market pl.

Symonds John, Gaol street

Welborne George, Quay

CLOTHES BROKERS.

Isaacs Jewel, Gaol street

Wolf Shreiner, Charlotte street

COACH BUILDERS.

Gill Wm. North quay; h. Fuller's hill

Tooley and London, Fuller's hill

West John Davy, (gigs,) Market gate

CONFECTIONERS.

Bassingthwaite Wm. 60 Row

Beecroft Peter, Charlotte street

Boulter Mary, Caistor road

Cooks Robert, Church plain

Franklin John, South Town

Laws Jph. & Noah, George st.

Lowue Judith, Broad row

Money Thos. (sugars,) 13 Row

Naunton George, Market row

Naunton Libbis, Gaol street

Naunton Walter, Charlotte street

Naunton Wm. Gaol street

Rivett Henry, King street

Rogers John Rivett, Market gate

Taylor Charles, Gorleston

CONSULS—(VICE.)

America & Russia, John Shelley, Quay

Denmark, Hanover, France, Netherlands, Norway, Oldenburgh,

Portugal, Prussia, Sweden, &

Turkey, Isaac Preston & Son,

South Town, Quay

Spain, Samuel Paget, Quay

COOPERS.

Marked are Wine Coopers*

• Bennett John, Gaol street

Brunning James, Gorleston

• Callow Wm. 60 Row

Campbell Walter, 111 Row

Earl Robert, South open

Farmer Wm. North quay

Gillings Wm. South open

Godbolt Jph. South Town

Guyton Wm. 45 Row

Nichols Wm. 51 Row

Palmer John, St. George's gates

• Read Wm. Charlotte street

• Smith Thomas, Charlotte street

Woolverton Nicholas, 131 Row

CORK CUTTERS.

Burman Richard, Church plain

CORN & FLOUR DEALERS.

Marked are Seed Merchts. also.*

Alcock Robt. Howard street

Baverley Saml. Church plain

Candler Harnet, Howard street

Child Charlotte, North end

Crowe Jas. (flour agt.) Fuller's

Dublack James, Market gate

Ellerd John, 54 Row

Gold Daniel, North end
 * Harley George, Market row
 Hood John, Caistor road
 Jenner Charles, The Cange
 * Kemp Stpn. Bridge foot, Short quay

Layton Hcz. Martin, South Town
 More Robert, 63 Row
 Scrutton James, Church plain
 Skinner Owen, Gorleston
 Storey John, South Town
 Suffling John, Church square

CORN MERCHANTS.

End W. West quay, South Town
 Brown John, North bridge; h. Howard street

Brown Samuel, Gaul paved row
 Bunn Thomas, South Town quay
 Carter Robt. 37, row; h. South Town

Dowson Benj. Short quay
 Dowson B. U. & Sons, South Town
 Dowson Jph. Withers, S. Town
 Stead Patrick, West quay, South Town

Tidman Wm. North end
 Watling John, West quay, South Town

Wigg Samuel, Fuller's hill

CORN MILLERS.

Bell Geo. Gabriel, Crown place
 Branford Ed. South Town
 Burward John, South Town; h. Charlotte street

Cole Anthony, Theatre gate
 Cole George, Gorleston
 Cooper Thomas, South Town
 Foreman Rml. & Benj. St. Geo.'s gate, and Short quay

Hammond Thos. North end, and South Town

Mayers John, 54, Row

Page Thos. George st. S. Town

Skinner Wm. Market gate

Slipper John, Mkt. gates & Danes

Tooley Et. Factory gate & Church square

Waters Rt. Cobham mill, South Town

COWKEEPERS.

Marked * are Cart Owners.

Adams John, Gorleston

Annes James, Gorleston

Bailey Edward, Crown place

Beales Php. Jetty road

Bonney Eliz. Gorleston

Bowes Thomas, Rainbow corner

Bowman James, May place

Bracey James, 47 Row

Bunn, R. 70 Row

Burgess John, South Town

Burgess Ts. North end gardens

Carter Mary, Gorleston

Cox Arthur, East hill

* Driver Hy. Gaul street

Finch John, 79, Row

Fisk Hy. Tower place

Fowler George, North quay

* Fransham Rt. North end

Gamble Wm. North end gardens

Goldsmith Henry, Gorleston

* Greenwood Thos. 118 Row

Haynes John, North quay

* Holliday & Neckles, Drake buildings

Hughes Mary, Jetty road

Johnson John, South open

Johnson Tobias, Market gates

King Samuel, 137 Row

* Layton John, Cobham island

* Marsh Robert, 119 Row

Newman Jane, North end

* Osborn James, 40 Row

Page Richard, 28 Row

* Powley Dnl. Laughing image

Powley Richard, Mill road

Reeve Rachel, 73 Row

Salthouse Wm. South Town

Starling James, 3 Row

Steward Charles Market gate

Thompson Amy, Troy alley

* Thompson Martin, 59 Row

Wade Eliz. Rainbow corner

Wilkinson George, 28 Row

Withers Jph. St. George's gate

* Wood George, 138 Row

* Wooden Jacob, 41 Row

Wright Joseph, Gorleston

CRAPPE & SHAWL MFRS.

Baylis, Ringer, & Martin, Silk

mills, and Norwich

CURRIERS AND LEATHER

CUTTERS.

Cobb Benj. (& wholesale water boot mfr.) George street

Cobb and Doughty, Charlotte st.

Godfrey Robt. 63 Row
Nash David, Broad Row
Nash John, King street
Robinson Jph Church square

CUFFLETS.

Callings Eliz. Charlotte street
Offord Duffield, Broad Row
Sumner Wm. Paved Row
Weaver Jona, Gorleston

DYERS.

Borking James, George street
Gibbins John Alex. 97 Row
Palmer John, Church square
Rivett Henry, 60 Row
Royall Paul, 40 Row

GLASSWARE.—See Glass

EATING HOUSES.

Beckett James, Paved row
Collins Mary, King street
Gray Eliz Howard street

ENGRAVERS, &c.

Barnes John, Regent street
Christmas James, 36 Row
Spilman Natal 26 Row

FANCY AND TOY WARE-HOUSES.

Falcke Jacob, Charlotte street
Gourlay D.J. Abm. Market row
Mordecai Isaac, Market place
Turner Mary, Market row

FIRE & LIFE OFFICES.

Argus, (L.e.) Borrett Gough,
Market place
Atlas, Thos. Crickmay, Regent st.
British and Westminster Life,
Eliz. Seaman, 13 Row
British Commercial Life, Chas.
Stoman, King street
Clerical & Medical Life, Edwin
Markland, Market place
Crown Life, E. R. Palmer, Regent street
Guardian Fpk. Skill, Short quay
Imperial & Palladium, C. J. Palmer, Regent st
London Assurance, Thos. Pitt,
Regent street
Norwich Equitable, James D
Waters, Regent street
Norwich Union, Thos. Clowes,
Regent street; G. W. Holt,
Gaul street, and Hy. Ems, 4,
Prospect place

Phoenix Fire and Pelican Life,
W. Alexander, King street
Royal Exchange, J. F. Ranney,
Hogg hill

Suffolk & General County Amicable, B. R. Palmer, Regent st.
Sun, W. D. Pottlingill, Regent st.
West of England, James Hurry
Palmer, Regent street

FISH CURERS.

Atmore Wm. King street
Balls John, 18 Row
Barnby Wm. Hy. Charlotte st.
Bayly Jas. M. Wellington place
Bennett John, Gaul street
Bishop Thomas, South open
Blake Robt. North quay
Bonney Eliz. Gorleston
Brock John, 51 Row
Browne Edward, Gaul street
Budds John, 136 Row
Burwell James, 93 Row
Butcher Matthew, King street
Callow Wm. 60 Row
Campbell Walter, 111 Row
Cannell Jas. Gunton, King street
Darnell Jas. 78 Row
Darnell Wm. Ts. Fuller's hill
Earl Robt. South open
Eastick Spencer S. Jetty road
Fenn Benj. East hill
Fuller & Jinkerson, South open
Garwood Thos. Bly, South quay
Gayfer John, North quay
Gibbs John, Gaul street
Giles George, Market gate
Gillings Wm. South open
Green James, South Town
Hammond Rd & Ts. Church pn.
Harbord John, North quay; h.
37 Row
Harrison Wm. Gaul street
Hubbard Daniel, 23 Row
Holme Wm. Market gate
Holme Wm. jun. 70 Row
Ingram Wm. North end
Jay James, Enson place; h. S. T.
Jenner George, South Town
Jessup James, May place
King Edward, Gorleston
King Mary, Jetty road
Laro James, 109 Row
Lettis Ts. & Son, St. George's gt.

Lonsdale Rd. Jetty road; h. S. T.
 Miller John, King street
 Minter Thomas, White Lion open
 Nichols Wm. 51 Row
 Page John, 46 Row
 Palmer Geo. Danby, 138 Row;
 h. Quay
 Palmer Ja. Hurry & Co. Regent st.
 Palmer John Danby, Quay
 Read Wm. Charlotte street
 Rivett John, Gorleston
 Runniff James, Theatre plain
 Runniff John, 73 Row
 Scarf and George, Jetty road
 Self Wm. North quay
 Shockford Benj. Market place
 Smith Wm. Quay
 Smity James, Jetty road
 Stevenson Josiah, King street
 Swan Henry, Jetty road
 Tuck Thomas, Gaol street
 Wells Thomas, Crown place
 Wiseman John, 134 Row
 Woolverton Henry, King street
 Woolverton Nichols, 131 Row
 Wynnott Eliz. Gaol street
 Yaxley Richard, King street

FISHMONGERS.

Dunn Robert, Fish market
 Harmer Thomas, South quay
 Neale Steph. Market row
 Newman Wm. 51 Row
 Newton John, 49 Row
 Runniff John, jun. 54 Row
 Thextor Wm. (shrimper,) 41 Row
 Woodel Francis, 125 Row
 Yaxley Mary, King street

FRUITERERS.

*Marked * are Wholesale.*

Bales James, Market place
 • Cohen David S. Market row
 Frost Ts. (& rabbit dir.) George st.
 • Isaacs Henry, King street
 • Mallett Jph. Howard street
 • Mordecai Isaac, Market place

FURNITURE BROKERS.

Barchard Thomas, 32 Row
 Bezance John, Charlotte street
 Bradfield Eliz. Charlotte street
 Branton Philip, Gaol street
 Cox Arthur, Charlotte street
 Forder Thomas, 19 Row
 Lacey Benj. Charlotte street

Laycock Mary, George street
 Levy Samuel, Gaol street
 Mallett Wm. Charlotte street
 Mayers Isaac, Gaol street
 Patrick Wm. 20 Row
 Peck Judith, George street
 Poppy Jonathan, Gaol street
 Trory Wm. 23 Row

FURRIERS.

Cohen David L. Market row
 Devon George, 54 Row
GARDENERS & SEEDSMEN
 Angel Margt. King street
 Beals Abm. Market gate
 Brunnings John, North end
 Bush Edward, Charlotte street
 Clarke John, North end
 Cleveland Wm. Gorleston
 Goose Robt. North end
 Mayes Wm. Gorleston
 Monner Geo. Appolo garden la.
 Neave Matthew, 30 Row
 Spinks Benj. North end
 Wharr John, Gorleston
 Woods John, South Town Youell Wm. (nurseryman and florist,) Mkt. pl; h. Church sq

GLASS, CHINA, & EARTH-ENWARE DEALERS

Diboll Ann, Market row
 Falcke Jacob, (foreign china,) Charlotte street
 Fields Michael, Market row
 Hindry Robt. Church plain
 Hook Harriet, George street
GLOVERS and Leather Sellers.
 Barker John, 51 Row
 Farrow Wm. 7, North terrace
 Pratt Mark, Church square
 Townshend Elis. Market row

GROCERS.

*Marked * are Tallow Chandlers, and † are British Wine Dlr's.*

Annison Ann, King street
 Blagg Thomas, Market row
 Brooks James, Market row
 Browne Robt. & Son, King street
 Carley Ann, Market place
 Chapman John, Church plain
 Clarke Edmd. Howard street
 • Ecclestone Stn Bately, Mkt pl.
 • Fenn John, Market place
 Freeman John, P. Fuller's hall

- Old Fountain, J. Gillings, Gaol st.
 Old White Lion, Benj. Howes,
 King street
 Pleasure Boat, W. Mason, N. quay
 Pot-in-Hand, John King, King st.
 Prince of Wales, Thomas Ellis,
 Charlotte street
 Princess Charlotte, Sarah Gold,
 George street
 Quay Mill, John B. Bales, North
 quay
 Queen's Head, John Wm. Ringer,
 Charlotte street
 Rainbow, Matilda Manship, Rainbow corner
 Red Lion, Charles Tummonds,
 Gaol street
 Red Lion, Edw. Leggett, Gorleston
 Rising Sun Jas. Newson, S Town
 Rose, Ann Breeze, King street
 Rose & Crown, Hy. Breeze, Charlotte street
 Rose & Thistle, Jas. Axup, Gaol st.
 Royal Exchange, J. Dawson, Quay
 Royal Oak, James Hunn, Town hall row
 St. John's Head, Phillip Rivett,
 North quay
 Saracen's Head, Wm. Watson,
 Church square
 Sawyer's Arms, William Bowles,
 Fullers' hill
 Shakespeare, R. Cruckless, King st.
 Ship, Wm. Nuthall, Gaol street
 Ship, John Newson, North fort
 Ship, Charles Todd, Gorleston
 Shipwrights' Arms, Eliza Smith,
 South quay
 Sir Samuel Hood, Jas. Turner,
 Charlotte street
 Sons of Commerce, Rt. Pile, Quay Sovereign Steam Packet, & Bowling Green, Edwd. Bammant,
 North quay
 Spotted Cow, John Rackhams,
 King street
 Spread Eagle, S. Sims, King st.
 Star Hotel, Wm. Bird, Short quay
 Star & Garter, William Riches,
 Short quay
 Swan-with-Two-Necks, Rt. Ellis,
 Market place
 Three Herrings, Ezekiel Seaman,
 Quay
 Three Horse Shoes, Jas. Barret,
 North quay
 Three Jolly Sailors, Simon Baker,
 Rose, Howard street
 Three Tuns, R. Baker, S. Town
 Two Brewers, John W. Savage,
 George street
 Unicorn, Thos. Wooden, Quay
 Vauxhall Gardens, John Simonds,
 North quay
 Waggon & Horses, Wm. Emma,
 North end
 Weavers' Arms, G. Townshend,
 Market place
 Wheel of Fortune, Rt. Pyle, Geo. st.
 White Bear, Rt. Osborn, Gaol st.
 White Hart, Wm. Kett, Ch. sq.
 White Horse Inn, Mark Carrick,
 Church plain
 White Horse, Wm. Kidd, Gaol st.
 White Horse, Ta. Ellis, King st.
 White Horse, Chpr. Marjoram,
 Gorleston
 White Lion, John Rivett, Gorleston cliff
 White Swan, James Munford,
 North quay
 White Swan, Wm. I. Tuck, Quay
 William IV. Geo. Henysey, Geo. st.
 Wrestlers, Thos. Willis, Ch. sq.
 Yarmouth Arms, Mary Lacey,
 Town hall row
 York Hotel, Thomas Stanford,
 North beach
- BEER HOUSES.
- Ballard Joseph, Gorleston
 Bounney James, Gorleston
 Bowles Jonth. Jetty road
 Burton John, North quay
 Bush Edw. Charlotte street
 Cobl Robert, South Town
 Dye Robert, South Town
 Dye Robt. Barrel, Gorleston
 Forder Isaac, Market gate
 Francis John, St. George's gate
 King Mary, Jetty road beach
 Lark Samuel, Gorleston
 Layton John, George street
 Neave Rosamond, North end
 Nuthall Wm. Gaol street

Plant Robt. Cinder ovens
Plummer Hy. Griffin, George st.
Richmond John, Howard street
Thompson James, South street
Tooley Edward, Market gate
Wood Sarah, Market gate
Wright Daniel, Factory gate
Wright Edmund, East hill
IRON & BRASS POUNDERS
Rogers Jas. Master, North quay
Yotts Wm. (and patent windlass manufacturer) 127 Row

IRON MERCHANTS.

Brown Wm. & Son, S. Town qy.
Palmer John Danby, Gaol street

IRONMONGERS.

*Marked * are Braziers & Tinsmen.*
*Brease Robert, Market place
*Clowes & Dye, Howard street
*Fuller John, Broad row
*Gray Thos. Edw. King street
Morter Thomas, Charlotte street
Robinson Samuel, King street
Sherrington Benj. Church square
*Stagg John, Broad row
*Thompson Simon (& optician)
Market row

JOINERS AND BUILDERS.

Adcock Fms. 110 Row
Bailey Robert, Clarence place
Barrow George, North end
Barwood Robert, South Town
Brock Richard, North quay
Brooks Wilson, 128 & 82 Rows
Burgess James, Gorleston
Diball John, 51 Row
Dye Robert Barral, Gorleston
Elliott John, 100 & 80 Rows
Forder Thomas, North gates
Frances James, Fuller's hill
Green Thomas, South Town
Greenacre Thos. Charlotte street
Greenwood Edw. Market gate
Harvey Jacob, North end
Hewson Thos. W. Theatre plain
Johnson Job, Theatre plain
Larke Jas. Gaol st.; house, St.
George's gate
Newson Brj. Quay; h. Garwood sq.
Newson David, 135½ Row
Newson John, Gorleston Norfor Wm. (and looking glass mfr.) St. George's gate

Patrick Wm. 20 Row
Pernon Wm. 129 Row
Plummer John, 56 Row Prentice Wm. (& Venetian blind manufacturer,) South Town
Rushmer Robert, Drum open
Shuckford John, South Town
Spilling Joseph, 50 Row
Steward Richard, 46 Row
Swirles David, Market gate
Taylor Dd. The Conge; h. Gaol st.
Taylor Jas. 118 Row; h. King st.
Westgate Wm. Southgate
Wright St. East open; h. King st.
LACE & HOSIERY DLRS.
Livingston John & Co. King st.
Simpson Eliz. Market row

LIBRARIES.

Alexander Wm. King street
Bales James, Market place
Barwick Henry, 99 Row
Foreman John, Theatre plain
Seely Sarah, Theatre plain
Simpson Amy, North quay
Stoman Charles, King street
Subscription, Town house, Quay
Thos. Hammond, librarian
LINEN & WOOLEN DRPERS.
*Marked * are Woollen & Linen Drapers only.*

Barber Charles, King street
Blake John, Market place
† Bond James, Market place
Burton Samuel, Market place
† Carley Ann, Market place
† Clarke John, King street
Dandy Frederick, King street
Ecclestons Richd. Market row
*Fervier and Moore, Market pl.
† Fyson Joseph, Market place
† Hunter Henry, Fuller's hill
† Johnson Wm. Market row
Little & Smith, Charlotte street
Miller Charles, Broad row
Miller Stpn. & Son, Market place
Roper James, Market place
Wall Robert, Market place
Whittleton Thos. Market place
* Wilkinson James, Queen st.
LODGING HOUSES.

Annis Eliz. 5, Bath place
Armstrong Mary Ann, King st.
Bacon Esther, Queen square

Bailey Mary Ann, Jetty road
 Benslyn Mary Ann, Gorleston
 Bishop Mary, Mill road
 Blaxell Charles, Union place
 Brown Jas. 6, Greenwood's pl.
 Burrows Judith, Jetty road
 Carr Onesimus, 4, Bath place
 Carridge Eliz. King street
 Chailey Sus. 1, Greenwood's pl.
 Chapman Mary, Jetty road
 Chaston Geo. 4, Archer's bldgs.
 Clayton Sophia, St. Peter's walls
 Collins Amelia, 4, Harrison's bldgs.
 Crockett Sarah, Market place
 Cromwell Eliz. South Town
 Dawson Thos. Gorleston cliff
 Eastmore Deb. & Ann, St. Geo.'s ph.
 Emms Margaret, Jetty road
 Falby Eliz. Snutter's buildings
 Franklin Philip, Crown place
 Franklin Eliz. 5, Harrison's bldgs.
 Gaze Hannah, Market gate
 Grimson Mary, Mill road
 Hatch Wm. St. George's gate
 Hild Mrs. 10, Harrison's bldgs.
 Holmes Eliz. Crown place
 Howell Mrs. Wellington place
 Hutton Wm. South Town
 Keable Wm. Clarence place
 Kendall Maria, Crown place
 King Sarah, Gorleston cliff
 Lake John, 3, Greenwood's pl.
 Leggett John, Gorleston cliff
 List Mary, Jetty road
 Mason Sarah, Mill road
 Masterson John, North beach
 Mickleburgh Martha, 5, Greenwood's place
 Morley Mary, Wellington place
 Moss Thomas, Mill road
 Neale Sarah, Gaol street
 Nightingale Mar. 5, Archer's bldgs.
 Nolloth Abm. Union place
 Norton Mrs. 8, Harrison's bldgs.
 Page Martha, King street
 Passon Benj. Jetty road
 Payne John, Gorleston cliff
 Pestell Jph. St. George's gate
 Pickers Amy, Wellington place
 Porter Wm. Crown place
 Reed Mary Ann, St. Geo.'s ph.
 Roberts John, 4, Vince's bldgs.
 Roe Mrs. 3, Harrison's buildings

Short Mary Ann, King street
 Simonds John, 2, Greenwood's pl.
 Simmons Ann, Jetty road
 Simpson Eliz. Gorleston
 Smith Miss, Jetty road
 Smith Lucy, Jetty road
 Smith Sophia, Jetty road
 Thorndick Rachael, Gaol street
 Watson John, Clarence place
 Willby Richard, Howard street
 Womack Margaret, Jetty road
 Wood Eliz. Jetty road

MALTSTERS

See also Brewers.

Branford Benj. and Co. North end, and Caistor
 Brown John, Howard street
 Delafield Joseph, 80 Row
 Dowson Benj. Short quay
 Dowson Jph. Withers, South Town
 Gage Adam, 78 Row, h. Dees
 Martineau Rd. & Co. Gorleston
 Nightingale Saml. 77 Row
 Stead Patrick, West quay
 Ward James, 52 Row

MARINE STORE DLRS.

Blake Jas. George street
 Carter Wm. Quay
 Corp Nathaniel, 129 Row
 Goffin George, Fuller's hall
 Julings Jas. North end
 Mallet Saml. Gaol street
 Page Robt. 122 Row

MAST, BLOCK, AND PUMP MAKERS.

Bull Rd. Quay, South Town
 Colman & Palgrave, South gate
 Davis Geo. South Town; h. 45 Row
 Eabbage Wm. Boulton, South street
 Ellett Jas. Quay; h. South Town
 Paul Wm. North quay
 Searum Robt. North quay
 Veale Robt. South gate
 Wooden Thomas, Quay

MASTER MARINERS.

Ablett Jph. South quay
 Aiken Wm. 143 Row
 Alexander Jas. Gaol street
 Alexander John, 93 Row
 Ames James, 113 Row
 Archbald Rt. 110 Row
 Artis Saml. 136 Row
 Bexfield Stph. South Town

Wm. 132 Row
Wm. 71 Row
L. 66 Row
John, 92 Row
Wm. St. George's gate an, Gaol street n, 130 Row
m. North quay
athl. 93 Row
Wm. 80 Row
an, Wellington place
m. 139 Row
iam, 137 Row niel, 101 Row
n. Market gate
lenry, 109 Row
Thos. King street
hael, King street
John, 60 Row
amin, Gaol street
Robt. 100 Row
, North terrace
mes, Garwood square
Edw. South gate
Jas. 116 Row
John, St. George's gate
Wm. 19 Row
ras. Wm. 92 Row
Wm. Veale's buildings
Robt. 136 Row
obt. East hill
ohn, 12, Archer's bldgs.
Wm. 139 Row
mea, 116 Row
Wm. 135½ Row
Chas. 131 Row
ohn Harris, 36 Row
, 11, Archer's buildings
. 106 Row
on, 128 Row
nl. 102 Row
s, Crown place
Samuel, 109 Row
ldred, Howard street
lph. Howard street
John, 92 Row
ly. 119 Row
Wm. 93 Row
Wm. 96 Row
tworth, 129 Row
John, 119 Row
. Veale's buildings
laml. St. Peter's square

Hall Wm. 33 Row
Harling Wm. 104 Row
Hawkins Jph. 133 Row
Hennings John, 109 Row
Hewson John, Garwood square
High Robt, 106 Row
Holland Geo. 111 Row
Holmes Fras. 121 Row
Holmes Robt. 78 Row
Holt John, 3, St. Peter's terrace
Hotblack Hy. 83 Row
Howes John, 5, Jetty road
Howes Wm. 102 Row
Howes Wm. Silcock, North end
Howlett John, Howard street
Hubbard Thomas, 138 Row
Hutting Jas. 109 Row
Jay Henry East street
Jay Thomas, 119 Row
Kettle Robert, 137 Row
King Boatman, 119 Row
Liss John C. South open
Lockhart Jas. 135 Row
London Wm. 137 Row
Lone James, 139 Row
Long James, South Town
Mansfield John, 101 Row
Manthorpe Geo. Veale's bldgs.
May John, Gaol street
Meadows Jas. 131 Row
Metcalf John, 106 Row
Miller Edmund, 130 Row
Miller Samuel, 133 Row
Moss Thomas, 60 Row
Neale Jas. 6, Prospect place
Neale Robt. Gaol street
Newark Isaac, 31 Row
Newson John Horn, 139 Row
Norton Thos. Rd. South Town
Olley Rd. 138 Row
Olley Thos. 61 Row
Olley Wm. 133 Row
Orfeur John, 2 Jetty road
Orfeur Ta. St. George's plain walls
Peek Thos. 144 Row
Pidgon John, White Lion open
Porter Thos. 22 Row
Punchard Isaac, King street
Pye Martin, Gaol street
Quinton John, North beach
Rogers Wm. Veale's buildings
Sandford Rd. Gaol paved row
Scales Wm. South Town

Scott Philip, South Town
 Sewell Wm. Gaol street
 Sillis Wm. 109 Row
 Simonds Henry Gaol street
 Smith John, 22 Row
 Smith John, 102 Row
 Smith John, 118 Row
 Spurgen Thos. 45 Row
 Sudson Wm. 129 Row
 Taylor Edw. 101 Row
 Teasdale Saml. 142 Row
 Vaile John, South Town
 Waller Hy. 93 Row
 Ward Chas. South Town
 Waters Isaac, 93 Row
 Waters Jacob, North quay
 Welch John, 101 Row
 Wells Saml. 132 Row
 Whincopp Philip, 18 Row
 Whincopp Rt. 109 Row
 Williams John, South gate
 Wilson John, Garleston
 Winter Jph. 132 Row
 Wright Geo. Gaol street
 Wright John, 113 Row
 Yoxley Fras. 115 Row
MERCHANTS & SHIP OWNERS.
 Barber St. Smith, Short quay, office, South Town
 Barber William, Gaol street
 Clark James, Gaol street
 Costerton John & Geo. South Town
 Foreman Thos. Howard street
 Jay Saml. Quay, h South Town
 Laws Jas. Eastmore Quay
 Lettis & Son, St. George's gate
 Osborne Robt. Gaol street
 Palmer G. Danby, 138 Row h Quay
 Palmer J. Danby, Gaol st., h Quay
 Palmer John Burton & Son, Quay
 Pattenson Geo. South Town
 Preston Isaac & Son, (Russia, &c.)
 South Town; h Quay
 Rayne John, South Town
 Saunders Wm. Quay
 Shelly John & Co. (Russia) Quay
 Stead Patrick, West quay
 Steward Timothy & Arthur, 96
 Row f. h Quay
 Walling John, West quay
 Walling Rt. Shingles, West quay;
 b. Church square
 Yetts Wm. King street

MILLINERS, &c.

* are Straw Hat Makers also.

Angel Mary Ann, King st.
 Bond James, Market place
 Brock Hannah, George street
 • Ballen Mary, Charlotte street
 • Carroll Catharine, 112 Row
 Cook Mary Ann, George street
 Cotton My. Ann, Gaol paved row
 Day Mary, Fuller's hill
 • Duck Sarah, North quay
 • Dyboil Mary, Charlotte street
 Ellerd Emily & My Ann, Paved row.
 England Jemima, King street
 Garson Mary, Market row
 Gedge Ann, North quay
 George Mary Ann, George street
 Glanhold Augusta, Regent street
 Gowling Ann, 119 Row
 Gratton Jane, George street
 Gray and Cain, George street
 Howlett Susanna, Howard street
 Jubey Mary, 74 Row
 Keymer Ann, Broad Row
 Laws Harriet, George street
 Levi Sarah, Gaol street
 Mann Hephzibah, 99 Row
 Miller Charlotte, Regent street
 Mountjoy Emeline, Market row
 Ruckham Jemima, 121 Row
 Seekings S. W. North end
 Shalders Eliz. Theatre plain
 Wright Harriet, 87 Row

MILLWRIGHTS

Stolworthy Rt. & Jas. North end

MUSIC & INSTMT DLRS.AND PRECEPTORS.

Deeks Thomas, Fuller's hill
 Fisher David, Regent street
 Haw Jani. & Sisters, Regent st.
 Meyrick Wm. King st. & Mkt. rw.
 Trulon Thos. (organ bldr.) Howard street

PAINTERS, PLUMBERS, AND GLAZIERS.

Arbon Noah, Theatre plain
 Burgess Benjamin, North end
 Burton Wm. Gaol street
 Cooper Clark, George street
 Crisp Wm. Howard street
 Cubitt Robt. Short quay
 Garwood & Wolverton, Quay
 Giffin John, King street

Horn John Simpson, Gorleston
Howes Wm, Gorleston
Hunt Chas. Benj. George street
Norman John, Theatre plain
Sowells Margaret, Gaol street
Spilman Samuel, 20 Row
Teasdel Samuel, South Town
Thompson Richard, 131 Row
Tuck and Fish, Church plain Woodhouse James, Theatre plain
Wright James, Gorleston

PATTEN, &c.—See Brush
PAWNBROKERS.

Fulcher Wm, King street
Hastings George, N. Gaol street
Howlett Samuel, 80 Row
Maryson Fras. & Son, Howard st.
Mouse John, George street
Playford Hannah, Charlotte st.
Playford John & Son, 87 Row
Popay Susanna, Fuller's hill

PHYSICIANS.

Cox Wm, Travers, King street
Pearce George, King street
Smith James Pearson, Mkt. pl.
PROFSRS. OF DANCING.

Noverre Francis, Theatre plain
Steel Benjamin, Gaol paved row
Walpole Martha, George street
ROPE & TWINE MAKERS.

*Marked * are Twine Mtrs. only.*
Barber T & R East open

* Blowers Wm, North quay
Bracey and Son, Jetty road; h.
St. George's terrace

Butcher Matthew, King street
Everitt John, King street
* Francis George, North end
Fuller and Jinkerson, South open
* Gardener Wm, Factory yard
* Giles George, Market gate
Gosling Wm, Theatre plain
Green Wm, St. Peter's square;
h King street

Healey and Todd, Chapel square
Holmes Edw, North end gardens
* Jex Edward, Jetty road
* Keeler James, South dunes Lettis Thomas & Son, St. Geo.'s gate, and King street
* Neave John, North end
Rackham John, King street
* Sterenson Josiah, 1, King st.

* Teasedell John, Chapel square,
h. 102 Row

Welch Benjamin, St. Geo.'s pn

* Wells Thomas, North end

* Woodhouse Robert, 121 Row
SADDLERS, &c.

Allcock Wm, Charlotte street
Beazer Martin, Charlotte street
Ellis Thos, Chapman, North end
Lost Wm, Market place
Presant Wm, Gorleston
Tydeman Wm, George street, h
Regent street

SAIL MAKERS.

Barber Wm, Gaol street
Brudbeer Samuel, 100 Row
Budds John, 136 Row
Chambers W. and Son, 112 Row
Grave Wm, 92 Row; h. Gaol st.
Ingram Love, North quay
Miller Buj, 104 Row; h. S. Town
Swanton John, 57 Row

SALT MERCHANTS.

Brown Wm. and Son, South Town
Cozens & Copeman, Quay; Wm.
Saunders and Son, agents

Preston Edm. (mfr.) West quay

SEED & CAKE MERCHTS

Bunn Thos, Quay, South Town
Elland John, 54 Row
Harley George, Market row
Jennor James, (& hop,) South
Town, h. Quay

Kemp Stephen, Bridge foot

Stead Patrick, West quay

SHIP BROKERS

See also Agents.

Bunn Thos, South Town, Quay
Laws James Eastmure, Quay
Palmer J. Hurry, & Co, Regent st.

SHIP BUILDERS.

Barber Thomas, South quay
Beeching Jas, South dunes
Bradford Thomas, South T. Quay
Fellows Hy. & Co, South T. Quay
Holmes Ps. & Co, South T. Quay
Lubbock Rt, South quay
Palmer Ambrose & Son, South gt
Preston Fdk, South Town, Quay
Teasdel Wm, South Town, Quay

SHIP CHANDLERS

Barber T. & R, South Town, Quay
Corp Nathl, 129 Row

Teasdel Henry, West quay
SHIP OWNERS.

(See Merchants also.)

Marked * are Masters & Owners.

Barnby Wm Hy. Charlotte street
Bessey James, North quay
Bessey Wm. North quay
Betts George, South Town
Bracey John, King street
Bracey J Taylor, St. Geo.'s ter.
* Brock James, North quay
Butcher Matthew, King street
Carter Robt. South Town
Clark Thomas, South quay
* Clifton Robt. North end
* Church John, St. George's pln
* Cook Robt. George street
Crickmay Thomas. Regent street
Downing Priscilla, South street
Foreman Thos. South street
Fulcher Jph. Gaol street
* Gaze Benjamin, Crown place
Garson George, King street
Garwood Thos. Bly, South quay
* Goose Wm. South Town
Gourlay Dd Abm. Market row
Hammond Rd North quay
Hammond Wm North quay
Hook Daniel, King street
* Howard Kenneth, North quay
* Howes Samuel, South quay
Harry James, Quay
Henry William Quay
* Johnson James, South Town
Johnson Robert, Quay
* Kenney Edmund, Gaol street
Martin Hezekiah, South Town
Miller Richard, South Town
Paget Samuel, Quay
Palmer James Harry, Regent st.
Pitt Thomas, South Town
Quinton John, Gorleston
Richmond Edward, Gaol street
Simonds Charles, King street
Simons John, King street
* Stanford Wm May place
Steward Charles, Howard street
Stoker Robert, 139 Row
Stone Wm Howard street
Teasdel Edw 3, Archer's bldgs.
Teasdel Robert, Gaol street
* Waters Robert, South street
Wiggins Samuel, Quay

* Williams Wm. 100 Row
Woolstone John, South Town
SHOPKEEPERS

Aldrich Elijah, Gorleston
Allen Caroline North quay
Andrews Ann, North quay
Baldwin Wm. Howard street
Barrow Louisa, King street
Barrow Samuel, Charlotte street
Berkett Sarah, Gaol street
Beckett Thomas, Gaol street
Blake James, George street
Bault John, Charlotte street
Brigg Samuel, Charlotte street
Brock John, 51 Row
Brown Ann, South Town
Burward John, Charlotte street
Butler Sarah, Gorleston
Bullant Henry, Howard street
Burke Mary, Gaol street
Burling Wm George street
Cannon Mary, South street
Burgess Mary, Fuller's hill
Clarke Wm. 8, Archer's bldgs.
Collings Mary, King street
Collins Samuel, Gaol street
Creagh Richard, George street
Croome Maria, Gaol street
Davey Eliz. North quay
Durrant Sophia, South street
Everitt John, King street
Farman Samuel, South street
Farman Susanna, South Town
Gilham Charles, Gaol street
Goffin Robert, North quay
Green John, Gaol street
Gunn Robert, 5 Row
Hayles Wm Charlotte street
Hall James Barnard, Factory yd.
Hancock Martha, Gaol street
Harrison Matthew, Gaol street
Harrison Rebecca, Market gate
High Mary Ann, Gaol street
Hilling John, George street
Hockley Charles, George street
Howard Eliz. 7, Archer's bldgs
Houchen George, Gaol street
Johnson Joshua, 99 Row
Lacey Elizabeth, Gaol street
Lumber Charles, George street
Mann Wm. Gaol street
Martin Sophia, Factory yard
Martin Thomas, King street

Mills Wm. Gorleston
 Nichols Sarah, 7 Row
 Nicholson Nathaniel, George st.
 Oakes Sarah, George street
 Page Elizabeth, Gorleston
 Page Mary, Charlotte street
 Page Wm. (draper,) Gorleston
 Pearson Margaret, Gorleston
 Rainer Geo. Wellington place
 Rainer Mary, Paved row
 Remonda John, George street
 Read Ann, Gaol street
 Richmond Edw. South Town
 Runacre James, Gaol street
 Summons Hannah, 101 Row
 Smith Mary, Gaol street
 Stagg Mary, Howard street
 Taylor Ann, (& draper,) Gorleston
 Taylor My Ann, Market gate
 Treadel Elizabeth, Gaol street
 Utting Joseph, Charlotte street
 Warren Jeremiah, George street
 Waters Samuel, South quay
 Welch Henry, 24 Row
 Whurr John, Gorleston
 Wright Ann, George street

SILVERSMITHS, &c.

(See Watchmakers also.)

Durrant Nathaniel, Market row
 Falcke Jacob, Broad row
 Lamb Thos. (working jeweller,
 Paved row

Mayers Isaac, Gaol street
 Wolf Shreiner, Charlotte street
SLATER & SLATE MERCHANT.
 Kemp Stephen, (& Roman cement merchant,) Bridge foot, Quay SLOP SELLERS.

(See Clothes Brokers & Tailors.)
STAMP OFFICE.

Palmer Jas. Hurry, Regent st.
STONE MASONS.

Bayes and Burgess, North quay
 Larke and Barton, North quay
STRAW HAT MAKERS,

*Marked * are Blockers.*

* Bond Valentine, 54 Row
 Jubey Ann Cousins, 74 Row
 Maddevs My. Ann, Howard street
 * Paul John D. St. George's plain
 Poppy Jonathan, Charlotte street
 * Read William, Howard street
 * Rising Susanna, Howard street

Sawyer Ann, 46 Row
 Sewell Elizabeth, Gaol street
 Thompson Eliza, George street
 Woolsey Mary, Paved row

SURGEONS.

Aldred Charles, Regent street
 Arnot James, Gorleston
 Bateman George, Market place
 Bayly Joseph, King street
 Borrett & Ferner, King street
 Costerton Charles, Short quay
 Dashwood Chas. Burton, Regent st.
 Hook Robert, Theatre gate
 Jeffery John Gifford, Church sq.
 Larter John, Gaol street
 Pritchard John, King street
 Smith John, South Town
 Tallant John Barnby, Howard st
 Taylor Christopher, Market pl
 Taylor William, Market place
 Webber William, King street
 Woolnough Jph. South Town
 Worship Harry, Regent street

TAILORS AND DRAPERS

(Marked * are Woollen Drapers,

† are Clothes Sellers.)

* Baker John, Charlotte street
 Barber James, Market gate
 Barber William, Short quay
 Barwood Samuel, South street
 * Brand William, Broad row
 Brnstow William, Gorleston
 Brock John, 40 Row
 Brown Matthew, 72 Row
 Burkitt William, 32 Row
 Cassidy Thos. George street
 * Child William, Broad row
 * Cocks John, King street
 Cox William, King street
 Corbyn George, 124 Row
 † Crickmay Saml. Thos. George st.
 † Derry Lionel, Church plain
 Edwards Robert, George street
 * Fear John, Broad row
 Forder John, Paved row
 † Freeman Jnth. Rodwall, Queen st.
 Hilling John, George street
 * Hogarth David, Market place
 Hogarth Thomas, 54 Row
 Hoult Benjamin, Gorleston
 Jay Edw. Branwhite, Market row
 * Lane Thomas, King street
 † Lark Robert, Gaol street

•Lawn James, Broad row
 Lincoln Henry, North quay
 •Lumma John, North quay
 †Mingay Jonathan, Howard st.
 •Mitchell Michael, Market row
 Moore William Church trees
 •Nolloth John, Howard street
 Olley Henry, Market row
 Pells Henry, Gorleston
 Rackham Samuel, Market row
 Rainer George, Wellington pla.
 •Rix Thomas, Gaol street
 Self Robert, Gaol street
 Stanton James, 40 Row
 †Suffolk Sarah, Gaol street
 Tricker John, 145 Row

TALLOW CHANDLERS.

See Grocers also

Freeman & Mayes, 10 Row

TANNERS

Cobb Benjamin, George street
 Cobb & Doughty, Charlotte street
 TEA & COFFEE DEALERS.
 Alexander Wm, King street
 Clark John, King street
 Cox Elizabeth, Broad row
 Crawford Timothy, North Terrace
 Mews John, (wholesale,) Gaol st
 Little & Smith, Charlotte street
 Springall Robert, George street

TIMBER MERCHANTS.

Coaks Rd, South Town & Norwich, Daul Chamberling, agent
 Culley Samuel, South Town and Norwich; Jas. Hurry Palmer,
 & Co. agents.

Fellows, Barth, & Palmer, South
 Town quay

Johnson Thomas, South Town

Nuthall Philip, North quay

Preston Isaac & Son, South Town and North end

Stone Isaac, (wreck dlr) N quay

TOBACCONISTS.

Addison Lydia, Broad row

Springall Robert, George street

TOBACCO PIPE MAKERS.

Page Thomas, 47 Row

Taylor James, 51 Row

TOY DLRS—See Fancy W's.

TRUNK MAKERS.

Chapman John, Church plain

Hatchie George, King street

TURNERS IN WOOD

Pattman Charles, North quay

Simmons Philip, Priory yard

Thorndick Hy Jarvis, Paved row

Woodrow Jn Fuller, The Conge

UMBRELLA MAKERS.

Spilman Nathl, 26 Row

Turner Mary, Market row

VETERINARY SURGEONS

Harvey George, South Town

Smith Wm, Church square

WATCH & CLOCK MKRS.

*Marked * are Jewellers also.*

Aldret Saul High & Son, George st

Archbold Henry, South Town

Barber Thomas, George street

Christmas James, 36 Row

Cotton Wm. Browne, Gaol paved
 Row

Davy Elijah & Son, Short quay.
 North end

•Hunt Wm. & Son, Broad row

•King Christian, Howard street

Marshall Edward, Quay

Maufoed Edw. Market place

Page Robert, Gaol street

Shorto Edward, Gorleston

•Simpson Wm. Broad row

WHEELWRIGHTS.

Colman James, South Town

Cox Arthur, George street

Drake James, St. Peter's square

Frayer Thomas, Ferry boat row

Howes Samuel, Gorleston

Knapp John, Gorleston

WHITESMITHS, &c

*Marked * are Stovegrate mfrs.*

Buckingham Thos, 128 Row

Bullen Charles, Market gates; h.
 Charlotte street

• Bullen Wm. Charlotte street

Clarke John, 136 and 36 Row

Cobb John, Market gate

Elwin Robert, 118 Row

• Goddard Eliz, Gaol street

Jones Chpr, Gaol street

Moore John Christmas, 72 Row

• Morter Thomas, Charlotte st.

Newark Wm, Broad row

Newman Samuel, 20 Row

Plane Edward, South quay

• Sherrington Samuel, Fuller's hall, h. Priory place

*Springhall Geo. Charlotte street
Thornston Robert, May place
WINE, SPIRIT & PORTER
MERCHANTS.

Barnby Wm. Hy. Charlotte st.
Beart Robt. 11. Gaol st.; h. K. st.
Bell John Sayer, Gorleston
Brown & Stringer, Bridge foot
Burrongs W. Norton, Marketpl.
Diver Wm. Holmes, King street
Fetner Richard, Gaol street
Hilder Robert, Market place
Lacon Sir E. K. Bart. and Sons,
George street

Lincoln John, Market gates
Marsh & Barnes, King street
Paget & Son, North quay
Thornston Thomas, Caistor road
Tomlinson Jph. 4, Howard street
Ward Matthew, Quay
Williams, Bell, and Co. King st.
Wilks Thomas, Church square
Woolsey John, Short quay

COACHES,

From Short Quay Coach Office.

To London.—The Royal Mail and Telegraph, at 5 afternoon;
the Star, at $\frac{1}{2}$ before 9 morning;
and the Magnet, from the Star
Hotel, at 7 morning

To CAMBRIDGE, through Bury,
the Accommodation, every Tue.
Thurs. and Sat at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 6 mornig.

To NORWICH.—The Royal Mail,
at a $\frac{1}{2}$ before 2 afternoon, and the Dart, at 8 mornig. and 5 aft.
from the Angel Inn, Market pl.

The Mail Cart, to Bury St.
Edmund's, at a $\frac{1}{2}$ before 3 aft.
from the Star Hotel

CARRIERS BY LAND.

John Martin, from his waggon warehouse, Winter's buildgs.
Market gates, to London, Lowe-stoff, Wrentham, Wangford, Yax-
ford, Saxmundham, Woodbridge,
Ipswich, Southwold, &c every
Mon. and Thurs. at 12 noon

FROM THE INNS

Beccles, Black Swan, —
Buck, Wed & Sat at 4

Bungay, Feathers, Mat. gates.
Edwn. Killington, Wed & Sat
Cutfield, George and Dragon
— Colman, Sat. at 5.

Cromer, White Horse Inn, J
Bell, Sat. 1; Feathers, Mr. G.
— Wiseman, Sat. 11

East Ruston, White Horse Inn,
John Neave, Sat. 1

Happisburgh, Waggon and Horses, Edm. Press, W & S.

Hickling, Swan-with-a-Neck
J. Forman & D. George Sat. 4

Loddon, Bear Hotel, Antson;
Canham, Wed & Sat 3

Lowestoft, Duck, Joan Egan
Van, daily, 9 mag & 6 even

James Burton, from the Dart
Hoad, Tues. Thurs. & Sat. 6 even

Moulton, George and Dragon
Mrs. Thirkettle, Sat. 5

North Walsham, Half Moon
Wm. Galley, Wed & Sat. 12

Somerton, George & Dragon
Mrs. Child, Sat. 6

Southwold, Black Swan J. Ne-son, Tue. and Fri. 12

Winterton, Huntsman & Horse
Thos. Dyball & Hy. Hard W., and Sat. 3.

STEAM PACKETS

To London.—The Courier,
every Wednesday, from South Town, Quay, (leaves London every Sunday morning.) Wm.
Linder, agent.

To HILL, GOOLE, & SELBY —
The Albatross, every Wed. H.
Teasdale, agent, 96 Row

To NORWICH.—The Sovereign, from the Bowling Green, North quay, every Mon. Wed. & Fri.
morning, at 9, and arrives from Norwich following days, at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 1.—Also every Sunday, from May to September, at 9 morning —
Performed by Messrs Tuck and Fish, Fuller's hill, where passengers & parcels may be booked.
Also the Emperor from Fisher's quay, every Tue. Thurs. and Sat.
mornig. at 9; and Sunday afternoon at 2 c 2

noon, at 3 — Parcels may be left at the Emperor Steam Packet Inn, North quay, daily.

SAILING PACKETS, &c

To LONDON, four or five regular trading vessels sail every week, from the Quay, and their agents are J. E. Laws, Quay; Wm. Saunders and Son, Quay; Rt. Teasdale, 96 Row, and Daul. Jermyn, 100 Row.

To HULL, GOOLE, SKIRBY, and all parts of Yorkshire and Lancashire, two vessels weekly, agents, D Jermyn and W Saunders and Son.

To NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE — 3 vessel every week, agent, S S. Barber, South Town

To NORWICH — Barges and Wherries from the Quay, daily

CAISTOR or Caister, is a pleasant but scattered village, and parish, on the coast, 2½ miles N of Yarmouth, containing 864 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, consisting of an extensive marsh and a rich loamy upland, belonging to a number of freeholders, some of whom have neat houses here, but Thomas Clowes, Esq., is lord of the manor. The common was enclosed in 1812. Caistor is more ancient than Yarmouth, and derives its name from the Roman Station already noticed at page 241, but now nearly obliterated by ploughing and other improvements. About two miles west of this ancient encampment, are the ruins of CAISTOR CASTLE, supposed to be one of the oldest brick mansions in England, being erected by Sir JOHN FASTOLF, who was born here or at Yarmouth, in 1378, and in early life entered upon a brilliant military career. Having received an appointment under the English regency in France, he signalized himself by many acts of bravery, during a forty years campaign. In the course of this period, he was made, in the field of battle, knight banneret, a baron of France, knight of the garter, marshal of the regent's household, the king's lieutenant in Normandy, and progressively appointed to various other public offices. After his return to Caistor, he was constantly exercised in acts of hospitality, munificence, and charity, became a founder of religious and other edifices, a generous patron of learning, an encourager of piety and a benefactor to the poor. Yet this truly great and eminent character has, by a quibble on the name, been by hypercritics, supposed the Sir John Falstaff which our immortal bard Shakspeare, has exhibited in the various characters of an old, humorous, vapouring, cowardly, lewd, lying, and necessitous debauchee who was constantly lounging about Prince Henry's court. Never were two characters more strongly and distinctly contrasted. When Prince Henry was degrading his high birth by associating with a Falstaff, the Norfolk hero was honourably employed, fighting the battles of his country in France. Falstaff was heir to large estates and, afterwards, immensely rich. The poetical Falstaff was nearly three score years of age at the battle of Shrewsbury, A.D. 1463, when the historic Falstaff was not more than twenty-five. The former ended his career soon after Prince Henry ascended the throne, — the latter survived Henry V no less than 37 years, and died at Caistor in 1449. His castle is said to have been finished with part of the money which he received for the ransom of John II, King of France, whom he took prisoner at the battle of Vermand, in 1421; but a manor is still in the possession of Anstey, late Garter King of Arms, relates that Sir John, having taken the Duke of Alençon prisoner at the battle of Agincourt, in 1415, that Duke agreed, as a ransom, to build a castle here similar to his own castle in France. After the death of Sir John Fastolff, this castle passed to Sir John Paston; and in the reign of Edward IV., it was twice besieged; once by the Duke of Norfolk, and again by Lord Scales. It appears to have been an extensive castellated mansion, forming a rectangular parallelogram, and was entered by a draw bridge over a moat, which is said to have had a creek extending to the ocean. A lofty circular tower, and a large portion of the north and west walls, (all of brick, with stone quoins,) still remain. Eastward from the castle, stood a college, forming three sides of a spacious square, with two circular towers, founded in the reign of Edward I., by some of the Fastolffs, and afterwards patronized by the founder and subsequent owners of the castle. The ruins of this college have been converted into barns and stables; adjoining to which is a neat modern mansion, belonging to Mrs. S. Scott and Mrs. F. Phene, the present owners of the castle estate. In ecclesiastical matters, Caistor was formerly divided into two parishes, which were consolidated in 1608; since which period, Holy Trinity Church, upon an eminence on the west side of the parish, has been suffered to go to decay, and partly removed for the reparation of the roads, so that nothing now remains but a portion of the tower. It was a vicarage valued at £6. St. Edmund's, the present church for the whole parish, is a neat edifice standing on an acivity above the village, and has a lofty tower, with three bells. The Rectory, valued in the King's books at £4, has the vicarage of "Caistor Trinity" annexed to it, and is now in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. G. W. Steward, M.A. Here is a small Methodist Chapel, a National, and an Infant School. The poor have the yearly proceeds of the following BENEFACTIONS, viz.:—10 acres in Hemsby, left by Thomas Bransby, Esq.; interest of £55, by Mrs. Cobb and others; 7 acres, and interest of £20, by Eliz. Blennerhayset; £104. 7s., Navy five per cent. annuities, by John Baxter; £93. 7s. 8d., of same stock, by Mary Baxter; about 8 acres, by Wm. Crowe, in 1663; £100, in 3 per cents. by Mary Hill, in 1736; and a yearly rent charge of £2, left by Sir Wm. Paston, in 1639. A coast guard is stationed here, consisting of an officer and five men, with a pilot and 30 beach-men. Here are about 60 fishermen; a Friendly Assurance Society, established in 1833; and hirings for Servants, at Michaelmas and Lady-Day. The following are the principal inhabitants:—

Blyth Mary, shopr.; Ts. beer hs.
 Branford Wm. W. corn mercht.
 and maltster

Brock John, revenue officer
 Burton Benj. vict. Lord Nelson
 Clowes Thomas, Esq.
 Cobb & Doughty, tanners
 Daniel Rev. Rd. M.A.
 Dodson Geo. schoolmaster
 Durrant Jas. wheelgt. and blacksmith

Durrant W. glazier, painter, &c.

Edmonds Jph. tailor
 Edmonds Mary, Infant school
 Everitt Geo. gent. Caistor castle
 George Robert, beer house
 Green Mr. Daniel
 Humphrey Jph. blacksmith
 Julier Wm. National school
 Kemp Rt. saddler and shopkpr.
 Layton Mrs. Cath. West end
 Lovewell Thos. tailor
 Patman Mary, shopkeeper
 Skoyles Wm. bricklayer & baker

Spendlove John, saddler	Bond W. Mayes	Mundford W.
Steward Rev. Geo. Wm., M.A., Rectory	Burton C. & B.	Pettingill W.
Shoemakers.	Daniel Thos. R.	Rising George
Corn Millers.	Davey Saml.	Smith Chs. & T.
Blyth Isaac	Edmonds J. & M.	Squires J. & W.
Blyth Wm.	Horth Thos.	Webster Jas.
Durrant Jas.	Kittle G. & Jn.	Wigg Mayes
Edmonds Jph.	Kittle Jph.	Wright Chas.
Greenacre Dd.	Layton Hy.
Grimmer, Sph.
Barrett Jonth.

FILBY is a small parish and straggling village, on the Norwich turnpike, 6 miles N.W. of Yarmouth. It has 464 inhabitants, and 1400 acres of land, of which 100 are in plantation, and 160 in a fine lake called Filby Broad, and abounding with fish and wild ducks. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, has a lofty embattled tower and five bells. It stands on an eminence above the lake. The rectory, valued in the King's books at £11 1 6d., has 24 acres of glebe, and is in the patronage of the Rev. Charles Lucas, and incumbency of the Rev. Gibson Lucas, who is also chief owner and lord of the manor, which was anciently held by a family of its own name. Filby House, the seat of the rector, is a handsome mansion of white brick, rebuilt in 1833. At the enclosure in 1802, twelve acres of the marsh were allotted to the poor. Here is a Methodist and also an Unitarian Chapel; the latter was built and endowed by Henry Dalhel, who died in 1710.

Lucas Rev. Gibson, Filby House	Moore John, bricklayer
Boulton Eliz. shopkeeper	Nichols Thomas, wheelwright
Boulton Robert, postman	Richards John, gamekeeper
Chapman John, butcher	Shepherd Henry, cattle dealer
Chase George, shoemaker	Sherrington Mrs. Eliz.
Dixon Robt. Geo. beer house	Shreeve John, blacksmith
Dunn Mrs. Eliz.	Skoyles Jas. machine maker
Edwards James, shopkeeper	Smith Wm. tailor
English Wm. shoemaker	Trett John, bricklayer and shopr.
Everson James, schoolr. & shopr.	Trett Thomas, swine dealer
Everson Mr. John	Walpole Clement S. joiner
Green Robt. glazier, painter, &c.	FARMERS — *are Yeomen.
Hannet Jno. vict. Fox & Hounds	Chapman Jph. *Norfer John
Harris Wm. saddler	Chase John *Palmer John
Harrison Wm. S. farrier, &c.	Ellard Frns. Skoyles Thos.
Homan Robert, juner	*Frostick Ed. Thompson St.
Howard Samuel, shoemaker	*Green Thos. Waters Saml.
Humphrey Benj. blacksmith	Hewitt John
Hutton John, assist. overseer

MAUTBY, a parish $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. of Yarmouth, has only six scattered farm houses, and 1550 acres of land, of which 900 are arable, 200 meadow, and 450 marsh, including several modern plantations, and a decoy of 7 acres. Robert Fellowes, Esq., is patron of the rectory, lord of the manor, and owner of the whole parish, which was anciently held by the Mautebys, of whom there are some ancient monuments in the Church, which is dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, and is a thatched fabric with a tower half circular and half octagonal. The rectory, valued in the King's books at £13 has 45A. 2R. of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. John Fellowes. The FARMERS are Henry Browne, South-house; Thomas Carpenter, Marsh-house; James Gall, Rectory-house; Wm. Pearce, East-house; Eliz. Pettingill, Church-house; and Mark Water, Mantby Hall.

ORMESBY (GREAT,) or Ormesby St. Margaret, is a large and handsome village, about one mile from the sea, and 5 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth; and has annexed to its parish the hamlet and manor of SCRATBY, which lies about $\frac{1}{2}$ of a mile to the north east. They contain together 720 inhabitants. Ormesby St. Margaret comprises about 1500 acres of land, belonging to a number of freeholders, some of whom have neat mansions here; but B. C. Griffiths, Esq. and the Rev. Gibson Lucas are joint lords of the manor, which anciently belonged to the Ormesby family. One of the four co-heiresses and daughters of the last Sir Thomas de Ormesby, gave birth to Alice, the famous mistress of Edward III. The village is said to have been anciently a market town, and the inhabitants are exempt from toll in Yarmouth, and from serving on county juries. Ormesby Hall, the seat of Sir Edmund Knowles Lacon, Bart. is a large handsome mansion in the plain Gothic style, erected since the year 1544, and standing in a verdant and well wooded park of 60 acres, commanding a fine view of the sea and the surrounding country. The Lacons were originally settled in Shropshire, and afterwards at Orby, in Yorkshire. The late Sir Edmund Lacon was created a baronet in 1818, and died in 1820. The large and pleasant mansion of the Rev. James Symonds, contains some good specimens of stained glass, and a valuable collection of paintings. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, has several monuments of the knightly family of Cressy, and a fine tower surmounted by the figures of four monks in lieu of pinnacles. The vicarages of Ormesby St. Michael, and St. Margaret-with-Scratby, were consolidated in 1549. The benefice is valued in the King's books at £10. 10d. and was augmented in 1719. with £210, given by N. Symonds, Esq. and £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. Richard Turner, B.D. is the vicar, and the Dean and chapter of Norwich are the patrons and appropriators of the rectorial tithes, which are now leased to Sir E. K. Lacon. There were anciently four churches in the united parishes, but two of them have been long in ruins, viz. St. Peter's, on an eminence between the two Ormesbys; and All Saints, at SCRATBY, or Scratby, a manor of 300 acres, with thirteen scattered houses, all belonging to Lady Hamilton; but the Hall is occupied by Isaac Everitt, Esq. and has a lofty tower at the angle of its south and west fronts.

ORMESBY ST. MICHAEL, or Little Ormesby, is a small village and parish lying west of Great Ormesby, and 6 miles N. N. W. of Yarmouth; containing 773 inhabitants, and 900 acres of land, of which 400 are open common, with a lake of 40 acres. The principal freeholders are Sir E. K. Lacon, Timothy Fellowes, Esq., Miss Louisa Montagu, and Richard Glaspoole, Esq. The two churches are here; and in Capt. Glaspoole's, is a fine Chinese productions, purchased by the company's service. The Church is a small one, and is consolidated with Ormesby St. Margaret.

Spendlove John, saddler
 Steward Rev. Geo. Wm., M.A., Rectory
Shoemakers.
 Blyth Isaac
 Durrant Jas.
 Edmonds Jph.
 Greenacre Dd
 Grimmer, Stph.

Corn Millers.
 Blyth Wm.
 Davey Wm.
 Emes Hy & Co
 FARMERS
 Barrett Jonth.

Bond W. Mayes
 Burton C & B
 Daniel Thos R
 Davey Saml.
 Edmonds J & M.
 Horth Thos.
 Kittle G. & Jn.
 Kittle Jph.
 Layton Hy.

Mundford W.
 Pettingill W.
 Rising George
 Smith Chs & T.
 Squires J & W.
 Webster Jas.
 Wigg Mayes
 Wright Chas.

FILBY is a small parish and straggling village, on the Norwich turnpike, 6 miles N.W. of Yarmouth. It has 464 inhabitants, and 1400 acres of land, of which 100 are in plantation, and 160 in a fine lake called Filby Broad, and abounding with fish and wild ducks. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, has a lofty embattled tower and five bells. It stands on an eminence above the lake. The rectory, valued in the King's books at £11. 1 6d, has 24 acres of glebe, and is in the patronage of the Rev. Charles Lucas, and incumbency of the Rev. Gibson Lucas, who is also chief owner and lord of the manor, which was anciently held by a family of its own name. Filby House, the seat of the rector, is a handsome mansion of white brick, rebuilt in 1833. At the enclosure in 1802, twelve acres of the marsh were allotted to the poor. Here is a Methodist and also an Unitarian Chapel; the latter was built and endowed by Henry Daniel, who died in 1710.

Lucas Rev. Gibson, Filby House
 Boulton Eliz. shopkeeper
 Boulton Robert, postman
 Chapman John, butcher
 Chase George, shoemaker
 Dix n Robt. Geo. beer house
 Dunn Mrs. Eliz.
 Edwards James, shopkeeper
 English Wm. shoemaker
 Everson James, schoolr. & shopr
 Everson Mr John
 Green Robt. glazier, painter, &c.
 Hasset Jno. vict. Fox & Hounds
 Harris Wm. saddler
 Harrison Wm. S. farrier, &c.
 Homan Robert, joiner
 Howard Samuel, shoemaker
 Humphrey Benj. backsmith
 Hutton John, assist. overseer

Moore John, bricklayer
 Nichols Thomas, wheelwright
 Richards John, gamekeeper
 Shepherd Henry, cattle dealer
 Sherrington Mrs. Eliz.
 Shreeve John, blacksmith
 Skoyles Jas. machine maker
 Smith Wm. tailor
 Trett John, bricklayer and shopr.
 Trett Thomas, swine dealer
 Walpole Clement S. joiner

FARMERS.—*are Yeomen
 Chapman Jph. *Norfor John
 Chase John *Palmer John
 Ellard Fras Skoyles Thos.
 *Frostick Ed. Thompson St.
 *Green Thos. Waters Saml.
 Hewitt John

MAITBY, a parish 5½ miles N.W. of Yarmouth, has only six scattered farm houses, and 1550 acres of land, of which 900 are arable, 200 meadow, and 450 marsh, including several modern plantations, and a decoy of 7 acres. Robert Fellowes, Esq., is patron of the rectory, lord of the manor, and owner of the whole parish, which was anciently held by the Mautebys, of whom there are some ancient monuments in the Church, which is dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, and is a thatched fabric with a tower half circular and half square. The rectory, valued in the King's books at £13. 6s 8d, has 45A. 2R. of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. John Fellowes. The FARMERS are Henry Browne, South-house; Thomas Carpenter, Marsh-house; James Gall, Rectory-house; Win. Pearce, East-house; Eliz. Pettingill, Church-house; and Mark Waters, Mantby Hall.

ORMESBY (GREAT,) or Ormesby St. Margaret, is a large and handsome village, about one mile from the sea, and 5 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth; and has annexed to its parish the hamlet and manor of SCRATBY, which lies about $\frac{1}{2}$ of a mile to the north east. They contain together 720 inhabitants. Ormesby St. Margaret comprises about 1500 acres of land, belonging to a number of freeholders, some of whom have neat mansions here; but B. C. Griffinhofe, Esq. and the Rev. Gibson Lucas are joint lords of the manor, which anciently belonged to the Ormesby family. One of the four co-heiresses and daughters of the last Sir Thomas de Ormesby, gave birth to Alice, the famous mistress of Edward III. The village is said to have been anciently a market town, and the inhabitants are exempt from toll in Yarmouth, and from serving on county juries. Ormesby Hall, the seat of Sir Edmund Knowles Lacon, Bart. is a large handsome mansion in the plain Gothic style, erected since the year 1810, and standing in a verdant and well wooded park of 60 acres, commanding a fine view of the sea and the surrounding country. The Lacons were originally settled in Shropshire, and afterwards at Otley, in Yorkshire. The late Sir Edmund Lacon was created a baronet in 1818, and died in 1820. The large and pleasant mansion of the Rev. James Symonds, contains some good specimens of stained glass, and a valuable collection of paintings. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, has several monuments of the knightly family of Clere, and a fine tower surmounted by the figures of four monks in lieu of pinnacles. The vicarages of Ormesby St. Michael, and St. Margaret-with-Scratby, were consolidated in 1548. The benefice is valued in the King's books at £10. 10d. and was augmented in 1719, with £210, given by N. Symonds, Esq. and £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. Richard Turner, B.D. is the vicar, and the Dean and chapter of Norwich are the patrons and appropriators of the rectorial tithes, which are now leased to Sir E. K. Lacon. There were anciently four churches in the united parishes, but two of them have been long in ruins, viz. St. Peter's, on an eminence between the two Ormesbys; and All Saints, at SCRATBY, or Scroteby, a manor of 300 acres, with thirteen scattered houses, all belonging to Lady Hamilton; but the Hall is occupied by Isaac Everitt, Esq. and has a lofty tower at the angle of its south and west fronts.

ORMESBY ST. MICHAEL, or Little Ormesby, is a small village and parish lying west of Great Ormesby, and 6 miles N. N. W. of Yarmouth; containing 273 inhabitants, and 900 acres of land, of which 400 are open common, with a lake of 40 acres. The principal freeholders are Sir E. K. Lacon, Timothy Fellowes, Esq., Miss Louisa Montagu, and Richard Glasspoole, Esq. The two latter have handsome mansions here; and in Capt. Glasspoole's, is a fine collection of India and Chinese productions, purchased by the owner when in the East India Company's service. The Church is a small edifice, with several monuments of the Upcher and Manning families. The vicarage, as already stated, is consolidated with Ormesby St.

Margaret and Scratby. The Land left for repairing the Church and relieving the poor is now let for £32 a-year, and is mostly intermixed with an estate belonging to the Unitarian chapel at Filby.

ORMESBY ST. MARGARET,

WITH SCRATBY.

Those marked * reside at Scratby.
and the rest at Ormesby.

Agas William, blacksmith
Bailey John, butcher
Beck George, corn miller
Black Capt. Wm R. N.
Boycott Misses Emily & Harriet
Carr Thomas, pork butcher
Cory Robert, Esq
Dunt John, tailor and draper
Elliott Thomas, butcher
*Everitt Isaac, Esq Skratby Hall
Fellowes Timothy, Esq
Fellowes Wm. Manning, gent.
Ferrier Rd. Wm. corn miller
Hallock Chas. plumber, glazier, &c
Kidman J. plumber, glazier, &c
Lacou Sir E. K. Bart Ormesby Hall
Lacou Capt. E. K. Ormesby Hall
Manship Benjamin, overseer
Moss Mrs. Elizabeth
Nichols John, gardener, &c.
Nichols Robert, pork butcher
Page Charles, bricklayer
Page Joseph, schoolmaster
Page Thos. farrier & cow leech Plummer Jas. vict. Royal Oak
Read James, schoolmaster
Skoyles Harriet, grocer
*Sloman William Waters, gent.
chief constable of East Flegg
Symonds Rev. James
Tennant Martha, vict. King's Arms, and shopkeeper
Trowse Mr. Robert

Underwood John, bricklayer

Wright John, blacksmith

Shoemakers.

Flegg James

George Jacob

Harris William

Nichols Rt.

Page Charles

Simmet Robert

Wright Thos.

Joiners.

Cole John

Nichols John

Shreeve John

Shrimplin Jas.

Farmers.

* Catchpole N.

Chapman Wm.

manor house

Cooper Wm.

* Elliott Robt.

* Gant Robt.

Goodwin David

* Green John

ORMESBY ST. MICHAEL.

Glasspoole Richard, Esq.

Hammond Nath. corn miller

Montagu Mrs. Louisa, (and Mrs.

Lucas,) Ormesby House

Waters John, gentleman

FARMERS

* are yeoman.

* Addy John

* Amos Abm.

Cobb John

* Cocker John

Flaxman Rbt.

* Neave Matw.

* Nockels John

Page Charles,

& beer house

Page Thos.

Parker Robert

Steward Robt.

Tennant John

Tennant Martha

* Tongate John

* Westgate Ths.

* Woolston Bja.

Woolston John

* Woolston J. jun.

* Woolston Rt.

* Woolston Bt.

junior

* Wheelwrights.

Detry Steven

Skoyles Thos.

RUNHAM village stands on the north bank of the Bure, 6 miles W N W of Yarmouth, but its parish, which contains only 249 inhabitants, extends to the opposite side of the river, and includes Fairhall gardens, near Yarmouth suspension bridge. (See p. 239) The Everaures formerly held this lordship by petty sergeantry, and one of them obtained a charter for a fair and market, in 1226, but both have long been obsolete. Wm. Boulton, Esq. is now the principal owner and lord of the manor. R. Fellowes and S. Cory, jun. Esqrs. have estates here. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a vicarage valued in the King's Books at £4; but it now possesses 35a 2r. 31p. & more partly purchased with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, obtained in 1729. The Rev George Miller is the incumbent, and the Ely the patron, and appropriator of the corn tithes, now Sir E. K. Lazenby. At the enclosure of the marsh, in 1802, 100 acres were allotted to the poor, who have also £3. 10s. yearly out of an old piece of poor's land.

Mr. Mary
William, Esq.
William, shoemaker
Isaac, ferryman
Mr. James
Rev. John, L.L.B. Rector
John
John, parish clerk
John Nicholas, joiner

Thompson Wm. Blacksmith	London Mary
FARMERS.	Myhill Wm.
* are yeomen.	* Palmer Cl.
Cobb John	Seaman Isaac
* Cory Samuel	Ward John
* Pabb Richard	Shopkeepers
Gage Jonathan	Barren John
Gibbs Cope	Knights Edw.
Howes Benj.

STOKESBY-cum-HERRINGBY is a parish on the north east of the Bure, containing 324 inhabitants, 2000 acres of land. Village of Stokesby, 7 miles W. N. W. of Yarmouth, by the road 2 miles E. of Acle. The greatest part of the soil is low marsh, bounded on three sides by the Bure, and the stream divides the two Fleegs. George Copeman, R. & K. F. Dancer, Norton, Esqrs. have estates and seat houses in Stokesby; the first is lord of the manor; but F. Lane, Esq. of Lynn, as tenant, claims a fine of £5 per annum from the Hall estate. The church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is a rectory valued in the books at £13. 6s. 8d., and now endowed with 43 acres of glebe. Gibson Lucas is patron and incumbent. Twenty acres of land are allotted as a pasture for the poor.

HERRINGBY, the south eastern division of the parish. Now only two farms, belonging to A. Waters, gentleman: though at Tuesday survey, it had five salt works, and was afterwards used for its college or hospital, founded in 1475, by Hugh de for "a master, three priests, eight poor folks, and two vicars with an endowment of £44 per annum. At the dissolution the establishment was granted to Sir Thomas Clere. Some remains of the college may be seen in the manor house, but the site of the church is occupied by a bullock shed.

Daniel, shoemaker
Robert, farmer
John G. gent. Stokesby Hall
John, joiner & beerhouse
Knights Francis, gent.
Richard, gentleman
John, Christmas, brazier, &c.
Richard, shoemaker
William, shopkeeper
Thomas, shoemaker

Juby Joseph, farmer
Miller Samuel, blacksmith
Myhill Robert, farmer
Norton John Chas. gent. Hilburn
Powley Joseph, shopkeeper
Ransome Robert, corn miller
Rowland John, vict. Ferry house
Smith Edward, bricklayer
Waters Azariah, gent. Herringby

HERRINGBY is a hamlet and small parish, 7 miles N. W. by W. of Yarmouth, containing only 43 inhabitants, and 560 acres of land. 100 acres were bequeathed to the poor widows of Yarmouth by Rev. Edward Warnes; and the remainder belongs to Thomas Lane, Esq. the patron of the rectory, and lord of the manor. Now only in the Hall, which he has recently enlarged and beautified.

The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a rectory valued in the King's books at £6, and now enjoyed by the Rev. J. Morton, L.L.B. The other occupiers are Wm. Pearce, farmer, and Robt. and Jas Flood, corn millers.

WEST FLEGG HUNDRED;—(see page 236.)

ASHBY-WITH-OBY, and THURNE, at the north-western angle of West-Flegg hundred, were consolidated as one parish in 1601, and now comprise 220 inhabitants, 1967 acres of land, a number of scattered houses, and the small village of THURNE, or Thirne, on a declivity near the confluence of the rivers Thurne and Bure, 11 miles N. W. of Yarmouth. The Church, dedicated to St. Edmund, stands near this village, and is a rectory valued in the King's books at £10. The Bishop of Norwich is the patron, and the Rev Horatio Bolton, M.A. the incumbent. The glebe is 21 $\frac{1}{2}$ 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ 23 $\frac{1}{2}$; and the church and poor land, (21 $\frac{1}{2}$) is let for £6. Wm. Hannent, Esq. is lord of the manors of Thurne and Ashby, and the other principal land owners are Messrs. J. Parker and S. Wigg. The common (200A.) was enclosed in 1810, when 18 acres were allotted for the poor. The rest of the parish consists of 1131 acres of arable land and 633 acres of marsh. ASHBY is now only one farm, 1 mile S. E. of Thurne, though it had formerly a church dedicated to St. Mary, of which some ruins still remain. OBY, or Ouby, contains the rectory house, and four farms, one mile S. of Thurne. William Buckle, Esq. is lord of the manor, which was anciently held by the Clippeshys, but the Rev. T. Sayers, Mrs. Parker, and Mr John Wiseman, have estates here, and the latter resides in the manor house an ancient mansion, with a barn of vast dimensions, bearing the date 1622. In the following Directory, those marked 2 are in Oby, 1 in Ashby, and the rest in Thurne.

Bailey James, shopkeeper	Howes Samuel, wheelwright
2 Bolton Rev Horatio, M.A.	Skoyles Wilham, shoemaker
Clarke Samuel, Wherry owner	1 Farmers, Parker John
Flowerdew Saml blacksmith	Garret Wm 2 Skipper John
Gowing James, shoemaker	1 Gilbert Rt. 2 Starkey W.R.
Hollis Philip, ferryman	2 Newman Jph. 2 Wiseman J
Hollis Wilham, joiner&beerhouse

BILLOCKBY, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. W. by Yarmouth, and 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. by N. of Norwich, is a small parish with 67 inhabitants, and 390 acres of land, divided into two farms, belonging to Misses Browne and Mr John Ecclestone, the latter of whom is lord of the manor, and resides in the manor house. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is all in ruins except the chancel. The living is a rectory, valued in the King's books at £2 8s. 9d., but augmented in 1780 and 1792, with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev Wm. Lucas, M.A. is patron and incumbent. Misses Browne's farm is occupied by Mr Rising, of Burgh, and George Barwood, shopkeeper, is a tenant here.

BURGH ST MARGARET and ST. MARY, have long been consolidated as one parish, and now contain 491 inhabitants, 1327 acres of land, and the village of Burgh St. Margaret, sometimes called Flegg Burgh, on the Norwich road, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. W. of Yarmouth, but the ruined church of St. Mary, with a few scattered hou

WEST FLEGG HUNDRED.

20

ten, lies half a mile to the east, near the lakes or troughs and is divided through the marshes and divide the two Fleggs. In the reign of Edward I. William De Burgh claimed free warren with a manor and fish here, and a fishery from Burgh bridge to Stokesby lea. The Rev James Symonds is lord of the manors of Burgh Hall and Statham, and B. C. Griffiths and the Rev. Gibson Lucas are joint lords of St. Mary's, or Vaux hall manor. St. Margaret's Church which now serves the whole parish, is an ancient fabric covered with thatch, and containing several monuments of the Wymer and Astrea families. The rectory valued in the King's books at £12 1s. 4d. was augmented in 1771 with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and has 21 acres of glebe. The Rev. Wm. Lucas, M.A., is both incumbent and patron, and has a large estate here, and resides in Burgh Hall a handsome white brick mansion, erected in 1625. The poor parishioners have an allotment of the marsh, let for £50 a-year, distributed in coals and turf; and other land left by Thomas Wymer, in 1566 and now let for £20 a-year, given in doles of money. They take also 20s. in halfpenny loaves, and beer every Plough Monday, from the gifts of T. Wymer and others.

Alexander Robert, gardener
Darrant George, corn miller
Green Edw. & John, wheelwrights
Grimes James, shoemaker
Hales John, gardener
Hunt John, vict. King's Arms
Hall John, pork butcher
Hunt John Lee, schoolmaster
Jeary William, bricklayer
Lucas Rev. W. M. A. Burgh Hall
Meyhill Robert, shoemaker
Nichols Jeremiah, blacksmith
Rushmer Joshua, corn miller

FARMERS.	Nichols John
*Arc Toomen	*Parker Keen
Chase Wm.	Rice John
*Coppin John	Rising William
*Coppin Wm.	Saunders John
Curtis John	*Seven Wm.
*Dyble Robt.	*Smith Wm.
*Florence Thos.	*T. Wm. T.
Green Henry	Stewart John
Greenacre Chas.	St. Peter's
*Kippin Wm.	Manning John
*Moore John	Moore Robert
Newman John	Stables Azra

CLIPPESBY parish, 9 miles N. W. of Yarmouth, has only a few scattered houses, 67 inhabitants, and 570a. 1r. 3qr. of land, belonging to Henry Muskett, Esq. of Clippesby House a handsome modern mansion of white brick, with stone quoins and pilasters, and pleasantly seated at the head of a fine lawn, sheltered on the north by thriving plantations. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter has a raised altar tomb to the memory of John Clippesby and his wife, whose effigies are beautifully portrayed in brass. The Rectory valued in the King's books at £6. 13s. 4d. is now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Colby. H. Muskett, Esq. is the patron, and the other principal residents are two farmers, viz. James Skinner, South house, and Asariah Waters, Old hall.

HEMSBY, or Hemesby parish, extends to the sea and has a pleasant village on a declivity, half a mile from the beach, and 6 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth. It has 560 inhabitants, and about 1600 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, among whom are Thomas Clowes, Esq. Mrs. Glaspoole, and Robt. Copeman, Esq. The latter resides in the Hall, and is patron of the Church and lord of the manor, which anciently belonged to Norwich Cathedral; for we find that the prior, in the reign of Henry III., claimed homage of the tenants, and gave two palfreys to have a market; and in the 32nd of Edward I., he claimed here. "wreck at sea, view of frank pledge, assize, free warren, pillory, and tumbrel. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a vicarage valued in the King's books at £1. 6s. 8d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Robt. Hales. The corn tithes are redeemed, and the glebe is 36 acres. In 1583, Edmund Drake left land to the poor, now let for £1. 4s. 4d. An Infant and a Girls' School, are partly supported by the contributions of Mrs. Copeman and other ladies.

Bishop John, gentleman	Pustle Charles, blacksmith
Boulton Robert, gardener	Reade Sophia, Infant School
Bowers Thos. beerhouse, Cliff	Starling George, corn miller
Copeman Rbt. Esq. Hemsby Hall	Townsend Edward, schoolmaster
Copeman Rbt. jun. gent. Hemsby	Woodhouse Eleanor, shopkeeper
Lodge	Wickston George, joiner
Cook John Dyke, vict. Blue Bell	Wright Wm. butcher & beerhouse
Dow Samuel, blacksmith	FARMERS
Emmerson George, wheelwright	*are yeomen
Ferrier Mrs.	*Cheaney Wm.
Grymes Jas. & Lound J. shoemkrs.	Durrant Edm.
Littlewood James, & Co. grocers	*English Thos.
and drapers	*Fabb Richard
Myhill William, gardener	Gallant James
Page John, bricklayer & beerhs.	*George Edw.
	Gibson Benj.
	Green Robert
	Harbord Griffin
	Juby Wm.
	Manship Thos.
	Pettingall Edm.
	Watson Rt.
	*Wilson Mark

MARTHAM a large village, with several handsome houses, pleasantly seated on rising ground above the marshes, $9\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. N. W. of Yarmouth. Its parish extends above a mile westward to the hamlet of Cess, on the river Thurne, and comprises 895 inhabitants, and 2500 acres of land, mostly copyhold, and subject to arbitrary fines. Thomas Grove, Esq., who resides in the hall, is lord of the manor, for which he holds a court at Michaelmas; but Moregrove and Knightsley form a small manor, belonging to Mr. Wm. Garnham. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a large Gothic pile, with a fine specimen of stained glass, a lofty tower, and six bells. It is a vicarage valued in the King's books at £6. 13s. 4d. and now enjoyed by the Rev. Chas. Geo. Pearce. The Dean and Chapter of Norwich are the patrons, and appropriators of the corn tithes, now leased to Thomas Fran. and Wm. Rising. In 1160, Roger Gunton gave this church to the prior and convent of Norwich, "for the redemption of his soul." The Wesleyans and Baptists have neat chapels in the village. The Free school is endowed with land let for £16 a-year, and purchased with £112 left by Christopher Amys in 1622; and £8 left by Robert Bower, in 1682, except $1\frac{1}{2}$ acre allotted at the enclosure. It has also £200 three per cents. left by Mrs. Brown in 1816, for the instruction of six girls, and £400 in the same stock, left by Diana Creasey, in 1834, for clothing and educating six poor children. Mrs. Bowman also bequeathed £100 three per cents. to the poor parishioners, who have likewise 36 acres of land allotted at the enclosure in 1808, and now let for £45 per annum, which is distributed in coals. At the same time, a common of 36 acres was set apart for the pasturage of their cows. Of 20a. a-year left by an unknown donor, 6s. 8d. is paid for a sermon on New year's day, and the rest given to the poor.

A cock tree 75 years old, may be seen in Mr. Forder's garden. Some years ago a man was gibbeted here for setting fire to a part of the village. The fair, formerly noted as a horse mart, is still continued as a holiday meeting on the last Tuesday and Wednesday in July, and bringings for servants are held about Michaelmas and Lady Day.

Those marked 1 reside at Cess, and 2 at Damgate.

Bessey William, lime burner
Braddock Chas. brewer & cooper
Braddock George, watchmaker
Carrier John, gentleman
Cooper William, surgeon
Crow William, corn miller
Dust Nathl. painter, glazier, &c.
Forder Richard, Free School
Frances Capt. Geo. West end coty.
1 Francis Thomas, gentleman
Garnham Richard, sen. gent.
Garnham Wm. gent. Moregrove
Gedge John, butcher
Gedge John, farrier
Gedge Samuel, cooper
1 Goose John, brickmaker
Hedge John, basket maker
Hodds Benjamin, shopkeeper
Jenry John, butcher
Lacey William, saddler
Linford Moses, brickmaker
Long David, baker & flour dealer
Lusber James, tailor & draper
Marston Thomas, surgeon
Piggins Thomas, bricklayer
Pollard Mr. Cha.; Parker Mrs. Ann
Pratt Mrs. Mary; & Preston Eliz.
Proctor Thomas, parish clerk
Purdy Robins, gentleman
Rising Thos. Sutfield, gent. chief constable of West Flegg

Rogers Wm. vict. Kings' arms
Springall Edw. blacksmith
Tyce John, tailor, and postman to Filby, Winterton, Hemsby, &c
Ward John, tailor
Ward Rt. blacksmith & beerha.
Wells William, gentleman.
Wright James, bricklayer

Shoemakers.
Baverley John 1 Pollard Wm
Bell Thos. 1 Proctor Mary
Dawson James * Rising George
Greenacre Rd. 2* Thompson M
Hill Charles * Thompson W.
Jones John 1 Vincent John
Payne Wm. Woods Nichs.
Tungate Jas. Grocers & Drps
FARMERS. Bushell Thos *are yeoman. Garnham R <
*Bane Eliz. Manship Thos
*Barber Geo. Moore Robert
Bough Benj. Joiners, Wheel
Braddock Jas. wrights, &c
Braddock Wm. Hill Robert
Brown Thos. Pestell Robert
*Brunsom Wm. Ransome Wm
Derry John Rogers Wm.
Gedge Jonthn. Rust James
2*Grunson Wm. Woods Nichs
*Johnson Wm. Wherry Owners.
2*Litteboy Rt. Bessey Wm.
Manship Isaac Dawson John
Pollard John Manship Thos
Moore Robert

REPPS-cum-BASTWICK, are two hamlets, half a mile from each other, and 10 miles N.W. by N. of Yarmouth. They form one parish, containing 255 inhabitants and 1100 acres of land, (800 arable and 300 marsh.) Edward Lombe, Esq., is the principal owner and lord of the manor. The common was enclosed in 1808, when 20 acres were allotted to the poor. The Church, at Repps, is a small fabric dedicated to St. Peter; but of that at Bastwick, nothing remains except the tower. The curacy was augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1799, and was previously certified at £25. The Corporation of Norwich, are the patrons, and the Rev. Charles Boutel is the incumbent. In the following list, those marked * are at Bastwick, and the others at Repps.

Baker Rev. Francis, off curate
 * Boyce Thos. painter, glazier, &c.
 Flowerdew Ch. wheelright, & vict.
 Manship Wm. corn miller
 Thain Mary, shopkeeper
 Thain Noah, blacksmith

Farmers
 * Belson Mr.
 Greenacre Rt.
 * Hadden Wm.
 * Kidman Rt.
 Moore John C.

Shoemakers.
 Barber James
 Powley Benj.
Wherry Owners
 Bessey Wm.
 Nichols John

ROLLESBY is a large scattered village and parish, 8 miles N. W. by N of Yarmouth, containing 719 inhabitants, and about 1500 acres of land. John Ensor, Esq., is the largest proprietor and lord of the manor. He resides in the Hall, a handsome building which was in the Elizabethan style, but was new fronted with white brick, and otherwise improved, about 18 years ago. It is delightfully situated east of the village, in the vale of the Broads, eight of which unite, and covering a long strip of 300 acres, form the largest fresh water lake in the county. The Church, on an eminence, at the west end of the village, is dedicated to St. George, and has several monuments of the families of Claxton, Gleane, and Mapes. The rectory, valued in the King's books at £17, is in the patronage of J. Ensor, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. T. Baker. The poor have 20 acres of land allotted at the enclosure, and now let for £14. They have also £3. 12s. yearly from land left by Chpr Amys and Leonard Mapes; and £5 yearly, from land allotted for the education of poor children. The House of Industry, for the hundreds of East and West Flegg, stands on a declivity near the Broads, and is already described at page 235.

Ensor Rev. Edm. B.A. Rolles-
 ton hall
 Ensor John, Esq. Rolleston hall
 Annison Rd. Steward, wheelwright
 Appleton John, blacksmith
 Baker Rev. Thos. M.A. Rectory
 Boyce John, veterinary surgeon
 Crane George, gardener
 Day John, shopkpr. & beerhouse
 Gaze Rd. jun. & sen. joiners
 George Wm. shoemaker
 Gorble Wm. gardener
 Lipford Jas. vict. Horse & Groom
 Littlewood Joseph, parish clerk
 Nicholls Wm. blacksmith & overseer

Norman Rd. Briten, governor of House of Industry
 Shalders Saml. shopkpr. & beer
 hs.; and carrier to Norwich,
 Sat. 5 mg.
 Spanton John, blacksmith
 Woollacott Sarah, schoolrs.
FARMERS.—Marked are yeomen.*
 * Annison Edw. Durrant Robert
 Baldry George * Fabb Richard
 * Chapman Jas. Kemp Robert
 Christmas John Lowu Richard
 Clarke Wm. Moore Wm.
 Cooper Wm. Ransome John
 * Denham John Vellum Wm.
 Derry Robert Wright Ann

SOMERTON (WEST) village is pleasantly scattered at the foot and on the declivities of a gentle eminence, 9 miles N. by W of Yarmouth. Its parish contains 243 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land. Thomas Grove, Esq. is chief owner, and lord of the manor, which is mostly copyhold, subject to arbitrary fines. Joseph Hume, Esq. M.P. has a small estate here. The Church is a thatched edifice, and its tower, like several others in this neighbourhood, is half circular and half octangular. The curacy was certified at £16, but it has been augmented with £1600 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and £200 given by Thos. Grove, Esq., the patron, in 1825. The Rev. Rd. Daniel, M.A. is the incumbent. In the reign of Henry 11., Ralph de Glauville, lord chief justice of England, founded a Hospital here for three lepers, subject to the priory of Butley, in Suffolk.

Anderson James, farmer
 Anson Daniel, beer house
 Gage John, shoemaker
 Gage John, blacksmith
 Howes Geo. joiner & wheelwright
 Louch Stephen, farmer

Pettingill Wm yeoman, West h
 Plane Jas. schoolmaster
 Rising Wm. gent. Somerton hall
 Symonds Chs gent. ; & Yarmouth
 Thompson Hamant Markham, farmer

SOMERTON, (EAST,) 8 miles N by W. of Yarmouth, is a small but picturesque hamlet and parish, now united with Winterton, its own Church having long been an ivy-mantled ruin. It comprises only 54 inhabitants, and about 600 acres of land, all belonging to that distinguished statesman, Joseph Hume, Esq. M.P., who purchased this manor, and some estates in the adjacent parishes, in 1834. Somerton House, now occupied by Vice-Admiral Edmund Stephens, was built about the beginning of the 18th century, by J. Husband, Esq ; and its beautiful lawn, gardens, walks, and plantations, were greatly improved by the late J. B. Huntingdon, Esq.—The other tenants are Wm. Womack, farmer ; Robert Warley blacksmith ; and a few cottagers.

WINTERTON is an ancient fishing village, lying in a bay, 4 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth, and sheltered on the north-east by that bold promontory called Winterton Ness, and well known to the mariner as the most fatal headland between Scotland and London — (See p. 251.) The parish has 631 inhabitants, and about 1260 acres of land ; of which Joseph Hume, Esq. M.P., and Lord Winterton, are the principal owners. The latter is lord of the manor, and the former patron of the rectory, which is valued in the King's books at £20. 13s. 4d., and has annexed to it the curacy of East Somerton. The Rev. J. Nelson, B.A., is the incumbent. The Church, dedicated to the Holy Trinity and All Saints, has a fine embattled tower, 120 feet high, overlooking the highest parts of the Ness, and commanding an extensive view of the ocean. The Light House, which stands on a lofty summit, on the south-east side of the village, is an hexagonal tower, nearly 70 feet high, and now illuminated with patent lamps and reflectors. It is the property of Lord Braybrooke, and was granted in 1687 to Sir Edward Turnour, with "1d. per ton for every vessel sailing by." There were formerly two lights on the Ness, but they were removed about five years ago. A coast guard, with a number of beach-men and two pilots, are stationed here. Winterton gives the title of Earl to the Turnour family, and had formerly a market, fair, and races. In 1665, by the sea encroaching on the cliffs, several large bones were found, and one of them, weighing 57 pounds, and measuring 3 feet 2 inches, was pronounced by the faculty to be the leg-bone of a man ! On Dec. 27th, a high tide caused such alarming sea-breaches at Winterton, Horsey, and Waxham, as to threaten destruction to all the level of marshes from thence to Yarmouth, Beccles, &c.—Mr. Hume supports a school here for 30 children, and has a wild fowl decoy, covering about 30 acres.

Amis Henry & John, mariners
 Bond Mr. Henry

Brown Jph. Rt. & Thos. mariner
 Cock Wm. gardener

Goffin Wm. shoemaker
 Higsen Rd. schoolr. & par. clerk
 Juby John, beer house
 King Ann, shopkeeper
 Learner Samuel, bricklayer
 Leech Mr Edward
 Leech Edw. jun. beer house
 Leigh Lieut. Thos R.N., officer of coast guard
 Nelson Rev. John, B.A., Rectory
 Palmer Edm. corn miller
 Popay Chas. tailor & overseer
 Rogers Lawr. vict. Three Mariners
 Skelton Geo. decoy man
 Slater John, shopkeeper

Smith James, shoemaker
 Smith Wm. light house keeper
 Stead Thos. bricklayer
 Thornhill Thos. Esq. Hill cottage
 Tubby John, shoemaker

Farmers	Juby Joseph
Diball Christ.	King Abel
mas	Page Joseph
Flaxman Wm.	Shales Samuel
Green Ann	Womack Wm
Grimmer Benj.	Wright John
Hodds Hy. jun.
Carriers. —Thos. Dyball and Hy.
Hodds, to Yarmouth, Wed and Sat.

HAPPING HUNDRED

Is of a triangular figure, stretching about eleven miles along the sea-shore, from Winterton Ness to Walcot, and bounded on the south by West Flegg and Walsham Hundreds, and on the west by Tunstead Hundred, two of its boundaries being about eleven miles, and the other nine miles in length. The villages are mostly surrounded by low marshes, intersected by numerous broads or lakes, connected by rivulets and drains, flowing southward, in two channels, to the Bure and the Thurne, and opening a direct navigation to Yarmouth, for boats of 14 tons, from almost every part of this Hundred, the greater portion of which was formerly watery meadows, open commons, and extensive rabbit-warrens; but the grounds are now well drained, and all enclosed except a few small warrens, and several allotments awarded for the use of the poor. The drain waters are pumped from the lower levels by a number of wind-mills. Happing Hundred has suffered considerably from the encroachments of the ocean, though it appears now to be pretty well protected by the high ridges of sand-hills drifted on the coast, and the occasional assistance of a few men employed to repair the breaches. This Hundred forms, with Tunstead, the Deanery of Wuxton, or Waxham, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich, and was united with that Hundred, (except North Walsham) for parochial purposes, in the 25th of George III, when a House of Industry was erected for the incorporated parishes, at Smallburgh.—Happing Hundred contains 16 parishes; of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population and territorial extent, in 1831, and the annual value of their land and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815.

HAPPING HUNDRED.

319

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
		£				£
Brumstead	167	736	650	Palling	347	736	855
Catfield	822	2,041	2,200	Potter-Higham ..	367	2,108	2,000
Happisburgh	282	2,234	1,360	Ruston (East)	730	2,178	2,300
Hempenstead-with- Eccles	200	831	970	Stuhham	613	1,854	1,000
Hickling	708	2,511	4,000	Sutton	313	1,300	1,000
Howry-next-the-Sea	111	480	1,800	Walcot	128	602	750
Ington	412	1,401	1,445	Washam	50	1,384	1,700
Leningham	191	878	857
Ludham	200	4,150	3,000	Total	6,446	26,101	26,871

BRUMSTEAD, or BUCKSTEAD, is a small hamlet and parish, 7 miles E.S.E. of North Walsham, and 16 miles N.N.E. of Norwich. It comprises 500 acres of upland, and 150 acres of marsh, of which 12 acres were allotted to the poor at the enclosure, in 1805. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a rectory, valued in the King's books at £6. 5s. 7d. The Earl of Abergavenny is the patron, and the Rev. G. M. Bethune, D.D. is the rector. The land-owners are John Newman and Wm. Durrant, gentlemen; and the other residents are Mr. Cubitt Durrant, and Thos. Riches, blacksmith.

CATFIELD is a straggling village, in several detached portions, bearing the names stated below, and distant about 14 miles N.W. of Norwich. Its parish consists of 1500 acres of arable land, and 700 of marsh, including a wood of 150 acres, a portion of Hickling and Ludham broads, and 60 acres of Heath, allotted to the poor at the enclosure in 1802. The families of Crowe, Beck, and a number of other residents, have estates and neat houses here. George Cubitt, Esq. is lord of the small manor of Catfield Hall, and the rest of the parish is within the out-soke manor of Sutton. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a large Gothic structure, erected about 1440, and has in its chancel-floor the lid of an ancient sculptured coffin, removed from Hickling priory in 1826. The rectory is in two medieties, valued in the King's books at £7. 10s. and now enjoyed by the Rev. John Prowett. The Bishop of Norwich and Geo. Cubitt, Esq. are the alternate patrons. Four acres of poor's land, bequeathed many years ago, are now let for £8 per annum.—In the following Directory, those marked 1 reside at Catfield hall; 2, Grove street; 3, Heath; 4, Wood street; and the rest at Catfield. Fenn street is a hamlet of cottages.

Barber Mrs. Sarah, Cottage
2 Crews John & John jun. gents.
Crowe Mr. Robert
Curtis Mr. John
Dye Richard, beer house
Gibbs W. & Harbord Ts. bsmths.
Greenwood Benj. schoolmaster
Hindry Martin, grocer & draper
Knight Benj. butcher
Lacey John, shopkpr & beerhs.
Moore John, grocer and draper

Myhill Edw. & Page St. joiners
Prowett Rev. John, A M Rector
Rice Robert, tailor
Vincent Joseph, corn miller
Watts Geo. vict. Crown
Shoemakers.
Crane Martin
Myhill Joseph
Myhill Lewis
Pycroft Thomas

FARMERS.
* are Peome
* Amis Edw.
* Barber Geo.
* Beck James

•Beck Wm.	Greensmith Rt.	1 Page John	•Southgate Jn.
4 Cooke Robert	(& cattle dir.)	•Pigg Philip	(& brick mkr.)
1 Crowe Samuel	3 Jay James	2 Priddy Saml.	4•Wells Martin
3•Crowe Wm.	•Knight Robert	Samou Wm.	•Wittleton Tho
4 Cubitt John	Lubbock Robt.	Carrier, Sl. Hundry, from Penn
•George Robert	•Mace Roger	street to Norwich, Frid 12 noon

ECCLES BY-THE-SEA, 9 miles E. by S. of North Walsham, is a decayed hamlet and parish, once a noted fishing town with a lordship of 2000 acres, but so wasted by the incursions of the ocean, that the inhabitants, in their petition for a reduction of taxes, in 1605, complained that they had then only 14 houses and 300 acres of land, "the rest being all destroyed by the sea, together with the Church." The whole now comprises only a few miserable cottages, with the Church tower, shut in by the lofty ridges of sand on the beach; together with 150 acres of land, divided into three farms, occupied by Robert Bell, George Empson, and Robert Randall. Edward Lombe, Esq., is lord of the manor and patron of the vicarage, which is valued in the King's books at £8, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Edward Evans; but owing to the want of a Church, this is a secure benefice, and the inhabitants use the Church at Hempstead, with which parish they have long been united for the support of the poor.

HAPPISBURGH, commonly Haisborough, is a considerable village, scattered on the summit and declivities of the sea bank, 7 miles E. of North Walsham, and 14 miles S.E. by E. of Cromer. It has two herring and four oyster boats, and the latter find ample employment on the prolific oyster beds, discovered in the offing, in 1821. Within a mile south-east of the village, are two Light Houses, erected in 1791,—one a hundred, and the other eighty feet high, and both lit with patent lamps and reflectors. The parish contains about 1900 acres of land and 582 inhabitants. The soil belongs to a number of proprietors, but Mr. Andrew Siely, of Walcott, is lord of the manor, which was anciently held by the Parkers, who had here and at Eccles, many privileges and customs, amongst which were view of frank pledge, waif, wreck, free warren, free fishing, gallows, tumbril, &c. The copyholds are subject to fines certain. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a lofty pile with a fine embattled tower, 150 feet high, standing on an elevated point of land within a short distance of the sea cliff, which, rising perpendicularly, and having an understratum of sand and gravel, is so continually wasted by the agitation of the tides and storms, that it is calculated the Church will be engulfed in the ocean, before the middle of the ensuing century; the sea having encroached upwards of 170 yards during the last sixty years. The vicarage is valued in the King's books at £6. 6s. 8d. The Rev. Charles Breh is the incumbent, and the Bishop of Norwich is the patron, and appropriator of the rectorial tithes, now leased to Mr. John Shepherd. At the enclosure, in 1801, four acres (now let for £8. 8s.) were allotted to the poor parishioners, who have also the following benefactions, viz. £11. 14s yearly from land left in 1727, by Jonathan Chaloner, for bread, clothing, and education, and four rent charges, amounting to £2. 11s. per annum, distributed in meal, and bequeathed in the 17th century by Mary Williams, Mr. Allison, Mr. Smith, and James Scambler.

Betts Philip, wheelwright
 Birch Rev. Charles, vicar
 Blake Rev. Edmund
 Butcher Capt. John Lewis
 Chamberlain Mrs. Sarah
 Cashion Chpr. beer house
 Ducker Robt. shopr. & boat owner
 Fletcher Jas. Lower Light house
 Ford John, vict. Windmill
 Fresey Thomas, corn miller
 Garrod Edw. Upper Light house
 Hannet Solomon. parish clerk
 Hason Daniel, vict. Swan
 Hason Robert, boat owner
 James Lieut. Thos. Edw. R.N.
 Knowles John, joiner
 Nickles James, shopkeeper

Pilch Hy. baker & boat owner
 Postle Mr. Augustine
 Scarf John & Green W. tailors
 Shipley James, schoolmaster
 Thompson John, blacksmith
 Wright Jas. & Staff Stn. shoemkr.
 Wright James, joiner

FARMERS.

• are Feomen.

• Baker Robt.

Cato Thomas

Cole John

• Faulstee Jas.

• Howes Wm.

Lambert Jas.

• Shepherd J.

• Siely And.

• Siely Jas.

• Siely Wm.

• Vincent, Geo.

Carrier.—Edmund Press, to Yarmouth, dep. Sat. 1 mng.

HEMPSTEAD, 8 miles E. by S. of North Walsham, is a small village and parish, containing 907 acres of land and 209 inhabitants; but the latter include those of Eccles-by-the-Sea, which adjoins Hempstead on the east, and is annexed to it for the maintenance of the poor. Joseph Sewell, Esq., is the principal land owner and lord of the manor. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is a rectory, valued in the King's books at £7. 2s. 6d., and has the rectory of Lesingham annexed to it. The Rev. Edward Wilkins, M.A., is the incumbent, and the patronage is in King's College, Cambridge. The glebe is 40 acres. At the enclosure, nine acres of land were allotted as a pasture for the poor, who have also 3s. 4d. yearly, left by A. C. Grey; and the interest of £32, left by an unknown donor.

Wilkins, Rev. Ed. M.A. rector

Cannon Benj. beer house

Littlewood Mrs. Mary Ann

Farmers.

Bramble Ed.

Littlewood W.

Marler Robt.

• Pilgrim Jas.

Silcock Wm.

HICKLING is a widely scattered village and parish, 18 miles N.E. by E. of Norwich, containing 762 inhabitants, and about 4000 acres of land, of which nearly 2000 are marshes. About $1\frac{1}{4}$ mile S. of the Church, is Hickling Broad, an extensive lake, upwards of three miles in circumference, and navigable for small craft to the Thurne and the Bure. Nathaniel Micklethwaite, Esq., is the principal land owner and lord of the manor, for which he holds a Court in November. Some of the copyholds are on fine certain, and others arbitrary. He is also impropriator of the rectorial tithes, and patron of the vicarage, which is valued in the King's books at £5. 3s. 4d., and from 1782 to 1784, was augmented with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, and £200 given by John Micklethwaite, Esq., and the Rev. John Wells; all laid out in 17 acres of marsh land at Acle. The Rev. C. F. Millard is the incumbent. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a handsome Gothic structure, with a tower and five bells; and about half a mile to the north, in the outbuildings of a farm house, are the remains of the Prior which was founded in 1185, by Theobald de Valoins, for Canons of the Order of St. Austin, and granted at the dissolution to Sir W. Woodhouse. The last remaining window of the priory was taken down in 1825, and now forms a porch to the farm house. It is said, that Hickling had once a Market. A holiday fair is now held here on April 23rd. At the enclosure, in 1805, the poor received an allotment of 83 acres, now let for £48 19s, which, with the interest of £112 obtained from the sale of two poor houses, is distributed in coals. They have also an old piece of poor's land, let for £4, and a rent charge of 10s. left in 1689, by James Scambler. About 30 years ago, the Rev John Wells, a late vicar, bequeathed £250 four per cents. for the education of twelve poor children. In the following Directory, those marked 1, reside at Eastfield; 2, Green; 3, Heath; 4, Hickling; 5, Stub; and 6, at Winnmore Hall.

- 2 Adams J. vict. White Horse
- 2 Bates Benj. shopkeeper
- 2 Bates Benj. jun. joiner & beer house
- 4 Beane Benj. shopr. & tailor
- 2 Canell Thomas, tailor
- 4 Chipperton John, butcher
- 5 Frankling Dionysius, wheelwgt.
- 4 Gaze George, free school
- 4 Harbord Robert, schoolmaster
- Layton T. wherry owner, Staith
- 3 Mack Miss Sarah
- Neave Jacob, blacksmith
- 2 Sandell Wm. corn miller
- 4 Thom Robert, blacksmith
- 2 Tuck Rev. John Johnson
- 4 Tuck John, vict. Bull
- 2 Wiseman W. grocer & draper
- 2 Young Rev. Ts. Drake, B.A.

FARMERS.		Mack T. Priory
* are Yeomen.		3 Money Wm.
2 Beaumont Ab.		5 Moore Robt.
5 Bell Wm.		2 Myhill John
3 Bishop Benj.		1 Neale Wm.
5* Brackenbury Wm.		2* Newman S.
5* Burton John		3 Nudd Rt.
5 Derry Thos.		4 Page Cubitt
5 Durrant W.		5* Plummer C.
4 Gibbs Geo.		6 Shipper Benj.
2 Gibbs Philip		Shoemakers.
3 Gibbs Pp. jun.		2 Gaze John
3* Mack Edw.		4 Gibbs Saml.
		2 Trory Wm.

Carrier—G. Daniel, from Stub to Yarmouth, Sat. dep. 2 mg. & and ar. 10 evg.

HORSEY-NEXT-THE-SEA is a hamlet on a gentle eminence, 11 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth, and 1 mile from the beach, comprising within its parish 111 inhabitants and 1600 acres of land, exclusive of Horseymere, a lake of 112 acres. Robert Rising, Esq., the present owner, purchased the manor of Sir G. B. Brograve and others, upwards of thirty years ago, when it was of little value, being generally flooded, but this gentleman, by repairing the sea-bank, draining the marshes, planting quickthorn hedges, and making a road to Somerton, has rendered it one of the most fertile estates in the county. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a discharged vicarage, valued in the King's books at £3. 1s. 5½d., and augmented from 1739 to 1788, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. Wm. Rees is the incumbent, and the patronage is vested with the Trustees of North Walsham Free School to whom 147 acres were allotted at the enclosure, in lieu of rectorial tithes. On the sea-bank, within the bounds of Horsey parish, is LITTLE WAXHAM, a manor of 160 acres, belonging to Lord Braybrooke, and formerly a parish; but its village, and the Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, were swept away by the incursions of the ocean many years ago. Robt. Rising, Esq., has a neat house in Horsey; Thos. Morten keeps the Nelson's Head Inn, and the following are FARMERS, viz. Wm. Chapman, Dd. Haylock, Wm. Myhill, Wm. Perowne, John Plane, and Wm. Watts.

INGHAM, 9 miles S.E. by E. of North Walsham, and 16 miles N.E. by N. of Norwich, is a scattered but pleasant village, with several neat houses, occupied by the owners. Its parish has 419 inhabitants, and 1442 acres, of which 1000 are arable. A large stock fair is held here on Trinity Monday. Robert Whaites, Esq., who resides in the Hall, is the principal owner and lord of the manor, which was successively held by the Inghams, Stapletons, Calthorpes and Johnsons. The Church, dedicated to the Holy Trinity, is a large and handsome Gothic fabric, with several antique monuments, two of which have effigies of Sir Oliver de Ingham and Roger le Boys, the former of whom, rebuilt the Church in 1380, and annexed to it the College, which he had founded here for a prior, a sacrist, and six canons of the Order of Trinity and St. Victor, for the redemption of captives from Turkey. This College adjoined the north side of the Church, where some of the ruins still remain. Its revenues were valued at the dissolution at £74. 2s. 7d. The founder, Oliver de Ingham was a valiant knight, and a great favourite of Edward II., who made him governor of several castles, seneschal of Gascoigne, and lord warden of the marches of Guienne, at which time he had raised a large army, and recovered the country of Agnois. Edward III. conferred on him the government of Aquitaine, and a grant of 500 marks, with 77½ sacks of wool. Previous to its being made collegiate, the Church was a rectory; but it is now a curacy, certified at £28, and augmented in 1810, '17 & '20, with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty; all vested in land, except £89. 6s. 1d. still at interest. The Rev. Edward Wymer is the incumbent, and the Bishop of Norwich, the patron. The rectorial tithes have been purchased by the land owners. The Baptists have a small chapel here. At the enclosure in 1812, the poor received an allotment of 17s. 2s. 29s., now let for £24. 6s. An old piece of poor's land, with an allotment made to it, is now let for £4. These rents, with the interest of £51, obtained by sale of the poorhouse, are distributed yearly among the indigent parishioners.

Ames John, wheelwright
Bachelor Martin, shoemaker
Crane Jas. & Drake J. shoemkrs.
Gaze Wm. parish clerk
Greenacre Isaiah, shopkeeper
Lack Thos. wheelwght. & vict.
Long John, bricklayer
Matthews Geo. corn miller
Mitchell Mr. John
Oakley John, blacksmith
Postle John, gent.

Spinks Mr John
Squires John, grocer & draper
Whaites Rt. Esq., Ingham Hall
Whaites Rt. Fras. gent. Ingham Hall
Wilkins Robt. bricklayer
FARMERS * Harvey John
* are Yeomen. Lack Wm.
Bullimore — * Lusher John
* Cubitt Benj. Whaites John

LESSINGHAM is a small village and parish, eight miles E. by S. of North Walsham, and has only 191 inhabitants, and 627 acres of land. Mr. B. Cubitt is the principal owner, but the manorial rights belong to King's College, Cambridge. The Church (All Saints) is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £6, and united with Hempstead, being in the same patronage and incumbency. The poor have £4. 6s. yearly for bread and clothing, and £4 yearly for education, both left by Jonathan Challenor in 1727. They have also three other annuities, viz 21s left by John Ringer, in 1626; 3s 1d. left by Thomas Smith, in 1672, and 3s 4d. left by Oliver Hartsstrong.

Batchelor Henry, vict Star
Bates Rt. & Cooke Rt. shoemkr.
Clements Thos. blacksmith
Cubitt Benj. gent.
Drake Charles, blacksmith
Frerey Robert, farmer
Harris Thos. tailor & overseer
Hewitt Aaron, farmer
Hewitt Rev J. curate of Walcott

Lacey Rt. A. veterinary surgn.
Nickels Mrs. Eliz.
Nurse Edm. farmer
Nurse Robt. saddler
Sweeting Rich. joiner
Waterson Geo. tailor & hatter
Waterson, Sarah, shopkeeper
Watts Augustine, gent.

LUDHAM, a large and well-built village thirteen miles N.E. by E. of Norwich, comprises in its parish 909 inhabitants, and about 3000 acres of land, bounded on three sides by the Bure, the Thurne, and the stream which flows from the Broads, near Catfield. It is in two manors, called Walton Hall and Ludham Bacon, of both which the Bishop of Norwich is lord and principal owner of the soil, the whole being granted to the see by Henry VIII. (in exchange for other estates), after the dissolution of the abbey of St. Bennet's at the Holm, to which this parish belonged. This monastery stood in the adjacent parish of Horning; but its mitred abbot had here a residence and farm called The Grange, which was afterwards used as the Bishop's Palace, but the greater part of it was burnt down in 1611; since which the domestic chapel has been converted into a granary, and the remains of the palace into a farm house, now called Ludham Hall. The Church, dedicated to St. Catharine, is a large and beautiful Gothic structure, with three aisles, a chancel, a tower, and five bells. Its interior has many antique monumental inscriptions, and a much admired Gothic screen and font, enriched with carvings of lions, angels, &c. The screen was formerly richly gilt, and had the figures of the twelve Apostles painted in the lower compartments. The living is a discharged vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5. 6s. 8d., and is now enjoyed by the Rev. W. A. Bathurst, with 30 acres of glebe. The Bishop of Norwich is the patron and appropriator of the rectorial tithes. The Wesleyans and Baptists have each a chapel here. In Elizabeth's reign, Bishop Redmor procured a fair and market for Ludham, and the former is still held as a pleasure mart on the Thursday and Friday after Trinity Sunday. A hiring session is held here on Old Michaelmas day. At the inclosure, in 1800, an allotment of 33½ 3d. of wet marsh, was awarded to the poor, who get turf upon it, and let the herbage for £6 a year. Here are also 90 acres of land and water let for £60 a year (given in coals), and supposed to have been bequeathed to the poor in the 17th century, by Philip Haddon, Francis Jordon, Thomas Littlewood, and Robert Gosling. The poor have also eight acres let for £14. 10s., and obtained at the inclosure, in exchange for five acres left by Francis Haddon in 1630.

Annisson Edw. wheelwgt. & smith
Barry Thos. hair-dresser
Bathurst Rev Walter Apsley,
M.A. vicarage
Bond Mrs. Mary

Brown Mrs. Anne
Clark Rt. John, butcher
Coleby Jo. R. painter, glaz. &c.
Davey Wm. & Dd. bricklayers
Decker Mr. John

Clark Mrs. Mary
 Ellis Thos. butcher
 England Wm. millwright
 Fairhead Wm. shopkpr.
 Flowarday Wm. baker & flouddl.
 Forder Rd. farrier & cow leech
 Fulcher Jas. joiner
 Garnham Rt. & Rd. grocers & dprs.
 Garrett Royal, miller and farmer
 Garrett Wm. gent.
 Gibbs Chas. blacksmith
 Green Thos. joiner and builder
 Hacon Wm. maltster; h. Tunstead
 Harris Benj. wheelwright
 Harrison Mr. Roger
 Harrison Rt. boat builder
 Harrison Wm. excise officer
 Hastings Benj. land surveyor, & agent to the Norwich Union Life office
 Howard Mrs. Eliz.
 Huke Saml. Taylor, surgeon
 Lacey Sarah, saddler
 Lincoln Wm. bricklayer
 Metcalf Robt. corn miller
 Mitchell Thomas, bricklayer
 Mornement Mk. Danl. grocer, &c.
 Mornement Mk. Danl. jun. wine and spirit mercht.
 Myhill Saml. glover
 Newton Richd. beer house
 Page John, corn miller, How hill

Pettingle Miss Eliz.
 Pigg Wm. wherry owner
 Pratt Rd. corn mert. & wherry owner
 Read Mrs. Esther
 Rust Geo. solicitor
 Rust Mrs. Sarah
 Rust Saml. Geo. cabinet maker
 Sadler John, druggist and iron monger
 Sandell Wm. vict. King's Arms
 Smith Geo. parish clerk
 Thurgate Thos. blacksmith
 Townshend Chas. tea dealer
 Vaux Rev. Bowyer, B. A.
 Wigg Thos. vict. Crown
Shoemakers.
 Green John
 Newton Robt.
 Smith Geo.
 Walker Wm.
FARMERS.
 • are Yeomen.
 • Bond Geo.
 • Fulcher Ben.
 • Garrett Jas.
 • Gaul Moses
 Greenacre Jas.
 • Minns John
 Page Alfred • Page John
 Page John
 • Page Wm. S
 • Race Rt.
 • Ransome Jn
 • Slipper Thos.
 • Thaxter Wm
 Wells Geo.
Tailors
 Colman Jas
 Sewell Thos
 Smith Geo.
 Wall Rt.
Carrier—Wm
 Fairhead, to Norwich, Wed
 & Sat. 1 mg

PALLING is a small fishing village and parish on the coast, sixteen miles N.E. of Norwich, containing 51 houses, 420 inhabitants, and 855A. 2R. 21P. of land, of which 484 acres are arable and the rest marsh and meadow. H. J. Conyers, Esq. of Copt-hall, Essex, is the principal owner, lord of the manor, impropiator of the great tithes, and patron of the Church (St. Margaret), which is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £2. 6s. 8d., but augmented with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty, now vested in 20 acres of land at Hickling. The Rev. John Cubitt is the incumbent. At the inclosure, in 1812, twelve acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let for £12.

Corben Sarah, vict. Cock
 Frerey Thomas, corn miller
 Gaze Chas. fish curer & shoemkr.
 Grice Wm. shoemaker
 Saddler Wm. shoemaker
 Grout Geo. grocer and draper
 Harris Lieut. Fras. Coast guard
 Leach Henry, joiner
 Manship Wm. boat owner

Rands Jas. boat owner
 Miles James, schoolmaster
 Thain Saml. blacksmith
 Woolsten Wm. parish clerk
FARMERS.
 • are Yeomen.
 • Bond Geo.
 • Crowe Rt.
 • Ditcham Jas.
 Empson Rt.
 Gaze Wm.
 • Rope Jas.
 Sutton Sewall
 • Whitaker Jn

POTTER-HEIGHAM is a parish and scattered village. fit.
 2 E

teens miles N.E. by E. of Norwich. It has 367 inhabitants, and nearly 2000 acres of land, a large portion of which is held by leaseholders of the Bishop of Norwich, the lord of the manor, appropriator, and patron of the Church (St. Nicholas), which is a very perfect specimen of the architecture of 1190. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., is now enjoyed by the Rev. T. S. L. Vogan, M.A., with ten acres of glebe. At the inclosure, about 90 acres were awarded as a pasture for the poor, who have also the interest of £9.

Blackburn Wm shoemaker
Bower Rt. gent.
Boyce Saml. corn miller
Colls Rt. joiner
Colls Rt. jun. joiner
Daniels Geo. cattledr. & shopkpr.
Frost Mary Ann, vict. Falgate
Grapes Wm parish clerk
Oewles Fras blacksmith
Potter Thos. schoolmaster
Rouse Thos. gardener

Thaxter Saml. gent. P. H. Hall
Thompson John, shopkeeper
FARMERS.
• are Yeomen.
Addey Jph.
• Addey Wm.
• Applegate W.
• Blaxell John
Foster John
George Henry
Gibbs Edm.
• Grapes John
• Grapes Simn.
Green Wm
• Greenacre W.
• Harmer John
Johnson John
Newton John
Pye Eliz.
Rudd Geo

RUSTON, (EAST,) or Riston, is a parish of dispersed houses, 6 miles E by S of North Walsham; containing 730 inhabitants, and 2380 acres of land, of which 712 are marsh, and the rest arable. At the enclosures in 1806 and 1814, several pieces of land, amounting to 300 acres, were allotted as pastures for the poor. The rest belongs to a number of freeholders, but John Cubitt, Esq., is lord of the manor. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, was re-pewed, and the north aisle rebuilt, in 1778. The benefice is a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £11 11s. 10d., and annexed to the rectory of Ridlington, in the incumbency of the Rev G. J. Aufrere, and alternate patronage of Lady Wodehouse, and the Dean and Canons of Windsor. The latter are the appropriators of the tithes, which are let on lease, subject to a yearly payment of £13. 6s. 8d., to the vicar. East Ruston is distinguished as the birth place of that truly eminent greek scholar, RICHARD PORSON, M.A., who was born here, in 1759, and was first initiated in letters by his father, then clerk of the parish. He was sent to Eton by the liberality of his patron, Mr. Norris, and afterwards to Trinity College, Cambridge, where he was elected Fellow, in 1781, and proceeded to a master's degree in 1785. His acquisitions in Grecian literature were uncommonly extensive, as his criticisms and emendations of authors in that language clearly evince. In 1793, he was unanimously chosen Greek Professor of the University. A short time before his death, which happened in 1808, he was appointed principal librarian to the London Institution.

Bates Samuel, beerhouse
Beck Clement, fishmonger
Bowen John, tailor
Bullimore Benj. joiner
Flaxman Saml. vict. Chequers
Helsdon Thomas, blacksmith
Humphrey Rd. grocer & draper
Plummer John, parish clerk
Plummer John, watchmaker

Riches Wm. blacksmith
Royall Thos. vict. Fox & Hounds
Rudd John, gentleman
Turner John Rudd, corn miller
Youngman John, grocer & dpr.
Shoemakers.
King Samuel
Spunton George
Thompson John
Mace John
Palmer Daniel
Weeds Henry
Wild Robert

Rudd Ash	Wherry owners	Sims Robert	Durrell John
Silcock Cubitt	Hammond Jno.	Farmers.	Gaze Robert
Watts Thomas	Helsdon James	Bacon Reba.	Nockells Thos.
Woods Mary	Helsdon Samuel	Barber Benj.	Page Thos.
Whittleston G.	Wheelwrights.	Barber Jonathan.	Postle Augustn
Whittleston T.	Hewitt Stn.	Burton John	Pull John
	Plummer John

STALHAM, a large and handsome village, 7 miles S.E. of North Walsham, and 14½ miles N.E. by N. of Norwich, includes within its parish 613 inhabitants, and about 1600 acres of land. A little south of the village, are two wharfs, or stauts, with corn warehouses, coal yards, &c., on the Broads, which are navigable hence to Yarmouth. Miss Brooke is lady of the manor of Lenford and Wilds, and the Rev. Richard Johnson is lord of the manor of Stalham Hall. They are also impropriators of the great tithes, and owners of the chief part of the soil; and the rest belongs to the family of Cooke, and several smaller proprietors. The Church is a fine Gothic edifice, dedicated to St. Mary. The chancel was rebuilt in 1827. The living is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5; but it was augmented in 1753, with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and has now a good residence with 6s. 1s. 25p. of glebe. The Marquis of Chalmodeley is the patron, and the Rev. B. Cubitt the incumbent. In 1718, Katharine Smith left six acres of land, now let for £12, of which 16s are given to the poor, 4s. to the clerk, and the rest to the vicar, for prayers in Lent, &c. The poor have £5, and the vicar, 13s 4d yearly from a house and land left by Thomas Smith, in 1631. The interest £80, arising from the sale of the poor-house and land, left by John Riches, in 1624, is distributed yearly among the poor parishioners, who have also 60 acres, allotted at the enclosure, in 1806, and now partly used for cutting turf, and the remainder let for £30 a year. Here is a Penny Post, at Miles Fenn's, where letters arrive at 3 afternoon, and are despatched at 8 morning.

Baker, Wm. brazier & ironmonger	Parr Sarah, bdg. and day school.
Beaumont Edward, farrier	Pestell Peter, joiner
Billham Jno. & Wm. bkt. mkrs.	Pestell Peter, jun. joiner
Brooke Miss Susanna, (Hall)	Richardson Robert, blacksmith
Bulley James, blacksmith	Siely John, surgeon
Burton Jont. corn & coalmrt. &c.	Silcock John, wine & spirit & iron merchant
Burton Robert, gent.	Silcock Rd. grocer & draper, and agt. to the Norwich Union Fire office
Clark Robert John, butcher	Smith David, tailor and druggist
Clowes William, surgeon	Smith Thomas, gent.
Cooke Mrs. Sophia, corn miller	Spanton Hph. glazier, painter &c.
Cory Charles, corn miller	Stannard Samuel, gardener
Crowe Robert, butcher	Keeler Saml. joiner & shopkpr
Crowe Wm. baker & flour dlr.	Lacey, Hannah, saddler
Fenn Miles, glover and grocer	Lacey Edward, bricklayer
Flowerday Jas. cpr. & vctlr. Swan	Last James, watch maker
Gibbs Valentine, cl. & lm. merr.	Le Frank Jas. gig mkr. & whitt
Gray Jas. gardener & seedsman	Martin James agent to Rev. h
Harris Benj. tailor & draper	Johnson
Hindla Danl. glazier, painter, &c.
Johnson Mrs. Sarah
Juby William, cattle dealer

Swann Robt. glazier, painter, &c.
 Ulph Rt. watchmaker & overseer
 Venemore Rev. Jas. Bapt. man.
 Watts Robt. vict. Man's Head
 Webb John, Esq. Stalham Hall
 Williams Rev. John Meredith
 Wymer Rev. Edw. B. A. rector

Shoemakers
 Trory Robert
 Trory William
 Gaze Benjamin
 Grimes John
 Staff Robert
 Starling James

Farmers
 Cooke Robert
 Cooke William
 Harvey John
 Slipper John
 Stearman Geo.

SUTTON is a pleasant but scattered village and parish, one mile S. of Stalham, and eight miles S.E. of North Walsham. It has 313 inhabitants, and 1050 acres of land. Lord Abergavenny is patron of the rectory and lord of the manor, which has an out-soke jurisdiction extending to Catfield, Hickling, &c. The copyholds are subject to a fine of 4s. per acre on the death of the lord, or change of tenant. The Church (St. Michael) has a square tower, with three bells; and the rectory, valued in K. B. at 46 16s. 8d. is now enjoyed by the Rev. James Foulkes. At the inclosure, in 1809, sixty acres of fen were allotted to supply the poor with turf. They have also the interest of £20, left by an unknown donor. The Methodists have a small chapel on the road between Stalham and Sutton.

Anson Rt. basket maker Arms Mr. John
 Bailey John F. vict. Catharine wheel
 Barber Wm. gent.
 Barker Miss Martha
 Bygrave John miller & maltster
 Dylall Benj. grocer & draper
 Ebbs Wm. shoemaker
 Harris Mr. Thomas
 Julier John, joiner & vict.
 Mayes John, joiner

Mayes Thos. grocer & draper
 Neve Edw. cattle dealer
 Richardson Jph. blacksmith

Farmers
 Barber George
 Simpson
 Barber Wm. B.
 Cubitt Chas.
 Durrant John
 Hust R.
 Simpson Rt.
 Savory, Wm.

Wherry owners.
 Mayes Benj.
 Riches John
 Wahn Rd.
Carrier—Wm.
 Wall's van, &c.
 to Norwich,
 Wed. & Sat.
 6 morn.

WALCOTT, or Walcote, a small village and parish on the coast, at the northern angle of Happing Hundred, five miles E. of North Walsham, contains 129 inhabitants, and about 700 acres of land. S. Bignold, Esq. is lord of the manor, but several other families have estates here. The Church is dedicated to All Saints, and the living is a curacy, certified at £26, but augmented in 1800 and 1817 with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. John Hewitt has been incumbent since 1784, and the Bishop of Norwich is the patron and appropriator, but the great tithes are leased to Mr. Andrew Siely.

Atkinson Roberts, gent.
 Harbord Rt. shopkr.
 Harbord Rt. jan. blacksmith
 Plummer Wm. wheelwright
 Siely Andw. gent.

Siely Jas. wine & spirit merchant.
Farmers
 Clarke John
 Lyall Rt. Hall
 Marler Rt.

Riches Thos.
 Warner John, &
 maltster

WAXHAM parish, 11 miles N. by W. of Yarmouth, contains only a few scattered farm houses and cottages, 59 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, lying on the sea coast between Palling and Horsey. H. Bignold, Esq. is sole proprietor of the manor, which was formerly very extensive, having suffered greatly from the encroachment of the ocean, which now seems securely confined by the lofty ridges of sand hills thrown up on the beach. The Church, dedicated to St. John, is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £6 13s. 4d. H. J. Conyers, Esq., is the patron, and the Rev. John Cubitt the incumbent. The farmers are Wm. Carter, Robert and Wm. Cubitt, John Shipley, John Tuck, and Henry Whittaker.—(For Little Waxham, see Horsey, page 322.)

WALSHAM HUNDRED

Is a long, narrow district, of an irregular figure, bounded on the south-east by the river Yare, on the north by the river Bure, and on the south and west by Blofield and Taverham Hundreds; extending about 15 miles north-west from the confluence of the two rivers near Yarmouth, and varying from two to eight miles in breadth. A considerable portion of the soil is low marshy land, and was frequently subject to inundation, particularly in the vale of the Bure, which extends the whole length of the Hundred, but the commons and marshes have been nearly all enclosed, and well drained during the present century. At the Norman Conquest, this Hundred was called Walesha, from the watery nature of its soil, and was then held by the Crown. Henry I. transferred a great part of it to Eborard Bishop of Norwich, as a life-hold, at an annual rent of 100 shillings. In the time of Edward II., John de Clavering was seized of many manors here and in Blofield, and one court was held for both these Hundreds, which together form the Deanery of Blofield, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich. A House of Industry was erected at Acle, in 1788, for seven parishes, to which ten other parishes were afterwards united, but the house was burnt down in November, 1834. Walsham Hundred contains fifteen parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population, in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax, in 1815, and their territorial extent —

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Acle	830	£4073	3,200	Upton-with-Fisley	510	£2825	2,000
Beighton	262	1,257	960	Walsham (South)	575	3,445	3,005
Havergate	465	3,505	3,000	St. Mary & St.
Hamblington	238	812	650	Lawrence
Moulton	209	1,748	1,100	Wickhampton	122	1,635	1,800
Ranworth-with- Painworth }	400	1,945	2,000	Woodbastwick	283	1,980	2,000
Reedham	535	3,065	3,200	Total	4,025	27,565	24,500
Tonstall	101	1,304	1,000

ACLE is a pleasant and well-built village, on two opposite acclivities, 11 miles E. of Norwich, and now only seven miles W. by N. of Yarmouth; a new turnpike from hence across the marshes to the latter place, having shortened the distance from eleven to seven miles, (vide p. 239). At the Conquest, it was a fief of the Crown, and was granted by the Conqueror to Roger Bigod, who obtained for it a market and fair. The former has long been obsolete, but the latter is now held on Midsummer day. Richard II. granted the inhabitants freedom from all tolls, suits of shire and of hundreds, with some other BEIGHTON, a small village, on a gentle eminence, 10 miles W. of Yarmouth, and 11 miles E. of Norwich. Its parish contains 262 inhabitants and 960 acres of land. Robert Fellowes, Esq., is lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to All Saints, and is a rectory valued in the King's books at £13, but has now 10 acres of glebe, and is enjoyed by the Rev. T. S. Buckle. The soil belongs chiefly to the Rev. J. Burroughes, Cyrus Gillett, William Stratford, T. Walker, and S. and W. Fowler. The four latter reside here, as also do John Slipper and Samuel Hewett, farmers; Wm. Barker, tailor; Robert Rundel, blacksmith; James Carver, cattle dealer; James Howard, shopkeeper; and Alfred Tipple, wheelwright. At the enclosure in 1801, nearly 10 acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let for about £20.

FISHLEY is a decayed parish, united with Upton, and containing only one farm of 500 acres, half a mile North of Acle, and $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles W.N.W. of Yarmouth. The Church, is a small building with a circular tower, and is a rectory, valued in the King's books at £5. There being but one house in the parish, the living is a sinecure, in the patronage of R. Dundas and others, and incumbency of the Rev. Richard Huck. The estate belongs to the Rev. Edward Marsham, and is now occupied by Mrs. Eliz. Taylor.

FOLDHOLME and SKEETHOLME are Salt Marshes, lying on the north side of Breydon Water, 3 miles W. of Yarmouth, and forming an Extra-parochial liberty of 486 acres, belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, and let to the farmers of the adjacent parishes.

HALVERGATE, $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles W. of Yarmouth, is a parish and well built village, comprising 465 inhabitants and 3000 acres of land, two-thirds of which are marsh. Robert Fellowes, Esq., is lord of the manor, and owner of part of the soil. The rest belongs to several freeholders, among whom are Robt. Howard, W. and C. Gillett, and Samuel Crowe, Esqrs., who have neat mansions here. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, is an ancient edifice, but the chancel has been rebuilt with brick. The living is a vicarage, with 34 acres of glebe, and valued in the King's books at £5. The Bishop of Ely is the patron and appropriator, and the Rev. George Burgess is the incumbent. The poor have £5 yearly from land left by Judith Lamb, in 1735. The common was enclosed in 1802.

Burgess Rev. Geo. vicar
Carter John, vict. Lion
Crow Saml. gent. & South Town
Dordy Ed. & Gillett Rd. farmers
Gillett Wm. sen. Esq.
Gillett Mr. Wm.
Hindes Edward, farrier
Howard Robert, Esq.
Rushmer Jas. jun. corn miller
Shepherd John, overl. of Marsh
Turner Joseph, schoolmaster
Wales John, parish clerk
Walnes Robt. shoemaker & vict.

Wyand Bj. vict.	Hare & Hounds
Wyand Samuel,	joiner
Basket Makers.	Joiners.
Farman Robt.	Gooch John
Jones Wm.	Gooch Robt.
Blacksmiths.	Jones Edw.
Newton Wm.	Shoemakers.
Rushmer Jas.	Jones Thos.
Smith Samuel	Mallett James
Butchers.	Turner Charles
Bately Benj.	Shopkeepers.
Rumble Benj.	Jones Edw.
	Palmer Edw.

vicarage, valued in K. B. at £4, but augmented in 1773 and 1787 with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Bishop of Ely is appropriator and patron, and the Rev. J. Oldershaw, B.D. is the incumbent. M. Kerrison, Esq. is lessee of the great tithes. The Baptists have a neat chapel here. (Enclosure 1800.) Directory.—John Beane, vict. Jolly Maltsters; Henry Bensley, shoemaker; Saml. Brown, shopkeeper, Wm. Crowe, wherry-owner; Wm. Durrant, bookkeeper; Wm. Hanks, maltster, (and Norwich); Mrs. A. M. Kerrison; M. Kerrison, Esq.; John Skipper, carrier to Norwich, Saturday, at 5 morning.

REEDHAM, a scattered village on the north bank of the river Yare, 9 miles S. W. by W. of Yarmouth, derived its name from the great quantity of reeds growing on the marshes, and is noted as being one of the seats of the Saxon kings of East Anglia, and as the place where Lothbroch, the Dane, was murdered, (vide p. 242.) The matrix of an Agnus Dei was found here in 1816, in a field supposed to be the site of a Roman station. The parish includes Whitten-green and Reedham Ferry, about 1 mile W., and the modern hamlet of Berney Arms, 3 miles N. E. of the church; all on the banks of the Yare. It comprises 535 inhabitants, and 3282 acres, of which 2014 are marsh, and about 41 common. J. F. Leathes, and T. T. Berney, Esqrs., are the principal owners, and the former is lord of the manor and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K. B. at £18; has 59 acres of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Edward Leathes. The Church, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, has a handsome marble monument, with effigies of Thomas Guybon, his wife, and children, also several inscriptions to the Berneys, one of whom rebuilt the hall in 1557. The church land is 2½ acres, let for £5. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here.

Anguish John, shoemaker
 Barnes James, millwright
 Barnes Wm. shoemkr. Whitten gn.
 Barton William, shopkeeper
 Bee Robert, Cooper
 Berney Thos. Trench, Esq. brick & Roman cement maker, and saw mill, Berney Arms
 Cater John, vict. Berney Arms
 Chaster Francis, joiner
 Collings Daniel, butcher
 George Wm. vict. Lord Nelson
 Goffin Edw. beerhouse
 Goffin Jas. lime and coal dealer
 Goffin Mrs. Judith
 Goffin Rd. vict. Brickmakers' Arms
 Hall James, boat builder
 Hindle Nathl. blacksmith, & shokpr.
 Hoggett Jerh. vict. Ferry

Jones Samuel, bricklayer
 Kidall Robert, corn miller
 King Robert, shopkeeper
 Layton Hy. schoolmr. Whitten gn.
 Lines Julius, tailor & shopkpr.
 Maddison George, maltster
 Mingay Edw. joiner & shopkpr.
 Read Richard, brickmaker
 Seales John, blacksmith
 Shepherd Wm. vict. and coal dealer, Ship
 Stone Benjamin, shopkeeper
 Wright Rev. J. Browne, M.A. curate

Farmers,	Burgess Jas.
Banus John	Cockerill Esq.
Banus Philip	Gown Henry
Browne Robt.	Jary Mary

TUNSTALL, a hamlet and parish, 7 miles W. of Yarmouth, has only 101 inhabitants, and 1600 acres of land. Andrew Fountaine, Esq. is the principal owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul but is all in ruins, except the chancel, where the service is performed. The land is the free, and the living is a curacy certified at £6. 13s. 4d., but augmented from 1743 to 1801, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty, laid out in land, now let for £10 a year. The Rev. Geo. Burgess is the incumbent, and receives £6 per annum from the lord of the manor, for preaching ten sermons.—Directory—Stephen Bately, yeoman; Thos. Boulton, farmer; and Robt. Crowe, victualler, Stracey Arms.

UPTON is a large but straggling village and parish, 9 miles W. N. W. of Yarmouth. It contains about 1500 acres of land, and has Pishley united with it for the support of the poor. The two places have 510 inhabitants. Wm. Waters, Esq. owns most of Upton, and is lord of the manor. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, had a circular tower, of which part of the ruins still remain. The vicarage valued in K. B. at £5, is in the incumbency of the Rev. John Oldershaw, and patronage of the Bishop of Ely, who is also appropriator of the great tithes now leased to W. Waters, Esq. The Town Land (3½ acres) is applied to the poor-rates.

Agus Robert, joiner
Bunn Saml. vict. & shopr. Cock
Clarke Edm. shopr. & par. clerk
Corbold Rev. Thomas, curate
Davey John, joiner & cab. makr.
Harbord William, blacksmith
Porter Benjamin, tailor
Stout Joseph, blacksmith
Stout Mr. Thomas
Tungate John, joiner
Waters Adam, grocer and draper
Waters William, Esq.
Willgress Benjamin, brickmaker
Wiseman Ths. brkmkr. & beerhs.

Wright George, yeoman Shoemakers, Brown Jas. and Ellen George builder
Gilling Benj. Cory Moses
Hunt Robert *Dav John
Turner John *Docking Geo.
Willgress Jas. Ecclestone Wm.
FARMERS. Harrison Edm.
* are yeomen. Mitchell Wm.
Betts James Risebrook John
Beverley Robt *Turner Robert
Broom Samuel *Waters John
Brown Henry *Whaites John

WALSHAM (SOUTH) is a considerable village, with 575 inhabitants, 11 miles N. W. by W. of Yarmouth, and 10 miles E by N of Norwich; remarkable for having two parish churches in one churchyard. The parishes are St. Mary and St. Lawrence; the former containing 1251a. 2n. 36p. of which H. N. Burroughes, Esq. is principal owner, and lord of the manor; and the latter, 1805a. and 29p., part of which forms the rectorial manor, but the soil belongs to a number of proprietors. At the enclosure in 1801, an allotment of 22a. 23p. was made to the poor of each parish; and here is land left for apprenticing poor children, by Richard Harrold, in 1756, and now let for £20 a year. To settle previous disputes, it was determined at the enclosure, that the road which runs through the village, should be the boundary of the two parishes. St. Mary's Church is a discharged vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5, but has now 32a. 2n. 23p. of glebe. The Rev. James Deacon is the incumbent, and the corporation of Norwich, as trustees of the Men's Hospital, in Bishopgate, are the patrons and impropriators. St. Lawrence's Church was a large and handsome gothic structure, repaired in 1813, at the cost of £855, but the nave and tower were destroyed in the great fire, on the 30th of June, 1827, when four barns of Wm. Jary, Esq. the vicarage barn, three wheat stacks, a hay-stack, dwelling-house, blacksmith's shop, and some other property in the village, fell sacrifices to the flames, occasioned by the carelessness of a cottager's wife, who threw a shovel full of hot ashes on a quantity of dry manure, lying adjacent to Mr. Jary's farm yard. The roof and interior of St. Lawrence' church, which had a thatched chancel, were entirely consumed, and the bells falling within the surrounding flames, one was melted, and the others rendered useless. The chancel was repaired, and opened for divine worship in 1832; the ruined walls of the tower are still standing, but of the nave nothing now remains. The benefice is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £13. 6s. 8d., and now possessing 56 acres of glebe. The patronage is in Queen's College, Cambridge, and the Rev. Wm. Toplis, B. D. is the incumbent. In the following Directory, those marked * are in St. Mary's, and the rest in the parish of St. Lawrence.

*Alexander Edward, shoemaker
 *Bugg John, saddler
 *Burcham Saml. grocer & draper
 *Barton John, wheelwright
 *Codling Henry, schoolmaster
 Debbage Henry, coal & turf dlr.
 *Elliott John, jun. butcher
 Evans Edward, bricklayer
 Fean John, brickmkr.; h. Hayfield
 Flowerday Robert, corn miller
 Greenside James, pork butcher
 Grimsdon Grue, parish clerk
 *Harbord William, shoemaker
 Leist William, cattle salesman
 Lemon William, schoolmaster
 Marston Robert, corn miller
 *Norton Matw. vict. King's Arms
 *Pleasants Jas. baker & shopr.
 Porter Edward, wherry owner

Pratt John, shopkeeper
 *Randall Paul, blacksmith
 Skipper Robert, joiner
 Spanton Jas. plumber, painter & victualler, Ship
 *Spooner Charles, beerhouse
 Toplis Rev. John, B. D. rector
 *Tunbridge Richd. grocer, chandler, and draper
 *Waters Adam, pork butcher
 Wigg Robert, blacksmith
 Wiseman James, joiner
Farmers.
 Cater William
 *Elliott John
 *Hall John
 Hewitt Edward
 Littlewood Wm.
 Sibel Thomas
 Westgate Wm.
 *Willis Thomas
 Wymer Sarah
 Carrier to Norwich, William
 Browns, Sat. 6 morning

WICKHAMPTON, a dispersed village and parish, 8 miles W. of Yarmouth, contains only 122 inhabitants, 250 acres of upland, and 1550 acres of marsh, extending southward to Reedham. Edward Walpole, Esq., is lord of the manor; but the soil belongs chiefly to Mrs. Maddison, H. N. Burroughes, Esq., Rev. W. Emmett, Mr. W. Crowe, and several smaller proprietors. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, has an ancient altar tomb, with effigies of Sir William Gerbrygge and his lady. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £4, is in the patronage of J. F. Leathes, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. G. R. Leathes. The Methodists have a chapel, half a mile S.W. of the village (Enclosure, 1811.) Directory:—Eliu. Minister, James Newsome, and James Sharman, farmers; John Wigg, parish clerk, and James Youngs, butcher.

WOODBASTWICK, a small village, on an eminence, 8½ miles N.E. by E. of Norwich, comprises in its parish 288 inhabitants, 1300 acres of upland, and a large quantity of marsh, with several fine sheets of water. John Cater, Esq. is the principal owner, lord of the manor, impropiator, and patron of the Church, a small edifice dedicated to St. Fabian. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6, was united with the rectory of Panxworth, in 1699. The Rev. Thos. Cater is the incumbent. At the enclosure, in 1779, an allotment was made to the poor, for coals; and there is a piece of ancient poor's land, let in 1786 for £2. Mrs. Cater supports a free school for 30 children.

Cater John, Esq., The Hall
Dunton Mary, Free school
Fryer Wm, joiner and grocer
Steward Rev Geo. curate
Winter Jeremiah, shoemaker

FARMERS.

Coleman Philip	Long Charles
Goulder Chpr	Sutton Robert
Goulder Saml	Thirkettle Geo
Hugh Thomas	Watts Isaac

BLOFIELD HUNDRED

Extends nearly thirteen miles along the northern bank of the river Yare, from Norwich, eastward to Hardley cross, and varies from 2 to 4 miles in breadth, being bounded on the north and east by Walsham Hundred, and on the west by Taverham Hundred. It is a fine agricultural district, having rich loamy uplands, rising boldly from the verdant valley of the Yare. It anciently comprised Tombland, and all the north end of the city of Norwich, and the hamlet of Thorpe within the county of the city, still remains a member of the parish of Thorpe St. Andrew, in Blofield, which forms, with Walsham Hundred, the Deanery of Blofield, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich. In the 38th of Henry III, on an appeal of death in the Court of King's Bench, the defendant put in a plea of jurisdiction, alleging that he was a clerk. The Dean of Blofield appeared in Court, with the letters patent of the Bishop of Norwich, and demanded the said defendant to be given up to the Ecclesiastical Court. This privilege, called the benefit of clergy, like that of sanctuary, became, in course of time, a most intolerable nuisance to society, as it often enabled the crafty and vicious to defeat the ends of justice. Every culprit who could read was allowed this clerical privilege; but in more enlightened times learning was considered rather as an aggravation than an extenuation of guilt. By virtue of this privilege, the punishment of death was commuted for branding in the hand, and imprisonment—Blofield contains 19 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent.

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Blofield	10,42	£468	2,253	Lingwood	294	£1041	640
Bradston	145	529	700	Plumstead (Great) .	305	1,955	1,300
Brundal	63	507	400	Plumstead (Little) .	312	2,008	1,200
Buckenham Ferry	49	607	900	Postwick	237	2,580	1,000
Burlingham St And.	225	1,203	590	Southwood	54	267	450
Burlingham St Edm.	104	642	625	Strumpshaw	374	1,322	1,200
Burlingham St Peter	162	1,062	390	Thorpe-next-Nor	940	2,776	2,500
Cantley	263	2,048	1,500	wich
Freethorpe	280	1,055	909	Wotton	144	918	550
Hawingham	140	519	570
Limpenhoe	156	738	1,490	Total	3,290	36,231	18,751

BLOFIELD, which gives name to this Hundred, is a large village and parish, with many handsome mansions, pleasantly seated on the Yarmouth turnpike, 7 miles E. of Norwich. H. N. Burroughes, Esq. is lord of the manor, which was held by the Bishop till about the year 1070; but the land belongs to a number of freeholders, several of whom reside here. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, has a fine lofty tower, and was re-pewed and otherwise improved in 1819, at the cost of £350. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £23. 6s. 8d.; in the patronage of Corpus College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. John Drew Burton, M.A. The glebe is 61a. 3s. 2fr. In 1729, the Rev. Charles Reeves founded a Free School here, and endowed it with £10 a year. He also left a yearly rent-charge of £6. 7s. for clothing three poor widows, and providing bread for other poor parishioners; who have also 40s. yearly, left by a Mr. Buttant, and £66. 5s. per annum, in coals, from 37a. 29fr. of land, allotted at the enclosure. The Wesleyans and Baptists have each a chapel here. Blofield has long been noted for its wrestling-matches, on Whit-Tuesday, when the "collar and elbow men," with their leather, sharpened shoes, attend in great numbers from the surrounding country. A hiring for servants is held here a few days before Old Michaelmas day; and Petty Sessions, for the Hundreds of Blofield and Walsingham, are held at the Globe Inn every alternate Tuesday — The Post-Office is at the Globe, where letters are received from Norwich, at a quarter past ten morning; and from Yarmouth, at a quarter before four in the afternoon.

Barr Joseph, vict. King's Head
Benstead Thomas, saddler
Borton Rev. John Drew, M.A.
Brundell Wm. watchmaker
Coddling Wm. Henry, schoolr. & clerk to the magistrates Dobson Wm. hair dresser
Eade Peter, surgeon
Ellis Daniel, vict. Globe Inn
Ellis Henry, yeoman
Emma James, cooper
Freeman James, gent.
Gapp Rd. Rant. druggist & schoolr.
Garrard Misses E. & C. brdg. acad.
Goulder Rt. malister & chief const.
Hazel Samuel, gardener
Horner Robert, gent.
Jary Wm. Heath, Esq.
Lincoln John, cattle dealer
Lloyd Mrs. Diana
Lubbock Woolterton John, miller
Overed John, farmer
Priest Mrs. Eliz. N. (& Norwich)
Read Richard, cattle dealer
Read Rd. jun. vict. Swan
Reeve James, schoolmaster
Rix Mrs. Bridget
Robertson Samuel, corn miller

Rushmore Anth bricklayer
Sawyer Richard, blacksmith
Scurll Wm. blacksmith
Snowley James, bricklayer
Thrower George, hawker
Tuck John Hy Esq. High house
Turnbull Wm. gent.

Withers John, bricklayer, &c
Woodrow John, blacksmith

Shoemakers.

Bulley John
Bulley Robert
Chamberlin St.
Clarke Charles
Clarke Wm.
Fox Richard
Gowan Benj.
Harper Tovel
Shalders Robt.

Butchers.

Caston Wm.
Gowan Thurstan
Hilling John
Howard —
Read Rd. jun.

FARMERS.

* are Yeomen.
* Bane Mattw.

* Boatwright Jn
* Brooke Wm
Burton Thos
* Bussey John
Edrick Henry
Leman Edw
Long Robert
Matthews John
Morris Wm
Osborne Wm
* Pustle J. D
* Sizer H. nry
Waters Robert
Shopkeepers
Barber James
Benns Thomas
Crane Robert
Laws Rt. Carl
Ringer John

Rushmore Wm. ¹	Mingay J. W.	Tailors	Stockings Wm.
Beer Houses.	Rushmore Rt.	Caston Edw.	Carrier, Jonth.
Broom James	Plumbers, Gla-	Dunt Adam	Devereux, Esq.
Browne Wm.	ziers, & Patrs.	Lusher Robert	Norwich, Wm.
Joiners, &c	Ellingham Wm.	Wheelwrights.	& Sat. 7 mg.
Hobart Robert	Emms Hy. W.	Grimble James
Matthews —	Fox George

BRADISTON or Braydeston, $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of Norwich, has only 145 inhabitants and about 700 acres of land. It has several houses intermixed with the village of Brundall. T. G. Tuck Esq., E. Walpole, Esq., and Mr. Read, are the principal land owners. The Church, on an eminence near the north end of the parish, is a small fabric dedicated to St. Michael. The rectory, valued in the King's books at £5. 6s. 8d., is consolidated with Strumpshaw, in the gift of J. Josselyn, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. E. S. Whitbread. — Directory — Richard and Thomas Gilbert Tuck, Esqrs., Braydeston Hall; Sarah Bailey, vict. White Horse; John Cary, shoemaker; Wm. Lawes, shopr.; Daniel Read, corn and coal merchant; James Smith, blacksmith.

BRUNDALL, a small parish and village, pleasantly seated on a commanding eminence above the Yare, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of Norwich, contains only 63 souls, and 400 acres. T. G. Tuck, Esq., is lord of the manor, and owner of most of the lands, but Mr. L. B. Foster has a neat villa here. The Church, dedicated to St. Lawrence, is a rectory, valued in the King's books at £4. 10s., but consolidated with Little Plumstead and Wilton; the Rev. Charles Penrice being both patron and incumbent. The glebe is 11 acres. — Directory — John Beusland Bugg, cabinet maker; Edward Cock, vict. Ram; Lambert Blackwell Foster, gent.; Richard Shank Gillett, seed merchant, and James Glasspoole, brickmaker.

BUCKENHAM, or Buckenham Ferry, is a pleasant village on a bold elevation, above the north bank of the Yare, 9 miles E. by S. of Norwich. Its parish contains only 49 inhabitants and 900 acres of land, all of which, except 42a. 2r. of glebe, belongs to Sir Wm. Beauchamp Procter, Bart., the lord of the manor and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Nicholas, and is a rectory, valued in the King's books at £6, and consolidated with Hassingham. The Rev. T. W. H. Beauchamp, the present incumbent, thoroughly repaired the Church in 1820, at the cost of £600, and beautified it with a rich stained glass window, purchased abroad at the cost of nearly £200, and having figures of St. Nicholas and the four Evangelists. The communion plate was presented to the Church, by Lady Eliz. Hastings, a former patroness. The rectory-house is an elegant mansion, built in 1827, on a model of a chateau in Normandy. The knightly family of Godsalve, were lords here till after the reign of Henry VIII., and their arms may still be seen in the carved wainscot of the hall, now a farm house. — Directory. — Rev. Thos. Wm. Hy. Beauchamp, rector; John Green, farmer; John Jay, vict., Three Horse Shoes; Benj. Waters, farmer, White House.

BURLINGHAM (NORTH), is a scattered village on and near the Yarmouth turnpike, 9 miles E. of Norwich, and lying in the two parishes of Burlingham St. Andrew and St. Peter, the two Churches being only a quarter of a mile asunder. The two parishes contain only 327 inhabitants. St. Andrew's has 590 acres of rich land, all belonging to Wm. Jary, and H. N. Burroughes, Esqrs., the former of whom occupies Burlingham House, a handsome mansion erected by him in 1790. The Church is a rectory valued in K. B. at £12, and united with South Burlingham, in the patronage of Mrs. C. Burroughes, and incumbency of the Rev. J. Burroughes. St. Peter's contains only 390 acres, belonging to H. N. Burroughes, Esq., of Burlingham Hall, a large cemented mansion, with a richly wooded lawn of nearly 100 acres. The Church is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. H. N. Burroughes, Esq. is the patron, and the Rev. J. Burroughes the incumbent.—Directory, (St. Andrew's).—Wm. Jary, Esq.; Rev. Perry Nursey, B.A., curate; Henry Ford Shepherd and John Postle, farmers; Wm. Symonds farmer and shopkeeper, Geo. Taylor, shoemaker; and John Willis, blacksmith and wheelwright.—St. Peter's.—Hy. Nugent Burroughes, Esq.; Robert Aldous and Charles Grymes Heath, farmers; and Philip Thurtle, blacksmith.

BURLINGHAM SOUTH, or Burlingham St. Edmund, 9 miles E. by S. of Norwich, is a small village and parish, with 104 inhabitants and 525 acres, partly belonging to Mrs. Christabell Burroughes, the lady of the manor, which is all freehold. The Church is a rectory which has long been consolidated with Burlingham St. Andrew, and has 11 a. 3a. of glebe. The farmers are George and Robert Burton, Wm. Green, and Thos. Read.

CANTLEY, near the north bank of the Yare, 11 miles S. E. by E. of Norwich, is a scattered village and parish, with 265 inhabitants and about 1500 acres, mostly belonging to W. A. Gilbert, Esq. the resident lord of the manor and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Margaret, and is a rectory valued in K. B. at £11, but now possesses 30 acres of glebe. The Rev. John Gilbert is the incumbent. At the enclosure 17 acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let for £12. Directory.—Wm. Alexander Gilbert, Esq.; John England & Charles Layton, boat owners; Rev. Robt. Henry Cooper, curate; John Dunt, tailor; John King, shoemaker. Wm. Sibley, vict. Cock; Mary Smith, shopkeeper; Wm. Stout and Wm. Thirkettle, blacksmiths; and Philip Atkins, Wm. Burrod, Richard Curtis, Samuel Hewitt, and Wm. High, farmers.

FREETHORPE, 8 miles W. by S. of Yarmouth, and 12 miles E. S. E. of Norwich, is a village scattered round two extensive greens, and including within its parish 289 inhabitants, and 903 acres of land, mostly the property of Edward Walpole, Esq. the lord of the manor and impropiator. The Church stands on the East green, and is dedicated to All Saints. The vicarage, valued in K. H. at £12, has 9a. 2a. 30r. of glebe, and was augmented in 1760 and 1784, with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty. J. F. Leathes, Esq. and Rev. G. R. Leathes, are the patrons; and the Rev. Edward Leathes is the incumbent.

Blake William, gentleman
Carter William, blacksmith
Cockerill John, farmer
Comyns Rev. Horatio Nelson Wm.
Crane Thos. shopr. & publican
Farman Henry, tailor

Green Henry, joiner
King Wm. Mallett Jno. shoemaker
Head Rd farmer & brickmaker
Smith Samuel, farmer
Tuck Rev. Wm. Gilbert, W. A. curate

Wales James, saddler

Wells Henry, whirt. & blksmith.

Carrier—Richard Bean, to Norwich, Sat 6 morning

HASINGHAM, near the north bank of the Yare, 10 miles E. S. E. of Norwich, is a hamlet and parish, with 140 inhabitants, and 570 acres, of which Sir W. B. Proctor Bart. owns nearly half, and is lord of the manor and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Mary, and is a rectory valued in K. B. at £4, and annexed to Buckenham. Mr John Green, of Buckenham, has a farm of nearly 300 acres here, in his own occupation. The resident farmers are John Shepherd and William Waters. The poor have an allotment of 14a 3r. 12p.

LIMPENHOE, in the south-eastern angle of Blofield Hundred, is a parish of scattered houses, with 156 inhabitants, and 1080 acres of land; mostly the property of J. F. Leathes, Esq., the lord of the manor, and impropriator of the great tithes. The Church, dedicated to St. Botolph, is a discharged vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6 13s. 4d. The Rev G. R. Leathes is the incumbent, and the Rev. Edward Leathes and J. P. Leathes, Esq are the alternate patrons. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here.—Directory—Benj. Browning, Fras. Drake, Jas. Neave, and Thos. Rushmer, farmers; John Clark and Peter Mallett, shopkeepers; Wm. Jermyn, joiner; Wm. Mallett, shoemaker; Thos. Searl, vict. Falcon.

LINGWOOD, a scattered village and parish, 8 miles E. by S. of Norwich, has 221 inhabitants and 610 acres, forming a fertile and well wooded district, mostly belonging to the Earl of Litchfield and the Rev. Jeremiah Burroughes; the former of whom is lord of the manor, and the latter has a handsome residence here, called Lingwood Lodge, and supports a school for 20 children. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a curacy certified at £11. 0s. 6d., but augmented from 1762 to 1824, with £1000 of Queen Anne's bounty; of which £400 remain at interest, and the rest is vested in 20 acres of land, at Martham and Tunstall. The Rev. E. Goddard is the incumbent, patron, and impropriator of the rectorial tithes.

Ayers Mrs. Elizabeth

Burroughes Rev. Jeremiah

Bridgman Chpr. blacksmith

Chapman Edward, horse breaker

Cole Wm. joiner

Crane Jacob, grocer and draper

Cubitt Mr. Benjamin

George James, wheelwright

Gilbert Ann, schoolmistress

Goddard Rev. Eras inc. curate

Goffin Wm. wheelght. & blksmith

Mallison Benj. cattle dealer

Merryson James, shopkeeper

Minister Robert, joiner

Read Thomas, gent.

Rope Aaron, wheelght. & vict.

Steward Pp. vict. Jolly Farmers

Farmers.

Chapman Robt. | Read Rt. jun

Hinds Thos. | Rope John

Read Robert | Thaxter G. F.

PLUMSTEAD (GREAT.) is a village and parish, 5 miles E. of Norwich, with 41 scattered houses, 305 inhabitants, and 1200 acres of land. Joseph Muskett, Esq., is the principal owner and lord of the manor of Plumstead, but here are several copyholds within the manor of Thorpe. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, has a brick tower, erected in 1711. The living is a curacy, certified at £16, and augmented in 1764, 1810, and 1817, with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, laid out in land. The Rev. Edw. Cole is the incumbent.

and the Dean and Chapter of Norwich are the patrons and appropriators, but the tithes are leased to J. Muskett, Esq. The poor have an allotment of 20 acres, let for £30. Mr. Samuel Abigail and Robert Maidstone, occupy their own land, and the farmers are John Hamilton, Robert King, John Lodge, Miles Meek, and Thomas Sewell.

PLUMSTEAD (LITTLE), 6 miles E. by N. of Norwich, is a hamlet and parish, with 312 inhabitants and 1200 acres of rich loamy land, the greater part of which is the property of the Rev. Charles Penrice, the lord of the manor, and patron and incumbent of the rectory, which is valued in the King's books at £7. 12s. 6d., and has 12 acres of glebe. He resides in the hall, a handsome cottage orné, with embattled towers and turrets, surmounted by small octagonal spires. The Church, dedicated to St. Gervase, is a small structure with a round tower, and has in its chancel two beautiful marble monuments, one to the memory of Sir Edward Warner, who died in 1565; and the other in remembrance of Thos. Penrice, Esq., who died in 1816. The latter is an exact model of one to Scipio Africanus, at Rome. In 1834, the rector filled the east window with stained glass, representing in different compartments, the fall of man, the Redeemer, the Crucifixion, and the four Evangelists. At the enclosure, in 1800, 34 acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let for £45. The Poor-house was bequeathed by Sir Thomas Hobart, in 1623; and his family left the Poor's land, now let for £3 a-year.—Directory.—Rev. Charles Penrice, M.A., rector; John Gowen, vict. Brickmaker's Arms; Mrs. Nichols, shopkeeper, Thos Lacey, and Aaron Rope, farmers.

POSTWICK, 4 miles E. by S. of Norwich, is situated in a romantic glen which opens into the vale of the Yare, and has a shady grove, where the Norwich Society of Gregarians held their venison dinner, in July, till they were discharged by the farmer, in 1764, after which their festival was held at the White Swan, St. Peter's, but they were dissolved in 1806. The parish contains 237 inhabitants, 1000 acres of arable land, and 400 acres of marsh, nearly all belonging to the Earl of Rosebery, the lord of the manor and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to All Saints, and is a rectory valued in the King's Books at £10, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Joseph L'Oste. The poor have 6 acres of land at Surlingham, purchased with £50, and 5 acres allotted at the enclosure of Postwick. Here is also a Poor-house, with $\frac{1}{4}$ of an acre, occupied by aged paupers; and Earl Rosebery lets to the cottagers at small rents allotments of half an acre each, to be cultivated by spade husbandry.—Directory.—Rev. Joseph L'Oste, LL.B., rector; Miss Mary Moy, Wm. Attoe, wheelwright and joiner; John Riches, blacksmith; and Alfred Gibbs, Thomas Gibbs, Martin Palmer, Anthony Pilch, and George Smith, farmers.

SOUTHWOOD, a decayed village, 11 miles E S E. of Norwich, has within its parish only six houses, 54 inhabitants, and 450 acres of land, three-fourths of which belong to E. Walpole, Esq. the lord of the manor. The Church, dedicated to St. Edmund, is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Limpenhoe, being in the same patronage and incumbency. It has seven acres of glebe. At the enclosure, four acres were allotted to the poor. Directory, Mrs. Maddison, John Tuthill, gent.; Benjamin Walnes, parish clerk; and Saml. Walnes, farmer.

STRUMPSHAW is a well built but dispersed village, on an eminence, $8\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. by S. of Norwich, comprising within its parish 374 inhabitants, and about 1200 acres, belonging to a number of freeholders and some copyholders; the latter are subject to arbitrary fines, payable to the lord of the manor, E. Walpole, Esq. The ancient lords were the Dan-Martins and the Bardolphs. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, was new pewed and covered with blue slate, in 1819, at the cost of £150. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £8, and consolidated with Bradston, being in the same incumbency and patronage. The joint benefices have 61 acres of glebe, most of which is in this parish. The poor have four bushels of wheat yearly, left by William Black, in 1756, and an allotment of 10 acres awarded at the inclosure. The windmill and house of Messrs. T. Welch & Son, in this parish, are supposed to stand on the highest hill in Norfolk, and the prospect which they command is certainly the finest coup d'œil in the county, extending to Yarmouth, Norwich, the light houses at Happisburgh, and the country southward to the borders of Suffolk. This lofty eminence of sand and gravel, has the appearance of having been thrown up by the sea; and 100 feet below the summit, boulder stones are found, of the same description as those on the coast near Yarmouth.

Drury Robt. schoolmaster
Goffin Alex. bricklr. & vict. Goat
Goffin Thos. brick maker
Hilling Robt. butcher & shopkpr.
Hylton John, blacksmith
Thompson Jas. vict. Shoulder of Mutton
Tuck Mrs. gentlewoman
Welch Thos. & Son, cornmlrs. &c.
Whitbread Rev. Edm. Salter,
M. A. rector

Withers Wm. joiner, builder & wheelwright
Wright Robt. shoemaker

FARMERS.	Pyle John
• are Yeomen.	Rose Henry
• Atkins Thos.	• Saunders Saml.
• Barnes John	Wells Joshua
• Palmer Chas.	• Wells Wm.

THORPE NEXT-NORWICH, or Thorpe St. Andrew, is a handsome village, delightfully situated $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of Norwich, on the side of a declivity, which overlooks the city and the river Yare, enlivened by the frequent passage of steam packets, pleasure boats, and wherries. The beauty of this vicinity has induced many gentlemen to erect elegant mansions here, to which are attached spacious gardens and ornamental plantations. The views down the river and over the adjacent country, skirted in the distance by the plantations of General Money, are highly picturesque, and this "Richmond of Norfolk" is considered one of the most charming inland summer retreats in the kingdom. The parish contains 940 inhabitants, and 2500 acres of land, exclusive of Thorp Hamlet; which, with Pockthorpe, lies within the county of the city of Norwich, and is already described, together with the Bishop's and Dean and Chapter's manors, which comprised the whole of this parish, the above-named hamlets, and Mousehold Heath—inclosed in 1800, when 1600 acres were allotted to Thorpe St. Andrew, and the rest to the city hamlets, &c. St. Andrew's, the parish Church, is a thatched Gothic fabric, with a nave, chancel, porch, and embattled tower. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. The Rev. James Maxwell is the incumbent, and W. L. W. Chute, Esq. is the patron and lord of the manor, part of which is copyhold, subject to fines certain. Thorpe Lodge is the handsome seat of John Harvey, Esq. the proprietor of the Old Hall, which was anciently the Bishop's Palace, the chapel of which is now a coach house and stable. The Free School, founded by subscription, in 1587, with three acres of land, has since received the following augmentations, viz., 40 acres of land, at Brundall, left by the Rev. Samuel Chapman, a late rector, who died in 1700; land at Caston, let for £4, and purchased with £50, left by Edward King, in 1730; and part of the dividends of £373. 2s. 4d. three per cent. reduced annuities, bequeathed by Thomas Vere, in 1760, out of which £3 is given in bread to the poor, after a sermon on Plough Monday. The Rev. Richard Humfrey, in 1813, left £100 to build a house for the master, but it has not yet been erected. The school income is now about £43 per annum. Four tenements, with a garden and two acres of land, are vested with three trustees for the reparation of the church, &c. The workhouse was purchased in 1785, for £85 and an old cottage, which belonged to the parish. At the inclosure, 61A. 15P. of land were allotted to the poor, and is now let for £40 a year, distributed in coals. The poor have also 20s. yearly, left by Wm. Johnson; the dividends of £40 in 3 per cent. consols, left in 1777 by John Boycott; and £100 in the three per cent. reduced annuities, bequeathed by James Rice, in 1822. The Norfolk County Lunatic Asylum stands a little south-east of the village of Thorpe, three and a half miles from Norwich. It is a spacious and handsome building of white brick with stone quoins, erected in 1814, under an act of the 48th of George III., for the better care and maintenance of lunatics, being paupers or criminals. It is 430 feet long, with a Grecian portico in the centre, supported by four columns. The cost of the erection and the adjacent grounds, was £40,000, paid out of the county rate. The stone staircase is particularly worthy of notice, from the lightness and strength of its construction. The apartments and galleries are well ventilated, and fitted up for the accommodation of 170 patients—the number now in the house, which is under the control of the county magistrates. Mr. Thomas Caryl is the governor.

Banks Capt. Fras. R.N.
 Batley Geo. tanner
 Batley Geo. & Chas. timber merts.
 Batley Thos. gent. Grove house
 Beckham Mrs. Mary Ann
 Betts Mr. Thomas
 Blakiston Capt. Thos. R.N. Old Hall
 Bracey Robt. grocer & limeburnr.
 Brinded Jas. boat owner
 Brinded Jno. coal dr. & boatownr.
 Brinded Robt. bricklayer
 Kampin John, gent.
 Caryl Thos. governor of the County Lunatic Asylum.

Coppen Mrs. Margaret
 Dale Robt. joiner
 Davy Thos. silk merchant, (and Norwich)
 Elgood Jas. marl & corn dealer
 Gay Mrs. Anne Millicent
 Goggs Robt. Raven, gent.
 Hardy John, bricklayer
 Hardy John, jun. bricklayer
 Harvey John, Esq. Thorpe Lodge
 Hill Mrs. Mary
 King Robt. gent.
 Leonard Rev. Dacre Barrett
 Leathes Henry, gent.
 Lincoln Thos. wheelwrt. & joiner

WIMBORNE HUNDRED.

Wm. W. Baker & shopkpr.
Wm. V. Maria Martha
Wm. W. Sa. brewer (& Norwich)
Public Houses
Brace Joseph Smith
Coffee George Grant
King's Head, Robt. Francis
Three Tuns, Wm. Lake Hinsby
Beer Houses.	Rodwell Edw.
Attlee John	Gardeners
Elgood Jas.	Rayner John
Farmers.	Rushmer Sam.
Allbone John	Spooner Ge.
Allbone Jhn. jun	Tripp Jas.
Batley Chas.	Shoemakers
Brett Wm.	Beever John
Gibson Saml.	Booth & Dady
Goutson Wm.	Harmer Jas.
Mitchel Saml.	Pleasants Wm.
Riches Robt.	Plow Wm.

WIMBORNE, a small parish and scattered village, 5½ miles E. of Norwich, containing only 141 inhabitants, and 550 acres of rich soil. Chas. Whittles Esq. is the principal owner, and lord of the manor, which, in the seventh of Richard II., was given by the Countess of Norfolk, to the nuns minoresses of Buryard, for the soul of her daughter, Ann, late Countess of Devon, and her own state whilst living, and her soul when dead. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, is a rectory, and is rated at £13. 4d. It is united with Little Plumstead, and is in the incumbency of the Rev. Charles Pearce, with a Director — John Pearce, Esq. Whitten house; Whittles, Esq. Whitten hall; George and Robert Culley, Joseph Ford, corn miller.

TAVERHAM HUNDRED

Taverham is a large oval figure, stretching seven miles northward from about twelve miles in length from east to west, being bounded south by the river Wensum and the city liberties; by Bishfield and Walsham Hundreds, on the north by the South Erpingham Hundred, and on the west by the city of Norwich. It gives name to the Deanery of Taverham, a deanery of Norwich. A great portion of it has a light, sandy soil, and is highly cultivated, and studded with many handsome houses. To the north of St. Faith's and Horsford, is a large tract of sandy heath, only partially cultivated or planted, and is an act of Parliament, passed in 1790. At Horsford is a large House of Industry, erected in 1805 by the Government, of which thirteen are in this Hundred. At Colishall, in South Erpingham. This workhouse, built 300 paupers but the number of inmates

TAVERHAM HUNDRED.

345

is now only about 50, maintained and clothed at the cost of about 2s. 2d. per head per week. Ten acres of land are attached to the house, and those capable of labour are employed in spade husbandry. The guardians visit the house in rotation every week, and the whole 14 attend on the first Tuesday of every month. John Lounge, Esq. is the visiting magistrate; Mr. Benjamin Barber, the treasurer; the Rev. O. Mathias, the chaplain; and Thomas and Elizabeth Muskett, the governor and matron. The following is an enumeration of the 18 parishes in Taverham Hundred, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their land and buildings, as assessed for the property-tax in 1815, and their territorial extent.

PARISHES.*	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Attlebridge ...	117	£1046	1,000	*Horsford-	543	£2220	2,400
Boston St. Andrew	49	803	700	*Horstead-with- Stanninghall .. }	263	2 714	2,308
*Caton	289	2,149	200	*Rackheath ..	202	2,287	1,800
*Crestwick	143	763	73	*Sailhouse	529	1,366	2,031
*Drayton	240	976	1,290	*Spixworth	54	1,380	1,375
*Fekthorpe	547	1,021	2,188	*Sproston	1,179	2,340	2 700
Frittenham	559	1,819	1 700	*Taverham	91	1 1	2,000
*Hayford	670	1,474	1,600	Wroxham	301	1,740	1,344
*Helleston	61	1,020	2,300
*Horsham & New- ton St. Faith .. }	1,270	1,640	2,500	Total	7,005	27,222	30,671

* The thirteen parishes marked * are incorporated with St. Faith's House of Industry, but the other four keep their poor separately.

† Helleston parish is mostly in the county of the city of Norwich.

ATTLEBRIDGE is a small, neat village, on the north bank of the Wensum, 8 miles N. W. of Norwich, and on the Fakenham turnpike, where the river is crossed by a strong wooden bridge. The parish, in the 14th of Charles I. had a hamlet called Dighton, or Dike-town hills, then conveyed to Lord Montravers; and in the reign of Elizabeth, there was an hermitage here near the river. Nathaniel Micklethwait, Esq. is the present lord of the manor, impropiator, and principal owner of the soil. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Andrew, is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5. 6s. 10½d., and united with Alderford, in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, and incumbency of the Rev. Fras. Howes. Directory.—John and Benj Barber and John Smith, farmers; John Press Howard, maltster, Attlebridge hall; Thos. Mare, blacksmith, John Plummer, butcher; John Riches, woodman; Francis Sucker, shopkeeper.

BREESTON ST ANDREW, 3½ miles N. E. by N. of Norwich, is a hamlet and parish, with only 49 inhabitants, and 700 acres, chiefly the property of N. Micklethwait, Esq., and Mr. O. Barnes. The hall belongs to the former, and is a large brick mansion with a well wooded lawn, but is now unoccupied. There has been no church here during the last two centuries, though the rectory valued in K. B. at £3. 6s. 8d. is still continued as a sinecure, in the patronage of J. P. Reynolds, and incumbency of the Rev. J. P. Reynolds, of Bury St. Edmund's.—Directory.—Orlando Barnes, gent. Old Hall; John Breeze and Joshua Reynolds, farmers.

CATTON is a delightful suburban village and parish, 2 miles N. of Norwich, having many picturesque mansions, ornamented with tasteful plantations and pleasure grounds, and containing 591 inhabitants, and about nine hundred acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, many of whom reside here, and have purchased the rectorial tithes of the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, who are lords of the manor and patrons of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Margaret, and is a vicarage valued in K. B. at £4 13s. 9d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. J. C. Matchett, of Norwich, with 14 acres of glebe. The Church has a round tower with an octangular top, and three bells, and in the interior are many handsome mural monuments to the Corie, Broude, Blanks, Brereton, Busty, and other families. Four boys are sent from this parish to Norman's Free School, in Norwich, founded in 1724, by John Norman, who left 6d. each to 20 poor people yearly, on November 1st. The poor of Catton have also £6 yearly, from 3 acres of land left by a Mr. Wall; and 10s. a year from the bequest of John Warner, William Russey, and John and Elizabeth Addey. In the village is a Free School for 40 children, supported by subscription; and the Methodists have a small chapel here.

Beekham John Rix, baker
 Carr Mrs
 Chitty Lieut. Colonel Edwin
 Church Mrs. Susanna
 Cocks Dennis, beerhouse
 Crickmay Mr. Charles
 Cuanance Mrs. Frances
 Daek Charles, vict. Magpie
 Darell John, gent. Catton grove
 Dashwood Miss Anna Maria
 Day James, Esq.
 Dixon Owen, blacksmith
 Duffield Harnet, free school
 Everitt W. Ihaw, gentleman
 Fox Mr. Thomas
 Gooch Horace, gentleman
 Harvey Capt. George
 Hawtayne Capt Chas. S. J., R.N.
 Hipper Robert, vict. Maid's Head
 Hobart Mrs. Mary
 Ives Mrs. Frances, Catton House
 Jackson Samuel, tailor
 Kew Geo. cabinet maker, & vict.
 Royal Oak
 Longe Capt. Edmond Shingsby

Longe Robert, Esq.
 Lowne Benjamin, bricklayer
 Master Colonel Harcourt
 Newman Wm bricklayer
 Nickles John, gentleman
 Oxley Mrs. Martha, Catton Grove
 Potter Ambrose, butcher & shopkpt.
 Remblance Robert, hoop maker
 Rushmore Wm. Lookkeeper
 Skippon Wm. vict. Geo. & Dragon
 Walker Thos. baker and grocer
 Wales Sarah, shopkeeper
 Wardle Johnstone, gentleman
 Webb Richard, pork butcher
 West John, gentleman
 Wigg Mr. William
 Wright Warner, M.D.

Boot and Shoe Makers.

Broad John	Haweld John
Duffield Geo.	Paul Wm.

Farmers

Bulls John	Jennings Geo.
Dixon John	Moore Thomas
Dixon Owen	Redgrave Mark

CROSTWICK, on the North Walsham road, 4½ miles N.N.E. of Norwich, is a pleasant village and parish, with 143 inhabitants, and 730 acres of loamy land, chiefly belonging to J. Stracey and J. Longe, Esqrs; but here is a common of 30 acres, and a piece of poor land, let for 20s. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £2. 17s. 6d., and has 4½ acres of glebe. The bishop of Norwich is the patron, and the Rev John Humphrey the incumbent:—Directory:—John Croft, gentleman; Thomas Bowen, John W. Drake, and Frederick Pearce, farmers; Thomas Bowen, jun. wheelwright; John Money, joiner; and William Woodhouse, victualler and shopkeeper, White Horse.

DRAYTON, on the Fakenham road, four miles N. W. of Norwich, is a fine rural village in the vale of the Wensum, comprising in its parish 349 inhabitants, and 1292 acres of land, mostly in the bishop's manor of Drayton with Taverham, subject to fines certain, and partly in the manor of Drayton Hall, (fines arbitrary,) of which M. Micklethwait, Esq. is lord. At the enclosure of Dracroy common, on the north side of the parish, 49a. 2a. 34r. were awarded to the poor, in 1813, for supplying turf, coals, &c. In the village are the remains of an ancient cross, which had an inscription in French, offering pardon to all who would pray for the souls of Wm. de Belle-monte, and Joan, his wife. In a plantation near the road, are traces of an intrenchment, and at a short distance, is Blood's Dale, said to be the scene of a battle in the Saxon era. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, has an antique font, a square tower, and three bells. The living is a rectory valued in K. B. at £6 2s. 9d., and has 14 acres of glebe in Drayton, and 30 acres in Hellesden. The Bishop of Norwich is the patron, and the Rev. R. N. Raikes the incumbent. Here are two acres of church land, let for £3.

Beasey John, shoemaker
Blyth Matthew, joiner
Blyth Robert, joiner
Butcher Jas. brwr. & vict. Cock
Buttle Henry, vict. Red Lion
Cannell John, blacksmith
Edwards James, shoemaker
Fenn Robert, shoemaker

French John, farmer
Hipper Thomas, pork butcher
Howard David, jun farmer
Laton Chs. H. Esq. Drayton Ldg
Lubbock Henry, gardener
Payne Mrs. Bridget, Drayton Hl.
Raikes Rev. Rt Napier, rector
Watcham Robert, butcher

FELTHORPE, a large parish and scattered village, 7 miles N.W. by N. of Norwich, has several neat houses, 269 inhabitants, and 2199 acres, of which 972 are plantations and waste, though the chief part of the common was enclosed as early as 1776. Here are four manors, the largest of which is a member of Lord Stafford's manor of Costessey, and consists of copyholds subject to arbitrary fines. The other manors have for their respective lords, the Rector, the Bishop, and W. H. Fellowes, Esq., but the soil is held by a number of proprietors. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, is a rectory valued in the King's books at £4, but has now 34 acres of glebe, of which ten were purchased with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, obtained in 1759. The Bishop of Norwich is the patron, and the Rev. Richard Brickdale the incumbent. At an enclosure of heath land, in 1790, an allotment of 50 acres was awarded to the poor. In 1686, Wm. Brereton bequeathed for the poor and other uses, four tenements and 28 acres of land, now let for £31 a-year, exclusive of two of the houses with two acres of the land, occupied by two poor aged widows, who have also 6d. per week each from the charity; and the surplus is employed in church repairs, and distributions to poor families.

Bacon James, gent.
Brown Thomas, vict. Bull

Furniss John, joiner
Geldart Joseph, Esq

Gilham Edw. bricklayer & shopr.
 Howe Rich. joiner & beer house
 Massingham Hy horse dealer
 Miller John, joiner
 Newton Thomas, shoemaker
 Pratt Mr. Richard
 Wade Clarke, blacksmith
 West Chpr. corn miller & grocer

FARMERS.—* are Yeomen.
 Barnard Hy. Norman Eliza.
 *Betts Mary Pratt Wm.
 Buttsant Jacob *Rout Samuel
 *Fox Ann *Smith Wm.
 *Ives James Tuck Samuel Kendall Anthy *Utting James
 *Larwood Rt *West Chpr.
 *Neale Brod. West Geo.

FRETTEHAM village is scattered round a common of 50 acres, 6 miles N. by E. of Norwich, and comprises within its parish 269 inhabitants and 1700 acres of land, of which Lord Suffield is chief owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, (St. Swithen,) which is a rectory united with Stanninghall, valued in the King's books at £10, and now enjoyed by the Rev James Shirley, with 15 acres of glebe. Here are two Poor-houses belonging to the parish. The soil is a light loam, and under it is an abundance of rich marle.

Chapman Zephaniah, schoolmr.
 Pounger Fs vict. Rose & Crown
 Fryer Jeremiah, joiner
 Fuller John, shoemaker
 Remington Hy. wheelwright
 Remington Wm. blacksmith

Shirley Rev. Jas. rector
 Tooley Wm. shoemkr. & shopr.

Farmers.

Hall Wm. Read Thos.
 Hayward Jas. Spencer Geo.
 Juby Wm. Spencer John

HAYNFORD, or Hainford, 6½ miles N. of Norwich, is a large straggling village, occupied partly by weavers. The parish contains 605 inhabitants and 1600 acres of land, the greater part of which is the property of Robert Marsham, Esq, the patron of the Church, (All Saints,) which is a rectory valued in the King's books at £6. 2s 1d., and now enjoyed by the Rev John Taylor, with 34 acres of glebe. The Hall is the property and seat of the Rev. A. Keppel. Here is a National School, chiefly supported by subscription, for 80 children. The poor have several tenements and parcels of land, let for £80. 14s. per annum, and bequeathed by Thomas Bulver, in 1694; John Sporles, in 1733; and a Mr. Bolts, at some date unknown. They have also a rent charge of £3, left by Thos. Bulver, and £30 a-year for coals, paid by the owners of the common land, pursuant to an agreement at the enclosure, in 1802.

Basey Rt. & Beck A. beer houses
 Colman Rt. free school
 Evans Rev. H. vicar of Swanton
 Everson Wm. wheelwt. & shopr.
 Howard James, tailor
 Keppel Rev. Arnold, Haynford Hall
 Laws Wm. shoemaker
 Lockett Jas. Ca. shoemkr & shopr.
 Lockett Saml. vict. Maid's Head

Miller Martin, tailor
 Pye Jeremiah, shopkeeper
 Smith John, shoemaker
 Tills Saml. corn miller

Farmers.

Coe Robt. Roberts James
 Hardy James Springall Isaac
 Humphrey Ts. Wiggelt John
 Mack Robt. Wright Jph.
 Neale Fountain

HELLESDEN, or Hellesdon, 2 miles N. W. of Norwich, is a village and parish containing 443 inhabitants and about 2000 acres of land, but the whole (except two farms, and 61 of the inhabitants,) is in the county of the city of Norwich, and is there described. The two farms in this Hundred belong to Archdeacon Berners, and are occupied by Robert Goose and David Howard. (Vide pages 155 and 220.)

HORSFORD, on the Holt road, 4 miles N. N. W. of Norwich, is a village and parish with 543 inhabitants, and 240 acres of land, of which about 600 form a flat sterid heath, though divided at the enclosure in 1802, when 208a. 3a. 12p. were allotted to the poor for fuel, &c. Sir Thomas Leonard, Bart. is lord of the manor, (fine certain,) in which there are several smaller proprietors. The ancient lords, as barons of Horsford, had a castle here, enclosed with a circular moat, and surrounded by an extensive park well stocked with deer and wood. Some traces of the moat and castle foundations may still be seen. In 1493, the Bishop granted the inhabitants the liberty of asking alms for the purpose of repairing their Church, which is dedicated to All Saints, and is a vicarage valued in K. B. at £4. 5s. 2d., but has now about 66 acres of glebe, and in 1793, was augmented with £200 of Queen Anna's bounty. The Rev. Octavius Mathias, M. A. is the incumbent, and Vice Admiral Edmund Stevens is the patron and impropriator.

Andrews Aln. & Jas. shoemakers
Blyth Pp miller, shopkr. & brkr.
Crome Richard John, butcher
Day Mrs. Cecilia Maria
Drake Robert, wheelwright
Fox Matthew, vict. Spotted Dog
Hannent —, schoolmaster
Lacey Robert, bricklayer
M'Donald Mrs. Harriet
Mathias Rev. Octavius, M. A.
Pratt William, cattle dealer
Pye Theophilus, shopkeeper

Rix George, shoemaker
Wade John, blacksmith
Webster Sewell, vict. Crown
Willett John, brewer & beerhouse

*Farmers * are Yeomen.*

Gardener Geo.	Baker John
Greaves T. & J.	Barret Saml
Harvey Wm.	*Bunn Saml.
Pratt William	Cannell Peter
Walker Saml.	Crome Samuel
Wortley Rbt.	*Frost Jonth

HORSHAM ST FAITH'S, and NEWTON ST. FAITHS', are two villages forming one united parish, commonly called ST. FAITH'S, and distant from 4 to 5 miles N. of Norwich, on the Aylsham road, and occupied partly by weavers. The parish contains 1279 inhabitants and 2500 acres of land, of which 58a. 3a. 38p. of heath were awarded to the poor of Horsham, and 68a. to the poor of Newton, at the enclosure in 1802. HORSHAM, the largest village is situated above a small rivulet, and is celebrated for its large cattle fair, held yearly on the 17th of October, and continued during the three following weeks, for the sale of Scotch cattle, &c. Hugh de Cressi had also the privilege of a weekly market here, in the 41st of Henry III., but it has long been obsolete. Here were formerly a Benedictine Priory, and a Hospital of Knights Templars. The priory, dedicated to St. Faith, the Virgin and Martyr, was founded by Robert de Codomo, lord of Horsford, and Sibilla his wife, in the year 1105; after which, numerous bequests were made to it by the families who possessed this and the adjacent manor of Horsford. In the reign of Richard II., this priory was discharged from its subjection to the abbey of Couches, in France, and constituted indigent. — At the dissolution, its annual revenues were valued at £193. 2s. 3d. and granted with the rectory and advowson of Horsford to Sir Richd.

Southwell and Edward Ellington, Esq. Some of the boundary walls of the priory still remain on the Abbey farm, near the Church, which is a large Gothic structure, with a fine groined porch and embattled tower. The benefice is a curacy, augmented in 1773 and 1804 with £400 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and in 1813, with a Parliamentary grant of £1200. The Rev O. Mathias is the incumbent, and Admiral Stevens is the patron, impropriator, lord of the manor, and principal owner of the soil. Newton is a smaller village, one mile N. of Horsham, but has no church. The Methodists have a chapel in both the villages. The St. Faith's House of Industry, on an eminence at the north end of Horsham, is already noticed at page 344. In the following Directory, those marked * are in Newton, and the rest in Horsham St. Faith's.

Brown Richard, cattle dealer
 *Burdett Jonathan, gardener
 Carman Saml. bksmith & beerhs.
 *Coleby James, gardener
 Eglington Richard, corn miller
 *Ewing Stpn. miller and grocer
 Foster Wm. bricklr & vct. Crown
 Harper Eliz. shopkeeper
 Harris Wm. Wilson, surgeon
 Kerry Henry, tailor
 Kerry John, vct. Black Swan
 *King Francis, gardener
 Mandel Mr. Thomas
 Muskett Thom. gov. of Workhouse
 Nunn Saml., beerhouse
 Orsborn Geo. vct. King's head
 Pearce John, blacksmith
 *Pratt Jeremiah, vct. Crown
 Reynolds Jas. grocer & draper
 Rice James, butcher & leather
 Roche Samuel, baker & shopkr.
 Scarnett John, wheelwr. & joiner
 Sewell Everson, tanner

Slipper Armandel, joiner
 Taylor Anthony, baker
 Webb Benj. basket mkr. & shopkr.
Boot and Shoe Makers.

*Allen John	Griffin Wm.
*Baley Robert	*Newton Robt.
Blyth Robert	Pleasants Jas.
Bridger John	Pleasants Thos.

Farmers.

*Baley Cullum	*Reynolds Eliz.
Baxter Robert	*Reynolds John
*Cook James	Wells Stephen
Cope —	West John
Drake John	West Jn. jun.
*Dunn Saml.	*Woodcock Jph
Lovick Saml.	(& shopkeeper)

COACHES from the Black Swan to Norwich at 4 aft., and to Aylsham 11 mg. daily; to Cromer, every Mon. Wed. and Sat. at 4 aft., and to Norwich at a quarter before 11 morning.

HORSTEAD with STANINGHALL form a consolidated parish, with a village of the former name, pleasantly seated on the south bank of the river Bure, 7 miles N.N.E. of Norwich. The parish contains 593 inhabitants, and 2308s. 2u. 26r. of land, of which only 360 acres are in Staninghall, formerly a parish, but now only a farm, two miles south of Horstead, belonging to Lord Suffield, and having the ruins of a church, which was dilapidated in the reign of Elizabeth, since which the owner has paid a yearly modus of £5 10s. to Horstead in lieu of tithe. Horstead Church, dedicated to All Saints, has a handsome antique font, and several memorials of the Ward, Hornsell, Townsend, and other families. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £7 10s., is in the incumbency of the Rev Wm. Abbott, and patronage of the Provost and Fellows of King's College, Cambridge, who are also lords of the manor, which is mostly copyhold on fine certain. Horstead Hall, erected in 1835, in the Elizabethan style, in a romantic dale, which opens to the Bure, is the property of Lord

Suffield; and Horstead House, another handsome mansion, in the same style, partly of flint and brick, is the property of J. W. LYON Winder, Esq. In the parish are two other neat mansions, belonging to T. Blake, Esq. and the Misses Watts; and half a mile E. of Horstead is an ancient hamlet, called Haggard-street.

Abbott Rev. Wm. M.A., rector
 Atkins Mrs. Mary
 Baldwin John, brklr & lime brar.
 Bird Edward, shoemaker
 Blake Thos. Esq. LL.D.
 Burrell George, blacksmith
 Coman Jas. plumber, glazier, and painter
 Coman John, tailor
 Cooke & Gambling, corn millers
 Cooke Samuel, Mill house
 Cubitt Robert, corn miller
 Engledew Fras. blacksmith
 Ewing Jn. vict. Recruiting Serjnt.

Harbord Hon. Edward Vernon:
Horstead hall
 Lyon Edm. Hy. Esq. Horstead hs.
 Smith Wm. bricklayer
 Watts Misses
 Wright Jas. coal & timber merc.
Farmers.

Brook James	Reynolds Kesia
Collins Thomas	Spencer Geo.
Gosling Wm.	Starling Wm.
Grimmer Wm.	Willement Geo.
Howlett James	Woods Henry
Moore Benj.	Utting John,
Moyes Wm	Stanninghall

RACKHEATH, a parish and scattered village, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.E. by N. of Norwich, on the Worstead road, has 262 inhabitants, and 1800 acres of light, loamy land, with a sub-stratum of chalk. It was anciently in two parishes, called Great and Little Rackheath; but the church, in the latter division, was taken down several centuries ago, and its site is now unknown. The remaining Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a small structure standing alone in the fields, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., but has now 26 acres of glebe. The Rev. George Stracey is the incumbent, and the patronage is in Sir Edward Stracey, Bart., the owner of the soil and lord of the manor, who resides in the Hall, a modern mansion of white brick, standing on an eminence, in a richly wooded park.—Rackheath was anciently held by a family of its own name, and had a priory, the temporalities of which were valued, in 1428, at 41s. 3d. The Felvertons, afterwards Earls of Sussex, were seated here in the reign of Edward II. At the enclosure, in 1802, a yearly rent of 10d. per acre, amounting to £22 per annum, was charged on the allotments, to be paid to the poor for a distribution of coals. Directory:—Sir E. Stracey, Bart. Rackheath hall; Thos. Etheridge and John Leist, farmers; Thos. Crickmay, blacksmith; John Holsworth and Co. lime burners; and Edward Ladell, vict. Green Man.

SALHOUSE, or Sallowes, is a large but straggling village and parish, 6 miles N. E. of Norwich, comprising 539 inhabitants, and 2083 acres of land, lying within Sigismund Trafford, Esq.'s manor of Wroxham with Salhouse, but the soil belongs to a number of free holders and copyholders, the latter of whom are subject to arbitrary fines. The Church stands near the summit of an acclivity, and is a vicarage, with 11a. 1a. 14r. of glebe, but consolidated with Wroxham, in the patronage of S. Trafford, Esq. and incumbency of the Rev. J. B. Collyer. The Hall, with a large estate around it, came to the Ward family by marriage with the niece and co-heiress of Chief Justice Holt, and is now the seat of Robert Ward, Esq., who, in 1832, erected a new east window, of stained glass, and thoroughly repaired and beautified the church, at a considerable expense. Here is a Baptist, and also a Westeyan chapel; the latter built in 1775, and the former endowed with the interest of £100, left by Mrs. Luntford in 1828. At the enclosure, the old Poor's land was exchanged for 14 In. 21, which, with an allotment of 19a. 2s. 21r awarded for bring, is now let for £25 a year. The poor have also three yearly rent-charges, viz., 50s. left by Edward Meltzer, 10s. by Rd. Ward; and 5s. by Edmund Topcliffe.

Bane Frederick, tailor & draper	Ward Robt Esq. Salhouse hall
Bowen Benj baker	Wright John, gardener
Brown Rd. tailor & vict. Bell	Boot and Shoe Makers.
Brown Saml. schoolr and grocer	Allen —
Brown Thomas, saddler	Allen Thomas
Babbings Edward, wheelwright	Larman Wm
Bussey Robt. junr. blacksmith	Harrison Wm.
Campbell Mrs. Quattany	Littlewood St.
Farman Mr. Samuel	FARMERS. Marked * are yeomen.
Holsworth John, Joseph, and Thomas, bricklayers	Brooks Samuel
Jameson James, pork butcher	Bussey Robert
Littlewood Saml. senr. corn miller	*Campbell Jn
Powell, Rev Alfred, Bapt. min	Cuth. g. Charles
Rushbrook Charlotte, shopkeeper	*Dawson Tm
	Farman Hen S.
	Rice Thaxter
	Riches Richd.
	(& beerhouse)
	Walker Wm.
	Winter Jerh
	Gleeb Ellis
	Layton Wm.
	Stuart John
	*Dutton Robert
	Trower Wm.
	Weeding Wm.

SPILWORTH, a small hamlet and parish, 4 miles N. by E. of Norwich, has only 54 inhabitants, and 1175a. 3s. 4r of land. The whole, except 7a. 2s. 15r. of glebe, belongs to John Longe, Esq., the patron of the rectory, and lord of the manor, who resides in the Hall, a large brick mansion, situated in the centre of an extensive and well-wooded park. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, has several memorials to the Longes, and two ancient recumbent effigies of Wm. Peck and his wife Alice. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6, is now enjoyed by the Rev George Howes. The farmers are Benj. Holmes, Chas. Muskett, and John Porter.

SPROWSTON is a scattered but well-built village, 2 miles N. by E. of Norwich. The parish contains 2700 acres of land, and has increased its population, since 1811, from 310 to 1179 souls, many handsome villas and houses having been erected here during the last twenty years, especially on the south side of the parish, which adjoins the city suburbs, and is commonly called New Sprowston. The manor anciently belonged to the Cornets, but was sold by Sir Thos. Corbet, (the last baronet of his family,) in 1645, to Sir Thos. Adams, from whose family it passed, by sale, to Sir Lambert Blackwell, who was created baronet of Sprowston, in 1718. It was held by three successive baronets of this family, but the last, who died in 1801, sold it to Mr. Boycott, of Norwich, whose grandson, John Morse, Esq., sold it in 1822, and after passing through the hands of Alderman Davey and others, by whom a large portion was separately sold to various persons, the manor-house and principal part of the estate were sold to Thos. Woodruffe Smythe, Esq. of Stockwell park Surrey, whose executors are the present owners of the Hall estate, and lords of the manor. The Hall, said to have been erected in 1559, was much improved some years ago, and is now occupied by S. H.

Le Neve Gilman, Esq. Sprowston Lodge, a neat white brick mansion, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. by E. of Norwich, is the seat of John Stracey, Esq., who has in his pleasure-grounds a flourishing willow, lopped from the tree that overshadows the tomb of Napoleon, on the island of St. Helena. He has also a curious Mahomedan tomb-stone, dated 1188 of the Hijira, and supposed to have been brought to this country as ballast. Here are several other rural seats, occupied by their owners; and near Sprowston cottage are the remains of St. Magdalen's Chapel, now converted into a barn. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Margaret, is an ancient structure, but has undergone many modern repairs, the tower and several other parts having been rebuilt of brick. In the interior are two Gothic stalls, and several monuments and effigies of the Corbet family; one of whom was Miles Corbet, Esq. who sat as one of the judges and signed the death-warrant of King Charles; and after the Restoration fled to Holland, where he was pursued and taken, but afterwards pardoned. The benefice is a cure, not in charge, and was augmented in 1790 and 1794 with £400 of Queen Anne's Bounty, laid out in land; and in 1824, with a Parliamentary grant of £1000, now at interest. The Rev. Henry Banfather is the incumbent, and the Dean and Chapter of Norwich are the patrons and appropriators; but the tithes are leased to the landowners. At the enclosure, in 1800, about 1000 acres of Mousehold Heath were allotted to this parish, and subjected to the yearly payment of £30, to provide coals for the poor parishioners, who have also six cottages, near the church, bequeathed by Catherine and Anne Corbet. The Fair, held here on August 2nd, was discontinued in 1826, in consequence of the disorderly conduct of many of its frequenters.

Aldridge John, gentleman
 Anderson Wm. Andrew, shopkr.
 Andrews Jno. wheelwright, blacksmith, and parish clerk
 Bailey Anthony, shopkeeper
 Bardwell Everitt, solicitor
 Bond Henry, corn miller
 Burrows John, vict. Norfolk Arms
 Burrows John, jun. baker
 Carver Robert, sawing mill
 Catton Jeremiah, gardener
 Cobb Wm. gentleman
 Cozens Jer. gent. Sprowston villa
 Cozens John, grocer, South lodge
 Denmark Wm. gent. Sprowston cottage
 Dickinson John, shopkeeper
 Edwards Sarah, lime burner
 Fitt John, gardener
 Fox John, wheelwright
 Francis John, schoolmaster
 Gilman Samuel Heyhoe Le Neve, Esq. solicitor, Sprowston hall

Howsham John, gent.
 Hudson James, beerhouse
 Kialsbury Wm. farrier, &c.
 Knight Mr. John
 Land John, shopkeeper
 Lockyer George, beerhouse
 Lowne John, gentleman
 Millard Wm. Salter, gent.
 Myhill John, glover
 Olyott Thos. vict. Blue Boar
 Peirce Wm. brewer & beerhouse
 Robinson Robert, corn miller
 Sidney John, joiner & shopkr.
 Stracey Jno. Esq. Sprowston ldy.

Boot and Shoe Makers.

Ives Thomas	Scott John
Mickle John	Towler James
Roffe Nathl.

FARMERS.— * are Brickmakers.

Barnes George	* Poll David
* Blake Robert	* Wright Gre
Feltom Sarah	gory
Lutkins Robert	Yalloy Wm.

TAVERHAM, the small village which gives name to this Hundred, is situated on the north bank of the Wensum, commanding a fine view of the vale, and distant $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. of Norwich. The parish contains 191 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of arable land, with nearly 700 acres of plantations, partly surrounding the extensive lawn and picturesque mansion of Nathaniel Micklethwait, Esq., the principal owner of the soil, and lord of the manor of Taverham Hall; but part of the parish is in the Bishop's manor of Drayton. The copyholds in the latter are on fine certain and in the former arbitrary. In the village is an extensive paper-mill. The old church was destroyed by lightning in 1458. The present Church, dedicated to St. Edmund, is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 5s. 5d. and now possesses 12 acres of glebe. The Rev. John Surtees is the incumbent, and the Bishop of Norwich and N. Micklethwait, Esq. are the alternate patrons. Directory—Robert Basy and Edm. Juby, farmers; Mary Brown, vict. Paper Mills; Day & Robbards, paper mfrs.; N. Micklethwait, Esq., Taverham hall; John Norman, bricklayer; Robert Pree, shopkeeper; Robert Taylor, joiner.

WHITTHAM, $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. E. of Norwich, on the Wensum road, is a picturesque village standing on the summit and bold acclivities of the south bank of the river Rure, which is here crossed by a good bridge, and flows in a very circuitous channel, expanding into several coverts, abounding with pike, perch, and other fish, and navigable for small craft to Yarmouth. The parish contains 368 inhabitants, and 1444 A. 20r. of land, belonging to several proprietors, the largest of whom are Wm. Buckle, Esq., Rev. John Humphrey, Mrs. Margt. Southwell, and Sigismund Trafford, Esq., the latter of whom is lord of the manor, and the others have neat mansions here. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, stands on a lofty eminence, above the river, and is a neat structure with a tower and five bells. In the burial-ground is a mausoleum, erected over the vault of the late S. Trafford Southwell, Esq. The living is a vicarage, united with Salhouse, and valued in K. B. at £7. 17s. 1d. The Rev. J. B. Collyer is the incumbent, and S. Trafford, Esq. has the advowson, but the Rev. J. Burroughes is proprietor of most of the rectorial tithes. The glebe is 17 A. 2 R. 10. Edmund Topcliffe, in 1674, bequeathed a yearly rent-charge of £2. to be divided equally among the four parishes of Wroxham, Beccles, Hoveton St. John, and Salhouse, viz., £s. to the poor 4s. to the clergyman, and 10s. to the clerk of each parish, on New Year's day. He also left 10s. a year to repair the south aisle of Wroxham church, where he is interred.

Chapman John, wheelwright
Cobb Wm. joiner and wheelwright
Culling John, farmer
Dye James, grocer and draper
Goulder Christmas, farmer
Green James, maltster, brickmaker and lime burner
Holmes Rev. Richard, curate
Humphrey Rev. John
Meah and Mills, maltsters

Miles John, gentleman
Moore Wm. schoolmaster
Nease Stephen, vict. Castle
Roach Edw. day & boarding school
Shepherd John, shoemaker
Southwell Mrs. Margaret, Wroxham hall
Stevenson John, blacksmith
Steward Isaac, gent.
Utting Mrs. Sarah

MITFORD HUNDRED,

The most central division of Norfolk, comprehends an area of about ten miles in length and six in breadth, bounded on the north by Eynesford, on the east by Forehoe, on the south by Wayland, and on the west by South-Greenhoe and Launditch Hundreds. It formerly abounded in extensive commons, nearly the whole of which have been enclosed during the last forty years, so that it is now a highly cultivated and well wooded district. At the Domesday survey, it belonged to the monastery founded in the Isle of Ely, by Ethelfreda, a princess of East Angia; from which it passed to the See of Ely, with which it remained till granted to the Crown by an Act of Parliament in the first of Elizabeth. It has since passed to various lords. In 1775, an act was obtained for erecting an incorporated House of Industry for the reception of paupers from all the parishes in Mitford and Launditch Hundreds. This large Workhouse is situated at Gressingham; but in 1801, the large and populous parish of East Dereham obtained an act of separation, and has since established a house for its own poor. "THE HUNDRED OF MITFORD SOCIETY for promoting and rewarding good conduct and encouraging industrious habits amongst Servants, Cottagers, and Labourers," has been established several years, and is a very useful institution, supported by annual subscriptions, which are given in prizes to the most deserving, at the annual meeting held at Dereham, generally on the last Thursday in October. Mitford contains eighteen parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent.

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Cranworth	323	£1458	1,000	Thurston, or	83	£1120	1,300
Dereham (East) ..	3,913	9184	6,000	Thurston ..
* Dillington (Ham.)	38			South-Burgh	261	1,555	1,000
Garveston	333	973	750	Tuddenham (East)	267	2,350	2,000
Hardingham	501	3,319	2,500	Tuddenham (North)	389	2,957	2,200
Hockering	438	2,348	2,000	Westfield	127	577	530
Letton	133	1,410	1,000	Whitchurgh	212	1,784	1,230
Mattishall	1,093	2,989	2,200	Woodring	127	1,637	1,000
Mattishall-Burgh ..	210	847	533	Vaxham	501	2,676	1,540
Reymerston	209	2,179	1,500
Shipdham	1,826	6,638	4,500	Total	11,225	46,000	32,720

* Dillington is in Launditch Hundred, but in Dereham parish.

CRANWORTH is a pleasant but scattered village and parish, 2½ miles S.E. of Shipdham, and 16 miles W. by S. of Norwich. T. T. D. Gurdon, Esq., is the principal owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, which is now enjoyed by the Rev. Philip Gurdon, and is consolidated with Letton. The Church is a large structure, with a square tower, surmounted by a small wooden spire. In the chancel are several neat monuments to the Letton Hall Here was anciently a village called Sicathing, but it was depopulated several centuries ago.

Cobb Robert, cooper

Hall Dowson, wheelwright

Hammond John, blacksmith, and clerk of Cranworth and South-bergh

Gordon Rev. Philip, rector

Littleproud Robert, corn miller

Milk Matthew, shopkeeper

Saunders Susanna, schoolmistress

Webster Samuel, shopkeeper

Farmers.

Aylmer John

Coleman James

Kiddle James

Littleproud J.

Potter Elisha

Vincent —

EAST DEREHAM, or MARKET DEREHAM, is the most central, and one of the handsomest market towns in Norfolk, pleasantly situated on the east side of a rivulet, 16 miles W. by N. of Norwich, 12 miles E. by N. of Swaffham, and about 102 miles N. N. E. of London. The earliest account of it is in the time of the Saxons, when Withberga, a natural daughter of Anna, King of East Anglia, settled here, with some other virgins, in 650, and erected a nunnery, of which she became the first prioress. This convent was subject to the abbey founded by Ethelfreda, the legitimate daughter of King Anna, in the Isle of Ely. The nunnery being destroyed by the Danes, its church was made parochial in 798, though the convent was subsequently re-founded as an abbey, and at the dissolution, Roger Jarney, the last abbot, had a pension allowed him of £66. 13s. 4d., so that its annual revenues must have been very valuable. St Withburga, the first prioress, died in 655, and was first buried in the churchyard, at the west end of the church, where a chapel was erected over her tomb, but her body, being found "uncorrupted," in 798, was taken up and re-interred in the body of the church, where it remained till 974, when the abbot and monks of Ely, "out of extreme attachment to the sacred relic," concerted a scheme for stealing the body, and translating it to Ely, which they effected while the inhabitants were feasting in their guild hall. Before the men of Dereham could take any measures for its recovery, the body was enshrined at the east end of Ely cathedral. This theft is described by Eilensis as "a holy sacrilege,—a gross fraud,—a soul-saving robbery." From the original grave of the Princess, in the churchyard, a very fine spring of water issued after the removal of her body, and extraordinary miraculous powers were attributed to it, so that the good people of Dereham had some consolation for the loss of the body of the royal saint. Out of gratitude to her memory, and to perpetuate the virtues of the spring, the ruins of the tomb were repaired and converted into a bath, for public use, in 1752, again in 1786, and finally in 1793, when the present plain brick building, used as a bath-house, was erected by voluntary subscription. Tradition says that the nunnery here was so poor, at its institution, that the nuns were supported chiefly by two does, which came constantly to be milked at a certain time and place, until the bailiff of the town, "envying them this supply, most maliciously hunted them away with his hounds, and, as a just punishment upon him, he soon after broke his neck, as he was pursuing his favourite diversion of hunting."

The town was nearly destroyed by a dreadful fire in the reign of Elizabeth, as we learn from a book then published, and entitled

"An Account of the Late and Burning of East Derham, in the County of Norfolk, on July 1st, 1581," is verse printed in black letter. It was again almost destroyed by fire in the 21st of Charles II., on the 3rd of June, when five persons, 179 houses with a great number of horses and other cattle were consumed by the devastating element. The damage was estimated at £13,443. The town suffered much by the plague in 1646, and on April 1st 1810 four houses were destroyed by another conflagration. When the Bishop of Ely was Lord of the Hundred of Norfolk, he had a season house and a garden near the Market House, and held a court of gaol delivery yearly on the Tuesday after Palm Sunday. Before the year 1737 East Derham was supposed to be the dirtiest town in the county, the streets uneven and choked with filth, and on the spot where Sir Edmund Astley erected a handsome obelisk, was a pit of dirty water, serving as the drain of the parish. Near a brew-house was another manure drain, and a lane at the east end of the town, and another which led down to the church and the vicarage house were so narrow as scarcely to admit the passing of a carriage. Since that period, the streets have been levelled and well paved and drained by subscription, towards which Sir Robert Walsley, afterwards Earl of Orford, contributed largely, and presented to the community the work, he insisted the inhabitants to take with him, at his private seat, Houghton Park, where in their hilarity they so far forgot the pains of their hard labour as to sing in chorus a famous Jacobite song called, 'All Hail to Great Caesar.' Sir Robert, however, showed no displeasure at their proceedings, but sent them home highly pleased with their entertainment. The town now ranks as one of the handsomest in the county, consisting chiefly of a spacious market place, and several long streets, lined with neat modern houses and well-stocked shops. The market held every Friday is abundantly supplied with all kinds of provisions, corn, wine, &c. Here are also two annual fairs, on the Thursdays before July 6th and September 24th, for cattle, sheep, toys, &c. In 1756, two stone Assembly Rooms were built on the site of the Old Market Cross, forming a spacious brick building, in which the magistrates hold Petty Sessions for the Hundred on every alternate Friday. Messrs. R. and G. Cooper are clerks to the magistrates, and Mr. R. B. Seraggs is the deputy clerk. The numerous gardens and orchards in the vicinity of the town, are so prolific in fruit and vegetables, as to have obtained for Derham the name of the 'Garden of Norfolk.' The worsted trade formerly carried on here has long been obsolete, but here is an iron-foundry and an extensive brewery. Gas works are now forming here by Mr. Malam, with the consent of the land-owners and inhabitants, and a Horticultural Society was commenced in April, 1855.

The parish of East Derham (with the hamlet of Dillington in the Landitch Hundred) has increased its population since the year 1801 from 2,546 to 3,916 souls, and contains about 6,000 acres of fertile and highly cultivated land, extending more than one and a half mile round the town, and including within that distance many handsome mansions and the hamlets of Dillington, one mile N.W.; Dimpling Green, one mile S.E.; Etling Green, one and a half mile E.; North-hall Green, one mile N.E.; South Green, half a mile S.

and Toftwood, one and a half mile S. of Dercham. The Common was inclosed about the year 1810, when several allotments were awarded to the poor for fuel and pasturage. The land-owners are W. W. Lee-Warner, Esq., F. Wilson, Esq., Rev. F. H. Wollaston, Mr. D. Long, and several others; but the following are lords of the manors viz., Edmund Cooper, Esq., of East Dereham of the Queen; A. Peyton, Esq. of Old-hall-with-Syrricks and Gayhem, Rev. F. H. Wollaston, of the Rectory manor; and James Gooch, Esq., of Mowles manor. The first named manor was so-called in reference to Queen Elizabeth, who obtained it in exchange from the Bishop of Ely, in consequence of a violent threat, she swearing by her Maker she would soon "unfrock him," if he refused her request. The Old-hall manor was given by this queen to her unfortunate favourite the Earl of Essex. This parish was incorporated with the Hundreds of Mitford and Launditch, for the support of paupers in the House of Industry at Gressenhall, but it was separated from this union by an act of Parliament, obtained in 1801, soon after which the present substantial Poor-house was erected about half a mile east of the town, adjoining the Norwich road, where Mr. John Leverett is the governor. The disbursements for the support of the poor amounted, in 1833, to £3,782; in 1834, to £2,914, and in 1835, to £2,814. Dillington forms a distinct constablowick, but maintains its poor jointly with the rest of the parish. QUEBEC HOUSE, three quarters of a mile N. of the town, was built by the late Mr. Rash, who gave it the name it bears, in compliment to Lord Townshend, who was second in command at the siege of Quebec. It was originally small, but has been enlarged at various periods, and is now an extensive and beautiful Gothic mansion, with a verdant park and tastefully laid-out pleasure grounds. It is now the seat and property of William Wilson Lee-Warner, Esq.

The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Nicholas, is a very ancient structure, and built in the collegiate style; it is supported by pillars of various forms, some being round, and others octangular. It has in the middle a steeple, open to the body of the church, after the manner of the old cathedrals, on the top of which hangs a bell, called the Saint's bell; it has four chapels, two on the north, and two on the south side. The roof of St. Edmund's chapel is ornamented with the arms of Ely, and at the upper end stands a very antique chest, in which are deposited the records of the church; it is of curious workmanship, above four hundred years old, and was taken out of the ruins of Burkenham Castle, and presented to the church in 1786. At the end of the church is a fine piece of antiquity, the baptismal font, erected in 1468, adorned with carvings in stone, representing the seven sacraments of the Church of Rome, figures of the Apostles, &c. It is seven feet high, and before it is a brass eagle. A strong quadrangular steeple or tower stands in the churchyard, and contains eight musical bells. This pile, detached at the distance of twenty yards from the chancel, was built by subscription between the years 1508 and 1520, when the tower in the centre of the church, being thought too weak for the bells, was partly taken down. The church is handsomely pewed, and has a good organ, built by Schmidt, a German, and purchased of a poor widow for £30, about the year 1786. In 1827, the power of this instrument was considerably enlarged. Here are many handsome mural monuments; one of which is in memory of Wm. Cowper, Esq., the poet, who was born in Hertfordshire in 1732, and died at East Dereham, in 1800, in a house in the Market place, then occupied by the Rev. Dr. Johnson, but now the residence of Mr. G. Cooper, solicitor. The poet's friend, Mrs. Unwin, relict of the Rev. W. C. Unwin, died in the same house, in 1796. The benefice of East Dereham is both rectorial and vicarial, and is valued in K. B. at £41. 3s. 1d. It is consolidated with Hoe, in Launditch Hundred, and is held on lease, from the crown, by the Rev. Fras. Hales Wollaston, the present rector, who has also the advowson of the vicarage, now enjoyed by the Rev. Chas. Hyde Wollaston. No duty of residence is required of the rector, though he derives from the parish upwards of £500 a year. Here are three dissenting places of worship; viz., the Independent Chapel, on the London road, built in 1812, and enlarged in 1816; the Baptist Chapel, on the Norwich road, erected by subscription, a few years ago; and the Methodist Chapel, in Theatre-street, built in 1824.

SCHOOLS AND CHARITIES.—In 1785, two Sunday schools were established here, principally through the exertions of the late Lady Fenn, whose eminent abilities were often displayed, in teaching "the young idea how to shoot." Here are now four Sunday schools, attached to the church and chapels; and in Baxter's row, is a National School, attended by 120 children, and endowed with an allotment of 10 acres of land, awarded at the enclosure, and now let for £19. In 1634, Christopher Gooch left land, now let for £40 a year, to fifty-poor of five parishes; viz., 36 shares to East Dereham, 7 to Hoe, 3 to North Elmham, 3 to Burston, and 1 to Worthing. The poor of Dereham have also other benefactions, producing about £148 per annum, of which £12 arises from a house and land, left by Aaron Williamson, in 1710; £13. 10s. 7d. from property left by, Edmund Williamson, in 1721; £9. 17s. 4d., left by Henry Smith in 1626, and the remainder from several smaller bequests. Here is also an estate for repairing and ornamenting the church, now let for £165 12s. per annum; and another, called the Headboro' Estate, let for £76. 2s. a year, employed in repairing the public pumps, water courses, Assembly rooms, &c.

The Theatre gives name to the street in which it stands, and was erected in 1815, by Mr. David Smith, the late manager. It is neatly fitted up, and, at the usual prices, will hold about £50.

Among the eminent personages connected with East Dereham, was the poet Cowper, already noticed, and the late Lady Fenn, (relict of Sir John Fenn,) who died here in 1813, after a residence of several years. Under the feigned names of Mrs. Lovechild and Mrs. Teachwell, she wrote "The Child's Grammar," "The Mother's Grammar," "The Family Miscellany," and several other elementary works of considerable merit. Edward Bonner, of sanguinary memory, was rector of this parish from 1534 to 1540, after which he became Bishop of London, and is said to have caused upwards of 200 persons to be burnt, for what he erroneously considered heresy.—John Winter, a rector of more worthy memory, was author of "Spicilegium," published in 1664. Thomas Crowe Munnings, another clerical writer, was author of "An Account of Experiments in Drilling and Protecting Turnips," together with other agricultural observations, published in 1803.

EAST DERHAM DIRECTORY.

Post Office. Church-street, Miss Sarah Bone, Postmistress.—Letters from London and all parts of the South and West, arrive by a Mail G. g. from Thetford, at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 mng., and are despatched at 1 before 5 aft. The Mail from Norwich, Yarmouth, &c., arrives at 7 evng., and departs at 4 mng., to Lynn, Grantham, Birmingham, &c. A Horse Post is despatched to North Elmham, Holt, Cley, Blakeney, &c., at 15 minutes before 9 mornng., and returns at 25 minutes past 4 afternoon.

The CONTRACTIONS for names of streets, &c., are Brw. for Baxter row; Cst Church st.; Dst Duke st.; Hln. Hall lane; Mkp. Market place; Mln. Mill lane; Nrd Norwich road; Rpl. Russell place; Tst Theatre st.; Twd Toftwood; Lrd. London road; Egn Ething green; Ngn. North-hall green.

Andrews Thomas, gent. Mill ln.
Ashley Mrs. Charlotte, South gn.
Balls Hy hard & small ware dr
Hall lane

Banyard Mrs Cath. Baxter row
Barham Geo waiter, Church st.
Broom Mr Stephen, Duke street
Brown Mrs M Ann, Russell pl.
Buck Wm gent. The Cottage,
London road

Craig Robt tea dealer, Duke st.
Dack Mrs Mary P Duke street
Deeks Sl clogger, &c. Baxter's r
Deighton Mrs Wm Duke street
Ellis Mrs Ann, Norwich road
Ellden B. rope mkr. Norwich rd.
Ellay G. hark, wire worker, &c.,
Baxter row

Ething ls coach mkr &c., Nrd
Lambrother Rev Rd, In f Rpl
Foster Mrs Mary G Baxter's r
Frost Mrs Eliz Theatre street
Frost Rev Wm, The Dale

Girling Barry, Esq. Humbleton
house

Goach James Esq Market hill
Green John, cooper, Baxter's row
Grounds Mr Nicks Baxter's row
Hardy Jas mawright, Toftwood
Harvey Mr Thos South green
Howard Abm. cutler Market pl.
Howlett Mr Ed G Baxter's row

Academies.

* Luke Ironmongers
Bottomey Hy Hln
* Buck Joseph, Brw.
Duck Elizabeth, Tst.

Fox Mary, Church st

* Grapes Misses,
Shrubland lodge,
Norwich road

Ingleton Mrs. Norwich road
Juby Wm, eating house, Duke st.
Johnson Mr Abm. South green
Kent John, horse breaker, N rd.
Lee-Warner William Wilson,
Esq., Quebec

Levere t John, gov. workhouse
Lloyd Mr Henry, Norwich road
Lulman Mrs Mary, Baxter's row
Lulman Chas architect & land surveyor, Norwich road

Marben Mr Edw London road
Masson W. atty & clk Russell pl
Pace Mr John Russell place
Pond Mrs. Mary Market hill.

Pulford John, sq. surveyor Lrd
Reeve Mrs, Norwich road

Riches Mrs Mary, Church street
Sands Mr Jph Baxter's row

Scholes Jacob, hat mtr Brw
Scrapps Robt. Reester, assessor of taxes, and Magistrates and vestry clerk, London road

Smith Mr. John, Church yard

Smith Thos Esq near Church st.

Street My broker & hatter, Mkp.

Taylor Eaz clothes broker, Mkp.

Webster, Mr Francis Market pl.

Wells Elijan, dyer, Baxter's row

Wollaston Rev C Hyde vicar

Woods Daniel Esq, Market hill

Wright Miss Patience Russell st

* Harvey Mary Ann,
Heath House

* Kurbell Eliz Nrd
National, Geo Philo
Stunkley Thood Bw.

Tooley Lucy, Tat.
•Williams Rev. John,
Norwich road
Attorneys.

Cooper Edm. & Geo.
Church street
Drake William Cst.
Goldson Jas. Duke st.
Hackham Wm. Bartell, Norwich road
Auctioneers, &c.

Burch Richard Nrd.
Chambers, W. Htling
green

King John, Church st.
Mann John Rolfe, &
land agent, Tat.

Ward Danl. Mill ln.
Bakers & Flour Dirs.
Banyard Matthias &
Chas. Baxter's rw.

Catton Wm. Mkktpl.
Nuthall David, Brw.
Parker Thomas, Dst.

Rix Edw. Church st.
Townsend Geo. Nrd.
Warner Thos. Brw.

Willmott Kirby, Cst.
Wilson Thos. Hall ln.
Banks.

Gurneys & Co.; J. G.
Wigg, agent, Baxter's row, (draw on Barclay and Co.)

Norfolk and Norwich
Joint Stock Co.; agents, Ostler and Gidney, Market pl.

(draw on Master-man & Co.)
Basket & Stone Mfrs.

Park Philip, Nrd.
Secker John, Mkp.
Tungate, Stpn. Mkp.

Blacksmiths.
Coleman Nathl. Cst.
Deck Chas. Toftwood

Dunn Stepn. Hall ln.
Dunn Terrey, Brw.
Hill Wm. Dump. gn.

Hudson Jno. Duke st.
Rust John, Duke st.
Wells Hasc, Nrd.

Booksellers, &c.

Asbass & Langton,
Market place
Berker Peter, (liby.
& stamps) Mkp.

Boot & Shoe Makers
Barker Charles, Cst.
Barton Lewis, Mkp.

Carr Rt. Baxter's row
Carr Wm. Duke st.
Cobb John, Brw.

Dunn George Brw.
Girling George, Nrd.
Philo Charles, (parish clerk,) Church st.

Rix Thos. Church st.
Sandall John, Brw.
Trotter Jno. B. Mkp.

Brassiers & Tanners
*Marked * are Iron-* mngers & Coppersmiths.

Brock Robert, Brw.
•Elsy Wm. Church st.
•Smith Wm. Brw.

Brewers & Malsters.
Bidwell Saml. (exors. of,) South green

Cooper Wm. Brw.
Maris Jas. Duke st.
Parke James, Nrd.

Wigg Wright, Brw.
Bricklayers.
Jackson Michl. Brw.

Larner Saml. Tat.
Parker John, Nrd.
Parker Thomas, Cst.

Brickmakers.
Parker John, Cst.
Wigg John Goddard,
Baxter's row

Butchers.
Bayfield Wm. Brw.
Cooper James, Brw.

Frost Charles, Brw.
Gilding William, Dst.
Laws Robert, Nrd.

Neale Israel, Cst.
Nicholson Jas. Brw.
Regement Wright,
Hall lane

Stanford Phoebe, Baxter's row

Cabinet Makers.

•are Upholsterers.

•Eastoe Wm. Brw.
Meal Wm. Hall lane
•Riches Robt. Mkp.

Selle Thos. Jas. Brw.
Chemists & Druggists.
Abram Joseph, Mkp.

Nicholson Edw. Mkp.
Sands Sarah, Brw.
China, Glass &c Dirs

Barton Lewis, Mkp.
Bowen Paul, Mkp.
Martin Ann, Brw.

Confectioners.
Abbignl Edw. Brw.
Horstead Jane Ann,
Market place

Humphreys Hannah
Baxter's row
Parker Ths. Duke st.

Rix Emily, Brw.
Rust Elizabeth, Dst.
Corn Millers

Chapling Wm. Mln
Tallent John, TwJ
Curriers, &c

Ramsdale Thos. Dst.
Read Burrows, Nrd.
White Eliz. Nrd.

Farmers
Bales William, TwJ Banyard Charles, (exors. of,) Etling gn

Beckham Jas. Egn.
Brookbank Jno. Bad-ley moor

Brown T., Dillington
Chambers Wm. Egn.
Cooper Charles, Ngn.

Emma John, Neat
herd moor
Haze Edward, Ngn

Large John, Ngu.
Long David, (yeoman) Dillington ls.

Mack James, Ngn.
Matthews Benj. Egn.
Matthews John, Egn.

Matthews Wm. Ngn.
Miller John, Park
Norton James, Egn.

Read John, Dump gn.

- Rix Jas. Badley mr.
 Smith John, Ngn.
 T'ting Wm. Hall hill
 Wigg Wright, Sgrn.
Fire and Life Offices.
 Atlas, J. Guldson, Dst.
 County J. Parker,
 Norwich road
 Crown, J. R. Mann,
 Theatre street
 Equitable (Norwich)
 Wm. Scraggs, Mkp.
 Globe, Wm. Drake,
 Church street
 Norwich Union, Ostler and Gidney, and
 Cooper and Reeve,
 Market-place
 Royal Exc. Wm. B.
 Rackham, Nrd.
 Suffolk, Sarah Bone,
 Church street
Fishmongers.
 Skinner John, Brw.
 Whitred Wm. Cst.
Gardeners.
 Barkway Jas. Brw.
 Coggie Geo. Brw.
 Cooper Henry, Brw.
 Greenacre Robt. Nrd.
 Moore James, Nrd.
Grocers and Drapers.
 Balls Henry, Hall ln.
 Bullimore Wm. Mark,
 (& stockg. mfr.) Dst.
 Francis John, Cst.
 George John, Brw.
 Hart Thos. Grounds,
 Baxter's row
 Page Thomas in, (and chandler) Mkp.
 Wigg Jno. Goddard,
 Baxter's row
Gunsmiths
 Goshawk Thos. Red
 Lion square
 Hambling Thomas &
 Robert, Norwich rd.
 Nicholson Fras Brw.
Horses and Gigs to Hire.
 Bond Thomas, Nrd.
 Carr Samuel, Brw.
- Rix Thos. Church st.
 Sheman James, Brw.
 Wells John, Brw.
Inns and Taverns.
 Bell, Robert Catch-pole, Etling green
 Bull, James Sheman,
 Baxter's row
 Chequers, Chas. Secker, Hall ln.
 Cherry Tree, Wm.
 Scales, Theatre st.
 Cock, James Leggatt,
 Norwich road
 Duke of York, James
 Maria, Duke street
 Eagle Inn, Jno. Rump,
 Market place
 George Inn, Edmund
 Howlett, Markt hl.
 Golden Ball, Samuel
 Emms, South grn.
 Green Man, Jonas
 Godrd. Wigg, Brw.
 Half Moon, William
 Rix, Market place
 Jolly Farmers, Wm.
 Hill, Dump. grn.
 King's Arms Inn &
 Excise Office, Chs.
 Howard, Mrkt. pl.
 King's Head, James
 Parke, Norwich rd.
 Light Horse, Henry
 Cooper, Brw.
 Lord Nelson, John
 Wells, Baxter's rw
 Red Lion, Wm. Co-
 per, Red Lion sq.
 Red Lion, Edward
 Parfitt, Etling grn
 Rose, Wm. Hardy,
 Baxter's row
 Swan, James Barker,
 London road
 White Lion, John
 Bails, Church st.
Beerhouses.
 Gill Robert, Nrd.
 Greenacre Robt. Nrd.
 Lark John, Tw'd. com.
 Milk Wm Tw'd. com.
 Stokley Sarah, Mkp.
- Tulley Thos. Brw.
 Wells Hase, Nrd.
 Whitred Wm Cst.
 Wilson Joph Hall ln
Ironfounders, &c
 Hambling Thomas &
 Robt. (brass) Nrd.
 Ostler & Gidney, Mkp.
Milliners, &c
 Bell Ann, Church st.
 Goodrick Ann, Brw.
 Nuthall, Eliz. Brw.
 Rix Eliz. Church st.
Nursery, Seedsman, and Florist.
 Moore W. Norwich rd.
*Painters, Plumbers,
 and Glaziers.*
 Edwards Jos. Mkp.
 Margetta Geo. Nrd.
 Mayes Geo. Duke st.
 Ward Thomas, Brw.
Perfumers and Hair Dressers.
 Blade Mary, Brw.
 Minns John, (jeweller & toy dir.) Mkp.
 Paul Alex. Tst.
 Smith Wm. Brw.
 Yeomans Thos. Mkp.
Saddlers.
 Girling John, Mkp.
 Johnson Fras. Mkp.
 Nicholson Gdrd. Brw.
Sheriff's Officers.
 Greenacre Jas. Nrd.
 Ward Danl. Mill ln.
Shopkeepers, &c
 Bottomley Ann, Hln.
 Bowen Paul, Mkp.
 Claxton Robt. Brw.
 Dack Paul, Brw.
 Kerrison Chas. Mkp.
 Palmer John, Cst.
 Wellmont Hlt. Cst.
Stone Masons.
 Bottomley Geo. Brw.
 Newell Wm. Nrd.
Strau Hat Makers.
 Carr Ann D. Brw.
 Cobb Mary, Brw.
 Christmas My. Back row

Surgeons.
 Parkerson Burrell,
 Mill lane
 Pillans Wm. Brw.
 Warrup Wm. Mark,
 Baxter's row

Tailors.

* are Drapers also.

Balls Jas. Theatre st.
 *Bates Saml. Mkp.
 Brunton Benj. Nrd.
 Carr Jas. Lion sq.
 Carr Saml. Brw.
 Dunn John, Brw.
 Dunn Woodhouse, Dst
 Green James, Brw.
 *James John, Mkp.
 Mayes Boyden, Brw.
 *Ofield John, Brw.
 Skerrett Wm. Brw.
 *Smith Wm. Mkp.
 Willimont Hwlt. Cst.
 *Wright Cook & Ts.

Baxter's row

Veterinary Surgeons.
 Carter Rd. Nrd.

Rump Geo. Jas. Mkp.

Watch & Clock Mfrs.

Ayers Thos. Brw.

Boyce Saml. H. Dst.

Edwards Bentt. Cst.

Wenham D. Mkt. hill

Wheelwrights.

Farrar John, Ngn.

Wells Rt. Hase, Nrd.

Whitesmiths, &c.

Hambling Thos. and Robt. (and patent

 axletree, fencing,
 &c. mfrs.) N. road

Wine & Spirit Merts.

Bidwell Sl (exors. of)

South green

Cooper Mattw. (exors.

of,) Market place

Francis John, Cst.

Mann Ja. Norwich rd.

Norton Nehmh. Mkp.

COACHES.

From the King's Arms.

The Mail, to Lynn,
 Birmingham, &c. 7
 evg. and to Norwich,
 &c. at 4 mng.

The Day, to Lynn,
 at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 6 evg., and to Norwich, $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 11 mg.

The Union, to Lynn,
 8 mg., & to Norwich,
 $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 6 evg. (except Sunday)

From the Eagle Inn.

The Regulator, to London, by Watton,
 &c., Mon. Wed. and
 Fri. $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 7 mng.; and to Holt, Tue. Thu. &
 Sat. 7 evg.

The Self Defence,
 to Norwich, evy. Mon.
 Wed. & Sat. 8 mng.

CARRIERS.

London from Holt,
 (Green Man) Green
 & Archer's Van, Mon. and Thu., ret. Tue. &
 Friday.

Castle Acre to Norwich, (Eagle Inn,)

Edwards, Wed., ret.
 Thursday.

Downham to Norwich, (Eagle Inn,)
 Carter, Wed. mng.,
 ret. Thursday.

Heacham to Norwich, (Lord Nelson,)
 Ts. Sapey, Fri. —

Lynn & Norwich,
 (King's Head,) Thos.
 Betts, Wed. & Fri.

Norwich, (King's Head,) post cart, at nine mng. daily, except Sunday; John
 Ostler, (Back In,) Tu.
 Thurs. & Sat. 4 mng.; Abm. Carter, (Church street,) and G. Dack and G. Farrow, (Baxter's row,) Tue. and
 Fri. evng.

Swaffham to Norwich, (Lord Nelson,)
 Wm. Good, Wed., ret.
 Friday.

Thetford & Watton,
 (Red Lion,) Mail Gig,
 daily; & Abm. Woolsey, Tue. & Fri. mg.

Wells, Fakenham,
 &c., (Lord Nelson,)
 Wm. Raven, Fri. 11
 morning.

Wymondham and Hingham, (Lord Nelson,) Newman, Fri.

GARVESTON, commonly called Garston, is a small village and parish, on the Hingham road, 5 miles S.S.E. of East Dereham, comprising only 333 inhabitants and about 750 acres of land. Edw. Lombe, Esq., is lord of the manor, but part of the soil belongs to other freeholders. "The right of lord of this manor was decided in the time of King Edward, by the tenants in single combat." The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Margaret, has a very ancient carved font, and four bells. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 16s. Sir Wm. Clayton, Bart. is the patron, and the Rev. A. P. Clayton is the incumbent. At the enclosure, in 1810, seven acres were allotted to the poor, who have also £18 a-year, from a house and land bequeathed by Barbara Lock, in 1685; '0s. from land left by John Rix; 29s. 4d. from £30 left by Barnard Church, in 1685;

£4. 10s. yearly, from the bequest of Wm. Blanchflower; and a rent-charge of 10s. left by Wm. Mountain.

Culpitt Wm. shopkeeper	Springhall Rt. miller & baker
Fox Geo. blacksmith	Farmers.
Jarvis Ann, vict. White Horse	Chapling Edm. Richardson J
Parsley Hy. tailor & shopkeeper	Daynes Abm. Stringer Wm.
Sparke Jas. butcher & vict. King's Arms	Hubbard John Waldon Sarah

HARDINGHAM is a parish of scattered houses, comprising the hamlets of Flockthorpe and Low Street, and extending from $1\frac{1}{2}$ to $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. by E. of Hingham. It contains 560 inhabitants, and 2500 acres of land, of which 300 were enclosed in 1821. The principal land-owners are Lord Wodehouse, J. F. Woodyear, Esq., Mrs. Edwards, and some others. Here are the manors of Camois, Gurneys, and Swathings. The Church, dedicated to St. George, is a rectory valued in K. B. at £15. 3s. 4d. The patronage is in Clarendon Hall, Cambridge, and the Rev. John Evans is the incumbent. The only house near the Church is the rectory, rebuilt in 1834. The large mansion here, lately the seat of the Woodyear family, is now unoccupied. The poor have four yearly rent-charges; viz., 20s. left by Christopher Adcock, in 1705, and three of 10s. each, left by Wm. Mountain, and John and Thos. Cushings. In the following Directory, those marked 1, are at Flockthorpe; and 2, are at Low Street.

2 Alcock Jn. & Rbn. carpenters	Tingay & Taylor, corn millers
1 Capps Hartt, wheelwright	Farmers.—* are Yeomen.
1 Dye Wm. schoolmaster	* Allen Wm. Goldson John
Edwards Mrs. Lucy, Hardingham Hall	Baily Geo. 1 Haystead Wm.
Evans Rev. John, rector	Bayes John Holditch Fras.
1 Goldson Geo. beer house	Bennett John Morley Wm.
Rose Hy. vict. Bird-in-Hand	Brown Mark 1 Rayson Thos.
2 Thurling Benj. blacksmith	Carter Joseph Rose Reuben
Thurling Wm. beer house	Duffield Wm. *Smith Thos.
	Garwood Wm. *Waters John

HOCKERING village stands on a declivity of the Norwich road, 5 miles E. of East Dereham, and includes within its parish 438 inhabitants, and about 2,000 acres of land, mostly the property of Thomas Trench Berney, Esq., lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Michael, and is a rectory valued in K. B. at £7. 3s. 4d., now consolidated with Mattishall-Burgh, and enjoyed by the Rev. C. J. Howman. This was the principal manor in the ancient barony of Rye, and was formerly held by the Mareschals, Rochelues, and Parkers. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here. The six lots of poor's land, left by Mrs. Repps, and five unknown donors, were let in 1786 for £4. 12s. 6d., and the poor have also a rent charge of 9s., left by Wm. Mountain.

Bayes James, shoemaker	Howman Rev. Edw. John, rector
Breese Benj. saddler	Huggins Hy. wheelrt. & blksmith.
Bush John, bricklayer	Isbell Charles, butcher
Clarke Mary, vict. Cork	Mack Emilus, butcher
Hatley Wm. baker	Mendham Wm. beer house
Haylet Saml. shopkeeper	Nelson Leonard, carpenter

Nelson Wm. gamekeeper	Leveredge Wm.	Perowne Wm.
Ramm John, wheelwright	Nelson James	Thompson Geo.
Ramm Robt. parish clerk	Ollett Danl.
Watkins Jacob, beer house	The Coaches, Mail cart, &c. from
Farmers.	Hook John	Norwich to Dereham, Lynn,
Dead Esther	Land Jno. Roper	&c. pass through Hockering.

LETTON is a parish of dispersed houses, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile E.S.E. of Shipdham, and 6 miles S. of East Dereham, containing 133 inhabitants, and 1,000 acres of rich land, famous for milk and butter as early as the reign of Elizabeth, and all belonging to Theophilus Thornaugh Dillingham Gurdon, Esq., who resides in the HALL, a handsome quadrangular mansion of white brick, seated in an extensive and well wooded park. He is patron of the rectory, which is valued in K. B. at £7. 14s. 7d., and was consolidated with Cranworth in the 38th of Henry VIII. The Rev. Philip Gurdon is the incumbent. The CHURCH was dilapidated many years ago, and its site is now marked by a plantation, on the south side of the park. The farmers are James Goddard, John Hook, and Edward and Filby Stebbing.

MATTISHALL is a large and well built village and parish, 5 miles E. by S. of East Dereham, and 11 miles W. of Norwich, comprising 1093 inhabitants, and 2,200 acres of land, of which about 900 were inclosed in 1801. It is in several MANORS:—Sir W. R. Clayton is lord of Whinburgh; Lord Wodehouse, of Thuxton-Hall and Barnham-Broom; Edward Lombe, Esq., of Thuxton-Waces; Lord Bayning of East Tuddenham-Cockfields; T. T. Berney, Esq., of Hockering, and Mattishall-Tuddenham; T. B. Evans, Esq., of North Tuddenham-St. Clere and Bellhouse-hall; and E. and G. Cooper, Esqrs., of Mountneys. The CHURCH, dedicated to All Saints, stands on an eminence in the centre of the village, and is a large Gothic pile, with six bells and a lofty tower. The living is a discharged vicarage, valued in K. B. at £7. 7s. 3½d., in the patronage of Gonvill and Caius College, Cambridge, to which the corn tithes belong. It is consolidated with the rectory of Pattesley, in the incumbency of the Rev. Thomas Paddon. The vicarage was augmented, in 1738, with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, and £200 given by the Rev. Edward Brook. The rectory was augmented with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1741 and 1744, and £200 given by the Bishop in 1742. Pattesley is rated to the poor, &c., of Oxwick, in Launditch Hundred, but pays a modus of £8. 8s. in lieu of tithe, to the incumbent of Mattishall. The Independents, Society of Friends, and the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have chapels here. John Carter, Independent Minister of Mattishall, published a volume of sermons, in 1774, and the "Reviewer Reviewed," in 1781. At the inclosure, 55A. 4P. of land were allotted to the poor for fuel, and is now let for £52. 9s. per annum. About the year 1558, Thomas and Robert Harleston left to the poor 15A. 6P. of land, to which an allotment of 19A. 38P. was awarded at the inclosure, and the whole is now let for £55. 2s. 3d. per annum, given in clothing. The poor have also a yearly rent charge of 17s., left by Wm. Mountain. In 1689, Mary Thornton left, for clothing to the poor of Mattishall and Mattishall-Burgh, a house and land, now let for £15 per annum. In 1569, Margaret Harleston, wife of Archbishop Parker, bequeathed to Mattishall a yearly rent charge of 50s., to be paid by the Bishop of Ely, at the GANT FAIR, held here on the Tuesday in Rogation week, viz. 8s for a sermon, 2s to the clerk, and the remainder to the poor. This fair had its name (Gant or Gang) from its being formerly a meeting for the perambulation of the bounds of the parish. It is now a pleasure mart, much resorted to by the young people of the neighbourhood. Before the introduction of machinery, Mattishall was largely engaged in the worsted trade.

Barrett Mrs. Matilda Elizabeth
Bilham Jas. shoemaker
Blomfield Mrs. Sarah
Christmas Mr. Samuel
Donne Wm. gent. South green
Fisher Wm. horse breaker
Godfrey Clement, sen. cooper
Harmer Wm. shoemkr. & shopkr.
Horn Wm. tailor & draper
Hoy Dam. Jno. & Jno. watchmrs.
King Mr. Samuel
Lewin Fras. maltster
Mendham Wm. parish clerk
Moore Henry, brewer

Nove Joseph, cooper
Paddon Rev Thomas, vicar
Porter Mr. Wm
Randall Robt. bricklayer & mkr.
Webster John Edgerton, gent.
Webster Wm. brickmkr & builder
White Wm. gardener
Wilson Rev Thos W. (Ind.)
Wise Thos. working maltster
INNS AND TAVERNS.
Cross Keys (empty)
George, Wm. Walton
Swan Inn, Richard Carter

Academies.
Kittle Jno. bdg.
Norton, Mitw.
Petchell Eliz.
Bakers.
Hatton Jonth.
Leamon John.
Sly James
Beer Houses.
Culyer Wm.
Gaskin Chas.
Holmes Rich.
Blacksmiths.
Flegg Henry
Howlett My.
Whitred Edw.
Butchers.
Bultitude Jas
Fisher Chas.
Randall Thos.
Carpenters.
Atkins Wm.

Gaskin Chas.
Randall Lud.
Walton Wm.
Corn Millers.
Bilham Thos.
Howe John
Leamon John
Farmers.
* are yeomen.
Bruton Wm.
*Culyer Geo.
Edwards Chas.
Edwards Edw.
Godfrey Clt.
Goldsmith Jno.
Green Chas.
Harrison Mitw.
Sendall Edw.
*Sendall Mony.
Tice Wm.
Tofts James
*Vassar Chas.

Yull Mitw
Grocers and Drapers.
Browne Robt.
Cocker Rd.
Fisher Wm.
Kessler Jn. & Rt.
(& ironmgs.)
Plmrs. Painters and Glaziers.
Hubbard John

Pointers Geo.
Saddlers
Lark Wm.
Mendham John
Thyone Robt.
Surgeons
Brunton & Owen
Daveney Horace
Wheelwrights.
Clarke Fras.
Dobbs Wm.

Postman, John Gilbert, to and from Dereham daily
Lawn's post cart to Norwich at half-p. 9 mng., and to Dereham at half-past 6 evng. except Sunday.
Carriers—Raynes Howes, and Fras. Philo to Norwich, Wed. and Sat. 4 mornng.

MATTISHALL BURGH, 1 mile N.E. of Mattishall, and 12 miles W. of Norwich, is a parish with three farm houses, several dispersed cottages, 210 inhabitants, and 553 acres of land, lying in the parishes of Whinburgh, Mattishall, Tuddenham, and Bellhouse-Hall; but the soil belongs chiefly to the Bishop of Ely, Mr. Spark, and Messrs Norton. The Church is a rectory united with Hockering, and valued in K. B. at £3 15s. 10d. T. T. Berney, Esq. is the patron, and the Rev. Edward John Howman the incumbent. Besides a share of the charities noticed with Mattishall, the poor have a cottage, left by Mr. Barnham. Mr. Robert Norton occupies his own land, and the other farms are occupied by Charles Wright and Robt. Cunningham. (Enclosure, 1811.)

REYMERSTON is a small neat village of detached houses, on the East Dereham road, 3 miles N. of Hingham. The parish contains 299 inhabitants, and 1596 acres of land, half of which belongs to T. T. D. Gurdon, Esq. the lord of the manor, (called Catoctly Hall,) and patron of the Church, (St. Peter,) which is a rectory valued in K. B. at £11. 3s. 6d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. P. Gurdon. At the enclosure, in 1796, an allotment of 14a. was awarded to the poor for coals. They have also a piece of old poor's land, let for £2. 5s.; and 12a. a year from the bequests of W. Mountain, and an unknown donor.

Brown Jas. Turner Graver, Esq.

The Hall

Burns Abraham, wheelwright

Good John, bricklayer

Hood James, joiner

Jessup Joseph, vict. & shoemaker,

Black Horse

Moore Abraham, blacksmith

Morley Jas. blacksmith, & whrlgt.

Smith Rev. Geo. Wm, curate

Watson Royal, shoemaker

White John, beerhouse & shop

Farmers.

Clark Charles

Clark Robert

Hugh Daveney

Hubbard Stpu.

Lock John

Mandham Thos.

Pyman Robert

Staines William

SHIPDHAM is an extensive village, with many neat modern houses detached from each other, and extending upwards of a mile in length, 5 miles S. by W. of East Dereham; but the parish extends within two miles of that town, and is 5 miles long, containing 4500 acres, and having increased its population since the year 1801, from 1250 to 1895 souls. The Bishop of Ely, who built a great hall here, obtained in the 29th of Henry III., a charter for a weekly market on Thursday, and a fair on St. Peter and St. Paul's day; but the former has long been obsolete, and the latter is now a stock fair, held on the 29th and 30th of June. The Cambridge University's manor of Caston Hall, T. T. Eadlington, Esq.'s manor of Masingham; and W. Birch, Esq.'s manor of Bonnetts-and-Bayleys, extend into this parish; but the principal land-owners are W. Birch, Esq., T. T. Clark, Esq., Misses Bullock, and the Rev. Benj. Barker. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a large, handsome fabric, with a strong embattled tower and six bells. The interior is neatly pewed, and has several neat monuments to the Bullock, Lane, Deval, and other families. The benefice is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £27. 7s. 6d., and is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. Benjamin Barker. Here are three Chapels belonging to the Independents, and the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists. The Free School, was founded in 1735, by Thomas Bullock, Esq., who endowed it with land, which, with an allotment awarded at the enclosure, in 1807, now consists of 40 acres, let for £60 per annum, for which the master teaches from 50 to 120 free scholars. The Messrs Bullock are trustees. The poor have four yearly rent-charges, viz £6 left by Robt. James, and Burrage Martin, in 1656. The John Rawling, in 1706; 40s. by Thomas Masters, in 1711. and by Wm. Mountain.

Post Office at the West end; Miss Sarah Mendham, Post Mistress. The Mail from London by Thetford, to East Dereham, &c. arrives at $\frac{1}{2}$ p 8 morning, and returns at 5 afternoon.

Marked 1, are at East end; 2, in Market-street; 3, at West end; 4, Hingham road; and 5, near the Church.

2 Adcock Saml. wick. & clk. mkr.
5 Barker Rev Benjamin, rector
5 Bullock Misses, D. C. and M.
2 Bunnett Samuel, druggist
5 Burr James, veterinary surgeon
5 Butcher John, gentleman
5 Catton Mrs. Ellen
2 Clark Thomas, poulterer
2 Clarke John, wheelwright
1 Coker Fuller, jun. horse dealer
3 Denisley Thomas, chyrpodist, & medical. botanical, & veterinary surgeon

1 Farrar Mr. John
3 Fulcher Joseph, cattle dealer
1 Grant Gregson, horse dealer
4 Hall Mr. George
2 Harwood Samuel, shopkeeper
2 Hughes Rev. Hugh P. (Ind.)
3 Mendham Thomas, parish clerk, and agent to the Norwich Union Fire Office
5 Morris Samuel, brewer, & wine and spirit merchant
3 Oldfield Mrs. Ann
4 Payne Mr. George
3 Skinner Sarah, straw hat mkr.
4 Tinkler Mr. Henry
2 White Maria, dressmaker
Inns and Taverns.
3 Cricket Players, Rd. Mulley
3 Crown, John Stagg
5 Dog Inn, Jeremiah Rust
2 Swan, Charles Green
3 White Horse, John Morgan

Academies.
3 Mendham Sh.
2 Notley John
2 Younge Edw.
Bakers.
1 Barker John
3 Catton John
3 Fillee Edm.
2 Gidding Mary
3 Hunter Thos.
2 Littleproud Js.
Beer Houses.
2 Fuller George
2 Lolley Richd.
3 Richardson Js.
1 Skipper Dal.
2 Tuck Edw.
Blacksmiths.
3 Barnes Bnbs.
1 Farrar Wm.
2 Neal Obadiah
2 Tuck Edward Builders.
2 Butcher Wm.
1 Coker Fuller
4 Rivett Wm.
Hutchees.
5 Andrews Wm.

3 Bagge Thos.
2 Carter John
3 Tuck Robert
Carpenters.
2 Bagge James
5 Cushing Lucy
2 Vassar Thos.
Coopers.
3 Stacey Wm.
5 Tye William
Corn Millers.
4 Clements Jas.
3 Fendick Wm.
1 Littleproud Jn.
Farmers.
1 Alcock Robt.
1 Bailey John
3 Bone Robert
1 Catton Wm.
3 Copeland Rt.
3 Clarke James
1 Cordy Sarah
3 Goring Chas.
3 Jacob Robert
1 Lock Samuel
3 Maidwell Ths.
(& corn mert.)
1 Peck Fuller

3 Peck Susan
3 Pitcher John
1 Riches Fras.
1 Ringer Michl.
3 Tash Robert
3 Twiss Joseph
2 Vassar Jabez
1 Vassar Thos.
1 Wigg Wm.
Grocers & Dprs.
* are Ironmngs.
5 Barker Saml.
3 *Bunn Saml.
3 Nelson Henry.
2* Winkfield Timothy
Plumbers Painters, &c.
2 Fuller Robt.
3 High Wm.

Saddlers.
3 Abel George
2 Skipper Henry.
Shoemakers.
3 Backler John
3 Bagge Hugh
2 Brett John
2 Clark Wm.
2 Harwood Wm.
3 Morgan John
3 Rumble Ths.
4 Twaites Wm.
Surgeons.
3 Emerson Wilham Charles
2 Hobson Henry.
Tailors, &c.
5 Bagg John C.
3 Mendham Ts.
2 Tuck James
A Coach from Holt to London, calls at the Dog Inn, Monday, Wed & Frid at 8 mng.; returns Tu. Thu & Sat at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 6 evng Carriers to Norwich, Thos. Clark, West end, Mon. and Thu. 12 noon, and John Stagg, Tu. & Fri.

SOUTHBURGH, or Southbergh, commonly called Barrow, is a parish of scattered houses, 3 miles N.W. by N. of Hingham, and 15 miles W. by E. of Norwich, comprising 261 inhabitants and about 1000 acres of land, divided into two manors, of which T. T. Gurdon and J. Weyland, Esqrs., are lords and principal owners. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, has lost its tower, and the two bells are now hung in a thatched shed at the west end, within a yard of the ground. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 13s. 6d., and was augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty, in 1795. T. T. D. Gurdon, Esq. is the patron, and the Rev. Philip Gurdon, the incumbent.—Directory: John Bowen, bricklayer, John Howard, beer house; Edward Rivett, wheelwright and machine maker; and James Barton, Matthew Bressett, Anthony Easing, Wm. Payne, James Johnson, Mary Russell, Thos. Stark, and Henry Stebbing, farmers.

THUXTON, or Thurston parish, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. of Hingham, and $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.S.E. of East Dereham, has only 83 inhabitants, a few scattered farm houses and cottages, and 1200 acres of land, belonging to Lord Wodehouse, Edward Lumbe, Esq., and three resident freeholders. The two former are lords of the manors, the first of Thuxton Hall, and the second of Thuxton Wases. The Church, dedicated to St. Paul, is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £4. 6s. 2d., is the patronage of the Bishop of Norwich, and incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Castell. Messrs. Geo. Holman and Robt. and Wm. Palmer, occupy their own estates; and the farmers are Caleb Vassar and John Taylor; May Bayes, cattle dlr; and Wm. Stagwood, carpenter.

TUDDENHAM (EAST) is a pleasant village of detached houses, 6 miles E. of East Dereham, and 9 miles W. of Norwich; comprising in its parish, 587 inhabitants, and 2,000 acres of land, forming the manors of Cockfields, Astleys, Berrys, and Appaws,—of which Lord Bayning is lord; but B. and J. C. Gooch, Esqrs. have estates here; and several residents occupy their own farms. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, stands half a mile from the village, and is a neat Gothic structure, with a beautiful stained glass window, representing the Descent from the Cross, the Ascension, and several other devices, purchased by the widow of the late vicar, the Rev. Edward Mellish, Dean of Hereford, who died in 1830, and was buried in the chancel, where there are several ancient and modern monuments, and a mutilated effigy, supposed to represent Sir Edm. de Berry. The tithes, valued in K. B. at £7. 6s., was augmented in 1723, with £200, given by F. Tilney, Esq., and £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty. The Rev. Wm. Smith is the incumbent, and Lord Bayning is the patron and impropriator. In 1722, Frederick Tilney left two houses for the residence of decayed housekeepers. The poor have 10s. a-year, left by the Rev. J. Revans, in 1727, and 30s., as the interest of several benefactions.

Chapman Jno. shoemkr. & bawls.

Child Thomas, blacksmith

Hipkin John, wheelwright

Neave Thomas, carpenter

Parker Wm. grocer & draper

Smith Rev. Wm. vicar

Taylor Richardson, butcher

Thurston Danl. joiner & vict. Bull

FARMERS.

Marked * are Yeomen.

Bales Wm.

Child Wm.

* Gooch John

Carr

Newman John

Tane John.

Berry hall

Utting John

* Vassar Thos.

* Vassar Wm.

Wright Thos.

TUDDENHAM (NORTH) is a parish of dispersed houses, extending from $2\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of East Dereham, and comprising 399 inhabitants, and 2,200 acres of land, forming the manors of St. Clare and Bellhouse Hall, of which T. B. Evans is lord; but T. T. Betney, Esq., the Rev. J. Day, Mrs. Brown, and some others have estates here. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Mary, stands about 12 miles W. of Norwich, and has a square tower, with one bell. In the windows are some fragments of painted glass. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £10. 5s. 5d., is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. John Day. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here. In 1682, Fraser Skyppe left to the poor, for clothing, a yearly rent-charge of £15, to which is now added £6 per annum, being the interest of £150, recovered in 1720, as ten years' arrear of the rent-charge. The other benefactions to the poor are a house and land, left by the Rev. John Smith, in 1687, and now let for £7 10s.; a house and land, left by C. Norris, D.D., in 1621, and now let for £4; an allotment made at the enclosure, in 1765, now let for £6; land left by the Rev. Hy. Young, and let for 13s.; the dividends of £58, three per cent. consols, left by Thos. Ward, in 1806; 4s. from land left by an unknown donor; 40s. a year, left by John Branch, in 1736; and 26s. 8d. yearly from the bequests of W. Mountain, Rd. Neve, and Robert Burr.

Engledow Wm. beer house
Farman Btw Ben shopkr & miller
Hall Robert, parish clerk
Hind John, carpenter
Howlett Thomas, blacksmith
Jenny Henry, vict. Fox & Goose
Leggatt Robert, blacksmith

FARMERS.

Baker Thomas	Mann Sarah
Brasnett John	Miles Wm.
Elliott John	Reeve Wm.
Gibbs Robert	Springle Wm.
Mack James	Taylor Wm.
Mann John	Wright John

WESTFIELD, a hamlet and small parish, 2 miles S. of East Dereham, has only 127 inhabitants, and 530 acres of land, mostly the property of Sir W. R. Clayton, the lord of the manor, and patron of the CHURCH, which is dedicated to St. Andrew, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £1. 4s. 2d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Deighton. The Common was enclosed in 1810. Directory—Geo. Guyton, shopkeeper; John Mann, vict. Unicorn, George Mower, shoemaker and beerhouse, Rt. Smith, carpenter; and Christopher Andrews, Jonas Bush, Thos. Pamsant, and James, Samuel, and Wm. Vincent, farmers. C. Andrews and J. Vincent are land-owners.

WHINBURGH, or Whinbergh, is a scattered hamlet and parish, on the Hingham road, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.S.E. of East Dereham, containing 219 inhabitants, and 1,230 acres of land. Sir W. R. Clayton is the principal owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the CHURCH, which is dedicated to St. Mary, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at 18s. 6d., and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Deighton. In 15th of Edward I., Lord Bardolph claimed here view of frank-pledge, a weekly market on Thursday, and a fair on St. Simon and Ju and the three following days, but these have long been obsolete. The poor have the following yearly dotes, viz., 20s. from the chamber of Norwich, 10s., left by Wm. Woods, and paid by Mr Bate Dereham; 3s., left by Wm. Mountain, and three bushels of w from the farm occupied by W. P. Salter. This parish receiv.

every fourth year, 30s. from Barnard Church's charity, paid by the Norwich chamberlain; viz., 13s. 4d. for a sermon, on May 28th, 4s. to the church, 3s. 4d. to the clerk, and 9s. 4d. to the poor. Directory.—James Decker, vict. Three Horse Shoes; Daniel Nicholson, carpenter; John Whayts, blacksmith; and Rt. Aylmer, Wm. Pike Salter, and Jas. and Lacey Vincent, farmers.

WOODRISING is a hamlet and small parish, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles W. by N. of Hingham, and contains only 127 inhabitants. John Weyland, Esq. is lord of the manor and owner of the soil, and resides in Woodrising Hall, a neat, modern mansion in a small park, near Scoulton Mere. The manor was formerly held by the Southwells, of which family was Sir Richard Southwell, chancellor to Edward VI., and Sir Robert Southwell, secretary for Ireland, &c., in the reign of Charles II. The Church, dedicated to all Saints, is a small fabric, with the ruins of an ivy-mantled tower. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £4. 18s. 4d., in the gift of J. Weyland, Esq. and incumbency of the Rev. Arthur Roberts. The poor have an annuity of 5s. left by William Mountain. Directory.—J. Weyland, Esq.; Edward Margetson and Thomas Stebbings, farmers; Philip Fuller, carpenter, and John Sculpher, blacksmith.

YAXHAM, a village and parish on the Hingham road, 2 miles S. E. by S. of East Dereham, has 501 inhabitants and 1500 acres, of which Wm. Collison and Mrs. Orm are the principal owners. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a small, neat edifice, with a round tower, five bells, and a remarkable font in the florid Gothic style. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £10, is consolidated with Welborn, and was purchased by the late Rev. J. Johnson, for his son, William Johnson, now at College. The Rev. — Lavius is incumbent, till the ordination of Mr. Johnson. At the enclosure, in 1810, an allotment of 20 acres was awarded to the poor for fuel. The poor have also five yearly rent-charges, viz., three of 10s. each, left by Robert Burrows, Mr. Whood, and an unknown donor; 3s. 4d., by an unknown donor; and 26s., by W. Mountain. Here are also a house and 7 acres of land, let for £18 a year, and bequeathed in 33rd of Eliz. by Cath. Hall, for the poor and parish uses. Directory.—Daniel Bullard, victualler; Thos. Horn, rag and paper dealer; John Hudson, blacksmith; Rev. P. B. Jeckell, curate; Charles Machin, wheelwright; and Sarah Bush, George Gailey, Wm. Hubbard, Joseph Sussans, John Vincent and Lacey Vincent, farmers.

LAUNDITCH HUNDRED

of an irregular, quadrangular figure, averaging about twelve miles in length and breadth, and bounded on the north by Gallow, the east by Eynesford, on the south by Mitford and Southpenhoe, and on the west by Freebridge-Lynn Hundred. It is a richly cultivated district, rising in some places in bold and picturesque swells, with many thriving plantations and handsome manor-houses, and watered by the Wensum, the Nar, and several smaller streams, which rise within its limits. It takes its name from a long sand bank extending from Wendling-cay to the low land near Ham, and supposed to have been made for the purpose of carrying off the drain water. At the point where this ditch crosses the Norwich road, the Hundred court was anciently held. Launditch (with the exception of Colkirk and Hoe,) forms the Deanery of Brisley, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich. The Launditch Society for encouraging good conduct, industrious habits, &c. among servants and labourers, holds its annual meetings for sward prizes, &c. at Litcham, in October. Petty Sessions for Launditch Hundred are held at Litcham, on the first Wednesday, and at North Elmham on the third Wednesday of every month. Mr. Samuel King is clerk to the magistrates. This Hundred contains thirty-three parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent.

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann Val.	Acres.
Berston-with-Bitting	702	£2535	2,400	Longham	333	£2981	1,400
Berley	381	2,302	2,200	Mileham	566	2,373	2,400
Bilney (East)	166	553	539	Oxwick-with-Pattersley	74	1,189	1,400
Brisley	363	1,701	1,000	Rougham	340	3,317	3,400
Colkirk	316	1,208	1,500	Scarning	603	3,504	3,400
*Dillington Hamlet	33			Stanfield	234	963	800
Dunham (Great)	511	2,293	2,000	Swanton-Morley	837	3,439	3,400
Dunham (Little)	290	1,990	1,814	Tittleshall-with-Godwick	570	3,596	2,400
Elmham (North)	1,153	4,401	4,632	Wessingham All Saints	313	1,730	1,400
Fransham (Great)	323	1,963	1,836	Wessingham St. Peter	609	1,714	1,400
Fransham (Little)	234	1,068	1,000	Wingham	165	1,000	1,400
Gateley	190	1,437	1,000	Wendling	347	1,562	1,400
Gressenhall	924	2,917	2,783	Whissonett	626	1,576	1,400
Hoe, or Hoo	235	1,325	1,550	Worthing	138	449	800
Hornungtoft	263	1,392	1,386
Kempstone	50	647	800
Lexham (East)	306	1,350	1,152
Lexham West	103	827	1,200
Litcham	771	2,300	3,100
				Total	12,579	60,163	57,000

* Dillington is a small hamlet belonging to East Dereham parish, but lies within Launditch Hundred.

In 1775, an act was obtained for erecting an incorporated House of Industry, at Gressenhall, for the reception of paupers from the fifty one parishes in Mitford and Launditch Hundreds; but in 1801, East Dereham was severed from this union as has been seen at p. 355. This extensive workhouse built on 61a. 2r. 35r of land, purchased by the corporation in a high and healthy part of the parish of Gressenhall, and finished in 1777, at the cost of £16,242. 19s. 11½d. The building consists of a spacious dining hall, with convenient and necessary offices, good lodging and working rooms, and in the wings are many smaller apartments for the use of the married, the aged, and the infirm. The number of paupers in the house in May, 1831, was about 260; but at one period in 1800, here were no fewer than 670 inmates. They are employed chiefly in spinning hemp, and in weaving sackings and making sacks, of which latter upward of 13,000 are produced annually. In 1776, part of the land was enclosed as a burial ground, and upwards of 2000 have since been interred in it. In 1831, the cholera and scarlet fever swept away one sixth of the inmates. The average annual expenditure is about £5000, paid by the parishes according to the number of paupers which they respectively have in the house, or send there for relief. Mr. Edward Tice is the governor; Mrs. Tice, the matron; and the Rev. L. Walton, the chaplain. When East Dereham was severed from the union, it paid £1264 as its share of the debt incurred by the corporation, and received £500 for its share of the property.

BEESTON, or as it is sometimes called, Beeston-next-Mitcham, is a long pleasant village of detached houses, 7 miles W. of East Dereham, and 2 miles S. by E. of Litcham; supposed to have been of much greater extent, as the foundations of houses have been found on both sides of the church, three-quarters of a mile west of the present village. The parish keeps its poor jointly with Bittering Parva, now only two farms, with a few cottages and a church. The two parishes contain 702 inhabitants, and 2416 acres of land, of which latter, 2039 acres are in Beeston, belonging to a number of proprietors; but the Rev. C. B. Barnwell is lord of the manor, in which the copyholders, on every death or alienation, pay a fine of 2s. or a ploughshare. Beeston Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a neat structure, with a square tower, surmounted by a small spire, which may be seen at the distance of many miles. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £13, is in the gift of the Rev. C. Barnwell, and incumbency of the Rev. John Nelson. At the enclosure in 1814, an allotment of 20 acres was awarded to the poor, and is now let for £36 a year, given in coals. The poor have also a house and garden, left in 1774, by the Rev. Charles Barnwell, for the residence of two widows; and the following annuities, viz. 32s. left by Wm. Aloe, in 1629; £2. 8s. from C. Gooche's charity, (see p. 359;) £2. 8s. left by John Halcott in 1681; £5 left by Mary Huke in 1729; and 20s. left by the late Rev. Wm. Barnwell. The rector has 20s. left by Mary Huke, for preaching a sermon on Good Friday. The above named Rev. Charles Barnwell bequeathed a yearly rent-charge of £12 for the education of 12 poor children.

Bailey Robert, whitesmith
Brunton Denis, blksmith & beerhs.
Coker John, farrier & vict. Bell
Daynes Robert, butcher
Gooderson Jas. schoolr. & beerhs.
Habberton B; wheelwht. & smith
Jeckell Fraas. shopkpr & baker
Pescod John, grocer & draper
Rix George, schoolmaster
Rush Wm. vict. Ploughshare

Watling Rbt. grocer & draper
Wyett Henry, beerhouse
FARMERS.—*are Cattle dealers
Bear John Drury Richd
*Bear Jonth. Frost George
Benn Ellen Gooderson Wm.
*Claxton Noah Palmer John Crafer Henry Syer Ambrose
Davey John Tann John

BEETLEY is a small village and parish, with 391 inhabitants, 3 miles N. by W. of East Dereham. Edward Lombe, Esq. is lord of the manor, and owner of a great part of the soil. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen is a rectory valued in K. B. at £9 7s. 11d. Wm. Collison, Esq. is the patron, and the Rev. Hy. Collison the incumbent. The poor have a yearly rent charge of 32s.

left in 1730, by Richard Ferrer. Directory—Jas. Booty, shopkeeper, Wm. Broughton, vict. Punch Bowl; Wm. Topley, blacksmith, and Soames Green, Wm. Green, Jas. Hobson, Isaac Marsh, jun., Wm. Mills, Mary Wells, and Wm. Wilde, farmers.

BILNEY (EAST) is a parish 5 miles N. W. by N. of East Dereham, containing a few scattered houses, 166 inhabitants, and 332a. 3a. 11p. of land, mostly belonging to W. Collison and W. Pearce, Esqrs., and included in the manors of Gressenhall, Beetley, and Horningtoft. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, had the lead blown off its roof during a tremendous gale on May 4th, 1818. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 14s. 2d., was augmented in 1762, with £100, (half by subscription, and the rest Queen Anne's bounty.) It is in the same patronage and incumbency as Beetley. At the enclosure in 1814, an allotment of 12 acres was awarded to the poor, for fuel. Here are also 6 acres of old Poor's land, let for £6. 15s. The Rev. Thomas Bilney, a learned divine, burnt at Norwich in 1531, and the Rev. Andrew Perne, D.D. dean of Ely, and vice-chancellor of Cambridge, were both natives of this parish; and the latter is described as a bending willow, guilty of compliance, but not of cruelty, changing his religion four times from the last year of Henry VIII to the first of Elizabeth. Directory:—Mrs. Eliz. Allison, George Baker, vict. and blacksmith; Wm. Collison, Esq.; John Cox, wheelwright; Rev. Rbt. Sutton, the Lodge; and David Crafer, Rbt. Muffett, Wm. Watson, and Philip Yull, sen. and jun. farmers.

BITTERING (PARVA), or Little Bittering, 5½ miles W. by N. of East Dereham, is a small parish, which keeps its poor conjointly with Beeston, and contains only 377 acres, divided into two farms, occupied by Wm. Dunger and Wm. Walker. The Church is a small fabric, and the living is a rectory valued in K. B. at £2. 13s. 6½d., but augmented from 1743 to 1792, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty. Henry Dover, Esq. is the patron, and owns the chief part of the parish.

BITTERING (MAGNA), was formerly a parish lying between Gressenhall and Beetley, to which parishes it was annexed many years ago, after the dilapidation of its Church, of which no traces now remain. Near Gressenhall village, are a number of scattered houses called Bittering Street.

BRISLEY, is a straggling village on the Fakenham road, 6 miles N. N. W. of East Dereham, including within its parish 362 inhabitants, and nearly 1000 acres of land, mostly the property of the Hon. G. J. Miles, (lord of the manor,) J. D. H. Hill, Esq., and Messrs. James Ward and George Butler. Brisley Green is a fine open common of 170 acres, much frequented by cricket players. The Church, dedicated to St. Bartholomew, is a large Gothic structure, with a lofty tower and four bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 7s. 8d., is in the gift of Christ College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. John Maul. The rent of 4 acres of land, given by an unknown donor, is added to the poor rates. Richard Taverner, a pious layman who died in 1575, in his 70th year, was a native of Brisley. To promote the Reformation, he published in 1539, a new translation of the Bible, for which he was committed to the tower;

ed the favour of Henry VIII. when that monarch bea reformer.

pump maker vict. Lion e, wool, seed, and mint
sorge, corn miller ebert, carpenter schmidt
dn, rector
f, vict. Bell
Maria tailor rponger

Spencer Elisabeth, beerhouse
Temple & Wood, grocers, drapers, and tallow chandlers

Wagg Wm. wheelwrt. & blkmth.
Ward James, gentleman

Farmers.	Inglebright Jno.
Clarke John	& William
Crown James	Meck Wm.
Fyrahawk Pres.	Muff Robert
Garwood Thos.	Rye William
	Stirley Robt.

is a parish, with a village of detached houses, 2½ miles ham, comprising 316 inhabitants, and 1,600 acres of 100a. are common, and the rest belongs chiefly to the family and Mr. John Reeve. The soil is remarkably the air salubrious. Lord Charles Townshend is lord and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to the
and is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £10, and now en-Rev. Ralph Tatham. The poor have £25 a year from n, purchased with £120, left by Samuel Collison and
; in 1767; also £7 a year, as the rent of 7 acres of land, known donor; and two cottages, occupied by poor fami-neathed to the parish by Timothy Caryan, in 1711.— Walter Burton, blacksmith; Wm. Harper, butcher and Denis Howard, carpenter; Wm. Howard, shopkeeper; ford, gent.; Rev. Thomas Tatham, curate; Thomas aker; and Thomas Chambers, Martha Gogg, and John
ners.

I (GREAT), 6 miles N.E. of Swaffham, and 2 miles Litcham, is a parish and dispersed village, with 511 ind about 2,000 acres of land, belonging to a number of nd partly in the manors of East and West Lexham.
has a tower between the nave and chancel, and is a ed in K.B. at £12. 1s. 10½d., and now in the patronage ney of the Rev. John Humfrey. The Wesleyan and thodists have each a chapel here. At the inclosure, in tment of 33a. 2s. was awarded to the poor, and is now per annum, distributed in coals. The poor have two barges, given in bread, viz., 32s. left by William Alee.
£5 bequeathed, in 1808, by Mr. Chamberlayne, out of

W. & R. bricklayers ie, Geo. blacksmith saddler
r Thos. carpenters opkeeper
corn miller
Thos. curate
vict. Flower Pot

Long John, wheelwrt. & blkmth.

Farmers.	Flood Henry
Cartington Jas.	Hubbard Jas.
Chamberlayne	Palmer Jesse
Walpole	Pond Benj.
Claxton Jas.	Rolfe Robt.
Dunger Wm.	Stibbard John

DUNHAM (LITTLE) is a small village and parish, 1 mile S. of Great Dunham, and 5 miles N.E. of Swaffham, containing 290 inhabitants and 1820 acres of land, principally the property of Sir C. M. Clarke and W. O. Locke, Esq., the former of whom is lord of the manor, and resides at the Lodge, a neat mansion, erected in 1783 by Edward Parry, Esq., on an elevated spot, commanding an extensive view in which may be seen, in a clear day, Norwich cathedral and the shipping in the port of Lynn. The soil is generally of a close adhesive nature, with a substratum of clay or marl, thickly impregnated with pyrites and other fossils. The Cutchen, dedicated to St. Margaret, is a small ancient structure, and has a square tower in which there were formerly three bells, but two of them were sold in 1768. A new east window was erected in 1823. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £9 16s. The Rev. John Nelson is both patron and incumbent. The common was inclosed in 1793, when 36 acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let for £40, distributed in coals. The poor have a house and garden in Norfolk-street, Lynn left by Thos. Warne, in 1668, and now let for £6 a year, also a rent-charge of 10s. left by William Nelson, in 1775, and 10s. as interest of £10, left by an unknown donor. The rector, and Sir C. M. Clarke support a school, in the village, for the education of 28 poor children. In 1825, the iron chest was stolen out of the church, with the terners and other writings belonging to the parish.

Ames Benj. Latcher

Oliver Rev. Thos. rectory house

Chamberlayne John, blacksmith

Clarke Sir Chas. Mansfield, bart.

Dunham Lodge

Greengrass Wm, baker

Jackson John, yeoman

Johnson Robt, yeoman

Pilgrim Edward, schoolmaster

Snasdale Anne, viat. Black Swan

Took John, seedsman & florist

Watts Mr. George

ELMHAM (NORTH), once a city and the seat of the Bishops of Norfolk from 673 to 1075, is now a large village and parish, pleasantly situated on the west bank of the river Wensum, 5 miles N. of East Dereham, and 18 miles N.W. by W. of Norwich. It contains 1,153 inhabitants, and 4,632 acres of land, including a common of 635 acres, inclosed under an act passed in 1829. The Hon. G. J. Milles and T. W. Coke Esq. are the largest proprietors; but there are a number of smaller freeholders and copyholders. The parish is in two manors, viz., Elmham Nawer's, of which the Hon. G. J. Milles is lord, and North Elmham, of which the Dean and Chapter of Norwich are lords. In the former the fines are certain, and in the latter arbitrary. It is supposed that there was a ROMAN STATION here, in Broom close, where upwards of 100 urns, many coins and other Roman antiquities were found, in 1711. Among the inscriptions on the coins were, "Vespasianus Avg," "Cæsar Dri F Domitians Cors VIII," "Divæ Faustina," "Lucilla Augusta Antonina Augusti Fida," and "G Constantis Nob. Cæsar." Bixus, the fourth Bishop of the East Angles, about the year 673, divided his diocese into two when one bishop was appointed to reside here, where the first cathedral church was a wooden fabric. After the removal of the see to Thetford about A.D. 1070, and finally to Norwich, in 1096, Elmham still continued a favourite residence of the succeeding bishops. In the 11th of Richard II., the warlike Bishop Spencer obtained a license to embattle and make a castle of his manor house at Elmham. This episcopal castle stood on an artificial mount, on the hill above the village, surrounded by a broad and deep ditch, encompassing about five acres. The inner keep was also defended by a deep foss, which enclosed about two acres. Some traces of the intrenchments and foundations of the building may still be seen, overgrown with briars and thorns. From the castle there was a vault under ground to the church. The extensive park which belonged to it, now called the Old or Westfield Park, is still preserved. It contains 370 acres, and nearly five hundred deer, and is the property of T. W. Coke, Esq. Adjoining the east side of this, is the extensive and well wooded deer park of Elmham Hall, the seat of the Hon. G. J. Milles, brother to Lord Sondes. The hall is a large brick mansion, which has recently undergone considerable alterations, and stands on an eminence, rising gently from the margin of a fine sheet of water, which abounds with pike and other fish, and is supplied by a small brook flowing through the park to the river Wensum. The parish Church, dedicated to the Virgin Mary, was built by Bishop Herbert Losinga, but it afterwards underwent frequent repairs and alterations. It is a large, handsome pile, 157 feet by 66, with a square tower and eight bells. The interior is neat, and has many ancient carved seats, and two handsome marble monuments, in memory of Richard Warner and Richard Milles, Esqrs., the former of whom built Elmham Hall, and died in 1757. In the windows are several fragments of stained glass. The benefice is a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £13. 15s. The Hon. G. J. Milles is the patron and impropriator, and the Rev. Henry Edward Knatchbull is the incumbent. Here is a small Independent Chapel in the village. Petty Sessions are held here on the third Wednesday of every month; hirings for servants, at Michaelmas; and a large Fair for cattle, sheep, and swine, is held yearly, on April 6th; unless that date falls on Saturday or Sunday, when the fair is held on the following Monday. The National School, built here in 1813, is attended by about 80 children. The poor have £2. 8s. yearly from C. Gooche's Charity, (vide p. 359,) and two yearly rent charges, viz., 5s. left by Robert Settle, in 1609; and 26s. 8d. left by John Culling. There is a Howling-green at the George Inn, and a Cricket-ground near the King's Head; and in the parish are two water-mills for grinding corn. The Post Office is at Thomas Dent's, whence letters are despatched to East Dereham, &c. at 4 afternoon; and to Holt, Cley, &c. at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 9 morning.

Bradfield Robert, vict. & wine & spirit mert. King's Head Inn
 Bridger Thos. vict. George Inn
 Brunton Charles, painter, &c.
 Cooper Mrs., Griggs Mrs.
 Custing Francis, bricklayer
 Eastoe John, wheelwright
 Fisher Money, gentleman
 Goshawk John, watchmaker and parish clerk
 Knatchbull Rev. Hy. Edw. vicar
 Miles Charles, gentleman

Milles Hon. George John, Elmham hall
 Rix Frederick John, surgeon
 Upton Ann and Robert, teachers of National School
 Ward James, schoolmaster
 Whiter William, Old park keeper
 Yull Peter, tinsman Blacksmiths. Monument Inn.
Bakers. Bradfield Wm.
 Ward Thomas Goshawk Henry
 Tuck Thomas

Willmott Hwt	Bradfield Thos.	Sussens Edw.	Tomling Benj.
Beer Houses	Bunn Jas (yeo)	Tomling Robt.	Twiddy George
Bensley Mary	Coxford Maltw.	Saddlers	Tadors
Cook Susanna	Eastoe William	Allison Wm	Chapling John
Tomling Robt	Elmer Robert	Bell Philip	Farrow John
Whittrick Rd	Howell John	Shoemakers.	Wilby Samuel
Butchers.	Rix William	Farrow Thomas
Nicholson Geo	Willmott J. K.	Coach from the King's Head
Whistler John	Grocers & Dprs	to London, M. W. & Fri 7 mg.
Corn Millers.	Dent Thomas	and to Holt, &c. Tu Thn and
Dewing Agtn.	Godfrey Matrs	Sat. 8 evening Bett's Van to
Norton Robert	Goshawk Elijah	Norwich, Sat. $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 6 mg. & to
Farmers.	Joiners, &c	Litcham 7 evening
Allison Philip	King George	Carrier, Robert Spooner to
Bradfield James	Reeve Benj.	Norwich Friday, 10 morning

FRANSHAM (GREAT) is a parish of scattered houses, $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. E. by E. of Swaffham, containing 323 inhabitants, and 1856 acres of land, forming the three manors of Oldhall's, Swathing's, and Crudd's, of which the manorial rights belong to the rector, Mary Droner, and the Rev. Stephen Allen, of Lynn; but a great part of the soil belongs to other proprietors. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, has a tower surmounted by a small spire; and in the chancel is an ancient tomb-stone, whereon is the portraiture of a man armed cap-a-pié, his hands joined and elevated, within a curious arch or canopy work of brass, inlaid in the stone, round the verge of which runs a fillet of brass, with an inscription to Gulfridus Fransham. On a grave-stone are portrayed the figures of John Crudd and his wife, in their winding sheets, with the date 1439. Another brass under the arch of the steeple, represents a woman in her winding sheet, inscribed "Orate, p. a' i' a' Cecily uxar John Legge." The rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 15s. 10d., is in the gift of F. R. Reynolds, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Charles Reynolds. At the enclosure in 1805, eight acres were allotted to the poor, and now let for £13; besides which, the poor have 3 roods let for 25s. a year.

Brown Thos. vict. Lord Nelson	FARMERS—*are	Makens John
Claxton John, vict. Chequers	yeomen	*Stanford Saml.
Daynes John, vict. Pine	Crafer Henry	*Wellingham
Droner Mrs. Mary, Crudd's hall	Flood H and J	Edward
Mace James, blacksmith	Gathercole Rt.	*Wellingham
Perkins Henry, corn miller	Howell Thomas	William
Reynolds Rev. Charles, rector

FRANSHAM (LITTLE) is a small village and parish, on the East Dereham road, 6 miles E. by N. of Swaffham, comprising 234 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, belonging to Lady Essex, Mr. Walker, Mr. Money Griggs, and several others, and divided into the two manors of Barnes-on-the-Moor, and Sparham and Wilrox. Lady Essex is lady of the former, and Mrs. Alpe of the latter. The old hall, now a farm house, has a room in which it is said Queen Elizabeth slept, when on her tour through Norfolk; and near it are some foundations of Roman brick-work. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is without a steeple, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 8s. 1d., in the incumbency and patronage of the Rev.

Edward Swatman. At the enclosure, in 1806, thirteen acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let for £17.—Directory—Rd Lovatt, wheelwright; Wm. Perry and Wm. Powley, shoemakers; Geo. Plumb and Wm. Whales, carpenters; Abm. Powley, vict. Crown; Rev. E. Swatman, rector, Thos. Girling and John Buskell, farmers.

GATLEY parish, 7 miles N. by W. of East Dereham, has five scattered farm houses, a hall, a few cottages, 120 inhabitants, and 1000 acres of land. The Hon. G. J. Milnes is lord of the manor; but Mrs. Sharrock, Mr. Elgar, and some others have estates here. The Church, dedicated to St. Helen, is a vicarage, in the gift of Christ College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. John Maul.—Directory—Mrs. Susanna Sharrock, Gateley Hall, Wm. Hawes, cooper; Thomas Hawes, blacksmith; and Wm. Ord Chambers, Charles Elgar, Money Griggs, and Rt. and Wm. Howell, farmers.

GRESSENHALL, is a village and parish on the Litcham road, 3 miles N.W. of Dereham, containing 921 inhabitants and 2185a. 2a. of land, exclusive of 350a. 33r., which anciently formed part of the dissolved parish of Great Bittering.—(See p. 374.) The manors are North and South Soken and Rougholm, of which J. D. H. Hill, Esq., is lord; and Hareford's, of which Mr. Robt. Alpe is lord, but part of the soil belongs to other proprietors. The Church, dedicated to the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin, is a large structure, in the cathedral form, with a short but massive tower, rising in the centre, and formerly surmounted by a spire, which was taken down in 1698. The north transept is called Feraur's chantry or chapel; and that on the south, Hastings's chapel. Here are inscriptions to the families of Estmond, Le'Estrange, Vessey, and Davy. The benefice is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £15. 13s. 4d., and is in the patronage of King's College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Dennis Hill. In the reign of Henry VIII., Wm. de Stutevil, founded a chapel, dedicated to St. Nicholas, in that part of the parish called Rougholm, but it was in ruins when Blomesfield wrote, and was afterwards converted into a house. Two annual fairs for horses, cattle, &c., are held here on Dec. 6th, and the Tuesday before Whit-Sunday, and the former is numerously attended. The House of Industry for the Hundreds of Launditch and Mitford, is at Gressenhall, but is already described at page 372.

Barnes Thomas, blacksmith
Howles Mr. Clare
Brown Mr. Blomfield
Christmas James, beer house
Clark Robert, wheelwright
Coddling Henry, blacksmith
Hardy Michael, miller & baker
Hill Rev. Dennis, rector
Hill John Dd. Hay, Esq., Hall
Hill Joseph, tanner
Riches John, shoemaker
Spragg Wm. carpenter
Stirling Thomas, shopkeeper

Tice Edw. governor of the House of Industry

Twigg Thomas, carpenter
Inns and Taverns.

Chequers, Robt. Tye, (& cooper)

Oak, Jno. Dodman, (& wheelwright)

Three Horse Shoes, Jno. Hewitt

White Swann, Mules Spruce

FARMERS.

Alpe Rt. & W	Hill John
(yeomen)	Pease David
Brown G. & Js.	Warner Wm.
Fellowes Jas.	White James

HOE, commonly called Hoo, is a small village and parish, 2½ N. E. of East Dereham, comprising only 235 inhabitants, and 1,386 acres. Edward Lumbe, Esq. is lord of the manor, but the Dean, Chapter of Norwich, Mr. W. Grounds, and several others, have estates here. The Church is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £8. 13s. and is consolidated with East Dereham in the patronage of the Rev. F. H. Wollaston, and incumbency of the Rev. C. H. Wollaston. The nave was rebuilt in 1794, and the chancel in 1820, partly at the rent of 14 acres of land which has long been appropriated to church repairs, &c. The common was inclosed in 1811. There are seven shares of C. Gooch's Charity, noticed at page 35. Directory — Executors of Henry Hastings, corn millers, Miss Kitteringham, brickmaker, Mrs. Ann Mullett; Rev. Wm. Milford, Gorgate-hall, Robt. Mitchell, vicar, Angel; and Wm. Grounds, Markant, Richd. Mitchell, Samuel Norton, John Tuck, and John White farmers.

HORNINGTOFT parish, 5 miles S. by E. of Fakenham, has a number of scattered houses, 293 inhabitants, and 1,386 acres in 340 land, including 200 acres of wood. The Rev. T. S. Talbot is lord of the manor, but the soil belongs to a number of proprietors. The Church, dedicated to St. Edmund, was much injured by the fall of the steeple, on June 1st, 1796, but it was thoroughly repaired in the following year, at the expense of the inhabitants. The living is a rectory valued in K. B. at £6. 17s. 8d., and is consolidated with Whitehall, in the gift of F. R. Reynolds, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Edwd. Curtis Kemp. Directory — Wm. Dodman, beer seller, Phoenix, vicar, Hurdle; and Wm. Applegate, Benj. Branford, Mr. Dodman, Wm. Hastings (and maltster), Richard Tompson and Samuel Vincent farmers.

KEMPSTONE parish, 1½ mile S. of Litcham, has only 59 inhabitants and 840 acres, nearly all belonging to T. W. Coke, Esq., lord of the manor and patron of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £4. 18s. 4d., and augmented from 1775 to 1792 with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. George T. Langton is the incumbent. The Church is a small, thatched fabric, with an ivy-mantled tower. The Lodge is the seat of the Hon. General William Pitt-Rivers, one of whose sons fell at the battle of Navarino, in 1827. The other farm is occupied by Thos. Chamberlain.

LEXHAM (EAST), 2 miles W. of Litcham, is a hamlet and parish, with 206 inhabitants, and 1,152 acres, nearly all belonging to Frederick Walpole Keppel, Esq. the lord of the manor, who resides in the Hall pleasantly seated in a small park, within a mile of Litcham. The Church has a round tower, covered with ivy, and a rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 6s. Lord Wodehouse is the patron and the Hon. and Rev. A. Wodehouse the incumbent. In the chancel are several neat monuments of the Keppel family. East and West Lexham have each a yearly rent-charge of 32s. for the poor left by Wm. Allee, in 1629. Directory — F. W. Keppel, Esq., Lexham hall, Benj. Gunton, vicar, Chequers, and John Barton, Charles Clark Rat Hunter, and Jph. Middleton, farmers (Enclosure, 1794).

LXHAM (WEST), 3 miles W. of Litcham, is a parish with 1,200 inhabitants, and 1,200 acres of land, belonging to T. W. Coke, Esq. The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, is a small mean-looking

The rectory is valued in K B at £7. 11. 00 and is in the patronage and incumbency of East Latham. The inhabitants are all cottagers except John Garwood, farmer, and David Parlett, miller, &c.

LAUNDITCH formerly a market town and now a large and well built village formed into several streets distant 2 miles N. by N. of Swaffham and 2 1/2 miles W. by N. of Norwich. It is situated within a parish of 11 inhabitants, and 31 1/2 acres of land of which 1 1/2 acres belong to W. Keppel Esq., who purchased the manor of Lord Wodehouse about the year 1833. The rest belongs to a number of small proprietors except 128 acres which are in five small commons in which the inhabitants have right of pasturage and cutting fuel. In the 18th Edward I. Robt. de Felton had the grant of a weekly market at the manor of Latham, and a fair yearly on the day and month of St. Barn's, but the market has long been obsolete. Two fairs are now held on Nov. 1st and Whit-Tuesday. On one of the small commons there was formerly a hermitage occupied by Thomas Barton. The Church dedicated to all Saints has a square tower built by Matthew Halcott, who re-erect the five bells and gave the steeple. In the chancel are monuments to the families of New, Low, and Glover, Wisten, Goring and Halcott, the latter of whom had an extensive tan yard here. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £19. 2s. Lord Wodehouse is the patron and the Hon. and Rev. W. Wodehouse, the incumbent. Here is a small Chapel belonging to the Primitive Methodists, and an Almshouse, founded in 1674 by John Halcott, who endowed it with a yearly rent-charge of £10 for two poor men. The other poor have about £11 per annum from 1/2 a. 2s. of land, and the following annual rent-charges viz. £4, left by Matthew Halcott, in 1673, £20, by Wm. Ames in 1685, £13, by Lady Wodehouse, in 1684, and £2 left by Martha Fowler, in 1711. Petty sessions are held on the first Wednesday of every month, at the Bull Inn, where are also held the meetings of the Launditch Society for encouraging industry and executing justice, and the Archdeacon's Visitation. — Enebourne, 1765.

POST OFFICE at Mr. Frederick Leatherdale's. Letters from all parts arrive from Swaffham daily, at 9 o'clk & depart at 4 afternoon.

Mason Miss Sarah
Ashley James, gent.
Ashley John butcher
Bells Edw. brazier & turner
Bishop Saml bricklayer Birkinsop John, deal merchant, brickmaker & lime burner
Bradfield Thomas, land agent
Bridgeman John, schoolmaster &
parish clerk
Bridgeman Rhoda, blacksmith
Bridgeman Mrs. Susanna Maria
Bulman Wm. sen. & jun. tailors
Eaton Thos. wheelwright & blacksmith

Carpenter, John, post painter &c.
Chamberlain Mrs. Fox
Curtis, Robert, joiner & cooper
Edwards, John, wheelwright
Harte Rev. James, curate
Howard Thos. basket maker
King Benj. tailor
King John, blacksmith
King, Saml, assistant magistrates' clerk & collector of taxes
Lange Mrs. Frances
Lyne John, merchant, master, lime burner, and brick and whitening maker
Palmer Chas. veterinary surgeon
Pile Wm. joiner, builder, surveyor & agent to the Norwich Union fire office
Raven Peter, surgeon.

Stanford Mrs. Ellen
 Taylor Anne, boarding school
 Taylor John Kemp, gent.
 Taylor Thos. turner
 Walker Matw clock & watchmr.
 Wallace Chpr surgeon

Inns and Taverns.

Bull Inn, Thos Porter (& horse and gig to hire)
 Green Dragon, John Copeman
 (& brewer and saddler)
 King's Arms, Robt. Violet Size-land (& plumber, painter, &c.)
 New Inn, Jas. Wiseman (& brewr)
Boot and Shoe- Powley Jacob makers. Wells Wm.
 Bunn John Bakers.
 Hall Edw. Bulman Mary
 Kenney John Burton John

Fitt Wm.

Farmers.

Askew Robt.
 Attoe Wm.
 Francis Benj
 Stanford Henry

Bett's Van with passengers to Norwich, by North Elmham
 &c. Sat 6 mornng.

CARRIAGES—Thos. Bett's to Norwich by Dereham, Tues & Fri
 at 8 eveng, ret Thurs & Sun at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 9 mornng; and to Lynnh
 Mon. at 8, and Thurs. at 10
 mornng., ret. Tues. & Fri. at 6
 eveng; to Swaffham the mail gig from the post office daily at 4 aftern., arr. at 9 mng.

Gracers & Drapers.

Blinkinson J
 Burton John
 Leatherdale F
 Moore Ts. (dp)

LONGHAM parish, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles W.N.W. of East Dereham, has a few scattered houses, 333 inhabitants, and 1200 acres of land, chiefly the property of T. W. Coke, Esq., the improprator, patron of the church, and lord of the manor, which is on fine certain, and has a Court Baron yearly in October. The common (300 a.) was enclosed about 1814. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a curacy, which, from 1756 to 1792, was augmented with £1000 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. James Hoste—Directory—John Baxter, carpenter, Robt Williams, victualler, Ostrich; Thos. Winter, blacksmith and vict. White Horse; and Dd. Cooper, John Hastings, Thomas Hastings, Thomas and Wm. Hastings, and Elz. Syer, farmers

MILEHAM is a long village of detached houses, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles E N E of Litcham, and 8 miles N.W. of Dereham, including within its parish 566 inhabitants, and 2803 a. 3 a. 39 f of land, mostly belonging to T. W. Coke, Esq., Capt. Davy, and the Rev C. B. Barnwell. The latter is patron and incumbent of the rectory, and lord of the manors of Mileham and Beeston, but T. W. Coke, Esq., is lord of Burghwood manor. The common was allotted in 1812. The Church, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, is a neat building, with a square tower and four bells. It has several monuments of the Barnwell, Popy, Strange, and other families; and in the windows are several figures in stained glass. The rectory is valued in K. B. at £11 1s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. Here was anciently a strong Castle, built, as Blomefield imagines, by Alan, son of Plead, to whom the Conqueror gave the manor. Some traces of the ditch and entrenchments, which occupied an oval area of twelve acres, may still be seen. Mileham was the birth place of that great luminary in the legal hemisphere, Sir EDWARD COKE. He was son of Robt. Coke, Esq., lord of this manor, and was born in the old hall, which has been pulled down and a farm house built on the site. Having been bred to the law as his father had previously been, he so distinguished himself, as to rise to its highest honours and emoluments. In the

At the end of his career, he was first made recorder of Norwich, and London; he then was appointed solicitor-general to Queen Elizabeth, and speaker of the House of Commons. He was subsequently attorney-general, in which office he continued under James, who successively appointed him Chief Justice of both Bench and Chancery. He died Lord Chief Justice of the King's Bench, Sept. 14, in the 83rd year of his age. A sumptuous altar monument, with a Latin inscription, in the chancel of Tittleshall church, records his acquirements, honours, and virtues. The National School erected by subscription, in 1834, and to it is now applied an endowment of land, let for £10 a year, and purchased with money given by Glover, about the year 1600. The benefactions to the poor are: a year, from £200 left by Chas. Ward, in 1743; 3s. 4d. left by Richard Thurreld, in 1629; £4. 10s. a year, as interest on £100 left by Mrs. Barnwell; and £8 per annum from 4 acres bequeathed by an unknown donor.

11 Rev. Chas. B. rector
 101st. butcher
 Thos. plbr., painter, &c.
 1 Jas. saddler
 John, grocer & draper
 A. wheelwright
 101st. Edw. vict. Royal Oak
 Robt. tailor
 101st. National school
 Mr. Wm.

Piper Mr. Edmund
 Reeder John, vict. Unicorn
 Sexton John, corn miller & baker
 Ward Anthony, blacksmith
 FARMERS.
 * are yeomen.
 Beck Wm.
 Cooper Thos.
 Derisley John
 * Gant Richd.
 * Grint John
 Leeds Mary
 Royall John
 Sparks Wm

TICK-UM-PATTESLEY form one parish, 3 miles S. by W. of Swaffham, containing a few scattered houses, 744 inhabitants, and area, of which 767 a. are in Oxwick, where the Church, dedicated to All Saints, is situated. The living is a rectory, valued in 1851 at £6. 9s. 2d. F. J. Blake, Esq. is the patron, and the Rev. John Abbutt is the incumbent. Five lots of poor's land are now let to which is added yearly the interest of £17 poor's money. belongs chiefly to John Day, Esq., Mr. John Reeve, and Mr. Cranford. The two latter reside here, as also do Matthew and John Seaman, farmers.

WALSLEY, 1 mile S. of Oxwick, is now only one farm of 300 a. belonging to Lord Charles Townshend, and occupied by John 1 Bale. It was anciently a parish; but its church was dilapidated many years ago, though some fragments of its ruined walls may be seen at the east end of the farm-house. Though rated to the parish church of Oxwick, its sinecure rectory, valued in K. B. at £. 9d., is consolidated with the vicarage of Mattishall, in the patronage and incumbency. (Vide p. 365.)

WYHAM is a small but pleasant village, 13 miles E. of Lynnhaven, 5 miles N. of Swaffham. Its parish contains 340 inhabitants, 1000 acres of land, in four farms, belonging to Frederick North, 1st Marquis of Hastings, whose ancestors were formerly seated here in a house called the Hall, of which nothing now remains but some of the foundations, though the surrounding pastures still retain a park-like appearance, studded with many stately trees. Of this family was the 1st Lord Chief Justice North; and here was also seated a branch of the Yelvertons, afterwards Earls of Sussex, one of which is William Yelverton, Lord Chief Justice, in the reign of Henry II. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, has several monuments, some fine brasses, of these and other families; and over the altar is a mutilated piece of antique sculpture, representing the Virgin with figures of angels, &c., under a Gothic canopy. In the windows are some fragments of stained glass. The vicarage, valued at £1 8s. 6½d. was augmented, in 1762-7, with £400 by Anne's bounty. The King is the patron, and the Rev. J. of Newhaven, is the incumbent. The rectorial tithes are the owner of the soil. Directory — Geo. Hudson, blacksmith, and Susan Rayner, shopkeepers; Wm. Rayner, vict. & Thomas Ruger, Wm. Wright, and Charles and John farmers. The mail gig, from Brandon to Swaffham, runs Crown daily; also Thomas Betts, carrier to Lynn, Monday and to Norwich, Tuesday and Friday.

SCARNING is a fertile parish, extending westward to Dereham, nearly 3½ miles on the Swaffham road, many scattered houses, 603 inhabitants, and 3575 acres, partly belonging to Edward Lombe Esq., the lord of the manor, which is subject to arbitrary fines, and has a court baron. The commons were enclosed in 1765 and 1811, except for the use of the poor. The Church, dedicated to St. Paul, has a massive tower, and an excellent peal of bells. In the interior are several neat mural monuments. The Rector is K. B. at £4 0s. 2d., is both rectorial and vicarial; the Rev. Du Val Auzere, the incumbent, having half of the rectory and the patron, Edward Lombe, Esq., being proprietor of the other moiety. The Free School, for all the children of the parish, was founded in 1601, by Wm. Secker, who endowed it with about 100 acres of land, let for 150 per annum. The land, at about 11s., is now let for £11, distributed in bread.

Auzere Rev. Ph. Du Val, rector	Cord Christopher	Rich
Barber Geo. vict. Black Horse	Fuller James	Rich
Faler John wheelwgt. & blacksmith	Girling John	Rich
Girling Rev. William	Gondwin John	Rich
Hudson Edward, beer house	Hart George	Rich
Walton Rev. Levi, master of the Free School	Mann John	Rich
	Neale James	Rich
	Parker Samuel	Rich
	& brickmaker	Rich
Alison Robert	Boughen Barbs	Rich
Bone Clark	Coleman Jas.	Rich
	Riches Thos.	Rich

TANFIELD parish, on the Fakenham road, 5½ miles N. of East Dereham, has a few dispersed houses, 234, and 926a. 3r. 12r. of land, belonging to the Rev. Rector and several smaller proprietors. The Church occupies a high position, and is dedicated to St. Margaret. The rector is K. B. at £6 1s. 2d., is the patron and incumbent. The Rev. J. Rayle. Directory — Jonathan and William Dore, Toms Lidge, farmer, Thos. Sutton seed merchant, and corn miller, and Wm. Clarke, vict. Maid's Head.

NTON-MORLEY is a considerable village of detached nearly 4 miles N.E. of East Dereham, comprising in its 7 inhabitants, and 2649A. 13P. of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, the largest of whom is Edward Lombe, Esq., the owner of the manor, which is on fine arbitrary, and has a court baron over it. The ancient lords were the Beaufoes, Morles, and

The CHURCH, dedicated to All Saints, stands on an eminence and has a lofty square tower with five bells. The rectory, K.B. at £15. 10s. 2d., is consolidated with Worthing, in the gift of E. Lombe, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Henry Thomas Barret bequeathed, many years ago, a yearly rent-charge of £24 for repairing the church and relieving the poor. In 1812 a small left an annual rent-charge of £8 for educating and relieving poor children. The Wesleyans have a small chapel on the river Wensum is a large paper mill, and also lime burning works.

John, blacksmith-
Wm. wheelwright
Jas. miller & baker
Wm. shoemaker
William, cattle dealer
John, butcher
John, grocer & draper
Thos. beer house
Jas. mes, paper manufr.
Rev. Henry, rector
John, blacksmith
Inns and Taverns.
Horn Pond (& shoemkr.)

Cherry Ground, Thos. Day
Dial, Peter Lucas
Paper Makers' Arms, Jn. Canham
FARMERS—* are yeomen.
Baker John Leeds E. Fisher
*Branford Benj. *Love Wm.
Freeman Esther Lucas Robt.
*Freeman Rt. *Mack Charlot.
Goldsmith Jas. Miles John
Haxall Geo. *Riches Jph.
Large Benj. Turner Jph.
*Leather Ambr. Wiffen Wm.

TITTLESHALL-cum-GODWICK form a parish, with a neat the former name, 2 miles N. of Litcham, and 8 miles S. by Fakenham. The parish contains 570 inhabitants, and 3,200 acres, and, nearly all belonging to T. W. Coke, Esq., and forming parts of Greynstones, or Caley, Coxford, Godwick hall, Peek-

Newhall, and part of the manors of Whissonsett, and God-hall. Wm. Foster, Esq. is steward for these manors, and has a court leet and baron in October; but here are only few tenants, and their fines are certain. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Andrew, contains a splendid marble monument to Sir Edward Coke (see p. 382,) with his effigy at full length, erected at the cost of £400. Here are likewise several other handsome monuments to the Coke family, one of which has effigies of Sir Edward, and eight children. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £3d., was consolidated with Godwick in 1630. T. W. Coke, the patron, and the Rev. K. H. Digby is the incumbent. The parish is 32½ acres; and at the enclosure, 30 acres were allotted to the poor, who have also 42s. yearly from 8 acres of land, held by T. W. Coke, Esq., and 10s. from £10, left by Wm. Haylett. The Luthers, Baptists, and Methodists have each a chapel here. Godwick only two farms, 1 mile N. of Tittleshall, was anciently a parish; but the church, of which nothing remains but the tower, was dilapidated upwards of two centuries ago. The hall, and a farm-house, was built by Sir Edward Coke.

Bear John, shopkpr. & schoolm.
Butler Bodham, corn miller
Everett John, bricklayer
Forby John, joiner, blacksmith,
& vict. Golden Wyver
Forby Robt. wright & shopkpr.
Franklin John, vict. Ostrich
Guntton Diana, shopkeeper
Guntton Fras. wheelwright
Guntton Wm. baker
Moore John, baker
Raby Thos. parish clerk
Robinson John, butcher
Sparrow Wm. butcher
Ward Rev. Geo. Baptist min.

Waters Saml. blacksmith
Wells John, cooper
Yorke Rev. Thos. curate Godwick hall

Farmers.	Forby Eli.
Belcham George	Forby Mitch.
Wicken	Godwick
Betts Wm.	Forby Wm.
Bransford Benj.	Riches Isaac
Val, Godwick	Rix Thomas

CARRIERS—Thos. Twite to Norwich, by Dereham, Wed. 6 mg.
& to Lynn, Mon. night. Robt.
Collett to Norwich, Tues. morn.
and to Lynn, Friday morn.

WEASENHAM ALL SAINTS, or Upper Weasenham, is a small scattered village, 4 miles N.W. of Litcham, and 8 miles S.W. by S. of Fakenham. The parish has 313 inhabitants, and 1,900 acres of land, including 100 acres of plantations. The whole, except a few cottages and 17 acres of glebe, is the property of T. W. Coke, Esq., the lord of the manor and lessee of the rectorial tithes. The Church is a small fabric without a steeple. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £15. 10s., is in the gift of the King, and in the benefice of the Rev. Charles Campbell. The poor have 20s. yearly, let by John Billinge and John Bailey. Sir John de Weasenham, in the reign of Edward III., was the king's butler, and, being a rich merchant of London, had the king's crown in pawn for money advanced for the wars in France.

Blyth Wm. D'Urban, farmer
Branton Wm. vict. & blacksmith,
Ostrich
Carbould Edw. farmer
Carr Thos. miller and baker

Gardener Jno. beer hs. & school
Margaron, John, farmer
Pearce Wm. Esq., Hall
Sharpe Mary, boarding school
Wix Edm. blacksmith

WEASENHAM ST. PETER, or Lower Weasenham, is a small village and parish, 7 miles S.W. by S. of Fakenham, comprising 313 inhabitants, and 1,450 acres of land, nearly all belonging to T. W. Coke, Esq., the lord of the manor and lessee of the corn tithes. The commons of this and the other Weasenham were inclosed under the act of the 16th of Geo. III., when 40a. were allotted to the poor of both parishes. The Church is a neat building, with a low tower, and in the windows are some pieces of stained glass. The living is a vicarage, annexed to Weasenham All Saints, and the joint benefice has been augmented with £600 of royal bounty since 1760. Here are 15a. of glebe. Two cottages and two pieces of land, bequeathed to the poor by John Norris, are now let with an allotment of the commons for £12 a year. In 1729, Charles Wilson left a yearly rent-charge of £2. 13s. for a weekly distribution of bread.

Campbell Rev. Chas. vicar
Chaston Mrs. Catherine

Guntton Geo. wheelwrt. & blacksmith
Guntton Smith, joiner

Thos. butcher
ames, farmer
Henry, farmer
n. vict. Fox & Hounds

Whitby John, grocer and draper
The Mail Gig from Swaffham to Fakenham calls at the Fox and Hounds.

INGHAM, a hamlet and parish, 6 miles S.B.W. of Fakenham, has 165 inhabitants, and 100 acres, of which 34 are glebe, res an allotment to the poor at the enclosure, in 1808; and belongs to T. W. Coke, Esq., and Mr. B. Norton. The lord of the manor and patron of the Church, which is a united with Tittleshall-cum-Godwick, and valued in £5. 8s. 6½d.—Directory:—Benj. Norton, land owner and r; Geo. Watson, farmer; and John Culyer, vict., Plough.

DLING, on the Swaffham road, 4 miles W. by S. of East is a parish of dispersed houses, with 347 inhabitants and s of land. Thos. Smith, Esq., is lord of the manor, but several have estates here. Wendling Abbey, which stood near a let, was founded about the 52d of Henry III., by Sir Wm. ling, for canons of the Præmonstratensian order, and dedicated to the Virgin Mary. It was suppressed by a bull of Pope Cleore the general dissolution, and in 1528, granted to Cardiey; its revenues being then valued at £55. 18s. 4d. per The last remains of the ruins and foundations were used some in repairing the roads. The present Church has a square a three bells, and is dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul. fice is a curacy, augmented with £600 of Queen Anne's nd united with Longham.—(See page 382.) The common used in 1815, when 10 acres were allotted to the poor, also 6 acres let for £12 a-year, distributed among individuals.

Thos. vict. Red Hart pr. miller and baker ancis, blacksmith
hu, wheelwright
Henry, baker
rpe Mrs. Elizabeth

Wright John, carpenter
Farmers.

Baker Benj.	Lovett Daniel
Curry Wm.	Stringer John
Hubbard Hy.	Wherry John
Hubbard Jas.	Wiffen Jerh.

SONSETT, a village and parish 5 miles S. of Fakenham, 528 inhabitants and 1300 acres of land. Colonel Jones is e manor, but here are a number of small land-owners. A ld here on Whit-Wednesday, for shoes and pedlery. The dedicated to the Virgin Mary, is a large structure, with a ir bells, and several inscriptions to the Bozoun, Hapton, Gy- other families. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £10. 3s. 4d., dated with Horningtoft, in the gift of F. R. Reynolds, Esq., abency of the Rev. E. C. Kemp. The Methodists and Bap- each a chapel here. The churchwardens distribute 12s. the interest of £12 poor's money. Several small benefac- lost.—(Enclosure act, 1812.)

n. butcher
Robert, farrier
n. shoemaker

Hawkins Nathl. schoolr. and tea dealer
Hoy Edw. watchmkr. & beer h.

Kemp Rev. Edw. Curate, rector
 Loftus Capt. Frederick, Lodge
 Mason John, grocer and draper
 Miles John, baker
 Neale Henry, corn miller
 Neale James, joiner & cabt. mkr.
 Parker Robert, blacksmith
 Pratt John, shoemaker
 Raven Nathl. sec. to Pakenham
 Provident Society
 Taylor Thomas, blacksmith
 Thang John, vict. joiner & parish clerk, King's Head
 Utter Robert, grocer
 West Rt. grocer, dpr & leatherctr

White Alice, vict. Bell
 White Neale Wm. wheelwright
 White Wm. blacksmith
 Yaxley Mattw. vict. and cattle dealer, Swan
 Yaxley Wm. corn miller
 Yaxleys — * are yeomen
 Brown Rollt *Seaman Hy
 Carr Jonth *Skinner Wm
 Garrard John Skyles Henry
 *Rudd George
 Postman — Jas. Wainerson, to Pakenham, Tue, Wed. and Sat, at 8 a.m., returns at 2 a.m.

WORTHING, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. of East Dereham, is a hamlet and parish on the banks of a rivulet which rises near Dereham and flows northward to the Wensum. It comprises 138 inhabitants and about 288 acres of land, mostly the property of Edw. Lombe, Esq. the lord of the manor, and patron of the Church which was re-pewed in 1835, and is a rectory, consolidated with Swanton-Molex. Henry de Hie, by will without date, gave to the monks of Castle Acre, the mill of Worthing, with Thurstin, the miller, his mother, and brothers, with all their substance. The poor have 16s. a-year from C. Gooche's charity. — Vide p. 359. Here are 9 acres of Church land for repairs, &c. — Directory — James Alsbrook, tanner, fell-monger, and timber merchant, Robt. Hart, farmer, Mr. Samuel Blomfield, John Blomfield, farmer and cattle dealer; John Wells, vict., Tanners' Arms; John Dodman, shopkeeper. — (A Correspondent, Wisbech, weekly.)

KING'S LYNN, OR LYNN REGIS.

Is an ancient, populous, and flourishing sea port, borough, and market town, and may be properly styled the emporium of the western division of Norfolk, — its harbour forming the grand outlet of all the principal navigable streams in that district and several adjacent counties, and its markets being numerously attended by farmers, merchants, &c., residing within a circuit of twenty miles. It is a large respectable town, much improved during the last twenty years, by new streets of neat houses; and seated on the east side of the Great Ouse river, within four miles of that large bay of the ocean, called the Wash or Mettan Aëstuarium, (vide p. 468;) — being in 52 deg. 15 min. 25 sec. North latitude, and in 1 min. 35 sec. East longitude from the meridian of Greenwich; and distant, 42 miles W. by N. of Norwich, 98 miles N. by E. of London; 46 miles N. by E. of Cambridge, 30 miles S.E. of Boston, 13 miles N.E. by E. of Wisbech; and 15 miles N.W. by W. of Swaffham. It is a free borough, forming a distinct jurisdiction under its own corporate istrates, though locally situated within the Hundred of Ebridge-Lynn, and bounded on the west by the Great Ouse river, which is here nearly a quarter of a mile in width, and on its opposite shore the village of West Lynn, and that extensive level, but fertile district, called Marshland, to which there is a ferry between the two Lynns, and a long wooden causeway about one mile above the Quays, where the river has been diverted into a new and more direct channel, called the Eau-bank cut, and extending from the vicinity of St. Germain's bridge, three miles higher up the stream, where the navigation still pursues the old channel. The country on the east side of the town rises in gentle swells, highly cultivated, interspersed with neat villas and thriving plantations, and presenting a fine contrast to the flat alluvial district on the opposite side of the river.—(Vide pages 443 and 467.) The town is about one mile and a quarter in length, from the South Gate to Fisher's end, at its northern extremity, and above half a mile in breadth from the river to Littleport-street, where the East Gate was taken down in the year 1800. Four small rivulets or canals, here called Fleets, intersect the town in various directions, crossed by more than a dozen small bridges, and so closely lined with buildings in the heart of the town, as to be nearly obscured from view, except in the back premises which open upon them; though they are navigable for coal boats, and at high springs they overflow and inundate the streets, in some places to the depth of several feet. The whole town, on the land side, is encompassed by a deep wet foss, formerly defended by nine bastions, and flanked by a strong embattled wall, of which latter, extensive ruins still remain, together with the South Gate, a Gothic tower with a lofty pointed archway for carriages, and a smaller one for foot passengers. Near the foss, on the east side of the town, is an octagonal tower, called the Lady's Chapel, and standing on a conical mound called the Red Mount, perhaps a corruption of Road Mount, and no doubt formerly used for military as well as ecclesiastical purposes. At the North End is a platform battery, called St. Anne's Fort, formerly mounted with ten eighteen pounders, planted there in 1677, and commanding the entrance to the harbour, but having no breastwork or defensive cover, they could not have long withstood the attacks of a formidable enemy from the opposite side of the river. The streets and lanes are generally narrow, well paved. King street, Queen street, and Nelson street, parallel with the river, and have extensive warehouses, grasses, and wharfs behind them, extending from the Common North or Quay, to the Boal and the Friars, where several hundred sail of ships are often at anchor, presenting an imposing forest of masts, seen to great advantage when viewed from the New Quay. High-street extends about 600 yards in a direct line from north to south, through the heart of the town, and is lined with well stocked shops and houses of public entertainment, like the Tuesday and Saturday Market Places, into which it opens, and Norfolk street, which branches from it to the west of the East gate, and is also of considerable length. The town contains many large and handsome mansions, and among its public edifices are some curious and interesting specimens of antiquity, especially the extensive church of St. Margaret, the beautiful chapel of St. Nicholas, and the Guild-hall. In 1803, an act of Parliament was obtained for paving, cleansing, lighting, and watching, and otherwise improving the town, the powers of which were further extended by another act passed in 1806. By virtue of these acts, all the streets have been new paved, obstructions and other nuisances removed, and the avenue from the Southgate, instead of opening, as formerly, through the narrowest and worst built streets, has been diverted in a direct line more to the east, and now presents to the traveller an approach superior to that of most other maritime towns in the kingdom; being a broad and spacious street (called London road,) lined with handsome modern houses, terminated at one end by the venerable entrance gate, and at the other by the slender, but elegant and lofty hexagonal tower of the Grey Friary. The bridges over the "Fleets" have been made lower and wider, and the communication over Purfleet bridge, near the Custom-house, has been opened for carriages. The projected improvements were estimated at £20,000; but that sum was found inadequate to the intended purposes, and the commissioners were consequently obliged for many years to levy as much as 2s. 6d. in the pound upon the rack rental; and the act empowers them to levy a yearly rate of 3s. if necessary. Among the improvements was the removal of Guanock Wall, which had a small gate leading to the pastures, and extended from the South gate towards the Red Mount. Part of its site is now occupied by two rows of handsome houses, called Guanock terrace and row; and in the same vicinity, a new and populous suburb has arisen during the last five years, and many buildings are still (1835,) in progress. From Guanock row, a PUBLIC WALK, margined with trees and shrubs, is extended to the Red Mount, and thence along the inner bank of the dilapidated town walls, as far as Kettle-mills, at the north-east angle of the town, where there is a lofty and handsome circular tower engine-house, lately erected for the use of the waterworks. This pleasant promenade is approached from the London road, opposite the Grey Friars Tower and St. James's Workhouse, (formerly a chapel,) by the New Walk, which extends in a direct line to a lofty modern arch near the Red Mount, and is about 350 yards long, and eleven broad; having on each side a range of lofty trees, forming a fine shady avenue with recessed seats at convenient distances, and one of them canopied by a group of trees called the Seven Sisters. Beyond the walls is a pleasant walk through the meadows, called the Chase. In the suburbs are excellent turnpikes and rural foot paths to Gaywood, Keffly Spring, and Castle Rising, on the north-east; and to Hardwick, West Blach, North Runcton, Middleton, and Mintlyn, on the south and east; and on the west, the tourist may either visit the fine churches of Marshland, by the foot ferry, or by the turnpike, which passes by a circuitous but interesting route over the Bridges, one of which crosses the small but navigable river Nar, by the Gas-works; another (800 feet long,) all of wood, crosses the Ran-Brink cut, and the third spans the old channel of the Ouse, now nearly warped in from the influx of the tides. Turnpike Acts were passed for improving the roads from Lynn to Wimbech, &c., in 1765, 1786, 1806, and 1823, and for amending the roads branching from the East and South Gates, in 1770, 1791, 1811, and 1831. Under these acts, fine rampart roads have been made in all directions; and under another act passed in 1826, the long obstructed line of communication through Marshland to Lincolnshire, has been entirely freed by the embanked road and bridge, extended over the Cross Keys Wash. (See p. 468.)

The Borough of Lynn comprises the two Parishes of Lynn St. Margaret, and South Lynn All Saints, extending over an area of 2720 acres and 2 roods, of which only 290A. are within the boundaries of the town, viz., 183A. in St. Margaret's, and 107 in All Saints' Parish, the latter of which comprises all the land lying beyond the town, but within the borough, extending upwards of four miles southward, along the west bank of the river Nar, as far as the bounds of Watlington and the Wiggenballs, and forming a rich grazing district of 2323 acres, including the hamlet of Seecy, or Setchy Parva, the Portland Arms Inn, and the farms called White-house, Scales house, and Golden-ball; the latter of which was formerly a public house, and had near it an ancient manor house called God's croft, on the site of which a brick coffin was dug up some years ago. All Saints' parish was a lordship, with several manors, at the Norman conquest; but in the 4th and 5th of Philip and Mary, it was granted as a member of the borough, to be under the same government, and exempt from any power or authority of the Sheriff of Norfolk. The Corporation and Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes own most of the soil, and the former are lords of the manor. The ANIMALTY JURISDICTION of the Corporation, granted by a charter of the 2nd of James I, comprehends "the deeps called Lynn deeps, (at the river's mouth,) and all the places and course of waters, extending from the Burgh to St. Edmund's Ness, (Huostanton;) and thence north and by west to the Long Sand; thence to the Brest Sand; thence to West Lynn; and thence to the sewer called Stapleweere, about eight miles above Lynn." The land and buildings in St. Margaret's parish were assessed to the property tax in 1815, at the annual value of £18,581 and those in All Saints' parish at £6,599. The borough is divided into TEN WARDS, of which nine form St. Margaret's parish, and the other is the parish of South Lynn All Saints. In 1831, it had increased its population since the year 1801, from 10,096 to 13,370 souls, as will be seen in the following enumeration of the ten wards, shewing the number of inhabitants in each at the four decennial periods of the parliamentary census.

WARDS.	Population in A.D.				WARDS.	Population in A.D.
	1801.	1811.	1821.	1831.		1801.	1811.	1821.	1831.
Choquer	1,049	958	1,230	1,071	Stonegate	1,336	1,175	1,270	1,201
Jew's lane	850	813	964	884	Trinity Hall	770	749	790	780
Kettlewell	750	913	1,138	1,219	South Lynn,
New Constant	845	914	1,029	1,171	All Saints	707	940	1,006	1,000
North End	1,208	1,278	1,516	1,465
Palmer	915	931	1,023	1,193	Total	10,096	10,259	12,253	13,370
Sedgford St.	1,749	1,579	1,700	1,064

The population of the borough has increased considerably since 1831, and may now be estimated at upwards of 15,000 souls, and the houses at nearly 3,000, of which 574 are in South Lynn, which has nearly trebled its buildings and inhabitants since 1801, all the new streets and houses extending from Windmill place, Hillington row, and Coronation square, to the South gate, being in that parish, which keeps its poor separately from St. Margaret's. Of the 13,370 inhabitants in 1831, 6,972 were returned as males, and 7,398 females.

ANCIENT HISTORY :—Lynn is supposed by Camden to have been a British settlement; and the name, he says, is derived from Llyn, a lake or expanse of water; but Spelman, with more probability, deduces this from the Saxon term len, which signifies a tenure in fee, or farm; and observes that its ancient appellation was Len Episcopi, that is, the Bishop's farm. In Domesday-book, it is written Lun and Lena; and at the time of that survey belonged to Agelmare, Bishop of North Elmham, and Stigand, Archbishop of Canterbury. In the Saxon era, it had in its vicinity a great number of salt works, Gaywood alone having no fewer than 30 salt pans in the time of Edward the Confessor. That it was a place of some consequence and trade in the time of the Norman Conqueror, is evident, from its enjoying the privilege of certain duties and customs, payable on the arrival of any goods or merchandises, by sea or land; of which the bishop of the diocese at that time was found seized of a moiety. Bishop Herbert, who removed the see to Norwich, and founded the cathedral there, also founded the church and priory of St. Margaret, at Lynn, in the reign of William Rufus. King Henry the First granted liberty to the priory of Norwich, who then possessed the fee of the town, to hold a fair at Lynn, on the feast of St. Margaret, &c., with sac and soc, and other customs. William de Newburgh, a writer who lived in the time of Richard the First, describes it as "Urbs comitatus et commercii nobilis." Many Jews then resided here in the narrow street called Jew's lane. This persecuted people were then celebrated as merchants over most of Europe. By growing rich, and purchasing land and houses, they brought upon themselves the hatred of the Christians.—Many of their ancient deeds are preserved, in the form of warrants of sale, &c. Being enraged at the conversion of one of their sect to Christianity, the Jews "set upon him, in order to have slain him, to prevent which he took sanctuary in a church, but they broke open the doors, and would have taken him out by force. On this noise and uproar, a number of the Christians came to his rescue; but the inhabitants being in fear of the King, who had taken the Jews under his protection, acted on the reserve; on which many young strangers and foreigners, who were in the town on account of their trade, fell on the Jews, killed several, burnt and plundered their houses, and then to avoid the King's anger, took shipping directly with their booty." In 1205, King John, having chastised the revolted barons of Norfolk, halted here with his army, and, on the petition of John Grey, Bishop of Norwich, who had lately erected a palace at the neighbouring village of Gaywood, that monarch granted Lynn a charter to be a free borough for ever, the burgesses to choose a propositus (provost,) and have "soke, sac, toll, theme, infang-theft and outfang-theft, and be free of toll and every other custom in all parts of the kingdom, except London." The charter further grants that they shall not be impleaded out of the borough, of any plea other than the pleas of foreign tenures; that they do no suit in counties for tenures within the borough; that pleas belonging to the crown may be directed by themselves according to the custom of Oxford; "saving always to the aforesaid John, Bishop of Norwich, and his successors, and to William, Earl of Arundel, and his heirs, the liberties and customs which they have anciently had, and ought to have, in the aforesaid town of Lynn." In his letters patent, addressed to the burgesses in the last year of his reign, King John styles them "the Mayor and good men of Lynn."—He visited the town in the same year, and, after staying a short time (lodging, it is said, at the house now called the Mitre Inn,) he crossed the Wash, with the loss of his baggage, to Swineshead priory, in Lincolnshire, on his road to Newark castle, where he died. Before his departure, he presented the corporation with an elegant embossed and enamelled cup and cover, of silver, double gilt, weighing 73 ounces, and holding about a pint. This celebrated piece of antiquity is in a high state of preservation, being placed in the safe keeping of every mayor for the time being, and used only on public occasions, when it is filled with sack, and shown as an unique specimen of the ma-manufactures of the 13th century. It is still called King John's cup. The figures round the cover represent a hunting party, and one, on the bottom of the inside, has a drinking horn in one hand, and a hawk in the other. The sword that is carried before the mayor is likewise said to have been the gift of King John, "taken from his own side;" but Spelman and Bishop Gibson assert that it was actually the gift of Henry VIII., when the town coming into his possession, he converted the burgesses into aldermen, granted the place many privileges, and changed the name from Lynn Episcopi to Lynn Regis. In confirmation of this, Spelman says, that the town-clerk in 1630, assured him that one side of the hilt was plain, till 1554, when the sword-bearer had a Latin inscription engraved on it relative to King John. The other side is inscribed, "Placuit Res Henricus Octavius, Anno Regni sui xx." Besides this antique sword, four silver maces (gilt) are carried before the mayor on all public occasions.

The borough has sent two representatives to Parliament since the 26th of Edward I., and has been honoured with no fewer than nineteen CHARTERS, dated 6th John, 17th, 39th, and 52nd Henry III.; 9th and 32nd Edward I.; 6th Edward II.; 5th Edward III.; 4th Henry V.; 16th and 29th Henry VIII.; 1st and 2nd Edward VI.; 1st and 4th Philip and Mary, 2nd James I.; 17th and 36th Charles II., and 11th George II. The first of these charters, which appoints and fixes the municipal corporation, is that of the 16th of Henry VIII., which is called the first governing charter, and constitutes the burgesses of "Bishop's Lynn," a body corporate, under the government of a mayor, twelve aldermen, and eighteen common councilmen, with a recorder, town clerk, nine constables, two coroners, four sergeants at mace, a sword bearer, and a clerk of the market, and the power of taxing the inhabitants from time to time, for the safeguard and defence of the borough, "against the violent rage of the waters hereafter happening, or for other necessary things to be done within the borough." This charter frees the burgesses from serving on juries out of the borough, "against their wills," and directs that the mayor shall be chosen, by the common council, yearly, on the feast of the decollation of St. John the Baptist, from among such of the aldermen as have served the office for five preceding years, and that he shall enter upon the office on the feast of St. Michael the Archangel, after taking the corporeal oath.

The charter of the 29th of Henry VIII. is considered as the second governing charter, and changes the name of the borough from Lynn Episcopi to Lynn Regis, the King having obtained this manor, with that of Claywood and many others, of Richard Nix, Bishop of Norwich, in exchange for the abbey of Holm. This charter confirms the previous municipal constitution, and grants the Guild-hall court, a civil court of pleas and pleas and court of record, the Tolbooth court, for empanelling arising by water, and a Court Leet. It also appoints the mayor, aldermen, and recorder, to be justices of the peace; excludes county justices from interference within the borough; confirms former exemptions from serving on juries out of the borough; appoints all writs of the mayor and recorder to be executed by the sergeants; disqualifies the sheriff of Norfolk, or his officers, for executing writs within the borough; grants two fairs, or markets, with court of Pie poudre yearly, and two weekly markets, on Tuesday and Saturday,—all tolls for groundage and stalls to be paid to the mayor and burgesses; and that they shall have cognizance of pleas in the Court of Common Pleas and Exchequer; have a prison, or goal, within the borough, and take all fines in themselves, paying yearly 20 marks, (£13. 6s. 8d.,) into the Exchequer.

The charter of the 2nd of Edward I., called the first property charter, grants to the corporation certain lands, tenements, &c., formerly belonging to the Guild of Merchants and Guild of St. George, for keeping up the defences against the sea and other purposes; and also contains a license to purchase lands in mortmain. The charter of 4th and 5th of Philip and Mary, called the second property charter, annexes the parish of South Lynn to the borough, and vests the manor in the corporation, in consideration of their agreeing to rebuild and keep in repair the sea wall, at the North End, described in the charter as being 340 feet long, and 9 feet thick at the foundation; which said wall had been repaired from time immemorial by the bishops of the diocese, but was then by the violence of the sea reduced to such a ruinous state as threatened the inundation of the whole borough. This charter, adding South Lynn to the borough, subject to a yearly rent of 10s., also adds several other tenements to the corporation possessions, in the lordship or manor of Lynn Regis, which it declares shall in future be held of the crown, as of the manor of East Greenwich, "in common socage (and not in capite) by fealty;" subject to the yearly fee farm rent of £13. 13s. 6d., to be paid to the Exchequer, on the feast of St. Michael, the Archangel, and the Annunciation of the blessed Mary, by equal portions. The charter of 2nd James I., invests the mayor with the office of High Admiral, within the limits described at page 391. It also grants a Court of Admiralty of Record, with power to decide upon matters done on the High Seas, if one of the parties be a resident of the borough. It gives all fines and forfeitures to the corporation for the keeping up of the Port, together with tolls for anchorage, beaconage, ballastage, lastage, &c.; all royal fishes, and power to correct and hold pleas concerning fishermen and their nets. It likewise grants that the mayor, recorder, and alderman, shall be justices of goal delivery; that the coroners shall make a return of prisoners to the justices before every gaol delivery, and erect a gallies for the execution of felons. The charter of 17th Charles II., called the fourth governing charter, confirms the former charters and privileges, appoints a chief steward, commonly called the Lord High Steward, and fixes fines for refusing to serve office. The charter of the 36th of Charles II., being founded on a forced surrender by quo warranto, was considered illegal, and therefore never acknowledged or acted upon.

Lynn has long been celebrated for its extensive commerce in wine, coal, and corn, and appears to have been formerly engaged to some extent in the staple manufactures of the county, for we find that in 1571, many of the Dutch and Walloon artisans who had fled from religious persecution in the Netherland, were settled here as well as at Norwich, (vide p. 77.) and Anthony de Potter, the dyer, in behalf of those who made mockendos, at Lynn, obtained, after a long debate in the court, "that the warden of the Walloons, in that city, should search and seal all the commodities brought from Lynn, &c. &c." The Lynn chronicle of REMARKABLE EVENTS, exhibits many "disasters of blood and fire," and shews conspicuously the infatuated conduct of the corporate magistrates of the 16th and 17th centuries, when they persecuted and burnt several unfortunate objects for witchcraft, and patronised Hopkins, the celebrated, but villainous "witch finder," who persuaded the credulous and superstitious that he possessed the art of discovering such as were guilty of witchcraft, by pricking them with pins, and then placing under him to undergo this cruel test, were generally executed, as he was paid a certain sum per head for every person whom he declared to be guilty. Among some others executed here as witches, were Margaret Reed, in 1587; Elizabeth Howson, in 1598; Mary Smith, in 1616; Elizabeth Lee and Grace Wright, in 1645; and Dorothy Floyd, in 1646. The instances of fraud and credulity which this country has exhibited age after age, under the delusion of witchcraft and demonology, are very numerous; but happily the belief in the existence of this kind of supernatural agency was no longer prevails, and the repeal of all the statutes relating to witchcraft has removed from our criminal code the reproach cast on the legislature by these ridiculous enactments. The town has been honoured with several ROYAL VISITS, since the time of King John. The dowager queen of Edward I. and Edward III. paid Lynn this compliment, and Henry VII. was here in 1441, when the sword was carried before him by the town. Edward IV. embarked here for Flanders, in 1469, and Henry VIII. and his queen were both here in 1494, and lodged at the Augustine Friary. The French King, with the Duke of Orleans and the Duke of Suffolk, were here in 1520. The latter was executed at the Tower in 1526. Henry VIII., whose daughter, Queen Elizabeth, visited Lynn on her progress through Norfolk, in 1574. In 1792,

Prince William of Gloucester dined with the corporation after reviewing the Dowham Cavalry and the Lynn Volunteers. In 1207, the Duke of Clarence (now Wm. IV.) was presented with the freedom of the borough; and, after partaking of a cold collation at the Mayor's house, he returned to Houghton Hall, attended by Earl Cholmondeley and suit. Cardinal Wolsey was at Lynn in 1519, attended by a number of lords and gentlemen. Lord Audley came here in 1553, to proclaim the unfortunate Lady Jane Grey, Queen of England. In 1555 and 1797, two whales were caught in the Lynn channel, one measuring 40 and the other 41 feet. In 1620, two large fish were cast ashore, one 30 and the other 51 feet long. The burgesses were alarmed by severe earthquakes, in 1575 and 1602; and in 1605, a house was burnt down in High street, and the family perished in the flames. The ringing of bells was prohibited by the alderman, in 1581, and not resumed for several years. The plague raged here in 1585 and 1598. In the former year the mayor and four aldermen fell victims to the dreadful malady; and in the latter, 220 persons were buried in St. James' churchyard, from March to July. This awful disease also visited the town in 1624, '35, '36 and '66, and in the two latter years it was so prevalent, that the great mart was not held. In 1633, twelve red coats were made for the officers who attended the mart, and in the same year the ferry boat upset and drowned 18 persons; similar disasters occurred on Feb. 23rd, 1796, and Oct. 5th, 1811, when 11 persons were drowned by the upsetting of the ferry boat. In 1635, five young gentlemen belonging to a boarding school, were drowned while bathing near the Boul wharf. In the following year, 12 grampuses were caught here, and 14 vessels belonging to Lynn, were lost in a severe gale; a larger number suffered the same fate, in 1692. (Vide p. 251.)

In the CIVIL WARS of the reign of Charles I. (see p. 78 and 253) the mayor and burgesses of Lynn declared for the royal cause, and, aided by the country gentlemen, they placed the town in a posture of defence, and held out, with great bravery, against the attacks of 18,000 parliamentary soldiers, under the command of the Earl of Manchester, during a close siege of nearly three weeks, commencing August 28th, 1643, and not terminating till the 16th of September, when the garrison, consisting only of about 5000 men, and not being strengthened, as expected, by a reinforcement from the Earl of Newcastle's army, then lying near Lincoln, was obliged to capitulate, and paid a fine of £3,200, to obviate the distress of being plundered. During the siege, on Sunday, September 3rd, when the minister and congregation were assembled for Divine worship, a 16-pound shot was fired from West Lynn into St. Margeret's church, where it did no farther harm than shatter a pillar into a thousand pieces, and frighten the people away, with the loss of man-of their hats, hoods, books, &c. After the siege, the town was garrisoned for the Parliament, and so remained during the continuance of those civil broils which so long agitated and distressed the kingdom. In 1653, the corporation invited Cromwell to visit the town, and the mayor "was allowed £5 for his preparations for the entertainment of the Protector." In 1655 and '7, the river from Gaywood to Kettle-mills, and thence to the Red Mount, was cleansed, and the principal streets paved, chiefly by a tax levied on the alehouse keepers, of whom 36 were imprisoned at one time for non-payment. Preparatory to the restoration of Charles II., in 1660, the fortifications of Lynn were restored by Sir Horatio Townshend, who was created by that monarch Baron Townshend, of Lynn-Regis, in 1661, and Viscount Townsend, of Rainham, in 1682.

On Sept. 7th, 1670, Marshland, and a great part of Lynn, were inundated during a high tide, in which hay-stacks swam about in the fields; many thousand sheep and cattle were lost, and boats rowed from the East-gate to Gaywood. A similar flood occurred in 1763. In 1587, John Wanker's wife and Widow Parker were tied to a "cart's tail," and dragged through the streets for incontinency; and in 1692, Amy Pointer was ducked as a scold. In 1794, Henry Youngs stood in the pillory for an unnatural crime. The executions of capital offenders at Lynn have usually taken place a little beyond the site of the Gas-works, where the cattle market was formerly held; but these awful spectacles are happily of rare occurrence in this peaceful and prosperous town, where the last who suffered on the gallows was Peter Donnahue, a sergeant of the 30th regiment of Foot, who was hanged Nov. 13th, 1801, for uttering forged notes. The others who suffered on the gallows, in previous years, were Robert Fox and Joseph Beeton, in 1783, for highway robbery; Wm. Pilling, for a rape, in 1772; John Rudderham, for murder, in 1766; Thomas Jermyn, for felony, and George Smith, for murder, in 1723; Michael Hammond, and his sister, for felony, in 1708; Samuel Moor, for shop-breaking, and Rd. and Alice Ship, for murdering their servant-girl, in 1686; John Swift, John Page, and Wm. Peirson, for shop-breaking, in 1653, '76, and '77; Goody Say, for murdering her husband, in 1653; and Major Stanworth, for his attachment to the royal cause, in 1650. The latter suffered in the Tuesday Market place, where a Dutchman was burnt for heresy, in 1535; Mary Smith, as a witch, in 1616; Mary Taylor, for murdering her mistress, in 1723; and a woman, for killing her husband, in 1515. In 1531, a servant-girl was boiled to death, for poisoning her mistress. Perhaps this was considered a refinement of punishment, more suited to the diabolical offence than the gallows, or the stake, both of which were occasionally resorted to; but the fires in the Market place were much less numerous than those of Smithfield and many other places, in the ages of bigotry and superstition, when Lynn had its share of monastic institutions, as will be seen at a subsequent page.

On Sept. 8th, 1741, during a violent storm, the spires of St. Margaret's church and St. Nicholas' chapel, were blown down, and both edifices materially injured. In 1780, an Armed Association was formed here for internal defence; and in 1794, E. Everard, Esq., was appointed captain of the Lynn Volunteers. On Aug. 18th, 1784, a balloon ascended from the Tuesday Market place, and after an aerial voyage of 24 hours, alighted in a field 4 miles from St. Alban's, a distance of 94 miles from Lynn. Mr. Green ascended here in his balloon on June 21st, 1826, and Oct. 1st, 1827. On Sept. 27th, 1798, the Brigs Aurora, of Lynn, and the Countryman, of Wiebech, were lost with all hands in Lynn roads. On Nov. 21st, 1805, here were great public rejoicings, with a ball and supper at the Guild-hall, in celebration of Nelson's victory off Trafalgar. The grand National Jubilee, on Oct. 25th, 1809, when Geo. III. entered the 50th year of his reign, was observed here with great rejoicings and festivities. On Oct. 5th, 1811, the victories obtained by the Allied Armies over the French, were the subject of much public rejoicing; a large bonfire was kindled in the Tuesday Market place, and several barrels of beer distributed among the populous. Similar demonstrations of public joy, with brilliant illuminations, took place, after other victories, on April 28th, 1814, and on the return of Peace, July 14th, 1814. In August, 1815, upwards of £300 was collected here towards relieving the families of the killed and wounded heroes of Waterloo. On Dec. 11th, 1821, a young man detected in the act of robbing a shop in High street, called Waterloo House, was shot dead by the owner. On Oct. 1st, 1822, the Duke of Sussex visited Lynn, and was presented with the freedom of the borough. On July 16th, 1833, the Bishop of Lincoln confirmed 2000 children at St. Nicholas' chapel, where there were similar episcopal confirmations, in 1794, 1802, '13, '20, and '27.

The HARBOUR, at Lynn, formed in the Great Ouse river, within about four miles of its outfall into the large bay of the German Ocean, called the Wash, is deep and capacious; but the entrance to it is rendered somewhat difficult by large and often shifting sand banks, and its anchorage is bad, owing to the oozy bed of the river;—a remedy is, however, provided for the latter evil, by numerous mooring posts and blocks securely fixed on all the quays, staiths, and wharfs, to which the ships are fastened by ropes or chains. It is capable of receiving upwards of 300 sail of ships; but at what period it was first used as a haven is unknown. Camden is of opinion that the port was originally at the village of West Lynn, on the opposite side of the river; but this is improbable, as no records exist to prove that that place was ever of more consequence than it is at present. The river, as it passed in ancient times between the Lynns, was merely a small stream consisting of the Little Ouse only, not more than 33 yards broad, but the outfall at Wiggenhalls decaying about the reign of Henry III., the Great Ouse was conveyed to the sea by a new cut, made from Little Chair to Rebeck, where it joined and gave its own name to the Little Ouse, from the borders of Cambridgeshire, where it flows northward to the sea below Lynn. By this vast accumulation of waters, brought by that famous river from many midland counties, after a course of 150 miles, the channel gradually worn wider, so that some centuries ago, it was at the narrowest part, upwards of 300 yards broad, and in some places the tides expanded upwards of half a mile in width, which would still be the case if they were not confined by high bankments, within which the high-water mark is frequently much higher than the surface of the adjacent cultivated land, as may be seen in a perambulation up the river as far as Wiggenhalls. After the reign of Henry III., when this occurred, Lynn, being then connected as a port with six counties of the Midland counties, began to rise from its primitive obscurity to that high seat of commercial consequence which it now holds; but after the plans for draining the fens, called the Ford Level, had been carried into execution, and the sluice, called the Denver and Salter's Lode, erected, the navigation of the river became much impaired, and the harbour obstructed by mud, which was thrown up at high spring tides. Upon petition of the inhabitants against the conduct of the commissioners for draining this extensive level, lying on the north side of Marshland, a survey and report were made by Colonel John Armstrong, in the year 1724, from which it appeared that all the injury complained of had arisen from the numerous obstructions made to the ascent of the tide up the river, and the confluence of the upland waters, particularly after the hundred feet drain, and the sluice at Denver had been made. Previously, the reflux tide descended with amazing rapidity, that the ships in Lynn harbour were obliged to be moored with a stream cable. For cleansing the mouth of the river of the shifting sands, and otherwise improving the navigation, Col. Armstrong proposed that everything connected with the Great and Little Ouse rivers should be restored to the state as nearly as possible, in which it was anterior to the execution of the new drainage scheme. By his report, it appears that in 1723, the tide of flood ran through Lynn haven ordinarily in four hours and four minutes, and that the common spring tides were in height at that time fourteen feet four inches; but when pelled by a north-east wind, they sometimes flow more than ten feet perpendicular, forcing ships from their moorings, and running over the quays into many of the streets. On some occasions the tide flows extremely rapid, and is called the bore, or

The navigation of the Great Ouse, and the drainage of the fens in and near the Bedford level, and all the low lands near the river, (amounting to about 320,000 acres,) have been considerably improved, by diverting the stream from the old channel, between Lynn and Wiggenhall St. Germain's bridge, into a new channel, called the EAU-BRINK CUT, extended in a straight line, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles in length, and from 300 to 350 feet in breadth, and lessening the distance from Lynn to St. Germain's bridge, from nearly 7 to $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles. A cut in this direction was recommended by Colonel Armstrong, as early as 1723, and the expense was estimated by a Mr. Kinderley, at £15,000; but a much larger sum was expended in carrying the bill for the purpose through Parliament, in consequence of a powerful opposition; and a greater sum was subsequently awarded for purchasing the necessary land. The Act passed in 1795, appears to have been too much contracted in its powers for the magnitude and cost of the work; so that it had to be amended, its powers for raising money increased, and the term for completing the work extended, by seven other Acts of Parliament, passed in 1796, 1805, '16, '18, '19, '21, and '31; and the total cost of the undertaking is now estimated at about £500,000, borrowed by the Commissioners, who, for the purpose of paying the interest, liquidating the debt, and keeping the cut, the drains, and the banks in proper repair, are empowered to levy a yearly drainage tax on the 320,000 acres of fens, marshes, &c., which are drained by this great work. They also levy 5d. per ton on all vessels passing up the river. These Commissioners consist of the freeholders of 100 acres, or more, of the above-named 320,000 acres, the drainage of which appears to have been their first care, so that very little progress was made with the Eau Brink Cut, till 1818, and it was not completed till 1821. Though it only averages from 300 to 350 feet in breadth, from the upper end, where it opens into the old channel at the place called Eau-Brink, in the parish of Wiggenhall St. Mary, it is 800 feet wide at the lower opening, where it falls into the river, nearly a mile above the Lynn Custom House, and is crossed by one of the largest wooden bridges in England. This "New Bascos" has a flat platform upwards of 800 feet long, resting on massive and lofty timber piers, and having in the centre two leaves, intended to have been drawn up by means of large iron wheels and chains; but as large vessels never pass above the bridge, this machinery is not used, and the whole platform is now bedded with gravel. It was opened to the public on June 28th, 1821, when it was crossed by a long and splendid procession, decorated with banners, one of which was appropriately inscribed, "Prosperity to the Eau-Brink Drainage, and durability to the Marshland Free Bridge." On their return, a large party of gentlemen dined at the Coffee-House, at the expense of Messrs. Banks and Jolliffe, the liberal contractors for this expensive work. The cut was opened July 31st, 1821, when the Swiftsure Steam Packet from Gravesend passed to the upper end, at the head of a procession of boats richly decorated with colours, and returned amidst the acclamations of many thousand spectators, a large portion of whom were assembled on the New bridge, upon which the Royal Standard and many other symbols were displayed, to encrease the éclat of this important epoch in the history of Lynn and the Norfolk Marshes and Fens. That broad and circuitous part of the river Ouse (5½ miles in length,) avoided by the new cut, and lying between the New Bridge and the Old Free Bridge at Wiggenhall St. Germans, is now in verdant pasturage, except at the lower end, which, in a few years, will also be entirely warped in from the tides, when the bridge which now crosses it will be taken down.

Another body of Navigation Commissioners are appointed under an act passed in 1796, "for empowering persons navigating with boats, barges, and other vessels in the River Ouse, in the county of Norfolk, to hale or tow with horses, or other beasts, on the banks or sea walls of the said river, and for making satisfaction to the owners of the said banks or sea walls." The opening of the Eau-Brink cut has given the reflux tide such a strong bias to the west side of the Lynn Harbour, as to contract the channel and leave a broad and firm bank of silt on the east side; so that the ships are now obliged to anchor at an inconvenient distance from the granaries and warehouses, the owners of which lately obtained from the Eau-Brink Commissioners a large sum of money for the damage thus done to their respective premises, which they might now greatly improve, at a comparatively small expense, by converting the bank into one of the finest quays in England, extending from the Common Staith to the Bowl wharf. Though the channel has receded from the warehouses in many places to the distance of from 40 to 80 yards, it is much deeper than before; and in order to save West Lynn from the incursions of the tides, several large jetties have been projected into the water on that side of the river, as to force the current farther to the east; and one of these forms a ferry-boat landing over the broad bank of soft silt which is left bare at low water.

The PORT of King's Lynn having a free communication with the German ocean and all the North of Europe, and extending its inland navigation by means of the Great Ouse and its collateral rivers, into eight counties, enjoys many commercial advantages. It imports annually about 160,000 chaldrons of coals, chiefly from the ports of Durham and Northumberland, and upwards of 1000 pipes of wine* from Portugal and Spain.

* Lynn formerly imported upwards of 2000 pipes of wine yearly: the number of tons imported in 1771, amounting to 1400; and in 1801, to 1200. It appears

In return for these and other heavy articles, (from Holland, Norway, America, &c.,) with which it supplies the interior, it receives back for exportation, corn, wool, and a great variety of manufactured articles. It sends coastwise from 150,000 to 200,000 quarters of corn yearly; and its Custom-House Revenue amounted in 1761, to £37,600; in 1791, to £56,600; in 1806, to £84,200; in 1820, to £82,500; in 1825, to £96,600; in 1830, to £87,500; in 1832, to £40,000; and in 1834, to £39,000. The reduction in the Custom-house receipts, since the year 1830, is occasioned by the coal duty, of six shillings per chaldron, being repealed in 1831. It appeared by the report of the Commissioners for auditing the public accounts, in 1784, that the annual receipts of this port were then greater than those of any other in England, except London, Liverpool, Bristol, and Hull. The number of vessels registered at the Custom-house, in 1776, was 85; but in 1835, they had increased to 122; and their aggregate amount of tonnage to 15,308, exclusive of a great number of small craft, and about 50 *fishing boats; the latter of which bring in shrimps, cockles, smelts, cod, &c., and harbour in the small creek at the North End, commonly called Fishers' End.—The transactions of the port outwards, are small compared with those inwards. The number of ships which arrive here yearly, with cargoes from foreign ports, average from 120 to 150; and the coasters, with cargoes, are about 2,000 in, and 1,000 out.—There are about 750 seamen belonging to the port; and, under an act passed in 1835, they pay 1s. per month out of their wages to the Merchant Seamen's Fund, for the relief of the families of such as may be maimed, slain, or drowned, in the service.—Lynn had formerly three or four ships employed in the Whale fisheries of Greenland and Davis' straits; but since the demand for oil has been greatly decreased, by the introduction of gas, this hazardous, but often lucrative trade, has been here discontinued; though Hull, Whitby, and some other places on the eastern coast, are still engaged in it to a considerable extent.—Many large vessels have been built here, in the ship-yards at the South-gate and the Friars. In 1370, when Edward III. required all the sea-ports to furnish him with ships, for his expedition against France, Lynn sent 19; Hull, 16; Harwich, have been celebrated as a wine-port as early as the reign of Henry III., whose purveyors sent him 30 tuns from Lynn, pursuant to an order sent by that monarch from Kenilworth.

* Sticklebacks.—In December 1807, and for several weeks after, the fishermen of Lynn caught an immense quantity of small fish, called sticklebacks. One boat, with two men, took in one night 200 bushels, which they sold to the farmers for manure, and for boiling to extract the oil, at the rate of 7d. per bushel. There was a similar influx of sticklebacks in 1770, when they drove away every other kind of fish out of the river. It is said that 72 baskets of shrimps are sent weekly to London, averaging in weight 85 tons yearly.

14; Ipswich, 12; and London, 24. In 1598, two men-of-war were fitted out by this town and Yarmouth.

The Custom-House, on Purfleet Quay, is a handsome square building of freestone, with two tiers of pilasters, the lower in the Doric, and the upper in the Ionic order, surmounted by a curious pyramidical roof, from which rises a small open turret terminating in a pinnacle, at the height of ninety feet. In a niche, over the entrance-door, is a fine statue of Charles II.—This edifice, which contains several commodious apartments, and occupies the site of a religious house formerly belonging to the Trinity Guild, was erected in 1683, by Sir John Turner, Kt., as an Exchange for merchants, but converted to its present use when the old Custom-House, which stood on the site of Mr. Hogge's house, in Tuesday Market place, was disused. The founder was three times mayor of Lynn, and for many years one of its representatives in Parliament. The present officers are Wm. Swatman, Esq., collector; Mr. Wm. Clarke, comptroller, and landing surveyor; Messrs. Thurlow Nelson and Fdk. Swatman, clerks; and Jph. Jobson Phillips, and Melville Mills, coastwaiters, &c.; with four boatmen, a locker, and six tidewaiters, and a coast guard, at Hunstanton, commanded by Lieut. Hains. The jurisdiction of the port extends to Burnham Overy, on the east; and to the entrance of Wisbech harbour on the west; but the business done between Brancaster and Burnham Overy is generally carried to the account of the Wells customs. The Light-house, at Hunstanton, is the property of Frederick Lane, Esq., whose father, the late Samuel Lane, Esq., was many years collector of customs here. There is a floating light at Lynn Well, off the Long Sand, belonging to Trinity House, and distant 20 miles from Lynn. The Pilot Office, a small building at St. Anne's Fort, is surmounted by a large gas lantern, but it is seldom lighted, as ships rarely come up the river in the dark when the buoys cannot be seen; and the lofty gas lamp near the opposite end of the fort, is considered sufficient for the guidance of the fishermen. In 1773, an Act of Parliament was passed "for the better regulation and government of the Pilots conducting ships and vessels to and out of the port of King's Lynn; for laying down Moorings in the harbour of the said port, and for preventing mischief by fire therein," &c. &c. The pilotage is 1s. 6d. on small, and 2s. 6d. on large vessels per foot, according to their draught of water. Here are 26 pilots, who have a station at the Bell Buoy, in the Wash, about 12 miles from Lynn. Mr. George Holditch is the head pilot and beaconer, and Thomas Tilson is the clerk. The three legal Quays in Lynn, are Purfleet, King's Staith, and Common Staith; the latter of which is large and commodious, extending behind the Tuesday Market place. In front of a large house on King's Staith square, is a fine statue of King John. The ward of legal Bonding warehouse and yards for general merchandise due, had long been a serious disadvantage to the Lynn merchants, who had to pay the duties on every article immediately after its importation, except on foreign corn, until about three years ago, when three yards for bonding timber were opened; and in 1835, the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury opened the port for general bonding, on the petition of Mr. W. N. Turner, who in that year completed a commodious warehouse, which the Hon. Commissioners of his Majesty's Customs were pleased to license for the bonding of sugars, molasses, teas, currants, raisins, cheese, cork, tallow, pitch, and tar, which may be removed to Lynn under bond from London, or any other warehousing port.

The EXCISE OFFICE is in Broad street, and the "Lynn Collection" includes all Norfolk, as far as Holt and Diss. John Brown, Esq., is collector; Wm. Tuck, clerk; George Gatis, supervisor; and Thomas Jones, permit writer. The TAX OFFICE is in the court 21, High street, and Mr. Geo. Thompson is surveyor for Lynn, and the Hundreds of Clackclose, Smithdon, Brotherton, Freebridge-Lynn, and Marshland. The POST OFFICE is in New Conduit street, as stated at page 422, since printing which, a new mail has been established from Yarmouth to Birmingham, via Norwich, Swaffham, Lynn, Grantham, &c., and passing through this town at midnight. The METERS' OFFICE is near the Guild-Hall, and has 24 regular meters, of whom John Middleton is "headman." These meters are appointed by the corporation, and have the occasional assistance of about 16 extra meters. The corporation also appoint the Collector of Town Dues, (W. Swatman, Esq.,) the Haven Master and Collector of Up-river and Petty Tolls, (Mr. W. Cox, who also collects the Eau-Brink Tolls,) the Water-Bailiff, and some other officers. Mr. W. B. Chamberlain collects the Mooring Dues, (1d. per ton,) which amount only to about £900 per annum. The Beaconer has a salary of £350 a-year, for which he places at his own expense, all the buoys and beacons within the Admiralty jurisdiction, except the Thief and Whiting Beacons, which are life beacons, invented by Mr. G. Holditch, the present beaconer, as a refuge for seamen in case of shipwreck, and for which he received a gold medal from the Society of Arts. The Town Dues, from the payment of which freemen are almost entirely exempt, form the largest item of the income of the corporation, averaging for the six years ending Michaelmas, 1832, no less than £2521 per annum; but they vary with the commerce of the town, being levied as lastage, passage, pontage, wharfage, beaconage, &c., in consideration of the corporation keeping up the defences against the sea, and supporting the harbour and other public works.

MARKETS, FAIRS, &c.—In the town are several large malt-houses and breweries, two extensive cork-cutting establishments, a sacking manufactory, several rope and twine makers, a tobacco mill, a corn mill (with several others in the vicinity,) three foundries, several millwrights, agricultural machine makers, &c. The MARKETS, held every Tuesday and Saturday, are well supplied with corn, cattle, and provisions of every description, being numerous attended by farmers, merchants, carriers, and others, from the towns and villages within a circuit of from ten to twenty miles. The great abundance and cheapness of provisions in the markets, together with an ample supply of fish, the great quantity of wine imported, the abundance of corn and wool shipped here, and the extensive breweries of ale and porter in the town, tend to impress the stranger with the idea that Ceres and Bacchus have established their magazines here. Two fairs, granted by the charter of Henry VIII., are held here yearly; one, called the MART, is proclaimed on St. Valentine's Day, and continues for a fortnight or three weeks, for the sale of cloth, toys, and other merchandise; the other, called the CHEESE FAIR, is held on the 17th of October, for cheese, cattle, pedlery, &c.; and on the same day there is a horse fair in the adjacent village of Gaywood, where there is also a stock fair on June 22d. The great Mart is now more conspicuous for pleasure and amusement than business, being much resorted to by genteel company, and the young and gay of every grade from all parts of the county, and affording for their entertainment a large and diversified assemblage of shows and rarities, "animals of every description, tame and wild; giants and dwarfs, tumblers, jugglers," &c. &c., with a medley of music more discordant than that which annoyed the ears of Hogarth's "Enraged Musician." The TUESDAY MARKET-PLACE is a spacious square area, of about three acres, lined with large and handsome houses, and several good inns and retail shops. It formerly had in its centre a beautiful freestone market cross, rebuilt, by subscription, in 1710, and consisting of a peristyle of sixteen Ionic columns, supporting an octagon room, encompassed by an open gallery, and ornamented on four sides with statues of the four cardinal virtues, the whole terminated by a cupola; but this building, being in a dangerous state of decay, was taken down in May, 1831, and the old shambles and fish-market, which stood on each side of it, were removed in 1811 and '12. These buildings are now superseded by the large and convenient New Market House, presenting a handsome cemented front with an upper and lower portico, to the west side of the square, and extending backwards to the fish-market on the Common Staith. The ground floor has long ranges of butchers' stalls, &c., and above them is a spacious and elegantly finished Concert Room. The first stone of this building was laid May 6th, 1830, and the cost of the erection was £3800, subscribed by shareholders, who receive four per cent interest from the corporation, on condition that the latter receive all the tolls. The SATURDAY MARKET-PLACE is at the other end of High street.

adjoining St. Margaret's Church, where the area (still too confined,) was enlarged, and a Market-House, erected in 1802, with two rooms above it, one used as a News-room, and the other as a Billiard-room. The CATTLE MARKET formerly held on the site of the Gas-works, now occupies Paradise field, which was converted into an extensive Market place, in 1826. The land was granted by the corporation, and enclosed, fitted up with pens, &c., by subscription. It has entrances from Broad street, Norfolk street, and Paradise lane. It is well supplied with sheep and cattle on market days, especially on every alternate Tuesday, when there is an extensive show; the great fortnight cattle market, formerly held at the small village of Seitch, being removed here about seven years ago. The Market Tolls are let by the corporation, to Mr. Wm. Hunter, at the yearly rent of £500. Mr. Adam Holditch is the corn inspector.

The WATER-works belong to the corporation, and were established several centuries ago, on a small scale, but were greatly improved under an act passed in 1819, "for more effectually supplying the inhabitants of the borough of King's Lynn with water, and for regulating the markets, and vessels using the port thereof." In 1699, a ship was sent to Norway for pump wood, to make water pipes of, at the expense of the mayor and burgesses. Not having any fresh springs, the town was formerly much distressed for water; but a pure and abundant supply was ultimately obtained by cutting a canal from Kettle-mills to the Gaywood river, which has its grand source from three copious springs, near Grimston Churchyard, about seven miles east of Lynn, and receives in its course the springs of Reffy, and the drain water of a fertile valley. At Kettle-mills, (an ancient building at the north-east angle of the town,) a water-wheel and three pumps raise the water into a large reservoir; but this being found insufficient for the encroaching wants of the town, is now aided by a handsome circular tower engine-house, with a cast-iron cistern at the top, into which the water, after being filtered through a bed of sand, is pumped by a steam-engine of ten horses' power. The cistern will hold upwards of 1400 gallons, and being 54 feet high, the water can be forced in pipes to the highest story of any house in the town. This tower was built in 1829 and '30, when the old wooden pipes, which conveyed the water through all the streets, were taken up, and cast iron ones laid down in their stead. The cost of these improvements was about £10,000. Under the act of 1829, the water-rent varies according to the rents of the houses, the smallest paying 6s., and the largest £6. a-year, a scale in which there is but little equity, as there is as much water consumed in houses of £20 rent, as in those of £50, though the former are charged 26s. and the latter £3. 10s. per annum, an inequality which falls very heavy on the shopkeepers. Mr. Wm. Hunter collects the rents and superintends the works

The GAS WORKS, near the South Gate, were established by the present proprietor, Mr. John Malin, in 1825, at the cost of about £14,000, including the expense of seven miles of piping laid through the streets. The entrance to the works is a handsome cemented lodge gateway, surmounted by a circular dome. In the buildings behind are 18 retorts and two gasometers, each capable of holding 16,000 cubic feet of gas, for which the consumers pay at the rate of 13s. 6d. per 1000 cubic feet. The sum levied in 1831, for paving, lighting, and watching the streets, amounted to £3,060. In the same year the assessed taxes amounted to £2,639; the land tax, to £1,450; the church rates (in both parishes,) to £2,160; and the poor rates, to about £10,000; so that the whole taxation of the borough may be estimated at upwards of £19,000 per annum.

The CORPORATION, under the title of the "Mayor and Burgesses of the Borough of Lenne Regis, commonly called King's Lynn, in the county of Norfolk," enjoy much property, and many privileges and immunities, conferred by nineteen royal charters, of which a brief, but sufficiently comprehensive survey is already inserted from page 392 to 396. The Mayor is elected yearly out of the Aldermen by the Common Council, as prescribed by charter 16th Henry VIII. The 18 Common Councilmen elect the Aldermen (as vacancies occur,) generally from their own body, and they themselves are elected from the Burgesses by the Aldermen; each for life, unless some gross misconduct renders their expulsion necessary; but these elections, and all other municipal elections in England, will in future be conducted according to the provisions of the Corporation Reform Bill, passed in 1835. The charter of 17th Charles II. authorises a fine of £60 for refusing to serve the office of Mayor, £40 for refusing the office of alderman, and £20 for that of Common Councilman. The first son of a freeman is entitled to the freedom of the borough after his father's death, as also is every person who has served a seven years' apprenticeship to a resident freeman. The freedom is likewise acquired by gift, and by purchase, at such price as may be fixed by the corporate body, but generally £150. There are at present about 260 resident, and 70 non-resident freemen, among whom there are but few shopkeepers. The admission fees, including 20s. for the stamp, are £1. 16s. The High Steward is elected by the Mayor, Alderman, and Common Council for life, and usually from the House of Peers; and is entitled to a salary of £10 per annum, which is always devoted to some charitable purpose. He does not interfere in the business or jurisdiction of the corporation. The Mayor superintends the police, is clerk of the markets, president of all the civil courts, and a commissioner of all the local acts of parliament relating to the borough. He had a salary of £200 per annum till 1830, when it was discontinued, because the funds would not admit of its being paid. The Recorder has a salary of £30. 6s. 8d. per annum, is a magistrate, and sits as judge in the criminal court, and is always a barrister. The Town Clerk attends the business of the Quarter Sessions, is clerk of the peace, and solicitor to the corporation, with a yearly salary of £350, which, with customary emoluments of office, is swelled to about £500. The two Coroners have the usual fees on inquests, execute the office of Sheriff, and are appointed out of the Common Councilmen, usually the two senior ones. The yearly salary of the Chamberlain is £150; the Gaoler, £100; the Sword-Bearer, £18. 10s.; the senior sergeant, £50, the second £45, and third and fourth £40 each; the Town-Crier, £15; and the Mayor's Bearer, £40. 16s. One of the most valuable privileges of the burgesses, (especially the merchants,) is their exemption from the greater part of the town-dues; and, by charter, they have the exclusive right of trading in the borough, but this has been practically disused more than a century. Until the passing of the Reform Bill, they had the exclusive right of voting for two Members of Parliament; but the elective franchise is now open to the occupiers of houses of the yearly rent of £10 or upwards, and confined to such of the freemen only as are resident in the borough, or within the distance of seven miles. In 1835, the number of voters was 857; viz., 257 freemen, and 600 householders. The greater part of the freemen are sailors and ship-masters. At the last election, which terminated January 8th, 1835, the votes for the three candidates were—for Lord George Bentinck, 531; Sir S. Canning, 416; & Sir J. Scott Lillie, 238.

PROPERTY AND INCOME:—The real property of the corporation consists chiefly of land and houses, partly within the borough, and partly at a distance. Their Snettisham estate, 763a. 38r. (derived from the Crown, and by purchase,) is let for £630, and their farm at Wiggshall St. Germain's, (164a. 3r. 19r.) for £250 per annum. Their other land is in small enclosures, chiefly in the borough, and amounts to 466a. 23r., producing, with their houses, about £2,100 per annum. These rents, added to the town-dues, wharfage, and market-tolls, estimated at £3,182 per ann.; the mart tolls, with fee-farm and quit-rents, £177; the interest of charity money and stock, £221. 11s. 2d.; the interest of other money, £80; and the court-leet returns, mayoress' pin-money, &c., £16. 4s. 11d.;—swell their annual income to upwards of £6,600; of which about £650 is paid on account of the several charities of which they are trustees; so that their available income is about £6,000 a-year. Out of this they have to pay the salaries of officers, &c., to keep the haven, quays, bridges, sluices, moorings, &c., in repair; to pay the interest of £7,800, bonded debts, £1200 a-year in annuities, (purchased of them for about £14,000,) and £300 yearly to the curate and lecturer of St. Margaret's, which, with some other incidental disbursements, swelled their expenditure, in 1832, to upwards of £6,000, as appears by the Report of Majesty's Commissioners, appointed to inquire into the existing state of municipal corporations. The two Commissioners who visited Lynn were G. Long and J. Buckle, Esqrs., who opened their court of inquiry in the Guildhall, on the 16th of November, 1833, and closed it on the 22nd of the same month. They appeared to be generally satisfied with the conduct of the corporate body, though some complaints were brought against them by a few of the principal inhabitants, asserting that much of the corporation property, in the town, was let below its value, to members of the corporate body, and their friends; that great partiality was shewn in the granting or selling of the freedom of the borough, and in the election of aldermen and common councilmen; that most of the merchants, and all the shopkeepers, were excluded from these offices, and but few of them were freemen. The corporation, however, shewed that the lands and tenements leased at small rents, were so leased in consideration of large fines paid by the lessees, or of their stipulating to make such improvements on the property as would ornament the town, and be beneficial to the corporation after the expiration of the leases. Though their expenditure had exceeded their income more than £24,500 during the last 50 years, it was shewn that this debt had been occasioned by extraordinary expenses.

The CIVIL AND CRIMINAL COURTS, of which the mayor, recorder, and aldermen are the justices, were established by the charters of Henry VIII. and James I. (See p. 394 and '5.) The Court of Quarter Sessions is held regularly; the mayor and some of the aldermen always attend; and the recorder, either himself or by deputy. Its jurisdiction is exclusive, and all offences are tried in it except those of high treason, and those in which the corporation are interested,—these being sent to the county assizes. The power of executing felons has not been exercised here since 1801. (See p. 398.) Petty Sessions are held three or four times a week, (always on a Monday,) and some of the magistrates are always in readiness to attend at the hall, whenever any case occurs that may require their immediate attention. The Guild hall Court is a civil court of pleas and plaints, and is held once a month, but it is not much resorted to; seldom more than three writs being issued during the year, as the parties generally settle before trial. The process is by bailable or serviceable writ. The Admiralty Court is held monthly, and extends its jurisdiction to the limits named at page 391. It is now confined to the licensing and regulation of fishermen, and matters relating to wrecks; its criminal jurisdiction (vide page 395) being never exercised. The fishermen's licenses are granted for life, and cost 10s. 6d., besides the stamp; but most of them fish without license, and being all poor, the corporation have deemed it useless to prosecute them. The Court Leet is held once a-year, when the Headboroughs return their verdict. They constitute the leet jury, and are twenty in number; two from each ward being appointed by the aldermen of the respective wards. There is only one common councilman among them, and he is the foreman; the rest are all respectable tradesman, not necessarily freemen. Their duty is to inspect weights and measures, and to see that the provisions exposed for sale are wholesome. The Borough Court of Requests, authorised by an act of the 16th of George III., is held once every calendar month, for the recovery of debts under 40s. The highest amount of costs is 5s. 9d., including 1s. 3d. for the summons. The commissioners of this Court are the mayor, recorder, aldermen, ten senior common councilmen, the guardians of the poor of the parish of St. Margaret, and the overseers of South Lynn All Saints. Three are competent to act, and seldom more than that number attend. Mr. Robert Whincop is the clerk. The Police Force consists of 20 constables, appointed annually, two for each ward, and six extra constables, viz., the four sergeants at mace, with the mayor's and governor's (of the Workhouse) beadles, and the sword-bearer. There are also five night watchmen. During the last thirty years, there have been in the borough only three or four popular breaches of the peace, requiring the aid of special constables; one of which was in 1814, when there was a riot amongst the sailors, originating in a strike for wages: the ringleaders were apprehended and lodged in gaol; but the mob speedily dispossessed the special constables of their staves, broke open the gaol, and released the rioters; after which the military were sent for, and the offenders were retaken, and subsequently tried at the assizes. At the contested election in 1822, a turbulent body of bankers employed in the Eau-Brink cut, pulled down and burned the hustings; the election was consequently postponed, the military called in, and the ringleaders, being secured, were sent to Norwich, where they were tried, convicted, and punished.

The GUILD-HALL, sometimes called Trinity-Hall, from its being anciently the hall of the Trinity Guild, is a venerable building, in the Saturday Market place, presenting a chequered front of flint and stone, and having behind it several modern additions of white brick, comprising elegant Assembly and Card Rooms, which, by means of large folding-doors, can be opened out, so as to form one apartment, 87 feet long, 25 broad, and 22 in height. Adjoining these, are the new Council Room and the Magistrates' Room, each handsomely furnished. The Stone Hall occupies the greater portion of the ancient part of the building, being the front chamber, lighted by Gothic windows, approached by a stone staircase, and having under it the old prison cells. It is 58 feet long, 27 broad, and proportionably lofty. In it are held the principal courts of the borough, and also adjourned Quarter Sessions for the county of Norfolk, in January, April, and October. In the assembly room and other apartments are many excellent paintings; amongst which are portraits of Charles I., Lord Geo. Bentinck, Sir Thos. White, Lord Walpole, Sir Robert Walpole, Sir Benjamin Keene, King John, Henry IV., Edward VI., George III., and Lord Nelson. The two latter are copies by that talented native artist,

Samuel Lane, son of the late collector of the customs, and brother to the present town-clerk. The borough Gaol, which adjoins the Guild-hall, was considerably enlarged about seven years ago, and has a neat white brick front, with apartments for the gaoler; and in the rear are cells and lodging-rooms, with four day-rooms, and four small yards for the prisoners. The debtors and felons are kept separate, and every other classification is adopted which the confined limits of the prison will allow. It has accommodations for about fifty prisoners, but the number incarcerated at one time seldom exceeds thirty, and the imprisonment of female debtors but rarely occurs.

CORPORATION AND OFFICERS (1834-5)

The Mayor is chosen Aug. 29th, and enters on his office Sept. 29th.

MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT, (elected Jan. 8th, 1835)—Lord George Bentinck and Sir Stratford Canning.

HIGH STEWARD—The Right Hon. Earl of Orford.

Mayor—Lionel Self, jun. Esq. | Recorder, M. West, Esq.

ALDERMEN—Lionel Self, jun.; Geo. Hogge, Scarlet Everard, Joseph Lawrence, Wm. Swatman, John P. Blencowe, Thomas Allen, Alexander Bowker, Edw. Everard, Wm. Everard, and Lionel Self, jun., Esqs. (One vacant.)

COMMON COUNCIL—Messrs. Rt. Whincop, Fountaine Hogg, Jas. Bramall Tooley, Saml. Hadley, Wm. Hogg, Edw. Self, Wm. Lane, Wm. Taylor, Thos. Ingle, Jas. E. Everard, J. P. Blencowe, jun., Jonathan Townley, Rd. Bagge, Oxley English, Fras. Hulton, Edward Bagge, and Philip Wilson. (One vacant.)

CONORERS—S. Hadley and E. Self, Esqs.

TOWN CLERK—Francis Lane, Esq. | TOWN CHAMBERLAIN—Mr. C. Burcham.

Gaoler—Mr. Wm. Davey | Sword Bearer—Mr. J. Melton.

Sergeants at Mace—Wm. Beeson, jun., Jas. Dawson, T. Groom, & Thos. Wright.

Mayor's Beadle—D. Rawlins. | Workhouse Beadle—W. Andrews.

Deputy Clerk of the Markets—Mr. Wm. Hunter.

Corn Inspector—Mr. Adam Holditch | Town Crier—John Stockings.

Stamp Office, Tuesday Market place—Mr. Wm. Taylor, distributor.

Sheriff's Officer for Norfolk—Matthew Watts, 19, Tower street.

(For Custom House, Excise, & other Port Officers, see p. 404 and '5.)

Under the CORPORATION REFORM BILL, passed in 1835, the ten old wards of the borough (see p. 332) are to be consolidated into three new wards, viz., NORTH WARD, comprehending North end, Jews lane, Kettlewell, and Chequer wards; MIDDLE WARD, including Trinity Hall, New Conduit, Sedgeford lane, and Paradise wards; and SOUTH WARD, containing Stonegate and South Lynn All Saints. As has been seen at page 389, the town has on the land side a wet foss, formerly encompassed by a strongly fortified wall, of which extensive ruins still remain, between the Red Mount and Kettle Mills; but the whole of that part of it called Guanoek Wall, extending to the South Gate, has been removed, and its site is partly occupied by two rows of neat houses. The Public Walks, (see page 390,) for which the inhabitants are indebted to the liberality of the corporation, are approached by a fine avenue from the London road to the Red Mount, and are thence extended along the inner bank of the foss and the ruined wall; comprising, with the plantations, 6A. 32P. of land. Respecting the walls and fortifications of Lynn, Blomefield is entirely silent; and Mackerell affords no further information, than that the South Gate was built by Thomas Thirlby, in 1502: but the East Gate was evidently of the time of Edward III., and being inconveniently low, was taken down in 1800. The SOUTH GATE still remains, and is a large and handsome tower, forming a noble entrance to the town, having a lofty pointed archway for carriages, and a small one for foot passengers. The external front is of stone, and the other sides of brick, with stone quoins; the former is washed by the Esk rivulet, formerly crossed by a draw-bridge, but now by a brick arch. In the upper part of the tower, is a large apartment, lighted with square-headed windows, in lancet-shaped compartments. The WALL was constructed of brick, with rough flint and other stones imbedded in strong mortar, and strengthened on the inner side by pointed arches, springing from each other, and covered by a platform of earth, forming the rampart, above which rose the parapet and battlements, of which but little now remains. The RED MOUNT, or our Lady's Chapel, (vide page 389,) stands on a conical mound, near the foss, and consists of an octagonal tower of red brick; but within the external walls is a handsome cruciform chapel of stone, measuring from east to west, 17 feet 7 inches, by 14 feet from north to south, and 13 in height. The roof of this chapel has numerous groins, &c., and exactly resembles the much admired ceiling of the chapel, at King's College, Cambridge. The tower rises a story higher than the chapel, and sufficient space is left to walk between the latter and the external walls, which are about twenty-six feet in diameter, with buttresses at the angles, faced with stone. Beneath the chapel are two apartments, and from them an arched passage leads down to the vaults, or cells, below the surface of the mount, formerly lighted by small gratings, near the roof; and one of them has evidently been used as a dormitory, there being still the plaster-bed of a tessellated grave-stone. This very elegant and singular little building was for many years neglected, and consequently reduced to a filthy and dilapidated state; the lower apartment being used as a stable; but it was thoroughly cleansed and repaired a few years ago, by its owners, the corporation, to whom its wanton destruction would have been a perpetual reproach. Its origin and founder are unknown, though it is supposed to have belonged to the "Guild of our Lady,"—a fraternity which was formed here in 1329. The Guild of St. Fabian and St. Sebastian also occasionally assembled in its chapel; where the profits, and offerings at the shrine of the Virgin, amounted, in the first of Henry VIII., to £16. 10s., whilst those at St. Nicholas' chapel only produced £6. 4s., and those at St. James's, £2. 6s. 9d. Besides this, there were formerly here five other ancient chapels, viz., Our Lady's, on the Bridge; St. Anne's, at the North end; St. Catherine's and St. Lawrence's, the sites of which are unknown; and St. James's; but no vestiges of these are now extant, except the latter, which forms part of the Workhouse. The MONASTIC INSTITUTIONS of Lynn comprised a Benedictine priory, attached to St. Margaret's church; a college, the hospitals of St. John and St. Mary Magdalen, four lazar-houses, and five priories, most of them founded in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, in and before the reign of Edward I.; but of these, like the above-named chapels, but few vestiges now remain, except the hospital of St. Mary Magdalen, (see almshouses,) and the lofty and elegant hexagonal tower of the GRAY FRIARY, founded in 1264, by Thomas Feltham, on the site of the original town mill. The tower serves as a good landmark for ships entering the harbour, and being on an open plot of ground, near the London road, forms an interesting object in the approach from the south. It is lighted by pointed windows, ascended by a spiral staircase, in a small turret, on its eastern side, and rests on the lofty groined archway, which formed the intersection of the transepts with the nave and chancel of the priory church. The BLACK FRIARY stood in Clough lane, and was founded by Thos. Gedney, in 1272. The AUSTIN FRIARY was a stately edifice, standing between Austin street and Chapel street, partly on the site of the Black Horse public-house, where, in making some alterations in the stable a few years ago, several human skeletons were dug up. An arch of a gateway is all that now remains of this convent of Augustine friars, which was granted at the dissolution, with the Black and Grey Friaries, to John Eyre. The Friars de Penitentia settled at Lynn before the 5th of Henry I.; but where their house stood cannot now be ascertained. The College of priests, who had the charge of the grammar school, was founded by Thos. Thoresby, who was mayor of Lynn in 1477, 1482, and 1502.—Much of the building still remains in College lane. The site of St. John's Hospital is unknown, though in it Sir Wm. Sautre, priest of St. Margaret's, when taken up for heresy, was obliged to read his recantation. The White Friary, in South Lynn, stood near the confluence of the rivers Nar and Ouse, in the field still called the Friars, but the whole has disappeared, except the small outer gateway. Attached to some of the religious houses, are two ancient houses,—one, the Mitre Inn, in Baker lane; and the other the Greenland Fishery public-house, in Bridge street. The former is said by tradition to have been a nunnery; and in the latter is a chamber, curiously painted in panels, with verses of Scripture, and figures, representing the rich man and Lazarus, Faith, Hope, Charity, &c. &c., all of which were completely covered with many coats of whitewash, till a short time ago, when they were accidentally discovered, and the walls scraped and washed down to the paintings, which appear to have been done in the time of James I. Among the numerous GUILDS, or fraternities, associated here, for religious, as well as social and commercial purposes, the largest and most respectable was Trinity Guild, which had its rise previous to the reign of King John, and was endowed with the Common Stanth Wharf, and its appurtenances, valued at £42. 6s. 8d. per annum, out of which £30 - - - - - tributed yearly among particulars of the accounts of the various departments of the society were given by the Secretary, Mr. George. The report showed that the society had been very successful in its work during the year, and that the accounts were in a very satisfactory state.

ADMINISTRATIVE AND FINANCIAL

The accounts were then read and approved by the members. The Secretary then read a letter from the President, Mr. George, in which he expressed his satisfaction with the work of the society during the year, and his confidence in the future.

The President then proposed a resolution of thanks to the Secretary and the Treasurer, Mr. George, for their faithful and efficient service during the year. The resolution was carried unanimously.

The President then proposed a resolution of thanks to the members of the society for their faithful and efficient service during the year. The resolution was carried unanimously.

The President then proposed a resolution of thanks to the friends of the society for their faithful and efficient service during the year. The resolution was carried unanimously.

The President then proposed a resolution of thanks to the members of the society for their faithful and efficient service during the year. The resolution was carried unanimously.

The President then proposed a resolution of thanks to the friends of the society for their faithful and efficient service during the year. The resolution was carried unanimously.

angles of the tower, on the south side of the great western window, consist at the base of a series of lofty but slender columns, above which are two tiers of niches, formed by small columns and pointed arches. Over the west window is a statue of St. Margaret, and both the towers have handsome pinnacles. The whole church is about 240 feet long, and 132 broad, and is lighted by about 73 windows, nearly all in the pointed style; and most of them formerly decorated with stained glass. The roof is supported by 22 clustered columns, from which spring Saxon arches, so low as to render the galleries in the aisles unpleasantly dark. The churchyard is small, but an extensive new burial ground was laid out and consecrated in 1803, adjoining the old cemetery belonging to St. James's chapel, now the Workhouse. This ground is neatly enclosed, and thickly covered with grave stones. It has a small brick chapel, in which the burial service is performed. The benefice of St. Margaret's, with St. Nicholas' chapel annexed, is a perpetual curacy, not in charge, and possessing neither glebe nor parsonage house, but augmented, in 1821, with a parliamentary grant of £1000, now vested in £1131 10s 10d three per cent. reduced Bank Annuities. The Dean and Chapter of Norwich are the patrons, and the Rev. Stephen Aden has been incumbent since 1791. He has no tithes except a few very trifling ones, under the denomination of herbage money. Being superannuated, his duty is performed by the Rev. George Munford, and the other assistant ministers, who perform duty both here and at St. Nicholas' chapel, are the Rev. T. E. Haukinson, curate of St. Nicholas, and the Rev. Edward Edwards, lecturer; to the former of whom the corporation allow a yearly stipend of £200, and to the latter £160 per annum. They also appoint the latter; but the former is appointed by the Dean and Chapter. The lecturer is chaplain to the corporation, and has held his office since 1784, and has a house belonging to St. Nicholas' chapel. William Plowright is the clerk; J. F. Reddie organist; and Gilbert and Holson, sextons.

ST. NICHOLAS' CHAPEL, in St. Anne's street, near the north extremity of the town, is a chapel of ease to St. Margaret's, and one of the handsomest and largest in the kingdom. It measures 200 feet in length, and 78 in breadth, and is open from end to end, the whole forming a spacious and elegant nave and side aisles, separated by two rows of eleven slender clustered columns, supporting an equal number of lofty and acutely pointed arches, above which are twelve clerestory windows on each side, and below them, in the aisles, are elegant windows opposite each arch, with two very large ones at the east and west ends, exhibiting a pleasing mixture of curvilinear and rectangular tracery, with embattled ornaments, upon the transepts. The oak roof is much admired, the beams and cranes being relieved and ornamented with trellis work, strawberry leaves, &c. and supported by angels with out-spread wings. The altar-piece, given by Edmund Hoake, Esq., was painted by R. Schrader, and is ornamented with figures of Moses and Aaron. The plate is numerous and valuable. The font, given by Bishop Harsnett, in 1627, is of finely wrought stone, standing on a pyramidal flight of steps, and surmounted by a lofty oak cover of tabernacle work, giving to the whole the appearance of an ornamental cross. The windows were new glazed, and galleries erected on the north and south sides about the year 1805, and the whole fabric was thoroughly cleaned and repaired, in 1825, when the broken monuments were restored.

building will now seat about 1,000 hearers, besides 300 children from the Lancasterian school. At the west end is a small freestone tower, containing eight bells, and surmounted by a short octagon spire, raised in the place of one much more lofty, which was blown down on Sept. 8th, 1741, by the same storm that destroyed the spire of St. Margaret's. On the south side is an elegant porch, abundantly decorated with sculptured niches, shields, canopies, &c., and having a finely groined roof, and a richly carved entrance door. This elegant chapel is supposed to have been built in the reign of Edward III., on the site of a smaller edifice, founded about 1160, by Wm. Turbus, bishop of Norwich, who gave it to the monks of Norwich, as a chapel of ease to St. Margaret's; but several fruitless efforts have been made to make it parochial, the last of which was in 1609. Among the numerous monumental memorials, is an elegant sarcophagus of white marble, having on one side the figure of peace, and on the other a medallion bust of Sir Benjamin Keene, K.B., who was born in 1697, and under the patronage of Sir Robt. Walpole, filled several important offices of state, and was sent ambassador extraordinary to Spain. He died at Madrid, in 1757, but his remains were brought to England, and interred in this chapel. In the vestry is a library, formed by subscription, to which the Earl of Orford was a liberal contributor. The officiating ministers are the same as at St. Margaret's. Mr. G. Goddard is the clerk, and S. Roper and R. Pemmenton, sextons.

ALL SAINTS', the parish Church of South Lynn, (see p. 391,) is an ancient cruciform structure, having a nave, chancel, aisles, small transept, and a belfry. The tower, which stood at the west end, had five bells; but it fell down in 1763, after which the materials were used in repairing the body, and erecting the belfry, which contains only one small bell. The nave is divided from the aisles by four pointed arches on each side, springing from slender clustered columns. All the fine brasses were pulled up, when the church was repaired, and sold for £1. 7s., at the rate of 6d. per lb. In the chancel is a handsome mural monument in memory of Harvey Goodwin, Esq., an eminent attorney, and charitable friend of the poor. He died in 1819, and this memorial of his worth was raised at the cost of more than 200 subscribers. The benefice is a VICARAGE, valued in K.B. at £18. 6s. 8d. The Bishop of Ely is the patron, and the Rev. Thos Berkeley Greaves is incumbent. The Vicarage-house, near the churchyard, was built by John Narris, in 1447. It is a large antique mansion, with a large garden, in which a richly carved stone font was dug up a few years ago, supposed to have been removed from the church.

The DISSENTERS of Lynn are numerous, having six chapels, some of which are large and handsome buildings. The Friends' Meeting-House, in a retired situation behind New Conduit-street, is a plain brick edifice, rebuilt in 1774, and having a small burial ground, with two dwelling-houses adjoining. Their founder, Geo. Fox, visited Lynn in 1655 and 1682. The Independent chapel, in Broad-street, was built by the Presbyterians, and is now under the ministry of the Rev. Wm. Snell. Attached to it is a Sunday School, at which also 30 day scholars are educated by subscription. The Unitarian chapel, in court No. 127, Norfolk street, was built in 1811, at the cost of about £1000. The Rev. Wm. Selby is its pastor. The Particular Baptist chapel, in Broad-street, was built in 1808, and has a large Sunday School, built in 1835, when the chapel was also enlarged. The congregation originated in the reign of James II., and the Rev. W. F. Poile is its present minister. The Wesleyan Methodist chapel, in Tower street, is a spacious and handsome brick building, erected at the cost of about £4500, in 1812, when the chapel in North Clough-lane, had become too small for the congregation, and is now used as a warehouse. The new chapel will seat about 1500 hearers, and has a good house for the minister, and a Sunday School for 300 children. The Primitive Methodist chapel, on London road, was built about seven years ago. The CATHOLIC CHAP in Coronation square, is a small building, erected in 1828, by the present pr

the Rev. Peter Louis Dacheux, at the cost of £600. It is endowed with £40 a year, bequeathed by two ladies named Collinson, for a Catholic priest to officiate here to travellers and others. The priest previously occupied a hired room. The Jews have a Synagogue in court No. 9, High st. and a burial ground at Mill-street terrace.

The GRAMMAR SCHOOL was founded in the reign of Edward IV. or that of Henry VII., by Thomas Thorneby, together with the college, (see p. 414.) and endowed with lands in Gaywood, then worth £8 per annum, to be paid to the master of the charnel-house chapel, for teaching songs and grammar. After the dissolution of the monastic institutions in Lynn, the crown seized the endowment of this school, but Edward VI. vested it with the corporation, who allow the master a yearly salary of 60 guineas, besides the free use of a handsome dwelling, in St. James-street, with a good school-room behind it; the former was built about 120, and the latter about fourteen years ago. He has seldom more than one or two free scholars; Latin and Greek being of but little use to the poor. The EXHIBITIONS for pupils from this school are of the following yearly amounts, viz., £11 for two boys at Emanuel college, left by John and Elizabeth Titeley, in 1533 and 1595; £2 each for two boys in any college, left by J. Piermon, in 1623, and A. Hall, in 1597; £3. 11s. 8d. for one boy in Trinity Coll. by Rev. T. Hope, in 1653, and £6 for one boy in St. John's Coll. left by T. Thurin, in 1708. Hope's is paid by the Rector of N. Racton, out of the Notley tithes; and Hall's out of the house at the corner of High Bridge, next New Conduit street. The other five are in trust with the corporation.* The Old Charity School, in the chamber over the fire engine house, adjoining the north tower of St. Margaret's church, was founded in 1768, and is supported by subscription, for the education of fifty girls. The Lancasterian School, at St. James' end, was established in 1800, and is supported by subscription for the education of 300 boys. It has an endowment of £8 a year from the paving commissioners, as the interest of £145, left by Henry Babbeck, Esq. in 1826, and Fras. Boyse, in 1824; also an annuity of £2. 10s. from Ward's charity.

LITERARY INSTITUTIONS.—The Subscription Library, in court No. 51, High street, was commenced in 1797, and now possesses about 5,000 volumes, belonging to about 170 shareholders, who subscribe 21s. each per annum. Mr. John Skippin is sub-librarian. The Mechanics' Institution, in White Lion court, Norfolk street, was established in 1827, and has now a library of 500 volumes, and 60 yearly subscribers of 12s. each, besides honorary members, who pay 21s. per annum. Mr. John Allen is librarian. The Church Library, at St. Nicholas chapel, was founded in 1617, and is now consolidated with that of St. Margaret's, commenced about 1630. This bibliographical concern comprises about 1700 volumes, of which 441 were bequeathed by Dr. T. Thurn, rector of Gaywood. In 1799, an attempt was made to establish a weekly Northampton here, under the title of "The Lynn and Wisbech Packet," but it did not succeed, though persevered in for nearly two years. The Theatre is a large and handsome building of white brick, built in 1815, near the Grey Friars' tower. It is visited during the months of February and March, by Mr. Smith's company of comedians.

Among the EMINENT MEN to whom Lynn has given birth, are the following.—Nicholas of Lynn, the friar, distinguished as a musician, mathematician, and astrologer, died in 1360; Wm. Sawtre, the first martyr for the Reformation in England, being burnt at Smithfield, in 1401; Wm. Gale, an Augustine friar, eminent for piety and piety, died 1507; Sir It. Kene, whose monument is noticed at page 417; and W. Whittingham, bookseller, and editor of "Parkin's Constitution of Blomefield's Norfolk," &c. died 1797. Benj. Mackerell and Wm. Richards, the historians of Lynn, were not natives of the town. The former resided at Norwich, where he published his history of Lynn, in 1737. Mr. Richards was a native of Wales, but for some years a Baptist Minister in Lynn. He died 1818.

The LYNN DISPENSARY, for affording medical and surgical aid to the lame and sick poor, was established about 30 years ago. It is supported by annual subscrip.

* ETUENNE ARAM, a former usher of the Lynn Grammar School, was apprehended here in 1766, for a murder committed at Knearesborough, in 1744. His defence at his trial in York, was plausible and masterly, but availed him nothing.

tions, and the yearly payment of £130, out of the poor-rates. Dr. Wayte is the physician, and E. Hillyard the house surgeon. The WEST NORFOLK & LYNN HOSPITAL is a large and handsome edifice, of white brick, erected in a field of three acres, near the London road, in 1836, at the cost of more than £2000. It is liberally supported by donations and yearly subscriptions, as a medical and surgical institution, for the relief of in and out patients, under similar regulations to those of the Norfolk Hospital, at Norwich. Mr. Henry Smythe is the house surgeon, and Mrs. Judson the matron. Two physicians and two surgeons lend their aid gratuitously. The Lynn Self-Supporting Institution for the Sick and Hurt, was established in 1834, and those poor who participate of its benefits contribute a penny per week each, but only a halfpenny per head for the members of one family. Here is also a Lying-in Charity, (instituted 1301;) a Society for Visiting and Relieving the Sick and Indigent, (established 1826;) and several other benevolent societies for the relief of the poor. The Savings' Bank, at 113, High street, was opened in 1817, and has now deposits amounting to nearly £35,000, belonging to 1170 individuals, and 24 Charitable and Friendly Societies. Mr. Jas. Burch, sec.

The HOSPITAL OF ST. MARY MAGDALEN, stands in Gaywood parish, and was founded by Petrus Capellanus, in 1145, for a prior and twelve brothers and sisters. At the dissolution, it was granted to the Corporation, as an almshouse for eleven poor aged women of Lynn, and one man to read prayers. It was burnt down during the siege of Lynn, in 1643, and rebuilt in 1649. It consists of 12 dwellings and a small chapel, forming a quadrangle, with a grass plot in the centre, and gardens round the exterior, for the use of the inmates. The reader has 11s. 6d., and each of the women 8s. 6d. per week, besides 1½ chaldron of coals yearly. FRAMINGHAM'S HOSPITAL, in Paradise field, Broad street, was founded in 1676, by John Heathcote and Henry Framingham, and has since been augmented with £104, left by J. Goodwin, in 1728; £70, by Sarah Dexter, in 1753; £106, by George Hogge, in 1760; £250, by Wm. Pagon, in 1769; £20, by Pp. Case, in 1784; £330, by Ann Carlton, in 1790; £250, by Eliz. Bateman, in 1802; £2,100, by Thos. Cooke, in 1810; £400, by Aldermen Everard and Bagge, in 1816 and 1834; and £12 a year, given by Edw. Robinson, in 1716. H. Framingham, Esq., the principal founder, endowed it with £1000, laid out in the purchase of sixty acres of land, at Setch. The hospital forms a quadrangle, with gardens and dwellings for twelve poor men, who have each 6s. per week, and several small yearly payments. St. JAMES'S HOSPITAL, opposite the new burial ground, was founded in the fourteenth century, and has since been endowed with £200, left by John Loyson, in 1581; £30, by Joan Mayes, in 1650; £100, by Giles Bridgeman, in 1680; £50, by Jas. Boardman, in 1740; £70, by Sarah Dexter, in 1753; £300, by Martha Kett, in 1764; £300, by Ann Carlton, in 1790; £250, by Eliz. Bateman, in 1802; and £2,300, three per cents. by Thomas Cooke, in 1810. The hospital now affords lodgings, and a weekly allowance of 7s. 3d. each, for eleven poor women, besides a man to read prayers, who has 9s. per week. The hospital was rebuilt, at the cost of £750, in 1822, by Mr. Benjamin Smith, who, in 1829, gave to the Corporation £1,000, for building and endowing the WESLEYAN ALMSHOUSES, which stand near St. James's, and have dwellings for eight poor women. The endowment consists of the rent of an adjoining house, let for £12 a year, and the interest of £250, being what was left of the £1,000, after erecting the buildings. VALENGER'S ALMSHOUSES, in South Lynn, were founded for four women, in 1605, by Thos. Valenger, town clerk of Lynn, who endowed them with £20 per annum. They were rebuilt in 1806, and were endowed with £700 three per cent. consols, by Thomas Cooke, in 1810, and the interest of £19, left by Francis Boyse, in 1824. Each inmate has 4s. 6d. per week, and a chaldron of coals yearly. The Corporation are trustees of all the almshouses, and likewise of the following BENEFACTIONS, for yearly distribution among the poor, viz., £20, in money and coals, as interest of £300, left by Thos. Grave and Thos. Sandyll, in 1598 and 1613; interest of £10, left by Matthew Clarke, in 1623; 20s. to the ministers of St. Margarets, and 24s. to the poor, from £45, left by John Stogers, in 1670; £6, yearly, as interest of £100, by Benj. Holly, in 1704; £8 a year, as interest of £200, left by Robert Sparrow, in 1714, for apprentice fees, with poor children—(in 1834, the Corporation had £220 in hand, besides the principal;) 36s., from £36, left by John Kidd, in 1714; 30s., in coals, from £30, left by Margery Brock, in 1721. £5, from £100 left by Peter Ward, in 1721, for the poor, and schooling two children: £600, left in 1736 by Rt. A-borne, in trust, to pay yearly £9 to the inmates of St. Mary Magdalen's, Framingham's, and St. James's hospitals: £12, in money and coals, to the poor, and 30s. to the minister, for a sermon yearly; interest of £680, left by John Horne, in 1731, for apprentice fees: £4. 10s., from £100, left by Jas. Boardman, 4½s., in coals, from £50, left by Rebecca Everard, in 1753; interest of £100, in coals, left by Rev. W. Everard, in 1777; 36s., from £36, left by John Stapleton, in 1780: £16, as interest of £200, for apprentice fees, left by Mary Leake, in 1781; interest of £100, left by Samuel Browne, in 1784; £11 15s. 2d., from £392. 10s., three per cent. consols, left by Cath. Barwell, in 1792, for coals; interest of £200, left by Eliz. Marshall, in 1797; £5, from £100, left by Edw. Everard, in 1816; the interest of £400, by Henry Birkbeck,—half to Dispensary, and rest to disabled seamen; and the interest of £300, bequeathed by Thos. Oldmeadow, in 1833, for the readers at Framingham's, St. James's, and St. Mary Magdalen's hospitals. The Corporation are also trustees of the following Loans, bequeathed for the purpose of being lent, free of interest, to young tradesmen; viz., £20, left by Jane Gurley, in 1835; upwards of £300, every fifth year, as the rent of an estate, left by John Crane, in 1831. and £100, in every 24 years, from Sir Thos. White's charity, left in 1066. In 1834, the Corporation had £830 in hand, belonging to the latter charity, which ought to be lent in sums of £25 each, for ten years, without interest. Crane's charity is now distributed among the poor every fifth year, reserving only £300, lent in sums of £30, for twenty years. In 1603, Wm. Cleave bequeathed to the poor of St. Margaret's parish, the rents of a large house in High street, at the corner of Norfolk street, now occupied by Messrs. Bayes. In 1813, Samuel Lane gave the dividends of £85. 12s. 4d., three per cent. stock, for the relief of the pensioners on the muster roll establishment at Lynn. In 1824, Franc. Bayes left the interest of £500, to be distributed in bread among the poor, and £19 each to the Independent and Methodist Sunday Schools.

The Workhouse, for St. Margaret's parish, consists of St. James' chapel, and some additional buildings. This chapel was founded by Bishop Turbus, in 1146; but after the dissolution, it was re-founded, as an hospital for poor and impotent people, in trust with the Corporation, and endowed, in 1545, with a tax of 4d. per chaldron on all coals brought into Lynn, now yielding about £450 per annum, applied with the poor rates. The chapel having become ruinous in 1560, the nave, the spire, and part of the tower, were taken down, and the materials used in repairing the lofty chancel and transept, which were again thoroughly repaired by the Corporation, in 1682, and divided into stories, the highest floor of which extends through the pointed arches, which spring from lofty clustered columns. It was then an hospital, for fifty poor men, women, and children; but it has since been greatly enlarged, and placed under the control of the Guardians of the Poor, two of whom, and one overseer, are appointed for each of the nine wards of the parish.—The number of inmates in the Workhouse is generally about 170, fed at the cost of about 2s. 1½d. per head per week, and some of them are employed in spinning hemp, weaving sackings, &c. Attached to the Workhouse, is St. James' burial ground—(see p. 416)—and an Infirmary, for 40 sick patients, erected in 1823, at the cost of £1,000. The poor rates have lately averaged about £8,000 per annum, levied in 3s. quarterly rates on three fifths of the assessed rental, and 6s. per cent. per quarter on the value of the ships and stocks of the merchants and tradesmen. Wm. Everard, Esq. is governor of the court of guardians; John Black, master of the Workhouse; and John Ashley, disburser. The Workhouse for South Lynn All Saints parish, (see p. 391.) is a large and ancient brick house, in Friar street, purchased by the overseers about seven years ago, but occupied for its present purpose more than sixty years. The number of paupers in the house is usually about thirty, clothed and fed at the cost of about 5s. 1d. per head per week. The poor rates, in 1835, amounted to £1328, collected in four rates, at 1s. 3d. in the pound on the assessed rental. Mr. J. Goodwin is master of the workhouse, and Assistant Overseer.

DIRECTORY OF KING'S LYNN.

LIST OF STREETS, LANES, &c.

*Many of the streets in Lynn were formerly named from the Public-house signs; but these and some others had new names given to them when the houses were numbered, a few years ago. Those marked * are in South Lynn Parish.*

- *All Saints street, 36, Bridge st.
- Albion place, Gaywood road
- Austin street, St Nicholas' street
- Avenue (The) London road
- Baker lane, 103, High street
- Baxter's plain, New Conduit st.
- *Bird-cage walk, Friar street
- Black Goose street (now St Nicholas' street)
- Black Horse street, (now Chapel street)
- *Boal street, and Wharf, 23, Bridge street
- Bridge street, 1, Church street
- Broad street, 13, Norfolk street
- Brooks' yard, 21, Broad street
- *Buckingham terrace, London rd.
- Cattle market, Broad street
- Chapel lane, Austin street
- Chapel street, 133, Norfolk street
- *Chase (The) Terrace walk
- *Checker street, London road
- Chequers' court, 113, Norfolk st.
- Chequer street, (now King st.)
- *Church lane, All Saints street
- Church street, Saturday Mkp
- Clough ln. (N & S) Baxter's pln.
- College lane, Saturday Mkp.
- Common staith, Tuesday Mkp.
- Conduit st. (New) 31, High st.
- *Cook's place, Coronation square
- Coronation square, Tower lane
- Crooked lane, 15, Bridge street
- Cross lane, 16, Sedgeford lane
- Custom house, Purfleet quay
- Damgate, (now Norfolk street)
- Ferry street, Tuesday Mkp.
- Fisher's end, Pilot street
- *Friar street, All Saints street
- Garden row, London road
- Gaywood road, Littleport street
- George yard, 23, Norfolk street
- Grass Market (now Norfolk st.)
- *Guanoek place, terrace, & row, London road
- Hampton court, Nelson street
- High street, from Saturday to Tuesday Market places
- Highgate, Gaywood road
- Hullington row and square, London road
- Jews' lane, Tuesday Market pl
- Kettle mills, Littleport street
- King street, Tuesday Market pl.
- King's staith & sq. Purfleet brdg
- Littleport street, 71, Norfolk st
- Ley street, (now Nelson street)
- London road; St. James's st.
- South-gates (part in S. Lynn)
- Market lane, Tuesday Market pl.
- Millfleet terrace, Tower lane
- Nelson street, St. Margaret's pl
- New Conduit street, 31, High st
- *New Bridge, West Lynn road
- Norfolk street, 55, High street
- North end, Pilot street
- North street, St. Anne's street
- Page-stairs, Tuesday Market pl
- Paradise lane, Cattle Market
- Pilot street, North end
- Pilot Office, St. Anne's Fort
- Plain (The) Tower street
- *Pleasant row, Windsor row
- Priory lane, 20, Church street
- *Providence row, London road
- Purfleet street, 96, High street
- Purfleet quay, bridge, and place, near Custom house
- Queen street, Saturday Mkp.
- Ravenshaw's yard, 25, Chapel st
- Red Coy street, (now Church st)
- Red Mount, Terrace walk
- St. Anne's street, square, and Port, St. Nicholas' street
- St. James's, opposite Theatre
- St. James's end, New Burial gh.

St. James's pl. behind Workhouse
 St. James's street, Saturday Mkp.
 St. Margaret's Church and place,
 Saturday Market place
 St. Nicholas' street, Tuesday Mkp
 Saturday Market place, South end of High street
 Sedgeford lane, 28, High street
 *Setchey, (a hamlet 3 m. S. W.)
 *South Lynn plain, All Saints st.
 *Southgate street, London road
 *South Gates, London road
 South street, behind Workhouse
 Stonegate, 1, Church street
 Terrace walk, Avenue

Three Pidgeon street, (now St.
 James' street)
 Three Crown st. (now Queen st.)
 Tower lane, 33, St. James' street
 Tower street, St. James' street
 Tuesday Market place, North end of High street
 Union lane, 16, High street
 Union place, Littleport street
 *Union row, Windsor place
 *Valinger's road, London road
 Wells' yard, 21, Broad street
 *Whitefriar's gate, Bridge street
 White Lion court, 5, Norfolk st.
 *Windsor pl. & row, London rd

POST-OFFICE, 42, New Conduit street; Robinson Crusoe, Post-MASTER —The office opens at 8 morning, and closes at 9 night.
 The MAIL, with Letters for all parts of the kingdom, is despatched every evening at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 5, to meet the North, South, and Cross Mails, at Newmarket; and arrives in Lynn every morning, at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 8 o'clock. The Box is closed half an hour before the departure of the Mail; but letters are taken in at the window until the bags are made up, on the payment of 2d. for each. The PENNY POSTS are despatched daily, as follows, viz —Jeremiah Ballanten's
Mail Cart, from Baker lane, to HEACHAM every morning, at 9 o'clock, through Castle-Rising, Dersingham, Ingoldsthorpe, and Snettisham, and John Laird's Mail Cart, from 13, New Conduit street, every morning, at 9, to TEARINGTON, with letters, &c. for the Northern part of Marshland.—Both these village posts return about $\frac{1}{2}$ past 4 afternoon

TWO LETTER CARRIERS, viz., John Cocher, of Purfleet street, and James Roome, of London road, are sent out daily on delivery, at 9 morning and 5 evening.

Office Clerk:—John Cooper; h. Checker street

MISCELLANY of Gentry, Clergy, Partners in Firms, and others, not arranged in the classification of Trades and Professions.

Addison St. skin dlr. Checker st.
 Adkison Mrs. Mary, 3, B plain
 Allin Mrs. Sar. King's Staith sq.
 Allen Rev. Stephen, curate, St.
 Margaret's place
 Allen Thos. Esq. St. Anne's st.
 Aldridge Mr. John, 22, Austin st.
 Armes Mr. John, London rd.
 Andrews Wm. governor's beadle,
 South st
 Anderson Rt. farm steward, Tues.
 Market place
 Anderson Ts. excise, St. James'

Armes Wm. sack mfr. 13, St.
 Nicholas' st.
 Ashley John, disbursar of poor rates, 8, Checker st.
 Atter Mrs. Dorothy, 29, All
 Saints st.
 Atto Mrs. Ann, 80, Norfolk st.
 Bagge Rd. Esq. Tuesday Mkp.
 Bagge Edw. Esq. Nelson st.
 Bagge Miss, London road
 Bailey Mr. Mtw. Austin st.
 Baines Fras. mariner, 51, Norfolk st.

Mr. Thos. 53, Norfolk st.
 Mr. Thos. London rd.
 Samuel, Priory lane
 Misses, 12, London rd.
 . P. chemist; h. 55,
 t.
 s. K. chemist, Paradise
 s. Sar. 5, St. James'
 Wm. mayor's officer, Lon-
 n. clerk, 5, Baker ln.
 Mr. Wm. 9, Broad st.
 s. Ouvry, brush mfr.; h.
 Norfolk st.
 John, master of Work-
 St. James's
 : John Prescott, Esq.
 ; h. St. Margaret's pl.
 Mr. Robt, 37, King st.
 n Mrs. Eliz. London rd.
 Alex. mert. 17, Little-
 Is. mert. St. Margts'. pl.
 Henry, Checker st.
 Mr. W. 9, Guanock place
 Mr. Anthony 33, All
 st.
 John, collector of excise,
 n rd.
 aml. clerk, 19, Corona-
 John, 6, Baker ln.
 Mrs. M. A. London rd.
 Geo. Town chamberlain
 il engineer, 36, Queen st.
 Mrs. Sus. Chapel st.
 Matthew, Windsor pl.
 Miss M.A. 11, Guanock ter.
 s. cook, 15, Sedgford ln.
 Thos. W. London rd.
 . 17, Buckingham ter.
 rs. Mary, 2, St. James'
 rs. My. 8, Guanock pl.
 lain William B. colr. of g Dues; h. 5, St. Jas.'
 Mrs. Jane, 7, St. James'
 John, gent. London rd.
 Rd. gent. 36, Checker st.
 m. comptroller of cus-20, High st.
 Mrs. Mary, 6, King st.
 e Std. Coronation sq.
 Mr. Geo. 5, Broad st.

Cohen Hy. hawker, 44, Conduit st
 Collinson John, piano tuner, 2,
 Guanock place
 Cook Wm. 39, New Conduit st.
 Cooper John, post office clerk;
 h. 7, Checker st.
 Cooper Mrs. Sar. Terrace walk
 Coulton Mrs. Ellen, 18, King st
 Coutts Mr. Jas. Birdcage walk
 Cox Wm. harbour master, &c.
 Toll office; h. 34, Bridge st.
 Cozens Mrs. Mary, 67, High st.
 Creak Wm. gent. Valinger's row
 Cresswell Francis, Esq. banker,
 King's Staith square
 Crisp Mrs. Jane, London rd.
 Crisp Mr. Wm. 6, Guanock pl.
 Crown Rt. buoy-man, 13, All
 Saints st.
 Cruso Mrs. Ann, London rd.
 Curson Mr. Rt. 35, Bridge st.
 Curtis Miss M. A. 12, King st.
 Curtis Thos. R.N., Cook's pl.
 Dacheux Rev. Ptr. Louis, (Cath. priest,) 2, Cook's place
 Davy W. gaolor, Saturday Mkp.
 Dawson Miss Jane, Checker st.
 Dennis Mrs. Sus. 6, Checker st.
 Derry Wm. farmer & cattle dlr.
 Setchey
 Dillingham Jas. brewer; h. 32,
 New Conduit st.
 Dix John, 6, New Conduit st.
 Dobson G. clerk, 4, Buckgm. ter.
 Docking W. clerk, 3, London rd.
 Edwards Rev. Edw. M.A. lecturer, Tower lane
 Elsdon Mrs. M. 10, St. James' st.
 Elsdon Mr. John, 105, Norfolk st.
 English Miss Jane, Valinger's rd.
 English Mrs. Ann, 7, London rd.
 English Oxley, mert. Tues. Mkp.
 Everard Edw. Esq. 13, King st.
 Everard Jph. agent, 25, King st.
 Eyre Elijah, mert. 1, Bridge st.
 Fayers John, cart owner, 15, St.
 Nicholas' st.
 Fyson Hy. clerk, 26, Purfleet st.
 Fyson Jph. clerk, 2, Stonegate
 Flegg Mrs. Eliz. Cross lane
 Floyd Mrs. Eliz. London rd.
 Fox Rt. cooper, 26, St. James' st.
 Foy James, farmer, Setchey

- Foyster Mrs A 14, Buckin ter
 Franklan J Cs. clerk, 24, King st
 French Ju brush mfr Cook's pl
 Fysh Mr John, 2, Millfleet ter
 Gagen Mr Thos St Anne's sq
 Gamble Edw N clerk, Stonegt.
 Gardner F clerk, 30 St James st.
 Garrad Wm gent 11, King st.
 Gato George, supervisor, North
 Clough lane
 Gay David, cooper, 16, Nelson st
 Gilbert Mrs Esther, London rd.
 Gmbert Jas. sexton, Priory ln
 Goodale Martin, Valinger's row
 Goodwin John, acting overseer
 &c of South Lynn, Friar st.
 Gosling Mr. Edw. Broad st.
 Groaves Rev. Thomas R. vicar,
 South Lynn
 Green E clerk, 32, All Saints st.
 Green Mrs F. King's staith sq
 Greene Mr. Josiah, 32, King st.
 Groaves Jas brush mkr 3, Nor folk st.
 Griffin Mr Robt. 13, Union ln
 Groom Thurlow, sergeant at mace,
 17, New Conduit st.
 Grummit James, agent, King st.
 Grummit Thos 9 Providence row
 Halifax Thos 11 London rd
 Hall Lnn, farmer, Whitehouse
 Hall Mrs S Buckingham ter.
 Hankinson Rev Thos. Edwards,
 M A asst curate, 31, New Conduit st
 Haray Mr John, 35, All Saints st
 Hart John, clerk, 18, Coronation sq
 Harvard Rev. Wm (Meth man)
 11, Tower st.
 Haycock Giles, 12, Southgate
 Hayten Saml clerk, Checker st.
 Hayden Wm clerk, London rd
 Hays Chas clerk, Checker st.
 Hedley Mrs My, 13, Coronation sq.
 Hewat Mrs Mary, 6, Buckingham ter
 Hill Mrs Mary, London rd.
 Holditch Geo. beaconer & head pilot, St. Ann's st.
 Holditch Mrs Eliz 8, St. Nicholas' st.
 Holmes Mrs. Maria, Purfleet st.
 Household Rt 3, Coronation sq.
 Howell Mr. Jas 10, St James'
 Howell Jerh 13, Guanoek ter
 Howlett Rev Wm 15, Southgate
 Hudson John, farmer, Setchey
 Hunt Mr Geo London rd.
 Hunter Miss Jane, London rd.
 Jackson Mrs Ann, 16, Chapel st.
 Jackson John, clerk, 3, Nelson st.
 Jackson Wm shopn London rd.
 Jenkins John, excise officer, 13,
 St. Nicholas' st.
 Jenkinson Mrs. J M 3, Buckingham ter.
 Johnson Edmonds, 27, Friar st
 Johnson Mrs Elia, 1, Checker st.
 Joice Josiah, clerk, Guanoek ter.
 Jones Thos. permit writer, South
 Lynn
 Jones John, carter, 30, Broad st
 Kendle John, meat. 40, Queen st.
 Kent Mr Saml Checker st.
 King Mrs. Sar, 19, Littleport st.
 King Mr. Geo. 6, Millfleet ter.
 King Hy shopman, 7, London rd.
 King Mrs. Ann, London rd
 Kirkey Mrs. My 13, Broad st.
 Lanchbury Phoebe, 54, High st.
 Lard John, Terrington postman,
 13, New Conduit street
 Lakey Mrs Ann, Checker street
 Laws John, shopn 4, Purfleet st.
 Levy Alkm. Abraham, jeweller,
 Terrace walk
 Linay Mrs Mary, 39, Tower st.
 Lowell Jerh 118, Norfolk street
 Lunn Mrs Elz London road
 Maher Jas Hy. road surveyor,
 69, High street
 McDowall Wm. tidewater, 45,
 Friar street
 Malam Geo. gas proprietor, 1,
 Guanoek place
 Mann Mrs My 7, All Saints st.
 Mann Geo. clerk, 14, Nelson st
 Mansers Mrs. B Lond n road
 Marrison Miss Sar 15 Buckin ter
 Marsters John sen gent Stonegt.
 Martin John, 37, New Conduit st.
 Middleton John, head-meter, All Saints street
 Miller Mr John, 101, High st.
 Mithington Mrs Mary 8 Cligh ln

Mills Mrs. 10, Guanock terrace
 Mills Mellis, coastwaiter, Bird-cage walk
 Minchin Mrs. Har. 2, King st.
 Mitchley Wm. joiner, 3, Millst. tr.
 Money Sar. 22, New Conduit st.
 Munford Rev. George, assistant curate, Stonegate
 Muskett Mr. Robt. London road
 Nelson Thurlow, clerk in customs,
 Valinger's road
 Nelson Rbt. clerk, Guanock ter.
 Newton Mrs. Hannah, London rd.
 Nichols Mr. John, London road
 Overland Wm. horsebreaker, 31,
 Chapel street
 Oxley Mrs. Eliz. 19, King street
 Oxley Wm. mert. 13, Nelson st.
 Page Chas. gent. Valinger's rd.
 Partridge Mrs. Sarah, 3, King st.
 Patterson J. clerk, 6, All Sts.' st.
 Pearson Mrs. M. A. 5, Queen st.
 Peek Mr. George, 32, Friar street
 Phillips Jph. Jobson, coastwaiter,
 28, All Saints street
 Pinder Edw. pitch & tar dealer,
 White cottage
 Pitcher Mrs. Ann, 38, All Saints st.
 Platten Rev. John C. London rd.
 Platten Geo. atty's. clk. London rd.
 Pleasance Mrs. Ellen, 29, Broad st.
 Poile Rev. Wm. Franks, (Bapt.)
 Valinger's road
 Porter Wm. excise, Union place
 Potter Mrs. Eliz. 5, Guanock pl.
 Priestley Miss Lucy, 13, Buckm. tr.
 Ransom Mrs. Phoebe, 12, St. Jas.'
 Ravenshaw Wm. 25, Chapel st.
 Rawlinson Mrs. Emma, 12, St.
 Nicholas' street
 Reeve Miss Chtte. Valinger's rd.
 Rix Mr. Jas. 35, Purfleet street
 Roome Mr. John, Checker st.
 Ruddiman Mrs. Ann, Baxter's pln.
 Russell Bedford, gent. N. Conduit st.
 Rust Mrs. Eliz. Valinger's road
 Ryley Thos. gent. 18, High street
 Samson Thos. canvasser, 7, Pur-
 fleet street
 Sands Mr. Wm. 2, Checker st.
 Self Lionel, jun. mert. St. Anne's st.
 Self L. J. coal weigher, 10, Pur-
 fleet street

Seppings Mrs. Ann, 24, Tuesday
 market place
 Seppings Wm. brewer, 32, New Conduit street
 Shipp Mrs. Sus. 29, St. James' st.
 Shipp Wm. lead & glass mert.
 College ln.; h. 23, All Saints' st.
 Sims Misses S. & C. Valinger's rd.
 Skerrit Mattw. farmer, Scales hs.
 Skippon John, librarian, Lndn. rd.
 Smith Mrs. Ann, 34, All Sts. st.
 Smith Jas. coachman, 17, South gt.
 Smith William, coachman, 21,
 Guanock terrace
 Smith Wm. canvasser, North st.
 Snell Rev. Wm. (Independent,) 9,
 Buckingham terrace
 Southwell Mr. Jno. 7, London rd.
 Southwell Charles Elmer, banker's clerk, 45, Norfolk street
 Sparkhall Mrs. A. 7, Millfleet ter.
 Steele Rev. Richard, (Primitive Methodist,) London road
 Stockdale Jno. farmer, Golden Ball
 Stockings John, town crier, 5,
 North Clough lane
 Stort Mrs. Mary, London road
 Syder Miss Eliz. 40, King street
 Swatman Wm. Esq. collector of customs; h. West Winch
 Thompson Geo. surveyor of taxes,
 81, High street
 Thompson John, clk. 38, Queen st.
 Thompson Jph. cattle dealer, 10,
 Buckingham terrace
 Towell Jas. mert. 40, Queen st.
 Trappett Mr. Wm. 77, Norfolk st.
 Trollope Michl. 19, Conduit st.
 Tuck Wm. clerk, Excise office
 Veargett Wm. 41, N. Conduit st.
 Wade Mrs. Eliz. Checker street
 Walker Mrs. Ann, London road
 Waller Wm. gardener, 4, Tower st.
 Wardale Benj. D. 7, Buckm. ter.
 Watson Misses E. & C. 2, Buckm. tr.
 Watson Thos. 18, All Saints st.
 Watts Matthew, sheriffs officer,
 19, Tower street
 Weatherley Miss, London road
 Websdale Jas. 27, Conduit street
 Welburn Mrs. Eliz. 14, Southgt.
 Wells Mary, 11, All Saints st.

Weston Wm. van office Tuesday
Market place
Wethered Mr Wm 22, Ludford
Whall Rut clk 9, All Saints st
Whincop Rt. gent Littleport st
Whincop Mr Geo R 10, Tower st
Wilson Php. solr 7, Nelson st
Winks Mrs. London road
Wood John Meadows, Windsor pl
Woods Mr John, South street
Wootton Joseph, engineer at Water works
Wright Miss Jane, 3, Tuesday
Market place
Young Thos & Son, cart owners,
St. James' place

ACADEMIES.

*Marked * are Boarding and Day Schools.*

Bahard Eliz N. Clough lane
Barker Betsey, Checker street
* Belce Wm 29, N. Conduit st Bradley Eliz (drawing Broad st
Brady Chas. (dancing) Coronation square
Burrell Mrs. Windsor place
Bullen Eliz 4, Guanoek place
* Bannett Jacob, 4, St. James'
Burnet W P 1, Purfleet street
Bosina Rachel 10, N Conduit st
Carver Josiah, 21, Broad street
* Clarke Ann, 32, Bridge street
* Cooper Mrs M G. 10, St
Nicholas' street
* Cooper Ann 8, Tower street
* Coppag Misses, 2, London rd
Curtis Mrs. Cook's place
Danderson Lucy, N. Clough lane
* Daniels Hannah 7, Tower st
Fenn'l 105, Norfolk street
Fisher Har F. Baxter's plain
Free Grammar Rev Jno. Bransby,
M A St James
Garbett Wm. Mulfleet terrace
Garland Sarah S. St. James'
Girls' Charity School, Rebecca
Goodear St. Margaret's ch
Independent Free, Mary Turner, at 29, Broad street
Infant School, Mary Safferey
Coronation square
Jancasterian John Thew St
James' end

* Lutbock Mary & Ann, Austin
Middleton Jas. 11, Austin st.
Mose Wm Alfred, 7 Austin st.
* Nelson Horatio 38, Tower st.
Reddie J F (music) Vanger's ro
* Muggrage Mrs Edw 10 King
Pillmer Plt. at 21, Broad street
* Pole Mary 6, Broad street
Rudland Thos. (drawing) Co nation square
* Seely Rev Wm 6, Tower st.
* Simpson Eliz A 18, Southgt
Steward Mrs Coronation square
Wareham John, 1, Purfleet street
Webb Henry 18, Norfolk street
* Williams Lucy, 4, N Conduit
* Wright Jas. Cubitt, St. James' school, London road

AGENTS & SHIPBROKERS.

(See Merchants and Wharf ingers.)

Hubbard Jas. Purfleet place
Randolph P. Vice Consul
Denmark, the Netherlands
Sweden, and Norway, Purfleet
place

Turner W N Coronation square
Wales Joseph, 4, Stonegate

ATTORNEYS.

Aldham Beys and Robert,
Norfolk street
Brathwaite Richd Towers, Ferry
street
Coulton John Jas. Austin street
Goode Samuel, 36, Tower st.
North Lynn
Goodwin Chas 18, High st.
Chapel st

Jarvis Lewis Weston, and James
8, Tuesday Market place
Lawrence Joseph, Austin st.
Lane & Wilson, 14, St. James'
Lane Fredk. (town clerk) 14, St
James'; h St Anne's st.
Pitcher Robt 12, King st
Platten John, (conveyancer) 4
Purfleet st., h London road
Smotham John & Son, Ferry st Spurgeon (has. Whaley (and tary) 24, Tuesday Market
h 13, Chapel st
Townley Jonathan, 9 High st.
22, All Saints street

Townley John, 11, St. James' st.
LAW STATIONERS
 Henslip Wm. 36, Tower street
 Samson Augustus, 29, Broad st. and 11, Buckingham terrace
AUCTIONEERS, &c.
 Arrow James, 4, Union place
 Browne Daniel, N. Clough lane
 Cook Thos. London road
 Cotton Robt Rix, Tuesday Mktpl.
 Cruso Robinson, 42, N. Conduit street
 Webb Thos. Valinger's road
BAKERS & FLOUR DEALERS.
 Atto Thos. Hallington row
 Baker Wm. jun. 7, Friar street
 Beeson Richd. 1, Nelson street
 Bitton John, London road
 Brown Wm. B. 25, St. James' st.
 Brown Thos. 25, Sedgeford lane
 Chaplain Wm. Guanoek row
 Clements Walker Geo. South st.
 Dawson John, 21, King street
 Paux Robt. 37, Friar street
 Heverson Henry, 49, Norfolk st.
 Jackson Geo. 2, Tower street
 Johnson Richd. 120, Norfolk st.
 Johnson Thos. 44, High street
 Laird Benj. 9, Queen street
 Laird Benj. jun. 29, Purfleet st.
 Leaford Wm. Windsor place
 Learmouth John, Coronation sq.
 Lincoln Wm. 12, Purfleet street
 Lowe Joseph, 17, Church street
 Lowe Nathan, 27, Jews' lane
 Lowe Chas. 4, Guanoek place
 Medlock Geo. 1, Church st.
 Medlock Wm. 27, Broad street
 Medlock Richd. North st.
 Melton John, 4, Pilot street
 Miller Mary, 10, Bridge street
 Mitchell Thos. 22, Sedgeford ln.
 Mitchley Ambrose, 15, N. Conduit street
 Nichols Fras. Robt. 18, Tower st.
 Nuthall Benj. 84, Norfolk st.
 Onyon John, 24, Bridge street
 Plowright Geo. 36, Norfolk street
 Rix Chas. 14, St. Anne's street
 Roman Henry, Workhouse
 Sackamore Jas 133, Norfolk st.
 Sharpe Geo. 15, Friar street
 Skinner Sus. 11, St. Nicholas' st

Smith Wm. Checker st.
 Solly Nicholas, 7 Broad street
 Thompson John, 15, Littleport st
 Walker Stephen, 2 Norfolk st
 Willis Robt 112, High street
 Willis Wm. 35, Pilot street
 Wood Wm. 43, Norfolk street
BANKS.
 Everards & Blencowe, 13, King st. (draw on Eadsale's & Co.)
 Guneys, Birkbeck, and Cresswell, King's staitth square (draw on Barclay, Bevan & Co.)
 Massey and Jarvis, 5, Tuesday Market pl. (draw on Prescott, Grote and Co.)
 Norfolk and Norwich Joint Stock Co., Branch of, (draw on Masterman, Peters and Co.) Wm. Taylor, agent, Tuesday Market place
Savings' Bank, 118, High street, James Burch, actuary
BASKET MAKERS.
 Daines Chas. 19, St. James' st
 Gooden John, 2, Chapel street
 Lantaff Sophia, 58, High street
 Reed John (and sieve,) 21, Norfolk street
BLACKSMITHS.
 Cross Wm. Littleport street
 Farrants Jph. yd 23, Norfolk st
 Hudson Edward, Terrace walk
 Hye Saml. Crown yard
 King Elz. 11, Jews lane
 Saddler James, 16, St. James' st.
 Parneil Wm. 33, Chapel st
 Taylor Chas. 20, Jews' lane
 Wells Thos. 19, Broad street
 Woodbine Wm. C. Littleport st.
BONE MERCHANTS.
 Marsters John, and Co. (bone-mill,) Roal wharf
 Osler John, 40, Norfolk street
BOOKSELLERS, PRINTERS STATIONERS & BINDERS
*Marked * are vendors of Paten Medicines, and † have Circulating Libraries.*
 * Aikin Jno Wingate 73 High st
 *† Bullen Fras 11, High street
 * Garland Thos 17 High street
 Gilbert Wm. 39, High street

Lane Jas. (binder only) 3, Purfleet street

*Nurse Richd. 79, High street
Smith Jno. Robinson, (periodicals, &c.) 31, Broad st.

Turner Ann, 101, High street

*Wade John, 12, St. James' st.

*Whittingham Wm. 88, High st.

BOOT AND SHOE MAKERS.

Adeock Jas. 21, Church street

Addison Thos. 38, King street

Allen Henry, 29, Jews' lane

Andrews Jas. 65, High street

Andrews Jph. & Co. 4, Purfleet street

Barnard Wm. 28, Friar street

Bartle Wm. Pilot street

Bocking Thos. 24, N. Conduit st.

Bocking Dalton, Highgate

Bone Richd. Valinger's road

Breese Wm. 7, Bridge street

Browne Wm. 18, St. James' st.

Buck Edward, 30, Friar street

Burrell Geo. Henry, 28, High st.

Cary Philip, 16, St. Nicholas' st.

Chambers Thos. Bell, 11, Queen street

Charlesworth Alex. Gosnock row

Cook Wm. 23, King street

Cooper John, 37, Tower street

Cooper Jas. 62, Norfolk street

Dack Noah, 26, Norfolk street

De Pass Daniel, 33, High street

Dickerson Thos. 92, Norfolk st.

Doughty Robt. 20, Norfolk st.

Estwick John, 24, Jews' lane

Faircloth Geo. 35, Norfolk street

Faircloth John, 21, Southgate

Grint Thos. 27, St. James' street

Hammond Pp. 112, Norfolk st.

Harpham Mrs. 34, High street

Irwin Chas. Ferry street

Jackson Thos. 13, Purfleet street

Kemp Jane, Market lane

Kemp James, North street

Kendrick Thos. 20, High street

Knock Jno. 24, Gosnock terrace

Lanes John, 6, Queen street

Moore John, 31, Austin street

Neale John, 30, High street

Nichols Thos. (slop seller) 27, Church street

Nokes John, 31, Friar street

Norman Thos. 16, Checker st.

Parr Chas. 10, Saturday Mkt. pl.

Proctor Jas. 136, Norfolk street

Proctor Edw. 14, Chapel street

Raines Benj. Littleport street

Raby Wm. 8, Austin street

Redgrave Wm. 67, Norfolk st.

Rolin Danl. 4, Chapel street

Scarfe James, Pleasant row

Seafrey Nichs. 17, Jews' lane

Thrower Rt. Hillington row

Turner Thos. 9, Littleport street

Wright Ths. Valent. 80, High st.

Youngman Edw. 14, St. James' st.

BRASS & IRON FOUNDERS.

Aickman John, 9, King street

Scott Saml. Coronation square

Short James, Austin street

BRAZIERS & TIN PLATE WORKERS.

Arch John, 1, St. James' street

Bunyan John, 31, Purfleet street

Dewson Henry, 4, Bridge street

Plowright Thomas and Son, 43,

High street

Plowright Thos. 143, Norfolk st.

BREWERS.

*Marked * are Retainers, and the others Common Brewers.*

Bagge Richard and Edward, 36, King street

*Cadman William, London road

*Cutting George, Gaywood road

Curtis William, 12, King street

*Eagleton John, 10, Broad street

Everard Edw. & Sons, Baker ln.

Goddard Christopher and Uther, London road

Hogge and Co., Setch

*Munro Daniel, 20, Southgate

Slagg and Eyre, Lady Bridge

*Young Edward, South street

BRICKLAYERS & BLDERS.

Adeock Acey, 17, Sedgeford ln.

Begley Francis, London road

Begley Thomas S. Clough lane

Broadway Edward, Littleport st.

Bunn Richard, Pilot street

Collison James, 12, Tower street

Gidney William, Paradise lane

Goodwin Lud. 14, All Saints st

Hall John, South Lynn plain

Hall Robert, 10, Bridge street

Johnson William, St. Anne's st.
 King William, 18, Littleport st.
 Murrell John, 5, St. James' street
 Pointer Henry, Windsor place
 Rudd Edward, 113, Norfolk st.
 Southwell John, 35, Austin street
 Walker Edward, St. James'
 Watson James, 21, Union lane
 Watson Robert, 16, Jews' lane
BRICK & TILE DEALERS.

*Marked * are Brickmakers, and † Fire-brick Dealers.*

† Bridges Edward, London road
 † Holmes Thomas, 30, King street
 * Johnson William, St. Anne's st.
 * King William, Terrace walk
 * Nurse Richard, Sea bank
 † Seales James, 15, London road
 * Servante Susan, The Chase

BRUSH MAKERS.

Birch and French, court 6, Norfolk street
 Godfrey John, (dealer) 10, Norfolk street
 Purdy John, 17, Broad street; h. 12, Chapel street

BUTCHERS.

*Marked * are Pork Butchers.*

Askew Elizabeth, North street
 Ayre Henry, Providence row
 Baxter John, 122, High street
 Betts Riley, St. Anne's street
 Bidwell Robt. Hall, 17, King st.
 * Bird Philip, 35, Sedgeford lane
 * Brighton Matthew 22, Jews' ln.
 * Brighton Matthew, sen. 42, Sedgeford lane
 Britlin Thomas, 39, Friar street
 Burton Robert, 30, Norfolk street
 Clark Jarman, 98, High street, & 29, Queen street
 Clarke Ann, 33, King street
 Cross Samuel, 41, All Saints' st.
 * Gardner Thomas, 27, Queen st.
 Gibbons Robert, 32, Purfleet st.
 Hains James, 25, Norfolk street
 Hildon Phoebe, 109, Norfolk st.
 Inkson William, 36, Chapel st.
 Johnson Joseph, 137, Norfolk st.
 Lift William, 96, Norfolk street
 Lunn Timothy, London road
 Mallows John, 105, Norfolk st.
 Martin Ann, 146, Norfolk street

Martin William, 8, Boal street
 * Musk John, 31, Norfolk street
 Musk William, London road
 Oliver Thomas, 3, St. James' st.
 Phenix Robert, Pilot street
 Pickrell Edward, 29, Bridge st.
 Ransom Ambs. 11, Church street
 Ransom Thomas, 89, Norfolk st.
 Rawling Thomas, 30, Church st.
 Saddington Jno. 12, All Saints st.
 Santy Arthur, Chapel street
 * Sayer James, 129, Norfolk st.
 Smith Hub. 19, St. James' street
 Smith John, 78, High street
 Smith William, 7, Saturday Mkp.
 Todd George, 11, Nelson street
 Weston Charles, 33, Norfolk st.
 Wilkinson Henry, 19, High st.

CABINET MAKERS.

*Marked * are Upholsterers.*

Atto William, 27, High street
 Barker John, 123, Norfolk street
 * Carse Samuel, 72, High street
 Cooper Osborn, Guanock terrace
 * Crowson Elizabeth, 71, High st.
 Crowson Wm. 116, Norfolk st.
 Dewson James, 127, Norfolk st.
 Ford John, Boal street
 King James, court 9, Norfolk st.
 Morris Robert, 103, Norfolk st.
 Oldmeadow Chas. 14, Tower st.
 * Perkins William, (mahogany merchant,) 74, High street
 Scott John, North street
 Taylor John, 22, Broad street.

CARPENTERS.

See Joiners.

CARVERS AND GILDERS.

Carr Wm. (gilder,) 22, King st.
 Gilbert William, 39, High street
 Hillyard Maria, 14, High street
CHEMISTS & DRUGGISTS.
 Bayes W. and J., 55, High st.
 Binge Joseph, 6, Norfolk street
 Bishop George, 21, Tuesday Mkp.
 Bridgman William Kenceley, 46, High street
 King Joseph, 67, High street
 Langford Wm. jun. 5, Norfolk st.
 Langford William, 113, High st.
 Nurse William, 106, Norfolk st.
 Parlett William, Saturday Mkp.
 Turner John, A. 108, Norfolk st.

Wigg John, and William, 3, Saturday Market place

CHIMNEYSWEEPERS, &c.

Hall John, S. Clough lane

Morrison Edward, S. Clough ln

Shepperdson Wm. 82, Norfolk st.

Young Thomas, 25, Chapel st.

CHINA, GLASS, & EARTH-

ENWARE DEALERS

Bartle Thomas, 109, High street

Neal John, 90, High street

Plowright James, 13, Church st.

Tuck John, 115, Norfolk street

Wareham John, 139, Norfolk st.

Walker Jas. 17, St. Nicholas' st.

Wright William, 103, High st.

CLOTHES BROKERS.

(See Tailors also.)

Bargman Abraham, 5, Chapel st.

Jacobs Abraham, 117, Norfolk st.

Joel Hyems, 61, Norfolk street

Joseph Matthew, 130, Norfolk st.

Mayers John, 53, Norfolk street

Register Samuel, 105, High st.

Shinkfield Wm. 52, Norfolk st.

Summers Ann, M. 41, Norfolk st.

COACH, &c BUILDERS.

Bath Henry, 13, Broad street

Ellis Benjamin, 28, Broad street

Watts Richard, 76, Norfolk st.

COAL DEALERS.

Bridges Edward, 6, London road

Cook H. H. Common staith

Crome Samuel, 25, Chapel street

Green William, 38, King street

Hodgson Thomas, 97, Norfolk st.

Jary George, Ferry street

Russell Wm. 27, Sedgford lane

Seales James, London road

Stoakley John, South gates

Walton Thomas, South street

COAL MERCHANTS.

See also Merchants (General.)

Ayre James, 88, Norfolk street

Bagge Rd. & Edw. 36, King st.

Bowker A. and J. College lane

Carter Thomas, A. 37, Queen st.

Clifton W. and R. 34, Queen st.

Elsden E. & Son, 11, St. James' street

Everard Edward and Sons, 8, Nelson street

Garland Wm. King's staith sq.

Goddard C. and U. London road

Hogge George, King street

Jackson Thomas, G. Nelson st.

Marsters John and Co. Boal

Oxley, English, and Oxley, 15, King street

Slagg and Eyre, Bridge street

Towell and Kendle, 40, Queen st.

Wales Joseph, 4, Stonogate

Williams Thos. 22, All Saints st.

CONFECTIONERS.

Marked * are also Fruiterers.

Davison Prisca, 6, High street

Dye John, 31, Chapel street

Dye William, 71, Norfolk street

Evetts Thomas, 59, Norfolk st.

*Herring John, 25, Tuesday Mkp.

Howlett and Herring, 2, Saturday Market place

Hunt Hannah, 16, King street

Lowes John, 33, St. James' street

*Moore William, 101, Norfolk st.

Parlett William, 123, High st.

Walker Stephen, 2, Norfolk st.

*Warth Wm. 22, Tuesday Mkp.

Willis Robert, 112, High street

COOPERS.

Bartle Wm. 43, N. Conduit street

Brown Payler, 29, Norfolk street

Coates Thomas, Windsor place

Cummins George, 5, Purfleet st.

Dennis John, 20, Friar street

Green William, 38, King street

Hayes Jonathan, 121, Norfolk st.

Thorpe Robert, 31, Queen street

Westwood John Stratton, 21, Union lane

CORK CUTTERS.

* are Cork Merchants also.

Lubbock Charles, 73, Norfolk st.

Main Robert, 20, King street

*Movement Wm. 79, Norfolk st.

*Mugridge Thomas, 18, Broad st.

CORN AND FLOUR DLRS.

See also Corn Millers

Those marked * are Hay and Horse Corn Dealers

Alexander Joseph, 17, Norfolk st.

Arnold Samuel, 128, Norfolk st.

*Bunting William, Market lane

*Elmer William, 74, Norfolk st.

*Porter William and John, 69, Norfolk street

P. (seeds and hops,) Norfolk street

Joseph, Baxter's plain
IRON MERCHANTS.

James, 28, Norfolk street

Alexander and James,
lane

Thomas, A. 37, Queen st.

W. and R. 34, Queen st.

Matw St. Margaret's pl.

James and Sons, King's lane (and Thetford)

William King's staith

J. & W F Baker in

Thomas, Nelson street

John & Co. Boal

W. (seed) 11, King st.

Paul & Sons, 5, Nelson st.

and Eyre, Bridge street and Kendle, 1, Queen st.

Joseph, 4, Stonegate

IRON MILLERS.

James & Son, Castle Rising;

Buckingham terrace

James, Gaywood road

John and William Fran-

laker lane

John and Co. Boal

D. (oatmeal,) South gate

George, Gaywood road

St George, B 22, Nor-street and Gaywood

Stephen, Gaywood road

William, Gaywood

COWKEEPERS

are Farmers in South

Lynn Parish.

Henry & Philip, Friar st.

Benjamin, 15, Gun-

terrace

William, 33, Bridge st.

Richard, Windsor place

William, (cattle dealer)

Benjamin, 28, King st.

William, Littleport street

James, Setchey

William, Pilot street

John, White House

Samuel, 24, Conduit st.

John, Setchey

29, Sedgeford lane

James, London road

Lambert Robert, 42, Norfolk st

Scott Edward, St. James' place

Scott Thomas, 25, Chapel street

Secker William, 100, Norfolk st.

Skerritt James, Friar street

*Skerritt Matw Scales House

Springall William, High street

*Stockdale John, Golden Ball

Thompson J Littleport street

Yates George, 11, Sedgeford lane

CURRIERS AND LEATHER

CUTTERS

Allen William, 9, Norfolk street

Rounce William, 1, Purfleet st.

Saunders Jno. G 111, Norfolk st.

Webster Luke, 107, High street

CUTLERS

(See Gunnmakers)

Everitt Robert P. 28, Norfolk st.

DENTIST

Woodcock Hy 9, Tuesday Market place (and Norwich)

DYERS AND SCOURERS

Cole John, 21, St. James' street

Howlett Grace, 4, Sedgeford ln.

Levy Samuel, 20, N Conduit st.

Smith Jerlm. 32, St. James' st.

EATING HOUSES.

Catchpole William, 2, Queen st

Ellis William, 4, London road

Pearson Henry, 3, Norfolk street

Robinson James, 21 Purfleet st.

Secker Isaac, 18, Church street

Thompson Thos 26 Church st.

ENGRAVER, &c.

Orvis Robert, 25, Broad street

FARMERS

(See Cowkeepers.)

FELLMONGER.

Gunton James, Highgate.

FIRE AND LIFE OFFICE

AGENTS.

Atlas, Fdk Lane, 14, St. James'

British Commercial, Robt. Peek,

114, High street

British (Fire) and Westminster

(Life,) C W Spurgeon, Tuesday Market place

Clerical & Medical (Life,) J W.

Aikin, 73, High street

Eagle (Life) & Protector (Fire.)

J. A. Turner, 108, Norfolk st.

Equitable, L. W. Jarvis, 8, Tuesday Market place

London Union, Robinson Cruso, 42, New Conduit street

Manchester (Fire,) Wm. Whittingham, 88, High street

Norwich Union, L. W. Jarvis, 8, Tuesday Market place, and

Robt. Pitcher, 12, King street

Palladium (Life) and Norwich Equitable (Fire,) J. J. Coulton, Austin street

Phoenix, J. Pownley, 9, High st.

Sun, J. Platten, 36, Purfleet st.

FISHMONGERS.

(There are about 50 Fishing Boats at Fisher's End.)

Bond Mary, 37, Chapel street

Bond Thos. 24, Church street

Carr Matthew, 92, High street

Chamberlain Daniel, 20, Tuesday Market place

Matsell John 32, High street

Williamson Joseph N. Clough ln.

Woods Wm. C. (and curer) 18, Bridge street

FRUITERERS.

See Confectioners and Grocers.

FURNITURE BROKERS.

See also Cabinet Makers

Arnold Geo. 5 Purfleet street

Crood Emanuel, 27, Norfolk st.

Ciscard John, 131, Norfolk st.

Holmes Wm. 14, Baxter's plain

Millington Geo. 33, Purfleet st.

Murrell John, 5, St. James' st.

Purdy Thos. 122, Norfolk st.

Sookey Ann, 24, Norfolk street

GARDENERS & SEEDSMEN.

Adams Charles, 126, Norfolk st.

Clarke Wm. The Chase

Howes John, Avenue gate

Marshall Thos. 25, Purfleet st.

Milson Eliza 131, Norfolk street

Roku Wm. 132, Norfolk street

Woods John, 1, Norfolk street

GREEN GROCERS.

Ayre Robert, 12, Church street

Barnard Thos. 29, Church st.

Carr Wm. 113, Norfolk street

Gage Fras. 28, Church street

Mask John, 11, London road

GLOVERS BRCHS MKRS, and Leather Sellers

Gunner Thos. (and spring trim mfr.) 141, Norfolk street

Kead James, 11, High street

GROCCRS & TEA DEALRS.

Marked * are Tallow Chandlers,

and † Cheese Factors also.

(See also Shopkeepers.)

Andrews John, 3, Church street

*† Andrews Jph. 87, High st.

Bainbridge Geo. 91, Norfolk st.

*Baly Wm. 14, Norfolk street

†Blott John, 103, High street

*Bowler Wm. 5, High street

*Bowler Bertrand, 1, Saty. Mkp.

Browning John, 107, Norfolk st.

Bullock Brame, 110, High street

Burlingham Jas. 42, High street

Clark Wm. 95, High street

*Jackson Henry, 40, High st.

*Laws Geo. & Co. (and salt and porter merts.) 8, High street

*Patrick John, 57, High street

*†Peck Robt. (& hop merchant,) 111, High street

Flour Wright Wm. 6, Saturday Mkp.

Roberts Wm. 32, King street

Smith Henry, 68, Norfolk st.

GUN MAKERS

Browne Wm. 135, Norfolk street

Carr Wm. 15, Norfolk street

Spencer Matthew, 52, High st.

HAIR DRESSERS

Marked * are Perfumers.

Colison Eliza. 34, Norfolk street

Collison James, 26, Lower street

Cross Thos. 15, Church street

*Feltwell George, 36, High st.

Garman Richard, 97, High st.

*Hardy Robt. 1, Tuesday Mkp.

Gittens Wm. 15, Purfleet street

Leavins Isaac, 20, Church st.

Mennie John, 116, High street

Morrell Thos. 25, King street

Munton Jounth. 28, Purfleet st.

Murrell Ambrose, 8, Chapel st.

*Rivett Charles, 81, High street

Smith Mattw. 68, Norfolk street

*Tuddenham John, 38, Chapel st.

Turpen John, 100, High street

Wilksfield Rt. 54, Norfolk street

HATTERS

Jones Robt. 26, Tuesday Mkp
Joseph Mattw. 130, Norfolk st.
Kead John (mfr. & furrier) 85,
High street

Kinch Benj. 62, High street

Lake Wm. 21, High street

Starling Wm. 7, Norfolk street

HOSIERS & HABRDSHRS

Bayfield Harnet, 59, High st.

Cooper George, 51, High street

Hives John, 119, Norfolk street

Hunt Alfred Palmer, 111, High st.

Martin John L. 147, Norfolk st.

Rix James, 96, High street

Share Thos. Silver, 106, High st.

Wilkinson Solmn. 19, Church st.

HOTELS, INNS, & TAVERNS

Ballast Boat, George Taylor

Thompson, 32, Queen street

Bell, John Medlock, 99, Norfolk
street

Bilander, (Ship,) Thomas Trun-
dix, North street

Bird-in-Hand, John Langley, 19,
Norfolk street

Black Goose, Samuel Egleton,
6, St. Nicholas' street

Black Horse, John Townshend,
9, Chapel street

Black Lion, Elizabeth Billing, 4,
High street

Blue Lion, Wm. Porter, 69, Norfolk street

Boar's Head, George Regester,
29, High street

Bull, John Durrant, 68, High st.

Bushel, Thomas Holmes, (sloop owner,) 30, King street

Chequers, Francis Aldridge, 7,
Southgate

Cock, Lydia Fuller, Gaywood

Coach & Horses, John Jas. Wiseman, 5, Saturday Mkp.

Coopers' Arms, Robt. Thompson,
12, Saturday Market place

Crown Inn, Wm. Filby, 8, Church
street

Crown, John Leaford, South gates

Crown and Mitre, Benj. Witting,
Ferry street

Dog, Thos Cross. Pilot street

Dolphin, Joseph Richardson 13
Friar street

Duke of Cumberland, Jas Popper, 85, Norfolk street

Duke of Wellington, Jno. Bould-ing, 12, Nelson street

Duke's Head Inn, Geo. Binge, 6,
Tuesday Market place

Ferry Boat, John Laws, W. Lynn

Fishermen's Arms, Wm. Felgate,
Pilot street

Foul Anchor, Martha Cole, 3,
Boal street

Freebridge Hotel, John Dawson,
West Lynn

Freemasons' Coffee House, Hy
Barnes, 64, High street

George and Dragon, Wm. Rowe,
16, High street

Globe Inn, Donald M'Pherson,
Tuesday Market place

Goat, Wm. Burton, 40, Friar st.

Green Dragon, Wm. Clark, 145,
Norfolk street

Greenland Fishery, Geo. Holdgate, 28, Bridge street

Gun, Henry Wells, Baxter's pln

Hawk, Thomas Hodgson, 97,
Norfolk street

Hob-in-the-Well, Edward Broadway, Littleport street

Hulk, Wm. Holden, 36, Bridge st.

King George, Thos. Main, 28, New
Conduit street

Lattice, John Tuck, Market lane

Maid's Head, John Enefer, 7,
Tuesday Market place

Mermaid, Geo. Pearson, Nelson st.

Mermaid and Pountain, Robert
Adams, 11, Tower street

Mitre, Jno. Ballenten, Baker ln.

Pilot Hoy, Kelland Barrett, 3,
Pilot street

Plough, Sar. Wagg, 34, King st.

Portland Arms, Mrs. Leeder,
New bridge

Queen's Head, Mary Bennell,
45, High street

Recruiting Sergeant, Rt. Bretton,
13, Saturday Market place

Red Cow, Ann Chapman, 4,
Church street

Red Lion, Edmund Farrar, 13, Purfleet street
 Rose and Crown, Charles Rust, Boal street
 Royal Oak, John Everitt, 36, King street
 Rummer Geo West, 1, Tower st.
 Shakespeare, Wm. Diggins, 15, King street
 Ship, Dd Wortley, 13, Queen st.
 Ship, Ann Bray, 23, Bridge st.
 Ship, Edmund Park, Gaywood
 Shoulder of Mutton, Ann Marriott, 131, Chapel street
 Spread Eagle, George Cutting, Bowling Green, Gaywood road
 Star Inn, John Carnell, 13, Norfolk street
 Sun, John Bushell, 39, Norfolk st.
 Swan, Edw. Engledow, Gaywood
 Tailors' Arms, Robt. Gage, 4, Queen street
 Three Crowns, Wm. Seapy, 35, Queen street
 Three Pigeons, Wm. Peacock, 20, St. James' street
 Three Tuns, Richd. Garman, 9, Church street
 Town Arms, Samuel Cutbath, 1, Queen street
 Two Brewers, John Cocher, 22, Purfleet street
 Unicorn, Matthew Spencer, 28, Tower street
 Valiant Sailor, Robt. Smith Duncanson, Nelson street
 Victory, Wm. Pachney, Tuesday Market place
 White Hart, John Blackburn, 15, St. James' street
 White Horse, John Bougin, Gaywood
 White Swan, Thomas Rayner, 110, Norfolk street
 Woolpack, Thomas Thompson, 19, Tuesday Market place
 Wrestlers, John Corbitt, 27, Queen street

BEER HOUSES

(Many others have licence to sell beer, but "not to be drunk on the Premises.")

Agar John, North end

Allen Henry, 29, Jews' lane
 Bartle Wm 43, New Conduit st.
 Beneer Charles, Pilot street
 Betts John, Highgate
 Betts Riley, St. Anne's street
 Bishop Robert, Paradise lane
 Bobbin Robt. Bridge street
 Bonn Richard, Pilot street
 Bycroft John, 7, Boal street
 Cork Israel, 94, High street
 Dack Noah, 26, Norfolk street
 Davy Saul, 4, St. Nicholas' st.
 Diggins Wm. Austin street
 Dobson Isaac, 26, Broad street
 Dobson Wm. 20, Sedgford lane
 Dye Wm. 23, Austin street
 Dye Wm. 91, Norfolk street
 Eager John, 11, New Conduit st.
 Elmer Wm. 71, Norfolk street
 Foss James, 9, St. Nicholas' st.
 Fox Benj. 6, Boal street
 Gardner Wm. Pilot street
 Hains James, 25, Norfolk street
 Hall Richard Millfleet terrace
 Harris John, 3, Chapel street
 Harris Hannah, 12, Bridge street
 Hendry Martha, 17, Jews' lane
 Hodgson Thos. 18, Queen street
 Jack James, 42, Friar street
 Jackson John, 14, Norfolk street
 Jackson Robt. 26, Guanoek ter
 Jaggs Robt. Guanoek row
 Jophil Bannell, Hallington row
 Lasecock Wm. 95, High street
 Leach Robt. Stonegate
 Left Wm 96, Norfolk street
 Long Walter, 41, King street
 Lubbock Chas. 73, Norfolk street
 Lunn Tm. London road
 Mann Edward, North end
 Marwick Thos. 3, Bridge street
 Massen Amelia, 9, Jews' lane
 May John, 13, Jews' lane
 Medlock Henry, North street
 Medlock Wm. 27, Broad st.
 Morton Thomas, 22, Chapel st.
 Munro Daniel, 20, Southgate
 Mussett John, 20, High street
 Pointer Benj. 10, Purfleet street
 Pointer Henry, Windsor place
 Sadler Richd. 20, Chape. street
 Scott Samuel, Purfleet place
 Strachan Wm. 5, Friar street

Thompson Thos. 26, Church st.
 Twatts Thomas, North street
 Tyrrell George, Highgate
 Wagg James, 95, Norfolk street
 Ward Thomas, Stonegate
 White Wm. South Clough lane
 Whitehead Chas. St. Anne's st.
 Wright Philip, 8, Queen street
 Wright Timothy, Paradise lane

IRONMONGERS.

*Marked * are also Iron Merchts.*

* Cooper Wm. & Jph 75, High st.
 Hall Samuel, 10, Queen street
 Hogge Geo. (mert.) Boal street
 Plowright Hy. B. 8, Norfolk st.
 Turner Ann, 104, High street
 * Willett Chas. (wholesale & retail,) 23 to 26, High street

IRONFOUNDERS - See Brass.

JEWELERS - See Silversmiths.

JOINERS & BUILDERS.

Abraham John, 10, All Saints st.
 Browning Robert, Checker street
 Burton Benjamin, 24, Tower st.
 Candler Wm. 28, St. James' st.
 Canham Thomas, 7, High street
 Churchman John, St. Anne's fort
 Cobb Robert, 115, Norfolk street
 Colman Edm. 9, St. James' street
 Cross Thomas, Broad street
 Hagon John, 23, Norfolk street
 Hook Wm. 21, Southgate
 Jackson John, 41, Norfolk street
 Killet Isaac, Chapel street
 Lard John, 4, Cook's place
 Mitchley Edward, 3, Stonegate
 Newham Wm. Austin street; h.
 Pilot street

Pennington Brass Crosby, London road

Purdy Thomas, 122, Norfolk st.
 Snelling Thomas, 1, Cook's place
 Sugars John, London road
 Triance Wm. Windsor place
 Whaker Wm. 41, Norfolk street
 Whitby Thomas, 120, High st.

LAND SURVEYORS.

Borcham Geo. (& civil engineer,) 36, Queen street
 Darrant Edwin, Paradise
 Hagon Rt. (buildg.) 6, Chapel st.
 Utting Jas. (& civil engineer,) 2, Coronation square

LINEN & WLLN. DRAPERS.

Allen Ann, 37, High street
 Baker Wm. (linen,) 66, High st.
 Baker Wm. and Co. (woollen,) 91, High street
 Cooper & Taylor, 63, High street
 Orok Robert, 62, High street
 Linnay Thomas, 102, High street
 Phipps Thomas, 84, High street
 Plowright Thos. 70, High street
 Pond Henry, 39, High street
 Pridgeon Saml. 106, High street
 Roberts Wm. H. 89, High street
 Ryley & Ervin, 12, High street

LIVERY STABLES, &c.

*Those marked * have Horses and Gigs for hire; the others Stables only.*

* Brighton Benj. 24, Chapel st
 * Bocking John, 3, Broad street
 * Brookbank Dennis, (& chaise, &c.,) 20, King street
 Elmer Wm. 74, Norfolk street
 * Garner Hy. Nelson street and 25, Queen street
 * Hart Robert, Austin street
 * Howard Thomas, Checker st.
 * Medlock John, 25, Chapel st.
 * Musk Wm. London road
 * Webb Robert, 91, Norfolk st.
 Whin John, 1, St. James' end
 Whin James, North Clough lane

MACHINE MAKERS.

See also Millwrights

Hammond Jennma, Littleport st.
 Scott Wm. 4, Sedgeford lane
 Short James, Austin street
 Wilson George, 91, Norfolk st

MALTSIERS

Bagge R. & E. 36, King street
 Goddard C. & U. London road
 Hogge Geo. & Co. Littleport st.
 Moyse Walter, 14, King street
 Munro Daniel, 20, Southgate
 Shepherd Porter, 142, Norfolk st.
 Slagg & Eyre, Bridge street

MARINE STORE DEALERS.

Osler John, 40, Norfolk street
 Ryan James, 22, Queen street

MAST & BLOCK MAKERS.

Nurse Richard, Whitefriar gate
 Stafford Robert, Boal street

MASTER MARINERS.

Ablett John, 10, Millfleet ter.
 Ablett Joseph, 8, Millfleet ter.
 Allen John, Windsor place
 Armes John, 11, Friar street
 Baines John, Pleasant row
 Baney Wm 8, Coronation square
 Barratt John, 31, Sedgeford lane
 Beavis Henry North street
 Beavis Wm Checker street
 Bell John, 19, Purfleet street
 Bell John, 36, New Conduit st.
 Billing George, 3, Cook's place
 Billing Charles, 8, London road
 Boulton Marmdk. Checker street
 Brinn Thomas, 4, Checker st.
 Burcham Thomas, 31, Tower st.
 Chadd George, Checker street
 Chadd John, London road
 Chapman Jasper, J 37, All Saints street
 Cocker Thomas. Guanoek place
 Cockerill Robert, Checker street
 Coston Edwin, 6, St. James' st.
 Cozens Robert, Hampton court
 Carson Alexander, London road
 Daisley George 54, High street
 Davy Wm South Lynn plain
 Dennis Richard, 20, Friar st.
 Dewson John R London road
 Dexter Robert, 10, High street
 Dickinson Wm. 24, Friar street
 Dickinson Thos 9 Friar street
 Duncan Alex. 18, Union lane
 Eggelt Wm 5, Millfleet terrace
 Fatchey John, 5, Checker street
 Floodman Abm. South Lynn
 Frankland Robt. 8, Conduit st.
 Garland John, 36, All Saints st.
 Gent Wm 9, New Conduit street
 Giles John, Crooked lane
 Giles Wm. South street
 Greenacre J. Guanoek row
 Hill Thomas, Hampton court
 Hitchcock James, 35, Conduit st
 Hubbard Rt (owner,) 6 Bridgest
 Hunt Richard, 13, Southgate
 Hunter Robt 4, St. James' street
 Jary Jacob, Ferry street
 Johnson Wm Checker street
 Kem, John, 12 Friar street
 King Thomas, London road
 Lacey Berj 21, All Saints street

Leaford Wm 33, N Conduit st.
 Lee Thomas, 8, Friar street
 Lemon Wm. 16, Sedgeford lane
 Luckley Avery, South street
 Mason Wm. London road
 Mithed Martin, 3, Stonegate
 Mitchell Joseph, Hampton court
 Ormiston John, Cook's place
 Ormiston Simon, 3, Checker st.
 Paul John, London road
 Peeny Wm 5, Bridge street
 Playfor Wm. 9, Millfleet terrace
 Playle Wm. London road
 Plowman Watson, Hampton ct.
 Plowright James, South street
 Rippingale Benj 4, Purfleet st.
 Rowe Daniel, Providence row
 Rutland James, Pleasant row
 Sanderson W. 27, All Saints st.
 Savage Wm. London road
 Smith Samuel, 26, Coronation sq
 Stockley John, London road
 Stockbarn John, London road
 Sydale Daniel, Hillington row
 Thompson Allen, 20, Priory lane
 Turner John, 18, N Conduit st.
 Warner James, 21, Broad street
 Watts Wm. London road
 Watts John, 21, New Conduit st.
 Watson Wm. Guanoek row
 Wells George, Sedgeford lane
 Whitman Rt 21, Purfleet st.
 Williams Wm Hillington row
 MERCHANTS.

(See also Coal & Corn Merchants.)
 Ayre Thomas, 119, High street
 Bonner Wm. Boal street, b
 Stonegate
 Catten Wm. & Rbt 31, Queen street, b 5, King street
 Cook Robert, 31, King street
 Elsen Edm & Son, 11, St. Jas. st.
 Guy Thomas, 31, Queen street
 Everard Edw & Son 8 Nelson st.
 Hogge George, King street, b
 Tuesday market place
 Marsters John & Co, Boal
 Oxley, English, & Oxley, 15, King street
 Reynolds Fras Kirby, Southgate.
 Self Lionel & Sons, 5 Nelson st.
 Stockdale John & Son Purfleet 43.
 Towell & Kendle, 40, Queen street

Towell Edward, Purfleet place
MILLINERS & DRESS MKRS.

Allen L. J. & M. 38, High street
Aspland Edith, N. Clough lane
Atto Mary, 27, High street
Bayfield Harriet, 59, High st.
Baker M. A. 2, Friar street
Bloye Ann, 18, Chapel street
Bone Ann, 10, Tower street
Burrell Sarah, 67, High street
Cooper Phoebe, King's Staith sq.
Cosens Sarah Ann, 77, High st.
Cowper Eliza. et. 36, Norfolk st.
Inkson Mary, 19, Purfleet street
Laird S. & M. 13, N. Conduit st.
Moyse Catharine, Paradise lane
Maffett Elizabeth, 23, Austin st.
Nokes Maria, 18, Broad street
Rix M. A. 38, New Conduit st.
Ward Tamer, 20, Broad street

MILLWRIGHTS.

Joine Thos. 9, King street; h.
18, Jews' lane
Southgate Chas. Highgate & Gt.
Swaring, (H. Clark, manager)

OPTICIANS.

Hynes John, 117, High street
Jones, Jas. 21, London road

PAINTERS—(House, Sign, &c.)
See also Plumbers & Glaziers.

Carr Wm. (animal and heraldic painter, &c.) 22, King street
Dawes Wm. 27, King street
Flanders Wm. St. Anne's street
Hillyard Maria, 11, High street
King Frederick, 25, Chapel street
King Wm. (landscape,) Littlept. st.
Maraden Thos. 23, Tower street
Patterson Robt. Boal street
Raven Rd. & Son, 48, High st.
Rudland Thos. (artist,) Coronation sq.
Scrags James, (animal,) Friar st.
Watson James, Coronation sq.

PATTEN & CLOG MAKERS

Bartle Thos. 109, High street
Johnson Rbt. 148, Norfolk street
Purdy John, Broad street
Sheves John, (last,) 34, Tower st.

PAWNBROKERS.

Pays John, 26, N. Conduit st.
Regester Geo. 13, Sedgeford lane
Thistle Chas. 13, Union lane

PHYSICIANS.

Tweedale John, Baxter's plain
Wayte Jno. 31, Chapel street

PILOTS.

Armes John, 3, N. Conduit st.
Bartle Charles, 20, Purfleet st.
Bennett Thos. North street
Bottom Rbt. St. Anne's street
Bouch Samuel, North street
Chase John, North street
Cook James, St. Anne's square
Cook James, Chapel lane
Cross Wm. Austin street
Dickerson John, North street
Fisher Thos. 13, St. Anne's st.
Haycock Nathl. 34, Austin st.
Hewitt Wm. St. Anne's street
Holditch George, (headsman,) St.
Anne's street
Jobling George, St. Anne's street
Plowright Saml. St. Anne's st.
Stevens Thos. 5, Union place
Thew Henry, St. Anne's street
Tilson Thomas, (office clerk,) 5,
Austin street

Whin James, 3, Chapel lane
Wright Samuel, Pilot street
Wright Samuel, Austin street

PLASTERS & COLOURERS.

Conelley Jas. Valinger's road
Fachney Wm. 19, Tues. Mkt. pl.
Trollop Gabriel, 5, Union place

PLUMBERS, GLAZIERS, AND PAINTERS.

Dobson Isaac, 26, Broad street
Everitt John. 3, High street
Girdlestone John, 6, St. James' st.
Goskar James, 83, High street
Hart Robt. 94, Norfolk street
Leach Rbt. Hall, 17, Tower st.
Parlett Edward, 1, High street
Royall Wm. 15, Bridge street
Wagg Dvd. (& paperhanging dr.)
125, Norfolk street

WATERING JAMES, London road
PORTER MERCHANTS.

Browne Dl. North Clough lane
Cruso R. 42, New Conduit street
Laws G. & Co. (Dublin,) 8, High st.
Scrags James, 38, Friar street
Taylor Saml. & Co. King's sth. ln.
PRESERVER OF BIRDS, &c.
Redgrave Wm. 67, Norfolk st.

QUILL DRESSER

Joseph Maw. 130, Norfolk street

ROPE & WINE MAKERS

Clark Ann, 14, Church street

Everard E. & Co. Boal street

Marsters John, jun & Co. (& sack mfrs., &c. 16, St. Nicholas' st.

Redell Wm. 11, Littleport street

White John, New Bridge

SADDLERS & HRNS. MKRS

Downing Marious, 138, Norfolk st

Roberts John, 104, Norfolk street

Rose John, 2, Tuesday Market pl

Trundle Wm. 13, St. James' st.

SAIL MAKERS.

English Wm. 2, Church street

Gardner Walter, 14, St. Nicks' st.

Hubbard James, Purfleet place

Linay Jph. 120, High street

Linay Saml. 16, Buckingham ter

Randulph Peter, Purfleet place

SHIP BUILDERS.

Bottomley Wm. South gates

Richardson Wm. 44, Friar street

SHIP CHANDLERS.

Hal. Samuel, 10, Queen street

English Wm. 2, Church street

Linay Jph. 120, High street

Randulph Peter, Purfleet place

SAWYERS

Burgess Rd. 11, Valinger's row

Capps William, 23, Jews' lane

Marsters J. & Co (saw mill,) Boal

Smith William, 11, Broad street

Uptroft Rt. 26, Sedgford lane

SHIPSMITHS

Aickman John, 9, King street

Potter Fras. & Jph. Purfleet bdg

SHOPKEEPERS.(Dealers in Groceries, Flour, &c.)

Allquest James, Pilot street

Bainbridge Geo. 91, Norfolk st.

Barker John, (ginger beer & fire work mfr.) 35, Chapel street

Bennett Wm. 19, Chapel street

Benstead Shadrach, Highgate

Bowler George, 14, Friar street

Bridges Sigm. 14, Littleport st

Brinn Susan, Coronation square

Burton Benj. 24, Tower street

Cannham Thos. 7, High street

Carter Jane, Windsor place

Cox Fras. H. 17, Bridge street

Colman Edm. 9, St. James' street

Crawford William, Pilot street

Daisley Howard, Hillington rw.

Duffield Benj. 40, All Saints st.

Fisher Wm. South gates

Forster Isbl. 11, Purfleet street

Freeman Sus. Baxter's plain

Fysh Saml. 17, Chapel street

Gathergood Maria, 1, Buckm. tr.

Gribble Wm. 19, Bridge street

Horne Robert, 28, Queen street

Hall Robert, 10, Bridge street

Jax Henry, 33, Sedgford lane

Kemp Saml. 75, Norfolk street

Lancaster John, 50, Norfolk st.

Learmouth Jas. 15, All Saints st.

Lowes John, 33, St. James' st.

Mann Robert, South street

Mason Mary Ann, 31, High st.

Melton John, 27, Purfleet street

Nuthall Danl. Baxter's plain

Parlett John, 13, St. Anne's st.

Peeps Thomas, North street

Read Eliz. Terrace walk

Register Henry, 14, Queen street

Royall Elizabeth, 1, Bridge street

Sheller Eliz. 11, Bridge street

Skellington Wm. 39, King st

Simpson James, 5, Southgate

Steel Thos. 90, Norfolk street

Smith Henry, Baxter's plain

Thomas Wilcom, Checker street

Trance Wm. Windsor place

Withers Wm. 19, Jews' lane

SILVERSMITHS & JEWELRS.(See Watchmakers also.)

Neale John Carter, 49, High st.

Pond James, 35, High street

Tovey Wm (workg.) 19, Sedgford la.

SLATERS & SLATE MERTS.

Hewetson & Hastwell, Boal st.

STAY MAKERS

Jaggs Ann, 2, Chapel lane

Jackson Eliz. 2, Tower street

Smith Mchl. (& lace.) 44, High st.

Platten John, London road

STONE & MARBLE MASONS.

Brown Chas. 17, Norfolk street;

h. 23, Chapel street

Gilbert Wm (statuary,) London rd.

Goddard George, 26, Chapel st.

Wilkinson Robert, London road

STRAW HAT MAKERS.

Atto Mary, 27, High street
 Daisley M. A. 55, High street
 Dickerson Bliz 46, Norfolk st.
 Hayes A. & S. 4, Norfolk street
 Mitchell Mary, 15, High street
 Readwin M. A. 22, St. James' st.
 Robinson M. 29, Tower street
 Rivett Ellen, 81, High street
 Smith Ann, 58, Norfolk street
 Thompson Mary, Checker street
 West Frances, 56, High street

SURGEONS.

Allen Isaac Page, London road
 Allinson Anthony, 8, Broad st.
 Bullen Thomas, 11, Chapel st.
 Chadwick John Wm. Broad st.
 Forest Pdk. 14, Broad street
 Hallyard Edw. Dispensary, 24,
 St. James' street
 Ingle Thomas, 4, King street
 Kersey Fredk. 9, St. James's
 Murhn John, 6, All Saints st.
 Pays John, 8, Baxter's plain
 Smythe Hy., West Norfolk and Lynn Hospital
 Sutton John, 12, Norfolk street
 Whiting J. B. 12, Norfolk street

TAILORS

*Marked * are Drapers also.*

*Ashbey John Clark, 13, High st.
 Billing Thos. 7, St. Nicholas' st.
 Bootman Charles, London road
 Browne Wm. 4, Broad street
 Bunnett Wm. 11, Sat. Market pl.
 Buckenham Thos. 15, Jews' lane
 *Burch James, 118, High street
 Cason Bartw. 2, London road
 Cozens James, 141, Norfolk st.
 Cripe Samuel, 121, High street
 Daisley Howard, Hillington row
 Daisley Jasper, 22, Southgate
 Dye Wm. 73, Austin street
 *Eccles James, 69, High street
 Farrall Bernard, 23, Church st.
 *Franklin Geo. 7, Church st.
 *Fysh Wm. W. 76, High street
 Gazley John, 20, Norfolk street
 Harris Wm. 124, Norfolk street
 Hayes Nelson, 4, Norfolk street
 *Holditch Adam, 86, High street
 *Hunter Wm. 50, High street
 Jacob Jas. 45, New Conduit st.

*Kisch Benj. 62, High street
 *Mayhew Robt. 22, High st.
 Nelson Thos. 16, Church street
 Newton Thos. 24, Sedgeford ln.
 Page Henry, 16, Littleport st.
 *Pinder John, 17, High street
 Ramm Wm. 25, N. Conduit st.
 Regester Hy. 14, Queen street
 *Sadler Geo. Tuesday Market pl
 *Sheppard Jno. 115, High street
 *Smith Hy. 13, Baxter's plain Tilson Jno. 34, N. Conduit st.
 Webber Rd. 6, Purfleet street
 *Wethered Wm. 60, High street
 Withers Wm. 19, Jews' lane
TANNERS & FELLMNGRS.
 Gunton Jas. (fellmonger & tawer,) Highgate
 Saunders Jno. G. 111, Norfolk st. and Gaywood

TEA DEALERS

*Marked * are Travellers.*

(See Grocers & Shopkeepers also.)

*Black Robt. 11, Millfleet ten.
 *Fisher & Milligan, Norfolk st.
 Cooper Margt. 2, High street
 Godfery Jno. 10, Norfolk street
 *Johnston I. Albion place
 Patricke John, 120, Norfolk st.
 *Rae Jas. (& draper,) 3, Guanoek pl

TIMBER MERCHANTS.

Cook Robert, 31, King street
 Eladen E. & Son, 11, St. James' st.
 Hogge George, White Cottage
 Marsters John & Co. Boal
 Everard Edw. & Sons, Nelson st.
 Newmarch & Co. New Bridge
 Oxley, English, & Oxley, 15, Kg. st.
UPHOLSTERERS (WORKG.)
 Eggitt Frances, S. Clough lane
 Dickerson John, 46, Norfolk st.
 Hawkins Alex. 113, Norfolk st.
 Newsham Edw. (mattress maker)
 London road
 Wagg Dvd (paper hangings) 125,
 Norfolk street

TOBACCO MANUFACTURER.

Hilton Cyprian, St. Anne's st.

TOBACCO PIPE MAKERS.

Flanders Robt. St. Anne's street
 Hitchcock John, ct. 7, King st.
 Sharp Wm. ct. 6, Norfolk street

TOY DEALERS.

Bayfield Harriet, 59, High street
 Cave Frances, 99, High street
 Herring J. 25, Tue. Market pl.
 Moore Wm. 101, Norfolk street
 Osler John, 40, Norfolk street
 Warth Wm. 22, Tue. Market pl.

TURNER IN WOOD, &c.

Diggons Wm. Broad street; h.
 Austin street

UMBRELLA, &c. MAKER

Pond Jas. 35, High street

VETERINARY SURGEONS

Cass Edward, Broad street
 Overland Jas. (farrier,) Austin st.
 Fisher Mattw (farrier,) 96, Norfolk street

Wells Thos. 19, Broad street

WATCH & CLOCK MAKERS.

*Marked * are Silversmiths and Jewellers.*

Andrews W. T. 22, Church st
 Brugger Martha Eliz. (German,) 114, Norfolk street

* Burlinghan. Eliz. and Co. 4, Tuesday Market place

* Jones Hart, 10, High street

Latten Rt. Jas. Market lane

* Massingham Wm. 102, High st.

* Nurse Thos. 4, Sat. Market pl.

* Saddleton Jas. Parlett, 9, High st.

Sims Edward, 93, High street

Solomon Morris, 1, Plain

Tooke Saml. Tues. Market place

Turner John, 6, St. James'

Waldfoegel, Beha, & Co. (German)

149, Norfolk street

WHARFINGERS.

Cook Hy. H. Common Staith; h. 13, Tuesday Market place

Guy Thos. and Co. Queen street

Stockdale J. & Son, King's sth.

Turner William Newham, Boal wharf h. Coronation square

WHEELWRIGHTS.

See Coach Builders also.

Cross Wm. (gigs,) Littleport st.

Folthorpe Steph. (gig & tax carts,) Littleport street

Reynolds Wm. Pleasant row

Salence Nicholas, Gaywood road

WHITESMITHS & Bellhangers.

Andrews Thos. jun. 115, Norfolk st.

Andrews Thos. Coronation sq

Bauldry Richard, Broad street

Dine Jerh. Coronation square

Mills Wm. 12, Sedgford lane

Neeve James, Pilot street

Palmer Jonth. 26, Jews' lane

Potter Fras. & Jph. Purfleet bdg

True Robert, 5, Union lane

True William, North street

WINE & SPIRIT MERCHTS.

*Marked * are Wine Merts only.*

Bagge Rd. & Edw. 36, King st.

* Baly Wm. 14, Norfolk street

Browne Danl. N. Clough lane

* Bullock Braine, 110, High st.

Clifton Wm. and Rt. 34, Queen st.

Cruso Robinson, 12, N. Conduit st.

* Everard E. & Sons, 8, Nelson st.

Fisher and Milligan, 140, Norfolk street

Goddard C. & U., London road

Green John, 5, Tuesday Mkp.

* Hogge George, Tuesday Mkp.

Howlett James, 11, Norfolk street

Manning Edward Bosworth, 11, Tuesday Market place

* Oxley, Eoglish, and Oxley, 15, King street

Stockdale Jno. jun., Purfleet quay

WOOL MERCHANTS.

Dawber Matw. St. Margaret's pl.

Fison James & Son, King's staith lane (and Thetford)

Moyse Walter, 14, King street; h. London road

COACHES

The Mail to NEWARK, from the Crown Inn, every evening at at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 5

The Union, from the Globe Inn, to LONDON, every Monday, Wednesday, and Fri. at 7 mag.

The Lord Nelson, from the Crown Inn, to LONDON, every Tuesday, Thursday, & Saturday, at 7 morning. This and the above, go through Downham, Ely, and Cambridge

The Rising Sun, to NORWICH, every morning at 8, from the Crown Inn.

The Union, to NEWARK, (by Boston,) at 11 morning; and to Nowwich at 3 afternoon daily except Sund. from the Globe Inn.

The Self-Defence to STAMFORD, every day except Sunday, at $\frac{1}{2}$ before 12 noon, from the Duke's Head Inn.

The Red Rover to London, every Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday, at 5 afternoon, and to WELLS, every Tues. Thurs. and Saturday, at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 6 morning, from the Duke's Head Inn and the Spread Eagle.

SOCIABLE CARS.

Or one-horse "Telegraphs."

To Heacham, from the Green Dragon, Richard High's Sociable, daily at 4 afternoon.

Heacham and Terrington Mail Carts. See page 422.

To Snettisham, Thos. Smith, from the Star, daily, at 4 aft.

Wisbech Sociables.—Grinstead and Brown's, from the Green Dragon, and Jph. Willese's, from the Maid's Head, daily, except Sun., at 4 aft.; and Thos. Howard's, from the Star, every Mon. Wed. and Sat. at 8 mornng.

CARRIERS BY LAND.

From the Fan Office, Tuesday Market Place

MARSH & SWANN'S VAN, to London, through Downham, Littleport, Ely, Cambridge, &c., evy. night at 9, except Saturday. Their Stage Waggons forward goods from Cambridge to all parts of the kingdom. They have also a gang of Lighters, weekly, from Lynn to Cambridge, and thence to all parts of the South & West.—Wm. Weston, agent.

CARRIERS FROM THE INNS.

Anmer, Star, Mr. Hall, S. 2.

Barton, Bushell, Morley, Tu. 11 mng.

Boston—See Long Sutton.

Bradenham (West), Victory, Mr. Mendham, Tues. 11 mng.

Brancaster and Castle-Rising, Black Horse & Star, A. Fiderman, Tue. & Sat. 11 mng.

Burham, Victory, W. How and Tue. & Fri. 11; Maid's Head, Spence, S. 11.

Bury St. Edmund's—See Thetford.

Castle Acre, Maid's Head, J. Edwards, Tue. & Sat. 11 mng.

Castle-Rising—See Brancaster.

Dever-Sheze, Bushell, Clements, Tues. & Sat. 1 aft.

Derwentham, Bushell, Atkins, and Blk. Horse, J. Malt, Tues. and Sat. 2 aft.

Deving, Black Horse, S. Dex, Tue. and Fri. 11.

Downham, Maid's Head, Roberts, Tue. and Lancaster Sat. 3 aft.; Green Dragon, J. Wignall, Tu. Th. & Sa. 3 aft.; Bushell, Clements, Tu. & Sat. 2; Woolpack, Book Newton, Tue. Th. & Sat. 2 aft.

Ely & London, Star, Catlin and Bidwell, Tue. & Sat. 2 aft.

Fakenham, Star, Mr. Cushion, Tue. & Fri. 11 mng.; Black Horse, S. Mason, Tue. & Sat. 11.

Feltwell, White Hart, Joshua Bland, Fri. 10 mng.

Fincham, Bushell, Brett, Tue. and Sat. 2; Plough, R. Barker, Tue. and Sat. 1 aft.

Gayton, Black Horse, Hill, Tu. & and Sat. 3; Bird-in-Hand, W. Cross, daily, 3 aft.

Grinstead, Green Dragon, Jno. Money, Tue. Thu. and Sat. 4; Star, Lee, Tu. Thu. & Sat., 3 aft.

Holbeach, Maid's Head, Jas. Gibbons, Tue., 11 mng.

Heacham, Black Horse, M. Rawthorn, Tues. and Sat. 12; Green Dragon, Rd. High, daily, at 4, and W. Robertson, Tues. Thu. and Sat. 3.

Hunstanton, Black Horse, J. Taylor, Wed. & Sat. 11; Green Dragon, Thos. Water, Tue. and Sat. 11.

Houghton, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Long-Sutton, Mr. Hicks, Tues. and Sat. 11.

Marham, Bird-in-Hand, Mr Yaxley, Sat. 2.

Massingham, Wrestlers, Maer, Tues. and Sat. 2.

Narbro', Bushel, Mr Watson, Tue. Thu. and Sat. 2.

Northwold, Bushel, Crisp, Tu. and Sat. 12.

Norwich, Black Horse, James Belts, Tues. and Fri. 11 morn.; Maid's Head, W Goode & Jas Edwards, Tues. and Sat. 11 mg.; Victory, Mr Mendham, Tue, 11 mg.; White Hart, John Ellis, Tues. 11 mg.

Rainham, Bushel, Harper, Sat. 11 morning

St. Germain's, White Hart, Hastings, Sat. 12 noon; & Red Cow, Robt. Keeble, Tu. and Sat. 3 afternoon

Stoke-ferry, Star, Edmund Thompson, Tu. Th. & Sat. 2 aft.

Swaffham, Maid's Head, Wm. Goode, Tu & Sat. 11 mg., and John Allen, Mon. & Th. 4 aft.; Star, W Coe, Tu Th & Sat. 3; and Green Dragon, Miller, Tue. and Sat. 12.

Thetford &c., Green Dragon, Mr. Buckenham, Tu. & Fri. 9; and Black Horse, Mr. Knock, Tu. & Fri. 9.

Thornham, Green Dragon, Mr. Sharpsham, Wed. & Sat. 11.

Terrington, Plough, Failes, Tu. and Sat. 2.

Tittleshall, Blue Lion, Robert Cocket, Sat. 8 mg.

Wathington, Black Horse, Baker, Tu. 3.

Wells, Black Horse, Belsham, Tu. 11 mg.; Ship, Case, Tu. and Sat. 11; Green Dragon, Cork, Tu. and Fri. 10 mg.

West Newton, Black Horse, Malt, Tu. and Sat. 1 aft.

Wisboch, Black Horse, Jno. Bartlett, Tu. & Fri. 12.; Bull, Parker, daily, 4 aft.; Green Dragon, Brown & Grimstead, daily, at 3 afternoon.

WATER CONVEYANCE.

The Lord Nelson STEAM PACKET, (John Smith, commander) to HULL, every Friday, an hour before high water. Arrives at Hull same evening, and returns to Lynn every Wednesday.

Fares—After Cabin, 12s. Fore Cabin, 9s.; Carriages 10s. 6d. per wheel, Horses 30s. each.

Agents—H. H. Cook, Common Staith, Lynn, and Furley & Co., 80, High-street, Hull.

REGULAR TRADERS

To LONDON, the Eugene Frai, Baines; the Sophia, Geo. Wells, the Volusia, Wm. Sanderson; & the Gem John Chilvers. One of these vessels sails every eight days from the Common Staith Quay, to Cotton's Wharf, London. Thos. Guy & Co., owners, Queen-street, and H. H. Cook, agent, Common Staith Quay.

To LONDON, the Harbinger, Wm. Pennington; the Edward, John Paul; and the Hawk, R. J. Simms, one of which sails every eight days from Boal Wharf, to Harrison's wharf, London. W. N. Turner, agent, Coronation sq.

To HULL AND GAINSBORO', one of the following vessels every 8 or 10 days, viz. the Cleveland, Robt. Whiteman; the Perserance, Robt. Dexter, Lord Nelson, John Armitage; and Aganoria, Benj. Rippugale. Messrs. John Stockdale & Son, owners, Purfleet Quay; agents at Hull, Messrs. Sampson & Holden.

To NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, once a month, the Felicity, Jacob Jary, master, and Geo. Jary, owner, Common Staith Quay.

To NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, once a month, the Unanimity, Edward Bridges, master and owner, 6, London road.

To BOSTON, Thos. Margison's and W. Payer's packets, once or twice a week, from Common Staith Quay.

FREEBRIDGE-LYNN HUNDRED.

Freebridge-Lynn, one of the largest divisions of Norfolk, lies at the west end of the county, and extends from 12 to 15 miles in length, and from 9 to 12 miles in breadth, except near King's Lynn, where it is only about 5 miles broad. It extends southward to Setch and Pentney, eastward to Castle Acre, Massingham, and Harpley, and northward to Dersingham and Aumer, and is situated to the north-east of Marshland, with which it was formerly comprehended under the name of Freebridge Hundred and Half, an appellation said to be derived from St. German's Bridge being toll-free, and then the only bridge that crossed the Great Ouse river, between the two districts, which, in ecclesiastical affairs, constitute the Deanery of Lynn, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich. Freebridge-Lynn is bounded on the north by Smithdon Hundred, on the east by Gallow and Lownditch Hundreds, on the south by the river Nar and the parish of Watlington, and on the west by the parishes of Wiggshall, the Great Ouse river, and that broad estuary of the ocean, called The Wash, or Melarus Estuarius, and receiving on this side the waters of the Ouse from Lynn, and on the other, the river Nene from Wisbech. The mouths of these rivers are distant nearly ten miles from each other, and the coasts of Norfolk and Lincolnshire branch from them in a north-easterly direction, forming the largest bay on the eastern side of England, except the estuary of the Thames, but at low water, immense tracts of sand and silt are left bare, and many thousand acres have at various periods been recovered from the influx of the tides.—(Vide Marshland.) Freebridge-Lynn affords a pleasing contrast to the flat district of Marshland on the opposite side of the Ouse, having an undulated surface, rising in picturesque swells from the marshes on the coast and on the rivers Ouse, Nar, and several smaller streams. The soil is of different kinds, being in some parts rich and loamy, and in others a light sterile sand, indeed, the latter prevails either on the surface or as a substratum, throughout the whole district, and much of it is of a whitish colour, well adapted for the manufacture of glass, for which purpose large quantities are regularly shipped at Lynn. Many of the commons have been enclosed during the last forty years, but there still remain here several extensive ~~wet~~ heaths, in a state of nature, or partially planted; and one of them between Castle-Rising and Dersingham, forms a prolific rabbit warren of 1900 acres; and the abrupt acclivities by which it rises from the marshes, bear evident marks of having been at some distant period the boundary of the ocean, the tides of which once flowed up to the decayed borough of Castle-Rising, from whence a small but once navigable stream still flows westward to Lynn Deepa. Indeed, marine productions are found in the gravel pits, in various parts of the Hundred; and the rounded cobbles, pebbles, flints, and other stones got in them, for the repavement of the roads, are similar to those thrown up by the tides, on the beach near Hunstanton, Brancaster, and Wells. At the Norman Conquest, this Hundred was a fee of the Crown, but was granted by the Conqueror to his butler, William de Albani. The Hundred Court was anciently held at Flitcham, on a remarkable hall or tumulus, surrounded with a ditch, in the form of a but it was afterwards held under an oak tree at Gaywood, was removed to Fiton Oak, in the parish of Wiggenshall main, where it was continued till 1710, when the Duke of was lord paramount. Petty Sessions are now held at Hill the 1st and 3rd Mondays in every month, before the Mag the Hundred, to whom Mr B. Aldham, of Lynn, is cl the Hundred contains many large and well built villages, and 34 (exclusive of the boroughs of Lynn and Castle-Rising.) of following is an enumeration, shewing their population in annual value of their land and buildings, as assessed for petty tax in 1815, and their territorial extent

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.
Anmer	132	£1200	1,300	Manningham (Little)	165
Ashwicken	80	1,362	1,200	Middleton	681
Babingley	38	874	900	Mintlyn	31
Hawsey	39	831	1,000	Newton (West)	230
Bilney (West)	235	1,680	2,000	Pentney	400
Castle-Acre	1,333	3,054	3,000	Roydon	174
*Castle-Rising	358	1,400	1,800	Runceton (North)	307
Congham	980	2,004	2,800	Sanderingham	81
Fersingham	606	3,367	2,700	Setchey or Sefta	92
Flitcham & Appleton	723	3,054	4,000	Walton (East)	220
Gayton	711	3,200	3,214	Westacre	418
Gayton-Thorpe	169	1,518	9,000	Winch (East)	400
Gaywood	994	3,273	2,200	Winch (West)	394
Grimston	1,000	3,190	3,500	Wolverton	163
Harpley	370	2,032	2,000	Wobton (North)	170
Hillington	280	1,834	2,500	Wootton (South)	177
†King's Lynn	13,370	25,160	2,720
Lexiate	139	1,291	1,300	Total †	25,827
Manningham (Great)	850	4,442	4,000

* Castle-Rising is an ancient Borough, forming a distinct magistrality including the three parishes of Roydon, and North and South West contributes to the county rate.

† King's Lynn Borough includes the two parishes of Lynn St. South Lynn All Saints, and forms an exclusive jurisdiction under the rate magistrates, with civil and criminal courts, and a gaol peculiar to it; consequently, it does not contribute to the county rate, nor lie within the of Freebridge Hundred, though locally situated in that division of the ANMER parish, 11 miles N. E. by N of Lynn, contains 132 inhabitants, and about 1300 acres of land, all belonging in the occupation of Henry Coldham, Esq., the lord of the manor and patron of the church, who resides in Anmer Hall, a mansion, surrounded by a verdant park and extensive plantations; the latter are in a very flourishing state, and were greatly improved by the late James Coldham, Esq. The CHURCH, dedicated to Mary, is a rectory valued in K. B. at £9, and now enjoyed by Rev John Coldham, of Snettisham. The chapel on the north side of the church, was built by Sir Oliver Calthorpe. Stephen is the farm-steward.

APPLETON is an ancient decayed parish, 8 miles N. E. by E. of Lynn, lying in the vale between West Newton and Plitcham, and united with the latter for the maintenance of the poor. It contains only two farm-houses, two cottages, and about 700 acres of land, all belonging to Sir H. P. Bedingsfield. The former lords of the manor were the Pastons, whose handsome mansion here was burnt to the ground in 1707, to the great danger of the family, who were in their beds when the conflagration was discovered. The hall was never rebuilt; and since then, the small Church dedicated to St. Mary, has been a deserted ruin, of which much of the ruined tower and walls of the nave still remain. In the latter, a large cedar tree has sprung up among the mutilated flag stone, inscribed to the memory of the Paston family. The living is a vicarage, possessed only of a yearly income of £8, and now enjoyed by the Rev. W. Allen, of Narborough, who performs divine service in the ruins once a year. The two farms are occupied by William Griggs, and John and Wm. Wetherell.

ASHWICKEN, a small parish with only 80 inhabitants and about 1200 acres of land, lies $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of Lynn, in the picturesque valley of a rivulet which flows westward to that port. J. W. Ladbroke, Esq., owns the Hall and about 500 acres; and the rest belongs to Richard Dewing, Esq., who occupies the Hall, a large brick mansion, with a well wooded lawn, and formerly surrounded by a moat, now filled up. Upwards of 100 acres of sandy heath, at the west end of the parish, being unfit for cultivation have recently been planted by Mr. Dewing, who has the whole parish in his own occupation. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, occupies a lofty situation in a large meadow overlooking the valley, and was formerly a much larger edifice. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and consolidated with Loriate, a churchless parish on the opposite of the turnpike. The Rev. Joseph Parson, the present incumbent, purchased the advowson in 1826, of the Rev. Richard Venables, D.D. The Rev. Wm. Howlett, of Lynn, is the curate. Besides the Hall, here are only a few cottages and a farm-house, occupied by Henry Burrell, farm steward.

BABINGLEY, a small parish 1 mile N.W. of Castle-Rising, and $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.N.E. of Lynn, has only 38 inhabitants and about 900 acres of land, a great part of which is in low swampy meadows. H. A. Henley, Esq., is owner of the soil, lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K. B. at £4. 13s. 1d., and is united with Sandringham, in the incumbency of the Rev. George B. Moxon. The Church stands in the meadows, near an old cottage, and is said to be the first Christian Church erected in the county; its patron Saint being Felix the Burgundian, who converted the East Angles. The tower and nave are in tolerable repair, but the chancel is in ruins. Charles Garland, farmer; and James Malby, farm-steward to Wm. Lewis and Charles Frankland, occupy the two farm houses, and the other dwellings consist of a few cottages.

BAWSEY, another decayed parish, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. by N. of Lynn, has but 39 residents, 540 acres of enclosed land, and 450 of sandy heath, forming an ancient rabbit warren, in which great quantities of gray sand are got and sent to the glass houses in various parts of the kingdom. For every cart load of this sand, 1s. 6d. is paid to the lord of the manor, A. Hamond, Esq., who owns most of the soil.

and is patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £4, and now enjoyed by the Rev W. B. Coulcher, but it is a sinecure, for the Church has seen a roofless ruin upwards of a century; and here is only one farm-house, (occupied by John Gray,) and two cottages. Sir W. B. Polkes has 100 acres of land here, occupied by Messrs. Emerson, & Grimston.

BILNEY (WEST,) is a small scattered village, with several neat houses, pleasantly situated on and near the Swaffham turnpike, $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. W. of Lynn, comprising in its parish 236 inhabitants and about 2600 acres of land, including 150 acres of plantations, all belonging to John Dutton Esq. the lord of the manor and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Cecilia, and is a curacy, certified at £20 per annum, paid by the lord of the manor, but augmented from 1762 to 1817, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty, of which £429. 11s remain at interest, and the rest was laid out in 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres of land. By mutual agreement between the lords of West Bilney and Pentney the curacies of the two parishes are united, and are now enjoyed by the Rev. E. B. Everard, of Bilney Lodge, a handsome mansion embowered in vigorous plantations. The National School, for 60 girls of Bilney and Pentney, was built in 1833, by subscription and two gifts (amounting to £105.) from the National School Society, and his Majesty's treasury.

Everard Rev E. B. Bilney Lodge	Howarth Wm brick & tile mkr.
Croftson Mary, National school	Formers	Jarvis John
Gooding John at Brick yard	Craig John, Ma-	Wells Thomas.
Hall Stephen, carpenter	ner House	Hugh House
Hammond Richard, blacksmith	Gaywood Wm	Whiting Fredk.

CASTLE-ACRE, 4 miles N. of Swaffham, and 11 miles E. by S. of Lynn is a considerable village of great antiquity, having some traces of a Roman station and the remains of an ancient castle and extensive parish. The parish contains 1333 inhabitants, and about 3000 acres of fertile land, broken into bold and picturesque swells, and including two commons, on which the poor have pasturage for their stock. T. W. Cole Esq., is lord of the manor, and owner of all the soil, except a few small copyholds, subject to arbitrary fines. The village consists chiefly of two good streets, one on the crown and the other on the abrupt declivity of the north bank of the river Nar. Two annual fairs, chiefly for pleasure parties, are held here on August 5th and May 1st. At the Domesday survey, this parish was called Mere, and was granted by the Conqueror to Earl Warren, afterwards Earl of Surrey, who had also a grant of 116 other lordships and founded here a castle and priory, the former of which was long the baronial seat of him and his descendants. The Castle, on the south side of the village, occupied with all its outworks and fortifications, a circular area of about 18 acres, crossed by Bailey-street, which descends to the river, and is entered from the heart of the town by a strong gate-house, flanked by two round bastions, and formerly having an inward and outward door, with a portcullis in the middle. A similar one stood at the south end of this street, at the entrance from Swaffham, but it has entirely disappeared. The whole area was environed by an embattled wall seven feet thick. The castle consisted of three parts or divisions, all connected, but each separately fortified with remarkably deep ditches and strongly fortified walls and ramparts. The earthworks are very bold, and large masses of the walls, chiefly of flint, pebbles, and other rough stones, embedded in strong mortar, still remain. On the east side, and near the middle of Bailey-street, was a gateway-house, leading to the outward court, on the crown of a lofty mound, with steep declivities descending to the ditches, and surrounded by a circular wall of great strength, enclosing the Keep, and commanding an extensive view of the vale of the Nar. On the westside of Bailey-street, was the Barbican, occupying about ten acres, and also encompassed by deep ditches, walls, and entrenchments. Here Edward I. was entertained by Earl Warren, in January, 1297. From the Warrens, the castle passed to the Fitz-Alans, Earls of Arundel, the Howards, &c., and afterwards to Thomas Coke, Earl of Leicester, (ob. 1759,) from whom it passed to the family of its present possessor. There are traces of a Roman road, now called the Pedlars' Way, which crossed the county from Thetford, through Castle-Acre, to the sea at Brancaster; and near its line may be observed many tumuli, especially between Massingham and Anmer.

About half a mile eastward, from the remains of the once impregnable castle, are the interesting ruins of the Priory, occupying a pleasant situation in the valley, and founded by the great Earl Warren, in 1078, for monks of the Clugnyac order, subject to the abbey of Lewes, in Sussex, and enclosed by a strong outer wall, encompassing an area of 29a 2a 10p. In the 24th of Edward I., the revenues of this religious house, which had been augmented by numerous benefactions, were seized under the pretence of its being an alien priory, but they were subsequently restored; and Edward II., in the 18th year of his reign, ordained that it should not in future be molested as foreign, it having, in his father's time, been proved indigenous, and the monks being English, subject only to the visitation of the Abbot of Clugny, when he came into England. On its dissolution, in the 26th of Henry VIII., its yearly income was valued, according to Speed, at £324. 17s 5½d, and the site was granted to Thomas Duke of Norfolk, but was afterwards purchased, with the castle and other estates, by Thomas Coke Earl of Leicester. The remains of the priory, with its conventual church, built of freestone, flint, chalk, &c., in the cathedral style, form, perhaps, the finest and most venerable ruin in the county. The west front, standing to the height of 64 feet, presents a beautiful Norman façade, filled with tiers of arches and columns, enriched with beautiful zig-zag and other mouldings and tracery, and formerly terminated on each side by elegant towers. The entrance is under a highly-wrought Saxon arch, and above it is the complete outline of the great west window, the arch of which is admired as one of the finest specimens of the early pointed style in the kingdom. Some large columns of the nave, the walls of the transepts, and very considerable remnants of the domestic apartments to the south of the church, still serve to show the original extent of this monastery. The dimensions of the cloisters, the refectory, the great hall, and of many other rooms, may be pretty fully ascertained, and some of them now form the granary, and other offices adjoining the neat farm house on the south side of the magnificent west front. The nave was 180 feet long, and, with the two aisles, 54 feet broad.

The choir was of the same breadth, but much shorter; and the east end of it was in the form of a chapel, but the remains in this part are very scanty. Opposite the farm house, at a distance from the north-west angle of the priory, stands the porter's lodge or gate-house, in a tolerable state of preservation. Though enough is left of this monastery to indicate its pristine magnificence, great dilapidations have been made at various periods by the corroding tooth of time, and the mercenary hands of the former parishioners, indeed, almost every house and cottage in the adjacent village, bears evident marks of the plunder of the priory and the neighbouring castle. This mischief, however, was stopped many years ago, by the present worthy proprietor, T. W. Coke, Esq. In removing some of the rubbish from the nave, a few years since, a small part of the tessellated pavement was bared, and near it was found a complete skeleton, supposed to be the remains of the founder, who, according to some authorities, was buried at Lewes, in Sussex, near his wife, Gundreda, a daughter of William the Conqueror.

The PARISH CHURCH stands on the crown of the acclivity, above the priory. It is a large fabric, dedicated to St. James, with a nave, two aisles, a chancel, and a lofty square tower with five bells. It possesses some fine specimens of ancient architecture. The pews are of old oak, and the pulpit, which is remarkably small, has the four doctors of the Church painted upon its pannels, but the most attractive object is the antique font, said to have been removed from the priory, and surmounted by a beautiful piece of wooden tabernacle work, twenty-six feet in height, and formerly richly gilt and painted. The living is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6 6s 8d., and possessing only about two acres of glebe, but augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1796, and a Parliamentary grant of £400, in 1813. T. W. Coke Esq. is the patron, and the Rev John H. Bloom A. B., is the incumbent. The vicarage-house, adjoining the churchyard, is a thatched ruin, but a new one is about to be erected. In the village are two chapels, belonging to the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists, and also a Baptist meeting room. The poor have two yearly rent-charges, viz., 32s. out of land at East Lexham, left by Wm. Allen, in 1629; and 19s. out of land at South-Acre, left by a Mr. Oony. The Post Office is at Mr. Wm. Betts', near the Castle gate, where the mail gig arrives from Swaffham, at 6 morning, and departs at 5 afternoon.

Bloom Rev. John H., A. B. vicar
Comer Isaac, brick & tile maker
Dye Mrs. Alice
Eaton Benj. whitesmith
Fowler Ann, straw hat maker
Garraway John, farrier
High Jas. hair burner, merchant, and bricklayer
Holding Thos. confectioner
Jackson Rev. Robt., B. A., curate
Leggett Jas. machine maker, &c.
Martin Geo. Fdk. maltster
Martin Wm. chief constable of Freebridge-Lynn

Swann Robt. tanner & fell mngt.
Tuck Wm. jun. tailor & draper
Trundle Chas. Syder, tea dealer
Whiskerd Jas. bricklayer
Whiskerd John, thatcher
Wilby Wm. & Rt. Cabu, basket-
makers

Wilkinson Geo. cooper
Williams Henry O. surgeon
Winkfield Mr. James

Inns and Taverns

Ostrich, Mary Rumbelow
Red Lion, Wm. Nickolds
Rising Sun, Isaac Comer, jun.

Ship, Thomas Green		Harvey Jacob	Saddlers.
Academies.	Webb Wm.	Joiners, &c.	Kidall Jas.
Mays Robt.	Butchers.	Leggett Rt.	Rose Saml.
Pratt John (&	Gosling John	Manning Wm.	Shoemakers.
dep. overseer)	Wales Adam	Miller John (&	Fendick Chas.
Bakers.	Farmers.	cabt. maker)	Goat John (&
Bitten Wm.	Abbott Henry	Plumbers,	parish clk.)
Forby Raven (&	Hudson John,	Painters, &c.	Whiskerd Hy.
Miller)	sen. & jun.	Tipple Jas.	Wheelwrights.
Hendry Cornls.	Ward John, Ab-	Young Abm.	Burton Chtins.
High Jas.	bey farm		Dye Wm.
Taylor Robt.	Grocers & Dprs.	Carrier—Jas. Edwards to Lynn,
Blacksmiths.	Betts Wm.	Tues. & Sat. 3 mornng.; and to
Pearson Robt.	Edwards Jas.	Dereham and Norwich, Wed.
Jewell John	Floyd Wm.	6 morning.

CASTLE-RISING, though now only a village with 358 inhabitants, pleasantly seated on the crown and slope of a declivity, on the Hunstanton road, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.N.E. of Lynn, is an ancient borough by prescription, and said to have been a considerable sea port—"When Lynn was but a marsh," Spelman says, it is "a burgh of such antiquity, that the royal archives and records give no account of it;" and he considers the Romans had a place of defence here, from some of their coins having been found on and near the Castle hill. That a large arm of the sea once flowed up to the town, is evident from the low swampy marshes between it and Babingley, being often inundated by the spring tides, though distant more than two miles from the Wash. The lane which descends from the town to these marshes, is still called Haven-Gate, and a piece of an anchor was dug up in it some years ago. The lordship of Castle-Rising was granted soon after the conquest to the Barons of Albini, from whom it passed to the Barons of Montalt, the last of whom died without issue, and his widow surrendered this lordship for £400 per annum, to Queen Isabel, then regent, during the minority of her son, Edward III. This queen spent more than ten years of her widowhood here, in a sort of private confinement, after the execution of her favourite, Lord Mortimer. She was visited here, by her son Edward III. and his queen, in 1344. He died in the castle, but was buried in the Grey Friars church in London. Edward III. settled Castle-Rising on his son Edward. Afterwards passed to the Howards, Dukes of Norfolk. It was frequently passed to the Berkshire branch of this family, who, in 1745, succeeded to the title of Earl of Arundel. The present lord of the manor, and owner of most of the lands, is the Hon. Fulke Greville, who has about 1800 acres of land, including 200A. of marsh common. He has a neat brick mansion, which is occupied occasionally as a shooting seat. The village, in the hollow area of a bold emirank and deep vallum, stand the venerable castle before the year 1176, by William I. was a noble pile, constructed in the manner nearly equal to that fortress in its design. Very little still remains; the walls mostly the a large square tower, encompassed by a deep ditch and bold rampart, on which was a strong wall, with three towers, but these and the other outworks have disappeared; yet enough is extant to shew that Castle-Rising, or "Rising-Castle," was a formidable, if not an impregnable fortress. The interior is much dilapidated, but the great hall, where the court-leet is held, was cleansed, repaired, and furnished some years ago, by the present owner, for the occasional visits of himself and family. In 1669, Henry Howard was created Baron Howard, of Castle-Rising, but this title became extinct on the death of his grandson, Edward Duke of Norfolk, in 1777.

The Borough of Castle-Rising is of such antiquity that its origin is unknown, and the mayor is always named before the mayors of any other borough in the county, at the reading of the King's commission of the peace before the judges of assize. It was formerly governed by a mayor, recorder, high-steward, twelve aldermen, a speaker of the commons, and fifty burgesses. At present the corporation consists of only two aldermen, who alternately serve the office of mayor, after a nominal election on the Monday before New Michaelmas day. All the householders have a vote in choosing the aldermen, who hold their situations for life, and have a sergeant at mace. Until disfranchised by the Reform Bill of 1832, it sent two representatives to the House of Commons, and the right of electing them was confined to the mayor, alderman, and rector, and the owners of about sixty burgage tenements, which have long been held by three individuals; most of them belonging to the Hon. P. G. Howard and Lord Cholmondeley, and the remainder to Anthony Hamond, Esq. The mayor was the returning officer. The parishes of North and South Wootton, and Roydon, lie within the parishes of the borough, and the baronial jurisdiction of the castle, being subject to the magisterial functions of the mayor, and to the courts-leet and baron held yearly in November or December, before the borough steward and recorder, Francis Lane, Esq., of Lyon. Within these parishes no county magistrate can act without the concurrence of the mayor. The burgesses had an ancient charter for weekly markets on Monday and Thursday, and a fair on the feast of St. Matthew and the fifteen following days; but they have long been obsolete, though a pleasure fair is still held on May 3rd.

The Church, dedicated to St. Lawrence, is a small fabric of great antiquity with a tower rising from the centre, and supported by two massive arches, one pointed, and the other semicircular. It consists only of one aisle, and has in its west front some singular architectural ornaments, consisting of intersecting arches, and columns decorated with spiral and diamond shaped mouldings, grotesque heads &c. The font is an ancient piece of workmanship, with a lead cistern large enough for the immersion of infants. During the last twenty years the church has undergone many repairs, and the pillars, capitals, and mouldings, have recently been cleansed of the many coats of whitewash with which the bad taste of former churchwardens had covered them. The benefice is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £8, and united with Roydon, in the patronage of the Hon. F. G. Howard and lady, and incumbency of the Rev. Wm. John Brodick. Here are 15 acres of glebe and a good rectory-house.

The Alms-houses near the churchyard, form four sides of a square, consisting of thirteen apartments, with a chapel, founded in the reign of James I., by Henry Howard, Earl of Northampton, for the residence of thirteen poor spinsters or widows, of the age of 50 years or upwards, with an endowment of £100 per annum out of his estate, and a parcel of land which was let in 1786, for £5. The governess, who reads prayers in the chapel, has 3s., and each of the other inmates 2s. per week. Each has also 8d. on each of the thirteen festival days appointed by the founder; a chaldron of coals and a brown woollen gown yearly; and on every seventh year, a high crowned beaver hat, with a livery gown of fine blue cloth, lined with baize, and having the founder's badge or cognizance set on the breast, viz. a lion rampant, argent, embroidered. They have likewise garden plots round the exterior of the almshouses; and six of them must be parishioners of Castle Rising, four of Roydon, and of two North Wootton; but there are at present only eleven inmates. In the village is a School built by the late Mrs. Howard, in 1815, and subscribed to by Colonel and Mrs. Howard, and the rector, for the purpose of paying half of the Master's charge for educating the poor scholars. The school was enlarged in 1827, at the cost of the present Mrs. Howard.

Ayre Wm. & Thos. corn millers
 Brodrick Rev. Wm. John, rector
 Bunton Jno. bricklayer & builder
 Dye Wm. manager, Paper mill
 Green Rt. master of Free School
 Howard Hon. F. G. (& Elford Hall, Staffordshire)
 Munn R. paper mkr. (& Thetford,)
 Smith Thos. joiner & cabt. mkr.
 Walker John, gardener

Woods John, vict. Black Horse	FARMERS.	Fenn Thomas
*are Aldermen.		Pidgeon Thos.
Beck Susan		(& wheelwht.)
*Englestown		Shoemakers.
Habakkuk		Pennington W.
*Freeman Jno.		Ewer Dawson,
Sandwith John		(serjt. at mace)
Blacksmiths.		Ranson Saml.
Chamberlain T.

CONGHAM is a scattered but pleasant village, with several neat houses, 7 miles E. N. E. of Lynn, comprising in its parish 290 inhabitants and 2800 acres of land, with extensive woods and plantations, most of them embowering Congham Lodge, the sylvan seat of Capt. Fitzroy. The common was enclosed in 1812. Henry Elwes, Esq., and Miss Hamond own most of the soil. The former is lord of Rusteys, Beleters, and Reed Hall manors; and the latter is lady of the manor of Congham, which was held successively by the Paston, Daniel, Wodehouse, Spelman, Mordaunt, and other families. That eminent English antiquary and lawyer, Sir Henry Spelman, was born here in 1564, and served as high sheriff of Norfolk in 1604. He died in London in 1641, and lies buried in the south transept of Westminster Abbey. J. E. Everard, Esq., has a pleasant seat and estate in the parish, on the Grimston road, near Roydon. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is a rectory valued in K. B. at £12, but endowed in 1718, by Ellen Spelman, with houses, land, and tithes, then of the yearly value of £53. 18s. 6d. The Rev. James Rose Edmund Nelson, B. A. is the patron and incumbent. The poor have the interest of £10, left by John Bailey, in 1712.—Directory:—Jas. Elsdon Everard, Esq.; Captain Wm. Henry Simon Fitzroy, Congham Lodge; Rev. J. R. E. Nelson, rector; John Beck, farm steward to H. Elwes, Esq. (1000A.); Wm. Denny, gamekeeper to Miss Hamond; John Rogers, corn miller; and Wm. Lincoln, Robert Oldman, and Thos. Rudd, farmers.

DERSINGHAM is a large well-built village, on the Hunstanton road, $8\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.N.E. of Lynn, sheltered on the north by rising and well cultivated fields, and bounded on the south by a sandy heath and rabbit warren of 1,900 acres, of which 1,500a. are in Woolverton, and the rest in Sandringham, West-Newton, and Dersingham. This parish contains 606 inhabitants, and 2,700 acres of land, extending nearly two miles westward to Lynn Deep, and three miles eastward to Ling House. At the inclosure, in 1779, 160 acres were allotted in lieu of the vicarial tithes, and 157 acres were enclosed within a ring fence for the use of the parish, viz., 329a. of marsh, as a stinted common, and 128 acres of heath, for providing whins and turf. John Bellamy, Esq., and Lord Cholmondeley own a great part of the soil, and are lords of the manors of West Hall, Pakenham, Gelham, Shouldham Priory, and Brook, for which J. L. Jarvis, Esq., of Lynn, is steward. The copyholds are subject to small fines, and the quincents amount only to £10. 14s. 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. Lord Cholmondeley is lessee of the rectorial tithes under the Bishop of Norwich. The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, is a large building with a square tower and six bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 6s. 8d., is enjoyed by the Rev. Robt. Collyer, and the advowson is in dispute between R. F. G. Dalton and J. Bellamy, Esqrs. The poor have £23 a year, from about 12 acres of land, bequeathed by Nicholas Grounds, Mr. Godfrey, and Jeoffery Bumer, and £5 from land at Snettisham, purchased with £100, left by Elizabeth Pell, in 1732. A donation of £5 per annum, left by Margaret Hodson, in 1743, out of land at Cranworth, for repairing her monument, and relieving the poor, is lost under the Mortmain act.

Archer Richd. butcher
 Balling Robt. grocer
 Bellamy Geo. assist. overseer Brett Rev. John, curate (& rector of Woolverton)
 Brown Jas. schoolmaster
 Davy Miss Lucy
 Frost Robt. blacksmith
 Gamble Geo. vict. Cock
 Lines John, parish clerk
 Patrick John, gardener
 Petchey Benj. wheelwright
 Hungay Chas. tailor
 Scott Edw. shoemaker
 Shelarake Fras. shoemaker
 Sherwood Robt. corn miller
 Skelton Geo. Wild Fowl Decoy
 Skinner Robt. joiner & shopkr.
 Smith Fras. shoemaker

Terrington John, grocer & dapr.
 Twaites Wm. baker
 West Robt. vict. & farmer, Dun
 Cow
 Wells John, manager, Dun Cow
 FARMERS. Rix Henry
 * are yeomen Scott Thomas
 * Chadwick Geo. * Stanton R. sen.
 (& maltster) Hill-house
 Chipman John Stanton Richd.
 Claxton Robt. Church-farm
 Gay Abm. Stanton Rd. &
 Petchey Mrs. Wm, Ling-Riches Jas. (& house rabbit dlr.)
 Moulting to Heatham, at 11 mng.
 and to Lynn, at 2 afternoon.
 Carrier, John Atkins, to Lynn,
 Tues. & Sat. 9 morning.

FLITCHAM is an ancient village, lying in a picturesque valley, north of Hingham Park, 9 miles, N.E. of Lynn, and including within its parish several dispersed farm-houses, 323 inhabitants, and 3,300 acres of fertile land, exclusive of Appleton, which is united with it for the support of the poor, as has been seen at page 445. T. W. Coke, Esq., is lord of the manor, owner of the soil, and patron of the CHURCH, which is dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and is a curacy, certified at £20; but augmented from 1760 to 1812, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev Wm. Holmes is the incumbent. In the out-buildings of a farm-house are some remains of Flitcham Priory, founded in the reign of Henry III, by Sir Robert Aguilon, for Augustine canons, subject to the Prior of Walsingham, and valued, at the dissolution, at £62 10s 6½d per annum. On the hill above the village is a remarkable tumulus, called Flitcham Burgh, where the hundred court was anciently held. Directory:—Thomas Billing, wheelwright, Benjamin Bridges, blacksmith and vict. Bell; Henry Burrell, butcher, Wm. Young and Jas. Green, shopkeepers; and Geo. Brereton, Wm. Burrell, and William and John Middleton, farmers.

GAYTON, an extensive and well-built village, pleasantly situated on the Litcham road, 6½ miles E. of Lynn, has increased its population since the year 1801, from 397 to 711 souls, and comprises in its parish 3,214a. 1r. 28p. of fertile land, under which are beds of excellent lime and flint. The parish is in three manors, viz., Gayton Hall, (about 1,500 acres,) belonging to Andrew St. John, Esq., of Dover; Well Hall, (nearly 1000a.) belonging to Mrs. Sharrack, of Gateley; and West Hall, of which Sir T. J. Jones, of Craumer, is lord and owner. The Church is an ancient structure, in good repair, with a tower and two bells, and a spacious burial ground. The living is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £8. 6s. 8d., and now possessing 23a. 2a. 3p. of glebe. The Rev. Archdeacon Glover is the incumbent, and the Bishop of Norwich is the patron. A. St. John, Esq., holds the rectorial tithes, on a renewable lease for three lives, under the Bishop of Ely. At the inclosure, in 1811, an allotment of 30a. 1r. 22p. was awarded to the poor, and is now let for £40 a year, distributed in coals among such parishioners as do not rent to the value of £8 per annum. The poor have also three yearly rent-charges, viz., 10s. and 20s., left by unknown donors, and £3. 8s. 4d., bequeathed in 1616, by Thomas Hopes, for four widows, to be paid by the rector of North Runcton, out of the Notley tithes.

Billing John, wheelwright
Cann Wm. basket maker
Carter Mrs. Sarah
Curl Mr. Joseph
Curtis Wm. grocer and draper
Fish Rev. Geo. curate
Hastings Mr. Richard
Headley John, surgeon
Matthews Rt. corn miller & bkr.
Meek Rd. turner & clog & patten maker
Roberson Rt. brickmkr. & builder
Rose Saml. shopkeeper & saddler
Sainty Jas. horse dealer
Spoley John, farrier
Spragy Noah, parish clerk
Stringer John, baker & shopkpr.
Walker Geo. gamekeeper

Innkeepers and Brewers.
Crown, Edward Lane
Rampant Horse, Charles Smith
Beer-Houses. Whitman Am-
Fayers Martin brs. (overar.)
Hammond Rev. Woods Nichs.
Blacksmiths. Joiners.
Chapman John Barrett Jas. (&
Taylor Wm. builder)
Butchers. Fayers Martin
Daws John Padgett John
Smith Rd. Lime Burners.
Farmers. Cross Wm.
Cobon James Lewis John
Curl Wm. Roberson Rt.
Hebgin John Shoemakers.
Palmer Maria, Plumpton Rd.
West Hall Richardson W.

which is a separate manor, with several small copyholds. In the reign of Edward II, the manor of Grimston was held in capite of the Earl of Arundel, by Benedict de Breccles, who had here a hearth, two water-mills, a hall, a leet, waif and strays, and the profit called "lorebene,"—"to wit, that all residents in Grimston, having horses with a cart, shall work for the lord for redeeming the common of Grimston, one day's journey of harley seed time, and all keeping cows on the common shall do a day's work in harvest time, and at three o'clock they shall have flesh to eat and ale to drink, and three loaves in the evening, and if they refuse, then shall it be lawful to distrain on the said common." That dreadful malady, Asiatic Cholera, appeared here in June 1832, and out of 60 cases, 26 died in the course of a fortnight. So alarmed were the parishioners, that many of them fled till the disease had subsided. The Church, dedicated to St Botolph, is a large Gothic structure, on a gentle eminence at the south end of the village, and has a lofty square tower, with six bells, cast out of the four old ones about twenty years ago. The edifice was thoroughly repaired in 1831-2, when it was covered with a new roof, and the windows were re-glazed. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £26. 13s. 4d., is in the patronage of Queen's College, Cambridge, and has been enjoyed since 1816 by the Rev George Barnes, B D. In the churchyard, an iron avul serves as the head-stone of a late blacksmith; and under the west wall issue three copious springs, which form a pool on the opposite side of the road, and from thence flow in a pellucid stream to Lynn, forming the chief supply of the waterworks of that town. Near the church, stands the FREE SCHOOL for the sons of all the parishioners, founded in 1394 by John Tatman who endowed it with a house and 50 acres of land, now let for £130 per annum. Sir John Thorogood, Kt., afterwards bequeathed to it a house for the master's residence, and 5 acres of land adjacent to the school. The school and the master's house, barn, &c., were rebuilt in 1830, of large ear-stone, in the Gothic style, at the cost of about £1000. Besides the use of the house and five acres of land, the master receives only £25 year, much of the school income having been long employed in other parochial uses than those specified in the founder's will; but after the debt incurred by rebuilding the school premises, is liquidated, the master's salary ought to be considerably advanced, as he has generally about 85 free scholars, who are instructed in reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar, &c., for which they pay nothing, except 3s. entrance. The Rector, the Marquis Cholmondeley, and Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, are three of the nine trustees appointed in 1828. The two former have the nomination of the master, who must be licensed by the Bishop. Mr F C Beets is the present master. Here is also a Girls' Free School, established in 1822 by the rector and his lady by whom it is chiefly supported, with the aid of £8 a year from the Boys' School land, and £5 paid yearly by the Marquis Cholmondeley. The mistress has generally about 50 pupils. The Methodists have a small chapel here.

In the following Directory, those marked 1, are at Pot Row; 2, near Reffy, and the others at Grimston.

Archer Win joiner and builder	Beets Fras Carlton, free school
Barnes Rev. Geo B D, rector	Cross John, par clerk and sexton wing Directory of GAYWOOD PARISH, those marked 1, at ; 2, at Albion Place ; and 3, at Wootton Gap.

Saml. gent.
Wm. toll-br. kprs.
merton, manager
n. Lynn, traveller
Isabella
s. Mary
s. butcher
ies, fellmonger
n. drover ational school
ent.
rd gent.
ime burner ker
Thomas
s. Mary
n G. tanner, &c.
John, Tanyard
lr. Roger Margaret
has. millwright; H. ager
S. National school
m. cowkeeper
s. Mary d Wm. gardeners
nd Taverns.
Fuller
l Park s, Geo. Cutting (& ynn road

Swan, Edward Engledow
White Horse, John Bougen
Beer Houses.
1 Betts John
Nichols Robt.
Smith Robt.
Tidd Wm.
1 Tyrrell Geo.
3 Walker Isaac
Blacksmiths.
Potter Robt.
Wright John
Corn Millers.
Cook Fras.
Onyon Geo.
Ploughwright
Geo. B.
Walker Stphn.
Walker Wm.
FARMERS.
s are Stewards
to R. Bagge, Esq.
Feltwell John,
Reffly

Fox Robt.
s Hall Wm.
(Hall)
Holden Jph.
Norton John
s Wood Henry
Shoemakers.
Bocking Daltn.
Raines John (& par. clerk)
Shopkeepers.
1 Benstead Shd.
1 Broadway W.
2 Etches Jn. G.
(& overseer) Sands Jno. (& cow doctor)
1 Winkley Jas.
Wheelwrights.
3 Crowe Danl.
Silence Nichs.

COACH, from the Spread Eagle
to London, the Red Rover, Tu.
Thu. & Sun. at half p. 4 aft. ;
and to Wells, Tu. Thu. & Sat.
at half-past 6 morning.

N is a populous and well-built village, nearly a mile distant from 7 to 8 miles E. by N. of Lynn. Its increased its population since the year 1801, from 649 to and comprises upwards of 3,500 acres of land, from one in breadth, and about seven miles in length, extending effly Spring, and eastward to the bounds of Massingham,
; the hamlet of Pot-Row on the heath, one mile W.
, and a number of scattered houses on the turnpike, within 6 miles of Lynn. The soil is various, but light, hungry sand; and a large tract is still in heath and gh an enclosure act was obtained in 1779, when about e allotted to the Rector in lieu of tithes ; 459A. 3R. 21P.
t as a stinted common for the use of the freeholders aving common right; and 192A. 2R. 26P. were ovide whins, turf, &c. for the use of the poor and other
The Marquis Cholmondeley is lord of the manor about 600 acres, and has a rabbit warren on the heath.
der, 1500 acres belong to Miss Hamond of Swaffham .
J. H. B. Folkes, and upwards of 650 to the Rectory .

descendants made additions and alterations and since the present owner succeeded to the property, improvements both in the house and grounds have been extensively made, and others are still in progress. During the last eight years, the building has been greatly enlarged, a noble hall, staircase, and library completed in the Gothic style, and the old apartments are gradually assuming the same style of architecture. The north front presents an elevation of the early style of the 14th century, and in the centre rises a large square tower. The whole has a picturesque appearance, being constructed of large iron-colored ear-stone, except the quoins, pediment, battlements, &c., which are of brick, cemented in imitation of free-stone. The rivulet which flows through the park has recently been opened out into a serpentine lake, and a handsome lodge has been erected on the south side of the park, flanked by curtain walls, on the extremities of which are placed the shafts of two ancient crosses. The Church, except the tower and chancel, was rebuilt in 1824, at the cost of £800. It contains several tombs and effigies of the Hovell family, whose estates passed to the Brownes and the Folkes. Two handsome monuments were erected, a few years ago, to the memory of Sir Martin Folkes and Sir Edward West, the late chief judge of Bombay. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £13, 6s. 8d., is in the patronage of Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, and incumbency of the Rev. Robt. Hales. The glebe is about 60 acres, and the tithe composition produces about £100 per annum. On an elevated spot, a mile from the village, are the ruins of Bellemont House, begun by Sir James Johnston, but never finished. Lady Folkes pays for the education of a number of poor girls, and here is a Sunday school for boys. The poor of Hillington have 36s. yearly from land left by an unknown donor, and half of the rent of 31a. in Gramston, bequeathed in the reign of Henry VIII. by Francis Cullibutt, to the poor of Hillington and East Walton. Petty Sessions are held here at the Hillington Hall Inn, on the first and third Monday of every month.—Directory: Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, Bart., M.P., Hillington Hall, John Bous, butcher, Benj. Bridges, blacksmith and vict., Hillington Buck; Thos. Denny, jun., hall steward, Samuel Hadley, gent., Up Hall, Rev. Robert Hales, Rectory; Charles Hayward, shopkeeper, Eliza Wade, vict., Hillington Hall Inn, and Wm. Denny, Thos. Goskar, Robert Hipkin, and John Harrison Pickrell, farmers.

LEZIATE, a small decayed parish, on the north side of the turnpike, 1 mile E. of Lynn, containing a few scattered houses, 159 inhabitants, and 1320 acres of sandy land, including 80a. of common and 140 of warren. A great part of it is in Mrs. Snarrack's manor of Well Hall, but A. Hamond, Esq. has about 200 acres, and Mr. Ephraim Howes belongs to Holt House, with 500 acres, distant nearly two miles south of Leziate, in the vale opposite Middleton tower. Of the Church at Leziate, nothing remains but the foundation, the benefice having been long consolidated with Ashwicken.—Directory—James Bougen, farm steward to A. Hamond, Esq.; Ephraim Howes, yeoman, Holt House; Wm. Smith, carpenter, Thos. Potter, farmer and warrener; and Philip Pagniff and James Williams, farmers.

MASSINGHAM (GREAT) is a considerable village, 10 miles N. of Swaffham, and 12 miles E. by N. of Lynn, formerly called Massingham, from its situation partly, on a low marshy common, with several pools of water, which, after heavy rains, overflow into a bog, called the Swallow Pit, where the surplus water soon disappears through the porous surface. But the chief part of the village, with the Church, is on a pleasant acclivity, rising gradually from the common towards Little Massingham. Here are two draw-wells, one 30 and the other 120 feet deep. The parish has increased its population, since the year 1801, from 569 to 850 souls. It contains 200 acres of enclosed land, and upwards of 1000 acres of heath and common, forming an excellent sheep-walk. About two-thirds of the parish are in the Marquis Cholmondeley's manor of Massingham Priory, and the remainder in the manors of Monks and Felthams, of which T. W. Coke, Esq. is lord and owner. It was held by Harold, in the time of Edward the Confessor, and afterwards reverted to the crown, till granted out by Henry I. John Lord Fitzjohn, in the reign of Edward I., granted it to the Bishop of Norwich. It subsequently passed to Sir John de Norwich, who had a grant of a weekly market on Friday, and a fair for three days, yearly, on the vigil, day, and morrow of St. Simon and Jude; but these have long been obsolete, though two pleasure fairs are now held here on Maundy Thursday and Nov. 8th. Before the year 1260, Nicholas le Syre founded here a small Priory, as a cell to that at Castle-Acre, and dedicated to the Virgin and St. Nicholas, but sometimes called the Hospital of Saint Mary. At the dissolution, this religious house was granted to Sir Thomas Gresham, and some remains of it may still be seen in the house and outbuildings of the Abbey-farm. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a large Gothic structure, with a handsome porch. The rectory, valued in K. H. at £33 6s. 8d., has about 50 acres of glebe. The Marquis Cholmondeley is the patron, and the Rev. C. Grenside is the incumbent. The Wesleyans have a small chapel here, built in 1827, at the cost of £170. The Free School, which occupies the small room over the church porch, is endowed with £20 a-year, out of Mr. Coke's estate, bequeathed about the year 1676, by Charles Calthorpe, Esq., who also left 26s. a year to be given in weekly doles of bread to six poor widows, and 3s. 4d. yearly for repairing the town-well. The master is bound to teach 25 poor boys of Great and Little Massingham and Harpley; and in case they cannot supply the number, then the parish of Rougham is entitled to send free scholars. The poor of Great Massingham have the following yearly doles, viz.—21s. 8d., left by Dr. Pierce, to be paid by the Master of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge; 13s. 6d. as interest of £14, left by a Mr. Wright; and £2 10s. from a house and small piece of land left by Dr. Berridge, and now lying in Mr. Coke's estate. Here are also 7a. 1r. of land, given for keeping the church clock in repair. The Post-Office is at Eliz. Gamble's, where letters arrive daily at 10 morning, and are despatched at 4 afternoon. Mr. Wm. Bewley, "the philosopher of Massingham," was a native of the north of England, but settled here in 1749, as a surgeon and apothecary. He was for many years one of the writers of the Monthly Review. After a short visit to his friends, Dr. Priestley, of Birmingham, and Dr. Burney, of London, he died at the house of the latter, on his wedding and birth day, Sept. 5, 1783.

Beck Mrs. Mary
 Blyth Wm. sen. gent.
 Chamberlain Chas. vict. Swan Inn
 Dixon Robert, ironmonger
 Fish John, cooper
 Grenville Rev. Christopher, rector
 Hendry Manser, dealer in skins
 Johnson Richard, saddler
 Joy John, surgeon
 Kenney Wm. wool merchant
 Lamb Chas. instr. of Free School
 Lambert Thomas, basket maker
 Mason Martha, vict. Fox and Pheasant

Rowe Wm. sawyer

Bakers
 Priest Thomas, (& miller)
 Smith Robert

Blacksmiths.
 Allen James
 Jex Jonathan
 Minns Wm.

Bricklayers.

Hodson Thos.
 Jarrett Thos.

Butchers.

Hendry John
 Smith John

Farmers.

Blyth D'Urban
 Burgess John
 Cook Decker
 Manning Robt
 Sherringham T.
 (& lime burner)

Grocers and Drapers.

Garwood John
 Smith John

CARRIERS.—James Muer, to Lynn,
 Tuesday and Saturday mornng.

Joiners.

Fisher Jas. (&
 dep. overseer)
 Wright Charles

Shoemakers

Franklin James
 Hills Mary
 Kenney Edm.
 Overson Mattw.

Tailors

Banks Thomas
 Hall John

Wheelwrights.

Lawrence Chas.
 Minns Wm.

West Robt. (& beer house)

MASSINGHAM (LITTLE) parish, 1 mile N of Great Massingham, and 13 miles E. by N. of Lynn, has a pleasant rectory-house near the church, four scattered farm houses, twenty cottages, 165 inhabitants, and about 2260 acres of land, all enclosed, and belonging to John Wilson, Esq., the lord of the manor and patron of the Church, a small but neat edifice dedicated to St. Andrew, and having several monumental inscriptions to the Mordaunts, who were formerly lords of the manor. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £9. 13s. 4d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Chas. David Breton, A. M., author of "An Enquiry into the Workhouse System and the Laws of Maintenance in Agricultural Districts." Also of "A Practical enquiry into the number, means of employment, and wages of agricultural Labourers." Thomas Brooks is farm steward to J. Wilson, Esq., of London, and the farmers are Edw. Fisher, Joseph Harwood, and Charles Watling.

MIDDLETON, is a pleasant village on an elevated part of the Swaffham road, 1 miles S. S. E. of Lynn; but the greater part of its parish lies about a mile to the north, on the south side of the deep valley opposite Mintlyn and Ashwicken, in the HAMLETS of Fair-green, Tower-end, Blackborough-end, and Hollon-end. The parish contains 681 inhabitants and 3034 acres of land, picturesquely broken into hill and dale, well enclosed and drained, (partly under two acts passed in 1814 and 15,) and having in one part a quarry of fine large car-stone. Thomas Wytie, Esq., of Middleton Cottage, near Fair-green, owns the greater part of the soil, and is lord of the Manor of Middleton, in which are many copyholds, subject to arbitrary fines. He is also lessee lord of the Bishop of Norwich's Manor of Blackborough, in which the land is leasehold for 21 years, renewable every seven. L. W. Jarvis, Esq., is the manor steward. The Church dedicated to the Virgin Mary, has a square tower with one bell, and in its windows are some fragments of the arms of Lord Scales in stained glass. The living is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £7, and now possessing about 12 acres of glebe. The Rev. Peter Scrimshire Wood, LL.D., Dean of Middleham, in Yorkshire, is the patron and incumbent, and has the appropriation of the great tithes. Notley an estate of 200 acres, bounded by the Pierpoint drain, joins on to North Ruxton. The vicarage-house is near the Church, and at a short distance is the handsome modern seat of Edward E. Esq., at the head of a beautiful lawn, sheltered with thriving plantations. In the valley, more than a mile to the N.E., stands Merton Tower, a lofty and massive brick pile with stone quoins forming the only remains of the Castle, which was long the chief seat of the Lords Scates, who obtained the manor in marriage with the heiress of Jefferoy de Lisewite, in the reign of Henry II. They were seated here till the reign of Edward IV., when their heiress married Earl Rivers, from whom it passed through various families to its present owner, T. Wythe, Esq. The tower is of excellent workmanship, 17 yards long, 9 broad and 14 high, flanked with four circular turrets, which are embattled, and rise vertically from the central tower. Near it is a high mount, overgrown with bushes, and higher up the valley is the site of Blackborough Priory, which was founded in the reign of Henry II. for Benedictine monks, and endowed with considerable revenues by the Lord of the manor and other families. After its dissolution, it was granted to the Bishop of Exeter. Some remains of the priory and its church may still be seen in the outbuildings of the adjacent farm-house. In 1793, during the foundations, in 1834, three stone and iron coffins were discovered in a vault, containing perfect skeletons of various times, except the teeth, which retained their white enamel. One was supposed to be the skeleton of a man seven feet high. At the same time, a number of tessellated pavements, a gold ring, and other antiquities were found, and are now preserved in the Museum. A few years ago pulled down the chapel of the priory, and it is now a ruin. In the following Directory, the names of the owners of the land in the hundred are given: 1, in Blackborough end; 2, Four green; 3, Merton tower; 4, in Merton; and 5, in Middleton.

Abraham Richd parish clerk	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
4 Buxton Jas. thrashing machine owner	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
5 Curle John, auctioneer, &c.	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
5 Everard Edward, Esq.	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
5 Newman Miles, gamekeeper	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
5 Newman Wm. net. Crown	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
4 Simons Abel, cowkeeper	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
5 Wicks John, wheelwright	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
5 Wood Rev. Peter Schmahse, LL.D.	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
2 Wythe Thos. Esq. Middleton cottage	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
Bakers.	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
3 Drew John	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
3 Rayner Jas.	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
5 Sands Robert, (& miller)	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower
3 Wough John	2 Merton tower	3 Merton tower

MINTLYN is a small decayed parish 2½ miles E. by N. of Lynton. 2 to 2

on the northern acclivity of the valley opposite Middleton. It contains only 31 inhabitants, two farm-houses, and 850 acres of enclosed land, with a high sandy heath, of which 400 acres were planted by the late Wm. Bagge, Esq., who bequeathed this estate to its present owner, Richard Bagge, Esq. Bishop Beaufoy had a grant of this and 60 other lordships from the Conqueror. In Domesday book it is called Meltinga. Its small CHURCH, dedicated to St. Michael, has long been in ruins, but the gables and side walls are still standing. Mintlyn is now a sort of extra-parochial liberty, having neither church nor pastor. The farmers are R. Curry and John Heilmant.

NEWTON (WEST) is a pleasant village, on an eminence, 7 miles N N E. of Lynn. It has a large brewery, and comprises in its parish 232 inhabitants, and 1221 a. 3a. 35r. of land, lying in the two manors of Rivett and Buckenham. H. J. Henley, Esq., is lord of the former, and Sir H. P. Bedingfield of the latter. They are also owners of most of the soil. The common (280a.) was enclosed in 1806, when 10 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel, &c. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, is a venerable fabric, which was re-pewed in 1805, when the north aisle was taken down and the arches walled up. The rectory valued in K. B. at £5. 6s. 8d., is in the patronage of the King, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. W. Holmes. The glebe is 6 acres, and the present value of the rectory is about £130 per annum.—Directory.—Wm. Clarke, shoemaker; John Last, blacksmith and parish clerk, Robt. Merrison, miller and baker; Wm. Mott, bricklayer; Rev Geo. Brown Moxon, curate; Wm. Riches, gardener and rabbit merchant; John Robson, brewer and maltster; John Salmon, vict Three Tuns; and Thos. Clarke, John Cork, and Thomas Robson, farmers.

PENTNEY is a large straggling village, in a low marshy situation, on the north side of the river Nar, 9 miles S. E. by E. of Lynn, and 6½ miles N W. by W. of Swaffham. Its parish contains 480 inhabitants, and nearly 3000 acres of land, with a hungry, gravelly soil, partly in heath and common, extending six miles in length and about one in breadth. The Rev. Dr. Thackray, of Cambridge, is lord of the manor, and owner of one-fourth of the soil; the rest belongs to a number of small copyholders and leaseholders, subject to small certain fines. Robert Vallibus held this manor of Roger Bigod, in the time of William the Conqueror, and founded here a PRIORY of Austin canons, on a watery spot called the isle of Eya, about a mile west of the church, where the gatehouse, covered with lead, is still standing. This priory was endowed with the manor, which, at the dissolution, was granted to Thomas Mildmay, Esq., from whom it passed to various families, and was purchased by its present lord of J. Lloyd, Esq. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen, stands at the west end of the village, and is a curacy, certified at £20, but augmented from 1761 to 1816, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty, laid out in 28 acres of land. It is annexed to West Bilney, in the patronage of the lords of the two manors, and incumbency of the Rev. E. B. Everard. The parish was drained under an act passed in 1815. At the inclosure, in 1807 about 50 acres of heath were allotted to the poor, for providing them with whins, turf, &c. A house and land, bequeathed for poor widows not receiving parochial relief, are now let for £18 per annum. The poor have 5s. yearly, left by Dorothy Adams, in 1713. Here is a Methodist chapel, and a Calvinist meeting room.

Arnold Wm. shoemaker
Balding Robt. carpenter
Barratt Wm. shoemaker
Cater Mrs. Elizabeth
Dawes Robt. butcher
Eastick Wm. beer ha. & cooper
Firth Robt. tailor
Firth Wm. beer house & cooper
*Garratt Thos. grocer, &c.
Grummett Geo. maltster & seed
merchant
Hammond Richd. blacksmith
Hastings Ja. vict. Crown & Thistle

Hudson Thos. parish clerk
Monday Wm. schoolmaster
*Riches Jerh. miller and baker
Wineman Wm. vict. Mill
*Carter Ann Greenacre John
Codling Henry *Howlett Wm.
*Crisp Wm. *Nettlehip Jn.
Dunton Jno. (& shopkpr.) Page Chas.
*Dye John Palmer Jno. M.
Edwards Timthy. Paul Wm.
Godfrey Robt. *Stratton Geo.
Thorold Robt.

ROYDON is a village and parish within the parishes of the borough of Castle-Rising, 6 miles E.N.E. of Lynn, comprising 174 inhabitants, and about 1,000 acres of land, half of which forms part of the extensive heath, stretching hence to Castle-Rising and Grunston. The Hon. F. G. Howard is lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to All Saints, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £5, and consolidated with Castle-Rising. In 1454, a large and beautiful manor-house, called the Rey, built by the Wedehouse family, was pulled down in consequence of a disputed claim between John Wedehouse and Thomas Danyel, Esquire.—Directory.—Robert Berry, farm bailiff; John Catten, bricklayer; John Collins, wheelwright; Henry Gates, vict. and tailor, Horse Shoss; Henry Harpley, bricklayer and vict. Plough; Wm. Minns, beer house; George West, farm bailiff to Wm. Hunter; and Thos. Carter, Thomas Glaspoole, and Philip Towler, farmers.

RUNCTON (NORTH) is a pleasant village, with several neat houses, 3 miles S.E. of Lynn, including in its parish 307 inhabitants, and about 2,000 acres of land, of which about 800 are in the hamlet of HARDWICK, where there are three farm-houses within one mile of Lynn, belonging to Mrs. Hudson, of Tedworth court, Surrey. Stephen Gee, Esq., of Hull, is lord of the manor of North Runcton, with Hardwick and Setch, in which the copyholders pay arbitrary fines, and about 200 acres are unenclosed. RUNCTON HALL, a large white brick mansion, rebuilt in 1834 at the cost of nearly £5,000, is the handsome seat of Daniel Garney, Esq. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a neat cemented fabric, rebuilt, after the old one had been destroyed by the fall of the tower, in 1701. It has several inscriptions to the families of Rolfe, Atwell, Hopes, and Cremer, who were formerly lords of the manor. The rectory has annexed to it the churchless parish of Setch, and is valued in K. B. at £8. 10s., but is now worth £700 a-year; in the patronage of Trinity Coll. Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Jas. Cumming. Here are 15a. of church land, and the same quantity of glebe. The benefice was endowed, in 1616, by the Rev. Thomas Hopes, with the Notley tithes, (200 acres in Middleton,) subject to the following yearly payments; viz., 20s. for farm rent; £3. 6s. 8d. to Trinity College, for a poor scholar from the Lynn Grammar School; £3. 6s. 8d. to the poor of Runceton, Hardwick, and Setch; 6s. to the poor of Middleton, 10s. to the poor of East Winch, and 3s. 4d. to each of the parishes of East Walton, Duddington, and Colveston, for the poor. The same donor also bequeathed the rectory-house, with an acre of land attached to it. The poor of Runceton have a house and land, let for £3. 12s. and left by an unknown donor.

Abra John, bricklayer
Bells Mrs. Eliz. and Sister
Chapman Wm. blacksmith
Cock Wm. par. clerk & overseer
Cooper Hugh, shoemaker
Ellet Wm. bricklayer
Greenacre Rt. & Wm. cartowners
Gurney Danl. Esq. Runceton Hall
Harper Wm. gardener, Hardwick Holtan Francis, Esq.

Panton Richard, schoolmaster
Secker Robert, farm steward to
Mrs. Hudson, Hardwick
Storey James, joiner
Wright Wm. shoemaker

FARMERS

Bull Richard	M'Pherson Don
Cooper Nicho-	Hardwick
les	Smith George
Greenacre Wm	Wright Thom.

SANDRINGHAM, a small village and parish, with 81 inhabitants and 600 acres of land, $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. & E. of Lynn, has its name from its deep sandy soil, of which there are about 200 acres on the extensive heath stretching hence to Wolverton. H. J. Henley Esq. is the sole proprietor, and resides in Sandringham Hall, a large brick mansion, with a verdant lawn, chequered by extensive plantations. He is also patron of the Church, a small ancient fabric, standing on an eminence, and dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £103. 6d., is consolidated with Babingley, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Holmes, with 25a. of glebe. William Durrant occupies the farm.

SETECH, or Setchley Magna, a village and small churchless parish on the river Nar, 4 miles S. of Lynn, has now only 33 inhabitants, though it was once a market town; Lord Bardolph having, in the reign of Henry III., obtained a charter for a weekly market, and two annual fairs. These have long been obsolete; but a fortnight market for fat cattle, was held here on every alternate Tuesday, and about seven years ago, when it was removed to Lynn. Setch has a church standing in 1528, but no traces of it now remain. It maintains its poor separately, though it is ecclesiastically united with North Runceton, and comprised in that manor. Here is a farm and large inn, belonging to the corporation of Lynn; and on the opposite side of the river Nar, in Wernegay parish, a Setch Brewery conducted by Geo. Hogg and Co. maltsters, and wine and spirit merchants. D. M'Pherson, of Lynn, occupies the manor farm, and the other tenants of Setch are Thomas Alday, vict. Lynn Arms; Susan Brook, vict. Bull, Wm. Robinson, blacksmith; Charles Storey, farmer; and a few cottagers.

WALTON (EAST), a small but scattered village, 9 miles E. & E. of Lynn, has within its parish 220 inhabitants, and 2700 acres of which about 900 are heath, wood, and warren, and the rest enclosed, but has mostly a light sandy soil, much blown about by the wind in dry weather. Anthony Hamond, Esq. is sole proprietor, lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Mary, and is a vicarage valued in K. B. at £6. 3s. 4d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. George Coldham. Near it is the vicarage-house and in the garden of the large farm-house, occupied by Mr. C. Whiting, is the ivy-mantled ruin of St. Andrew's Chapel, anciently appropriated with the Church, to West-Acre priory. The poor have £21 a-year from the bequest of Francis Callibutt, (see Hillington, p. 458,) and ten threepenny loaves every alternate Sunday, from three small lots of old poor's land.—Directory:—Robert Ashley, wheelwright and blacksmith; Rev. George Coldham, vicar; John Garner, game-keeper; John Wright, schoolmaster; Jonas Youngman, vict. Gray-bound; and Wm. Adcock, Thomas Jude, Thomas Pridgeon, James Richardson, and Charles Whiting, farmers. The latter occupies 1200 acres.

WESTACRE is an ancient village, lying in a secluded dell on the north side of the river Nar, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. by N. of Swaffham, comprehending in its parish 415 inhabitants and about 2000 acres of land, mostly of a sandy soil, and all belonging to Anthony Hamond, Esq., the lord of the manor, and impropiator and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to All Saints, and is a curacy now enjoyed by the Rev. Geo. Hanbury. Near the Church are the ruins of the celebrated Priory, founded for monks of the Cinguiac order, about the year 1200, by Ralph de Tony, who endowed it with his manor of Westacre. Edward IV. granted the monks an annual fair. Wm. Wingfield, the last friar, with eight monks, surrendered the priory, at the general dissolution, to Henry VIII., and in return they received pensions for life, — the prior having £40 a-year. The convent boasted that they had a piece of St. Andrew's Finger, set in silver, which they had pawned for £40, but the King's visitors did not think it worth redemption at such a price. The priory revenues were estimated by Dugdale at £260. 13s. 7d., and by Speed at £308. 9s. 11d. per annum. Part of the tower of the conventual Church is still standing, and under an arch is represented the Virgin and Child treading on a dragon, and on each side of them stands a monk in the attitude of prayer. Above these is a profane representation of the Trinity, as depicted in the Romish breviaries. WESTACRE High House, the seat of Anthony Hamond, Esq., stands in a pleasant situation nearly two miles north of the village, and is a handsome building in the Italian style. The park and pleasure grounds are adorned with plantations and shrubberies, and the venison of the former is highly esteemed.—Directory —A. Hamond, Esq.; Wm. Floyd, shopkeeper; Wm. Miller, blacksmith; Wm. Shilling, shoemaker; Mark Thomas, vict. Stag; and Wm. Bougen, James Mayhew and Edmund Sherringham, farmers.

WINCH (EAST) is a considerable village, with several neat houses, pleasantly seated on the Swaffham turnpike, 6 miles S. E. by E. of Lynn. The parish contains 466 inhabitants, and about 2,400 acres of land, of which 800 belong to Edmund Kent, sen., Esq.; 600 to J. and C. Curl; 800 to T. H. Forster, and 150 to J. Smith, all of whom are resident. E. Kent, sen., Esq., is lord of the manors of East Winch and Carrow; and the Bishop of Norwich is lord of the manor of Grancourt, containing about 80 acres, on Mr. Forster's estate. An act for inclosing and draining the waste lands, passed in 1815, when 80 acres were awarded to the poor, who, on Easter Wednesday, assemble to repair the fences, and receive the rents from such as pasture their cattle on this allotment. The manor of Grancourt was purchased of Thomas de Grancourt, in the 26th of Edward I., by Sir William Howard, the famous judge, and founder of the illustrious family of the Howards, Dukes of Norfolk, &c. Sir William and several of his descendants were seated here, in the now small and dilapidated house called the Nunnery. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is an ancient fabric, and had on its south side a chapel built by the Howards; but this is now gone, and their gravestones are left open to the churchyard. The living is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £8, and now endowed with 12½ acres of glebe. E. Kent, sen., Esq., is the patron, and the Rev G. E. Kent, M. A. is the incumbent. Here are 28½ acres of Church and Poor land, bequeathed by Robert Astley, in 1607, and now let for 40 guineas a year, but 19½ of it are in Middleton, being exchanged at the enclosure.

Adderson Robert, butcher
Brighton Lucy, vict. Maid & Head
Curtis Chas. blacksmith
Davy Wm. bricklayer
Day Eliza shopkeeper
Day Mr. William
Foulkes Rev. Jas. incum. of Sutton
Gouldson Youngman shoemaker
Harrison Rt. bricklayer
Kent Edmund sen. Esq.

Loeder Rev. Rt. curate
Rawson Miss, schoolmistress
Rust Jas. joiner and beer house
Savory Hy. wheelwright
FARMERS — * are yeomen.
• Curl Richard Nutball Neville
• Curl Jacob Shawl Thos
Dye Samuel * Smith Jas. &
• Forster Thos. (brickmaker)
Herring Wm. George

WINCH (WEST) is a village of detached houses on and near the Setch turnpike, 3 miles S. of Lynn, comprising in its parish 394 inhabitants, and about 1,400 acres of land, partly on the low meadows and common on the east side of the river Nar. Lord Henry Cholmondeley is lord of the manor; but a great part of the soil belongs to twelve smaller freeholders, and a number of copyholders. The Church is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £4 11s 4d, and now worth about £300 a year, having 38 acres of glebe, and a composition of about 7s. per acre in lieu of the corn tithes. The King is the patron, and the Rev. Martin Hodge is the incumbent. Here is a rectory-house, but D. Gurney Esq., generously pays the rent of the curate's residence. The church land (1½ ac.) with a common-right belonging to it, is let for £10 lbs. Here are three cottages, with small plots of land, and nine common-rights, belonging to the poor.

Bennett Thomas, vict. and farmer,
Chequers
Callaby Wm. gardener
Chamberlain Wm. vict. Cock
Creak Wm. gent. & Lynn
Fayers Geo. corn miller
Fishback John. dog keeper
Forster Jas. beerhouse
Gore John shoemaker
Hall Rev. Fdw. curate
Mace Robert, wheelwright

Swatman Wm. Esq. collector of Lynn customs

FARMERS

Chapman Wm.	Mark Ben.
Clark John	Mowton Noah
Cooper Sarah	Shuckel John
Fayers Martin	Smith John
Godfrey Jerh.	Wake J.
Hammont Thos.	Ward Thomas
Hanson Wm.	Winch John
Leete William
Chambers

WOLVERTON is a small, scattered village, lying chiefly among the sandy hills above the marshes, bordering on Lynn-Deeps, 7 miles N. by E. of Lynn. Its parish has 163 inhabitants, and 3,800 acres of land, of which 200 are in salt-marshes, and 1,000 in an open heath abounding in whins and rabbits, and bounded on one side by an extensive wood. H. J. Henley, Esq., of Sandringham, is sole proprietor, and lord of the manor, which passed to his family from Major Hoste, who built an extensive brick-wall to keep the sea out of the marshes, at the cost of £1,800. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a large edifice, erected in 1487, after the old one had been burnt down. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £12, is in the gift of H. J. Henley, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. John Brett, of Dersingham. The glebe is about 23 acres. The poor have the interest of £21. The farmers are Joseph Beckett, George Blake, James Loose, William Mitchell, Thomas Rix, and Thomas Watson. Robert Shaul is parish clerk.

WOOTTON (NORTH) is a small village, overlooking the Wash, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. of Lynn. Its parish has 179 inhabitants, and about 1,500 acres of land, of which 150A. are rich salt-marsh, 150A. heath, and 30A. woodland. The Hon. F. G. Howard is lord of the manor, patron of the church, and owner of the soil;—this, and the other Wootton, lying within the exempt jurisdiction of his borough of Castle-Rising. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, was repaired in 1834, at the cost of £300, except the tower, which is in ruins, only two of its walls remaining. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £10, is now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Willcox Clarke, M. A. The principal residents are Thomas Gay, Thomas Pong, and William Royston, farmers; Robert Frost, baker; James Naylor, vict. Red Cat, and John Rulfe, shoemaker and parish clerk.

WOOTTON (SOUTH), one mile from the above, and $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. by E. of Lynn, is a small village near the Wash, comprising within its parish only 177 inhabitants, and 1140 acres, of which 300 are common, and the rest enclosed. The Rev. W. C. Ray, and others, are owners of the soil; but the Hon. F. G. Howard is lord paramount. The poor have three cottages and half an acre of land. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a small ancient fabric, and the living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 6s. 8d., in the gift of the Crown, and incumbency of the Rev. J. B. Sams, for whom the Rev. J. C. Platten, of Lynn, officiates. A few of the houses at Wootton-Gap, are in Gaywood parish.—Directory:—Miles Blomfield, farmer; Israel Walker, horse-breaker; Thomas Walker, shoemaker; Thomas Ward, blacksmith; John Woodhouse, beer seller; and Richard Curry, and John and William Kirby, gardeners.

FREEBRIDGE MARSHLAND.

THIS HUNDRED forms a remarkably level district of rich marshes and fens, at the western extremity of the county, of an irregular triangular figure, about 14 miles in its greatest length, from north to south, and 7 in breadth, from east to west, comprising upwards of 34,500 acres, completely insulated, being bounded on the north by the Wash, on the east by the Great Ouse river, on the west by the river

Nene, which divides it from Cambridgeshire and Lincolnshire; and on the south by Podike, which separates it from the fens of Clackclose Hundred. As has been seen at page 443, this campaign territory was formerly annexed to Freebridge-Lynn, under the title of "Freebridge Hundred and Half," and it still constitutes, with that district, the Deanery of Lynn, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich. The whole of Marshland has at some period been under water, and it is now secured from the incursions of the ocean by ranges of artificial DAMMS. These, standing at considerable distances from each other, show the progressive steps taken by the hand of skill and industry, to secure the boon which nature had bestowed. The first, or inner rampart, is attributed to the Romans. Some writers are of opinion that this tract, and the adjacent fens of Lincolnshire and the Isle of Ely, were originally firm and dry land, afterwards ingulphed in the ocean by some early convulsion of nature, which they consider to be evident from great numbers of timber trees having been found below the surface, which it is certain will not grow in watery, moorish places, besides, it is observable, that where they have been discovered, in digging channels and drains, their roots have been always observed to stand in the firm earth, below the alluvial soil. Dugdale says, he saw "great numbers of oak and fir trees taken up in the fens, near Thorney." Many others were also dug up at the cutting of that large channel, called the Downham Eau; and near Magdalen Bridge, there were found, at the setting down of a large sluice, seventeen feet below the surface, several furze bushes, also nut trees pressed flat down, with nuts sound and firm lying near them. The great work of recovering from the tides this extensive level, was evidently continued with much success by the Saxons, after the departure of the Romans, for, according to the Domesday survey, all the parishes now existing in Marshland were extant in the days of Edward the Confessor; but some of them have since been considerably increased by subsequent embankments, in the estuaries of the Ouse and the Nene, which open out into the large bay called the Wash—(vide p. 443.) The estuary of the Nene is called the Cross Keys Wash, and divides Norfolk from Lincolnshire. The only passage between the two counties was, till lately, by a precarious road or track, two miles in length, across the sands which were left nearly dry at low water, from the Cross Keys House in Marshland, to the Wash House, near Long Sutton, in Lincolnshire. This passage was extremely dangerous without a guide, and lives were sometimes lost in attempting to ford it; but in 1825, an act of Parliament was obtained, for throwing a BRIDGE across the narrow channel of the Nene, on the Lincolnshire side, and extending from it a high EMBANKED ROAD across the broad Wash to the Cross Keys House, in Norfolk; and this great work was completed about five years ago, at an immense expense, which is remunerated by the tolls taken on the bridge, and the recovery of several hundred acres of land from the influx of the tides.

An earlier improvement on the opposite side of Marshland, is the EAL-BRINK CUT, by which a broad and circuitous part of the Great Ouse river, Letwixt Lynn and St. Germain's Bridge, has been diverted into a straight and deep channel, crossed by one of the largest and handsomest wooden bridges in England, which, with the embanked road and bridge over Cross Keys Wash, and great improvements in all the turnpikes, entirely frees the long obstructed line of communication from Lincolnshire, through Lynn, to the eastern part of Norfolk, as has been seen at a preceding page. This large cut, (finished in 1822,) besides improving the navigation of the Ouse, serves as a better outfall than the old channel for the waters of the numerous drains which intersect Marshland in every direction, and are crossed by upwards of 150 bridges. Great improvements were made here during the latter part of last century, especially on the sea-coast, in the parishes of Terrington, Clenchwarton, and North Lynn; where Count BENTINCK, in the years 1773-4, embanked in, at a vast expense, upwards of a thousand acres of salt marshes. His descendants possess the large estates here, which were granted by William III. to the Earl of Portland, who came over in the suite of that monarch from the Netherlands, at the glorious Revolution.—Count Bentinck was captain of the Niger man-of-war in the English service. In prosecuting his improvement of the salt marshes, he caught the fen fever, of which he died about the close of 1774.

The SMETH AND FEN, comprising 7263a. 1a. 34r., in the southern part of Marshland, have been drained and divided among the owners of 525 common-rights, under the powers of an Act of Parliament passed in 1796, and at the expense of upwards of £50,000; of which £10,000 was expended in 1833, in cutting a wide and deep drain, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles long, from Tilney Fen-end to the Eau Brink cut, near St. Germain's, for the purpose of superseding the four wind-mills, which formerly pumped the water from the lower into the higher levels. A drainage rate is charged by the commissioners on the land-owners, amounting to about 2s. 7d. per acre per annum.—This extensive and now fertile tract was, from time immemorial, the common of the parishes, called the Seven Towns of Marshland, among which the 525 common-rights were divided as follows — Emneth, 73; Walsoken, 88; West Walton, 62; Walpole St. Peter, 61; Walpole St. Andrew, 25; Terrington St. Clement, 67; Terrington St. John, 41; Tilney All Saints, 33; Tilney St. Lawrence, 22; Tilney-cum-Islington, 19; and Clenchwarton, 14. The land awarded to each common-right varied from 9 to 15 acres, according to the quality of the soil, and the parochial allotments extend in narrow slips to the southern termination of the fen, distant more than seven miles from some of the parish churches. The SMETH, comprising only 1572a. 22r., is on the north side of the fen, and was celebrated as a summer pasture in the time of James I., when a courtier told that monarch, at his first coming to the crown of England, "that if over night a wand or rod was laid on the ground, by the morning it would be covered with grass of that night's growth;" to which the King jocosely replied, "that he knew some grounds in Scotland, where, if a horse was put in over night, they could not see or discern him in the morning." The FEN, (including the Broad, Short, and Wellmoor Fens,) comprises 5691 acres, now forming rich arable and meadow land, which, before the enclosure, was a wild morass, abounding in reeds and large pools of water, frequented by numerous flocks of wild fowl, of which great quantities were shot or decoyed by the poor inhabitants of the "Seven Towns," who evinced much dissatisfaction at the enclosure, which destroyed their aquatic sports and profits, and all their other interest in the Smeth and

Fen. Tradition says that, in ancient times, the people had a dispute with the lords of the manors, respecting their common-rights, when one HICKFRIE, of gigantic stature, taking a cart-wheel for a shield, and the axletree for a sword, repelled the invaders. A large gravestone, in Tilney churchyard, having upon it a cross, so decorated with ornaments as to appear something like a wheel, is still shown by the credulous as the grave of this fabulous giant.

Marshland, being nearly encompassed by the ocean and navigable rivers, affording an easy transit for building materials, has much better churches than any other part of Norfolk, being all noble structures, chiefly of large free-stone. It contains seventeen parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent.

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
*Clenchwarton . . .	478	£4827	2,880	*Walpole St. Andrew	514		4,000
*Emneth	986	5,540	3,500	*Walpole St. Peter	1,237	16,799	7,300
Lynn (West)	306	4,500	1,500	*Walsoken	1,836	9,660	3,000
Lynn (North)	54		914	*Walton, West . . .	906	8,300	5,500
*Terrington St. Clement's . . . }	1,466	18,067	7,760	Wiggenhall St. Germ.	652	2,430	1,310
*Terrington St. John	595	4,017	2,402	Wiggenhall St. Mary	206	4,964	2,000
*Tilney All Saints	420	5,307	2,040	Wiggenhall St. Mary Magdalen }	576	5,836	4,000
*Tilney-cum-Ishington . . . }	238	3,036	1,510	Wiggenhall St. Petr.	114	1,409	200
*Tilney St. Lawrence	672	5,855	3,076	Total	11,922	109,054	54,551

✪ PETTY SESSIONS for the Hundred of Marshland are held on the 1st and 3rd Monday of every month, at the Duke William, in Terrington St. Clement's.

* Those parishes marked * form the "Sanon Towns" participating in the Smooth and Fen. The fens of Wiggenhall, at the south end of Marshland, are under a separate Drainage Act. In 1783, there was a destructive rot among the Marshland sheep but the marshes and fens being well drained, and the roads greatly improved, this disease, and that human affliction, the ague, are now of rare occurrence in this monotonous, but fertile region.

CLENCHWARTON is a scattered village with several neat houses, 2 miles W. of Lynn by the ferry, and 3 miles by the bridges, including within its parish 478 inhabitants, and 2720 acres of land, exclusive of about 160 acres of the old bed of the river Ouse, now converted into pasture-ground. The soil belongs to a number of freeholders, among whom are, Lord Wm. Bentinck, Sir G. Hammond, Col. Moorwood, Thos. Hozason, Esq., Miss Brown, Mrs. Vernon, and Hy Sawbridge, Esq. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Margaret, is an ancient cemented building partly mantled with ivy, and sheltered on the north by the plantation of the rectory-house. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £14. 16s. 6d., is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. Frederick Wm. Goldfrap. The glebe is about 32 acres, and the church-land 3½ acres, with nine cottages. About 1100 acres of land, in this parish, is titheable only to West and North Lynn. The poor have three roods of land, left by Thos. Wardle, in 1730, and three roods left by Ann Rogers, in 1776. Mr. John Wardle pays 10s. a-year for the former; but nothing has been paid of late years for the latter, which lies in Mr. R. Tubb's farm. The salt marshes extend to the Wash, between Terrington and North Lynn.

Crisp Ann, butcher. | Cullin Mr.
Goldfrap Rev. Fredk. Wm. rector
Roberson Thomas, shoemaker
Sherriff Benjamin, blacksmith
Tipple Geo. butcher & shopkpr.
Wardle Rl. schoolmaster, parish clerk, and Post-Office. Letters arrive 10 mg. & are desp. 3 aft.
Wright Mr. John

PUBLIC HOUSES.

Black Horse, Wm. Sissons
Shetland Pony, Ralph Tate

Victory, Henry Hodspeth, (and wheelwright)

FARMERS.—Marked are yeomen.*

Atmore Wm.	Dawson John W
Hall	Fletcher Saml.
Barron Thomas	Jewson Wm.
Carter Wm.	Mountain John
Clements Jas.	Presswood John
Brown William,	*Tubbs Robert
Smeeth	*Wardale John
Cranfield John

EMNETH is a large village near the Smeeth, on the east side of the river Nene, 14 miles S.W. of Lynn, and 1½ mile S.S.E. of Wisbech; but its parish extends close to the latter town, and comprises 995 inhabitants, and about 3500 acres of fertile land, belonging to a number of freeholders and copyholders, many of whom are residents; but Charles Metcalfe, Esq., of Wisbech, is lord of the manor, which anciently belonged to the Peyton, Osgard, Holloft, and Heward families. The CHURCH is an ancient edifice, dedicated to St. Edmund, and has a fine altar-tomb, with effigies of Sir Thos. Heward, his lady, and infant son. The benefice is a rectory, which has long been consolidated with that of Elm,—a parish on the opposite side of the river, in the Isle and Bishopric of Ely, Cambridgeshire, where there is a Free School for the two parishes.

Public Houses.

Queen's Head, Philip Hopkin
Swan, Amey Neale
Wheat Sheaf, Mrs. Smithee

Blacksmiths.

Butcher Richd.
Mote Thos.

Corn Millers.

Brid John Forth Wm. (and baker)

Farmers.

* are yeomen.
*Bird John, sen.
Bird John, jun.
*Bird Robert
*Bird Thomas
*Hesledine W.
Oxbro' ball

Haynes Wm.

Neal John
*Neale Wm.
Patrick Wm.
*Stimson Thos.
Wheelwrights.
Harrison J.
Walker Thos.

ISLINGTON, or TILNEY-CUM ISLINGTON, 3 miles W.S.W. of Lynn, is a parish of dispersed houses on the west bank of that broad part of the old river Ouse, which has been converted into pasture ground since the diversion of the waters into the Eau-Brink cut. The river was here nearly half a mile in width, confined within artificial banks, and is now crossed by a good turnpike from the old ferry boat-house. Islington contains 238 inhabitants, and 1510 acres of land, extending southward to the Smeeth and Fen, and including the hamlets of THORNTON'S BRIDGE and LORD'S BRIDGE, from 2½ to 3¼ miles S. of ISLINGTON HALL, the rural and well wooded seat of Ed. Bagge, Esq., the lord of the manor, and owner of a great part of the soil. The manor extends into the adjacent parish of Tilney All Saints. The CHURCH, a neat structure, standing in the park, is dedicated to St. Mary. The living is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., in the patronage of the King, and incumbency of the Rev James Royle, of Wareham. The glebe is 5A., and the Church land 2A. At Thornton's Bridge, are six cottages, belonging to the poor, and rebuilt in 1834. Those marked * in the following Directory, are at Lord's Bridge, and † at Thornton's Bridge.

Bagge Edw. Esq. Islington Hall
Coe Mary, gentlewoman
Earnish Thos steward to E. Bagge
• Fox Luke, vict., Fox & Goose
† Hill John, beer house
• Roope Fras vict., Lord's Brdg.

† Sallabank Philip, tailor
Farmers.

Coe Clement † Jennery
† Coe Robert • Sharrin
• Gear John Wm.

LYNN (NORTH,) a decayed parish on the west side of the mouth of the Great Ouse river, 1 mile N.W. of Lynn, by the sea, contains only 54 inhabitants, and 911 acres of land, occupied by Giles Walker, Esq., but all belonging to Lord Wm. Cavendish, of Lincoln, who, about 16 years ago, erected here a large Oil Mill, which has been unemployed during the last eight years. His Lordship some time represented Lynn in Parliament, but has been several years absent in India. Besides the hall, here are only eight cottages, and the CHURCH, dedicated to St. Edmund, having been washed down by the ocean several centuries ago, and never re-built, though the rectory, valued in K. B. at £13. 1s. 8d., is still continued, and now worth upwards of £400 a-year, having 12 acres of glebe, and being endowed with the tithes of a part of Clenchwarton par. The Rev. Edward Edwards, M.A., of King's Lynn, is the incumbent, and sometimes performs divine service in part of the oil mill.

LYNN (WEST) is a considerable village, on the west side of the Great Ouse river, opposite the town and port of King's Lynn, with which it communicates by a ferry for foot passengers, but carriages have to go round by the bridges, a distance of nearly 3 miles. It is sometimes called Old Lynn, from a conjecture that it is more ancient than King's Lynn. Its parish contains 396 inhabitants, and about 1200 acres of land, exclusive of 300 acres of the old bed of the river, which will be fit for cultivation in a few years. The soil belongs to John Lees, Esq., of London, Sir W. B. Polkes, of Hullington, and a number of other proprietors, each having the manorial rights of their own estates. In 1300, Adam de Lindesey, burgess of Lena (Lynn,) gave to William de Goussier, a farmer, the liberty of a passage or ferry-boat across the river. This ferry is now let by the Corporation for £106 per annum. The opening of the Eau-Brink cut, which joins the Ouse about 1½ mile above West Lynn, gave the current such a strong bias to the west side of the river, as to endanger the existence of "Old Lynn." Mr. Broadbent's house, which stood on the river bank, was washed down, soon after the completion of the cut, in 1822, but precautions have recently been taken against any further encroachments of the reflux tides, by the erection of several jettyes of strong frame-work filled with large stones. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter, is a square tower with three bells, and was erected after the destruction of the old one, which was washed down by an inundation in 1511. In the chancel is a fine brass, representing Sir Adam Oudney, who died in 1503, and left an acre of land for the parish. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £6, and having 3 acres.

glebe. The Rev. Chauncey H. Townshend is the patron, and the Rev. Jeremiah Bowen, the incumbent; for whom the Rev. John Braunsby, of King's Lynn, officiates. The poor's land, (4 acres,) is now let for £5. 10s. a-year; besides which, the parish has six cottages and a house, obtained about nine years ago, from a person who died a pauper. The poor-rates in 1835, amounted to £508, including £18. 6s. 4d. paid to the county rates.

Boswell Thos. Walton, baker, &c.

Broadbent Thos. corn and coal merchant

Cook Robert, timber merchant

Craven John, shoemaker

Durrant Edw. brick maker; h. Lynn

Goode Saml. salr. (North Lynn)

Hendry Jas. lessee of the Ferry

Mann Wm. bricklayer

Pike Wm. gardener

Sessions Mr. Thomas

Trundle Robt. parish clerk

Wright John, schoolmaster

Public Houses.

Ferry Boat, John Laws

Freebridge Hotel, John Dawson

Swan, Rose Dison

Beer Houses.

Garner Henry

Medlock Wm.

Cowkeepers.

Aspland John

Croot George

Gagen Goddard

Farmers.

Crampton A.

Dawes Charles,

Hill hs.

Dobbs Wm.

Goddard Utbar

Joiners.

Garner Henry

Ringwood Robt.

(& cab. mkr.)

Shopkeepers.

Dison Rose

Garner Henry

Lawson Thos.

Whiles Mrs.

TERRINGTON ST. CLEMENT'S is a populous village, with a noble church, and several neat houses and handsome villas, on and near the Cross Keys, or Sutton-Wash road, 4 miles W. of Lynn, by the ferry, and 6 miles by the bridges. Its parish has increased its population since the year 1801, from 824 to 1466 souls, and contains 7760A. 3R. 6P. of rich alluvial land, a great part of which lies to the north and west, in the extensive salt marshes, bordering upon the Wash, where many hundred acres were embanked in from the incursions of the tides, in 1773 and 4, by Count Bentinck, as has been seen at page 469. About half of the parish is old enclosure, with flourishing hedge-rows, and several vigorous plantations. A large portion of the Wash, lately embanked in by the new bridge road, from Cross Keys House to Long Sutton, in Lincolnshire, is claimed by this parish, but not yet allotted. George Bentinck, Esq., is lord of Terrington manor, and owner of 3343 acres; and the rest of the parish belongs to a number of proprietors, among whom are Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, (378A.;) Sir G. E. Hammond, (600A.;) Rev. E. Edwards, (263A.;) Lord Wm. Bentinck, (185A.;) Hon. B. Paget, (102A.;) Messrs. Brooks and Todd, (282A.;) and the Rev. T. T. Upwood, (232A.) The latter is lord of Lovel's manor; Mr. Wing, of Wisbech, is lord of Braunche's manor; and Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes is lord of Howard's manor. Terrington existed as a manor in the Saxon era, when Godric, in A. D. 970, gave part of it to the Abbey of Ramsey, on condition that his brother, the abbot, should free it from the service of heriot. In the 5th of Henry III., it was found to be in the liberty of the Bishop of Ely, whose bailiff might hold pleas here "with or without writ, assize of bread and beer, and amercements of his tenants." The bishop had also wreck at sea; the patronage of the church of St. Clement and the chapel of St. John, with all the tithes, except two parts of the tithe of the land of "Wm.

son of Wilham, and the fee of Sir Wm. Bardolph." It remained in the fee of Ely till the death of Bishop Cox, in 1581, when it passed to the Crown, by an act of the 4th of Elizabeth. James I. granted it to his eldest son, Henry, and afterwards to Charles, Prince of Wales. It was subsequently assigned to Catharine, queen of Charles II., as part of her dowry; and in 1696, it was granted by William III. to Wm. Bentinck, Earl of Portland, with whose descendants the manor has since remained, being now held, as already noticed, by 1y G Bentinck, Esq.

The Church, dedicated to St. Clement, is a noble pile of free-stone, in the cruciform style, but the massive tower stands detached from the body, in the north-west angle, and contains six bells. It was thoroughly repaired, and new roofed about seven years ago, when several of the lofty pinnacles were restored. The nave is divided from the aisles by two rows of seven pointed arches, springing from octagonal columns. The font is covered by a lofty piece of tabernacle work, made to open, and on its pannels are painted figures of Christ and the four Evangelists. James I. gave the appropriation of the rectorial tithes to the Lady Margaret's professorship of Divinity College, Cambridge, which office is now held by the Bishop of Peterborough, who consequently enjoys the appropriate rectory, valued in K. B. at £34 6s. 8d., but the vicarage, which has annexed to it that of Terrington St. John, (valued in K. B. at £23 6s. 3d.) is in the gift of the Crown, and incumbency of the Rev. Ambrose Goode, M. A. Here was anciently a chapel, dedicated to St. James, but its site is unknown. The Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here. Adjoining the churchyard is a National School, built by subscription, in 1818, and now affording instruction to 60 children, in addition to whom about 120 others attend on Sundays. In 1786, Anderson Allen, Esq., bequeathed the interest of £120, secured on the Lynn and Wisbech turnpike, to this parish, one moiety for the poor, and the other for the school. The late Dr. Newcombe left the dividends of £120, two and a half per cent stock, to the schoolmaster, who has also 40s. a year from 1½ acre of poor's land, left by an unknown donor. The poor have a yearly rent-charge of 20s. now paid by the Rev. Robert Haukinson, of Walpole. They have also the benefit of a Dispensary, a Lying-in-Charity, and a Clothing Club, supported by annual contributions. The dispensary was established in 1818, in a house given by Lord Wm. Bentinck. The ALLOTMENT SYSTEM has existed here, with great success, since the year 1816, when the vicar and other gentlemen, desirous of bettering the condition of the poor parishioners, induced one of the principal landowners to let to the overseers 22½ 2u 30r., to be by them re-let at moderate rents, in lots of from 2 to 4 rods each. This experiment produced such beneficial effects, by reducing the poor rates, and improving the habits, and consequently the circumstances of many of the most troublesome parishioners, that the former opposers became strenuous advocates of the plan, and in a few years afterwards, the overseers took other land to the amount of about 22 acres, and re-let it in the same manner, and with the same beneficial results. A Select Vestry was established here in 1820. The Poor Rates in the year ending April, 1835, amounted for this large parish to £1262. 7s. 8d. There are usually about 15 paupers maintained in the Workhouse, at the cost of 2s. 6d. per head per week. PETTY SESSIONS for the whole of Marshland, are held here at the King William Inn, on the 1st and 3d Monday of every month.

Among the neat mansions in Terrington St. Clement's, are Hammond Lodge, the handsome residence of the Dowager Lady Hammond, sheltered by extensive plantations; and LOVEL'S HALL, the seat of the Rev. Thomas Thorogood Upwood, built of stone, in 1543, and now having a spacious and finely wooded lawn, and in its apartments several valuable paintings, and a large piece of beautiful tapestry, representing in all the richness of a first-rate painting, a numerous group of figures from Orlando Furiosa,—those in the foreground as large as life. This admirable piece of needlework was wrought in one of the continental nunneries, and is in excellent preservation. ORANGE FARM, near the west end of the village, is occupied by John Sculthorpe, Esq., agent to Lord William Bentinck, who purchased this estate in 1816, of Baron Feagle, a German refugee, who entertained the Prince of Orange here when the French had invaded Holland, from which circumstance the house obtained its present name. The wind-mill, which stands near the house, was erected by the Baron, after the German fashion. LITTLE LONDON is a hamlet, on the Roman Bank; besides which, there are in the parish many scattered farm-houses on the MARSH, north of the village. The POST-OFFICE is at Mr. James Markham's, where letters arrive by the Lynn postman at 11 morning, and are despatched at 3 afternoon.

Among the departed WORTHIES of Terrington, are the learned Walter Terrington, L. L. D., and John Colton, archbishop of Armagh, both of whom were born here, and died early in the 15th century. The Rev. Edward Gonville was rector of Terrington, in the reign of Edward III., and with Dr. Caius, founded Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge.

Blade Jas. farmer of workhouse

Buffham Mrs. Ann

Clark Eliz. straw hat maker

Girdlestone Jno. glzr. pntr. &c.

Goode Rev. Ambrose, vicar

Hammond Dowager Lady, Hammond Lodge

Howell Benjamin, surgeon

Jarvis Richard, farrier

Lawson Peter, saddler

Ockley Vinct. schoolmr. & shopr.

Reader Mark, bricklayer

Reckerby Mr. William

Sculthorpe John, Esq. agent to Lord W. Bentinck, Orange frm.

Smith Job, farm steward to Geo.

Bentinck, Esq., Marsh.

Upwood Mrs. gentlewoman

Upwood Rev. Thomas Thorogood,

Lovel's Hall

Watson William Ryley, schoolmaster and parish clerk

INNS AND TAVERNS.

Angel, John Parnwell

Jolly Farmers, W. Rutherford,
Wash road

King William, Wm. Pollyn, jun.

*Trafalgar, Mrs. Taylor, Marsh.

Bakers.

Moore Kezia

Neep John

Beerhouses.

Kitteringham

Francis

Neep Henry

Ockley John

Stork John

Blacksmiths.

Patterson Jas.

Weston Thos.

Woodward Ths.

Butchers.

Sleite William

Steward Thos.

Corn Millers.

Donaldson Abd.

& Miller Robt.

Flatt William

FARMERS.

*Marked are on the Marsh.

Barker George,
Tower house

Bates Henry

Bates Hy. jun.

*Belton Saml.

*Briggs Wm.

*Butters Thos.

*Clark John

Coe Clement (& Islington)	* Kirkham Fras.	Whisler Wm	Skinner Joseph
Coe William	Lawson Eliz.	Manor house	Smith Robert
Coulson George,	Lawson Jacob	Wright Wm (& chief constbl)	Tailors
Five lanes	Lawson John	Grocers & Dps	Callett Edw
Gagen John	Lawson Thos.	Bouttell Wm.	Collett James
Gunnell Mrs.	Lawson Thos.	Markham Jas.	Nelson Thomas
Hammond Rd.	Lockwood Dnl.	Ockley Jno. (& vestry clerk)	Thompson Gml
* Howard Chpr.	Mudd John	Shoemakers.	Wheelwrights & Carpenters.
Humphrey Ed.	Plumb Abm.	Cullen Edw. S.	French Thomas
* Jewson Fras.	Pollyn Robert	Fulier J.	Lawson Wm.
Johnson Mtw.	* Presswood Jno.	Islip J.	(joiner)
King Wm. (& dep. overseer)	* Smith Job	Moore Jonth.	Mills James
	Stockdale Saml.		Ward William
	Taylor George

TERRINGTON ST. JOHN'S, is a large straggling village and parish, chiefly on the Wisbech road, 6 miles S. W. by W. of Lynn, comprising 595 inhabitants, and 2402 acres of land, 3 miles long and 1 broad, lying in the same manors as Terrington St. Clement's, to which this is considered a parochial chapelry, being in the same rectorial appropriation and vicarial patronage and incumbency, (see p. 474.) The soil belongs to Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, George Bentuck, Esq., and a number of other proprietors, many of whom are resident. The Church, or Chapel of St. John, stands on the north side of the parish, 3 miles S. of Terrington St. Clement's, and was built "at Paykes cross," in 1123, under a license granted by the Bishop of Ely, and made parochial by the Archbishop of Canterbury in 1530. It is a handsome pile of brick and stone, with a square tower and six bells, at the south-west corner. The exterior has recently been repaired, and the brick parts cemented. The chief part of the village is a mile S. of the Church; and about $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile further south, is the hamlet of FEN-END, so called from its being in the limits of the Smeeth and Fen, already described at page 469. The glebe is 5a. 1r. 6p.; and the Church land, 27a. 3r. 26p., is now let for £55 a-year, employed in repairing the church and roads. Here are also two lots of Poor's land, viz 11a. 3r. 1p., let for £23 5s., and 4a. 1r. 8p., let for £4. 10s. per annum. The schoolmaster has £3. 6s. a year from the bequest of Dr. Newcombe, and an annuity of £10 from the parish, for teaching 10 free scholars. The Methodists have a small chapel here, built upwards of 20 years ago. In the following Directory, those marked 1 are at Fen-End, and * are freeholders —

Bradfield James, beer house	Redding Rt. brazier and tinman
Brett Thomas, saddler, &c.	1* Sutton James, brickmaker
Briggs Robert, butcher	* Tyson Rev John, curate of Islington
Brompton Joseph, parish clerk	Public Houses
* Cockle William, surgeon	Rose and Crown, Chpr Cullen
* Cox J. h. Bush, hatter & baker	1 White Swan, Wm. Witton
Egarr John, schoolmaster	* Woolpack, Thomas Shorton
Evans John, pig jobber	Blacksmiths
* Gathergood Wm drain & mill work contractor	Back Robt.
* Gathergood Wm builder	1 Carter Thos
* Kiddle Richard, wheelwright	Youngs Mtw.
	Farmers
	Batterham John
	* Bell Sarah
	Child Henry

Cockle George	Johnson John	*Sutterby Jas.	Cullen Eliza
1 Craft John	1* Johnson Robt.	*Sutterby Thos.	Goodrick W. R.
Euells Henry	*Johnson Thos.	*Walker Sign.	Shoemakers.
1 Giles Henry	King John	*Wright Robert	*Betney Jas.
Griffin Wm. R.	1 Oglesby Joseph	Grocers, & Dyers.	Scott Gabriel
*Ingram Rbt.	Ripper John	Cullen Edward	Wales Thomas
1* Johnson Baj.	1* Stockdale J.

TILNEY ALL SAINTS is a scattered village and parish, with several neat houses, 4 miles W. S. W. of Lynn, containing 420 inhabitants and about 2500 acres of land, exclusive of 150 acres of the old bed of the river Ouse. Edward Bagge, Esq. owns a great part of the soil, and is lord of the manor of Tilney-cum-Ishington, (see p. 471.) — Cary, Esq. has also a large estate here; the heirs of the late Right Hon. W. Huskisson are lords of Berry manor; and Colonel Moorwood is lord of Kenwick Manor, besides which, some other manors extend into this parish. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a large free-stone building, with a square tower, surmounted by a spire. Its windows were formerly decorated with stained glass, all of which is gone. In the church-yard is part of a stone coffin, said to have contained the remains of Hickfric or Hickstrift, the giant, who expelled with his wheel and axletree the lordly invaders of the Smooth and Fen, as noticed at page 470. In the tower are six musical bells, and the parish is celebrated for excellent ringers. The living is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £30, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Charles Currie. The advowson, and appropriation of the rectorial tithes, are in Pembroke Hall, Cambridge, by a grant from Edward III., in the 32nd year of his reign. The glebe is 46 acres; and the Church land 19 acres. The Workhouse, built at the enclosure, has nine or ten occupants, maintained at 2s. 6d. per head per week. The Poor have a yearly rent-charge of £2, left by Thomas Sayer, in 1683, and the rent of 4½s. of par's land. John Aylmer, bishop of London, who died in 1594, was born at Tilney, in a house then called Aylmer Hall.

Cot Thomas, gardener	Shore Boat, Isaac Troser
Grummit George, shoemaker	FARMERS.—* are land owners
Jernsey Edward, blacksmith	Cook John Johnson Benj.
Jerry Robert, parish clerk	Crabb Robt. Johnson John
Mallows John, blacksmith	* Crown Edm. *Killingworth
Newbound Thos. shoemaker	Euell Henry Mrs.
Overton Benj. Turner, butcher	Failes Watson Mann James
Overton Wm. Edm. corn miller	Fisher Fras. Neap James
Petterson Jas. beer house	Fisher George Scales James
Prior John, wheelwright	Ghent James *Snedell Olive
Public Houses.	Ghent Thomas Sutterby John
Bell, William Butte	Green Frances.
Ship, Richard Bridgman	Manor house

TILNEY ST. LAWRENCE, 6½ miles S.W. of Lynn, and at same distance E.N.E. of Wisbech, is a large but scattered village and parish, which has increased its population since the year 1801 from 362 to 672 souls, and comprises 3076a. 2r. 5p. of enclosed land belonging to a number of freeholders, and partly lying in the co.

manors as Tilney All Saints, to which this is considered a parochial chapelry,—the benefice and tithes being in the same incumbency, patronage, and appropriation, but the parishioners here have lately objected to pay church-rates to All Saints, having their own large Church (dedicated to St. Lawrence,) to keep in repair. The latter appears to be as ancient as the former, and consequently we should presume there is legally no other connexion between them, further than the consolidation of the livings. The glebe here is 5 acres, and the Church land 6 acres. The poor's land (4a) is let for £2 per annum, distributed in bread. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here, and another at FEN-END, a hamlet partly in this parish.

Bettenson G. vict. Plough, Fen end
Cullen Mrs. Margt. gentwn.
Edge Wm. vict. Tilney Buck
Gathergood John, joiner, builder, brick & tile mkr., lime burner,
and brewer
Goodwin Jas. grocer and draper
Jacklin John, tailor
Johnson John, carpenter
Troter Jacob, saddler

Beer Houses. Gathergood St.
Duffield Wm. Corn Millers &
Legate John Bakers
Blacksmiths. Sutterby Rd.
Kitteringham. Tinsley John
Wm. Farmers
Rickwood Jas.  are yeomen.*
Bricklayers. * Bailey Saml.
Elby John

Batterham W.
Bird Robt.
Brooks Lowden
* Clements Jno.
Cartus John
Gathergood Jph.
Goddard Geo.
Jewson Frances
* Johnson Rd.
* Josh Isaac
* Laws John
* Mann Jas.
Metcalf Wm.
Munson John
Neep Francis
Parlett Stephen
* Pollyn Wm.
* Prior Jacob

Prior Thomas
Sherwood Jas.
Starr Day
* Starr John
* Satterby Danl.
* Sutterby John
Wales Wm.
Shoemakers
Betney Chas.
Cullen Edward,
Fen end
Peckett Wm.
Scott Thomas
Wheelwrights.
Kitteringham
Wilham
Mountseer W.

WALPOLE ST. ANDREW is a straggling village, 7 miles W. by S. of Lynn. Its extensive parish, which includes the hamlet of Cross-Keys on the wash, $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. of the Church, has increased its population since the year 1801, from 227 to 514 souls. It has its name from the Roman wall or sea-bank raised to defend it from inundation, and from the pool or wash which is now crossed by a high embanked road and bridge from Cross Keys to Long Sutton in Lincolnshire, (vide p. 458.) The Rev C. H. Townshend, owns most of the parish, as part of his manor of West Walton-Coleraine, but here are several smaller manors. Part of the soil is of a sterile nature; and many of the houses both here and in the other Walpole, are meanly built, though here are a few neat mansions. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is a large free-stone structure, with a nave, chancel, aisle, tower, and south porch, repaired in 1811, at the cost of £1000. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £26. 13s. 1d., was endowed with the great tithes by Lord Coleraine. The Rev Robt. Hankinson, M. A. is the incumbent, and the Rev C. H. Townshend, is the patron. A house and 50 acres of land left to the poor by an unknown donor, are vested with five trustees, and worth nearly £100 per annum, but are let to poor families at small rents. In the following Directory, those marked 1, are at Cross Keys; 2, on the Marsh; 3, on the Fen; and * are land owners.

•Butcher John, beer house
 Hankinson Rev. Robt. vicarage
 Harpley James, blacksmith
 1^oCurzon Thos. blacksmith, wheelwright, and beer house
 •Giddens Wm. vict. Plough
 1Kirby Abel, vict. Cross Keys
 Ketteringham Wm. wheelwright
Farmers.
 Bacon Wm.

•Boon Charles 1Bennet John

1Coxon Wm.
 Day Thomas
 Green David
 Griffin Philip
 3Hubbard Chas.
 Ingram Mallard
 3Ingram Robt.
 •Jackson Thos.
 1Marshbank Rt.

2Moody Thos.
 Nicholson John
 2Noll Lawson
 Oldroyde Rd
 Oldroyde Widow
 2Taylor Thos.
 1^oTweedy Jas.
 1Ward Robt.

WALPOLE ST. PETER is a long scattered village, lying west of the above, from 7½ to 8 miles W. S. W. of Lynn. Its extensive parish contains 1237 inhabitants, and about 7200 acres of land, exclusive of from 3 to 400 acres of new marsh, lately embanked in from Cross Keys wash (see p. 468.) The Rev C. H. Townshend is the principal owner, and lord of the manor, but here are a number of small freeholders and copyholders. ST. PETER'S CHURCH stands within a furlong of St. Andrew's, and is one of the handsomest parish churches in England, erected in the reign of Henry VI., and consisting of a chancel, nave, two side aisles, a handsome south porch, and a fine embattled tower, with six bells. It has thirteen clerestory windows on each side, and three at the east end, containing some excellent stained glass; but many of the pictorial representations are mutilated. On the stone work of the porch are the arms of Goddard, Denver, and Rochford, contributors to the building of the church. At the east end of the north aisle, is a marble stone inscribed to the memory of William, son of Sir John Rochford, and formerly having a long ~~coats~~ of brass, standing on a pedestal of four steps. Here were formerly chantries dedicated to St. James, St. Catherine, St. Edmund, and St. Thomas. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £24. The King is the patron, and the Rev. Wm. Chester the incumbent, for whom the Rev. Peregrine Curteis officiates. The Free School for all the children of the two Walpoles, was founded in 1696, by Anthony Kirton, who endowed it with fifty acres of land at Terrington St. John's, now let for £80 a-year. The incumbents and churchwardens are the trustees, and the master has generally about 100 free scholars. The ALMS-HOUSES, (four thatched cottages,) were founded in 1631, for four poor widows, by Robert Butler, who endowed them with 37a. 1a. of land, now let for £83. 16s. per annum. There are at present no trustees; but Messrs. Wing and Jackson, of Wisbech, are solicitors for the charity. Each alms woman receives 3s. 6d. weekly; 20s. at Christmas; 1½ chaldron of coals yearly, and a stuff gown once in two years. In 1697, Wm. Wate bequeathed to the poor of this parish, a house and 37a. 3s. of land, now let for £60 a-year, distributed in February by the Churchwardens. The Roman Bank extending hence to West Walton, forms a carriage road. Some years ago, a farmer whose house adjoined this bank, found by digging in it, many Roman bricks, and an aqueduct made of earthen pipes. Gedric, the hermit, who died in 1170, after wearing out three suits of iron clothes, is said to have been a native of Walpole, which gave name to the Walpoles of F ^{all}, several of whom were distinguished statesmen.

Bridgman John, schoolmaster	Coe George	Sales William
Cartons Rev. Peregrine, curate	Coe Wm.	Seaman Chas.
Fuller Ann & Mary, gentlewomen	Cole Robert	Taylor David
Pett Robert, cooper	Giddens Saml.	Ulyatt Abraham,
Sharp Samuel, dep. overseer	Godfrey John	Rose bail
Winterton Wm bricklayer	Green Wm.	Wood Thomas
Public Houses.	*Hanes Joseph	Woods Wm.
Bell, John Thorp	Herbert John	Wright Wm.
Black Horse, Thos. Jennings	Hill Mrs.	Shoemakers
Rose & Crown, Robert Holland	Horsepool Rd.	Howell John,
Rose & Crown, Joseph Howling	Humphreys J.	Toll bar
Beer Houses.	*Ingram John	Newberry Geo.
Creak Wm.	Kemp Anthony	Woods Henry
Woods Mary	*Melton Sarah	Shopkeepers
Blacksmiths.	*Munson Rd.	Pett Charles
Clark William	Palmer Thos.	Pilgrim John
Holland Robt.	*Parlett Wm.	Sales Wm.
Howling Jph.	Parrinder Rd.	Winterton Wm.
Jackson Thos.	Pattern John	Wheelwrights.
Butchers.	Pett John	Merrishaw Hy
Freeman J.	*Rogby John	Turnbull Jacob
Mouel Gabriel

WALSOKEN is a large and pleasant village, 12 miles S. W. of Lynn, and 1 mile E. of Wisbech, adjoining to which town is the populous modern suburb of New WALSOKEN, in this parish, which has increased its population since the year 1801, from 705 to 1856 souls, and comprises about 3000 acres of land, including a large portion of the Smeth and Fen, (vide p. 469,) and belonging to a number of freeholders and copyholders. The Prior of Lewes, in the 3rd of Edward I, had here among other privileges, a weekly market on Thursday, and a fair on the feast of St. Peter and St. Paul. This manor was given to the abbey of Ramsey, in Huntingdonshire, by Aldwin, Duke of the East Angles, in 1009, and it afterwards passed to the Wrothesleys, Southwells, and Colvilles. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a much admired specimen of ancient architecture, with a tower surmounted by a lofty spire. At opposite ends of the nave, are effigies of King Solomon and King David, boldly sculptured in relief. On each side of the former is a large painting representing the judgment of the king on the two harlots; and under the latter hangs a portrait of King Charles. The font is a richly sculptured piece of antiquity, being of an octagon form, supported by Gothic arches, with numerous figures in the compartments, representing the seven sacraments of the church, with a crucifixion. Here is likewise a beautiful Gothic screen, and inscriptions to the memory of the Wensleys, Southwells, Gardiners, Edwards, and Herrings. One of the latter family was Dr. Thomas Herring, archbishop of Canterbury, who died in 1757. The benefice is a rectory valued in K. B., at £30. 13s. 4d. The Rev. Marmaduke Ailington is patron and incumbent. There was formerly a chapel, dedicated to the Holy Trinity, at a place called Staith Ditch, in which was a famous fraternity or guild of brothers and sisters, to whom Popes Urban, Boniface, &c., granted many indulgences. A Hermitage existed here in the reign of Henry V., but its site is unknown. On

On the side of the village is Walsoken House, the pleasant seat of Mr. Kalk, Esq. Two lots of poor's land, left by Robt. Palmer and Harvey, were let in 1786, for £29. 10s.; and two other lots by unknown donors, were let for £4. 5s. per annum. There are also two annuities, viz., 20s. left by John Smith, in 1700, by John Harvey.

I live at New Walsoken.

Mr. & Mrs. Limer, coach bldrs.
Richd. John, grocer & dpr.
Jph., hair dresser
Mr. John
Wm., corn miller
Mr. Mrs., gentlewoman
Mr. Guy, Esq., Walsoken

Mr. John, bone setter
Mr. Mrs., schoolmistress
Mr. Henry, carpenter
Mr. Rev. R. L. bap. min.
Mr. John, banker's clerk
Mr. J., music master
Mr. Solomon, gent.
Mr. Michael, tailor
Fdk., comptroller of Walsoken
Mr. Wm., gent.

Public Houses.

Samuel Webster
Martha Cook
Mr. IV., Thomas Lee

Bakers.

1 Bellars Wm.
1 Goodyear Jno.
1 Goodyear Rd.
Beer Houses.

Boyce Richd.
1 Goodyear Jno.
1 Hall J.
1 Hedden Wm.
1 Lenton Sarah
Simpole Edw.
Terrington W.

Tooke James
Blacksmiths.

1 Davidson Th.
Hartley J.
Herring Thos.
Bricklayers.

1 Hammond Jer.
1 See John Worth J.

Butchers.

Munson Thos.
Sandle Wm.
Simpole Edw.

Farmers.

Mr. Bycroft Rich.
Catlin Abm.
Mr. Clemenson J.
Cox John

Moss James
Murley John
Sharmun Michl.
Terrington Jno.
Terrington Jas.

Shoemakers
Baxter John
Bodger John
Long Clement
Southwell Jas.

Shopkeepers
Clark Nath.
1 Doves Nath.
Goodale Wm.
Wheeler Wright
Coleman Wm.
Parker James
Tooke James

ST WALTON is a considerable village near the Roman miles N.N.E. of Wisbech, and 12 miles S. W. by W. of its extensive parish (seven miles long, and 4½ broad,) has had its population, since the year 1801, from 513 to 906 souls, comprises many scattered houses, and 5510a 3m. 30r of land, of which a large portion of the Smeth and Fen, near Kimberly (see p. 9,) and 600 acres on the west side of the river Nene, are in the Ely. The King is lord of the manor of West Walton, which is held by leaseholders and copyholders on free tenure; Mr. Esq., of Wisbech, is the steward. But part of the manor is in the Colville manor, of which S. Gardiestone, Esq. is lord, and the other part is in the manor, of which the Rev. C. H. Townshend, Esq. is lord. John Bellamy, Esq., and many others, have estates in the parish. The church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a beautiful building, consisting of a nave, north and south aisles, and a but elegant tower, with five bells, standing 22 yards to the south, and forming a fine English style, when the Norman ornaments, which were joined to the lighter pointed tower is covered with arches, niches, &c. The whole church is full of interest, in its architecture.

ture, mixed with occasional specimens of higher antiquity. On the north side of the chancel, under a tabernacle, lies the effigy of a man in a religious habit. The benefice is in two RECTORIES, viz., West Walton Ehen, valued in K. B. at £16, in the patronage of the King, and incumbency of the Rev. E. E. Blencowe, of Lynn; and West Walton Leves, valued in K. B. at £15. 13s. 4d., in the gift of the Rev. C. H. Townshend, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Atwill Lake.—The former is a sinécure, from which, we suppose, it has the name of Ehen, or alien; the cure being alienated from the parish, though the incumbent regularly receives his moiety of the tithes. The FREE SCHOOL, in the vestry, is endowed with the dividends of £750 three per cent. consolidated annuities, bequeathed by Mrs. Dales, in 1792, for the education of 20 poor children. There are 17a 2a 8r. of POORS' LAND in West Walton, and 10 acres in Walpole St. Peter, let together for £72. 5s. per annum; besides the Ferry House and land on the west side of the Nene, in this parish, let for £9 10s. a-year. The poor have also a yearly rent-charge of £4. 15s. out of Captain Trafford's estate. The donors are unknown. In 1834, the poor's land was vested in new seoffees, viz., Thos. Bates, sen., Wm. Pratt, Edw. Cross, Robert Bean, James Watts, John Bonney, and Johnson Porter.

Marked 1 are at FEN-END, from 5 to 6 miles S. E. of the village.

Fisher Jacob, parish clerk	1 Clark Henry	Johnson Edm.
Lake Rev. Atwill, Rectory	Coker Charles	Marsden Joseph
Reynolds Robert, blacksmith	1 Collins Wm.	Medworth Smn.
Shacklock George, schoolmaster	Cott Jas. Smeeth	1 Popeley Sign.
and vestry clerk	Cross Edward	1 Porter John,
Smith Wm. coal dir. Workhouse	Cross John	sen. & jun
	1 Dexter John	1 Porter James
	Edgoose, Stan-	Pratt Wm.
	ton, & Co.	1 Reader Robt.
	1 Parrin John	Smith Wm.
	1 Fisher Wm.	1 Taylor Benj.
	Foster Thomas	1 Watts James
	1 Fundry Widow	1 Watts Hampy
	Garton Thomas	Watts Thomas
	Hall Thomas	1 Woods Michl.
	1 Handley John	Wright Ann
	1 Hubbard Ths.	Wheeler rights
	sen.	1 Bates Thos.
	Hubbard Thos.	jun.
	jun Rinn, bnk.	Hines John
	1 Humphrey Ts.	1 Taylor Joshua

WIGGENHALL ST. GERMAIN'S is a large village and parish on both sides of the Great Ouse river, where there is an ancient wooden bridge, 4 miles S. W. by S. of Lynn. It contains 552 inhabitants, and 1219 acres of land, of which 1031a. are on the west, and 188 on the east side of the river, which, a little below the village, is diverted into a new channel, called the Eau-Brink cut. The tides press up the Ouse with great force, and are confined by lofty banks, most of the land being below the high water mark, and some of it as the bed of the river. Above and below the bridge, the river were curved into many abrupt angles; but these were straightened by the commissioners of the navigation, at a considerable expense in 1835, when several houses were taken down for the purpose of thinning the west end of the bridge. Edward Heksham Browne, lord of the manor of Fitton, which comprises the four Wighams; and he is proprietor of about two-thirds of this parish.—it belongs to Jarman Patrick and James Royle, Esqrs., except the rectory, belonging to the corporation of Lynn, and a few smaller tenements.

The Hundred Court was anciently held at Fitton Oak, half a mile west of the village. (See page 441.) The Church, dedicated to St. Germain, has a square tower, with four bells. It is on the east side of the river, and its floor is about eight feet high-water mark. The living is a vicarage, valued in K. B. and now enjoyed by the Rev. T. B. Grenaves, of South Lynn. Dean and Chapter of Norwich are the patrons, and appropriate the great tithes, with 22s. 2d. 20r. of rectorial glebe. The rectory-house, built in 1791, has attached to it 1a. 1n. of glebe—nor have an annuity of £1. 6s. 8d., from the Bridge-Reeves, Thos. Fenn, in 1691. This parish was for many ages the relict of the Wigenhales, who afterwards assumed the name of Widnall, and removed to East Winch. One branch of this illustrious family became Dukes of Norfolk, and many of the others were rewarded with distinguished honours in church and state.

By Thomas, joiner
Mrs. Ann, (lessee of tithes)
Christopher, Esq.
Robert, butcher
Fenn, wheelwright
Jarman, Esq.
Thomas, schoolmaster
W. schoolr. & constable
Joseph, farmer son Jeremiah, cooper
Public Houses.
Mrs. J. Malt, (& shoemkr.)
& Anchor, Jas. Ringwood
Guns, John Simons

Bakers.	Farmers
Long Isa, (and shopkeeper)	Benson Wm.
Murrell Jas. (& miller)	Dashby Jas
Sands Nichs.	Jas Henry
Beer Houses.	Patrick Jarman,
Crossley Philip, (& shopkr.)	Fitton
Long James	Gardeners
Blacksmiths.	Keeble Hubert,
Hammond Hy.	(& parish clk.)
Oldroyde John	Marshall John
	Shoemakers Cousins Jas
	Gapp James
	Graham Geo

WIGHAM ST. MARY, a small scattered village, 4 miles S.W. of the Great Ouse, 5 miles S.W. by South Lynn, in the parish the hamlet of SADDLE-BOW, on the opposite bank of the Eau-Brink cut, within 3 miles of Lynn. It contains 206 inhabitants, and about 2500 acres of land, in the hands of a number of freeholders, but formerly possessed by the Knights of the Temple, who built a large brick hall here, with an adjacent church; but this was pulled down after 1624, and the church, dedicated to St. Mary the Virgin, is now a ruin.

In the chancel is an alabaster altar, with figures of St. George in armour, his lady, and two children. The figures are of oak, carved with the figures of the Virgin and Child, and are valued in K. B. at £12, is in the Rev Wm. Money, the late incumbent, died March 26th, 1835. Two houses, with two roods of land, belong to the poor, and are occupied by paupers.

Busham RL vict. Three Hrs. Shoes
Howlett Mr. Jas. Saddlebow
Marsters John, merr. Saddlebow
Scott Robt. vict. Bull, Saddlebow
Taylor Matthew, wheelwright

FARMERS.—are at Saddlebow
Beckett Thos. Moore George
Cook Thomas *Nuthall Neel
*Diggins Fras. Peak Christpr.
Goodson Jph.

WIGGENHALL ST. MARY MAGDALEN is a large village on the west side of the Great Ouse river, which is here crossed by a long wooden bridge, 6 miles S.S.W. of Lynn. The parish contains 576 inhabitants, and about 4000 acres of land, of which nearly three-fourths are enclosed fens, extending three miles to the south, and now well drained by three wind-mills and a steam engine of 40 horse-power. The lutter was erected in 1834. The drainage rate amounts on the fen lands to about 10s. 6d per acre per ann. The soil belongs to a number of freeholders, many of whom are resident, but E. H. Browne, Esq., is lord of the manor. The Church is an ancient fabric, consisting of a nave, chancel, aisles, and porch, with a square tower at the west end. In the east window is a broken effigy of Pope Nicholas on his throne, and in the north windows are mutilated figures of Saints. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5 15s 10d., is in the gift of W. Franks, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev John Richard Thackeray, for whom the Rev. W. M. Allen, of Downham, officiates. CRABHOUSE NENNERY stood on the banks of the Ouse, north of this village, and was founded by Roger the prior, and the convent of Reynham, in 1181, for nuns of the order of St. Augustine, and dedicated to St John the Evangelist. It was built in "a desert and solitary place, that was inhabited by a hermit, but not overflowed." At the dissolution it was granted to Sir John Gage, knight, "with the gardens, orchard, &c." Before the year 1181, the site and grounds of this priory formed the only habitable place in this parish, between Hustard's Dole and the south side of the village, all the rest being then a watery and desolate fen. The Bridge is supported at the east of this parish and Watlington, on the opposite side of the river, and underwent a thorough reparation in 1830.

Beckett James, butcher
Fisher Thos. Wm. shopkeeper
Judd Wm. shoemaker
Narborough Thomas, shoemaker
Robertson Jas. bksmith. & par. clk.

INNS AND TAVERNS.

Odek, Ann Pateman
Dolphin, George Hook
Vine and Ivy, Thos. Bretton

FARMERS.—are yeomen.

Bennett Geo. | † Brighton Ab.

† Burgess Wm.

† Butterick Ja.

Failes Wm.

Green DL (and butcher)

Griggs Jacob

Hall John

† Jackson Jas.

North Nicks.

Pycroft Wm.

Sharp John M.

Smith James

† Swift Morris

† Tiffin Wm.

† Whisler John

† Whisler Rd.

† Whisler Thos.

Gardeners.

Barton Simon

Galley J.

Walker P.

WIGGENHALL ST. PETER lies north of the above, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.S.W. of Lynn. It is a parish with five scattered farm-house, a few cottages, 114 inhabitants, and 900 acres of land, of which 599a. are on the west, and 301, with the church and houses, are on the east side.

of the Great Ouse river. The soil belongs to Messrs. Patrick and Ryle, Mrs. Marriott, Rev. J. Cary, Rev. J. Metcalf, and two resident proprietors, viz., Mr. John Cater and Mr. John Hall, the latter of whom is impropriator of the great tithes. The three farmers are Robt. Hall, Thos. Jackson, and Samuel Samson. The Church has a square tower with one bell. On the font are sculptured the keys of St. Peter. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6, has two acres of glebe. The King is the patron, and the Rev. Richard T. Powell, of Wormegay, is the incumbent.

WAYLAND HUNDRED.

This Hundred has in its centre the small market town of Watton, and was anciently called Wanelant or Waneland, from the oozy nature of its soil, which is now well drained and cultivated, most of the waste and commons being enclosed about the beginning of the present century. It is about 8 miles in length and breadth, except on its eastern side, near Hingham, where it is only four miles in width. It is bounded on the south by Shropham, on the west by Grimshere and South Greenhoe, on the north by the latter, and on the east by Mitford and Forehoe hundreds. It forms the Deanery of Breckles, in the archdeaconry of Norwich; and in the reign of Edward I. it had a bailiff and two coroners. The manors of Saham Toney, Stow-Bedon, Breckles, Watton, and Merton, have each a court-leet. Petty sessions for Wayland are held on the first Wednesday of every month, alternately, at the George and Crown Inns, in Watton. Mr W. P. Pillans, of Swaffham, is clerk to the magistrates. There are in this hundred sixteen parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent —

PARISHES.	Pop	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Ashill	700	£5368	2,800	Saham-Toney ..	1,061	£7439	2,800
Breckles	154	1,774	1,800	Scoulton	325	3,497	2,000
Carbrooke	789	5,230	2,000	Stow-Bedon	303	1,630	1,700
Caston	541	3,131	1,500	Thompson	478	2,787	2,500
Ellingham (Little) ..	340	2,405	1,500	Thrextton	29	878	1,500
Griston	208	1,242	1,200	Tottington	311	1,667	2,876
Merton	126	1,143	1,300	Watton	1,097	5,132	1,806
Ovington	230	2,873	1,481
Rockland St. Peter's	366	1,147	1,000	Total	6,824	47,570	20,183

ASHILL is a village of detached houses, on an eminence, commanding a distant view of Norwich and Ely cathedrals, and distant 3 miles N.N.W. of Watton, and 6 miles S.E. of Swaffham. Its parish contains 700 inhabitants, and 2,800 acres of land, lying in the manors of Uphall, Collards, and Gaynes, of which Lord Ashburton is lord; and Panworth Hall, of which T. W. Coke, Esq., is lord; but part of the soil belongs to several smaller proprietors. At the enclosure, in 1787, the poor received two allotments, viz., 43a. 21r now in their own occupation, and 30a. let on lease, and the rent distributed in coals. The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, is a neat edifice, mostly in the pointed style, with a flint tower and six bells. It was re-pewed in 1827. The chancel is in the florid Gothic style, and the east window is richly decorated with stained glass. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £19. 13s. 6d. is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. Bartholemew Edwards, and has 32 acres of glebe. Here are also 3a. 10p. of church land.

Allcock John, wheelwright
Cadge Rt. vict. White Hart
Darsley Sarah, vict. Crown
Edwards Rev. Bartholw. rector
Gardner Morris, grocer and dpr.
Garner Stephen, blacksmith
Lockett Goddard, beerhouse
National School, Wm. Darsley and Sarah Reeve

Thompson Wm. carpenter
Wilden John, corn miller

FARMERS.—* are yeomen.

* Boyce Wm.	* Mallows Rt
Chandler Hy.	* Oldfield Hy
Hart Robt.	Towler Wm.
Jary Robt.	Wrightup Thos

BRECKLES, or Breccles, is a small village and parish, 5 miles S. by E. of Watton, containing only 154 inhabitants, and 1,600 acres of land, all belonging to Sir E. Kerrison, the lord of the manor and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Margaret, and is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £7. 17s. 11d., but augmented from 1767 to 1824, with £1000 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. Joseph Wilkinson is the incumbent. Directory Robert Beart, Elizabeth Howes, and John West, farmers; and Elizabeth Matlass, vict. Gate.

CARBROOKE is a long village, with several neat houses, 2½ miles E. of Watton, including within its parish 789 inhabitants, and 2,960 acres of land, mostly belonging to Sir W. R. Clayton, and Richard Dewing, Esq.; the former of whom is lord of the manor of Carbrooke-Woodhall, and the latter resides in the Hall, which has lately been re-built. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, was rebuilt in the reign of Henry VI. It is a lofty edifice, with a tower 33 yards high, containing five bells. A fine Gothic screen divides the chancel from the nave, and the roof of the latter is beautifully carved, painted, and ornamented with roses; the supporters rest in half-length figures, with clasped hands. Here are several memorials of the Knights Templars, who had sixteen stalls in the chancel, but these were converted into pews some years ago. The living is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £7. 12s. 6d., and augmented in 1729 with £200 of royal bounty, and £200 given by the Rev. J. Carter; and in 1810 and 1815, with £400 by Parliamentary grants. Sir W. R. Clayton is the patron, and the Rev. William Deighton the incumbent. Here are 13a. 1k. 20p. of church land, let for £26. 2s. 8d., out of which 20s. are paid yearly to the poor as the bequest of John Mason. The church has also the tithes of 200 acres of land in Great Ellingham. At the enclosure, in 1861, 60 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel, and are now let for £64. 6s. 8d. a year, distributed in coals, except £5. 5s. expended in repairing the roads. The poor have also 20s. yearly out of Bacon and Malwood trusteeship. Here is an Independent Chapel, and Meeting Houses for the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists. Here was anciently another church, with an exempt jurisdiction, called Carbrook Parva, belonging to the commandry or preceptory of Knights Templars, founded here by Roger Earl of Clare, (who died in 1173,) and more amply endowed in 1192, by his widow, who gave it to the Knights Hospitallers of St. John of Jerusalem. This house was sometimes called the priory of St. John of Jerusalem, but commonly, "the Commandry of Kerbrook;" and was the only institution of the kind in Norfolk. It was endowed with numerous farms and vassals. All persons who enjoyed the privileges of this order were allowed to fix a cross upon their houses and lands, which exempted them from the payment of tithes, taxes, and many customary dues. These privileges the Knights, by granting their name and use of the cross, conferred upon others; for which exemptions, numbers of small annual payments were made to them out of houses, lands, and tenements, in this and the adjoining counties. But this abuse growing enormous, by many presuming to put a cross upon their property, a statute was enacted in the reign of Edward I., for the confiscation of all property on which crosses were falsely affixed. On the dissolution of the Carbrooke preceptory, its revenues were valued at £65. 2s. 9d. per annum, and were granted, with the house and its church, to Sir Richd. Gresham and Sir Richard Southwell, knights. There are some remains of the house, but no vestiges of the church, though its burial ground is still known; and in digging in it, in 1737, a curious cross was found, with an oaken stem, ornamented with brass bosses, and from the transept hung two chains, suspending two jewels.

Anger Wm. baker

Barker Misses Jane and Harriet

Cotton Geo. wheelwt. & beer hs.

Clarke Robt. grocer, &c.

Dewing Rd. Esq. Carbrooke hall

Harvey John, tailor and beer hs.

Harvey Wright, vict. and tailor,
Crown

Hipkin Thos. blacksmith and parish clerk

Holmes John, corn miller

Land Edmund, corn miller

Miles Danl. shoemaker

Minns Jeremiah, butcher

Rumble John, corn miller

Sculpher Geo. blacksmith

Watson Wm. beer house

FARMERS—* are yeomen.

Alpe Dorthy. &
Edm.

Anger John

Beets James

Brasnett Robt.

*Bullard Chas.

Cooper Morris

Davey Thos.

Herdement Ths.

Kiddle Thos.

Land John

Leader John

Leggett John

Minns Peter

Mowle Sarah

Readhead R.

Rushbrook Jph.

*Scott Thos.

Stebbing Hly.

Steel Isaac

Trumpres John

*West Clement

Worman Thos.

CASTON is a well-built and pleasant village, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles S. E. of Watton. Its parish contains 541 inhabitants, and about 1500 acres of land, belonging chiefly to Sir John Smith and the Rev B. Barker, the former of whom is lord of the manor of Caston Hall, now a farm-house; but part of the parish is in the manors of Newlands, Griston, and Scoulton. The Church, dedicated to the invention of the Holy Cross, is a large fabric, with a square tower and six bells. In the interior is an ancient inscribed monument of the founder, probably one of the Castons. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £11. 19s. 2d., is in the incumbency and patronage of the Rev. Benjamin Barker, of Shipdham. The Methodists have a small chapel here; and on the green is the shaft of an ancient cross, curiously carved. At the enclosure in 1813, an allotment of 25 acres was awarded to the occupiers of 34 old cottages, having common-rights, besides 2½ acres to the poor.

Alderton Richard, whitesmith
Barker Samuel, grocer & draper
Cook Charles, vict. Red Lion
Cook William, blacksmith
Crook John, Leer house
Denny James, cattle dealer
Dover Henry, Esq
Land Edmund, farmer
Land Edmund, jun. tailor & dpr
Land Robt shopkpr. & bricklayr.

Marcon Rev. Charles, curate
Palmer Ellis, yeoman
Parsley William, farmer
Smith Robert, farmer
Smith Wm. vict Duke's Head
Turner Ephraim, farmer, Hall
Vince Philip, wheelwright
Wilby Mr. Isaac
Wyer John, miller and baker

ELLINGHAM (LITTLE) is a small village and parish, 2½ miles S S W. of Hingham, and 5 miles E. S. E. of Watton, containing only 240 inhabitants, and 1500 acres, belonging to several proprietors, the largest of whom are William Colgrave, Esq., and the Rev Samuel Colby. The former is lord of the manor, (fines arbitrary) and the latter is patron and incumbent of the rectory, valued in K B at £7. 1s. 10d., but augmented in 1724 and 6, with £200 tithes, by the Rev. James Cater, and £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter, is a small building, with a tower and one bell, the other two being sold in 1663 and 1671, when the chancel was repaired. At the enclosure, in 1769, 40 acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let for £18. 10s., reserving to the cottagers the privilege of cutting turf and grazing their geese. Here are also 22 acres of old poor's land, the rent of which is appropriated to the poor rates.

Harman Joseph, vict. Crown
Vince William, blacksmith
Wade William, carpenter

FARMERS—* are yeomen.
* Barnes Sophia | Bowles Wm.

* Chapman Chs.
Cockin Daniel Goddard Edw.*

Leath Richard
* Tingay Thos.

GRISTON, 2 miles S E. of Watton, is a straggling village and small parish, with 208 inhabitants, and 1260 acres, mostly the property of Mrs Barker, of Eaton Grove, the lady of the manor of Griston Hall; besides which, here is a small Rectorial manor, of which the Bishop of Ely is lord, being impropiator of the great tithes, and patron of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £10. 8s. 9d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Thomas Cautley. The Rev. F. Franklin, of Attleburgh, is lessee of the tithes. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, is a large structure, with a lofty tower, mostly rebuilt of flint and stone, in 1477. On the tower are two keys and two swords in saltire, as emblems of the tutelary saints. The north window is decorated with the representation of a priest preaching to a large congregation, curiously painted. The pulpit and a few of the pews are richly carved, and in the chancel is an antique stall. This part of the church was repaired in 1697, when the impropriate tithes were sequestered for that purpose. At the enclosure, in 1806, an allotment of 50 acres was awarded to the poor for fuel. The poor have also two annuities, viz., 10s. and 8s. 2d. left by Edward Goaffe, in 1611.

Bird Rev. Henry, curate
Clark Jas. vict. Waggon & Horses
Lincoln John, shopkeeper
FARMERS.— are yeomen.
Baldry Ann | Bramett Robt.

Edwards Robt.
Land John
Osborn Robt.
Osborn Wm.

* Rust John Worman John
Worman Wm.

MERTON, generally called Martin, is a small detached village, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile S. by W. of Watton, comprising in its parish, 126 inhabitants, and 1349A. 2a. of land, all belonging to Lord WALSHINGHAM, who resides in the HALL, a fine brick mansion in the Elizabethan style, erected on the site of the old one, about the year 1610. It faces the north, and has in front a curious gateway with a clock. Three of the rooms are hung with tapestry in tolerable preservation. The grounds surrounding the hall are richly wooded, and some of the oaks in the park are of great age and size, one measuring 23 ft. 4 in. in circumference, six feet from the ground; and another 18 ft. 8 in. William the Conqueror gave this manor to Ralph Baynard. The heiress of Fulk Baynard, Esq., carried it in marriage to Sir Thomas de Grey, who settled here in 1337. His descendant, Sir William de Grey, knt., was born here in 1719, and after being successively solicitor-general, attorney-general, and lord chief justice of the court of Common Pleas, was created Baron Walsingham, of Walsingham, on Oct. 17th, 1760. He died in 1781, and was succeeded by his son Thos. de Grey, who died in 1818, when his son George de Grey succeeded. The latter died lately, and was succeeded by the Right Hon. and Rev. Thos. de Grey, the present baron. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter, stands in the park, and has a round tower surmounted by a small wooden spire, and containing three bells. In the chancel are several monuments with fine brasses of the noble family of De Grey. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 0s. 5d., is in the patronage and incumbency of the Right Hon. and Rev. Lord Walsingham. Here are five cottages and a piece of land, for repairing the church and relieving the poor, now let for £20 a-year. The poor have also 26s. a-year from land left by Sir Wm. de Grey, in 1661. The FARMERS are Isaac Cook, Edmund George Fox, and James Munnings; Jeremiah Wing is agent to Lord Walsingham.

OVINGTON is a small dispersed village and a parish, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile N.E. of Watton, comprehending 230 inhabitants, and 1481 acres, anciently belonging to the Knights Templars of Carbrooke, who were turned out for their profligacy, and replaced by Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, in 1314. The soil now belongs to several proprietors. Part of it, with the manor of Ovington Buzens, is possessed by the Cambridge University; and Mrs. C. Harvey, of Watton, is lady of Woodhouse manor. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. John the Evangelist, has a square tower and one bell. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 3s. 6d., is in the gift of Cambridge University, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Edward Simons.

Berry Wm. vict. Cock
Cook Edward, beer house
Difley Rev. Moses Brown, (Indt.)
Hardy Michael, corn miller
Simons Rev. Edward, rector
Stubbings James, vict. Crown
Waters Wm. corn miller

FARMERS.—† are yeomen.
† Denny Geo.
Wright
† Dayenham D.
Richardson Jno.
† Savage Saml.
Taylor Robert
† Thompson W.
† Thurston Jerh.
Wright Wm.

ROCKLAND ST PETER'S, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles S E of Watton, and 1 mile W N.W. of Attleburgh, is a parish of scattered houses, with 398 inhabitants, and 1000 acres of land, of which about 200 acres, with the church, are in Shropham Hundred. Sir John Smith, Bart., is lord of the manors of Kirkehall, Maynes, and Gurneys, and owner of 431a. 19r. of the soil, which is generally a hungry sand. The rest belongs to several proprietors, and at the enclosure, in 1813, an allotment of 15a. 31r. was awarded to the poor, who have also 2a. 26r. of old poor's land. The Church has a large thatched nave, a small chancel, and a tower, with a round base and octangular top. It is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £4. 16s. 5d., in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev J. T. Bird, of Riddlesworth. The glebe is 22a. 4a. 23r. Leonard James, who was inducted to this benefice in 1581, was barbarously murdered by his curate, Mr. Lowe, with his wife's consent, on the Twelfth night, 1608, for which crime the first was hanged and the latter burned. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here. The parish guild or feast is on May 16th.

Brett Simon, vict. Bell
Colman Wm. corn miller
Muskett Mr Benjamin
Notson Benj vict. Magpie

FARMERS —† are yeomen.

†Bowers Henry | Colman Wm.

†Fielding Jas.
(&bricklayer) †Muskett Zach.

Osborn John †Sparkball Isa.

Carrier.—B Notson, to Norwich, Friday; returns Sat.

SAHAM-TONEY is a considerable but scattered village, 1 mile N. W. of Watton. Its parish has increased its population since the year, 1801, from 650 to 1060 souls, and contains 3800 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, and extending upwards of 5 miles in length, and $1\frac{1}{2}$ in breadth. Wm. Foster, Esq., of Norwich, is lord of Sahan-Toney manor, and E. H. Grgson, Esq., is lord of the manors of Pages, Howards, and Herveys, besides which, here is a small Rectorial manor. The first or capital manor was held by the Earl of Warwick, famous for his courage and popularity in the reigns of Henry VI. and Edward IV. Adjoining the village, is a lake or mere, covering 12 acres, but formerly much larger, and abounding in fish, especially eels of two species, one noted for their excellent, and the other for their nauseous flavour. The Church, dedicated to St. George, is a large building with a lofty tower, erected about 1480; but the chancel was rebuilt by the Rev — Parrott, a late rector. It has five bells, a small organ, and a large font, with a curiously carved cover, surmounted by an eagle. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £21. 11s. 9d., is in the patronage of New College, Oxford, and incumbency of the Rev Wm. Parker. In 1626, the Rev. Rd. Terry, who was then incumbent, left the Rectory House well furnished for the benefit of succeeding rectors. He also bequeathed a house and piece of land for the parish clerk, to ring the eight-o'clock bell from Michaelmas to Lady-day; 4 acres of glebe to the rectory, and a house and land to the Free School, founded in 1611, by Edward Gouffe, who left a house and half an acre of land, with a rent charge of £8 a year for the master. The school property is now let for about £42 per annum. It is free to all the children of Sahan-Toney, 6 from Watton, and 1 from Threxton. Here are also four Alms-houses for poor widows, founded by Edward Goaffe, with an endowment of £5 a year. The incumbents of Saham, Carlton, and Watton, with the two chief-constables, are trustees of the school and alma-houses. The poor have several small yearly doles, from a house, barn, and land, left by Mary Duffield in 1702, and other donors. Humphrey Prideaux, author of the "Life of Mahomet," was rector of this parish, from 1686 to 1694. The singular Mrs. Stockford, who died here in 1781, aged 91, was buried in his own fields.

Barthard William, butcher
 Bolden Thomas, beer house
 Boughen Mr. John Fuller
 Burrell William, shopkeeper
 Butts John, deputy overseer
 Clark James, parish clerk
 Crowe John, vict. Choquers
 Crowe Michael, shoemaker
 Dixon Mrs.
 French William, shopkeeper
 Garner Henry, vict. Bell
 Grigson Edw. Harvey, sen., atty.
 Broom hall
 Grigson Rev. Edw. Harvey, Broom
 hall
 Holmes Christopher, wheelwright
 Hubbard Jas. blacksmith & beerha.
 Lake Machin, gentleman
 Mace Wm. vict. & blacksmith,
 Dolphin
 Marsh John, teacher of free school
 Parker Rev. Wm. rector

Rodwell Robert, blacksmith
 Rogers Miss
 Shenfield John, vict. Bell
 Shenfield Richard, carpenter
 Tenant Thomas, beer house
 Youngman Wm. corn miller
 FARMERS.—* are yeoman.
 Badely Wm. & *Farrer Wm.
 lime burner *Gathergood M.
 Bell John *Hardy Jerh. (& Bennett John brick maker)
 *Boughen Hugh Kiddle Wm.
 (& lime burner) Knopwood Ann Brasnett Robt. Mace John
 *Bristow John, Mace Thos.
 (& miller & Mace Robt. baker) Payne James
 *Clark Edward Youngman Jas.
 Carrier.—James Hubbard, to Norwich, Tu. & Fri. ret. Wed. and Saturday.

SCOULTON is a parish of scattered houses, from 3 to 5 miles W. of Watton, comprising 328 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, owned by several proprietors, the largest of whom are Lord Abergavenny, lord of Oldlands manor; J. Weyland, Esq., lord of New-lands manor; and H. D. Hemsworth, Esq., lord of Scoulton Hall manor. The Church, dedicated to the Holy Trinity, has lately been thoroughly repaired by the land-owners, and is covered in different parts with thatch, lead, and tiles. In the tower are three bells, and on the screen are carved the instruments of the Passion, and several coats of arms. The living is a rectory valued in K. B. at £10. 4s. 2d. J. Weyland, Esq., is the patron, and the Rev. Joseph Lane, of Attleburgh, is the incumbent. Scoulton Marsh is a fine sheet of water, three miles in circumference, surrounding a small swampy island, and resorted to from March to July by many thousand pewees, which are very useful to the farmers by clearing the land of insects. The eggs of these migratory birds are a source of profit to these parishioners, as they are in great estimation, and sometimes sell for as much as 2d. or 3d. each, at Norwich and other places.

Barham Thomas, vict. Day's Arms
 Buck William, wheelwright
 Johnson Rev. J. M. curate
 Lebbell Isaac, blacksmith

Farmers.
 Clark Wm.
 Cockin Thos.
 Norton James
 Norton Wm.
 Rushbrook Ths.
 Allen
 Tingay T. (yeo.)

STOW-BEDON, on a small rivulet, 6 miles S. E. by S. of Watton, is a parish of dispersed houses, with 303 inhabitants, and upwards of 1700 acres, of which T. T. Gurdon, Esq., is lord and principal owner. At the enclosure, in 1814, an allotment of 30 acres was awarded to the poor for fuel; but having a sterile soil, it lets for only £8 a-year. The Church is a small building without a tower, and is dedicated to St. Botolph. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £4. 13s. 4d., was augmented in 1714, with £200 given by Mr. James Smith, and in 1718, with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. Peter Eade is patron and incumbent. The glebe is 10 acres. Directory—Robt. Osborn, vict., White Horse, and Christmas Balls, Robert Bulham, Henry Harris, James Osborn, and John Smith, farmers.

THOMPSON, anciently called Thomestone, is a scattered village and parish, with 478 inhabitants, 3 miles S. by E. of Watton. The soil belongs chiefly to B. Tooke and H. D. Hemsworth, Esqrs., the former of whom is lord of the manor, and the latter patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Martin, and is a curacy certified at £20, but augmented from 1767 to 1824, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. B. Thompson is the incumbent. In the church are the old stalls, erected for the master and fellows of the College or Chantry, founded here in the 23rd of Edward III. by Thomas de Shardelow, Knight, and his brother John, for six chaplains, to pray for the souls of them and their ancestors. At the dissolution, this college was granted to Sir Edmund Knyvett. The common was enclosed in 1815. Here are 19a of poor's land, let for £29 15s., which ought to be distributed to the poor parishioners who are not paupers, but is generally appropriated with the poor rates.

Baker Wilham, vict. Chequers
Crook Christopher, machine makr.
and beer house

Leggate Robert, shopkeeper
Pearl Robert, blacksmith
Smith Thos. carpenter & beerhs.
Sutton William, corn miller
Tooke Beesley, Esq., Hall

Waters Daniel, baker
FARMERS.

Anthony Matw.	Gasking Geo.
Batterham W.	Palmer Richard
Chapman Rd.	Suare Geo. S.
Duffield John	Targate Henry
Francis Edward	Warren Wm.

THREXTON, sometimes called Trexton, is a small parish, 2½ miles W. of Watton, containing only 29 inhabitants, and 1500 acres of land, of which 500a. belong to Lady Goodricke, and form part of Cressingham Park; and the remainder belongs to, and is occupied by Thomas Barton, Esq., the lord of the manor, in which several Roman coins and other antiquities have been found. In Blomfield's time, the village was reduced to one house. The Church is a small antique edifice, standing in a romantic glen. It is a rectory, valued in K. B., at £7. 4s. 9d., in the gift of the Bishop of Norwich, and incumbency of the Rev. Wilham Yonge, A. M., of Swaffham.

TOTTINGTON is a small village, on the Thetford road, 4 miles S. by W. of Watton, comprising 313 inhabitants, and 2206 acres of land, (including 150a. of plantation) nearly all the property of Lord Walsingham. The soil in many places is of such a light sand, that it frequently drifts in the wind, and is bare of vegetation. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is a large fabric, with a square tower, supported at the corners by strong buttresses, and formerly crowned with a spire, which was taken down in 1802. The pews have carved heads, and in the windows are many fragments of painted glass. Here are inscriptions to the families of Knopwood, Duffield, Farrar, &c., and several ancient slabs which have been robbed of their brasses. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 14s. 9d., is in the patronage of the Governor of Chigwell School, Essex, who is also impropriator of the great tithes. The Rev. W. J. Burford is the incumbent. The glebe is 10 acres. At the enclosure, in 1774, the poor received an allotment of 60 acres for fuel. Directory—Thomas Richards, vict. Green Man; and William Dessforger, John Lincoln, Wm. Marner, Thos. Palmer, and Robt. Towler, farmers.

WATTON is a small but neat MARKET TOWN, pleasantly situated in the open country, a little to the north of Wayland Wood, 21 miles W. by S. of Norwich, 10 miles S. S. W. of East Dereham, 9 miles S. E. by S. of Swaffham, and 90 miles N. N. E. of London. It consists chiefly of one broad street of considerable length; and being at the junction of several cross roads, it is a great thoroughfare. Its PARISH contains 1808 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, and has increased its population since the year 1801, from 693 to 1037 souls. It is in two MANORS, viz., Watton Hall, of which the trustees of the late J. R. Hicks, Esq., are lords; and Bateles, of which Mr. John Laund is lord. The common (380a) was enclosed in 1801, when 48 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel. In 1204, there was a writ brought to enquire whether the market here, granted to John de Vaux, was not prejudicial to Sabam, and being found so, the market was recalled; but before the expiration of the year, Oliver de Vaux, having the manor of Watton Hall conveyed to him by his brother, and having great influence with the King, obtained a new charter for a MARKET to be held every Wednesday, as it still continues, chiefly for corn; but it was formerly celebrated as a great butter mart, immense quantities of that article being purchased here weekly and sent by factors to London. Here are five annual FAIRS, on July 10, October 11, and November 8, for cattle; and on the first Wednesday in July, and second Wednesday in October, for sheep. In 1673, on Saturday, April 25th, this town suffered greatly by an accidental FIRE, which destroyed above sixty houses, with the Butchers' Shambles, and other property to the amount of £7,450 in buildings, and £2,660 in goods and chattels. To alleviate the distress to which the inhabitants were reduced by this dreadful conflagration, "a brief was granted to gather all England over, till the 20th of September, 1675." In 1820, a neat obelisk was erected on the site of the old Market Cross, on which the town's name was oddly expressed by a rebus carved on the stone, viz., a W, a hare, and a sun. On the demolition of the cross, these devices were placed in front of the Bell-house and lock-up;—a small square building erected soon after the fire, but now called the Clock-house, from a clock placed in it a few years ago at the expense of Mr. Edward Stevens. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Mary, stands about a quarter of a mile out of the town, near the site of the old Manor-house. It is a small edifice, erected about the time of Henry I., being only 26 yards long, and 11 broad. Its tower is round at the base, and octangular at top, surmounted by a spire, and containing three bells. The remains of a curious crucifix, carved in stone, may still be seen in the front of the north porch. The interior is neatly pewed, and has several monumental inscriptions to the Hammond, Wodehouse, Samwell, and other families. The living is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £7. 4d. The Rev. J. Franklin is the incumbent, and the trustees of the J. R. Hicks, Esq., are the patrons and impropriators of the rectory tithes. The glebe is 13a. The Independents and the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel in the town. There are ALMSHOUSES for four poor widows, rebuilt in 1820 and 22, founded in 1612, by Edward Goffe, who endowed them with a rent charge of £5. 10s. a year. Mr. Edward Stevens, a living benefactor, built a few years ago four cottages for the residence of four of the oldest poor couples in Watton. The other poor have three yearly doles, viz., 42s. left by Edward Goffe; 27s. by Thos. Scott, in 1772, and £3, left by Richard Turner, in 1643. The National School, built by William Robinson, Esq., in 1819, is supported by annual contributions, and attended by 120 children, who have a play-ground of two acres, given by Mrs. C. Harvey, in 1834. The Saving Bank, established in 1819, has deposits amounting to nearly £1000. At the Bell Inn is a cricket ground, said to be one of the best in the kingdom. This ground is supported by most of the gentlemen in the town and neighbourhood, and several matches are played on it every season. Near the south side of the town, is WAYLAND WOOD, (6 acres,) commonly called Waiting Wood, from a tradition of 3 infants having been murdered in it by their uncle, or his orders; related in the popular story of the "Children in the Wood." The ancient wood gives name to Wayland Hundred, and was the place where the hundred courts were formerly held.

POST-OFFICES at Mrs. Sarah Blade's. The Mail Gig from Thetford to Dereham, Holt, Cley, and Blakeney, arrives at half past 7 morning, and returns at a quarter before 6 evening.

Aldis Ephraim, bricklayer
 Alpe Mrs. gentlewoman
 Bailey William Cooke, cabinet maker and upholsterer
 Baloy Robert, sheriff's officer
 Broadhead Rev. George
 Buaton Charles, glover
 Buxton Mrs. Elizabeth
 Chaston Benjamin, druggist
 Claxton George, dish turner
 Fendick Wm. surveyor of taxes
 Goddard William, stone mason
 Grigson Edward Harvey, attorney
 Hargraves Geo. & John, surgeons
 Hart Mrs. Elizabeth
 Harvey Mrs. Charlotte
 Hubbard Wm. turner & chair mkr.
 Jackson Rev. Stephen, curate
 Leggate Samuel, corn chandler
 Love Joshua, surgeon

Mann Mrs. Susanna
 Nettleship Miss Prudence
 Rackham William, leather cul.
 Sampson James, gentleman
 Stevens Edw. & Robert, gent.
 Swallow Misses Harriet & Eliza
 Swallow Robt. Esq. staff surgeon
 Vince Wm. coach maker
 Watson Burton, hair dresser
 Wright Mrs. Dorothy
 Younge Phillip, gent.

BANKS

Harvey & Hudson; Smith Wright
agent; (on Hankney & Co.)
 Norfolk and Norwich Joint Stock
 Smith Hastings, agent; (on Masterman & Co.)
 Savings' Bank; Benj. Chaston, agent.

FIRE AND LIFE OFFICES.

Norwich Equitable, Wm. Fendick
 Norwich Union, Robert Wright

INNS AND TAVERNS

Bull Inn, John Canham
 Crown Inn & Excise Office, John
 Lusher
 George Inn, & posting bs. Rt. C.

Green Mann, J. Warren, & wheelgt.
 King's Arms, Goddard Buskell
 Rose, Danl. Waters, Hingham rd.
Academies.
 Drew S. A. & M.
 Girdlestone W.
 Hall John
National, Wm.
 & Ann Took Bakers.
 Platfoot Cathn.
 Walker Amos
 Wright Robt.
Basket Makers.
 Reeve Barnabas
 Secker Samuel,
 * (& sieve)
Beer Houses.
 Rice Robert
 Younge Robert
Blacksmiths.
 Stebbings Rd.
 Sturgeon Hanh.
Booksellers.
 George John
 Hastings John, (& printer and binder)
*Boot and Shoe
 makers.*
 Balls James
 Boreham John
 Twaits Barnabas
 Younge Robert
Brewers.
 Canham James Stevens Robt. (&

maltster)
Butchers.
 Lacey Charles
 Mallows James
 Parker Joseph
 Rice George Farmers— are* Yeomen.
 *Dorr Charles
 Overland John
 *Russell Chas.
 Russell Wm.
 Turner Mrs.
 Woods Robert
Grocers & Dprs.
 Alexander Ths.
 Wright & Fiske
Joiners, &c.
 Rice Samuel
 Thompson J. H.
 Whisker Benj.
Milliners, &c. *are Straw Hat
 makers.
 Alderton M. A.
 *George Susan
 Marsh M. A.
 Siggins M. A.
 *Steel M. A.
 Turner Kazier
Painters, Glaz.
Plumbers, &c.
 Hendry Thos.
 Pitts James

Saddlers.
 Eastick Thos.
 Fox William
Shopkeepers.
 Ames Charles
 Warnes Wm.
Tailors.
 Ames George
 Blade Edm. O.
 Gathergood J.
 Scott Walter

Veterinary Surgeons.
 Smith Thos.
 Worm James
*Watch, &c. Mks.
 & Jewellers.*
 Adcock Saml.
 Wenham Geo.
*Wine & Spirit
 Merchants.*
 Hastings Jno E.
 Wright & Fiske

COACHES.—From the George Inn, to London, the Regulator, Mon. Wed. Fri. at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 mng., & to Holt, Tue. Thu. & Sat. at $\frac{1}{2}$ p.
 5 evening

The Royal George, to Norwich,
 Sat. at 7 mng. ret. 8 evng.

CARRIERS.

London, Green Man, Marsh &
 Swann's Van, Mon. & Thu

London & Holt, (Crown Inn,)
 Green and Archer's Van, Tu. and
 Fri., ret. Monday and Thursday.

Norwich, Jph. Payne, Tu. &
 Fri., ret. Wed. & Sat.; & James
 Harvey, (Bull Inn,) Mon. &
 Thursday.

Stoke Ferry & Swaffham, Jph.
 Payne, Monday and Thursday
 Thetford, Bury, and Dereham, (Bull Inn,) Abm. Woolsey,
 Mon. & Thu., ret. Tu. and Fri.

EYNESFORD HUNDRED

Is of an irregular, oblong figure, 12 miles in length from north to south, and seven miles in breadth; bounded on the south by Forehoe and Mitford, on the west by Launditch and Gallow, on the north by Holt Hundred, and on the east by South Erpingham and Taverham Hundreds. The soil is in general a fertile loam, with substratums of chalk and marl, and a large portion of it lies in the vale of the river Wensum, which forms the western boundary from Guist to Bylaugh, from whence it crosses the hundred by a circuitous channel to Attlebridge, where it again turns to the south, and forms the western border as far as Ringland, flowing from thence in an easterly direction to Norwich. This river in several places expands into a broad stream, and the tides are said to have anciently flowed up it as far as Billingsford. Several smaller streams also contribute to the beauty and fertility of this hundred, which comprises 31 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population in 1831 the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815; and their territorial extent —

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Alderford	40	£ 532	434	Reepham-with. . .	452	2,505	2,30
† Bawdeswell	507	905	1,000	* Kerdleston . . .	211	574	1,30
† Billingsford	205	1,680	1,900	Ringland . . .	350	1,520	1,70
† Bintry . . .	412	1,564	1,400	Sail . . .	291	1,357	1,70
Brandiston & Guton	26	807	650	† Sparham	355	1,362	1,30
† Bylaugh . . .	52	1,004	1,544	Swanington . . .	570	1,362	1,30
Elving . . .	437	1,650	1,535	Thene thorpe . .	89	665	62
Foulsham . . .	958	4,026	3,185	Thurning . . .	140	581	1,20
† Foxley . . .	274	1,436	1,620	Twyford . . .	82	500	80
Guestwick . . .	188	1,519	1,650	Weston . . .	406	2,200	2,00
Gulst . . .	363	1,395	1,672	* Whitwell . . .	403	—	1,40
* Hackford-by- Reepham	690	3,213	814	Witchingham (Great)	582	3,052	2,30
Haveringland . . .	181	1,262	2,000	Witchingham (Lit)	68	1,135	30
Hindolveston . . .	707	2,806	2,488	Wood-Dalling . .	512	2,627	2,40
† Lyng . . .	645	1,830	1,800	Wood-Norton . .	179	1,728	1,70
Morton-on-the-Hill.	108	597	600	Total	10,613	48,330	53,600

By PATTY SESSIONS are held on every alternate Monday, at Reepham.

† The seven parishes of Bawdeswell, Billingsford, Bintry, Bylaugh, Foxley, Lyng, and Sparham, have an INCORPORATED WORKHOUSE at Bawdeswell, erected in 1781, for 100 paupers, but has now only about 20 inmates.

* Hackford, Kerdleston, and Whitwell comprise the chief part of the market town of REEPHAM, where there are two churches in one churchyard for the four parishes, which have in the town an INCORPORATED WORKHOUSE.

ALDERFORD, on a declivity, 3 miles S. by E. of Reepham, is a small village and parish, with only 40 inhabitants, and 434 acres, of which 32 are wood, and 62 common held under the manor of Swanington. C. K. Thompson, Esq., owns most of the soil, and about 10 acres belong to Norman's Hospital, in Norwich. The Church, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, is a rectory, united with Attlebridge, in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter, and incumbency of the Rev Francis Howes. The rectory house is let in tenements, with 5 acres of glebe. Directory Rev John Parmeter, Wm Gedge, farm-steward, Wm. Copeman, vict. Bell, and Mary and Robert Stimpson, farmers.

BAWDESWELL is a considerable village, with a good inn, and several neat houses, pleasantly seated on the Norwich and Fakenham road, 4 miles W. by S. of Reepham. Its parish has 587 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, belonging to Robert Leeds, Esq., the Misses Lloyd, (of the Hall, erected in 1683,) Edward Lombe, Esq., (lord of the manor,) and several smaller proprietors. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, has only a chancel a north aisle, and a brick tower; the nave having been destroyed by the fall of the steeple, and its five bells, in 1739. The latter was rebuilt in the following year.

The rectory, valued in K.B. at £7, is in the gift of E. Lombe, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Philip du Val Aufrere. At the enclosure, in 1808, two acres were allotted as a gravel-pit, and 18 acres to the poor, who have also 20s. a year for bread, left by Wm. Dewing, in 1726. The Free School, for 12 boys of this parish, and 8 of Foxley, was founded in 1730 by John Leeds, Esq., who endowed it with a house, and 16A. 1R. 14P. of land, now let for £20 a year. The Methodists have a small chapel here, erected in 1829. (Work-house, see note on opposite page.)

Barrett Wm. beer house
Bealey Geo. baker & flour dealer
Catton Mr. George
Catton Wm. jun. grocer & draper
Cooper Blyford, schoolmaster
Dotheridge Robert, saddler
Elvin Wm. corn miller
Flegg Mary, baker & flour dealer
Galloway Wm. butcher
Leeds Robert, Esq.
Lloyd Misses Eliza, Letitia, and Catharine, Bawdeswell hall
Meal Harvey, Free School master; h. Foxley
Neale John, vict. Ram
Pearse Robert, butcher
Pratt Wm. painter, glazier, &c.
Smith Wm. blacksmith
Street Wm. grocer and draper

Sturley Thos. vict. Bell Inn (and posting house)
Utting Rt. wheelwt. & vict. Crown
Whitesides Wm. grocer
Wright Jas. gov. of Workhouse Farmers. *Parke John * are Yeomen. Sizeland Chas.
*Allen Charles Tann Benj.
Bidewell John Tann James
*Catton Wm. Shoemakers.
Custance Jas. Bunn Robert
Haylett Stpn. Galland John
Jary John Johnson Wm.
Johnson Richd. Ramm John
Coach to Norwich, Wed. & Sat.
½ p. 7 mg., and to Wells & Fakenham, ½ past 6 evening.
Carriers to Wells, Lynn, &c. call at the Bell Inn.

BILLINGFORD, a village and parish on the east bank of the vale of the Wensum, 6 miles W. by S. of Reepham, contains 205 inhabitants, and about 1900 acres of land, of which T. W. Coke, Esq., is principal owner and lord of the manor, which is on fine certain; but E. Lombe's manor of Bylaugh, which is subject to arbitrary fines, extends into this parish. At the enclosure, about 30 years ago, 50 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel. They have also the interest of £5, left by a Mr. Rugs. The Church has an octangular tower, with two bells, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 10s., but now possessing 28 acres of glebe. T. W. Coke, Esq. is the patron, and the Rev. Chas. Ford, M.A., the incumbent. The former owns the extensive farms of Beck Hall and Bedlam House: the first stands partly in Bylaugh parish, and the latter is distant 1½ mile N.W. of the Church, where it was built about 13 years ago, on the site of a tumulus, in which were found a Roman urn, and a variety of petrified fish, shells, and other fossils. Billingsford Hall, a small white mansion, is the seat and property of Capt. Loftus.

Attison Wm. shoemaker
Bunn James, butcher
Dack Wm. joiner and shopkeeper
Ford Rev. Chas. M.A. rector
Freeman Geo. corn miller & farmer
Gill John Brooke, farmer

Good Philip, wheelwright & vict.
Blue Bell
Green Eliza, shopkeeper
Hartt Jas. farmer, Bedlam house
Hart Robert, farmer
Haylett Wm. vict. Three Tuns

Howard Wm. shoemaker
 Leeds Thos. farmer, Beck hall
 Loftus Capt. Chas. Billingsford hl.
 Millatt Jonathan, blacksmith

Peachman John, shoemaker
 Whitmore Mr. Thomas
 Wilson John, farmer

BINTRY, or Bintree, on an eminence, 6 miles W by N. of Reepham, is a village and parish, with 412 inhabitants, and 1400 acres of land, of which the principal owners are Lord James Townshend, (who has a neat residence here, called Yarrow House;) Sir Jacob Astley, T. Robson, Esq., and T. W. Coke, Esq.; the latter of whom is lord of the manor, which is fine certain, and was purchased by Lord Chief Justice Coke, in 1608, for £625. The Church has a tower, nave, and chancel, the latter rebuilt in 1806. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £10, is in the gift of Sir Jacob Astley, and incumbency of the Rev. Augustus Dashwood. The glebe is 13a 3a, and the church-land 22a. At the enclosure, in 1796, an allotment of 25a. was awarded to the poor.

Townshend Lord Jas. Yarrow ha.
 Baker John, grocer
 Bircham Esther, vict. Half Moon
 Bireham Mr. John
 Bradfield Wm. shoemaker
 Burrell Wm. corn miller
 Doughty Robert, blacksmith
 Foster John, baker & flour dealer
 Hook Mr. John
 Prior Mary, vict. Royal Oak

Prior Wm. shoemaker
 Smith Thomas, shoemaker

FARMERS

Bell Benjamin	Gould Nicholas
Cook Dennis	Sawyer Elz.
Cooper Edmund	Waller John
Cooper Wm.	Wrightup Hy.

Coach to Norwich, calls at the Half Moon, Wed. and Sat 7 mg. and returns 7 evg. to Fakenham.

BRANDISTON-AND-GUTON form a small parish of dispersed houses, with 96 inhabitants, and 650 acres of land, 3 miles E. S. E. of Reepham, and 5 miles S. W. by W. of Aylsham. It is in the three lordships of Bintry, Hastings, and Langtoft; and the principal owners are W. H. Fellowes, Esq., and the Rev. Prebendary Atthill, a distinguished member of the Irish Church. The former owns Guton Hall, now a farm-house, and the latter Brandiston Hall, situated in a small neat park, adorned with a handsome fish-pond. This hall has been the seat of the Atthill or Attchill family, more than two centuries; but the neglect of successive proprietors, and the improvidence of the last, led to a rapid and almost total decay of the original mansion. The taste and good feeling of the present owner has led him, if not to restore, at least to preserve, what remains of his family seat, which has recently undergone considerable repairs, and further improvements are in contemplation. The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, stands a little south of the hall, and is a Gothic structure of flintstone, with a nave, chancel, side aisle, and a short round tower. In the windows are some ancient pieces of stained glass, representing the good Samaritan, St. Nicholas, and a woman kneeling in a scarlet gown and a gold girdle, with this label, "Serpe Dei Nicholas mei Christo memor esto." The two first are much obliterated, but the latter may still be deciphered. Here was anciently another Church, dedicated to St. Swithen, but its site is unknown, though it probably stood in the same grave-yard as the above, there being still two churches within one enclosure in several parishes of this county. Directory. - Rev. Prebendary Atthill; J. G. P. Atthill, Esq., and is Martha Atthill, Brandiston Hall; and John Riches, William ge, and Henry Culley, farmers. The latter occupies Guton Hall. BYLAUGH or Belaugh, a parish with a few scattered houses, on east bank of the Wensum, 5 miles N.E. of East Dereham, and miles S.W. of Reepham, contains only 92 inhabitants, and 1544A.

19P. of land, divided into two farms, belonging to Edward Lombe, except the north side of the parish, which has a large plantation, and forms part of T. W. Coke, Esq.'s farm and estate of St. Hall, most of which is in the adjoining parish of Billingsford, and formerly an hospital, founded by Wm. de Beck, for poor travellers, who were to be entertained one night. It had 13 beds for charitable purpose; but the hall, built by the Cokes, has long occupied its site, and stands in both parishes. Bylaugh CHURCH, dedicated to the Virgin Mary, was thoroughly repaired in 1809 and when the chancel was rebuilt and transepts added by the late Sir John Lombe, who lies interred under the north transept. The benefice is a curacy, augmented in 1771 and 2, with £200 given by the Countess Gower, and £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, both laid out in land at Swanton-Morley and Tuddenham. The Rev. Henry Evans is the incumbent, and E. Lombe, Esq., is the patron, and also impropiator of the great tithes, and lord of the manor. The farms are occupied by Joshua Freeman and Stephen Warnes. The Rev. Edw. Freeman is the officiating curate.

ELSING is a long straggling village, on the southern acclivities of the vale of the Wensum, 4½ miles E.N.E. of East Dereham, comprising in its parish 437 inhabitants, and 1535A. 2R. 32P. of land, mostly the property of Edward Lombe, Esq., and Mrs. Frances Eaton Browne, the latter of whom is lady of the manor, which is fine cereals, (except about 50 acres on fine arbitrary,) and was formerly held by the Foliot and Hastings. Part of the soil (91A. 1R. 26P.) is in commons. The CHURCH has a square tower with five bells, and the east window are figures of Hugh de Hastings and his wife, each holding in their hands the representation of a church, thus setting forth themselves as the founders or rebuilders of this fabric. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 11s. 8d., is in the gift of Mrs. Eaton Browne, of Elsing Hall, and incumbency of her son, the Rev. Richard Eaton, whose late father assumed the name of Browne, succeeding to the estates of that family. The poor have two annuities, viz., 10s. left by John Leman, in 1608, and 20s. left by John Starling, in 1728. They have likewise the interest of £375 per annum, left by the late Mr. Ward.

With Robert, joiner
 Browne Mrs. F. E. Elsing hall
 Browne Rev. Wm. Elsing hall
 Eaton Rev. Richd. A.B. Rectory
 Eaton Wm. shoemaker & shopr.
 Jackson Thos. grocer & vict. Millers'
 Arms
 Millett Wm. & Co. blacksmiths
 Add Samuel, wheelwright
 Ott George, corn miller

Sharman Peter, cattle dealer
Wier Charles, cattle dealer
Wier James, shoemaker
Wier John, vict. Mermaid
Farmers.	Howard Abel
Andrews Saml.	Leggett Wm.
Filby Wm.	Lovett Daniel
Goward Wm.	Millett Hamlet
Goward Wm.	Oakley Thos.

FOULSHAM is a small but well built town, pleasantly situated

8 miles S.E. of Fakenham, 5 miles W.N.W. of Reepham, and 18 miles N.W. of Norwich, comprehending in its parish 958 inhabitants, and 3189 acres of land; a large portion of which was in Thelthorpe common, enclosed in 1811. Sir Jacob Astley is principal owner of the soil and lord of the manor; but about 800*a*, with Foulsham Hall, an old mansion in the Elizabethan style, belong to G. A. Aufrere, Esq., Keeling Hall, 1 mile to the east, is the property of John Francis, Esq., with a large estate; besides whom, Sir R. P. Jodrell and others have estates here. The MARKET formerly held here every Tuesday, is now obsolete, but the Fair, for the sale of stock, &c., is still continued on the first Tuesday in May. The town suffered greatly by a dreadful FIRE, in 1770, which consumed 14 dwelling-houses, and reduced the Church to a ruinous shell. The damage amounted to several thousand pounds, but a collection was made and a play performed at Norwich for the benefit of the sufferers. The CHURCH, dedicated to the Holy Innocents, is a large handsome edifice, with a square tower and five bells. It was founded by one of the Lords Morley, about 1489, and restored to its original form, and neatly pewed, after the great fire in 1770. In the chancel is a monument of Sir Thomas Hunt, who died in 1616, and is represented in armour with his three wives kneeling behind him. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £27. 1*s*. 9½*d*., has 17½ acres of glebe. Sir Jacob Astley is the patron, and the Rev. H. Milles Astley, B.A., is the incumbent. The Baptists have a handsome brick chapel here, erected in 1826. The Workhouse, built on the waste in 1782, will accommodate 45, but has seldom more than 20 inmates. A small rivulet crosses the town, over which a bridge was burnt in 1813.

Adams Mrs. Mary
 Archer Robert, cattle dealer
 Archer Wm. glazier, painter, &c.
 Astley Rev. Henry Milles, B.A.
Rectory
 Austin John & Thos. butchers
 Barstead John, hair dresser
 Bircham Robt. & Wm. shoemakers and grocers
 Bird Joseph, blacksmith
 Blomfield W. ale & porter merchant
 Burrell John, hair dresser
 Carrison Charlotte, grocer
 Case Edw. Mallett Thomas, gent.
 Chapman Thos. joiner & beer ha.
 Cheastney Fras. wheelwright
 Clarke Robt. joiner & builder
 Dawson W. Rt. brick & tile mkr.
 Dench Robert, solicitor
 Eake James, blacksmith
 Emma Henry, veterinary surgeon
 Fidgett James, currier
 Francis Thos. Cubitt, gent. Keeling hall
 Frost Richard, baker

Frost Robert, tailor
 Gant Robert, basket maker
 Gilham Wm. shopkeeper
 Girling Christopher, surgeon
 Girling John, joiner & beer ha.
 Graver Luke baker & corn miller
 Hammond John, butcher
 Hardy Joshua, tailor
 Hawes Wm. cooper
 Humphrey Mrs. Mary
 Kemp Joseph, vict. Ship.
 Kendal Paul, grocer & draper
 Knights Fenn, grocer, druggist, & schoolmaster
 Lambert Philip, shoemaker
 Leamon Charles, saddler
 Leamon Edmd. ironmonger
 Leamon Rich. baker & flour dlr.
 Leeds Misses, Mary & Eliza.
 Manning Susanna, druggist
 Mays Miss Hannah
 Munton John, grocer & draper
 Nash Hy. druggist, (& Burnham)
 Neale Geo. vict. Bull
 Nichols J. glass, china, &c. dlr.

Thos. assistant overseer
house
John, tailor and draper
Samuel, grocer & draper
Thos. brewer & maltster
Thos. Fras. solicitor, &
er for the Duchy of Lan-Robert, cooper and vict.
round
Edw. watchmaker
rs James, surgeon
Thomas, blacksmith
Thos. wheelwright & vict.
's Arms
Wm. jun. corn miller
gham Chpr. gent.
gham Mrs. Mary
Thos. shoemkr. & shopr.
on Rev. John, M.A. rector ryford
r Thos. bricklayer
Robert, schoolmaster

Teele Robert, shoemaker
Thompson Mrs. Elizabeth
Waller Henry May, wool merchant, and agent to the Norwich Union Bank
West Coleman, cabinet maker, upholsterer, and paper hanger
Williamson John, glover
Wright John, land surveyor and auctioneer

FARMERS.—* are yeomen.

Barber Robt.	*Leamon Edw.
Bennett Wm.	Neale Charles
*Berwick John	Neale Valentine
Bird John	*Nobbs Robt.
*Body Abm.	Purdy Robt.
*Chamberlain	Randall John
Edward	Scaman Wm.
Cubitt Benj.	Smith Robt. &
Dunt Samuel	beer house
Jorden Wm.

Carriers to Norwich, &c., call at the Ship.

LEY is an indifferently built village, pleasantly situated on ence 5 miles W. of Reepham. Its parish has 274 inhabiid 1620 acres of land, nearly all belonging to Edward Lombe, he lord of the manor and patron of the church; except about es which lie in T. W. Coke, Esq.'s farm of Beck Hall. On side of the parish, is a large wood of 305 acres, of which e in Bawdeswell. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Thomas, andsome tower with six bells. The rectory, valued in K. B.
13s. 4d., has 21A. 1R. 26P. of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the mes Stoughton, M.A. At the enclosure, in 1814, two acres et apart as a clay-pit for the parishioners. Eight children are nce to the Free School at Bawdeswell.—(See p. 497.) The was anciently held by the families of Valence, (Earls of Pem-Somerset, and Cordell.

Wm. shoemaker
John, cooper
James, butcher
Harvey, & Co. tea dealers
Sl. vict. Hare & Hounds
George, blacksmith
t Jane, shopkeeper
t Thos. vict. Chequers RMERS.—* are yeomen.
Jas. | Dye Henry

James Andrew	West Reeve
Lavender Robt.	White Philip
Lewell Samuel	White Wm.
*Simms John	Woodhouse Cs.
*West Thomas,	& parish clerk
Park house

*Carrier to Norwich, Thomas Wright, Sat., dep. 2 mng.; arr. 8
evening.*

ESTWICK is a parish, and a small dispersed village, partan eminence, nearly 5 miles N.W. of Reepham, and cong 188 inhabitants, and 1659 acres, of which W. E. L. Bulwer, is principal owner, lord of the manor, impropiator of the great tithes, and patron of the church, but Lady Suffield, Sir E. H. Alderson, W. M. Heath, Esq., and some others have estates here. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, was granted to Waltham Abbey, by Everard de Geiste, and consists of a nave with aisles, a small chancel, and a square tower, formerly having three bells, but two were sold in 1733. The tower is at the east end of the north aisle, adjoining the present chancel, built of Hunstanton rock-stone, after the old choir was taken down many years ago. In the windows are some fine specimens of ancient stained glass. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5 10s., is now enjoyed by the Rev. Edward Bulwer, and was augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty in 1809. Here is a large Independent Chapel, founded in 1652, but rebuilt in 1809, and now under the ministry of the Rev. Robert Drane. The minister's house was built in 1721, and attached to it are 17 acres of land belonging to the chapel. In 1678, Wm. Bulwer, Esq., bequeathed about 3 acres of land to the poor, which was let in 1786 for 20s. Mr. William Godwin, author of the "Adventures of Caleb Williams," and many other Works, is a native of this parish, and the son of a late Independent minister.

Dewing John, blacksmith

Drane Rev. Rt. Indept. minister

Rump Charles, shoemaker

Smith James, shopkeeper

FARMERS.

Barber George

Gay Richard

Goldsmith St.

Hasel James

Jackson Joh.

Pegg Joseph

Sloman Robt.

Thomas Anthy.

GUIST or Geiste, 2 miles W. of Foulsham, and 6 miles S. E. of Fakenham, is a village pleasantly scattered on the northern acclivities of the vale of the Wensum, and comprising in its parish 363 inhabitants, and about 1,672 acres of land, mostly the property of Mrs. Sarah Dewing, and Wm. Norris, Esq.; the latter of whom is lord of the manor, impropriator of the great tithes, and patron of the vicarage, which is valued in K. B. at £5 15s. 5d., but augmented from 1745 to 1794 with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, laid out in 38 acres of land, at Elmham and Sprowston. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, stands on an elevated spot, half a mile above the river, and has in its chancel several neat mural monuments to the Norris, Wiggitt, Bulwer, and other families. At the enclosure, in 1813, 30 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel, and 6 acres for garden plots, let to the cottagers at small rents, which are carried to the poor-rates. The poor have also an annuity of 20s. left by Robert Wickes, in 1569. Edmund Wodehouse, Esq., Mr. James Chapman, and some others have estates here, and the latter has a neat house in the village. The Post and Coaches, from East Dereham to Cley, pass daily.

Dawson Mr. Wm

Dawson Wm. blacksmith & vict.

Dewing Mrs. Sarah

Pyggett Edw. hatter & post office

Francis Wm. shoemaker & beer hs.

Mornement Wm. joiner

Murray Richard, butcher

Nelson Edw. joiner

Ward George, shopkeeper

Yaxley Valentine, shoemaker

Farmers.

Chapman Jas. (&

maltster)

Dack Matthew

Francis Wm.

Godeson Rbt. (&

perpt. oversr.)

Kendall Wm.

Lakey Hy. and

parish clerk

Money John

Mornement Ths.

Bridge

Pearson Abel

Whisler Rbt. &

lime burner

HACKFORD parish forms part of REEPHAM, which see.

HAVERINGLAND, 9 miles N.W. by N. of Norwich, and $\frac{1}{4}$ miles S.E. of Reepham, is a dispersed village and parish, with 181 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, including 400a of wood. William Henry Fellowes, Esq., who resides in the Hall, a large brick mansion, in a well wooded park, is owner of the soil, lord of the manor, impropriator and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Peter, and formerly had a chancel, of which some fragments still remain. It has a round tower, a nave, and a north aisle, the latter of which was built by Sir Roger Bilney. The benefice is a perpetual curacy, augmented with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1775 and 1809, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Benjamin Wood. Near the village was De Monte Jovis Priory, founded in the reign of John, for Austin Canons, and granted at the dissolution to Wm. Halse. On the north side of the parish, is the lofty shaft of an ancient cross. Directory—William Henry Fellowes, Esq., Haveringland Hall; Matthew Blyth, wheelwright; John Rust, vict. King's Head; Clarke Wade, smith and ironfounder; Wm. Wilkinson, shopkeeper, and Thomas Brown, Robert Crickmore, Ezekiel Lock, and Wm. Muskett, farmers.

HINDOLVESTON, vulgarly called Hilderston, is a considerable village, 6 miles east of Fakenham, and the same distance N.W. by N. of Reepham, comprising in its parish 797 inhabitants, and 2,488a. of land, belonging to a number of proprietors; but the Dean and Chapter of Norwich are patrons of the church, appropriators of the rectory, and lords of the manor (fine certain). The latter is now held on lease with the tithes, by Sir Jacob Astley. The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £6. 1s., was augmented by Parliamentary grants in 1810 and 1815, amounting to £1,200, vested in 28 acres of land, at Saxlingham, besides which here are 2 acres of old glebe. The Rev. John Lloyd is the incumbent. The Church, dedicated to St. George, has a chancel, nave, north aisle, and tower with four bells; the latter was re-built about 1450. Hope House, near the village, is a pleasant boarding academy; and in the parish are 170 acres of wood, belonging to the Dean and Chapter. At the enclosure, in 1812, 28 acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let in garden plots at low rents, producing £15. 13s. 9d., which is divided amongst those poor who are without gardens. The sum of £55 left to the poor by John Bulleye and Beatrice Bulleye, in 1586 and 1621, was laid out in land, now let for £9 per annum; besides which, the poor have an annuity of £2. 13s. 4d., left by a Mr. Hunt and his wife, in 1568.

Akers Robt. Hy. schoolmaster
 Bacon Thos. swine dealer
 Balls Chpr. shopkeeper
 Bambridge Edmund, bricklayer
 Barnsdale Wm. shoemkr. & vict.
 Maid's Head
 Carr Saml. cattle dealer
 Doy Mr. Thomas
 Fulcher Thos. vict. Chequers
 Gardiner Robt. vict. Red Lion
 Guyton Hannah, beer house
 Harmer Matthew, shoemaker
 Holman Edward, butcher

Jary James, overseer & constable
 Jary Mrs. Mary
 Joy Edward, saddler
 Lloyd, Rev. John, vicarage
 Martin Wm. butcher
 Mornement Rt. grocer, draper, & ale and porter merchant
 Newman Thos. grocer & draper
 Nurse Jas. miller, grocer, & dpr.
 Pank Samuel, bricklayer
 Pegg John, baker and flour dlr
 Pegg Mtw. & Dent Wm. tailors
 Pegg Thos. brewer & beer house

Randall Lwnc. wheelight, & joiner
 Reynolds Wm. gentleman
 Shirley Francis, glover
 Smith John, tailor
 Southgate Mr. John
 Storey Thos. baker & flour dr.
 Taylor James, joiner
 Taylor John, wheelwright
 Taylor Mark, blacksmith
 Thompson James, boarding academy, Hope House
 Tuthill Mark, druggist
 Watts Mrs. Mary, & Wells Ann
 Wickes Robt. blacksmith
 Wilkin James, joiner

FARMERS

Bastwick Bj.	Moore John
Brookes Wm.	Olley Richard
Butlers John	Pegg John
Chandler Robt	Raven John
Dobson Henry	Reynolds Jph
Farrer Robt.	Rump John
Gibbs Wm.	Thaxter Chas.
Lewis John	Thaxter Saml
Lewis Rd. and	Whitaker Jerh.
cattle dealer	Wilkin John
Marlin James

Carriers to Norwich, John Austin and Robt. Gardiner, Tue. & Fri. 8 mng.

LYNG is a large village on the south side of the vale of the Wensum, 6 miles E. N. E. of East Dereham, with a large paper and corn mill, and comprising in its parish 645 inhabitants, 1899, 2a 22r. of land, and the hamlet of EASTHAUGH, on an eminence, 1 mile S. of Lyng. Edward Lombe, Esq., is principal owner and lord of the manor, which is free arbitrary; but H. T. Custance, Esq., S. Mills, Esq., Mrs. Sharrock, Mr. T. Smith, and some others have estates here. In the 17th of Edward III., Sir John de Norwich had licence to make a castle of the manor house, some remains of which are still extant on the crown of an acclivity west of the village. A fair is held here on Nov. 10th. The extensive paper warehouses at the mill were burnt down with a large stock, in 1778. From this mill the river enlarges itself, and flows in a meandering stream to Lenwade Bridge. The Church has a tower and six bells, and in its windows are some fragments of stained glass. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £11 0s. 6d., has 40 acres of glebe, and is in the incumbency of the Rev. Henry Anson, and patronage of E. Lombe, Esq., who purchased the advowson and the manor about 40 years ago, of Lord Anson. At the enclosure, in 1808, 16a 1r. 9r. of heath were allotted to the poor for fuel. They have also 20s. yearly for bread, left by Solomon Leech in 1618.

*Marked * are at Easthaugh, and the rest at Lyng*

Anson Rev. Henry, Rectory
 Baker Charles, grocer and draper
 *Blythe Jas. glazier, painter, &c.
 Browne George, gentleman
 Brown John, millwright
 Burton John, shoemaker
 Coe Chas. vict. Fox and Hounds
 Francis John, shoemaker & vict.
 King's Head
 Howard Abraham, shoemaker
 Hudson William, tailor
 Line John, schoolmaster
 Mace Barnabas, blacksmith

Mace John baker & flour dealer	*Mase John
Nicholson John, butcher & lime druggist	*Spragg Saml.
Porter Charles, wheelight, & joiner	*Terry Thos.
Rout John, grocer and draper	Waters John
Skelton Edward, beer house
Speakman Austin, shunter & beerhouse
Stebbings George, grocer & draper
Farmers.
Armes John
Bloom John
*Bunn Wm
Bunn Saml.

MORTON is a small village in the vale of the Wensum, opposite

Littlebridge, 8 miles N. W. of Norwich; but the church and hall are three-quarters of a mile to the south, on a lofty bank, from which this parish, which contains 169 inhabitants, is sometimes called MORTON-THE-HILL. Thos. Trench, Berney, Esq., who resides in the Hall, which has recently been considerably enlarged, is lord of the manor, owner of the soil, and patron of the CHURCH, which is dedicated to St. Margaret, and is a rectory valued in K. B. at £3. 14s. 7d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. C. R. Fanshawe, with 4a. of glebe. The village was anciently called Helmingham, and under that name it had a church, of which some fragments may still be seen a little south of the bridge. The common was enclosed in 1822. The families of Southwell and Elwys were formerly lords of the manor. The poor's land is let for a year. The Rev. Robert le Grice, a very elegant Greek and Latin scholar, was rector here from 1753 till his death, in 1790, but resided chiefly at Norwich. Directory:—T. T. Berney, Esq., Morton Hall; John Blyth, vict. & wheelwright, White Hart; John Browne, m. bailiff; James Bunn, butler; Wm. Comer, farmer; Jas. Hall, shoemaker; John Hall, schoolmaster; and John Palmer, farmer and maltster.

REEPHAM is a small Market Town, on a rising ground, watered by a small brook 12 miles N.W. of Norwich, and 112 miles N.E.

N. of London. It extends into FOUR PARISHES, which contain together 1844 inhabitants, of whom 452 are in REEPHAM ST. MARY; 111 in KERDISTON; 698 in HACKFORD; and 483 in WHITWELL. The first two maintain their poor conjointly, and the others separately; but here is a Workhouse for the use of the four parishes. The spacious market place is all in Hackford parish; and in the churchyard are two CHURCHES,—one for Reepham and Kerdiston, and the other for Whitwell and Hackford; the latter of which had anciently a separate church in the same burial ground, but it was burnt down with part of the town, in 1500. The country around Reepham is celebrated for the growth of barley, and a considerable trade in distilling and brewing is carried on in the town. A weekly MARKET in corn, swine, &c., is held here every Wednesday; a stock FAIR on the 29th of June; and Hiring's for Servants on the last Monday in September. Under a charter obtained by Sir John de Vaux, the Fifth of Edward I., the market was formerly held on Saturday, and the fair on the eve, day, and morrow of St. Peter and St. Paul. The town was anciently called Refham, and gave that name to a recent family, one of whom was lord mayor of London, in 1310. The united parishes of REEPHAM and KERDISTON contain 2240 acres of land, most of which is in Kerdiston, extending upwards of 5 miles northward, and including many scattered houses and farms belonging to Wm. Bircham, Esq., J. P. Leeds, Esq., Sir Rd.

Jodrell, (lord of the manor,) and several smaller proprietors. The CHURCH of Reepham St. Mary with Kerdiston, stands at the north-east corner of the cemetery, and is a neatly powdered edifice, with nave, side aisles, chancel, and square tower. In the chancel is a marble flag stone with a fine brass, representing Wm. de Kerdistone and his lady; and under an arched monument lies the recumbent effigy of a Knight Templar of the Kerdistone family, with his hands and legs crossed, and a lion at his feet; and round the base of the tomb are effigies of six boys and four girls. Both these tombs were

2 Barrett Robert, corn miller
 Bircham Wm. and Wm. brewers, maltsters, and spirit merchants
 Bircham Wm. jun. brewer; h.
 Market place
 Bircham Wm. Esq. Ollands
 Bishop Henry, plumber, glazier, and painter
 1 Brett Mark, brewer
 Briggs James, cabinet maker
 Burcham Wm. tailor and draper
 1 Burrell John, coal dealer
 Burton Joseph, butcher
 Burton Thomas, butcher
 Collyer Rev. John Bedingfield,
 M.A., vicar of Wroxham, &c.
 Hackford hall
 Davidson Jas. baker & flour dlr.
 1 Dobson Wm. currier
 4 Dunham John, tailor
 5 Eglington Wm. shopkeeper
 Ellis James, saddler
 2 Frankland Robert, patten mkr.
 George Mary, ironmonger
 2 Gladden Robert Peters, joiner
 Grand Thos. blacksmith & farrier
 Hawes James, tailor
 Howard Thomas, joiner
 Jewell Seymour, vetrny. surgeon
 Lawrence Henry, druggist
 3 Lloyd Guy, Esq.
 1 Locksmith Robert, farmer
 1 Neale Mrs. Catharine
 3 Neale John, cattle dlr. & b. hs.
 Olley Thomas, cooper
 1 Ottway John, blacksmith
 Page Frances, ladies' bdg. school
 4 Peek Thomas, schoolmaster
 Pickering Thos. brazier & tinner
 4 Pratt Ths. schoolmr. & shopkpr.
 Prior Charles, saddler
 5 Rodham Henry, farmer
 Rudd James, hair dresser
 Sands Alex. tailor, draper, land surveyor, & assistant overseer
 Scales Saml. govr. of Workhouse
 Scurll Brittingham, baker
 1 Scurll Thomas, baker
 Secker John, basket & sieve mkr.
 1 Sewell Saml. joiner & wheelwt.
 1 Sewell Wm. Pescod, joiner
 3 Sims Miss Ann
Springall Thos. & Son, bricklyrs.

4 Staples Thomas, druggist
 1 Tuddenham Richard, cooper
 4 Willis Ephraim, watchmaker
 1 Wilson John, hatter, &c.
 Woolmer James Shreeve, watchmaker and auctioneer
 Wordingham Jno. & Chs. surgeons
 Yaxley George, blacksmith

BOOT AND SHOE MAKERS.

1 Baldwin Dnl.	4 English John
1 Burton John	Frankland Rt.
4 Drake John	Leeds Clement

NORWICH FIRE OFFICE AGENTS.

4 Equitable, John Keeler & Co.
Union, James S. Woolmer

GROCERS AND DRAPERS.

1 Brady Sar. & M.	4 Keeler J. & Co.
5 Eglington Wm	St. John Geo.
Hewke Chas. G.	4 Whur Thos.
Isaacs Nathl.	1 Younge Rbt.

INNS AND TAVERNS.

1 Greyhound, Wm. Leeds
 Horse Shoe, Thomas Grand
 King's Arms Inn, Sarah Harris
 1 Lord Nelson, Charles Harvey
 Sun, Matthew Breese

MILLINERS, &c.

Briggs Eliz.	4 Ward Eliz. &
4 Fox Mary A.	Susanna
Howard Eliz.	Wilson Sarah

Mail Cart, from the Greyhound, daily, except Monday, to Norwich, at 8 morning.

Carriers.—Wm. Leeds & Wm.
 Burcham, to Norwich, Wed. and
 Sat. 4 morning.

KERDISTON.

Leeds John Parmeter, Esq.
 Howe Francis, blacksmith

FARMERS.

Austin Robert	Kemp Ann
Besfor Benj.	Ottway Wm.
Bradley Rt. W.	Rose Wm.
Eglington Jno.	Seeley Barnbs.
(& brickmakr.)

REEPHAM ST. MARY.

Amiss John, shopkeeper
 Amiss Robt. tailor and draper
 Blyth Eliz. vict. George & Drag.
 Boulter Chas. Smith, surgeon
 Brand Thomas, gent.
 Breese James & Wm. garden
 Clarke Mrs. Sarah

Clarke Wm. glazier, painter, &c.
 Cory Jas. baker & flour dealer
 Eglington Mr. Samuel
 Franklin Robert, farmer
 Grand Thomas, blacksmith
 Matthew Rev. John, Rectory
 Newman Mr. Thomas
 Park Wm. farmer
 Robins Wm. farming bailiff
 Springall Thos. jun. vict. Black
 Lion
 Wymer John Varlo, Esq. solr.
 Wymer Geo. Esq. solicitor

WHITWELL.

*Marked 1 reside at or near Reepham; 2, at disputed places,
 and the others at the Green.*
 Barrett John, farmer

2 Barrett Martin, blacksmith
 1 Bilham John, machine owner
 1 Brett Mark, brewer, Back st
 1 Burrell John, coal dlr Back d
 Daek Robert, beer house
 Eglington Mark, farmer
 Howard John, shoemaker
 Leamon Robert, Esq. tanner
 Leeds Stephen, Esq. tanner
 Leeds Stephen, farmer
 1 Lyon Robert, excise officer
 2 Neale Robert, shoemaker
 1 Rayner John, vict. Cock
 Rodham Wm. Mason, farmer
 1 Rudd Henry, hawker
 1 Want John, farmer
 West John, vict. and shopkeeper,
 Falgate

RINGLAND is a small village, on the south bank of the Wensum, at the south-east extremity of this hundred, 7 miles N W of Norwich. Its parish has 350 inhabitants, and upwards of 1200 acres of land, of which T. T. Berney, Esq. is chief owner, but Lord Stafford is lord of the manor, which is mostly copyhold, subject to arbitrary fines, and was formerly held by the Le Neve family, one of whom was norroy king-at-arms, as may be seen by their monuments in the Church, a handsome Gothic edifice, with a tower and five bells. In the east window of the north aisle are painted several persons kneeling before a crucifix. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £3 6s., was augmented in 1780, with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, vested in 10 acres of land, at St. John's Ilkeston, Suffolk; besides which here are 13 acres of old glebe. The Bishop of Ely is the patron, and the Rev Richd Brickdale is the incumbent. The Vellu- *dist*s have a small chapel here, built in 1832. For teaching 24 free scholars, the schoolmaster receives £22 a year from land at Weston, purchased with £200, left for that purpose by Mrs. Ann Le Neve, in 1721. The poor's land is now let for £3, besides which the poor have 10s a-year from the Bridge meadow, the rest of the rent being employed in repairing the wood foot bridge across the Wensum.

Abel Jeremiah, butcher & yeoman
 Blyth John, wheelwright (& Marton)
 Blyth Matthew, blacksmith
 Brickdale Rev. Rd. M.A. vicarage
 Brittain Thos & Robt. shoemkrs.
 Brown Charlotte, shopkeeper
 Bunn John, tailor
 Hart George, grocer and draper
 Lane John, joiner and victualler,
 King of Prussia

Millat Jonathan, Free School
 Palmer George, beer house
 Rivett William Christmas, miller
 Sumpter John, bricklayer
 Wilkinson John, shoemaker

FARMERS.

Doggett Richd	Page Thomas
Frost John	Pruitt Edward
Lane Matthew	Wright James

BALL or Saul, is a small village and parish, 1½ mile N of Reepham, comprising 298 inhabitants, and 1765 acres of land, of which

Sir Richd. Paul Jodrell, Bart., is principal owner, and occupies his manorial mansion of Sall House, a large brick structure, in an extensive and well wooded park; but W. E. L. Bulwer, Esq., is lord of the manor of Sall-Rick House, now a farm-house; and H. H. Holley, Esq., and the Rev. J. Perowne have estates here. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, is a stately pile, in the cathedral form, erected at the expense of a former lord, in the reign of Henry VI. The tower is so lofty as to be seen on a clear day, with the aid of a telescope, from Boston church, in Lincolnshire. Here are inscriptions to the memory of Howman, Ryghtwys, Earle, Boleyn, and other families, and a brass, with a skeleton figure of John Brigger, dated 1454. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £12. 19s. 7d., is in the patronage of Pembroke Hall, Cambridge, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Edward Bulwer, with 30 acres of glebe. In 1611, Thomas Lendall left 8 acres of land for the reparation of the church, but subject to a yearly payment of 20s. for the poor, who have also an annuity of 10s. left by Mary and Elizabeth Bell, in 1739; and the interest of £30, bequeathed by Amy Howard.

Jodrell Sir Richard Paul, Bart.,

Sall House

Bulwer Rev. Edward, rectory

Holmes William, blacksmith

Leeds Joseph, vict. White Horse

Seeley Robert, shoemaker

Stearman William, gardener

FARMERS.

Austin Matthew

Fisher Edward

Ireland John

Kiddell Robt.

Seeley John

Woodstock Stn.

SPARHAM, a pleasant village and parish, on the Norwich and Fakenham turnpike, 4 miles S. W. of Reepham, has 355 inhabitants, and 1750 acres of land, of which T. W. Coke, Esq., is chief owner and lord of the manor, (fine arbitrary,) but Edward Lombe, Esq., is patron of the CHURCH, which is dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and has a tower with five bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £9. 17s. 11d., is now enjoyed by the Rev. John Stoughton, with 92 acres of glebe, and a handsome parsonage house. At the enclosure, in 1806, an allotment of 20 acres was awarded to the poor for fuel, and they have also the interest of £31, left by B. and R. Browne, and two other donors.

Fish James, shoemaker

Forby John, vict. Green Man

Lynn James, blacksmith

Nelson Jas. gent., chief constable

Norton John, wheelwright

Springall George, shoemaker

Stoughton Rev. James, rectory

FARMERS—are yeomen.

*Clarke John

Leeds Stephen

*Middleton Jno.

& chief constbl.

Nelson Js. jun.

Rodham Rd.

*Taylor Rd.

Winter Robt.

SWANNINGTON, a parish and scattered village, 4½ miles S.S.E. of Reepham, and 8 miles N.W. by W. of Norwich, has 370 inhabitants, and about 1300 acres of land, of which 300 are common. J. C. B. Ogilvie, Esq., of London, owns part of the soil, and is lord of the manor, (fine arbitrary.) The Lawn, a neat mansion, with some beautiful stained glass in its windows, is the seat of E. Bartell, Esq. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Margaret, is a rectory, consolidated with Wood-Dalling, and valued in K. B. at £6. 5s. 11d. It is in the patronage of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. John Vickers, with a neat residence, and 11 acres of glebe.

Artis Francis, schoolmaster	Rouse John, joiner
Artis Thomas, tailor	Spark John, wheelwright
Bartell Edm. Esq., The Lawn	Spinks Wm. butcher
Chubbock Ths. vict. Black Horse	Vickers Rev. John M. A. Rectory
Green Wm. schoolmaster	FARMERS.
Hill Wm. & Smith Benj. shoemkrs.	Marked * are yeomen.
Leath Jn. & Chapman Pp. grocers	Crowe Thomas, Green Stephen
Means Mrs. Mary	Bird Hall *Lowe Samuel
Ottway Robert, blacksmith	*Curl George Pye Samuel

THEMELTHORPE, a parish and detached village, on an eminence, 3 miles W N W. of Reepham, has only 89 inhabitants, and 652a. 3a 23p of land, nearly half of which belongs to S. Leeds, and the rest chiefly to Sir Jacob Astley, the lord of the manor, (fine certain,) and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Andrew, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £1. 2s. 8d., and now possessed by the Rev. Augustus Dashwood, with 22a. of glebe. The large waste, called Themelthorpe Common, was enclosed in 1811. but is mostly in Foulsham parish, being anciently a member of the King's manor of Foulsham, now held by Sir Jacob Astley. Directory—Jeremiah Mills, vict., Fox and Hounds, and Wm. Ames, Thos. Crask, Thos. Dent, Samuel and Thomas Riches, Robt. Wagg, and Benjamin and Robert Yarham, farmers.

THURNING or Thurning, is a parish of dispersed houses, 6 miles S. of Holt, and 4½ miles N. of Reepham, with 140 inhabitants, and about 1500 acres of land. W. E. L. Balwer, Esq., is lord of the manor, (fine arbitrary.) A great part of the soil belongs to Hastings Elwin, Esq., the owner of Thurning Hall, a neat mansion, with a fine lawn and small lake, and now the residence of James Gay, Esq. Mr. J. R. Barber, J. Richardson, Esq., and some others, have estates here. CRIMER'S Beck gives name to a hamlet on the north side of the parish. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, has a nave, north aisle, and tower, with three bells, and had formerly a chancel. It was new roofed about ten years ago. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £7, is in the gift of Christ College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Henry Win. Blake, whose residence was rebuilt about four years ago. Directory—Thos. Frost vict., Plough; James Gay, Esq., Thos. Paul, shopkeeper; Hy. Pontin, blacksmith; Wm. Reynolds, miller, Samuel Rider, shoemaker, and Jas. Rich Barber, Richard Harvey, James Margaron, John Pye, John Sewell, and Daniel Sidney, farmers.

TWYFORD, a small parish of scattered houses, 4 miles W N. W. of Reepham, has only 82 inhabitants, and 190 acres of land, mostly belonging to Henry Packe, Esq., the lord of the manor, who resides in the Hall, a neat mansion, with a verdant lawn. The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, is without a tower, but has a turret, with three bells, over the porch. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £1. 15s. 9d., has ten acres of glebe, and was augmented with £200 of royal bounty, in 1792. The Rev. John Spurgeon, M. A., is incumbent and patron. At the enclosure, the poor received an allotment of 10 acres, now let for £10; besides which, they have a small piece of the poor's land, let for 15s. a-year. Directory—Ol. Dye, farmer;

Wm. Dye, shopkeeper; John Francis, gent., Twyford place; Wm. Oldman, grocer and draper, and Henry Packs, Esq., Twyford hall.

WESTON, or Weston Longueville, is a parish of widely dispersed houses, from 4 to 6 miles S. of Heepham, forming a champagne district, with 233 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of rich loamy land, mostly the property of Hambleton Thomas Custance, Esq., the lord of the manor, who resides in Weston House, a cemented mansion, in a beautiful park, on the south side of the vale of the Wansum, near Lenwade bridge, one mile N. of the Church, and said to have been founded by the Rookwoods, or Rokewoodes, who had large possessions here at an early period. The Church has a tower, with five bells, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 18s. 1d., but now possessing 46a. 23r. of glebe, in the patronage of New College, Oxford, and incumbency of the Rev. John Dell. In 1724, Wm. Chapman left to the poor a house and land, now let for £5. 10s. They have also 3 roods of land, left by Rd. Sheffield, and rent-charges amounting to 18s. 6d. per annum, left by Thomas Spencer, Richard Bunn, and another donor.

Bestford John, blacksmith
 Blyth Edward, farrier Custance H. T. Esq. Weston As.
 Durrant John, corn miller
 Hardy Geo. bricklyr. & vict. Eagle
 Salisbury Thomas, gent.
 Starling Edmund, schoolmaster
 Vogan Rev. Thos. Stuart Lyle,
 M.A. curate (and vicar of Potter Heigham,) Rectory
Farmers. Bates Thomas
 Bartram John Bidwell Wm.

Bunn Richard
 Bussey John
 Fuller Robert
 Harrison John
 Howlett Mary
 Milk David
 Pratt Samuel
 Press Thomas
 Salisbury Bwl.
 Salisbury Thos.
 Symonds Thos.

Thorne Robert
Joiners.
 Baker Charles
 & Henry
 Hubbard Henry
Shoemakers.
 Pratt Elijah
 Richmond Wm
 Whisson John,
 (and grocer)
 Wright Saml

WITCHINGHAM (GREAT) is a parish, including the village of Lenwade and many scattered houses, 3 miles S. of Heepham, containing 582 inhabitants, and 2000 acres of land, belonging chiefly to Cha. Kett Thompson and P. Le Neve Foster, Esqrs. The former is lord of the manor, and resides in the Hall, a brick mansion with embattled towers; and the latter is impropiator of the great tithes, whose predecessor purchased them and a large estate from the Norris family, who had obtained the same by purchasing the reversion for £50 of John Neve, a blacksmith, of London. John Norris, Esq., who died in 1777, founded the Norrisian professorship of Cambridge, and built what is now called Witchingham Old Hall. Peter Le Neve, Esq., who died in 1724, was the first president of the Antiquarian Society, and in 1704, was made Richmond herald and norroy king-at-arms. Two other worthies of this parish were John Brettin, Bishop of Hereford, who died in 1275; and Sir William Wyckingham, Judge of the Common Pleas, in 1363. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, stands on an eminence, on the north side of the parish building, with a square tower and two bells. The building, valued in K. B. at £5, and consolidated Witchingham. It has a good par
 The patronage is in New Col cock is the incumbent. EAD

north of the church, is partly in Whitwell parish. LENWADE, where there is a BRIDGE, a corn mill and a considerable village, on the north side of the Wensum, is on the southern verge of this parish, 10 miles N. W. of Norwich. A Methodist chapel was built here in 1824, and a small workhouse in 1757, on the common, which was enclosed in 1815, when 25 acres were allotted to the poor, who have the £6 a year from land left by Oliver Le Neve, in 1674.

Marked † are at LENWADE

Alcock Rev. Chas. M. A. vicarage
† Barrington Boyce, blacksmith
† Batson Wm. gov. workhouse
† Blyth Elw. wheelwright and machine maker
† Bringham Wm., & Large John, butchers
† Campling Mr. William
† Cooper Thomas, shoemaker
† Dutt Robt. juner and grocer
† Dutt Henry, corn agent
† Eckett John, tailor
† Foster Peter Le Neve, corn-miller and merchant
† Hewlett Benj. shoemkr. & shopkr.
† Lovewell, Thos. vict. Bridge Inn and posting-house
† Osborne Fras. free school

† Palmer Geo. blacksmith
† Rawlin W. baker, grocer & dr.
Riches Wm. corn miller, Eades mill
† Sharman Fras. book-keeper
† Spooner Robert, tailor
† Spurgeon, Benj. saddler
Thompson Chas. Kett, Esq. Hall
† Todd Jch. s. schoolmaster
† Waters Wm. wheelwright
Wood Rev. Benj. Old hall
Farmers
+ Dann Wm.
Harrison Rt.
+ Hubbard Rt.
Knights Geo.
Leeds Robt.
Mace Wm.
+ Milk Robt.
+ Plane Wm.
Purdy Wm.
+ Reynolds Mary
Wet. Goodmth.
Carriers to Fakenham and Norwich call at the Bridge Inn

WITCHINGHAM (LITTLE,) 2½ miles S. S. E. of Reepham, is a small parish, with only 62 inhabitants, and two estates, viz. the Hall, occupied by its owner, William Howard, Esq., and a farm belonging to the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital, and occupied by Henry Thorne. The Church, dedicated to St. Faith, is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £11 7s. 11d., but consolidated with the vicarage of Great Witchingham.

WOOD DALLING parish is a district of scattered houses, including Cringate and Try, distant from 3 to 4 miles N. by W. of Reepham, and comprising 512 inhabitants, and 2443a. 2r. 35r. of land, lying partly in a fertile dale, from which it was anciently called Dollinge, as it is written in Domesday Book. It was long possessed by the family of Dalling, one of whom built the hall, (now a farmhouse, about 1582, and another, in 1632, conveyed the estate to Sir John Hobart. W. E. L. Balwer, Esq., and Lady Suffield are now the principal owners. The former has the quit-rents and the latter has the arbitrary fines of the manors of Wood Dalling, Monceaux and Halwood-Noyons. The former is sole lord in Crabgate, which lies in his extensive manor of Stinton (now Heydon) Hall. The Church, nearly in the centre of the parish, stands on the crown of a gentle eminence, and is a large fabric, dedicated to St. Andrew, and has several inscriptions and brasses to the Balwers, and the monumental effigy of a priest. The manor, valued in K. B. at £4 8s. 4d., is consolidated with Swannington in the patronage of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. John Vickers, M. A. The Rev. S. Pitman is lessee of the appropriate tithes and 100 acres of land, belonging to Trinity Hall. The vicar has 56 acres of glebe and a yearly modus of £36. The poor have an annuity of £6. 10s. left by Edward Bulwer, in 1658.

Marked J reside at Crabgate, and 2 at Tyby.

Burton John, jun. bricklayer
 Bussons James, baker & flour dlr.
 Crostwick Chpr. shoemaker
 Davy John, corn miller
 Fisher Anthony, cattle dealer
 Hill Francis, wheelwright
 Pegg Robt. blacksmith & grocer
 Reynolds Matthew, grocer
 Shepherd James, shoemaker
 Shepherd Wm. vict. Plough
 Wilson Robt. blacksmith

FARMERS—* are yeomen.
 *Barber Jas. Keeler Robt.
 Bradfield Jacob 1 Kelty Starlin
 2 Burcham Est. Kemp John
 *Burton John Laskey Wm.
 2 Cotterell John Norton Hamd
 Carson John Reynolds Jph.
 2 Goldsmith Jno. Rush Jas. Halt
 Howlett Benj. * Sayers John
 1 Ireland Anty. Sexton Wm.
 W. & land valr.

WOOD-NORTON, 6 miles E. by S. of Fakenham, and N.W. of Reepham, is a small village and parish, with 315 inhabitants, and 1676A. 2R. 6P. of land, of which 574 were enclosed in 1811. The manor was held by the Bishops of East Anglia, and belonged to the See when it was at North Elmham. The Dean and Chapter of Christ Church, Oxford, are now the principal owners of the soil, lords of the manor, and patrons of the rectory; but their estate is leased to Mr. Wm. Brooke Gill. William Norris, Esq., has an estate and near mansion here; besides whom, here are several smaller proprietors. There were two CHURCHES standing here in the 5th of Henry V. but that dedicated to St. Peter is now a barn. The other, dedicated to All Saints, has a modern tower, erected of brick, in 1700. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £7. 12s. 3d., was consolidated with Swanton Novers, in 1738, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Edward Montagu Salter, A.M., with 63A. 3R. 29P. of glebe and a good residence. At the enclosure, 18A. 3R. 12P. of land were allotted to the poor for fuel, and is now let for £20; besides which they have 7s. a-year from an unknown donor, and 10s. from half an acre of old poor's land.

Brunton Noah, smith & ironmng.
 Cotts Samuel, joiner
 Cotts Wm. vict. Horse Shoes
 Crome Charles, yeoman
 Crome John, tailor
 Garratt Mrs. Ann
 Gill Mr. Thomas
 Gill William Brooke, gent.
 Guymer Francis, joiner
 Long John, corn miller
 Norris, William, Esq.
 Rayson Thos. baker & vict. Sun
 Salter Rev. Edw. M., A.M., Rectory

FARMERS—* are yeomen.
 *Gill W. B. jun. *Platten Sam.
 Norton Hall *Sayer Edw.
 *Long Wm. *Shepherd Jn.
 Mitchell Wm. Sturman Juby
 Moore Henry *Watson Cha.
 Nicholls Benj. Watson Josep
 (& grocer) Wright Robt.
 Olley Thomas Wright Thos.
 Carrier to Norwich, John Smit
 Friday, 8 morning.
 Coach, to Dereham and Hol passes Holly Hill.

SOUTH ERPINGHAM HUNDRED

Is a highly cultivated district, finely interspersed with woods, streams, villages, churches, and many handsome seats. It is crooked, spiral figure, about 16 miles in length from south to north, and varying from 10 to 7 miles in breadth, except at the north end, where it tapers to a narrow point, ending at West Berckham, within 3 miles of the ocean. It is bounded on the south by Taverham on the west by Eynesford and Holt, on the north by North Erpingham, and on the east by Tunstead Hundred. The river Bure flows through it from Corpusty to Belough, receiving in its course many tributary streams, and watering a fertile valley, which in some places is broken into bold and picturesque acclivities. In 1773, an act was obtained to make the Bure navigable from Coltishall up to Aylsham, a market town, nearly in the centre of this hundred, which forms, in ecclesiastical matters, the Deanery of Ingworth, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich. PETTY SESSIONS, for the whole hundred, are held at the Black Boy, Aylsham, every Tuesday morning, at eleven o'clock. Messrs. H. Pike and F. Roe are clerks to the magistrates. The fee of it remained in the crown till 1226, when Henry III. granted it to Hubert de Burgh, Earl of Kent, at which time the hundred court was held at Cawston Park-gate. It contains 39 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent.—

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Alby	346	£830	600	Ingworth	191	£723	430
Aylsham	2,234	7,283	4,030	Irningland	16	†	700
Baconthorpe	333	1,357	1,300	Itteringham r	343	1,342	1,300
Banningham †	300	1,134	800	Lammas-with-	303	1,434	850
Barningham (Little)	227	994	900	Little Haulboys }	13	567	530
Beckham (West)	156	761	600	Mannington	622	1,672	1,300
Belough	131	989	650	Marsham*	386	1,615	1,300
Blackling †	365	1,606	1,400	Oulton †	72	804	630
Boston	199	1,150	1,004	Saxthorpe	460	2,775	2,900
Drampton*	207	847	375	Scottow	317	1,461	1,800
Burgh*	247	1,131	700	Skeyton*	218	857	600
Huxton*	610	1,506	1,274	Stratton-Strawless*	448	1,604	800
Laithorpe	200	1,287	1,056	Swanton-Abbot*	142	777	700
Cawston	1,111	3,698	4,777	Thwalts	228	1,129	800
Cooby †	304	923	1,100	Tuttington	319	1,145	970
Coltishall	868	2,518	1,030	Wickmere	41	701	700
Corpusty	468	1,079	948
Erpingham †	434	1,677	1,800
Haulboys (Great)	141	605	600
Hevingham*	931	1,973	2,000
Heydon	350	1,981	1,500
				Total	14,830	55,745	46,062

* † WORKHOUSES.—The nine parishes marked thus * have an Incorporated Workhouse at Buxton, and the six marked thus † have one at Oulton.

‡ Irningland valuation is included with Heydon

ALBY, 4½ miles N. of Aylsham, is a small parish of dispersed dwellings, with 346 inhabitants, and about 600 acres of land, chiefly belonging to W. H. Windham, Esq., W. Wickes, Esq., and the Earl of Orford, the latter of whom is patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 11s. 8d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Horatio Douing. The Church, dedicated to St. Ethelbert, stands at the west end of the parish; but most of the houses are a mile to the east, near the Cromer turnpike, and some of them on Thwaite Green, 1 mile S. of the church.—Directory:—Robt. Brecze, tailor; Jph. Roberts, shoemaker; John Tomlin, beer house; and John Ames, John Bacon, Richd. Richardson, Jph. Springall, and John Wright, farmers.

AYLSHAM is a neat and well built market town, pleasantly seated on the southern acclivity of the vale of the Bure, nearly 12 miles N. by W. of Norwich; 10 miles S. by W. of Cromer; 7 miles W.S. W. of North Walsham; and 120 miles N.E. by N. of London. At the Norman Conquest, the manor extended into Tuttington, and had 18 carucates, 20 villains and 28 bordars, with woods sufficient for the maintenance of 400 swine. During the reigns of Edward II. and III., Aylsham was the chief town in this part of the kingdom, for the manufacture of linen, then called "Aylsham Webs," "Cloth of Aylsham," &c.; but in succeeding reigns, this branch of business was superseded by the woollen manufacture; and in the time of James I., the inhabitants were chiefly employed in knitting worsted stockings, breeches, and waistcoat pieces. Since the introduction of frame-work knitting, the latter trade has also been discontinued. The town was formerly governed by a bailiff, and had a weekly market on Saturday, but this has been changed to Tuesday. Two cattle fairs are held annually, on March 23rd, and the last Tuesday in September; and a Hiring Session, on the first Tuesday in October, with a fair on the following Tuesday, chiefly supported by servants who come hither to renew their apparel, &c. The Bure, which washes the foot of the town, was formerly only navigable from Yarmouth to Coltishall, (11 miles below Aylsham bridge by the water, and 7 by land;) but in 1773, an act was obtained for extending the navigation to Aylsham, for boats of 40 tons burthen, drawing two feet five inches water, which was completed after many difficulties and interruptions, in October, 1779, at the cost of upwards of £6000, including the cost of the basin and wharfs near the bridge, where much business is done in corn, coal, and timber. The PARISH OF AYLSHAM, including many scattered houses and villas, and the hamlets of Dunkirk and Drabblegate on the opposite side of the river, has encreased its population since the year 1801, from 1667 to 2331 souls, and comprises about 4030 acres of land, of which 100 are woods and plantations; 350 meadow, and the rest arable. It lies in four MANORS, viz., "Aylsham, on the part of the Duchy of Lancaster," held by Lady Suffield; Aylsham Wood or Sextons, of which Robt. Copeman, Esq., is lord; Aylsham Vicarage, of which the Vicar is lord; and Bolwick Hall, of which John Warnes, Esq., is lord. The three first are subject to certain fines, but the last is held by copy of court roll, of Aylsham-Lancaster, and subject to arbitrary fines.

The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Michael, is a handsome Gothic structure, situated near the summit of an abrupt acclivity, on the north side of the Market place, commanding an extensive and picturesque view of the surrounding country. It has a nave with side aisles, two transepts, a chancel, and a square tower, surmounted by a small spire, and containing a clock and an excellent peal of bells.

bells. It is said to have been built by the great John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, whose duchy court was once held here. In the south window is a painting on glass, of the Salutation, finished in 1516, at the cost of Joan, the wife of Robt. Bell, of Norwich. The east has basso-relievs of the four emblems of the Evangelists, the instruments of the passion, and the arms of Gaunt. The north transept was called St. Peter's Chapel, and had a guild in 1490. In the church and chancel are numerous monumental inscriptions, some inlaid with brass; among which is one to Richard Howard, who built the porch about the year 1480, and another to Thomas Wymor, who is represented in his winding sheet, and caused the screens and roof to be beautifully painted with saints, martyrs, &c., in 1507. Here is also a mutilated monument of Bishop Leggon, who died here in 1617. In the churchyard, enclosed with iron rails, and planted with roses, hearts'-ease, &c., is the grave of Humphrey Repton, the celebrated landscape gardener, who died in 1818. The benefice is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £17. 19s. 7d., and endowed with the rectorial tithes of all that part of the parish on the north-east side of the Bure, with a small manor on the opposite side of that river, where the great tithes, (now leased to the Rev. S. Pitman,) belong to the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury, together with the advowson of the living, which is now enjoyed by the Rev. Philip Hunt, LL.D. The Baptists, and the Wesleyan and the Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here; that occupied by the first-named sect, was purchased from the Methodists, who built it in 1789. The Free School, near the churchyard, was founded in 1517, by Robt. Jannys, who endowed it with £10 a-year, paid by the Corporation of Norwich, out of the manor of Pakenham. This endowment was for seven free scholars, but the house and school were rebuilt by the late master, Clement Overton; and the latter was enlarged by subscription, in 1814, and is now conducted on the National system, for 50 boys and 50 girls, who pay 1d. each per week; in addition to which the master has the annuity of £10, and a yearly salary raised by voluntary contributions. Archbishop Parker founded two scholarships in Corpus-Christi College, Cambridge, for boys from this and Wymondham school, "each to have 12d. a-week for their commons; their chamberer, barber, largerer, and other necessities free." Several cottages and small plots of land were given to the poor by Thos. Cressey, in the reign of James I.; Simon Porter, in 1730, and by the lord of the manor, in 1738. The Workhouse, which stands on part of this land, is a large brick building, with accommodation for 100 paupers. The Savings' Bank, at the School, was established in 1818, and has deposits amounting to nearly £11,000. The labourers here are much benefitted by two large pieces of land let to them in garden plots, at small rents, by Wm. Repton and Robt. Copeman, Esqrs. The meetings of the South Kyringham Associations, for the prosecution of felons, the prevention of incendiarism, and the encouragement of industry and good conduct among servants and labourers, are held at Aylsham; and Mr. James Harrod is secretary to them and the savings' bank. The Bridewell, built here by Robert Marisham, in 1543, and rebuilt in 1787, was discontinued as a prison about eight years ago.

Aylsham was once noted for its SPA, which is situated about half a mile south of the town, and now belongs to Mr. R. Elvin. This chalybeate spring, though now but little used, was formerly much resorted to by invalids afflicted with asthma and other chronic diseases. James R. Robert Copeman, Thomas Rackham, William Repton, and Vickers, Esqrs., have neat mansions in the town, and are owners of a large portion of the parish, in which are Bolwick Hall, $1\frac{1}{4}$ mile S. the seat of John Warnes, Esq.; Coldham Hall, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile S., the property of George De Hague, Esq.; Aylsham Wood, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile N. by E., the seat of J.W. Clover, Esq.; and Bushey on the Cromer road, the seat of Mr. Thos. Cook; besides there are several other neat residences in the parish, two of which belong to Messrs. Jas. and H. E. Soame. In 1805, an earthen pot, containing 500 pieces of ancient silver coin, chiefly groats of Henry VII., and pennies of the Edwards, were ploughed up in a field near Aylsham. On Stow Heath, about two miles to the east, several large tumuli or barrows, in which two urns, containing bones and ashes, were found in 1808.

The following DIRECTORY OF AYLSHAM, those marked 1, reside in Churchgate or Church hill; 2, Hungate; 3, Market place; 4, Millgate; 5, Norwich road; 6, Pinfold st.; 7, Red Lion st.; 8, White Hart st.; 9, Workhouse st.; 10, Cawston road; 11, Cromer road; 12, Aylsham Wood; 13, Blickling road; and 14, Burgh road. The POST-OFFICE is at Mrs. Eliz. Nobbs', in Hungate, where letters are delivered every day at 11 morning, and are despatched at 3 afternoon, for Cromer and Norwich post.

Mr. Chas. Workhouse st.
Mrs. Mary, Burgh road
Geo. Morris, gov. of Workhouse
Rev. John, (Bap.) Hungate
Thos. gent. Burgh road
Mr. Robt. Hungate st.
Mrs. Virtue, Whitehart st.
Mrs. Bridget, Paradise
Jas. Esq. Norwich road for Ellis, basket maker
John W. sub-distributor camps, Manor house
Thos. gent. Bushey place
Mrs. Frances, Marketpl.
Benj. dyer, Millgate
Stillingfleet Rayner, bookr.
Mrs. Ann, Workhouse st.
redge Mrs. Eliz. Red Lion st.
Mrs. Sar. White Hart st.
R. cattle dlr. & horse brkr.
John, gent. Millgate
Iders Smith, excise officer
erson Mrs. Penelope
rod Jas. bank clerk, &c.
Mrs. Mary, Market place

9 Hill Wm. ale & porter mercht.
Holley Mrs. Ann, Church gate
Holley Mrs. Sar. Church terrace
Hunt Rev. Pp. LL.D. Vicarage
Johnson Benj. joiner, Millgate
7 Lazarus Dd. jeweller, &c.
Lown Mrs. Ann, White Hart st.
Lubbock Mrs. Eliz. White Hart st.
Mayston Mrs. My. Workhouse st.
Mitchell Mrs. Han. Workhouse st.
Morris Mary, govss. of Workhs.
Parmeter Rt. solr. Cromer road
Parmeter Sl. mert. Blickling rd.
13 Pering Rev. Peter, A.M. curate
Peterson Benj. gent. Cottage
Porrett Chpr. gent. Cromer road
11 Porrett Thos. upholsterer, &c.
Rackham Thos. gent. Cromer rd.
3 Rainforth J. patten & clog mkr.
Read Mrs. Hanh. Church gate
Robins Mrs. Ann, Millgate
Robins Wm. gent. Church gate
Ruge Edw. gent. Millgate
Scotts Mrs. Ann, White Hart st.
8 Seaman, Miss Sophia
Sharpe Mrs. Ann, Oulton road

Shaw Mrs. Ann, Pinfold street
 Soame Hy. Ed. gent. Cawston rd.
 Soame Jas. gent. Cawston road
 Stretton Mrs. Ann, Market place
 Tattam Mr. Rd. Red Lion st.
 Warnes John, Esq. Bolwick hall
 Wickes Mrs. Susanna, Millgate
 Wickes Wm. tanner, Millgate
 Witted J. hat mfr. Red Lion st.
 Woods W. millwright, Cawston rd.
 1 Wright Thos. boat builder
 Youngs Mrs. Eliz. Millgate

ATTORNEYS.

Copeman & Parmeter, Blickling rd.
 Copeman Robert, clerk of the peace for Norfolk

Juby John, Church terrace
 Repton William, Market place

BANKS.

Copeman Rt & Edw. Norwich rd.
 draw on Hankey & Co. London
 Savings' Bank, School lane, open
 Monday, from 12 to 1 o'clock
 Mr. Jas. Harrod, secretary.

FIRE AND LIFE OFFICE
AGENTS.

Clerical, Medical, & General Life.
 Thos. Connold, Market place
 Equitable Fire, Thos. Connold,
 Market place

Norwich Union, J. W. Clover,
 Market place

INNS AND TAVERNS.

Anchor, Wm. Mash, Millgate
 Black Boys Inn, & Excise Office,
 Charles Tattam, Market place
 Bull, Ben, Brett, Red Lion st.
 Cross Keys, Lucy Ulph, Red
 Lion street

Dog Inn, Wm. Cutting, Norwich rd.
 New Inn, Samuel Scotter, Red
 Lion street

Red Lion, Wm. Legood, Red
 Lion street

Star, Php. P. Wilson, Red Lion st.
 Unicorn, Wm. Newstead, Hungate

Academies.

Balls Anna M
 Balls Jno. (free)
 8 Hindray Jas.
 8 Rust Wm.
 9 Wright Wm.

Auctioneers.

13 Boulter Ths.
 3 Burrell Geo. E.
Bakers, &c. are Confectioners.
 * 8 Abbott Peter
 7 Barnes Fiddy

4 Cory Thos

* 2 Laxen Richd

2 Sexton Mary

* 3 Stenham T's
Beer Houses.

2 Barney James

4 Hagen Robt.

3 Dacy John

8 Poll Henry

Blacksmiths.

7 Burton John

10 Butler Wm.

8 Lee William

7 Pike William

Booksellers.

3 Clements Chs

7 Frary Rbt. H.

Boot and Shoe
Makers.

2 Barnes Edw.

2 Barney Jas.

7 Carman Thos.

4 Clark Joseph

3 Clements Chs.

1 Doughty Rbt.

3 Elden Wm.

10 Foxhall Ths.

7 Frary Rbt. H.

2 George Philip

7 Grey Wm.

7 Mack Edward

8 Norton John

2 Ostick Rbt.

7 Payne James

7 Rust Vincent

3 Thistle Rbt.

9 Turner Benj.

7 White George

Brewer.

9 Polly Henry

Bricklayers.

9 Horstead Ann

2 Horstead Jas.

14 Lacey Benj.

10 Ward & Bird

Brickmakers.

10 Soame Jas.

5 Warnes John

Butchers.

7 Batson Potter

7 Chapman Jno.

7 Clark James

Hagen J. Twn. In

2 Sands Jas

7 Smith Ths.

Carrers.

1 Bowers

4 Harvey

Coal Merch.

at Canal

Hudson

9 Mayston

7 Peachman

Warnes

Druggs.

7 Bane

3 Connold

2 Nobbs

Coopers.

8 Parker

2 Smith J.

Corn

8 Jarvis

4 Parmeter

10 Soame

Curriers.

13 Clark

2 Evans

2 Frary J.

Farmers.

Ashley H.

(steward) road

Blyth Wm.

Boddy G.

10 Bond

Colk John

Coldham

12 Froding

12 Froding

7 Godfrey

Goodwin

10 Lake

2 Moore G.

Palmer J.

4 Tipple G.

Tipple W.

Gardeners.

4 Fitt Jas.

2 Fitt John

2 Randell

11 Stearns

9 Stearns

10 Stearns

jun.

Thaxter

so.	4Moon Sarah	Vetn. Surgeons.	8Silence Geo.
: dlrs.	Painters, Plbrs.	6Howes Jph.	3Wade C. Rice
dw.	and Glaziers.	1Howes Rt.	Wheelwrights.
e A.	Doughty Wm.	6Smith Rd.	Bowers Robt.
rDprs.	8Elvin Robt.	Watchmtrs, &c.	6Glister Thos.
as.	7Pert Wm.	7Barber Wm.	11Smith Robert,
uo W.	7Pratt Wm.	3Connold Thos.	(coach & gig)
.Ham.	Saddlers, &c.	7Pitt John	8Ulph John
ldw.	3Butler John
Sar.	7Frankland J.
Benj.	7Hounsfield E.
sPhoe.	3Laxen Richd.
essers.	7Lemon Benj.
/m.	7Tillett Benj.
Php. P.	Stone Mason.
gers.	Freeman John,
Brnd.	Millgate
John	Surgeons.
Ed. S.	2Saunders W.
, &c.	1Smith Fredk.
.mtrs.	6Spurgeon A.C.
Wm.	3Taylor Saml.
Rt.	Taylors, &c.
G. E.	* Clothes whs.
Thos.	7Breese Stphn.
on Jn.	Duffield Jas.
as Ths.	5Flaxman Jno.
ot Jno.	2Frery John
Robt.	7*Haddon Jas.
ers.	7Hopkins John
rs.&F	11*Smith Mary
s, &c.	7*Spooner Hy.
Jane	8*Sutton John
on E.	Timber Merts.
J. & J.	Boone Wm.
n	2Calver Thos.

COACHES.

The Mail, from the Black Boys Inn, to Cromer, 3 morning, and to Norwich, 3 afternoon. Also a coach to Holt, 5 afternoon, and to Norwich, 9 morning.

The Enterprise, from the New Inn to Cromer, Tue. Wed. & Thu. $\frac{1}{4}$ p. 10 mg. and to Norwich, $\frac{1}{4}$ bef. 3 afternoon.

CARRIERS.

To Norwich, John Chapman, Red Lion-street, Tue. and Sat.; Charles Boughey, Hungate, W. & Sat.; and George Cooper, Cawston road, Sat. 5 morning.

To Norwich, from the Red Lion, John Gagen, Thu. 4 aft., and to Wells, Sat. 6 morning.

To Banningham & Holt, from the Dog, Wed. and Sat. 5 aft.

To Cromer, Sherringham, &c. from the Cross Keys, Sat. 5 evng.

WATER CARRIAGE.

S. & T. Parmeter's wherries, &c. from the Basin, every week.

AYLSHAM is a village and parish, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. by S. of Norwich, comprising 333 inhabitants, and about 1300 acres, of which the Rev. J. T. Mott, Esq., are the principal owners. The lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, valued in 1829 at £9, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Robt. J. C. Alderson, with about 17 acres of glebe. The rectory-house was nearly destroyed by lightning, in 1692, and by fire in 1754; after which it remained ruinous till 1770, when it was repaired at a considerable expense by the rector and his parishioners. The Church, dedicated to the Virgin, is a large handsome edifice, which was partly destroyed by the fall of the steeple, in 1739, but was thoroughly repaired and beautified, chiefly at the expense of the Rev. William Alderson in 1779. The manor was long held by the Bacons, one of whom was John Bacon, the learned and "Resolute Doctor," who died in 1416. From them it passed to the Heydons. Sir Henry Heydon, the old Hall, except the large centre tower, about the year 1495; but the whole is now in ruins, and the more modern hall is occupied by a farmer. Sir Christopher Heydon, who died in 1593, was knighted at the sacking of Cadiz, and was author of "A Defence of Judicial Astrology." The National School, erected here in 1816, is supported by subscription, and attended by 135 children. The poor have £5 a-year from "Twenty Acres," left by Thomas Newman, in 1698.

Alderson Rev. Robert Jervis
Coke, M. A.
Beales John, National School
Curson John, blacksmith Eldon Benjamin, grocer, (and Hempstead)
Silence Richard, tailor
Spence Robert, wheelwright & vict.
Ward Robt. blacksmith & shopr.

Whiting John, wheelwright

Wilson Thos. saddler, (& Holt)

SHOEMAKERS.

Fisher Philip

Mann John

Porrett John

Woods Starling

FARMERS.

Coburn J.

Denny Richard

Mack Thos. Bond

Mayes Phillis

Moore James

Robinson Wm.

Ward George

Wardes Sophia

BANNINGHAM, a parish and scattered village, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. E. of Aylsham, has 360 inhabitants, and about 800 acres. W. H. Windham, Esq., is lord of the manor, but the soil is owned by a number of proprietors. The Church stands on a pleasant eminence, and has a square tower with three bells. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £10 5s. 10d. The Rev Wm Jex Blake is the incumbent, and Samuel Bignold, Esq., is the patron. In 1722, the Rev Samuel Wanley bequeathed his "commodious and pleasant dwelling, with its appurtenances," for the use of succeeding rectors; and also left £5 a year out of his land, called Ellis's, to be given to ten poor widows on St. Thomas's day. The poor labourers have land now left for 30s. per annum.

Canham Thos. bricklyr & beerhs
Canuell Francis and Eastoe William, blacksmiths

Eastoe Nathaniel, shoemaker

Goose John, vict. Bridge Inn

Hall Mrs. Martha

Holley Rev. Elw. B. A., rectory

Hubbard Edw. grocer & draper

Lambert Joseph, shoemaker

Lee Robt. Christmas, corn miller

Moore William, National School

Newstead Nathaniel, wheelwright

Newstead William, cattle dealer and vict. Crown

FARMERS—* are yeomen.

Bensley John

* Clarke Mary

Croftwick Mary

* Eldon Wm

Fairman John

Palmer John

Rump William

Sexton John

* Sharp John

Sheppard Robt.

Tipple Thomas

Wickes Rice

BARNINGHAM (LITTLE) is a small village and parish, 6 miles N. W. by N. of Aylsham, with 227 inhabitants, and 900 acres, belonging to Lord Orford and C. T. Page, Esq. The former is lord of the manor, anciently held by a family of its own name. In 1312, Sir Henry Seagrave and 26 others came to the manor-house, and pricked and cut the mother of William de Barningham, to force her to tell them of her money, jewels, &c., for which they were indicted, but produced the King's pardon. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, has a tower and two bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 15s. 2½d., is in the gift of Messrs. Graver and Knight, and now enjoyed by the Rev. John Custance Leake. Directory.—Wm Fish, wheelwright; Joseph Hogg, Esq.; Barnabas Newstead, bricklayer and shopkeeper; George Pygall, shoemaker, John Pygall, per; and William Ellis, James Gladden, William Overton, and Spurrell, farmers.

KHAM (WEST,) at the north end of this hundred, is a pleasant village, 4 miles E. of Holt. Its parish contains 1,000 inhabitants, and 600 acres of land, belonging to several owners, William Repton, Esq., is lord of the manor. The CHURCH (All Saints) is a curacy, augmented from 1790 to 1815, with £600 of Anne's bounty, partly laid out in 10A. of land. The Dean and Chapter of Norwich are appropriators and patrons, and the Rev. William Taylor is the incumbent. The poor's land is let

Mrs. Ann Sayers is lessee of the tithes; Samuel Sayer, (son of the late Mr. Sayer,) Benjamin Emery, and Cooke Flower, occupy their own land, and the other residents are Mr. Aker and Thomas Watts, Esq.; Mary Barker, shopkeeper; Henry Breese and Robert Breese, wheelwrights; William Kendle, auctioneer, and wine and spirit merchant; and Henry Ransome, blacksmith.

AUGH, in the south-east angle of this hundred, is a small picturesque seat on the summit and sides of an abrupt hill, which rises within a semicircular curve of the river Bure, N. E. by N. of Norwich. Its parish contains 151 inhabitants and 853 acres of rich loamy land, of which 199 are marsh, 647 arable, and 7 plantations. Mrs. Margaret Southwell owns a great part of the soil, and is lady of the manor. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter, has a tower and three bells, and was re-pewed and glazed in 1750, when the screen was richly gilt and painted, having in the compartments figures of the twelve apostles. The bank on the east side of the churchyard rises nearly perpendicular from the ground, and the parsonage-house stands in a romantic situation on the top of the acclivity. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6, is united to the living, in the patronage of the Bishop of Norwich, and incumbent of the Rev. John Lubbock, M. A. The glebe is 3A. 2R. 4P.; and town land 5A.; and town land, 1A. 1R. 27P. The poor have 25s. a year left by William Green, in 1717; and 5s. by Edmund Tophill, Esq. Directory:—Rev. Charles Tonqueray, M. A., Rector; and John Allen, Edward Chaplin, Richard Culling, John Hanton, Samuel Steward, farmers.

CKLING, a small but pleasant village and parish, 1½ mile N. of Aylsham, has 365 inhabitants, and 1400 acres of land, of which about 200 acres belong to Miss Smith, of Dereham, and the remainder to the Dowager Lady Suffield, (the lady of the manor resides at BLICKLING HALL, a large quadrangular mansion house, with stone quoins, &c., in the Elizabethan style, with two towers in the centre, turrets at the angles, and a large clock-tower over the entrance, seated in a beautiful park of 700 acres, well stocked with deer, and extending into the adjacent parishes of Oulton and Itteringham. Before the Norman Conquest, this manor was held by Harold, (for a short time King;) but at the Domesday Survey it was held in two moieties, one by the crown, and the other by the Bishop of Thetford. Both were invested with the privileges of a free demesne, and had aleet independent of the hundred, with frankpledge, gallows, tumbrell, or cucking stool, and free common. The Conqueror settled the whole manor and advowson on the Bishop of Thetford; and after the foundation of Norwich cathedral, the bishops held the demesne in their own hands, and had here a palace or country seat, with a fine park adjoining. In 1431, Blickling became the property of Sir Thomas Erpington, who sold it to Sir John Fastolf, by whom it was sold, in 1452, to Sir Geoffrey Boleyn, who made it his country seat, and was lord mayor of London in 1457.—From him it passed to Sir Thomas Boleyn, father of the unfortunate Anne Boleyn and Viscount Rochford, who were both beheaded under the merciless tyranny of the lascivious Henry VIII., the former being one of his martyred queens.—From the Boleyns, the manor passed to the Cleves, one of whom sold it to Henry Hobart, lord chief justice of the Common Pleas, who died in 1625. His son, Sir John, rebuilt Blickling Hall, which he completed in 1628, when the domestic chapel was consecrated. One of his descendants, John Hobart, was created Earl of Buckinghamshire, in 1746. The second Earl rebuilt the west front in 1769, and made great improvements in the internal decorations of the hall, from which Henry VIII. married Anne Boleyn, and came here personally for that purpose. Charles II., with his queen, visited it in their progress through the county, in 1671. On the death of the late Earl of Buckinghamshire, without male issue, in 1816, this estate passed to the present Dowager Lady Caroline Hans Suffield, relict of the late Wm. Asheton Harbord, Lord Suffield, who died in 1821, without issue. The hall is nearly environed with large old trees, and "the moat, the bridges, the turrets, and the battlements, are all impressed with the ideas of antiquity." It contains many superb apartments, with richly decorated chimney-pieces, ceilings, wainscots, &c., the whole expensively furnished, and some of them having valuable paintings. The entrance-hall, 42 feet by 34, and 33 feet in height, opens to the staircase, which is ornamented with various small figures, carved in wood, and has a gallery at the top, containing statues of Anne Boleyn and Queen Elizabeth. Among the portraits in the principal apartments are full-lengths of George III. and his Queen, by Sir Joshua Reynolds, George II. on horseback, Judge Hobart, in his robes, and a variety of other distinguished individuals. The library, (upwards of 10,000 volumes,) occupies a room 127 feet in length by 21 feet in breadth, with a ceiling divided into compartments, containing figures emblematical of the five senses, and a variety of droppings and qualities in relief, but much injured by whitewash. The extensive park and gardens are ornamented by a lake, extending in a crescent shape, about one mile in length, and 400 yards in its greatest breadth, and skirted by verdant lawns and thickly wooded hills, rising in various forms from the pellucid water over which the umbrageous foliage casts a shady but pleasing hue. The console and statues which formerly adorned the platform at Oxhead Hall, are preserved here. About a mile from the hall, is a stone Musoeum, built in the form of a pyramid, upon a base of 45 feet, in which are deposited the remains of the late Earl of Buckinghamshire, and his two wives, but the remains of nineteen of his ancestors and relations are deposited in a vault, under the north aisle of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Andrew, and is a neat Gothic fabric, standing on an eminence near the hall. It contains many inscriptions to the former lords of the manor, with a few small effigies and brasses; and the east window has recently been decorated with stained glass. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £10. 13s. 1d., is in the gift of the Dowager Lady Suffield, and incumbency of the Rev. Joseph Dixon Churchill, M.A.

Dowager Lady Suffield, (Hall)
 Marquis of Lothian, (Hall)
 Boss Mr. Alfred
 Butler Miss Mary, housekeeper
 Butler Robert, shoemaker
 Butler Samuel, florist
 Churchill Rev. J. D. Rectory
 Frisby Thomas, house steward
 Harvey Wm. farming bailiff
 Hindry Edmund, grocer

Kent Mrs. Charlotte
 Lambert John, park keeper
 Salmon John, blacksmith
 Shaw Henry, gardener
 Wells Theophilus, vict. Buckingham Arms
 Wright Peter, joiner
 FARMERS.
 Fish Richard | Pearson John
 Mayes Thos. | Smith Thomas

BOOTON is a humble village, with a neat Hall, 6 miles S.W. by W. of Aylsham, and 2 miles E. by S. of Reepham, having in its parish 199 inhabitants, and 1004 acres of land, mostly belonging to Hastings Elwin, Esq., the lord of the manor, and patron of the CHURCH, (St. Michael,) which is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 12s. 6d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Caleb Elwin. At the enclosure, in 1811, 20 acres were allotted to the poor. Directory:—Jeremiah Alden, vict., King's Head; Samuel Bircham, Esq., Booton Hall; and Mary Ann Parsons, John Rump, Richard Pescod Sewell, and Thos. Spink, farmers.

BRAMPTON, a small parish and scattered village, on the western acclivities of the vale of the Bure, 2½ miles S.S.E. of Aylsham, has 207 inhabitants, and only 375 acres of land, in which many Roman coins, urns, and other antiquities, have been found at various periods, as well as in the adjoining parishes of Buxton and Burgh.—John Wright, Esq., owns nearly all the soil, and is lord of the manor, which was possessed by the Fitzwalters, who assumed the name of the place, in the reign of Wm. Rufus, and held it till 1663. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter, is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. but has 15½A. of glebe. Robert Marsham, Esq., is the patron, and the Rev. A. W. Keppel is the incumbent. The church land is 2A. 1B. The Hall, now a farm-house, was built in 1595. Directory:—George Barcham, coal merchant; Jas. Barton, shoemaker; Rt. Clarke, bricklayer; Ann Ives, vict., Nag's Head; Jas. Mack, beer seller; John Mitchell, joiner and cooper; John Moore, blacksmith; Jas. G. Sayers, farmer; Jas. Seaman, wheelwright; and Rd. Sutton, farmer and lime burner.

BURGH, or Burgh-next-Aylsham, is a small village and parish, on the east bank of the Bure, 2 miles S.E. of Aylsham, containing 247 inhabitants, and about 700 acres of land, chiefly the property of J. H. Holley, Esq., the patron of the church, and lord of the manor, who resides at Burgh Hall, a neat white mansion, with a fine lawn descending to the Bure. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Mary the Virgin, is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 17s. 1d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Edward Holley, B.A. This is supposed to have been a Roman station, as is conjectured from its name, and the numerous coins and urns found here and in the adjacent parishes. Mrs. Holley supports the National School, with the aid of 1d. per week, paid by each of the 50 scholars. Directory:—Jas. Hunt Holley, Esq.

Burgh Hall; Stephen Barber, yeoman; Rt. Goodson and Rt. Medley, shoemakers; Martha Ives, schoolmistress; Thos. Jary, vict., Fighting Cocks, Rt. Jones and Chas. Bacon, corn millers; Culatt Page, farmer, Henry Postle, wheelwright, Rt. Postle, shopkeeper; and Charles Wright, blacksmith.

BUXTON is a pleasant and well-built village, on the west bank of the river Bure, nearly 4 miles S.S.E. of Aylsham. The parish contains 610 inhabitants, and 1274a. 2r. 23v. of land, the greater part of which belongs to Samuel Bignold, Esq., the lord of the manor, who purchased the advowson of the vicarage, and the rectorial tithes, of Lord Anson, except those portions of the latter which were bought by the other landowners. Dudrick House, half a mile W. of the church, is an ancient mansion, with a well-wooded lawn and good estate, belonging to John Wright, Esq., the occupant; and formerly the seat of the family of Dudrick. Buxton Old Hall, with a small estate, is the property of Mr. J. Bambridge. This manor had anciently the liberty of executing criminals, on Gallow Hill, which has long been levelled, though it still retains the name of Gallow hill close. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, has a square tower, with five bells, and contains many inscriptions to the families of Beddingfield, Manning, Bulwer, &c. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5 13s 9d, has 34a. 2r. 6v. of glebe, and is now in the incumbency of the Rev. Henry Anson, together with the livings of Oxnead and Skepton, the former of which has 28a. 16v., and the latter 25a. 10v. of glebe, all lying in Buxton parish. Thomas Bulwer, Esq., who died in 1694, bequeathed £500, with which an estate of £25 a-year was purchased in Aylsham, and vested in feoffees, who are to pay the clear yearly rent (now about £50,) to the vicar for the time being, in consideration of his (or his curate) preaching a sermon in the church every Sunday morning, as well as in the afternoon. He also left £200 to the poor, to be laid out in land. This and other poor's land, left by Sir John Pictou, in 1515; by Wm. Bayspool, in 1588, and by Roger Docking and Wm. Stephens, now yield about £60 per annum. Wm. Pearse, of Mautley, who died in 1829, left the interest of £100 for ten poor widows, or widowers, of Buxton. In 1833, John Wright, Esq., erected two School-rooms, near the church, and they are now attended by 80 boys and 40 girls. The Workhouse here, for nine parishes, as noticed at page 514, was built about the year 1800, for the reception of 300 paupers, but has seldom more than 50. A Petty Session is held here on the first Monday of every month, and Hy Pike, of Marsham, is clerk to the magistrates. At the Spring Assizes of 1835, James Clark, of this parish, was hanged for setting fire to Mr. Bambridge's stacks; several other fires which had previously occurred in the neighbourhood, were supposed to have been lit by the same incendiary, who was only about 20 years of age when he paid the forfeit of his iniquitous crimes. At the enclosure, in 1809, a large tumulus on the common was levelled and granted to the parish as a sand-pit. There were found in it three human bones, and a large urn in the shape of a bell, and about a dozen smaller ones, all with their mouths downwards; and under them was a layer of red earth, covering an oval cavity, (4 feet by 5,) filled with charcoal. On the river is an extensive water-mill, admirably planned and executed by Mr. Wm. Pepper.

Bambridge J. yeoman, Old Hall
 Barton J. & Bloom Wm. shoemakers.
 Beck Wm. gardener
 Butterworth John, gent.
 Cooke & Gambia, corn millers and merchants
 Dunning Dl. & Lake Cs. bksmths.
 Earl Hy. Hodge, vict. Crown
 Penn Thos. & Howe Saml. tailors
 Hawes Henry, saddler
 Hayne Mrs. Mary
 Jarvis Rev. George, B.D. curate,
 Vicarage
 Lawrence Wm. gov. of Workhs.
 Leverage Richard, schoolmaster
 Mack Rt. bricklfr. & coal mert.
 Passon Benjamin, farmer

Pilgrim Robt. tailor and draper
 Payson Geo. joiner, wheelwright, pump maker, and overseer
 Russell Edward, watchmaker
 Smith Edward, butcher
 Smith John, shoemaker
 Springall Isaac, watchmaker
 Sutton Stpn. butcher & shopkpr.
 Taylor Lieut. Edw. Saml. R.N.
 Tuck Mary, shopkeeper
 Watts Thomas, bricklayer and vict. Black Lion
 Watts Wm. bricklayer
 Wiggett Richd. baker and grocer
 Wiley Jph. & Rust Edm. farmers
 Wright John, Esq. Dudwick ha.
 Wright John, sen. gent.

CALTHORPE, $3\frac{1}{4}$ miles N. of Aylsham, is a small village and parish, on the banks of a small rivulet, containing 206 inhabitants, and 1056A. 3A. 3R. of land, mostly the property of the Earl of Orford, who is lord of the manor and improPRIATOR of the great tithes. At the enclosure, in 1821, the land vested with the churchwardens "for tithes, head-silver, war-pound, &c." was exchanged for 15A. 2R. 9R., now let for £23. 1s., most of which is applied with the poor-rates. The Church, standing on an eminence at the west end of the village, is a vicarage which was certified at £27, and has 8 acres of glebe, and a few cottages—once the parsonage. The corporation of Norwich are the patrons, and the Rev. Wm. Heath Marsh, M.A., is the incumbent. Directory.—John Burrell, blacksmith; John and Christopher Elden, wheelwrights; Benjamin Newstead, wheelwright and grocer; Robert Platten, vict., Saracen's Head; John Skidmore, academy; John Wilson, shoemaker; and Stephen Gilham, Richard Hook, Francis Horner, Robert Ives, and Philip Newstead, farmers.—Robert Woods, carrier to Norwich, Wed. and Sat. at 1 mng. Hook Hall and Kybold Hall are now farm-houses.

CAWSTON is a considerable village and parish, 4 miles W. S. W. of Aylsham, comprising 1110 inhabitants, 4777 acres of land, and the scattered hamlets of Eastgate, Southgate, and Wood Row, the latter of which has a good inn on the Norwich and Holt road, 1 mile E. of the village. Three fairs are held here annually on Feb. 1st, and the last Wednesdays in April and August; the latter of which is a large sheep fair. W. E. L. Bulwer, Esq., owns a great part of the soil, and is lord of the manor, which he holds in free socage of the Duchy of Lancaster; in token of wh^{ch} before him (or his steward) on the court days a br^{oad} a ploughshare, and a mace surmounted b^y a lion. The custom of the manor is gavelkind. with d^{uty}. In 1263, John de Burgh obtained Tuesday, and a fair on the same day have been obsolete. The Ch^{urch} Gothic structure of freestone tower, containing six bells has carried and holding row. The many fines.

 are every ve long noble

(Earl of Suffolk,) and Catherine his wife, except the north aisle, in the windows are some fragments of ancient stained glass, and on the screen have been painted figures of the apostles, &c., but these are nearly obliterated. The Rectory, valued in K. B. at £15. 13s. 11d., is in the gift of Pembroke Hall, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. A. E. L. Bulwer. The late rector, Richard Baker, D.D., was inducted in 1762, and died in 1818. In the chancel are neat mural monuments to him and his second son, Major James Harrison Baker, who was killed at the battle of Toulouse, in 1814. At the enclosure of Cawston Heath, in 1802, an allotment of 100a. was awarded to the poor for fuel. The poor have also the interest of £80, left by Rt. Mott and Edward Dewing, in 1760, and 1764. The Workhouse is a convenient white brick building, capable of accommodating 70 paupers, and partly built by the sale of a cottage purchased with £40, left by Edward Lombe, in 1740. On the north side of the parish, is Docking farm, where it is said there was anciently a large village called Alvington, and many foundations of buildings have been discovered there at various periods. In the following Directory, those marked 1, are at Docking; 2, Eastgate; 3, Southgate; 4, Wood Row; and the others at Cawston.

Austin and Watts, butchers
Austin Matthew, beer house
Bennett Rt. baker & flour dealer
Brett Benjamin, wheelwright
Buck Samuel, schoolmaster
Bulwer Rev. Augustine Earle
Lloyd, Rectory
Casson William, shopkeeper
Clarke Thos. vict. White Horse
Dewing Martin, pump maker
Dewing John, Ml. & Rd. joiners
Dyball Samuel, vict. Bell
4 Easton Isaac, vict. Woodrow Inn
Easton Edwd. shoe warehouse
Fisher Marker, grocer & draper
Fox Thomas, tailor & draper
Garner George, farmer
Gray Francis, surgeon
Haddon John, glover
Heyhoe William, bricklayer
Hurrell Dennis, vict. King's Head
Ireland Samuel, grocer & draper
Matthews John, vict. & ratcatcher
Otway T & Mears Jno. blacksmiths
2 Partridge Wm. govr. of Workhs.
Pye Mattw. joiner & wheelwright
Pye Samuel, corn miller

Robins Jph. baker & flour dealer
Russell John, watchmaker
Scottow Rd. shopkpr. & beerhouse
3 Smithson Zephania, hair dresser
Springall Charles, bricklayer
Tudman William, tailor
Watts Wm. hardwareman
3 Yearham Chas. shopkpr. & beerha.

Boot and Shoe Makers.

Blogg John	Kemp John
Comer Wm.	Lambert Robt.
Douglas Wm.	Rider Robert
Drake Samuel	Wiggett Wm.
Harvey James	Williams B.

FARMERS.—are Peomen.

Bond John	Howes John
2 Brooks Benj.	1 Ireland Wm.
* Cable James	Plane John
3 Chapman John	2* Roberson H.
4 Dix James	Spurgeon John
Dix Richard	2 Towell Martin
* Easton James	Turner Thos.
Hickling Saml.

Carriers.—Jas. Howes, & Wm. Tudman, from Southgate to Norwich, Wed. & Sat. 4 morning.

COLEBY, or Colby, 3 miles N. by E. of Aylsham, is a scattered village and parish, with 304 inhabitants, and about 1100 acres of land, mostly belonging to Lord Suffield, Mr. S. D. Roper, and W. H. Windham, Esq., and forming part of the manor of Crackford. The Church, dedicated to St. Giles, has a handsome south porch, & are, chancel, and tower, and had formerly three bells; but the two largest were sold in 1748, when the north aisle was taken down, and the lead sold for the reparation of the other parts of the edifice, which has recently been thoroughly repaired and beautified. The east window has been decorated with ancient stained glass, collected by the present rector, who has also purchased the altar piece, a fine painting of Moses and Aaron, with the ten commandments. The font is richly carved with figures of the Holy Family, the Evangelists, &c. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 15s. 10d., is in the patronage of Lord Suffield, and incumbency of the Rev. George Coleby. The glebe is 6a., and the church land 9a. 1s. 29r. In 1723, Richard Snelling left two yearly rent-charges, viz., 20s. for the aged poor on Christmas day, and 30s. for clothing four poor children on Easter day. The poor have also a house and one acre of land, in Banningham, left by an unknown donor. Thos. de Colby, D.D., who died Bishop of Lismore and Waterford, in Ireland, in 1406, was a native of this parish. Directory.—Rev. G. Coleby, Rectory; John Durrell, grocer; Thos. Heyhoe and John Pearson, bricklayers; Snelling Droster Roper, gentleman; Joseph Sexton, shoemaker and beer house, and John Amis, Thos. Clover, John Golding, and Robert Lacey, farmers.

COLTISHALL, a large village, with a fair on Whit-Monday, and a considerable trade in malt, corn, ale, &c., is pleasantly seated on the east bank of the Bure, 7 miles N.E. by N. of Norwich. Its parish has 868 inhabitants, and 1030 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, the largest of whom are J. W. L. Winder, Esq., R. P. Kemp, Esq., and the Rev. James Ward, D.D., of Coltishall Hall, a neat house on a woody declivity. The houses at the west end of the village are in the parish of Great Hantboys. Henry III. granted by letters patent, in 1231, "to all men, women, and children born, or to be born, in his village of Coltishall," freedom from all villainage of body and blood, and from toll, stallage, picaage, and pannaage, in all fairs and markets throughout England; and that "all frays, transgressions, bargains, quarrels, and suits, concerning the said town of Coltishall, should be determined, twice every year, before the King's officers at the leets there." Henry VI. conveyed all his rights in this manor to King's College, Cambridge, to which the advowson is still attached. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 2s. 6d., has 29a. 3s. of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Abbot. The Church, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, was built about 1284, and has a tower 67 feet high, with six bells. The Free School, built by subscription, is endowed with £10 a-year, left by John Chapman, for 10 free scholars, in 1718, and the dividends of £360 three per cent stock, bequeathed by the Rev. Chas. Grape, in 1815.

*Marked * are in Great Hantboys parish, and the rest in Coltishall*

Ansell Miss Ann, & Archer Mrs. P.

* Bacon Alfred, chemist & druggist

Barnes Wm. brazer & tinner

Bathurst Mrs. J. & Bendy Miss S. A.

Begg Wm. saddler

Clare Philip, joiner and builder

Cooper Mrs. M., & Edwards Miss A.

Coman Wm. S. schoolmaster

Copeman Edward, surgeon

Copeman Edw. James, maltster & merchant

* Denham Dl. & Ed. bricklayer-

Ellingham J. glazier, painter, &c.

• Farman John, basket maker
 • Fox John, joiner
 • Gant Mrs. E. & Hawes Mrs. E.
 Hallock Rt. cabt. mkr & br hs.
 Hawes Rt. brewer & maltster
 Horner Wyatt, glazier, painter, &c.
 James Owen, supervisor
 Lawrence Rev. Thomas
 Limmer Geo. veterinary surgeon
 Lofly Chas & Park St. butchers
 Massingham Jph. free school
 Mayes Henry, farmer
 Moore Daniel, watchmaker
 Oates Mrs. S., & Pighting Mrs. A.
 • Page Edward, coal dealer
 Richards in Geo. blacksmith
 Riches Wm. hair dresser
 St John Lieut. Jas. R.N.
 • Shipley Richd. butcher
 Slann Richard artist
 Smith Joseph, gent.
 Stimson John, excise officer
 Taylor Walford, surgeon
 Thaxter Saml. coal merchant
 Took Wm. thrashing machine owner
 Vale Henry, farmer
 Ward Rev J D D., Coltishall hall
 Webb Thomas Stallard, artist

Wilkins James, boat owner
 Wright Thos. corn, coal, and timber mercht.

Wright Thos. boat builder

Boat and Shoe Makers

Amis Samuel	Page Wm
Clabburn Wm	Rice Saml
Harner Jacob

Shopkeepers.—[†] are Bakers.

Cooper & Cle-	Press Eliz.
ments	[†] Rouse Hs
Field John	[†] Rouse John
[†] Fuller John	Woods John

Public Houses

Anchor, Clement Postle
 King's Head, Stephen Buttle
 White Lion, Samuel Postle
 • White Horse Hotel, (and postoffice,) Jeremiah Gaze, Bridge foot

Tailors.—[†] are Drapers

Harrison Hy	Newhouse Ht.
[†] Margetson Fs	[†] Wiley John

Coach from the White Horse to Norwich, 1 noon, and to Cromer, 4 aft. (alternate days.)

Carriers. John Barnard and Saml Rice Mon W F & S S. morning.

COLTUSTY is a large but indifferently built village, on the north side of the Bure, 5½ miles N.W. by W. of Aylsham, comprising a its parish 468 inhabitants, and 918 acres of land, of which Jeremiah Ives, and W. E. L. Bulwer, Esqrs., are the principal owners.
 The former is lord of the manor of Stinton or Heydon, which extends over this parish, and the latter is patron of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £4. 12s. 8d., but augmented from 1716 to 1813, with £1000 of royal bounty, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Samuel Fisher. The Church, (St. Peter,) is a single pile, with a tower, south porch, and one bell.

Austin Jn., & Eke Jonas, wheelwgt.
 Ball Kellice, blacksmith
 Blomfield Wm. & Hase Joseph,
 butchers
 Eke Mr. William Flogdel John, baker
 Gilling John, farmer
 Gough Smith Saml. corn miller
 Gough Jas. blacksmith & farmer

Ireland Saml. grocer & draper
 Kiddell John, & Hase Ts. farmers
 Pegg Peter, poultry & beer m.
 Platten Rt. tailor, grocer, &c.
 Platten Wm. shoemaker & vict.
 Horse Shoes

Reynolds Wm. shoemaker
 Utting Jas. vict. Wheat Sheaf & carrier to Norwich Fri. 10 mg.

ERPINGHAM, a considerable village and parish, on the banks of a rivulet, 4 miles N. of Aylsham, having 431 inhabitants, and about 1300 acres of land, partly in Lord Orford's manor of Calthorpe, and the rest forming Lady Suffield's manor of Erpingham, which was held by a family of its own name, one of whom was the knight, Sir Thomas Erpingham, who accompanied John, Lancaster, to Spain, in 1399, and was in all the wars of V. and V. He was a great benefactor to Norwich, where the cathedral gate, which bears his name, (vide p. 118.) holders are subject to fines certain. S. Shephard and W. squ. have neat houses and large estates here. The Church, to St. Mary, is a large fabric, with four bells and a lofty orned with shields and other ornaments, and formerly having as of confessors for pinnacles; but one of them fell down storm upwards of a century ago, and killed one of the con-. The building was begun in Sir Thomas Erpingham's time, d by Lord Bardolph and his lady. The living is a rectory, K. B. at £9. 18s. 9d., in the gift of the Dowager Lady of Blickling, and incumbency of the Rev. J. D. Churchill.

rv. Stephen, M. A. rec-Wolterton & Wickmers
bert, tailor mund, butcher
mea, corn miller
William, wine, spirit, and merchant
Joseph, excise officer mea, shoemaker
annah, grocer
ohn, brewer, maltster, &
er, Spread Eagle
Chpr. schoolmaster
mea, corn miller
nathan, shoemaker
Mrs. Martha
Benjamin, millwright

Marsh Rev. William Heath, M.A.
* vicar of Catthorpe Mileham Mrs. Mary Ann
Shephard Samuel, Esq.
Turner Samuel, grocer, draper,
and ironmonger
Watts Mr. John
Watts Joseph, wheelwgt. & joiner
Woods Mr. William

FARMERS—* are yeomen.

Aggs Philip	*Holland Geo.
Aggs Robert	and beerhouse
Bartram Wm.	Shephard John
Blyth William	Smith John
Craneheld Pbp.	*Wilde Thomas
Gay William

BOYS (GREAT,) on the north side of the Bure, 8 miles f Norwich, is a small village and parish, with 141 inhabi- l about 600 acres of land, mostly belonging to Lord Suffield, f the manor. The Church, (St. Mary the Virgin,) has a er, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £4. 6s. 8d. Sir bbock is the patron, and the Rev. W. J. Blake is incum-. the head of Hautbois, or as it is vulgarly called, Hobbies ; there stood an Hospital, founded about 1235, by Sir Peter loco, for the reception of travellers and poor people, and y the pope to have a chapel bell and chaplain. In 1312, t Bainard converted his manor-house here into a castle; ces of it are now extant. The four farmers are John Cross, rne, Thomas and John Laws, and Henry Lee. The other ts are included with Coltishall, to which their houses

BOYS (LITTLE,) a small parish, adjoining the above, .N.E. of Norwich, has only about 28 inhabitants, and 338 and. The Bishop is lord of the manor; but the soil be- ir T. H. E. Durrant, Capt. Davey, and the Corporation of The latter owns Hautboys Hall, a large brick house in the Elizabethan style, now occupied by a farmer. The Church stood near the Bure, but was dilapidated many years ago, so that no vestiges of it now remain. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £7, has long been consolidated with Lammas. The Rev. William Heath Marsh, sen., is the patron, and the Rev. W. H. Marsh, jun., is incumbent. (See Lammas.) Directory:—John Bexfield, farmer, Capt. John Davey, (and Ingoldsthorpe;) William Docking, farmer, and William Taylor, vict., Adam and Eve.

HEVINGHAM is a considerable village and parish, 3 miles S. of Aylsham, and 9 miles N. by W. of Norwich, having 931 inhabitants, and 2,000 acres of land, belonging mostly to Robert Marsham, and William Repton, Esqrs.; the former of whom is lord of the manor of Hevingham, and Cats-cum-Cricketots, and the latter is lord of Hevingham-with-the-members-of-Marsham, which was anciently held by the Bishops of Norwich, one of whom, Walter de Suffield, built a palace or country seat here, in 1250, and had licence for free-warren in all his demesnes. The Church, dedicated to St. Botolph, has a nave, chancel, tower, south transept, and a handsome porch. It has inscriptions to the families of Hobart, Thetford, Deynes, Leigh, Scambler, &c., and a curious sexagon font, with mutilated figures under florid Gothic arches. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £10. 16s., has 39 acres of glebe, and a neat residence. William Carver, Esq., is the patron, and the Rev. James Carver is incumbent. The Wesleyans have a small chapel, erected in 1832. The Charity School for 10 free scholars, was endowed in 1715, by John Hall, with five acres of land, let for £6, and the interest of £50. The poor's land, purchased with £100, left by Thomas Bulwer, in 1693, was let in 1786, for £4 11s. The poor have also an annuity of 20s., left by a Mr. Scambler; and two alms-houses for widows, bequeathed by a Mr. Sergeant.

Abbs Thomas, vict. Fox
Abbs William, baker & shopkpr.
Barber John, schoolmaster
Carver Rev. James, Rectory
Fish Jrb. & Crane Jph. blksmiths.
Fox John, jun. & sen. wheelwrts.
Hardman Robert, butcher
Hall Wm. & Thurston Jno. shoprs.
Knights Jonathan, corn miller
Willmott William, beerhouse

SHOEMAKERS.

Dack John Grey Dennis
Digby Peter Newton Edw.

FARMERS.	Green John
Brister Isaac	Medler Charles
*Burton Benj.	Powell William
Case Hy. Thos.	Smith Edward
Climson John	and John
Cubitt John	Watson Charles
The Mail to Cromer $\frac{1}{2}$ before 11 morning, and to Norwich at $\frac{1}{2}$ past
2 afternoon

HEYDON is a pleasant village and parish, occupying a high but level situation, 5 miles W.N.W. of Aylsham, and 14 miles N.W. by N. of Norwich. It contains 350 inhabitants, and 1500 acres of land, belonging to William Earle Lytton Bulwer, Esq., who resides at HEYDON HALL, a handsome Elizabethan mansion of brick, erected in 1581, by Henry Dynne, Esq., but the house and lawn have since been considerably improved. Mr. Bulwer is well known in the literary world, as the author of several popular Historical Novels, and is lord of the MANORS of Heydon-with-members, Stinton Hall, (now Heydon Hall,) Sall-Rick Hall, Oulton, Thurning, Gaistwick, Wood-Dalling, &c., for which John Richardson, Esq., is steward. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, is a large handsome Gothic fabric, with a lofty square tower and three bells. The windows were formerly richly decorated with stained glass. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £9. 16s. 10½d., is united with Irmingland, in the patronage of W. E. L. Bulwer, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Evan Nepean, M. A. The poor's land, left by Mrs. Kempa, was let in 1766, for 32s. Erasmus Barle, who purchased the manors of Sall, Cawston, and Heydon, was one of the most able lawyers of his time, and filled many important offices, both in the commonwealth, and after the restoration. He died in 1667. It is said that a market was formerly held here on the green, south of the church.

Bulwer Wm. Barle Lytton, Esq., Heydon Hall

Barnes Samuel, wheelwright

Bird Rev. James Waller, B. A., curate

Cable William, blacksmith

Cooper Robert, baker & flour dlr.

Cotterell William, wheelwright

Edwards James, shoemaker

Gallant George, shoemaker

Ireland Samuel, grocer & draper

Kiddell Jonathan, schoolmaster

Leeds Stephen, saddler & vict.

Lion and Lamb

Richardson John, Esq., land agent, &c.

FARMERS.

Clark William | Kiddell James

Gardner Thos. | Kiddell Wm.

Ireland Benj. | Owen James

(Alimeburner) | Temple Abel

INGWORTH, which gives name to the Deanery of this hundred, is a small village and parish, in the vale of the Bure, 2 miles N. of Aylsham, containing 192 inhabitants, and about 430 acres of land, belonging to several proprietors; but part of it is a member of Blickling manor, and the rest is part of the manor of Banningham. The Church (St. Lawrence) appears to be of the age of Wm. Rufus, and had a round tower, which fell down Nov. 19th, 1822. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5, has 13a. 2s. of glebe, and 21s. a-year from the water-mill. W. H. Windham, Esq., is the patron, and the Rev. Paul Johnson is incumbent. The poor have 3s. 4d. a-year, left by Ellen Gobart, about 1676. Directory:—James Barber, corn merchant and miller; Robert Cawston, gent.; Rev. Fleetwood Churchill, M. A., vicar of Roughton; Daniel Frostick, butcher; William Harmer, bricklayer; James Watson, basket-maker; Benj. Newstead and John Wilson, shoemakers; and James Burrell, John Frostick, Robert Golder, William Randall, Robert Turner, and John Wright, farmers. (Enclosure, 1818.)

IRMINGLAND, or Erwingland, is a small parish, with only 16 inhabitants, and two farms, containing 700 acres of land, on the south side of the Bure, 5 miles N.W. by W. of Aylsham. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, was taken down, and the site ploughed up, many years ago, when the rectory, valued in K. B. at £5, was consolidated with Heydon. Irmingland Hall, the property of the Rev. S. Pitman, was formerly much larger, and was the seat of the knightly family of Smith, and for some time the residence of Oliver Cromwell. The other house, called Edmundale, belongs with the farm, to the Earl of Orford. George Cross occupies the former, and Robert Garnham the latter.

ITTERINGHAM is a pleasant, rural village, 4 miles N.W. of Aylsham, including in its parish 343 inhabitants, and about 1500 acres of land, belonging to the Earl of Orford, and Lady Suffield, of Blickling. The former is patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £5 17s. 1d., and now enjoyed by the Rev Robert Walpole, with 2½ acres of glebe. The CHURCH, (Virgin Mary,) has a nave, chancel, and tower, with three bells, and on its north side is the ivy-mantled ruin of a small chapel. A small lot of poor's land is let for 8s. a year. (Enclosure, 1819.)

Alexander Benjamin, tailor
Beane John Cooke, corn miller
Brett Nathaniel, wheelwright
Brown James, tanner
Cook George, farmer
Cook and Woods, farmers
Copeman Frederick, corn miller
Fowie Edward, shoemaker
Gotterson John, butcher

Hall Henry, blacksmith
Hurrell Thomas, shoemaker
Lee Rt. rat catcher & beer house
Sims Edmund, grocer & draper
Sims Mary Ann, farmer
Slipper Saml. & Edw. wheelwgt.
Smith Hy. vict. Walpole Arms
Thursby John, joiner and cabinet maker

LAMMAS is a small village and parish, pleasantly seated on the east bank of the Bure, 4 miles S.E. of Aylsham, with 275 inhabitants, and 491 acres of land, mostly the property of Sir John Lubbock and the Rev. W. H. Marsh, sen., the latter of whom is lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, which has 36a. of glebe, and is consolidated with Little Hautboys, in the incumbency of the Rev W. H. Marsh, jun. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Andrew, has a low embattled tower, with four bells; and in the north window is painted the last judgment, and the blessed Virgin feeding the hungry and clothing the naked; with a variety of sentences appropriate to the different subjects. Ralph de Beaufoe gave this manor to one Osborn, who is said to have founded the church and given the advowson to Halm abbey. Near the west end of the village, is an ancient Quakers' Meeting House, with a small burial ground. The church land is one acre, let for 42s. (Enclosure, 1809.)

Barber Chas. farmer & lime brnr.
Barten Wm. yeoman
Blake Rev Wm. Jex, incumbent of Great Hautboys
Bolton Job, grocer and draper
Collins Benj. shoemkr. & beer hs.
Dix Pras & Rice Thos. farmers
Goodwin Stpn. wheelwt. & lksmith.

Lambert Robert, shoemaker
Marsh Rev. Wm. Heath, B.A.,
Rectory
Page Edward, coal dealer
Rayner John, painter, glazier, & shopkeeper
Repton Mrs. Elizabeth
Reynolds Thomas, gent.

MANNINGTON, 5 miles N.W. of Aylsham, is a parish, with only 13 inhabitants, 530 acres, and two farm-houses, viz, Mannington Hall, an ancient moated mansion, and Mannington Mere, so called from the large ponds supplied by copious springs, which, by washing away a substratum of quick sand, so undermined the surface, that three large oaks suddenly sank into two deep pits, on July 23rd, 1717. Wm. Lumner, who built the hall, had a licence to make a castle of it. The Earl of Orford is owner of the soil and lord of the manor, which was purchased by one of his ancestors about 150 years ago, of Sir Charles Potts, Kt. The CHURCH, near the hall, has long been a neglected ruin, and the cure, valued in K. B. at £6. 18s. 4d., consolidated with Iffringham, being in the same patronage and incumbency, and the Earl of Orford paying a small modus in lieu of tithes. Farmers:—Thomas Playford, of the Mere; and Thomas Starling, of the Hall.

MARSHAM is a large but scattered village, partly occupied by weavers, on a declivity 10 miles N. of Norwich, and 2 miles S. of Aylsham. Its parish contains 692 inhabitants, and about 1200 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, many of whom purchased their estates about ten years ago, of Lord Anson. Wm. Repton, Esq., is lord of the manor; but the Hall, a neat white mansion, is the seat of Mr. Goddard Johnson. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, has a tower with four bells, and a curious old font, on which are carved the sacraments of the Romish church, four saints, four confessors, and St. George and the Dragon. In the north window, is St. Margaret, standing on a dragon, and in the south windows are the apostles, with the creed. Besides these, here are many other mutilated devices in stained glass, and several brasses in memory of the Norton, Atthill, and other families. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £10. 12s. 9d., has 40a. of glebe, and is in the gift of the Earl of Lichfield, (late Lord Anson,) and incumbency of the Rev. William Goodhall; but the Rev. Hy. Evans, of Haynford, has purchased the next presentation. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here. The heath was enclosed in 1821, when 181a. 6r. were allotted to the poor cottagers, and it is now thickly covered with Scotch fir, raised from the seeds blown from a neighbouring plantation. The poor have also two annuities, viz., 20s. left by John Swan, in 1692; and 15s. by Eliz. Swan, in 1693. Here are also two lots of old poor's land, let in 1786 for £6. 10s., and the greater part bequeathed, in 1694, by Thomas Bulwer.

Edridge Thos. pump mkr. & jnr.
 Elvin Wm. corn miller
 Grix Baj. & Mack Rt. wheelwgt.
 Jarvis Edw. grocer (& Aylsham)
 Johnson Goddard, Esq., Hall
 Jones George, shoemaker
 Moore Edward, butcher
 Moore James, blacksmith
 Moore Jas. jun. vict. White Hart
 Overton Wm. shoemaker
 Pike Henry, solicitor
 Priest Charles, brewer
 Shirley James, shopkeeper

Skipper Wm. shoemaker
 Smith John, gentleman
 Watts Francis, joiner and vict.
 Plough and Shuttle
 Wright Miss Ann

FARMERS.

*Marked * are yeomen.*

*Blyth James	*Neave Samuel
*Cremor Chas.	*Rouse Benj.
*Eade Hartt	Shike Robert
*Howlett John	*Watts John
Jones Geo. St.	*Whiting Ths.
*Moore James

OULTON is a parish of dispersed houses, 3½ miles N.W. of Aylsham, with 386 inhabitants, and about 1200 acres of land, mostly the property of Lady Suffield, of Blickling, the Rev. Saml. Putman, of Oulton Hall, (a neat mansion sheltered by steep woody acclivities,) and W. E. L. Bulwer, Esq., of Heydon Hall. The latter is lord of Oulton, Saxlingham, and Leeches manor; but Lady Suffield is impropiator of the great tithes. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, stands on an eminence, and has a tower, with three bells, and on its north side is the chapel of St. James. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £8 5s., has 15a. of glebe. The Rev. Stephen Cook, M. A., is patron and incumbent. The House of last year, for six parishes, stands about a mile S. E. of the church, and was originally a farm-house, but altered to its present use in 1801, by the parishes of Oulton and Bluckling, at the cost of £1,100. Erpingham joined the union in 1806, Coleby in 1811, and Itteringham and Banningham, in 1832, when the house was enlarged, at the cost of £300, and will now accommodate about 80 paupers, but has seldom more than 40 or 50. It has 7a. of garden ground. In 1694, Edm. Bell left 10s. a-year for ten poor widows of Oulton. About half a mile east of the church, is an Independent Chapel, built in 1728, chiefly at the cost of the Robins family. It has a cemetery, and 3a. of land, with a neat house for the minister, who has £5 a year from the bequest of the late Thomas Bell, Esq., whose heirs sold the hall to its present owner.

Baker Thomas, shoemaker
Barnaby E. F. gov. of Workhs.
Bird Henry, tailor
Buttiau Rev. Thos. Cyrus, Independent minister
Fitt Peter, joiner
Martins Wm. vict. Bell's Arms
Pitman Rev. Saml. Oulton hall
Reynolds Matthew, shopkeeper
Tippie Mr. John

FARMERS.

Barber Jonth.	Poll James
Bird George	Poll John
Cook Robins	Seaman John
Gay Robert	Skinner Elden
Golding Wm.	Tippie James
Keeler Thos.	Tippie Thomas

The Carrier to Norwich and Holt calls at the Bell's Arms.

OXNEAD, a small parish on the east side of the Bure, 2½ miles S. S. E. of Aylsham, has only 72 inhabitants, 630 acres of land in two farms, and a large duffield, blanket, &c. manufactory, established about 14 years ago. S. Bagnold, Esq., purchased this manor in 1828, of Lord Anson. From 1423 till 1732, it was held by the Paston family, two of whom were Earls of Yarmouth, and one of them was the famous Clement Paston, whom Henry VIII. called his champion; Protector Somerset, his soldier, Queen Mary, her seaman; and Queen Elizabeth, her father. He erected the once splendid mansion of Oxnead Hall, in the reign of Elizabeth, to which additions were made by the first Earl of Yarmouth, who built the banqueting room to receive Charles II. and his royal and noble attendants, in 1676. The building was in the form of the letter H, but the whole was taken down many years since, except one wing, occupied by a farmer. Wm. Paston, the second Earl of Yarmouth, died without male issue, in 1732. The Church, dedicated to St. Michael, is a small edifice embowered in trees, and has a tower with one bell. The chancel is paved with black and white marble, and has a handsome marble tomb on which lies the effigy of the above-named Clement Paston, "fortunate and wise," who died in 1597, and was fourth son of "of Sir Wm. Paston, Kt." By him lies also the effigy of his wife, and at his feet is a pelican. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £9. 1s. 5d., is consolidated with Baxton, in the same patronage and incumbency—Directory—Robert and Page Bleakley, duffield, blanket, &c. mfrs., Oxnead Mill, and John Spinks and Robt. Waters, farmers.

HOBPE, a parish and scattered village, 5 miles N.W. of , on the north side of the Bure, has 362 inhabitants, and of 2000 acres of land, of which 870A., with the manorial ere purchased a few years ago, by the Earl of Orford, of the nily. Part of the parish belongs to other proprietors. Pem- llege, Cambridge, has the impropriation of the great tithes, advowson of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £4. 13s. 4d., enjoyed by the Rev. Geo. Attwood, with 40 acres of glebe, augmentation of £200 by Wm. Trollope, in 1738, and £200 bounty, in 1739. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Andrew, rer with four bells, and was built about 1490; previous to ere was St. Dunstan's Chapel, founded by Amer de Valence, and its site is still called Chapel close. In 1666, John , a late vicar, bequeathed £260 to the Boys' Hospital, in , for educating and apprenticing one poor boy from this pa- e also left £300 to the Corporation, to be lent free of in- young tradesmen.—Directory:—John Massingham Bacon, stle; Wm. Hase, blacksmith and ironfounder; Pp. Pegg, luggist, and stationer; and Mtw. Austin, Wm. Barstead, eese, John Brett, Wm. Crake, John Curtia, Robt. Darby, cher, Richard Shelton, Robt. Tuddenham, and John Wig- ners.

TOW, a parish of dispersed houses, intersected by a rivulet, nt 5 miles S. by W. of North Walsham, and 2½ miles W. ead, has 460 inhabitants, and 2200 acres of land, mostly the of Sir Thomas Henry Estridge Durrant, Bart., lord of the nd lessee of the rectorial tithes, who resides at Scottow Hall, me cemented mansion, with two extensive wings, and a finely lawn. The CHURCH (All Saints) stands near the hall, and age, valued in K. B. at £8. 13s. 6½d., and has 17 acres of It is consolidated with Belaugh rectory. The Rev. John , M.A., is the incumbent, and the Bishop of Norwich is pa- appropriator. A CATTLE FAIR is held on Easter Tuesday, orse Shoes Inn, near which a mail cart leaves letters daily n Seaman.

Sir T. H. E. Bart., Hall
omas, wheelwright bert, grocer is Wm. butcher
ohn, bricklayer omas, grocer
n. vict. Horse Shoes
Rev. Jno. M.A. Vicarg.
s John, corn miller
n, gamekeeper
omas, gardener

Seagoe Thomas, tailor

Vincent Benjamin, joiner

Farmers.

Betts Benj.

Colk John

Harbord Robt.

Knights Robt.

Knights Thos.

Mayes Charles

Carrier to Norwich, Samuel

Reynolds, Sat. 4 morning.

Smith John

Stockings Allen

Shoemakers.

Flowerday Jas.

Jacobs Jacob

Seaman John

Yaxley Jerh.

TON, nearly 3 miles E. by S. of Aylsham, is a fertile parish red houses, with 317 inhabitants, and about 1800 acres of ng in bold swells from a meandering rivulet, and belonging to a of proprietors, many of whom are resident, and purchased utes about seven years ago of Viscount Anson, (now Earl of l,) who is still lord of the manor of Skeyton Hall, and patron of the rectory; but part of the parish is in the manor of Whitwell Hall, which belongs to Mr. Laverock Leggett. The Church (St. Andrew's) stands on a fine eminence commanding an extensive prospect, and has a tower, with three bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £9 10s., was augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1792, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Hy. Anson, together with Ormeau and Baxton. Robert King, who died here in 1727, aged 16 years, had an "entire set of new teeth about ten years before his death" (Enclosure, 1811.)

August Wm. bsmith. & vict. Goat	FARMERS.—Marked * are yeomen
Buck Richard, wheelwright	*Andrews Ths.	*Moore John
Hunt John, shoemaker	*Beck Samuel	*Postle John
Lambert Wm. shoemaker	*Bidewell Jno.	Skeyton hall
Moore Wm. shoemaker and vict.	Bugden John	Rice John
Black Horse	*Dennis John	Roose Wm.
Wortley Samuel, grocer	*Leggett Lvk.
	Whitwell hall

STRATTON-STRAWLESS is a small but pleasant village, 4 miles S. by E. of Aylsham, and 7½ miles N. of Norwich, comprising in its parish 218 inhabitants, and 600 acres of land, besides an extensive heath, partly covered with plantations. The whole is the property of Robert Marsham, Esq., who resides at the Hall, a large mansion of white brick, with a well-wooded park. This manor has been held, since the time of Edward I., by the Marsham family; one of whom, Rt. Marsham, Esq., F.R.S., who died in 1797, aged ninety, was a distinguished naturalist, and excelled much in the art of planting and rearing trees, as may be seen by the flourishing plantations round the hall. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, has a massive but short square tower, rebuilt in 1422, and now containing six bells. It has some curious specimens of stained glass, and several handsome monuments, one of which has the recumbent effigy of a man in armour, supposed to represent the last Sir Ralph de Stratton; and on an altar-tomb of black marble, is the effigy of Thomas Marsham, in his shroud, leaning on a pillow, above which are two angels blowing trumpets. In a chapel, is an altar-tomb of black and white marble, with four effigies of Henry Marsham, (ob. 1692,) his wife, and his son and daughter. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £8 8s., was augmented in 1794 with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. Robert Marsham, Esq., is the patron, and the Rev. Edw. Marsham is the incumbent. In 1693, Thomas Bulwer left £100 to the poor; of which £75 was vested in land, and the rest remains at interest.

Marsham Rt. Esq. Stratton hall	Case Wm.	Powell Peter
Wade Mark, blacksmith	Cubitt John	Smith James
Watson Robert, grocer	Gladden John	Watson Chas.
FARMERS.	Nobs Thomas,
Bowman Benj. Case John	(& brickmkr.)

SWANTON-ABBOT, a large straggling village, partly occupied by weavers, 2½ miles S.S.W. of North Walsham, has within its parish 448 inhabitants, and about 800 acres of land, mostly the property of Wm. Blake, Esq., who has a picturesque seat here; but the manor is in dispute between Wm. Repton, Esq., and others. The dedicated to St. Michael, stands on an eminence, and has a ncel, and tower, with several neat mural monuments to the aily, and the figure of the Rev. Stephen Multon, (who died engraved in brass. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 10s., gift of the Rev. Wm. Jex Blake, and incumbency of the ry Evans. The poor have £5 a year, from land left by Ann in 1732, and an annuity of 15s. left by Sarah Young and ler. Enclosure, 1809. Half a mile from the church is a leyan chapel.

m. Esq.
Robert, blacksmith
L. shoemaker
Thomas, grocer
Robt. cooper & beer hs.
Robert, joiner
Robt. schoolmaster
John, glover
ohn, butcher
an, tailor and vict.
Wm. grocer
Charles and Howard Wm.
kers
Thos. shopkeeper
ohn, corn miller

Spooner Wm. schoolmaster
Watts Christmas, tailor
Weldon Jph. bricklayer & shopkr.
FARMERS—^{*} are yeoman.
*Balls Wm. Ducker Rd.
Bidewell Hy. Dyball Wm.
Buck Thos. Jones Robt.
*Cadge Thos. *Miller Wm.
Chapman Wm. Rice Wm.
Cooke Robt. Spinks Robt.
Cooper Hanh. Spinks Thos.
Ducker Mary *Wilson Saml.
Carrier, Jph. Spooner, to Norwich, Wed. & Sat. 5 morning.

ATE is a small, dispersed village, on a pleasant acclivity mall rivulet, 4 miles N. by E. of Aylsham. Its parish has itants, and 700 acres of land. The Earl of Orford is prin- er and lord of the manor. The CHURCH (All Saints) has a er, and stands on a summit above the village. The rectory, K.B. at £7, has about 7 acres of glebe. The Bishop of is patron, and the Rev. John Stewart incumbent. Two Sunday schools have recently been erected here, by Mrs. aret, who has a neat mansion and estate in the parish. /:—Mrs. Lydia Baret, John Bradford, shoemaker; John , butcher; Wm. Chapman, shopkeeper and beer seller; ke and John Woolsey, farmers; Mr. Thomas Mack; Wool- y, surgeon; and John Silence, blacksmith.

INGTON is a pleasant village and parish, in a valley, 2 of Aylsham. It contains 228 inhabitants, and about 800A. partly in W. H. Windham, Esq.'s manor of Tuttington-with- d (fines arbitrary), and partly in Mr. Robert Copeman's Aylsham-Wood or Sextons (fines certain.) The Bishop of atron of the vicarage, appropriator of the great tithes, and Tuttington Hall, a neat mansion, with plantations and . 2p. of land, occupied by John Ringer, Esq., the bishop's The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5. 0s. 7d., was augmented 9 to '96 with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, vested in 15A. at Halvergate; besides which here is 15A. 3R. of glebe, al- the enclosure, in 1817. The Rev. George Jarvis, B.D., is it. The CHURCH has a round tower, and was thoroughly re- 1749. In 1214, here was a chapel, dedicated to St. Botolph, traces of it now remain. Directory:—William Eldon, gent., Thomas Lambert, shoemaker; James Martin, blacksmith; John Ringer, Esq., Tuttington-Hall; Mr. Wm. Spink; Jonathan Stagement, butcher; Wm. Webster, virt. Ship; and Samuel Allen, Bernard and Benj. B. Bowles, Wm. Goodson, John Hall, Robt. Rice, Robert Webster, and John Wright, farmers

WICKMERE, a parish of dispersed houses, 5 miles N.N.W. of Aylsham, has 319 inhabitants, and 978 acres of land, mostly belonging to the Earl of Orford, the lord of the manor and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K.B. at £9, and has about 35a. of glebe, but is united with Wolterton. The Rev Stephen Allen is incumbent. The Church stands on an eminence, and has a round embattled tower, and inscriptions to the Spelmans, Guntons, Greenways, &c. Directory—John Burgess, John Hook, and Thos. Partridge, farmers; John Davison, and Fras. Ward, shoemakers; Wm. Scotter, blacksmith; and Thos. Ward, bricklayer.

WOLTERTON parish, 4 miles N.N.W. of Aylsham, and 9 miles S.S.W. of Cromer, has only 41 inhabitants, and 700 acres of land, nearly all comprised in the beautiful park of WOLTERTON HALL, the seat of the owner and lord of the manor,—the Right Hon Horatio Walpole, Earl of Orford, and Baron Walpole, of Walpole and Wolterton.—(See Houghton.) The ancient family of Walpole derives its name from Walpole St. Peter, in Marshland, where its progenitors were settled even before the Norman conquest. The title of Earl of Orford, which had been granted to the celebrated Sir Robert Walpole, of Houghton, in 1742, became extinct in 1797, on the death of Horatio, the third Earl of his family, but was revived in 1806, in the person of his cousin, Horatio, second Baron Walpole, of Wolterton, whose father (the first baron,) purchased this estate about 1725. The old Hall being burnt down, he commenced the present mansion in 1727, and finished it in 1741, under the direction of Ripley, the architect. It is nearly a square pile, three sides of which have views on the park and pleasure grounds, and to the fourth, eastward, is appended a large quadrangle of kitchen offices, &c.; with a handsome domestic chapel to the south. The building is of brick, with quoins, corrices, door and window frames, chimneys, &c., of Portland stone. The interior has many spacious apartments elegantly furnished, containing a valuable collection of paintings, and some of them hung with fine Gobelin tapestry. The park is of great extent, and thickly studded with beech and oak, planted by the first lord Walpole. On the south side of the hall, is a bold terrace with a parapet, surmounted by urns; adjacent to which is a beautiful garden, laid out under the direction of Mr. Gilpin, and sloping to the margin of an extensive lake, the opposite banks of which are richly clothed with wood,—the whole forming, with the distant view of Blickling, one of the most striking pieces of park scenery in the county. The venerable ruins of the parish Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, stand on the north side of the hall, embowered in lofty hollies. This building has long been deserted, and scarcely anything but the tower now remains. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £8, is consolidated with Wickmere, as already noticed, and the joint benefices have 35 acres of glebe. In 1682, James Scrambler bequeathed to the clergy and poor of this and other parishes, 40 acres of land, let in 1786, for £36 a-year, of which 36a.

were paid to the poor, and £6. 2s. to the rector of Wolterton, £3. 13s. to the poor, and £4. 9s. 2d. to the minister and clerk of Briston, £1. 1s. to the poor, and £4. 9s. 2d. to the lecturer and clerk of Happisburgh, 10s. to the poor, and £2. 4s. to the minister and clerk of Hickling, and 6s. to the poor of Hovingham.

Earl of Orford, Wolterton Hall
Godfrey Robert, farm bailiff
Partridge John, farmer

Lemmon, Wm. house steward and land agent
West Mrs. Hanb. housekeeper

TUNSTEAD HUNDRED

Is of a crooked, oblong figure, extending about thirteen miles southward from the coast between Happisburgh and Mundesley, to the River Bure, and averaging from five to six miles in breadth;—being bounded on the north by the ocean and North Erpingham, on the east by Happing, on the south by Walsham hundred, and on the west by South Erpingham, and a small part of Tavenham hundred. It contains 26 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent:—

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Ashmanhaugh.....	154	£542	615	Nestishead	645	£1,227	1600
Bacton	498	1,872	1600	Paston	286	1,747	1300
Barton-Turf.....	391	1,553	1563	Ridlington	205	682	600
Beeston St. Lawrence	82	498	342	Scot-Ruston	103	628	480
Bradfield	210	642	715	Sloley ..	267	656	620
Croftwight	79	516	850	Smallburgh *	698	1,155	1200
Dilham	450	1,508	1510	Swafield	124	1,165	800
Edingtonthorpe	188	708	687	Tunstead	496	3,071	2000
Fekningham ..	394	2,252	1851	Walsham (North)	2615	6,253	4162
Houing	307	1,162	1300	Westwick	■	850	1000
Morning	■	1,207	2523	Witton	295	1,694	1712
Heveston St. John ..	223	1,391	1541	Worstad ..	630	2,860	2526
Heveston St. Peter ..	120	394	945
Istead	168	634	1019	Total	10,503	36,120	34,818

* The Smallburgh return included 185 paupers in the Workhouse.

It is generally a well cultivated district of rich loamy land, highly productive in wheat and barley, broken into a pleasing variety of hills, vales, and plains, and interspersed with extensive tracts of fertile marshes. It is watered by many "broads" and rivulets, most of which are tributary to the river AWT, which intersects and bounds this hundred during its whole course from Antingham to the Bure, and was formerly navigable only as high as Dilham; but by deepening the channel, and cutting a canal upwards of seven miles in length, in 1825-6, at the cost of £32,000, the navigation has been extended up to North Walsham and the bounds of Antingham. As has been seen at page 318, Tunstead and Happing Hundreds form the Deanery of Waxton, and have an incorporated House of Inous-

TRY at Smallburgh, for all the parishes in the two districts, except North Walsham, which being a large parish and a market town, has a Workhouse within its own extensive limits. The house at Smallburgh has 24 acres of garden ground, and accommodations for about 450 paupers from the 41 united parishes; but the average number of inmates is only about 300, who are maintained and clothed at the cost of about 2s. per head per week. PETTY SESSIONS for the two hundreds are held every Thursday at North Walsham, and every alternate Tuesday at the Smallburgh House of Industry, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. Mr. Philip Millard, of North Walsham, is clerk to the magistrates.

ASHMANHAUGH parish has a small scattered village, nearly 9 miles N. N. E. of Norwich, and belongs chiefly to Sir Jacob Henry Preston, Bart., the lord of the manor, impropiator of the tithes and patron of the Church, (St. Swithen), which is a curacy, certified at £10, but augmented with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1731, 1759, and 1810; and with £200 given by Isaac Preston, Esq., in 1758; the whole vested in land at Halvergate. The Rev. George Preston is the incumbent. The old glebe is 2a., and the church land lets for 17s. 8d. At the enclosure, in 1808, 8 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel; and they have £2. 5s. yearly from two cottages and 3 roods of land, taken in from the waste many years ago. Directory. John Bean, blacksmith and shopkeeper; Jacob Finch, thatcher, Mrs. Frances Grout, and Benj. Bell, George Broom, John Clarke, Wm. Crowe, Thos. Harris and Martin Sandell, farmers.

BACTON is a parish on the sea coast, 5 miles N. E. by E. of North Walsham, containing about 1600 acres of land, and 498 inhabitants, residing chiefly in the hamlets of Bacton, Bacton Green, Keswick, and Bromholm, distant nearly half a mile from each other; but a narrow point of the parish extends three miles to the S. W., where there are two farms called the Wood. Lord and Lady Wodehouse are the principal land owners, impropiators, and patrons of the church; but here are a number of smaller proprietors, some of whom have neat mansions in the parish. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, stands on a summit above the village of Bacton, above half a mile from the sea, and has a square tower with one bell. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5 3s. 1d., was augmented in 1746 with £200 (in land,) given by Miles Branthwayt, Esq.; and in 1747 and 1792, with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. G. L. W. Fauquier is the incumbent. Two Fairs are held here on the first Monday in August, and Nov. 30th, but they are chiefly pleasure marts. BACTON GREEN, half a mile E. of the church, is a fishing hamlet, near the beach, having two curing houses and four large and a number of small fishing boats. The recent discovery of extensive oyster beds in the offing, has greatly increased the prosperity of this hamlet. Crabs, shrimps, herrings, and other fish are caught by the fishermen in great quantities, and despatched to various markets. KESWICK, half a mile S. E. of Bacton Green, had a church standing in 1382, but no vestiges of it now remain. Here is a Baptist Chapel, erected in 1826; and on the beach is a station-house for a coast-guard, consisting of a commander and five men. The ruins of BROMHOLM PRIORY are near the west end of Keswick. This priory for Clugniac monks was founded by Wm. de Glanville, as a cell to Castleacre priory, in 1113, and dedicated to St. Andrew. A great source of profit to the monks here was a cross said to be made of the wood of that on which our Saviour suffered, "and possessed of such virtues that (according to Capgrave) seventeen persons were restored to sight by it." At the dissolution, this priory and its adjacent estate were granted to Thomas Wodehouse, and are now possessed by Lord Wodehouse. The building was chiefly of flint. A lofty pointed arch gateway is still entire; but the other walls now remaining are much decayed, and reduced in many places to the height of a few feet. In the following Directory, those marked 1, reside at Bacton; 2, Bacton Green; 3, Bromholm; 4, Kesswick; and 5, at the Wood.

- 1 Atkinson Rev. Henry, rector of Crostwight, Bacton grove
- 4 Cannon Jas. tailor & draper
- 1 Clarke Wm. blacksmith
- 3 Cotton Wm. vict. King's Arms
- Crostwell Wm. R.N. coast guard
- 2 Denham Stph. fishcurer & beerhs
- 1 Elmer James, gent.
- 1 Fauquier Rev. G. L. W., B.A., Vicarage
- 2 Gaze Mr. Thomas
- 4 Gee Daniel, bricklayer
- 2 Gotta John, bricklayer
- 3 Hewit Wm. surgeon
- 3 Maria Ann, grocer & draper
- 3 Maria Henry, saddler
- 1 Maria Thomas, gent.
- 4 Marshall Francis, boat owner
- 2 Marshall Jas. joiner, fish curer, and vict. Ship
- 2 Marshall John, joiner

- 3 Marshall John, baker
- 3 Mason Samuel, butcher
- 4 Nash Mr. Samuel
- 3 Pashley W. glazier, painter, &c
- 2 Sexton Robt. beer house
- 3 Sturges Wm. schoolmaster
- 4 Wiseman John, gent.
- 2 Wiseman Wm. R.N.

Boot and Shoe Makers.

- | | |
|-----------------------|----------------|
| 2 Cannon John | 3 Lacy Wm. |
| 3 Codling Elijah | 2 Manship J. C |
| FARMERS.—*are yeomen. | |
| 5 Appleton John | 1 Jeary John |
| 1* Colk John | 5 Neave Wm. |
| 3 Cubitt Ann | 2 Watts Jph. |
| 3* Cubitt Thos. | Wright Wm. |
| 3* Culley Roger | |

Benj. Cannon, Carrier & Postman to North Walsham, depts.
12 noon, and arr. 5 aft.

BARTON TURF is a parish and straggling village, 11 miles N. E. of Norwich, and 6 miles S. S. E. of North Walsham, comprising 391 inhabitants, and 1563 acres of land, of which 178a. are wood and water. The navigable river Ant opens out into an extensive lake or "broad" on the east side of the parish. The soil belongs to a number of proprietors, the largest of whom is Sir J. H. Preston, the lord of the manor, lessee of the tithes, and owner of Barton Hall, a large handsome brick mansion, seated on a pleasant eminence, but now unoccupied. The Corporation of Norwich have a small manor and estate here, called Berry Hall. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Michael, is a handsome structure, with a lofty tower and five bells, standing in the centre of the parish. The living is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5. 6s. 8d., but now having 27a. of glebe, and consolidated with Istead. The Bishop of Norwich is the patron and appropriator of the great tithes, and the Rev. John Gunn, M.A. is incumbent.

- Amos James, wherry owner
- Cadge Thos. corn miller & yeoman
- Dix Richard, grocer and draper

- Francis John, joiner
- Gilding James, shoemaker
- Gilding Robert, wheelwright

Staff Robert, shoemaker
 Tate James, gardener
 Walpole Robert, shoemaker
 Watts James, glazier and yeoman
 Webster Abraham, lime works

FARMERS—	* are year
Edrich Robert	Neave
Gilding James	Berry
Hall Henry	Starling
*Howes James	Storey
*Neckolds Hy	*Wells

BEESTON ST LAWRENCE, 10 miles N. E. of North Walsham, small parish with only 52 inhabitants, and 342 acres of land, belonging to Sir Jacob Henry Preston, Bart. the lord of the manor and patron of the church, who resides at Beeston Hall, a large three mansion of flint, with stone quoins, &c., and a beautiful park of 300 acres. This has long been the seat of the ancient family of Preston, who distinguished themselves as loyalists during the wars in the reign of Charles I. As a last tribute of affection to the unfortunate monarch, when upon the scaffold, presented Jackson, Esq., with an emerald ring, which is still preserved here. The church, dedicated to St. Lawrence, is a small ancient edifice with a round tower, but a great part of it was rebuilt by Sir Thomas Preston, who died in 1620. The east window is of glass, and over the altar is a picture of the last supper. Here are many handsome mural monuments to the Preston family. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6, was augmented in 1741, with half of which was the gift of Isaac Preston, Esq., and Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. George Preston is the incumbent. Directory—Sir J. H. Preston, Bart., and Lady Jane T. Beeston Hall, Henry Pratt, farm bailiff, and Benj. Cubitt.

BRADFIELD, a parish and dispersed village, 2 miles N. of North Walsham, contains 210 inhabitants, and 715 acres of which Lord Suffield is owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the church, which is dedicated to St. Giles, and is a rectory in K. B. at £3. 15s. 7½d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. G. Fauquier, B. A., but one moiety of the tithes belongs to Market. Here is an old Independent Chapel, under the care of the Rev. John Browne, of North Walsham. Dwellers—Messrs. Esther and Ann Cross, Jonas Walpole, farmer, and Barber, James Goulden, Francis Grimes, James Larnier, R. Hardson, and James Sewell farmers.

CROSTWIGHT parish, 4 miles E. of North Walsham, has 100 inhabitants, and 550 acres of rich loamy land, mostly the property of the late Sir Martin Shephard, Esq. of the manor and in the occupation of Martin Shephard, Esq. of the large old mansion, standing near the ruins of the ancient house, formerly occupied by a branch of the Walpole family. The heiress married an ancestor of Lord Cholmondeley, by whom the manor was sold about 30 years ago to its present owner, who is patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 6s. 8d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Henry Atkinson, with 10½ acres of glebe. The church, dedicated to All Saints, has a square tower with three stages. The ancient lords here were the families of Le Cross, John Payghton. The poor's land is let for 26s.

DILLHAM, a large dispersed village, nearly 5 miles S.E. of North Walsham, has in its parish 450 inhabitants, and 1510a. 2u. 33a. on the south-west side of the small but navigable river the Dill. The principal owners are W. H. Windham and S. T. Taylor, Esq.

former of whom is lord of the manor, (fine arbitrary,) and the latter resides at the Hall, a neat and pleasantly situated mansion. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Nicholas, was some years ago rebuilt of brick, and the round flint tower has recently been taken down, and reconstructed of the old materials. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5. 7s. 4d., has 7 acres of glebe, and is annexed to Honing, in the gift of the Bishop of Ely, and incumbency of the Rev. John Pearce. The rectorial tithes of both parishes, are appropriated to Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge. Dilham Stait, on the east side of the parish, is a hamlet on the navigation, partly in Smallburgh parish, and near it is Dilham Mill, with a large pool or dam of 15 acres, formed about 7 years ago.

Bates Benj. shoemaker
 Buffham Thomas, wheelwright
 Greenwood Thos. collector of tonnage dues
 Houghton Robt. shoemaker
 Mason Benjamin, saddler
 Mason Robert, corn miller
 Mattison Wm. maltster, ale, porter, and coal mert., lime burner, &c., Stait

Page Jno. painter, glazier, &c.
 Page Robert, butcher
 Rump Hewett, vict. Cross Keys
 Rump Wm. tailor and draper
 Smart Frederick, excise officer
 Taylor Shephard Thos. gent.
 Wells Wm. Harrison, corn miller

FARMERS.

Gower Geo.	Norfor Wm.
Nash Samuel	Waters Chas.

EDINGTHORPE, a parish of scattered houses, 3 miles N.E. by E. of North Walsham, contains 188 inhabitants, and 697A. 2R. 31P., belonging to several proprietors, but all lying in John Mack, Esqr.'s manors of Edingthorpe, Willoughbies, and Houchens, parts of which are subject to certain and the rest to arbitrary fines. The CHURCH, on an eminence, is dedicated to All Saints, and has a handsome Gothic screen. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 5s. 2d., is in the patronage of the King, as Duke of Lancaster, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Richard Adams, with 17A. 3R. 34P. of glebe, and a neat residence.—Directory :—Rev. R. Adams; John Juby, schoolmaster; John Larter, joiner; John Powley, shoemaker; Richard Richardson, shopkeeper; Wm. Steward, wheelwright and shopkeeper; and Ezra Barcham, John Bush, Adam Fuller, Dl. Gee, Rt. Paine, and Charles and John Turner, farmers.

FELMINGHAM is a straggling but pleasant village, 2 miles W. S.W. of North Walsham, comprising in its parish 394 inhabitants, and 1851A. 15P. of land, forming a well cultivated champaign district, with several neat houses occupied by the owners. Lord Suffield is proprietor of part of the soil, and is lord of Bryant's manor, or Rugg's Hall, (taken down in 1834;) but Miss Eliz. Seaman belongs to and occupies Felmingham Hall, and is lady of the manor of Felmingham Stubbs. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Andrew, was rebuilt of brick, in 1745, except the tower. The benefice is divided, three-fourths being a vicarage, (certified at £16,) in the patronage of the Bishop of Norwich, and incumbency of the Rev. W. H. Charlton; and one-fourth a rectory, in the gift of Miss Seaman, and incumbency of the Rev. Thos. C. Blofield, who preaches here once a month. The latter was augmented from 1714 to 1791, with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, vested in land at North Walsham. The vicarial glebe is 14A. The Bishop is appropriator of three-fourths of the rectorial tithes of the parish. At the enclosure, 30^{ac} were allotted to the poor from Bryant's Heath. In 1615, Wm. Gerard, bequeathed a yearly rent-charge of 14s. 4d., viz., 10s to the poor, 3s. 4d. for a sermon, and 1s. for the clerk.

Atkins Thomas, wheelwright
Bunn Ed & Canham Rt, shoemrs.
Coleby Rev. Geo M A
Cooper — shopkeeper
Dennis John, blacksmith
Dyball John, farmer and vict.
Hylton Richard, corn miller
Moyses Wm gardener
Seaman Miss Elizabeth, Hall
Sewell Mrs Mary

Slapp John, shoemaker

FARMERS.—* are yeomen.

Bond Jas.	*Hylton John
*Bunn Geo.	Neach Jas
Clarke Jas.	*Postle Mrs Ann
Cook John	Hoofe Robt (B
Goulder Robt	shopkr)
Hall Thos.	Rush John
Hays John	Wilde Wm.
*Hayn Wm

HONING, a small village and parish, on the east side of the canal, nearly 1 mile S. E. of North Walsham, has 307 inhabitants, 1000^{ac} of enclosed land, and about 300^{ac} of wood, heath, and common. The principal owner and lord of the manor, is Edward Cubitt, Esq., of Honing Hall, a large modern mansion of brick, with a richly wooded lawn. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, was re-built about 50 years ago, except the tower, and has several mural tablets to the Cubitt family. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £4. 13s. 4d., has 11^{ac} of glebe, and is consolidated with Dilham, being in the same patronage, incumbency, and appropriation. The poor have the interest of £16, arising from the sale of a house and land, left by John Goble. The yearly sum of £32, from land left by John Baxter and John Husland, is expended in repairing the church, relieving poor, and educating poor children.

Algar James, schoolmaster
Brown William, grocer & beerha.
Bulley Beckenham, blacksmith
Croxtin Thomas, shoemaker
Cubitt Edw. Esq., Honing Hall
Gaze John, joiner & wheelwright
Gaze and Son, auctioneers
Harmer Sarah, vict., White Swan
Ladell Rd shoemaker & grocer

Martins John, nurseryman & vict.
Gardeners' Arms

Waters and Hall, blacksmiths
Youngman Thomas, corn miller

FARMERS.—* are yeomen.

*Bushman Rt.	Watson Thos.
Bushmore Rd.	Watts Edward
*Gedge Richd.	Youngman Rd.
Grimmer Robt.

HORNING, 9 miles N. E. of Norwich, is a large straggling village and parish, with 408 inhabitants, 951^{ac} 3^{ar} 17^p of arable land, and 1571^{ac} 3^{ar} 23^p of fertile marshes and meadows, lying between the navigable rivers, Bure and Ant. Over the former is a ferry to Woodbaston. The lower parts of the valleys are often covered with water. The Bishop of Norwich owns a great part of the soil, and is lord of the manor, appropriator of the great tithes, and patron of the church, but the tithes are leased to Mr. Charles Grymes, who has a large estate and neat mans on here, embowered in wood. The village is in two divisions, called Upper and Lower Streets, and has several neat houses; and on the Bure are commodious staiths or wharfs. A fair is held here on the first Thursday in July. The celebrated ABBEY OF ST. BENNET'S AT HOLM, stood in this parish, on the north side of the Bure, in a fenney place called Cowholm, where there had previously been a Hermitage. It was founded by King Canute, in 1020, for black monks of the order of St. Benedict, who fortified it so strongly, that it resembled a castle more than a cloister, and held out against the attacks of the Norman Conqueror, till betrayed by one of the monks, who was induced to this treachery by a promise of being made abbot, which was done; but immediately after receiving the mitre, he was hanged as a traitor. The ample endowments and privileges first granted to this mitred abbey, were greatly increased by Edward the Conqueror, the Empress Maud, and other royal benefactors. According to Speed, they were valued in the 26th of Henry VIII. at £677. 9s. 8d. In the following year, William Rugge or Reppes, the abbot, who had been a powerful instrument in aiding the lascivious propensities of Henry, was translated by that monarch to the See of Norwich, together with the revenues of the abbey, Henry having appropriated to himself those of the bishopric, by an agreement with the preceding bishop, Richard Nix, who died in the tower, January 14th, 1535; but the new bishop being bound to provide for the prior and twelve monks, was unable to maintain his state and dignity, and obtained leave to retire with a pension of 200 marks. The abbacy is still annexed to the bishopric, but no monks were appointed after the death of those on the foundation when the revenues were alienated. All the abbots had a seat in the House of Lords; consequently, the present bishop has a double claim to his seat there; and he is the only abbot in England, being styled in legal documents "Bishop of Norwich and Abbot of St. Benedict," or St. Bennet's at Holm. The walls which surrounded the abbey, enclosed an area of 36 acres, defended on the south by the river Bure, and on the other sides by a deep fosse. Part of their foundations may still be traced; but the walls of the once stately abbey are no more, except the chapel converted into a barn, and part of the magnificent gateway, now partially obscured by a draining mill erected over it. The abbots had their grange, or country seat, at Ludham Hall. The abbey church was a large cruciform structure, with a round tower in the centre, surmounted by a small spire. The present parish CHURCH, dedicated to St. Benedict, stands on an eminence, and has a tall square tower, with one bell. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £8, was augmented from 1729 to '93, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty, vested in 31a. of land, at Stokesby, Acle, and Newton-Flotman; besides which, it has 6a. 2p. of old glebe. The bishop is patron, and the Rev. Charles Carver is the present incumbent, and built a new vicarage-house about 14 years ago. At the enclosure, in 1807, 30a. 1r. 33p. of land were allotted to the poor for fuel, and 5a. 1r. 22p. for the reparation of the church. The poor have also a yearly rent charge of 5s., left by Daniel Morley, in 1727.

Carver Rev. Chas. M.A., Vicarg.
Colman Philip, tailor
Cook Chs. & Clt. wherry owners
Cook Mordecai, grocer & draper
Crowe Robt. vict. Horning Ferry
Forster Francis, vict. Swan
Grapes William, vict. Chequers
Green John, blacksmith

Grymes Charles, gentleman
Heath Thomas, gentleman
Jay William, yeoman, (Hall)
King Robert, corn miller
Obce Robert, joiner
Prior Henry, beer seller
Spanton Benjamin, blacksmith
Whaites Mary, schoolmistress

Wright Fenn, farmer
Wright Francis, boat builder
Wright Robert, shopkeeper

Shoemakers,	Gryme John
Bowen John	Harvey Thomas
Curme Henry	* Ling Edward
Carrier to Norwich, John Elgood, Saturday.

HOVETON ST. JOHN, $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.E. by N. of Norwich, is a village and parish, with 293 inhabitants, and 1514a. 2n. 12r of land, including a lake or "broad" of 133 acres, through which runs the river Bure. The Rev T. C. Blofield is owner of the soil, lessee of the tithes, and lord of the manor. His residence is Hoveton House, a handsome brick mansion, with Grecian pilasters, and an extensive lawn overlooking the Bure. The Church stands on an acclivity about half a mile east of the village, and has a brick tower, built in 1765. The benefice is a curacy, certified at £17, and consolidated with Hoveton St. Peter, in the incumbency of the Rev T. C. Blofield. The Bishop of Norwich is the patron, and also appropriator of the great tithes of both parishes. The poor have two yearly rent-charges, viz., 10s. left by Daniel Morley, in 1727, and 5s. by Edm. Topcliff, in 1671.

Blofield Rev. Thos. Calthorpe,
M.A., Hoveton House
Cadge Michael, corn miller
Cran Joseph, grocer
Fox John, bricklayer & beer br.
Hall John, wheelwright & English timber dealer
Miles Wm. shopkeeper

Piggin Robert, blacksmith
Pitcher Jas. vict. King's Head
Platton Wm. shoemaker

FARMERS.

Besford —	Pell Edmund
Chamberlin Mt.	Platten Geo.
Curtis Thos.	Platten John.
Littlewood Jno.	Utting Chas.

HOVETON ST. PETER, 9 miles N.E. by N. of Norwich, is a small parish of dispersed houses, with 129 inhabitants, and 945 acres of land. Mrs C. Burroughes is sole proprietor, lessee of the tithes under the Bishop, and resides at Hoveton Hall, a white brick mansion, with a well-wooded and extensive park, in the vale of a small river at which flows southward to the Bure, and divides this from Neatishead parish, in which the hall is situated. The Church stands on the south-west side of the park, and is a vicarage, consolidated with Hoveton St. John. It contains several handsome monuments of the Aufrere family, and was rebuilt of brick in 1624. Anthony Aufrere, Esq., who sold this estate to Mrs Burroughes, is author of a "Translation of Salis's Travels through various Provinces of Naples," (1795;) also of "A Warning to Britons, against French perfidy," from the German, 12mo., 1798.—Directory—Mrs. Christiana Burroughes, Hoveton Hall, Mrs. Sarah Goulder; Chas. Short, gardener; and Samuel Burton, Robt. Goulder, and Trevett Hunt, farmers.

TUNSTEAD, a parish and straggling village, 11 miles N.E. of Norwich, has 169 inhabitants, and 1019a. 3n. 38r of land, including a broad of 114 acres in the river Ant, and 18a. 1r. 3r in the Neatishead broad. Sir J. H. Preston, Bart., owns the greater part of the soil, and is lord of the manor, which in Domesday Book, is called Orsteadu, and was formerly held by the Glyn and Horner families, the latter of whom sold it to the late Sir T. Preston. The Church, dedicated to St. Michael, is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d., but now having 12A. of glebe, and consolidated with Barton-Turf, in the gift of the Bishop, and incumbency of the Rev. John Gunn, whose predecessor, Rev. Wm. Gunn, was author of "An Inquiry into the Origin and Influence of Gothic Architecture," (8vo. 1819;) and published a new edition of "Historia Brittonum," edited in the tenth century by Mark, the Hermit, with notes and illustrations. Henry Headley, a very elegant poet and critic, and son of a late rector, was born here in 1766, but died in 1788, in his 22nd year. At the enclosure, in 1815, 39A. 2R. 16P. of heath was allotted to the poor for fuel.—Directory:—Joseph Bending, gent.; Wm. Bloom and Robt. Edrich, yeomen; Rev. John Gunn, A.M., Chaplain to the Duke of Sussex, Rectory; and Robt. Smith, farmer, Irstead Hall.

NEATISHEAD, written in Domesday-Book Snatesherd, is a large village and parish, containing 646 inhabitants, and about 1600 acres of land. This manor was given by Canute, the Dane, to his Abbey of St. Bennet's at Holm, so that the Bishop of Norwich is now patron of the church, impropriator of the great tithes, and lord of the manor; but a great part of the soil belongs to his lessee, Sir J. H. Preston; besides whom here are several smaller proprietors. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter, is a small edifice with a belfry, being only the chancel of the original building, which was extensive, and had a lofty tower and spire of the age of Edward IV. Over the present west door are some remains of rich tabernacle work, which originally decorated a monument of one of the Cubitt family. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £3. 13s. 1½d., has 19A. 1R. 3P. of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. John Heaton Champion De Crespigny. At the enclosure, in 1818, 35 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel, and are now let for £15 a-year. The poor have also 7 cottages and a lot of old poor's land, let for £20.

Allcocks Eliz. grocer
Ballad Thomas, tailor
Barnham Geo. grocer, draper, & ironmonger
Bond Wm. bricklayer & beer hs.
Bowles John, saddler, grocer, &c.
Dix Rev. Thos. B.A. curate
Hammond Wm. corn miller
Mitchell Cubitt, schoolmaster
Morton Ann, grocer and draper
Pebbles Thomas, joiner
Remmends Mr. John
Savage Thomas, butcher
Smith Saml. tailor & post office
Spanton Hy. glazier, painter, &c.
Spanton Jno. & Hph. blacksmiths
Sporles Wm. cabinet maker
Watts Robt. vict. White Horse

FARMERS.—* are yeomen.

* Bayes Henry	Mallett Joshua
Clowes John	Parr Thomas
Cubitt Charles	* Riches Wm.
Howard Benj

Shoemakers.

Banham John	Jones John
Cattle Robert	Lodge Robt.
Grimes Benj.	Meek Wm.

The Postman from Statham to Coltishall, calls at Saml. Smith's, $\frac{1}{4}$ past 9 mng., and returns $\frac{1}{4}$ past 12 noon.

Carriers to Norwich, Luke Howard, Sat., and Saml. Smith, Wed. & Sat. 6 mng.

Sutton & Catfield Carriers call at the White Horse.

PASTON, a dispersed village and parish, on the coast, 4 mile^s N.E. by N. of North Walsham, has 286 inhabitants, and about 1300 acres of land, mostly belonging to John Mack, Esq., the impropriator of the great tithes, and 1 more of Paston.

Leeches, Latimers, and Huntingfields; but Wm Custance, Esq., has a small manor here, called Paston-Sacre. Mr. Mack resides in the Hall, a neat mansion of white brick, embowered in plantations, and erected some years ago near the old one, which was long the seat of the Paston family, who possessed large estates in various parts of this county, and after being raised to the peerage, had their principal seat at Oxnead. From them this estate passed to the first Lord Anson, whose present representative sold it in 1824. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, stands near the hall, and contains several handsome monuments to the Pastons; one of them has a recumbent effigy of Lady Katherine Paston, wife of Sir Edmund Paston, beautifully executed in 1629, by Nathaniel Stone, at the cost of £340. The benefice is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and augmented with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1774 and '89. It has 4a. of glebe. J. Mack, Esq., is the patron, and the Rev F. E. Arden is incumbent. The poor have £10 a-year from 8a. of land, bequeathed by Sir Wm. Paston, in 1620. Stow Hill, $\frac{1}{2}$ of a mile W. of the village, is a lofty ridge which divides this from Mundesley parish, and about half a mile to the S. E. is the hamlet of Paston Green and Austin's Bridge.—Directory.—John James Buttle, coal and lime merchant and vict., Austin's Bridge, Thomas Gaze, jun., corn miller, Stow-hill. Edw. Larter, blacksmith. John Mack, Esq., Paston Hall, Henry Potter, farmer; Thomas Sedley, corn miller, James Thompson, shoemaker; and James Gaze, (Stow-hill.) Thomas Gaze, John Girling, John Kirk, Thos. Purdy, (the Green,) and Richard Watts, farmers.—Messrs. Gaze and Purdy are land owners.

RIDLINGTON, a village and parish, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of North Walsham, has 205 inhabitants, and about 600 acres, the greater part of which belongs to Martin Shephard, Esq. About 80 acres are titheable to Walcot, and a small portion of the latter pays tithes to this parish. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, has on its square tower figures of the four Evangelists, which serve as pinnacles. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £1. 6s. 8d., is consolidated with East Ruston, in the alternate patronage of Lord and Lady Wodehouse and the Dean and Canons of Windsor. The Rev. G. J. Aufrere is the incumbent, and has an estate and neat mansion here.—Directory.—Rev. Geo. John Aufrere; Roberson Banver, blacksmith; Wm. Crowe, shoemaker; Thomas Green, tailor and vict. Plough; Eliza Self, grocer; Joseph Self, cabinet maker; and Ruben Bacon, Robert Colk, Robert Cubitt, Robt. Howes, and Samuel Nash, jun., farmers.

SCO-RUSTON, a small village and parish, nearly 5 miles S. of North Walsham, has 105 inhabitants, and about 460 acres of land, mostly belonging to Sir T. H. E. Durrant and Thomas Mack, Esq.; but Thomas Wells has a neat house and small estate near the Church, a small ancient structure, with a nave, chancel, and bell-tower, dated 1530, but it was formerly larger, and had a tower, of which there are still some ivy mantled ruins. It is a curacy, consolidated with Tunstead, in the gift of T. Mack, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Abm. Forster, of Yarmouth. R. Johnson, Esq., of Tunstead, is impropriator of the corn tithes. The poor have 50a. from 1a. 3s. 8p. of land, allotted at the enclosure.—Directory:

Cass, Barton and Matthew Timbers, shoemakers; Benj. Dells and David Wiseman, farmers, and Thomas Wells, maltster

STOLEY is a small parish, with a scattered village of humble dwellings, 5 miles S. of North Walsham. It has 267 inhabitants, and about 620 acres of land, chiefly the property of the Rev. Benj. Cubitt, of Stoley House, a neat mansion of white brick, seated on a gentle declivity, half a mile S.W. of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Bartholomew, and has a tower with three bells. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £5 6s. 8d., is in the patronage of the Earl of Oxford, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Gunn, with 10a. of glebe at Honing. At the enclosure, about the year 1812, 16a. 2s. 15r. of land was allotted to the poor, who have also the rent of 4a. and two cottages, left by John Ketteringham, in 1654. Directory—Rev. Benjamin Cubitt, John Ames, shopkeeper; Simon August, blacksmith; Zach. Burrell, mole catcher; John Cobb, wheelwright; John Cole, shoemaker; John Parry, vict., Maid's Head; John Shepherd, yeoman; and Elizabeth August, John Kerrison, James Mapes, Wm. Postle, Robt. Reynolds, Wm. Smith and James Steward, farmers.

SMALLBURGH, 5½ miles S.E. by S. of North Walsham, and 12 miles N.E. by N. of Norwich, is a small village and parish, with 1200 acres, and 699 inhabitants, including the inmates of the large House of Industry, erected here in 1787, for 41 incorporated parishes, as noticed at page 539. The principal land owners are W. H. Windham, and J. Postle, sen. and jun. Esqs.; the Rev. Wm. Gunn, and Sir J. H. Preston; the latter of whom is lord of the manor, in which the copyholders pay fines certain. Smallburgh Hall (an old mansion) is the seat of J. Postle, sen.; and Holly House, a modern mansion of white brick, is the residence of J. Postle, jun. The Rev W. Gunn, an active magistrate, has also an ancient seat here. Nearly a mile east of the village, is Wayford Bridge, across the river Ant, near which there is supposed to have been a Roman station. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a neat, well-pewed structure, with a belfry; but it formerly had a lofty tower, which fell down in 1677, when two of the bells were sold. In Edward the Fourth's time it was 42 paces long, and 18 broad, and had a fine picture of Edward the Confessor, in his regalia. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £10. 4s., is in the gift of the Bishop of Norwich, and incumbency of the Rev. Charles Pearce. The glebe is about 25a., and the church land is let for £18 a-year. The poor have an allotment on which they cut turf and rushes. For House of Industry and Petty Sessions, see p. 540.

Baldwin Wm. tailor and draper
Barber Thomas, grocer
Brookes Cpr. & Long G. shoemks.
Clipperton John, blacksmith
Dix John, surgeon
Gunn Rev. William
Howes John, sen. & jun. wheelsts.
Ireland John, grocer & draper
Leatherdale Rev. John, curate,
Rectory.
Long Mary, free school
Mace John, joiner & vict. Crown

Neave Edm. blksm. and farrier
Postle John, sen. Esq. (Hall)
Postle John jun. Esq., Holly Hs.
Pratt Robt. tailor
Pratt Thomas, joiner
Saul Rl. beerha. Wayford Bridge
Smith Washington, governor of the House of Industry
Trory Richard, shoemaker
Walker Mrs. farmer
Carrier to Norwich, Rich. Amiss,
Wed and Sat. 4 morning

SWAFIELD, a parish and small village, on the north side of the canal, between two sources of the river Ant, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile N of North Walsham, has 155 inhabitants, and about 500 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, some of whom have neat houses here. About 200 acres belong to the "Clergymen's Widows' Fund." The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, stands on a lofty eminence above the Ant, commanding a fine prospect of the adjacent country. It has an embattled tower, and some remains of a beautiful screen. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6, is in the patronage of the King as Duke of Lancaster. The Rev John Colman is incumbent. The church land is $2\frac{1}{4}$ acres, but here is no glebe.

Barber John, butcher
 Bidwell Thomas, Esq.
 Blake Capt. Robert
 Bond Jane, schoolmistress
 Bowman Jonth. shoemaker
 Christopher Daniel, farmer
 Cork James, wheelwright
 Dolphin Mrs. M., & Lyall Mrs. M.
 Kemp Thos. Benj. gent.

Lambert Edward, grocer
 Powell Wm. blacksmith
 Primrose Wm. coal merct. Canal warehouse; h. Trunch
 Sharpe James, surgeon
 Slapp John, vict. Duke's Head
 Steward J & Waterson J. farmers
 Woolsey Benj. Postle, corn miller and merchant

TUNSTEAD, the parish which gives name to this hundred, is a district of scattered houses, with 498 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, 10 miles N. N. E. of Norwich, and 6 miles S. by E. of North Walsham. The soil belongs chiefly to Sir T. H. E. Durrant, and Messrs. T. and J. Mack, R. Johnson, and J. Postle. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, stands at the cross roads, nearly in the centre of the parish. It is a large Gothic structure, with a lofty embattled tower, containing five bells. The roof is supported by lofty pillars and pointed arches, and the screen is beautiful, having 16 figures of saints and apostles in its lower compartments. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £18. 9s. 7d., has 6a. of glebe, and is consolidated with Sco-Huston. The Rev. A. Forster, of Yarmouth, is incumbent, and Thomas Mack, Esq., the lord of the manor is the patron and impropriator, but most of the great tithes are sold or leased to the landowners. At the enclosure, in 1814, eight acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let for £10, distributed in coals. The old poor's land was let in 1786, for £2. 7s. per annum.

Bambridge Robert, wheelwright
 Garrard James, joiner
 Grimes Thomas, shopkeeper
 Hall Martin, corn miller
 Mack John, gentleman
 Mack Thomas, Esq.
 Mack Rev. Thomas, curate
 Sharpe Thos. tailor & shopkeeper
 Smith Jph. blacksmith & shopkpr.
 Spanton Wilham, blacksmith
 Watts Richard, cattle dealer
 Watts Wm. vict. Horse & Groom

Farmers—*are	Partridge Rbt.
Yeomen.	Purdy George
Bailey Henry	Shoemakers.
*Case Henry	Sims Richard
Haven Wm.	Tooley William
*Johnson R. & L.	Tortoise Wm.
Mack John, jun.

Robert Watts, carrier from Witton to Norwich, calls at the Horse and Groom every Friday, at 2 aft. and returns Saturday, 5 evening.

NORTH WALSHAM is a pleasant, but irregularly built market town, on a commanding eminence, with a declivity descending north-river Ant, and distant 15 miles N. by E. of Norwich, 25 by N. of Yarmouth, and 123 miles N. E. by N. of it consists chiefly of three streets, forming an irregular town, intersected by a few cross lanes, &c.; but during the last years, many neat houses have been erected in the suburbs, on the borders of Norwich, Antingham, &c.; and some of the old houses have been rebuilt with handsome fronts. The principal street contains a number of well stocked shops, which supply the surrounding villages for a considerable distance. The Market-place is convenient, but wants the luxury of flagged causeways. It is marked by a Cross, built by Bishop Thirlby, in the reign of Edward VI. repaired in 1600 by Bishop Redman, whose arms, with those of the town, are impaled on it. The market, held every Thursday, commences before 4 in the afternoon in winter, and 6 o'clock in summer; but still much business is done in corn; butter, poultry, &c., find a ready sale at the shops and private houses without being exposed in the market. A fair for horses, &c., is held on the eve and day of the Ascension, (Holy Thursday) and Hiring Sessions for servants on the three Thursdays before Michaelmas. The river ANT, (see p. 539.) which passes within a short distance of the town, is navigable to Yarmouth, &c.; but the tonnage dues being very expensive, coals and other articles are brought here by land carriage direct from the coast near Bacton, a distance of five miles. The PARISH of North Walsham is very extensive, comprising 4163A. 23P. of land, extending westward to the bounds of Suffield, and east to the river Ant. It has increased its population, since 1801, from 1959 to 2615 souls. The Blue-Bell, White-Bell, and Spa Commons, are from one to two miles north-east of the town, and were enclosed about 1820, since which many scattered cottages have been erected on them; and on the two latter commons extensive water mills of Ebridge and Bacton-Wood, on the river. The Bishop of Norwich is lord of the manor, and appropriates the rectorial tithes, now leased to Martin Shephard, Esq. The principal land owners are Lord Suffield, Sir J. H. Preston, Sir J. H. Hammond, Esq., Jack Petre, Esq., the Rev. W. F. Tylney, and the Rev. Wm. Tylney Spurdens, L.L.B.; the latter has a neat residence with large gardens and shrubberies, called Oaks, on the south-east side of the town, near which is the seat of B. C. Siely, solicitor. North Walsham suffered considerably in 1381. when a body of rebels, under John Litester, a dyer of Norwich, were defeated on the heath by Bishop Spencer, as noticed at page 72. After their defeat on the heath, the rebels retreated to the town, where they were finally overthrown by the troops of the warlike prelate, and the destruction of the church and other buildings, in which they defended themselves. On the Norwich road, about a mile S. of the town, stands a lofty stone Cross, erected on the heath in commemoration of the Bishop's victory over the rebels, of whom it is said by 40,000 were slain. On June 25th, 1600, the town was destroyed by an accidental FIRE, which consumed no fewer than 100 houses, with about 500 barns, stables, malthouses, warehouses, and other outbuildings,—the damage being upwards of £20,000.

The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, was rebuilt soon after its destruction in the rebellion of 1381, and is a noble structure, though it has no cleristery windows; and its massive tower, which was 147 feet high, has been in ruins since May 16th, 1721, when a great part of it fell down. Another large portion of the ruined tower fell on April 26th, 1835, leaving the remaining fragments of the walls in such a dangerous state, that it is hoped they will ere long be removed, and the tower rebuilt. The church is about 156 feet long, and 64 broad, having a nave, chancel, and side aisles, continued in the same style and dimensions from end to end, with a fine south porch of flint and stone, decorated with a variety of boldly sculptured ornaments, among which are the arms of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster and of the Abbot of St. Bennet's, at the Holm. The aisles are separated from the body by very elegantly formed arches, supported by light clustered columns, so lofty as not to admit of a cleristery above them. In the great east window were the arms of the See and Bishop Frenke, beautifully portrayed in stained glass, which was destroyed by a storm, in 1809. On the north side of the chancel is a fine tomb, with the effigy of Sir William Paston, Knt., who, in 1607, agreed with John Key, a freemason of London, to erect and fit up his tomb, with his effigy in armour, five feet and a half long, for which he was to be paid £200. Sir William died in the following year. He founded the free school, and left £10 a year for a weekly lecture in the church. The font is beautiful, being enclosed by an elegant octagonal railing, and covered by a lofty piece of superb tabernacle work, rising in a succession of arches, balustrades, and pinnacles, in four distinct tiers, terminated by a floral finial. The benefice is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5. The Bishop of Norwich, as Abbot of St. Benedict, is the patron, and the Rev. W. F. Wilkinson, M. A., is the incumbent. The Quakers, the Wesleyans and Primitive Methodists, and the Independents, have each a chapel here, and the latter are under the ministry of the Rev. Jas. Browne. The GRAMMAR SCHOOL was founded in 1605, by Sir William Paston, who endowed it with 120 acres of land, at Horsey, and the rectorial tithes of that parish, and the advowson of its vicarage, for the education of 40 boys, free of expense, in the rules of grammar and the Latin tongue. The tithes have been exchanged for 117 acres of land, and the present rental of the estate is £277 13s. 8d. The free scholars are to be children of such parishioners as are resident within the hundreds of North Erpingham, Tunstead, and East and West Flegg, and they are admitted by an order signed by three of the trustees. The school, which has a fine lawn in front, was rebuilt in 1765. The late Lord Nelson; Warton, the author of "Anglia Sacra;" Sir William Hoste; Archbishop Tension, and many other distinguished worthies, were educated here. Several lots of Poor's Land, &c., bequeathed to this parish by eight different donors, from 1681 to 1736, were let in 1786, for upwards of £15 per annum. At the enclosure, an allotment of 35 acres, on the White-horse Common, was awarded to the poor, and is now let for £30 a year, distributed in coals. The Workhouse was erected in 1786, at the cost of £1,100, of which £400 was raised by the sale of the old premises. It is a commodious building, standing upon an acre of land, which was purchased with poor's money, in 1778. The rack rental of the parish is £3631, and the assessed rental £4591, on which three poor rates at 2s. and one at 2s. 6d. in the pound, were collected in 1834. The Savings' Bank established in 1830, has deposits amounting to nearly £10,000, belonging to about 250 individuals, and two Benefit Societies. Petty Sessions are held at the King's Arms every Thursday, at 11 morning. Mr. Philip Millard is clerk to the magistrates. The principal place of amusement here is the Theatre, erected in 1820, by Mr. Charles Fisher, the manager, who opens it for a few weeks in every alternate year. It is a convenient house, and will hold about £55 at the usual prices of admission.

The Post Office is at Wm. Pope's, Market place, where letters arrive every day at $\frac{1}{2}$ before 12 noon, and are despatched at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 2 afternoon.

In the following Directory of North Walsham, those marked 1, reside in Antingham road; 2, Ayleham road; 3, Blue Bell Common; 4, Chapel street; 5, Church alley or street; 6, Cock street; 7, Free School road; 8, Hall lane; 9, Hollgate; 10, Low street; 11, Longgate Common; 12, Market place or street; 13, Marv's lane; 14, Norwich road; 15, Swafeld road; 16, Spa Common; 17, White Horse Common; and 18, Yarmouth road.

17 Barcham Mrs. Elizabeth
Bartram Mrs. Mary, Bull corner
Boyer Mr. William, Church alley
Browne Rev. Jas. (Ind.) Chapel st.
Bullen Mr. Thomas, Hall lane
Burr Mrs. Mary, Norwich road
Burton Wm. cattle dlr. Norwich rd.
Collins Miss, Cock street
Cooke Miss Susanna, Antingham rd.
7 Crump Rev. Wm. (Meth. min.)
Deyas John, conveyancer and land agent, Market-place; h
Blue Bell common
Dye Jas. gent. Free School road
Empeon Rt. fishmonger, Church st.
14 Fisher Michael Ephm. dyer
Foster Mrs. Sarah, Angel street
Frery Mrs. Eliz. Norwich road
16 Freeman Jas. boat builder
Gardener Mrs. Antingham road
Garner Saml. farmer, Low street
3 Gottersham Samuel, gentleman
Hall John, cattle dealer, Low st.
Hall Thomas, gent. Yarmouth rd.
Hubbard Mr. Spn. Market place
Husen Mrs. Mary, Free School rd.
Hylton Miss Kerph. Low st.
Lacey Mrs. White Horse common
1 Ladbrooke Henry, artist
Legood James, gent. Chapel t.
Le Neve Mrs. Norwich road
Le Neve Mr. Wm. Low street
Lownd Mrs. Eleanor, Low st.

15 Mayes Ambrose, govr. Workha
Margeson Jph. gent. Swafeld rd
13 Moneiment Mrs. Martha
5 Mower John Thomas, organist
Nash Thomas, gent. Murkle Hill
12 Paine Chas. & Jas. grocers
Pearson Mrs. Low street
Powell Mrs. Mary A. Yarmouth t.
Rayner Miss Elis. Low street
Rees Rev. Wm & St. John Sch. m.
10 Richardson Isaac, musician
Rising Mrs. Ayleham road
Scott Wm. gent. Norwich road
4 Shephard Martin James, Esq.
7 Shipley Wm. veterinary surgeon
Spurdens Rev. W. Tylney, L. L. &
The Oaks

7 Stranham Mrs. Mary
Taylor Mrs. Ann, Chapel road
Trivett Mr. Edward Murkle Hill
Trollop Mr. William. Low
Varden Mrs. Mtda. Antingham
Vale Hy. gent. White Horse
Wenn Rd. coal mstr. Swafeld
Wain Wharf, & Swafeld
Wigg John, Swafeld
Wilkinson Rev. W. Swafeld
12 Williams Swafeld
1 Withers Swafeld
12 Wright Swafeld
Yarrow Wm. Swafeld
Youngman Swafeld

BANKERS.

Gurneys, Birkbeck, & Co., Church street, (and Norwich,) Robt. Baker, agent.

Lacon, Youell, & Co. Market place, (4 Farmouth,) Wm. Colk, agent.

Savings' Bank, Market place, open, Monday from 12 to 1; Wm. Colk, actuary.

FIRE & LIFE OFFICE AGTS.

5 Atlas (Life,) John Woodrow

12 Atlas (Fire,) & Clerical, Medical, and General (Life,) James Wright.

12 Crown (Life) Nichs. C. Bacon
Norwich Equitable, Paine and Cubitt, Market place

Norwich Union, Robert Baker, Church street; and George Wilkinson, Low street.

Phoenix Fire and Pelican Life, Php. Miliard, Market street.

Suffolk and General County, Saml. Sadler, Market place.

INNS AND TIERL-HOUSES.

Angel, Sarah Plumbly, Angel st.

12 Bear, Benjamin Barrotte

12 Black Swan, Thomas Bensley

3 Blue Bell, John Pilgrim

Buck, Cook Willer, Church st.

Cock, Thomas Hasdell, Cock st.

12 Cross Keys Inn, Thos. Pilch

Dog, John Willmot, Church st.

12 Feathers, Thomas Legood

12 King's Arms Inn, Jno. Sharpe

12 Lord Nelson, Wm. Cooper

12 Maid's Head, Edward Hall

17 White Horse, Samuel Basley

12 White Lion, Edw. Dunning

White Swan, W. Thain, Church st.

Academies. 13* Webster Jph.

* take boarders. Attorneys

4 Browne Rev. J. 14 Coleby Chas.

* Clements Amy 5 Maitland Chs.

14 Coils Alfred 12 Miliard Php.

7 Crickmore J. 12 Sadler Saml.

* Gramr. School, Siesley Benj. C.

Revs. W. & S. Beech Grove.

Rees 10 Wilkinson G.

12 Pope Mary A. Auctioneers.

1* Saul Sarah 13 Pope John

12 Wright Jas.

Bakers, &c.

12 Dyball Robt.

12 Love Wm.

10 Pitcher Wm.

12 Rye Rowland

4 White Tmy. &

James

Beer Houses.

4 Clarke James

16 Loads Joseph

8 Mills John

Pashley William

Ship yard

6 Sidney James

5 Sparks Rbt. S.

10 Worts James

Blacksmiths.

8 Cook George

12 Davidson J.

13 Everson Ths.

1 Powell John

17 Walpole Jno.

8 White John

Booksellers

12 Blyth Saml. H.

12 Plumbly Jno.

Boot and Shoe

Makers.

12 Abbs James

4 Bailey Edw.

15 Barber Jas.

8 Doughty Wm.

15 Farman Wm.

1 Green Isaac

6 Kennel Edw.

8 Lee William

12 Martin Josiab

5 Martin John

5 Mower Wm.

12 Saunders C.

10 Sewell Saml.

10 Spice Thos.

12 Steward Chs.

4 Stygall Benj.

12 Tops John

8 Walpole Rd.

12 Warner John

12 Willer Geo.

12 Willmot Rt.

Brewers & Mills

6 Coik William

10 Pilgrim Rd.

(& Watch hill)

Bricklayers.

6 Dobbs Daniel

10 Dobbs James

4 Dobbs Wm.

15 Easto Wm.

17 Hannant Jas.

8 Wilson Wm.

Brickmakers.

16 Fox Jonathan

1 Frost William

Butchers.

12 Blade Jerh.

12 Cross Wm.

12 Doughty Jas.

12 Dyball John

4 Lane Edm. A.

10 Le Neve Edm.

12 Mann Edm.

15 Ward Bayes

Cabinet Makers.

1 Hewitt Wm.

12 Lacey Rd. G.

4 Mace John

5 Mace Joseph

15 Randell Wm.

(& turner)

Chemists and Druggists.

12 Blyth Saml. H.

12 Sadler Richd.

China, &c. Drs.

12 Johnson Wm.

12 Sadler Richd.

Coal & Corn Mls.

16 Cubitt Geo.

1 Wenn Richd.

4 Willmot Rbt.

Confectioners.

12 Birt Jph. Fk.

5 Carter Thos.

1 Cooper Jph.

12 Gee William

12 Scott Eliz.

12 White Tmthy.

Coopers.

14 England Stp.

10 Pilgrim Rd.

Corn Millers.

14 Ewing Thos.

Partridge Wm.

1 Ringwood Wm.	1 • Hewitt E. V.	17 Coleby John
7 Steward John	4 Humphrey L.	1 Gibson Charles
Glovers, &c	12 Toppe Sophia	5 Prentice John
21 Bunton John	12 Walter Maria	Tinkers & Dyers
12 Steward Rt.	12 Woolley T.	13 Bond John
Grocers & Dyers	Painters Plum.	12 Chamberlin J.
• Grocers only	bers & Glaziers	1 Hale Daniel
5 Baker Robert	Earl William,	4 Dytall John
12 Chamberlin	Angel street	Dye Edward
John	12 Hall Thomas	4 Dye Jeremiah
5 De Benne Elia.	12 Hale William	12 Johnson Wm
5 Harvey Henry	15 Marcham Rd.	4 Jones Thomas
4 Humphrey Jno.	12 Sewell Saml.	14 Steery J. H.
Paine & Cubitt	4 Waller John	12 Troup Geo.
Market place	Saddlers, &c	12 Walter Joseph
12 Sewell & Ballis	14 Buston Wm	Veterary Surgeon
(& chandlers)	12 Clipperton W.	Shugiey William,
10 Sewell Saml.	(& rope mkr)	Freshford Road
5 • Simpson Jph.	12 Clipperton	Watch Makers
5 Woodrow Jno.	William jun.	10 Fox Jonathan
Gun Makers, &c	5 Simpson Jph.	12 Hart Josiah
12 Buck James	Seed Merchant	12 Juler George
5 Morter Wm.	12 Mayer Edw.	12 Pugh Robert
Hair Dressers,	Sheriff's Officers	10 Wright Robt.
12 Riches John	4 Dye Jeremiah	Wheelwrights
12 Spink John	Wright Adam	• are G. J. Mors
Hatters	Shaplepers	17 Buck Thomas
12 Pope Wm.	5 Martin John	4 • Easy George
5 Wharf Ager	12 Plummer W.	5 Waller Cook
(& fustier)	5 Revell Sarah	13 • Waller Wm
Ironmongers.	Wheat Mary Ann	Whitcomb's
• are Braziers	12 Sillett Geo.	5 Morter Wm
12 • Pitcher John	4 Stoggs Benj.	8 Saunders Jos
12 • Randen Jno.	10 Temple Anna	Wine and Spirit
12 Renley Wm	17 Walpole Jno.	Merchants
Joiners & Bldrs.	Stone Mason	6 Clark William
7 Howlett Robert	7 Gray Isaac Sm.	12 Sharpe John
14 Malt John	Surgeons
12 Renley Wm.	12 Bacon N. C.
17 Sanded Edw.
4 Wright Alfred.
(& surveyor)
2 Wright John
Machine Mkr.
14 Dytall Wm
4 Easy George
Maltsters &c
• Steam boat mkr
14 • Dytall Debn
12 Garrow Ch.
5 • Goulder Cath
15 Hall Mrs. T.

COACHES.

From the King's Arms

To Norwich every Tues & Th. at $\frac{1}{2}$ before 12, and Sat. at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 12 noon. returns to Cromer, quarter before 5 evening.Mail Cart to Norwich daily at a quarter before 2

CARRIERS

Aylsham, William Gee, Market street, Tues & Fri 4 p 11 mng
Bacton, (Cross Keys) Benjamin Cannon, postman, 1st daily.

Mundesley, Wm Pratt (Cock) and Jas Newstead (Cross Keys) 2 afternoon

Norwich, Thos. Bradfield from Low Street Mon Wed and Sat mng at 8, and Thos Bensley's spring van same days, from Black Swan, also Geo Lacock & Geo.

Ward, Wed & Sat. 5 morning.
Renton & Cromer, (Feathers)

James Clark Tu & Th 2 aft.
Sectow (Feathers) same

Reynolds Friday 12

Yarmouth, (Cross Keys) John Galley's Van, Tu & Th. 8 mng.

WESTWICK, nearly 3 miles S. of North Walsham, is a fertile and richly wooded parish, containing 210 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, with several dispersed houses, six farms, and the beautiful and extensive park of Westwick House, the seat of Jack Petre, Esq., owner of the soil and lord of the manor, which was formerly held by the Berneys, whose heiress carried it in marriage to Wm. Petre, Esq. father of the late John Berney Peter, Esq. whose heiress married Wm. Varlo, Esq. The son of the latter Jack Varlo, Esq., assumed the name of Petre, and is the present owner of the estate. Westwick House is a handsome white mansion, erected by John Berney, Esq., grandson of Sir Rd. Berney Bart. and brother of Rd. Berney, Esq., M P for Norwich, in the reign of Queen Anne. It is esteemed one of the most delightful seats in the county,—standing on the northern acclivity of a picturesque valley, surrounded by large and beautiful woods and plantations, extending in sylvan undulations down to the margin of a rivulet, which is expanded into a lake of 30 acres, from which an aqueduct has been cut to another lake near the house. There is a handsome lodge at the entrance to the park, and the turnpike-road from Norwich to North Walsham runs through it for upwards of two miles at the termination of which are two lodges, joined by an archway, crossing the road and one of them serving as the toll house. The late Berney Petre, Esq., made a carriage drive of five miles, through a plantation of 500 acres for planting which he received a medal from the Society of Arts. At a short distance from the house, is an obelisk, or look out, ninety feet high, with an octangular apartment at the summit, commanding on every side a remarkably fine prospect terminated on the north and east by a large extent of the sea-coast.—The Church, dedicated to St. Bartholomew, stands in the valley, on the south side of the park and its pinnacled tower forms a picturesque object, peeping above the umbrageous foliage at the head of the large lake. In the chancel are several neat monuments to the Berney family. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £9 13s 9d., was augmented in 1792 with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty, now vested in 4½ acres of land. Lessees which it has 16a of old glebe. Jack Petre, Esq., is the patron, and the Rev Edward Wymer is incumbent.—John Oates, joiner, is parish clerk; and the farmers are Rd. Chester, Thomas Fearman, Jas. Lacey, Chas. London, Thos. Mann and George Sharpe.

WITTON, a parish and scattered village, from 3 to 4 miles E. by N. of North Walsham, has 295 inhabitants, and 1716a 17p. of land, mostly the property of Lord Wodehouse, whose principal seat is at Kimberley, (described at a subsequent page,) but his lordship, or some part of his family, are frequently resident at Witton Hall, a large quadrangular mansion of white brick, with an entrance tower in the west front, and a semi-octagonal centre in the east front. The erection was commenced in 1770, by the late John Norris, Esq., who also compassed it with a large park and some fine plantations, but he died before its completion, in 1777, and endowed two schools at Witton and Great Witchingham, for the education of twelve poor children of each parish. (See page 511.) The hall, standing on an eminence, commands a full prospect of the ocean, which is distant only about two miles. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, has a nave, chancel, side aisles, a porch, and a round tower. It is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £4. 13s. 1d., and was augmented with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1767 and 1786. The glebe is 7a. 1a. 38r. The Bishop of Ely is patron, and the Rev. George Hewitt incumbent. The rectorial tithes are partly appropriated to the vicarage, and the rest are held by Lord Wodehouse. At the enclosure, 9a. 2a. 5r. of land, was allotted to the poor, who have also a house left by Robt. Annyson. Here are also a house and 15a. 1a. 36r. of land, bequeathed by R. Drake, for clothing poor women. A Gothic cottage and school-room were erected near the church, in 1834, at the cost of Lady C. L. Wodehouse. Directory: Lord Wodehouse, Witton hall, James Barker, shopkeeper; Thos. Bullen, John Lacey, and Edw. Larter, wheelwrights; Wm. Burton and Robert Grymes, shoemakers, Samuel Postell, bricklayer; and Thos. Cubitt, (Old Hall,) Wm. Emerson, Thos. Monsey, Geo. Smith, Jph. Turner, and Robert Watts, farmers. The latter is a carrier to Norwich, every Friday, at ten in the morning.

WORSTEAD or WORSTEDE, formerly a town of considerable trade, and celebrated as the first seat of the manufacture of worsted stuffs, to which it gave name, is now reduced to the rank of an agricultural village, pleasantly situated on gently rising ground, near a small rivulet, 3 miles S. by E. of North Walsham, 13 miles N. N. E. of Norwich, and 21 miles N. W. of Yarmouth. It had formerly a weekly market on Saturday; but it was removed, as tradition says, in the time of a plague, to North Walsham. It has still a large annual Fair for cattle, horses, &c., on May 12th. Its PARISH has increased its population since 1801, from 650 to 870 souls, and comprises 2586 acres of land, mostly a champaign district, and including the small hamlets of BANCAVE, three-quarters of a mile N. E.; — BAINES-CAVE, where there is a large corn mill and a wharf, on the river Ant, 1 mile N. E.; — BROCKLEY, half a mile S.; — MARTIN-BOURNE HILL, where there is a large Baptist chapel, 1½ mile N. E.; — LYNCAVE, half a mile N. E.; — and WITTHINGATE, three-quarters of a mile N. of the village. Part of the soil lies in the manors of Sloley, Bromholm, and Lyngate. It belongs to a number of proprietors, the largest of whom are Jack Petre, Esq., John Postle, Esq., and the Hon. Wm. Rufus Rous, (son of the Earl of Stradbroke,) who is lord of the manor of Worstead, and resides at WORSTEAD HOUSE, a handsome mansion of red brick, seated about half a mile east of the village, in a finely wooded park of about 300 acres, where the rivulet expands into a beautiful lake. This mansion was built by Sir Berney Brograve, under the direction of Mr. James Wyatt, the celebrated architect. It has several handsome apartments, and a few valuable paintings by Rubens, Vandyke, and other eminent masters. Its

the possessor, Sir George Berney Brograve, died about six years ago. In the reign of Edward the Confessor Worstead was possessed by the Abbot of St. Benet's at Elm, and was held of him by Robert, an officer of the cross bowmen, who assumed the name of the place. Worsted stuffs were first made here in the reign of Henry I., as noticed at page 92, but this manufacture left its ancient seat in Norfolk many years ago, and is now chiefly confined to Norwich and its neighbourhood. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a large Gothic edifice of flint, but the quoins of the buttresses, the mullions of the windows, and the arches are of freestone. It has a nave, side aisles, chancel, south porch, and a lofty embattled tower at the west end, rising in four stories, and containing a clock and six bells. This tower is of excellent proportions, and the entrance door and the great west window above it, are richly ornamented with mouldings and tracery. The interior of the church is remarkably neat, and the aisles are unencumbered with galleries, but there is one at the west end, erected in 1550. The chancel is separated from the nave by a fine open screen, erected in 1412, and adorned with paintings of apostles and saints. Opposite the west entrance is a modern screen, erected in 1530, and ornamented with emblematical figures of Faith, Hope, Charity, Prudence, Justice, Fortitude, and Temperance, painted by the lady of the Rev. John Gunn of Irested. The chancel was built in the second of Richard II., when the Prior of Norwich granted 13 oaks out of Plumstead wood, and other timber out of St. Leonard's wood, towards its completion. It has several inscriptions and masses to the Brograve and other families, and had formerly a chapel dedicated to St. John the Baptist, at the east end of the north aisle, where part of the altar and the framework of a painting which represented the decollation of that saint, still remain. The font is hexagonal, each compartment is elaborately sculptured, and the basin is crowned with a richly carved cover of floriated work rising in a succession of pinnacles round a centre, and terminated by a curious finial. This church had anciently a chapel of ease dedicated to St. Andrew, but no traces of it are now extant. Sir Wm. de Worstead, in the reign of Henry III., granted the advowson of the vicarage, and the appropriation of the rectorial tithes with about 49 acres of land, to the Prior and Monks of Norwich, whose successors, the Dean and Chapter, now hold them, but the tithes are leased to the land owners. The benefice, valued in K. B. at £10, has 3½a. of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Peter Hansell, B. A. The Rev. HENRY WHARTON, son of a late vicar of Worstead, was an eminent divine, and author of "Anglia Sacra." He was born here in 1664, "with two tongues, one of which gradually lessened until it became no way inconvenient." He died in 1691, and bequeathed twenty-two acres of land at Shottisham, in trust to the rectors of Westwick and Sloley, and the vicars of North Walsham, Worstead, and Honing, to employ the yearly rents (now £30) in repairing and beautifying Worstead church. In 1721, Charles Lenthallorp left £5 4s. per annum, to be given in weekly doles of bread to the poor. Of £4 10s. arising yearly from 3 acres of land purchased with £20, left by James King, £4 is paid for four services, 5s. to the singers, and 5s. to the poor. The BAPTIST CHAPEL, on Meeting-house Hill, 1½ mile N E of Worstead, was founded in 1717 by its first minister the Rev Mr. Cul-

the original chapel was taken down some years ago, when a more spacious building was erected on the opposite side, at the cost of £800. The old grave yard is still kept, and the new chapel has one of much larger extent. The R. Blakeley, the minister, has a neat residence, with stables for 25 horses for the accommodation of his hearers, many of whom live at a considerable distance. In 1820, the late Mr. Samuel R. of Norwich, erected near this chapel, six Alms-houses for the reception of twelve poor and aged members of the Baptist persuasion, with a small endowment.

following DIRECTORY OF WORSTEAD PARISH, those marked at Bengate ; 2, Bridgegate ; 3, Brockley ; 4, Lyngate ; 5, house Hill ; 6, Withergate ; and the others in Worstead.

R. Rous, Worstead House
John, corn miller
John, schoolmaster
John Weasey, baker
George Wm. gardener
Rev. J. Rix. (Bapt.)
Mrs. Margaret
James, saddler
Ly. Ann & Eliz. Post-

Charles, druggist
John, wheelwright
Mr. William
John, bricklayer & br. hs.
Thomas, gent.
Rev. Edward Hamer, curate
John, porter merchant
Edw. glazier, painter, &c.
Lieut. George, R.N.
John, confectioner
Robert, bricklayer son Mr. Jeffry
Joseph, coal merchant
My. vict. White Horse
Wm. schoolmaster

Blacksmiths.

Bulley John
Neave Jerh.
Nelson Thos.

Butchers.

Appleton Rd.
Cross John

Farmers.

* are yeomen.
* Banyer Wm.
Orpley
7 Colk Robt.
7 Cook Wm.
3 Cross Eliz.
6 Goold Edw.
5 * Greenacre T.
1 Harris Geo.
3 Lacey John
6 Loveday Hy.

Grocers, &c.

Barnard Eliz.
Shalders Jacob
Tinker Ann
5 Wright Jas.
Marfrey Richd.
1 Nash Wm.
4 * Tooley Jas.
1 * Tuck Robt.
3 Weldone My.
Wiseman Miles
3 Woodrow Wm.

Shoemakers.

1 Blackenbury J.
Ostler Robt.
Swann Jebdh.
Wiseman Thos.

Tailors.

5 Goose John
5 Swann Wm.

Post-Office at Miss Dyball's, where letters are received and despatched about 11 mng. & 3 aft. daily.

Carrier to Norwich, Henry Watts, Sat. 2 mng.; and the North Walsham carrier to Yarmouth, Tue. & Fri. at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 mg.

NORTH ERPINGHAM

about twelve miles from east to west, along the sea coast, and extends six miles in breadth from north to south ; being bounded by Holt Hundred and South Erpingham on the west, by the sea on the south, and by Tunstead on the east. The soil is generally fertile loam, with substratums of marl and chalk-lime, except at the east end, where a light sand prevails, but thrown up like the cliffs, a picturesque succession of hills, some of which are covered with vine plantations ; indeed there is in every direction much timber in the fences, giving to the whole a pleasing sylvan appearance, which is finely contrasted by the white cliffs and marine views in the vicinity of Cromer and Mundesley,—the most fashionable bathing places in Norfolk. Though the coast in this district rises generally in bold swells or perpendicular cliffs of chalk, flint, sand, and gravel, it suffers continually from the wasting incursions of the ocean, which are said to average about one yard in breadth along the whole beach, where many houses have been washed down in the memory of the present inhabitants; and Shipden (off Cromer) with some other parishes on record, were totally engulfed in the sea several centuries ago. From the friable nature of the cliffs and a want of unanimity among the land owners, the artificial means taken here for the purpose of reducing the wasting influence of the mighty waters have been less efficient than those adopted on other parts of the coast. In the reign of Elizabeth, under the apprehension of invasion, a depôt of military stores was placed in every Hundred, and that in North Erpingham, consisted of 400 lbs. of powder, 600 of matches, 270 of lead, 30 pick axes, 30 shod shovels, 30 bare shovels, 9 axes, 300 baskets, and 5 beetles. This Hundred forms the Deanery of Repps, in the Archdeaconry of Norfolk, and its magistrates hold Petty Sessions on every alternate Monday, at the New Inn, Cromer, and have for their clerk, Mr. S. Plumbly, of Southrepps. It contains 32 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent.

PARISHES.	Pop. 1831.	Ann. Val 1815.	No. of Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop. 1831.	Ann. Val 1815.	No. of Acres.
Aldbrough †	275	£1106	684	Mundesley *	436	£2006	60
Antingham	348	1,417	1,475	North-Repps *	625	2,620	3,601
Avimerton †	284	998	1,083	Overstrand *	178	309	400
Barnham	49	754	750	Piunstead	220	719	630
Northwood				Roughton	439	1,110	2,148
Barnham Town	114	803	500	Ranton †	473	1,206	1,000
Beckham (East) †	50	450	850	Sherringham †	869	2,023	2,182
Beeston Regis †	346	833	900	Silestrand *	160	503	400
Beestonham	137	586	401	South-Repps *	733	2,624	2,038
Cromer †	1,833	1,673	700	Suffield	279	1,357	1,430
Felbrigg †	156	1,067	1,550	Sustead	162	543	516
Grimingham *	353	1,623	1,471	Thorpe Market	254	1,178	1,367
Gresham †	362	1,137	1,367	Thurgarton	247	903	900
Guntton	84	736	942	Trimingham *	168	471	500
Hanworth	276	1,203	1,121	Trunch *	42	1,686	1,300
Knapton *	327	1,800	1,343
Marliske	218	506	500
Mutton	81	49	662
				Total	10,160	35,543	33,671

* † WORKHOUSES.—The nine parishes marked * have an incorporated House of Industry, at Grimingham and the nine marked thus † have one at Sherringham.

ALDBOROUGH, or Alborough, is a small village and parish, 5 miles N by W of Ayisham, noted for its extensive stock FAIR, held yearly on the 21st and 22nd of June; but when these dates fall on Friday and Saturday the fair is held on the following Monday and Tuesday. Part of it is in Lord Suffield's manor of Hanworth, but the principal owner of the soil is John Johnson Gay, Esq., of the New Hall, a handsome mansion, erected in 1636, but enlarged in 1818. It has a well-wooded lawn, and is called the New Hall, in contradistinction to the old one, which has long been occupied as a farm-house. The manor of Aldborough was long held by the De Herwards, whose tenure, in the 16th century, carried it in marriage to Thomas Parker, Esq., from whom it passed with his heiress to the Gays. The village is scattered round a green of eight acres, and the Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is on an eminence nearly half a mile to the west. It has a nave, north aisle, and chancel, but no tower. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £8, has 24 acres of glebe. Lord Suffield is the patron, and the Rev. Robt. Shuckburgh is incumbent, and has a small parsonage, erected by himself in 1834.

Baron Jas. & Woods Jno. tailors
 Bone John, grocer and draper
 Chapman Wm. butcher
 Clarke Richd. corn miller
 Crowe Mr. St. & Mayes Mrs. Mgt
 Darrant John, blacksmith
 Gibbs Jn. & Warner Rt. bakers
 Gray Robt. & Thos. shoemakers
 Hacon Richard, surgeon
 Hopkins Sus. vict. Black Boys
 Howes Ann, schoolmistress

Miller Robert, saddler
 Press Wm. gent. & Smith Mr. Rt.
 Shuckburgh Rev. Rt. M.A. rector
 Smith Saml. cattle dealer
 Summers Thos. plumber, glazier, painter, grocer, and draper
 Ward Wm. bricklayer & beer br.
 Wilkin John, shoemaker
 Farmers. Helsdon John
 Brookes Jas. Woods Richd.
 Clarke Saml. Try Woolsey John

ANTINGHAM is a small village, 2 miles N.W. of North Walsham, containing 219 inhabitants, and 1475 acres of land, in which are two lakes or ponds, forming the principal source of the river Ant, which was made navigable to the eastern boundary of this parish in 1826, as has been seen at page 549. On the lower pond a bone mill has lately been erected by Lord Suffield, who owns the whole parish, and is lord of the manor, which was formerly held by a family of its own name, under the Bigods. There were anciently two parish churches here in the same enclosure; but that dedicated to St. Margaret has long been in ruins, and only a part of its tower now remains; and its vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5. 6s. 8d., is consolidated with North Walsham, being in the patronage of the Bishop, as Abbot of St. Bennet's at Holm. For this sinecure, the Vicar of North Walsham receives £20 per annum from the Rector of Antingham, in lieu of tithes. The church now in use is dedicated to St. Mary, and has a square embattled tower, with several inscriptions to the Fermour, Keeson, and Kemp families, and a fine brass, on which are portrayed figures of Richard Calthorp, Esq., and his children. It is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 3s. 1½d. Lord Suffield is the patron, and the Rev. John Dolphin, B.A., is incumbent. The poor have the price of two coombs of wheat yearly from Lord Suffield, in lieu of an ancient commonright, and also a yearly rent-charge of 20s., left by Thomas Kirkley, in 1630. Directory:—Timothy Coleman, veterinary surgeon; John Powell, blacksmith; Benson Smith, bone crusher. Thos. Thornton, shopkeeper; Ireland Watts, vict., Barge, John Wortley, schoolmaster; and Obediah Barcham, (malster,) John

Coleman, William Cranfield, John Crowe, Mrs. and Benjamin Heldon, Wm. Pratt, and Stephen Sutton, farmers;—John Bell, carrier to Yarmouth

AYLMERTON is a small village on a declivity nearly 3 miles S W of Cromer, comprising in its parish 284 inhabitants, and 1653. 2a. 24p. of land, all in a high state of cultivation, except the northern verge, where there is a high ridge of heath, on which are the ruins of a beacon, commanding an extensive prospect. W. H. Windham, Esq., owns the greater part of the soil, and is lord of the manor and patron of the CHURCH, which is dedicated to St. John the Baptist, and has a round embattled tower. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 11s., is united with Runtun, in the incumbency of the Rev. Cremer Cremer, B.A., with 42a. of glebe. Directory—Robert Cable, shoemaker; Saml. Chapman and Rt. Sharpen, blacksmiths; James Howes, joiner; St. Pinson, wheelwright, John Smith and Wm. Youngman, beer sellers; Wm. Yearham, shopkeeper; and Isaac Alsop, John Cooper, Edward Daniell, Mary Ann Fuller, John Pells, and Robert Woods, farmers.

BARNINGHAM-NORTHWOOD a small parish, 3 miles E. by S. of Holt, has only 42 inhabitants, and 750 acres of land, divided into three farms, with a few cottages, all belonging to W. H. Windham, Esq., the lord of the manor, and patron of the CHURCH, which is dedicated to St. Peter, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. George Kingston. The farmers are George Miller, Robert Partridge, and Henry Rix.

BARNINGHAM-TOWN, or Barningham-Winter, lies south of the above, 6 miles E. S. E. of Holt, and has 114 inhabitants, but only about 500 acres of land, the property of John Thurston Mott, Esq., who resides in the Hall, a large mansion erected in the reign of Henry VIII. and having an extensive park, with fine woods and plantations, partly in Matlack parish. He is also patron of the CHURCH, (St. Mary,) which stands in the park, and is all in ivy-mantled ruins, except the chancel. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., is in the incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Taylor. Directory—J. T. Mott, Esq., Barningham Hall; Jas. Chapman, shoemaker; and Rt. Scott, Matthew Thaxter, and John Watts, farmers. John Terrell, carrier to Norwich, Friday morning.

BECKHAM (EAST) a small decayed parish, in a picturesque vale, 4 miles E. by N. of Holt, contains only 50 inhabitants, and 700 acres of land, all belonging to W. H. Windham, Esq., the lord of the manor and impropriator of the tithes. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Helen, has been in ruins several centuries; but beautiful fragments of the old Gothic windows, in different states of decay are still seen peeping through the ivy, which mantles in the most luxuriant manner over almost the whole of its mouldering walls, whose "delightful loneliness" is not interrupted by a single dwelling. The cure is attached to Aylmerton; and the four farms are occupied by Benj. Emery, Marget. Hounce, John Skipper, Edw. Taylor, & Hy. Wrench.

BEESTON-REGIS, or Beeston-next-the-Sea, a small village and parish, 3 miles W. by N. of Cromer, and adjoining Lower Sherringham. It comprises 246 inhabitants, and about 900 acres of land, picturesquely broken into hill and dale, and belonging chiefly to the Rev. J. B. Cremer, of the Hall, and Samuel Hoare, Esq., of London, who owns the abbey-farm; but the manorial rights, and the patronage of the church belongs to the King's Duchy of Lancaster. The CHURCH, near the beach, is dedicated to All Saints, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £16, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Arthur Langton, B.A. In the entrance to a romantic dale, at the east end of the village, are the interesting ruins of BEESTON PRIORY, dedicated to St. Mary, and founded in the reign of King John, by Elizabeth de Creasey, for canons of the order of St. Augustine, but granted, at the dissolution, to Sir E. Windham and others. A small tower, and the whole of the west gable of the priory church, are standing, together with many other large masses of walls, ornamented with a profusion of the finest ivy. Edmund Hook, a linen draper, who was twice mayor of Lynn, died here in 1705, and bequeathed to the poor £100, of which £67 was vested in land, let in 1786 for £6. 19s. a-year.—Here is also an ancient piece of poor's land, let at the same time, for £4. 15s. Directory.—Rev. John Buckel Cromer, Beeston Hall; Thos. Clarke, joiner; Joseph Ward, yeoman, and Saml. Wiseman, blacksmith.

BESSINGHAM, or Bessingham, $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.N.W. of Aylsham, and $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.W. by S. of Cromer, is a small village on a pleasant acclivity, and has in its parish only 137 inhabitants, and about 400 acres of land, mostly belonging to Mr. John Spurrell, who has a neat mansion here, but G. S. Repton, Esq., is lord of the manor, and the Rev. P. E. Arden is patron of the CHURCH, (St. Mary,) which has a round embattled tower, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £4s. 6d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Thos. Arden, with 25a. of glebe. Near the church is a tumulus of half an acre, surrounded by a wide ditch, from which it is called the moat-yard. Directory.—Matthew Bond, shopkeeper; Mrs. Mary Butterfield, Geo. Emery and Thos. Puxley, farmers, Wm. Farley, vict., Horse Shoes; Samuel Flockton, wheelwright, John Grand and Priest Green, shoemakers, and John Spurrell, maltster.

CROMER is a fashionable bathing place and small market town, picturesquely seated upon the lofty sea cliffs on the most north-east point of the Norfolk coast, 9 miles N.N.W. of North Walsham, 10 miles E.N.E. of Holt, 11 miles N. by E. of Aylsham, 22 miles N. of Norwich, and 130 miles N.E. by N. of London. Though it stands at a considerable height above the beach, and near the verge of the precipitous cliffs, the town is sheltered on three sides by a towering amphitheatre of hills, partly covered with wood, and presenting a scene truly romantic, whilst the sea-view is no where excelled in extent and sublimity. Cromer has increased its population, since the year 1801, from 676 to 1232 souls; but its parish now comprises only about 700 acres of land, mostly belonging to the Viscountess Ennismore (late Mrs. Windham,) the lady of the manor, and owner of CROMER HALL, a fine Gothic mansion, with a centre tower and two wings, commenced in 1827, by Thomas Windham, Esq., but burnt down before it was finished in 1829; after which it was rebuilt by its present owner, and is now occupied by Henry Baring, Esq. At the Domesday survey, Cromer formed part of the lordship and parish of SNIP-PAN, a considerable village, which, with its church, dedicated to St. Peter, appears to have been swallowed by the sea, about the time of Henry IV., for a patent to collect certain dues for pier at Shipden, was granted in the 14th of Richard II., and ten years afterwards, Sir William Beauchamp alienated to a priory of Carthusians a piece of land in Shipden, adjoining the rectory. At very low tides, there are still to be seen, nearly half a mile from the cliffs, large masses of wall, which sailors denominate the church rock. The ocean still continues to make rapid encroachments on the cliffs of Cromer bay, which has the singular appellation of the Devil's Throat and has suffered the loss of about twenty houses in the memory of some of the present inhabitants. Many large portions of land were washed away in 1611, previous to which the inhabitants had expended much money and ingenuity in a fruitless attempt to maintain a small harbour. In the winter of 1799, the Light-house Cliffs, which rise from the beach to the height of 320 feet, made several remarkably large shoots, one of which brought with it at least half an acre of ground, and extended a considerable way into the sea at low water mark. On January 15th, 1825, another large mass of earth was detached from the Light-house hills, and fell with great force on the beach, extending in breadth above 300 yards from the cliffs, covering an area of about twelve acres, and containing, it was supposed, not less than half a million of cubic yards of earth. The fall of this enormous body was sudden and unexpected, but fortunately no lives were lost, though the coast-guard had to pass in the night the very spot where it fell. A large and rapid stream of water immediately after its fall, issued from the bank, discharging itself down upon the beach with great noise and violence. Early in the morning of August 19th, 1832, another large shoot of the cliff occurred near the Light-house at Foulness, and so threatened the destruction of the useful edifice, that the Master and Brethren of the Trinity House, London, deemed it expedient to erect another on the hill, 200 yards further inland, but the old one is still standing (though situated about three-quarters of a mile east of the town, where it was built of brick, in 1719, by Edward Bowed, of Ipswich. The new light-house, like the old one, is in the parish of Overstrand. It is a white brick tower, 52 feet in height, and 300 feet above the level of the sea, crowned with a lantern lighted by 15 patent lamps, placed in finely plated copper reflectors, which revolve on an upright axle and present to the eye a full blaze of light every minute. From the lantern, a door opens into a light iron gallery, which surrounds it and commands a sea-view of many leagues, also a wide extent of Norfolk, embracing a view of more than 30 churches. The floating light of Happisburgh, 12 miles to the east, is distinctly seen in the night from the town, where the cliffs are not so lofty as those near the light-house.

Among the other neat mansions of Cromer is Colne House, the property of T. Buxton, Esq., M.P., and five others, belonging to and occasionally occupied by H. Birkbeck, Esq., John Bedingfield, Esq., Sir Jacob Astley Samuel Hoare, Esq., the London banker, and John Herring, Esq., of Norwich. Geo. Stanley Repton, Esq. is lord of Cromer, Weylands and several other manors in this neighbourhood.

Cromer town, though small, has several comfortable and respectable hotels, and many private lodging houses for the accommodation of its visitors, and standing near the cliffs, at a height of more than 90 feet above the beach, and sheltered behind

ing hills, partially clothed with wood and studded with neat villas, air is remarkably salubrious, and the walks and scenery in the vicinity beautifully diversified. It was first frequented as a watering place, about the year 1785, by two or three families of retired habits, and favourable reports of the beautiful scenery and pleasant walks in the neighbourhood, the excellence of the beach at low water, and the simple manners of the inhabitants, soon attracted others here to enjoy these enjoyments. The number of visitors continued to increase yearly; and for the accommodation of this growing influx of company, many neat houses have been erected during the last thirty years, and the town so considerably improved, that it now ranks as one of the most fashionable sea-bathing places in the kingdom.—Mr. Storer's Family Hotel, and the Wellington and Lion Inns and Hotels, are extensive and comfortable establishments for public entertainment; besides which, here are about seventy private Lodging Boarding Houses, the largest of which is the Hotel de Paris. Many of them command sea-views, and are elegantly furnished. The Hotel de Paris, which is approached by a flight of steps from the cliff, projects about 70 yards into the sea, and was erected by subscription, at a cost of £1400, in 1822, after the old one had been destroyed by storms of the ocean. The Bath-House, with subscription reading and billiard-rooms, established by Mr. S. Simons, in 1814, is a neat building, pleasantly situated on the east cliff, but it will in a few years be engulfed in the ocean, unless some strong breastwork is raised in front the face of the cliff; and the cost of such a wall, capable of withstanding the violence of the raging elements, and of bearing up the ponderous and sometimes overhanging mass of earth, subject to break after frosts and heavy rains, would be immense. On the beach, Mr. Randell's Warm Baths, and also nine or ten bathing machines, for immersion in the open sea. The beach, having a fine sand, and a level surface, renders the bathing agreeable, and affords a delightful promenade for several miles, when the tide is out, bounded on the north by the ocean, and on the south by stupendous cliffs, rising perpendicularly, and broken into a thousand grotesque forms, and much resorted to by sea-fowls, during the winter, when these aquatic birds mostly resort to the marshes in summer, where wild ducks and geese are found in great quantities at Salthouse, on the coast, about ten miles to the west. Though Cromer has no harbour where ships can ride in safety, it enjoys some little trade, in the exportation of corn, and importation of coals, tiles, oil-cakes, pork, &c., in vessels of from 60 to 100 tons burthen, which lie upon the beach, where, at ebb tides, carts are drawn alongside to unlade them, and, when empty, they anchor at a little distance from the shore, and reload by means of boats. This method of lading and unloading is very expensive, as the carts, though drawn by four horses, owing to the steepness of the roads up the cliffs, can only carry about half a ton at a time. In this manner they continue passing and re-passing, till the water flows up to the horses' bellies, when they are obliged to persist till the tide has receded. The ships, which are constantly passing the offing, display a regular change of moving objects; such is the danger of the coast, that four or five lights are stationed between this place and Yarmouth, to prevent them from running into Cromer bay, where life-boats are kept to succour the distreased, and where there was a battery, which mounted four 18-pounders during the late war. Many of the inhabitants are fishermen, crabs, lobsters, oysters, herrings, cod, and whittings, being very plentiful, and here are three curing-houses. The Market, which is held every Saturday under the letters patent of Henry IV., is now obsolete, but the town is well supplied with provisions during the bathing season, when vegetables, poultry, butter, eggs, &c., are brought in daily. The Fair, on Whit-Monday, is much resorted to by pleasure parties, especially when the weather is favourable for aquatic excursions.

CROMER CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, is supposed to have been erected in the reign of Henry IV., soon after the ocean had engulfed the village of Shipden. It is a large and handsome Gothic pile, of flint and free-stone, with an embattled tower, 130 feet high, and richly ornamented with sculpture. The nave and aisles are spacious, and neatly fitted up; the grand western entrance, the north porch, and the chancel, have been long in ruins, and very little of the latter now remains. Many of its ornaments were destroyed by Cromwell's soldiers, who converted it into barracks. The benefice is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £3. 1s., and was augmented from 1713 to 1821, with £1200 of royal bounty, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Sharpe. The Bishop of Ely is the patron, and also appoints the great tithes, now leased to Viscount Farnham. The Methodists have a small chapel in West street, and here is a Free School founded and endowed with £10 a-year, by Sir Barth. Reed, a native of Cromer, and lord mayor of London in 1506. The Goldsmiths' Company, of London, are trustees, and rebuilt the school, in 1821, since which they have paid £90 a year to the master, for teaching all the boys of Cromer and its vicinity, who are sent to him for instruction. A Savings' Bank, established here in 1835, is open every Monday at Mr. George Pank's, from twelve till one o'clock. Petty Sessions are held here every alternate Monday. The Poor's land was let in 1786 for £10 a-year. Robert Bacon, a mariner of Cromer, discovered Iceland, in the reign of Henry IV.

The Post-Office is at Mrs. Sus. Collinsons, where letters arrive from Norwich, Aylsham, &c., at 20 minutes past 12 noon, and are dispatched at 20 minutes past 20.

In the following Directory of Cromer, those marked 1, reside in Brook street; 2, on the Cliff; 3, in Church street; 4, Garden st.; 5, High st.; 6, London st.; 7, New st.; 8, Pump st.; 9, West st.; 10, Tucker st.; 11, Marine terrace, and 12, Jetty street.

Baring Henry, Esq., Cromer Hall	3 Earle Charles & Son, surgeons
Beddingfield John, Esq.	3 Fowler Wm. Hy. coast waiter
Berwick Miss Mary Church street	Fox Ann, fossil dealer, Cliff
Bignold John, gent. New street	6 Francis Saml. rope & twine mkt.
3 Bilham Jas. basket maker	Goodwin Harvey, gent., Croft
Birkbeck Hy., Esq. (& Keswick)	Hastings Thos. teacher of mathematics
9 Brown John, maltster, (& Erpgrin)	3 Heath Edw. chemist & druggist
6 Browne Thomas, brewer, &c.	Herring Robt. Esq., (& Norwich)
Buck Richard, farmer, West st.	Hoare Saml. Esq. (& London)
Buxton Edmd. Esq., Colne House	Howes Jph. gent., Overstrand
6 Chadwick John, saddler, &c.	Hudson Mrs. Mary, West street
3 Clarke Robt. hair dresser

hm. farmer, &c.
 Herbert Ferrett, solr.
 the Alliance Fire Office, sat; h. Runtton
 stationer, circulating & toy warehouse
 les, brewer, New st.
 last & boot tree maker
 Capt. John, B. B. in-commander of coast

acid, fishmonger
 . land agent, surveyor, r, & agent to the Nor-ion Fire Office
 gent Church street
 n, land surveyor
 Rbt. horse & gig lender
 Rd. amber & jet cutter
 r. Wm. M. A. vicar, Croft meon, subscrip. read-billiard rooms, Bath
 hiff

Miss Mary, Cliff
 Lieut. Fredk R. N.
 ard

NS, AND TAVERNS.
 & Family Hotel, Geo.
 ucker

Paris, Mons. Pier le
 , (Boarding House)
 rad, John Hardingham Inn, Ann Webb

in Inn, Thos. Harrison
 orse, John Wm. Mason es

ders 9Burton Sewell
 Thos. 7Curtis Eliz.

ary 5Curtis Joseph irah Boot and Shoe
 Free) Makers

3Abel George
 12Jacob Wm.

5Mack James
 3Rogers James

10Smith & Allen
 8Tayler Wm.

Bricklayers
 9Middleton and Hart

3Newman Wm.
 Butchers.

12Alsop John 9Press Robert

Coal Merchants.

1Corbin Joseph
 3Sandford Hy

3Tucker G. Cook
 Coopers

3Bayfield Saml.
 4Pank Thos.

Fish Curers
 3Bayfield Saml.

9Mason Thos.
 1Randell Thos.

8Witting Robt.
 Grocers & Dprs.

3Chadwick Wm.
 4Green James

5Muskett Jph.
 & Wm.

9Ransom Mtw.
 (glass, &c. dlr.)

5Rust Benj. &
 John Wm.

Ironmongers.
 3Randell John

1Randell Thos.
 Joiners, &c

5Buttinfant John 5Hardingham J.

3Rogers John 4Simons Saml.

4Smith Robt.
 8Smith Wm.

8Whitting Robt.
 Lodging House

Keepers
 Betts Wm. (agt.

for Terrace) 3Christmas My.

3Collinson Sus
 4Cook Margt.

4Cook Mary
 COACHES

From the New Inn and Family
 Hotel, the Mail to Norwich, 20
 min. past 2 aft.; and a Coach by North Walsham, &c. Tues. and Thurs. at 11, and Sat. 7 mng.

From the Hotel De Paris, the Enterprise to Norwich, through
 Aylsham, Tue. Wed. Thu. & Sat
 $\frac{1}{2}$ past 2 afternoon.

CARRIERS.—Rt. Newman, Edw
 Wiggett, & James Plumbly, to Norwich, Tue. & Fri 9 evening

2Curtis Mary

2Custance M. A

2Fox Ann

11Hogg Celia

3Howard John

7Milem Eliz.

4Miles Wm.

2Peel Edmd.

3Porter Martha

6Storey John

5Temple Mary

12Vial David

Mstr. Mariners.

* Ship owners.

3Cook Wm.

12* Jacob Jacob

9* Jarvis Wm.

Kennedy Wm.

9* Ransome D. S.

Milliners, &c.

10Frankland V.

3Ransome M.

4Simons Eliz.

Plmbrs, Glazrs.

& Painters.

Harris George

9Jarvis James

Tailors & Dprs.

3Bayfield John

8Chipperfield H

5Colman Chas

7Curtis Thos.

9Ransome Mtw.

Watchmakers

4Mack James

1Randell Thos

Wine, Spirit, &

Porter Merts.

3Ransom Maria

1Ransom Rd.

FELBRIGG, a pleasant village, on a declivity, nearly 3 miles S. S. W. of Cromer, has in its parish 155 inhabitants, and 1559A. 2R 10P of land, all the property of William Howe Windham, Esq., of FETTERING HALL, a large and handsome mansion, on a commanding eminence, with a beautiful and richly wooded park of 200 acres. This stately house, in the style which prevailed in the reign of Henry VIII., has been considerably enlarged by the Windham family, at different periods, and most of these additions and alterations are in a style corresponding with the ancient south front. The apartments contain many excellent paintings, by Rembrandt, Bergham, Vandersvelt, and other eminent masters, and the Library comprises a large collection of valuable books and prints. A noble quadrangle of stables, with embattled towers at the angles, in the same style as the hall, and other improvements, were made by the late Admiral Windham, in 1825. On the skirts of the park, upon a lofty eminence, stands the rectory-house, built by the late Dr. Lukin, and about a quarter of a mile S. E. of the hall, embowered in the park plantations, and approached by a fine avenue of oak and beech, is the CHURCH, a handsome edifice, containing many monuments to the Felbrigg and Windham families. On a large marble stone is a fine brass, representing the figure, in complete armour, of Sir Simon de Felbrigg, who lived in the reign of Henry VI. On the south side of the altar, is a beautiful monument with a fine bust, by Nollekins, of the late Right Hon. Wm. Windham, a profound scholar, accomplished orator, and distinguished statesman, who was born in London, in 1750, and died there in 1810, after undergoing a surgical operation on his hip, which was injured in his endeavours to save the library of his friend Mr Frederick North, when his house was on fire. He sat in parliament 29 years, first for Norwich, and afterwards for various boroughs; and accepted under Mr Pitt, the office of secretary-at-war, with a seat in the cabinet, an honourable distinction which had never before been annexed to that office. This office he held till 1801, and accepted it again in 1806, but resigned in the following year, along with the other members of the Grenville administration. Having no issue, his estates descended to his half-brother, the late Admiral Lukin, who assumed the name of Windham. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 18s. 4d., is in the gift of W. H. Windham, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Cromer Cromer, B. A. In 1742, Mary Windham, left the interest of £100, to clothe a poor man and woman of this parish yearly, and in 1740, Richard Locksmith bequeathed to the poor a plot of land, which was let for £2, in 1780. The manor of Felbrigg was purchased by Lord Seales, of the executors of Sir Simon Felbrigg; but he afterwards sold it to John Windham, Esq., whose wife, during his absence, was forcibly dragged out of the hall by Sir John Felbrigg, who set up an hereditary claim to the estate, which he subsequently relinquished for the payment of 200 marks. This parish has upwards of 100 acres of woodland, and the greater part of it was heath and common, (nearly 600A.) till about the year 1781, when it was enclosed under the directions of Mr Kent, author of "Hints to Gentlemen of Landed Property." Directory—W. H. Windham, Esq., Felbrigg Hall, N. Cawston, jun., joiner; and Nicholas Cawston and John Clark, farmers.

GIMINGHAM, or Gunningham, on the banks of a rivulet, $\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. of North Walsham, is a village and parish, with 353 inhabitants, GIMINGHAM PARISH.

569

1471 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, but all in Lord Suffield's manor of Gimmingham-Lancaster which extends over several other parishes, and is held partly on fine certainty, and partly arbitrary. The Church, (All Saints,) has a square tower and apertures to the Berney, Drath, and Browning families. It is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £11. 10s. 10d., and now having 26s. of rate. The patronage is in Catherine's Hall, Cambridge. The incumbent is the Rev. Ralph Blakelock, M. A., who erected a School here in 1841, now conducted on the National system, the 80 scholars paying penny each per week. Directory —Rev. R. Blakelock, Sus. As, schoolmistress, James Bullen, wheelwright, John Clarke and Henry Pycroft, blacksmiths; John Neave, shoemaker, John Water-corn miller, Jonathan Whurr, governor of the Workhouse for 2 parishes (see p. 560,) and William Allard, Edmund Beare, James Elsdon, Robert Gilham, John Neave, Thomas Plumble, Robert Rising, farmers.

RESHAM, a pleasant detached village and parish, 5 miles S. W. of Cromer, has 362 inhabitants, and 1307½ 29r of land, belonging to various persons, but G. S. Repton, Esq., is lord of the manor, which was held by the celebrated Geoffrey Chaucer, and afterwards passed to a family of its own name, and from them to the Ansons. It was sold some years ago. Sir Edmund Bacon had a licence in the reign of Edward II. to embattle his manor-house here, which was subsequently strengthened by Sir Thomas Gresham. This castle had a moat with a round tower at each corner. The Church (All Saints) stands on an acclivity, and has a round tower, with a nave, aisle, and porch. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 18s. 9d., 24s. of glebe, and is in the gift of the Rev. John Spurgin, and in the incumbency of the Rev. F. E. Arden, B. A. The Methodists have a small chapel here.

Rev. Fras. Edward, rector
Rev. Fras. Edward, jun.
Thos. corn miller
John, lime burner
J. & Wilson J. shoemkrs.
John, wheelwght. & shopkr.
Samuel, shopkeeper
Cooper, dyer
Hammond, farrier
Th. & Ransom Rt. blksmn.

Shinkfield John, schoolmaster
Shore Janth. vict. Chequers

FARMERS.—* are women

* Christoph Chit.	Holman Peter
* Clarke John	* Loynes Chas.
Cooper —	Mayes Thos.
* Curtis Robt.	Scott A. Lemas
Dennis Edw.	Scott Jonth.
* Greenacre Rt.	* Youngman J.

WINTON, about 5 miles N.N.E. of Aylsham, and the same distance S. of Cromer, is a parish with 84 inhabitants, and 942 acres of land, all comprised in the park and extensive plantations of GIMINGHAM, the handsome modern seat of Lord Suffield, built of white brick, and much enlarged, under the direction of Mr. Wyatt, in 1785. The house was also much improved by the late Lord Suffield, who died in 1835. It stands on an eminence, commanding a delightful view of the undulated park and its judiciously arranged plantations. A road to Thorpe, at the north-east angle of the park, passes under the arch of an elegant tower, rising to the height of 120 feet 6 inches, commanding an extensive prospect. Sir Harbord Harbord, the 2nd baronet, was created Baron Suffield in 1786. He died in 1810; William Asheton Harbord, the second baron, in 1821; and Edward Harbord, the late baron, in 1835; previous to which, his son and successor, the Right Hon. Edward Vernon Harbord, fourth Lord Suffield, had erected a handsome hall at Horstead. GUNTON CHURCH, dedicated to St. Andrew, has a handsome portico of the Doric order, and was rebuilt by Sir William Morden Harbord, Bart., who became heir to the estate in 1742. It stands near the hall, but the rectory house was rebuilt in 1800, within the adjoining parish of Hanworth. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £8, is consolidated with Hanworth vicarage, in the gift of Lord Suffield, and incumbency of the Rev. Charles Heath, with 42 acres of glebe. The upper servants at Gunton House are George Bartlett, farm bailiff, Miss Eldon, housekeeper; Thos. Feathers, butler; Edwin Peters, valet; Wm. Rounce, gamekeeper. Henry Smith, land agent; John Vince, builder; and George Walton, gardener.

HANWORTH, a parish of scattered houses, 5 miles N. of Aylham, contains 276 inhabitants, and 1121 acres of land, belonging to Lord Suffield and Philip Wynnell Mayow, Esq., the former of whom is lord of the manor and patron of the church, and the latter resides at HANWORTH HALL, a handsome modern mansion of brick, standing pleasantly in a verdant and finely wood-park, broken into bold undulations, and laid out with much taste. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Bartholomew, is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5 1s. 8d., and consolidated with Gunton rectory. Directory—James Chapman, wheelwright; John Chapman, and George Ives, blacksmiths, Rev. Charles Heath, rector &c; Henry Howes, bricklayer, Richard Lambert, shoemaker, P. W. Mayow, Esq., Hanworth Hall, and Thos. Bacon, Saml. Cooper, Benj. Helsdon, John Hicks, Rt. Press, and Mary Shuffling, farmers.

KNAPTON, a village on a lofty eminence, 3 miles N.N.E. of North Walsham, has in its parish 327 inhabitants, and 1343a. 2r. 25r. of rich arable land, lying in three manors, viz., Knapton-Bromholm and Greens, belonging to St. Peter's College, Cambridge, and Knapton-Cecula, belonging to Lord Suffield, but the greater part of the soil is owned by other proprietors,—among whom are Miss Shirley, owner of the New Hall; H. Robinson, Esq., owner of Knapton Grove; and several resident yeomen. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, has a nave and chancel, with a tower at the west end. The roof is of Irish oak, richly ornamented with carvings of saints and angels. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £13 7s. 13, is now enjoyed by the Rev. John Colman; Lord Suffield, and the Master of St. Peter's College, are the patrons alternately. The college belongs to Knapton Hall, now held on lease by the Rev. Stephen Cook.

Allison Mrs. Ann

Baker Samuel, gent.

Chaplin Robert, tailor

Cook Rev. Stephen, M.A., vicar of Oulton, Knapton Hall

Cornish Wm., joiner & wheelwright

Hall Peter, blacksmith

Lawson Wm., tailor & shopkpr

Mills Jeaffreson, Lieut. R.N.

Robinson Hy. Esq. Knapton gr.
Starr Thomas, joiner

Watts Robert, shopkeeper

Wilkinson Rev. T. B.A. New Hl.

Farmers.

* are yeomen

* Allison Thos.

* Atkinson Chs.

* Coleman Abm.

* Collings John

* Cooper Hsh.

* Cooper Wm.

Cornish Wm.

Ducker David

Parson John
Turner Chm.
*Wortley Wm.

Sacristan
Chaplin Thos.
Hutches Miles

Long David
Newland Jph.

MATLASKE, a village and small parish, 7 miles N.N.W. of Aylsham, contains 215 inhabitants, and about 500 acres of land, mostly the property of Dennis Gunton, Esq., who has a great mansion here, embowered in wood, near the east end of the Church, (St. Peter,) which has a tower round at the base, and octangular at the top. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5, was augmented in 1731 with £200, given by Richd. Whitaker, and £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The King, as Duke of Lancaster, is the patron; and the Rev. S. Buckling is incumbent. Directory—D. Gunton, Esq.; D. Gunton, jun., gent.; Chas. Cooper, shoemaker; Henry Howes and Wm. Spurgeon, farmers; Ehs. Newstead, Mary Steward, and Sophia Tubby, shopkeepers; Fras. Parker, wheelwright; & Chas. Thaxter, blacksmith.

METTON, a parish with a few dispersed houses, 3½ miles S. of Cromer, has only 81 inhabitants, and 662a 2s. 32r. of land, all the property of W. H. Windham, Esq., the lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, (St. Andrew,) which has a square tower, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £7, and consolidated with Felbrigg.—Directory—Rev. Cromer Cromer, B.A., rector; Dennis Chapman, wheelwright; & Jas. Bertram, Chas. Smith, & Jas. Wright, farmers.

MUNDESLEY, as a bathing place, ranks next to Cromer, from which it is distant 7 miles E.S.E., and holds a similar situation on the lofty and broken cliffs of the ocean, which are here divided by a deep ravine, through which a small stream, after passing over the wheel of a corn mill, discharges itself upon the beach, which has a broad firm sand at low water. Mundesley is a pleasant village, commanding an extensive view of the ocean; sheltered behind by lowering hills, and distant 5 miles N. by E. of North Walsham, and 20 miles N.N.E. of Norwich. It has increased its population, since the year 1801, from 204 to 436 souls; and its parish comprises about 800 acres of land, wasted by the continual encroachments of the sea, like that at Cromer, (see page 564,) and forming part of the manor of Gillingham-Lancaster, held of the Crown by Lord Suffolk; but a great part of the soil belongs to other proprietors, several of whom have neat modern houses here, partly for the accommodation of visitors during the bathing season. Wreck of the sea, and all "Royal fishes" between Mundesley and Loodyard, belong to this manor, which passed from the Earls Warren, to the great John of Gaunt. In 1810, a very rare and curious fish, called the Opah, or King fish, was found on the beach. Mundesley has been much improved during the last ten or twelve years, chiefly through the spirited exertions of F. Wheatley, Esq., (Vice-Admiral of the coast,) who has built a handsome mansion on the cliff; and to preserve it from the encroachments of the sea, has lately erected, at the cost of £1000, two massive walls, forming an upper and a lower terrace, the latter of which being 90 feet above the beach, commands an extensive marine prospect. Here are two good inns and several respectable lodging-houses, with bathing machines, a warm bath, and other necessary accommodations for visitors. There is a life boat at Mr Wheatley's; and on the highest point of the cliff, is a signal-station for the preventive-service, in which the mortar, for the preservation of shipwrecked seamen, with its carriage, &c., is constantly kept ready for use. Though Mundesley has no haven, it imports coals, timber, &c., for the adjacent country as far as North Walsham, and exports corn; the vessels being laid upon the beach, and laded and unladed in the same manner as those of Cromer—(See p. 565)—Mr. Wheatley imports in his own vessels from 25 to 31 cargoes of coal, yearly. Here are 4 large and 7 small fishing boats the former are employed chiefly in catching herrings, and the others bring in crabs, lobsters, cod, &c. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, which stands on a lofty point of the cliff above the village, has been a noble edifice, but the tower is gone, and the chancel and part of the nave are in ruins. The remaining part of the nave has received a new gable and a pyramidal roof, and is neatly fitted up for divine service. The three bells are hung in a frame in the churchyard. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 9s. 6d., was augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1800. The King, as Duke of Lancaster is the patron, and the Rev. Robert Steele is incumbent. The father of Archbishop Tenzon was ejected from this living in 1640, for his loyalty to the unfortunate Charles I.

Those marked * have Lodgings
 Aufrere Rev. Philip, (& S. Arming)
 Barcham Miss Emma, Ulg. school
 Barcham Wm., a joiner
 Bayfield Denny Scott, ship owner
 * Boughay Chas. vict. Hotel
 * Brett Jas. grocer and draper
 Cleveland Joseph, junor
 Cook Hammond, tailor
 Eyring John, gent.
 Gaze Thomas, wheelwright
 Gordon Rev. Wm.
 Harrison Paul, vict. Ship Inn
 Hastings Bj. cooper & fish curer
 Hastings J. glazier, painter, &c.
 Hastings W. Cubitt, grocer & dpr
 Hibbert Mrs. Mary
 * Howard John, machine owner
 Jackson Geo., baker & flour dlr
 Junifer Skyles, brewer & maltster
 * Larter John, warm bath house
 Larter Wm., corn miller
 Mack and Earle, fish curers
 Mann Mrs. Elizabeth

Pratt Wm., shoemaker
 Preston John, vict. and builder,
 Life Boat Inn
 * Russell's Jas. Rooke, malt and hop dealer
 Rust Lieut. Robert, R. N.
 Staunard Jph. gent. (& Norwich)
 Starr Mr. Matthew
 Steel Rev. Robert, rector
 Wats., Thomas, blacksmith
 Wegg Mark, shoemaker
 Wheatley Francis, ship owner &
 merchant
 Wilkinson Rev. Wm. F. (& N.
 Walsham.)

FARMERS

Earl John	Howes John
Hasdell Dennis	Jarvis Robt.
Hastings —	Nock Jds. Hy.
Postman, Wm. Pratt, to North Walsham, dep. 12 noon, or 6 afternoon, daily
John Earl, carrier to Norwich.

NORTH REPPS is a large detached village in two parts, called Church street, and Par-street, 3 miles S. S. E. of Cromer, comprising in its parish a number of scattered houses, 605 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, picturesquely broken into hill and dale, and mostly belonging to Lord Suffield, the lord of the manor, but Richard H. Gurney, Esq., has a large estate here and three neat mansions, viz., the Hall, Hill House, and The Cottage. The latter (embowered in wood,) is sometimes called the Hermitage, from its secluded situation in a deep narrow valley which has an opening towards Overstrand and the sea. This delightful cottage is fitted in the Gothic style, and with the porch, is thatched and fitted up with much neatness and simplicity. The upper arches of the windows are filled with stained glass, and the parlour, which commands a view of the ocean, is decorated with marine plants, shells, prints, &c. On an eminence called Toils Hill, is a very fine echo, produced by a bold and lofty range of hills on the opposite side of the vale, and extending between it and the sea, from Overstrand to Sidestrand. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a handsome building with a lofty square tower. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £18, has about 9a. of glebe. The King, as Duke of Lancaster, is patron, and the Rev. Peter Comerford Law is the incumbent. The church land was let in 1786, for £2. 1s. a-year. The Rectory House is a large and handsome mansion, erected at the cost of £4000 by the late incumbent, the Rev. Thomas Hay, D.D., who also built the Free School, and endowed it with £1000 three per cent stock. Wm. Rugge, or Reppea, Bishop of Norwich, who died in 1550, was a native of this parish. In the following Directory, those marked 1, are at Beckside; 2, Church street; 3, Far street; 4, Hill farm; 5, Hungry hill; 6, Skinner's; and 7, Winspurs.

Buxton Miss Sarah M. The Cottage
 Buxton Thomas Powell, Esq. Hall
 Callow Abraham, butcher
 2 Chamberlain Ann, free school
 2 Curtis Charles, tailor
 Gurney Miss Amy, The Cottage
 Gurney Rd. H. Hill House
 2 Hill Robert, baker
 2 Hutson Wm. & Son, blacksmiths, iron and brass founders, and agricultural implement makers
 Law Rev. Patrick, C. B. A. Rectory
 Payne Sherman, beer house
 2 Platten Elizabeth, Infant school

Playford Henry, gent. Overstrand
 2 Storey Edw. & Wm. shoemakers
 2 Summers Edm. wheelgt. & shopr.
 2 Summers Rt. beer house, & carrier
 2 Underwood Jph. shopkeeper
 2 Wason Robt. shoemaker

FARMERS.

2 Amos Wm.	1 Emery Thos.
6 Crask John	3 Goulder John
4 Cross Jerk.	6 Love John
3 Cross John	1 Messent John
7 Curties Thos.	5 Page John
2 Emery George	3 Pearson Jas.
2 Emery James	2 Scottow Saml.

OVERSTRAND, a small parish of scattered houses, 2 miles E. by E. of Cromer, has 178 inhabitants, and only about 400 acres of land, extended two miles along the sea cliffs, and bounded, inland, by a lofty range of hills. Lord Suffield is lord of the manor, as part of Gillingham-Lancaster; and most of the soil is copyhold, subject to arbitrary fines. On the beach is a hamlet and fishing station, commonly called Back Hoy, and having 4 large and 14 small fishing boats, with a herring curing-house, and a Free School, the latter built and supported by Misses Gurney and Buxton, of North Reppe's Cottage. The old Church was swallowed by the sea in the reign of Richard II., when the present one, dedicated to St. Martin, was erected on half an acre of land given by John Reymes; but the chancel and part of the nave are in ruins, and the remainder is walled in and fitted up for divine service. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £2. 1s. 5d., was augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1600. Lord Suffield is patron, and the Rev. John Cubitt, incumbent. Foulness or Cromer Light House, is in this parish, (see page 564.) Directory.—John Bishop; James Cross, (& brick maker.)

Moses Moore and Francis Neave, farmers; James Crask, bricklayer; John Curtis, boat owner, Henry Fox, baker; Wm. Nelson, gentleman, Ellis Newstead, Light-house keeper, John Rogers and John Savoroy shoemakers, Robt. Summers, vict., White Horse; Edward Summers, fish curer, and Robt. Summers, carrier to Norwich, Friday, 9 morning

PLUMSTEAD, a small village on an eminence, 4 miles S. E. of Holt, has in its parish 220 inhabitants, and about 650 acres of land, of which J. T. Mott, Esq., is principal owner and lord of the manor. The Church, (St. Michael,) is a rectory valued in K. B. at £5. 3. 4d., and has 10a. of glebe. The King as Duke of Lancaster, is patron, and the Rev Benjamin Suckling is incumbent. Directory: Daniel Broughton and John Windett, farmers; Wm Goodwin, blacksmith; Wm Green, cattle dealer, Chrpas Harmer, bricklayer; John Overton, corn miller; Wm Pratt, farmer and vict., Cherry Tree; Wm Pull, shoemaker; John Pyle and John Tubby, pump makers, and Henry Thurtle, beer-house

ROUGHTON, 6½ miles N. by E. of Aylsham, is a pleasant village in an open vale, and has in its parish 439 inhabitants, and 1140 acres of land, including 376a. 2n. 28p. of heath, on which the parishioners cut turf, furze, &c. Lord Suffield is the principal owner and lord of the manor, which was held by Sir Robert de Ufford, in the reign of Edward II, when the Abbot of Coxford claimed a free water-course here for his mill at Thorpe-Market. The Church has a round embattled tower, and is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £4. The Rev Fleetwood Churchill is incumbent, and the Bishop of Ely is patron and appropriator, but the rectorial tithes are leased to Lord Suffield. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here. The Free School, endowed with 36 acres of land, was founded by Robert Brown, early in the 17th century. The town land contains 7 acres, and the poor have two annuities of 40s. each, left by Mdk. Tenant and Mary Hagan.

Coe Thomas, gardener
Denny Martin, shopkeeper
Fox H. & Pye John, blacksmiths
Horner Wm. Parsley, cooper
Starling John, parish clerk
Temple Robert, grocer
Wrenn John, vict. New Inn
Wortley Leonard, Free school

Corn Millers.

Joy Robt B

Temple John

Farmers.

Amos Lee

Denny Joshua

Garrad Eliz.

Hust Samuel

Knights Chas.

Sutton Steph.

Shoemakers.

Knights Edm.

Ward Chas.

Wheelwrights.

Allison James

Hewitt Robt.

RUNTON parish lies on the sea coast, and has two small villages called East and West Runton, and distant from 1 to 2 miles W. of Cromer. It contains 473 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land subject to the incursions of the ocean, and bounded on the south by lofty range of hills. The soil is held by a number of proprietors under the several manors of Runton Hey, (W. H. Windham), Runton-Stabbs, Beeston-Regis, East Beckham, Felbrigg, Aylmerton, and Gresham. The Church (Trinity) stands on an acclivity above West Runton, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £10, and united with Aylmerton. The Rev Cromer Cromer is incumbent, and W. H. Windham patron. East Runton is a fishing village, nearly a mile east of the church, on a small green, sheltered by a fine am-theatre of hills, with a narrow opening to the beach, where there are four large and ten small fishing boats, and in the village is a curing-house. The executors of the late Rev P. Johnson, and Mr. Joseph Covell, have neat houses and estates here. Six parcels of poor's land, left by Edmund Hook, Mary Hogan, and others, are now let for about £30 per annum. In the following Directory, those marked 1 are in East, and 2 in West Runton

1Abbs D & Grimbles T. shoemks.
1Baker Jph. miller & brickmaker
1Brownell Bl. bkkm. & beerhs.
1Bunting Jph. vict. and grocer
1Holman James, wheelwright
1Johnson Herbert Jerrett, solr.
2Leak James, blacksmith
1Love Mary, shopkeeper
1Mann Miss Sarah
1Mayes John, schoolmaster
Richards Wm bricklayer

FARMERS.—* are yeomen.
1Abbs Fras.
2*Abbs Fras.
1Abbs John
2Abbs Joseph
2Abbs Thomas
2Abbs Thomas
1Bartram Jas.
1* Covell Jph.
2Ellis Wm.
1 Ives Robt.
2Pank Susan.
2*Pank Thos.
1Wright Hry.

Carrier, James Clarke, to North Wabham, Tues. and Thurs. 6
morning.

SHERRINGHAM parish, 1 miles W. of Cromer, and from 5 to 6 miles E.N.E. of Holt, has increased its population since the year 1801, from 392 to 899 souls, and comprises 2182a. 25r. of land, and the villages of Upper and Lower Sherringham, the latter situated on the sea cliffs, and the former (with the church) distant above a mile inland, and sheltered on the south by lofty hills, finely clothed with wood. H. R. Upcher, Esq., of Sherringham Grove, owns a great part of the soil, and is lord of the manor; but part of the parish is in Viscountess Ennismore's manor of Morley Hall. The late A. Upcher, Esq., erected a large and elegant mansion of white brick, overlooking a fine bay of the ocean, and sheltered by a woody acclivity, but he died in 1819, just before it was completed, and it has not yet been occupied. He was interred in a mausoleum, which he built adjoining the church, and his relict has erected a handsome white marble monument to his memory in the chancel. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a vicarage, certified at £16, but augmented from 1773 to 1816 with £1800 of royal bounty, partly laid out in land at Acle. The Rev Benjamin Pulleyns is incumbent, and the Bishop of Ely is the patron and appropriator of 29a. 2r. 12r. of glebe, and all the tithes—now leased to Viscountess Ennismore. Near the church is a large reservoir, which was formed in 1814, to supply the village with water, brought in pipes from a spring on a neighbouring hill. The House of Industry for the nine parishes named at page 560, was erected in 1805, and will accommodate 150 paupers, but has seldom more than a third of that number. The School is supported by Mrs. Upcher, for the education of 30 boys and 50 girls, who each pay 1d. per week. The Wesleyans have a small chapel in the village. The poor's land is let for £19, of which £10 is divided in Upper, and £9 in Lower Sherringham. The poor widows of the former village have seven pecks of wheat on New-Year's day, pursuant to the will of the late A. Upcher, Esq. Thomas Thompson, sailiff of Yarmouth, left 20s a-year for two sermons, on Good Friday and St. John's day.

Lower Sherringham is situated 1½ mile N.E. of the church, on the lofty sea cliffs, which are parted by a narrow ravine through which a small rivulet and a road wind down the beach. It is a considerable fishing station, having six curing-houses, 26 herring boats, and a number of smaller fishing boats. Cod, skate, whilings, crabs, and lobsters, are plentiful, especially the two latter, of which great quantities are sent to London, by vessels which take the fish from the boats while at sea. On the rivulet is a small paper mill. The cliffs rise to the height of more than 100 feet, but are continually wasted by the incursions of the ocean. It is not uncommon to see large pieces of arable land carried away with corn growing upon it, and on Oct 22nd, 1800, during an extraordinary high tide, a large and well built inn was tumbled in a heap of ruins upon the beach, leaving the inhabitants sufficient time and warning to save themselves and the chief part of their furniture. A new inn has since been erected further from the verge of the cliff, but the sea has approached it so closely, that it will, perhaps, in a few years, be involved in the fate of its predecessor. Here was anciently a chapel dedicated to St Nicholas, and some traces of it still remain. An Infant School, established here in 1830, by Mrs. Upcher, is now attended by 60 children. Here is a coast-guard, consisting of an officer and six men, and the view of the ocean, peopled with fishermen, or variegated with fleets of colliers, is truly sublime, whilst a peep down the high and rugged cliff is enough to strike a stranger with horror, though the farmer often ploughs to the very brink.

Those marked 1, reside at Lower, & 2, at Up. Sherringham.

1 Barcham Benj. auctioneer, ship owner, and coal merchant.
 1 Breese Elmer, vict. Lobster
 2 Carter Steph. painter, glazier, &c.
 1 Cooper John, baker & flour dlr.
 2 Cristops Samuel, corn miller
 2 Curtees Jph. gov. Workhouse
 2 Doughty John, blacksmith and vict. Red Lion
 2 Haddon Samuel, tailor & drpt.
 2 Howe Wm. beer house
 Hurry Wm. blacksmith
 Lown Wm jun. wheelwright
 1 Nightingale Jph. paper maker and vict. Crown Inn
 2 Pegg Thomas, butcher
 2 Pegg Thos. jun. baker, &c.
 Percival Lieut. Rd. R.N. coast-guard
 Shillfield Eliz. infant school
 1 Sunman Rt. fishmonger & beerhs.
 2 Sunman Rt. wheelwght. joiner, and boat builder

Upcher H R. Esq., and Mrs. Charlotte, The Grove

1 Ward Samuel, corn miller
 1 Wilson Rt. rope & twine spinner
 1 Wodehouse Ed. rope, &c. spinner.
Farmers.
 * are yeomen.
 1* Barcham W. & maltster
 2* Chamberlin R.
 2* Cranefield C.
 2 Cubitt James
 2* Lown Leold.
 2 Lown Wm.
 2* Marsh Robt.
 2* Pegg Henry
 1* Pegg John
 2* Pegg John
 2* Pegg Thos.
 2 Put Thomas
Fish curers.
 1 Breese Elmer

Carrier.—Matthew Jordan, to Norwich, Tue. & Fri. 9 avg.

SIDESTRAND, or Syderstrand, a small parish on the coast, 2 miles S E. of Cromer, has 160 inhabitants, but only about 100 acres of land, partly belonging to Samuel Hoare, Esq., the lord of the manor, and patron of the Church (St Michael,) alternately with the King. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 10s. has 2a. 19r. of glebe, and was augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1810. The Rev. P. Johnson, who died in 1835, was incumbent, and the Rev. J. Cubitt is curate. The poor's land is let for 34s. a-year.

—Directory:—John Breese, wheelwright; Joseph Durrell, corn miller and shopkeeper; Wm. Fisk, twine spanner; Edward Seppings, auctioneer; Frances and Emily Seppings, boarding academy, Side-strand Lodge; Rev. John Stewart, rector of Thwaite; and Denis Blyth, Priest Green, George Hedge, James Emery, Hy. Playford, and James Warner, farmers. The three last are land owners.

SOUTH-REPPS is a parish and well-built village, pleasantly situated on a declivity 5 miles N. by W. of North Walsham, containing 733 inhabitants, and 2059a. 1a. 17r. of land, of which 35a. are common and 82a. are wood. The soil is generally arable; about one-fourth of it belongs to Lord Suffield, and the whole is in his manor of Gunningham-Lancaster, held of the Crown. A cattle race is held here on the Tuesday fortnight after Whit-Monday. The Church, dedicated to St. James, is a handsome structure with a lofty tower; but the side aisles were taken down in 1788, and the arches built up. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £16, has 13a. of glebe. The King is the patron, and the Ven. Archdeacon Glover is the incumbent, and also chaplain to the Duke of Sussex, who, about six years ago, visited the Rectory,—a neat mansion, with a fine garden, near the church. The Methodists have a small chapel in the parish; and on a hill, about a mile from the village are the ruins of an old beacon, commanding an extensive prospect of sea and land. The poor's land is let for £5. 15s. 6d. a-year.

Baker John, glazier, painter, &c.
Baker Robt. grocer & draper
Breeze Jas. tailor and draper
Burrell John, parish clerk
Carter Mary, baker & flour dlr.
Copeman Robert, joiner
Cubitt Rev. Jn. (r. of Overstrand)
Cubitt Joseph, gent.
Dolphin Rev. J. (r. of Antingham)
Green Richard, wheelwright
Evelyn Lady Henrietta
Glover Ven. Geo. A.M. & F.R.S.
Archdeacon of Sudbury, Rectory
Haddon L. & Grag J. blkmshs.
Harmer Jno. & Wm. bricklayers
Harmer Thomas, baker
Hodson Mrs. Elizabeth

Miles Harriet, corn miller
Plumbly Sparrell, clerk to the magistrates and comr. of assessed taxes, & vict. Crown Inn
Sexton John, schoolmaster
Temple Wm. and Woods John,
bakers

Farmers.	Gardeners
Carter James	Goulden Benj.
Hewitt Robt.	Lubbock John
Martins Wm.	Pike Robt.
Painter Edmd.	Shoemakers
Seago Wm.	Baker James
Starling Sl. (& lime burner)	Foulger Robt
Weeds John	Mays Robt
	Mower Robt
	Wood Samuel

SUFFIELD, a small village and parish, 3½ miles W. by N. of North Walsham, has 272 inhabitants, and 1430 acres of land, all belonging to Lord Suffield, who derives his title from this place, his ancestor, Sir Harbord Harbord, Bart., being created Baron Suffield in 1786; but his family-seat is now at Gunton—(see also Blickling and Horstead.) The ancient Hall was converted into a farm-house by the late Lord Suffield, who founded a school here for 15 girls. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, has a square tower, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £14, in the gift of Lord Suffield, in the incumbency of the Rev. Charles Heath. The Poor's land, valued at £200, left by Thomas Symonds, in 1682, and Bulver, in 1694, was let in 1786 for £12 a-year. Dr. Father Chipperton, shopkeeper; John Chipperton, blacksmith; Edw. Darby; Rd. and Wm. Dyball, wheelwrights and joiners; Holden, viol. Suffield Arms; Jas. Horsfield, clerk; Geo. shoemaker; Mary Ann Seppings, free school; and Thomas Adam Farrow, John Kendle, James Lacey, Charles le Neve, Richardson, and Wm. Woods, farmers.

SUSTEAD parish has a small village, on an acclivity S S W of Cromer, and contains 162 inhabitants, and 3100 land, of which W. H. Windham, Esq., is principal owner of the manor, anciently held by the family of Damme, a large mansion here, of which the foundations may still be seen on the banks of a small rivulet, which abounds with trout, and flows southward to the Bure. The Church, dedicated to St. Paul, has a round embattled tower, and is a small edifice, in a picturesque situation. The curacy, certified at £16, was from 1779 to 1809, with £600 of Queen Anne's bounty, in land at Great Witchingham. W. H. Windham, Esq., rector and patron, and the Rev. F. E. Arden, B.A., is the incumbent. Directory — Peter Crowe, beer seller, Thomas Crowe, wheelwright, John Laws, tailor, Robt. Pike, blacksmith, Thos. Sharpe, John Turrell, jun., shoemaker; and Edw. Brown, Amy Cress, and John Turrell, farmers.

THORPE-MARKE is a small but handsome and well built village of neat houses and cottages, with a profusion of trees, and a large green, about a mile from Gunton Hall, and 4 miles to North Walsham and Cromer, 4½ miles S. by E. of the latter, and the same distance N N W. of the former. Its parish contains 1287 acres of land, all the property of Lord Suffield, and 1287 inhabitants, and 1287 acres of land, all the property of Lord Suffield, the lord of the manor, impropriator, and patron of the church, which is valued in K. B. at £5 11s. 3d., and was augmented by £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1807. It is endowed by Lord Suffield, incumbent is a bachelor with a mediety of the tithes of the parish. The Rev. Geo. Coleby is the incumbent. The present Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, was built partly on the site of the old church, the second Lord Suffield, who died in 1821. It is much admired for the simplicity and elegance of its construction, consisting of a single aisle, of flint and free stone, with turrets at the angles, and a gable on each side, surmounted by a cross. The windows are filled with painted glass, as also are the upper parts of the Gothic screens, which divide the chancel and the west end, and the centre part, which is fitted up for divine service. Here are several ancient monuments, taken from the old church, and a hat has been raised to two brothers of the founder. The Rants, (formerly lords of the manor,) was under the old church, and is now securely bricked up in the churchyard. The Alms for four poor widows, with 6d. a-week for each, and a poor altar, alternate year, were founded by Sir Thomas Rant, in 1600. The poor parishioners have the rent of the town land, and an annual sum of 42s. At Christmas, Lord Suffield gives half a bushel of our family. However, we have not yet been able to confirm our findings. We are now working on a larger, better, and more complete work on the subject.

FOUO - UNCLASSIFIED - CONFIDENTIAL

[illegible]

1 John. master
 2 E. B. DeWitt. assistant
 3 Samuel. master
 4 Rev. George. master
 5 E. B. DeWitt. assistant
 6 George. master
 7 Rev. George. master
 8 John. master
 9 John. master

DURING THE YEAR 1881, THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, UNDER THE ACT OF MARCH 3, 1879, HAS BEEN ENGAGED IN A SYSTEMATIC SURVEY OF THE PUBLIC LANDS OF THE TERRITORY OF ARIZONA. THE SURVEYING PARTY, UNDER THE LEADERSHIP OF THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR, HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL IN OBTAINING A LARGE AMOUNT OF INFORMATION CONCERNING THE LANDS OF THE TERRITORY, AND IN MAKING A DETAILED MAP OF THE SAME. THE RESULTS OF THE SURVEY ARE HEREIN SET FORTH IN A SERIES OF REPORTS, WHICH WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THE NEAR FUTURE. THE FIRST REPORT, RELATIVE TO THE LANDS OF THE TERRITORY, IS HEREIN SUBMITTED.

and several residents. The Church, dedicated to St. Botolph, has a tower and four bells, and is a rectory valued in K. B. at £10. 13s. 4d., in the patronage of Catherine's Hall, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Thos. Jarritt. The parsonage was rebuilt three years ago, and has 22a. of glebe. The Methodists have a small chapel here, and the poor widows have 20s. a-year, left by Wm. Worts, in 1693.

Canham William, gardener	Townrow Jas. & Watts J. shopkrs.
Chapman John, butcher	Woodrow Cremer, gentleman
Chapman Robert, saddler	Farmers —are Wortley Robt.
Cremer Rev. Robert, curate	yeomen. Shoemakers.
Flint Timothy, schoolmaster	Amos John Benas Wm.
Jarritt Rev. Thomas, Rectory	Clark Matthew French John
Long Robert, blacksmith	Cooke John Gibbins Richd.
Love Brooks, baker & flour dealer	Long William Marshall James
Newland John, joiner	Margeson Rbt. Sussins Wm.
Newland Joseph, vict. Crown	Milner Robert
Primrose Wm, corn & coal merc.	Temple John

HOLT HUNDRED

Is a highly diversified district, presenting some of the boldest scenery in Norfolk; though next the ocean it has a flat shore and a broad tract of low salt marshes. It is about nine miles in length and breadth, except at its southern extremity, where it is only about six miles broad; being bounded on the north by the sea, on the east by North and South Erpingham, on the south by Eynesford, and on the west by North Greenhoe. The town of Holt stands on a broad and flat eminence, extending eastward, between Kelling and Hunworth, to Upper Sherringham and Aylmerton, and formerly presenting a wide waste of brown heath, over which the north and north-east winds, unchecked in their course from the ocean, blew with chilling violence, but this bleakness has been much ameliorated, since the Holt and other enclosures, by the extensive plantations of H. and R. H. Gurney, Esqrs. and those of W. Hardy, Esq., and several other land owners. Many handsome residences have been built during the present century, in various parts of the Hundred, which is intersected by the whole length of the small river Glazen, which passes, by a very circuitous course of more than thirteen miles, to the ocean, near Cley, after watering a picturesque and well-wooded valley, and supplying four water-mills and two fine lakes, one of which, (a little below the river's source, near Bodham,) is used as a decoy for wild ducks, which, with geese and other aquatic birds, frequent this coast in considerable numbers. This Hundred, except Swanton-Novers, forms the Deanery of Holt, together with Field-Dalling and Cockthorpe, in North Greenhoe. It contains 28 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their land and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent. Petty Sessions are held at the Feathers Inn, Holt, every Saturday, at 12 o'clock; and Mr. J. Ransom is clerk to the magistrates.

	Pop.	Ass. Val.	Acres	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ass. Val.	Acres.
by ..	374	£200	1,040	Loughston	374	£1400	1,070
.....	380	1,400	900	Letheringsett	378	772	840
.....	300	1,300	1,400	Melton Constable }	314	1,200	1,200
.....	277	1,220	1,100	with Bergh Parva }
.....	190	773	600	Monston	171	600	1,200
.....	1,007	2,312	2,000	Salthorse	300	800	1,100
by ..	307	1,000	2,000	Saxlingham	143	1,500	800
.....	770	1,720	2,800	Sharrington	220	1,211	820
.....	100	1,000	800	Stody	182	700	1,200
.....	310	1,100	700	Swanton-Norton	277	1,000	1,000
.....	300	1,000	1,100	Thornage	220	1,000	1,200
.....	1,000	2,000	2,000	Weybourne	273	970	1,100
.....	200	200	600	Wiveton	210	770	1,000
.....	210	810	1,100	Total	10,410	2,400	2,000

Bailiffrey, is a pleasant village, on a declivity, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. of Holt. Its parish contains 275 inhabitants, and 1050 acres, all arable, except 176a. of wood and pasture. Col. J. T. Sparke is lord of the manor. The common is 1811. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, has a tower with four bells, and stands on an eminence, embowered in trees; and near the west end of its burial ground, is the tomb of a remarkably large, but now lifeless oak, which, in 1666, was so hollow, "that twelve men might stand up under its shade."

The rectory, valued in K. B. at £10. 12s. 4d., has 20a. glebe, and is consolidated with Gunthorpe, in the patronage of the Rev. J. H. Sparke, B.A. The poor's land with several small benefactions, was let in 1786 for 1000 ann. Directory:—Wm. Abram, shoemaker; Barnett Kemith; Mrs. Rose Gay; Robert Harrold, vict., Angel nos. Key, bricklayer and beer seller; Mrs. Amy Long; and Samuel Arnold, John Burrell, Charles Curtis, and John Abram, John Gutteridge, and Wm. Long, jun., the three last are land owners.

St. Dunstons is a small parish, united to Glandford, pleasantly situated in a deep and woody valley of the river Glaven, and contains 1000 acres of land, divided into the two farms of Bayfield and St. Dunstons, all belonging to Nathl. Best, Esq., who resides in a house which has a small but beautiful park, where the river forms a fine waterfall. Near the Hall, are the venerable ruins of a church which is a sinecure rectory, valued in K. B. at £4— the patron; and the Rev. Caleb Elwin is incumbent. Mr. Robins occupies the Lodge-farm.

St. Dunstons, a small sea port, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. by N. of Holt, and 1 mile W. of Cley, has in its parish 928 inhabitants, and 1000 acres of land, mostly the property of Lord Calthorpe, the lord of the manor. It was anciently called Snatterley, and much frequented by merchants. Henry III. granted it a market, which is now obsolete, but it still enjoys a considerable trade in coal, &c., and was once a noted fishing town, in 1302.

which the ingenious Mr. Cobb, in 1769, proposed to establish a fishery to supply Norwich, on his new invented plan, but the scheme was frustrated for want of unanimity. The town is above a mile from the beach, but has a good harbour or creek, which winds to the sea by a circuitous route of four miles, and was much improved under an act passed in 1817, so that vessels of 150 tons can now get up to the wharfs, where the spring tides rise about 9 feet.—(For Custom House, see Cley.)—In the reign of Edward III., there was a great fish fair here, “to which persons came from all parts.” Here was a Friary of Carmelites founded in the 24th of Edward I., and granted at its dissolution to Wm Rede. In this monastery was educated that eccentric character, John de Baconsthorpe, who, in a controversy respecting the celibacy of the clergy, asserted that the Pope possessed an inherent right to dispense with the divine law. Some portions of the boundary wall of the Friary still remain, on a declivity south of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Nicholas, and has a lofty tower, serving as a sea mark. At the north-east corner of the chancel, is a high turret, said to have been formerly used as a lighthouse. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £26 13s. 4d. It has a good residence with gardens, and 7a. 1a. of glebe, and is consolidated with Cockthorpe, Glandford, and Langham-Parva. The Rev Joseph Cotterill, M.A., is incumbent, and Lord Calthorpe is patron. The Wesleyans have a small chapel here, and adjoining the churchyard is a National School, built in 1825. An old building called the Guild-Hall, and several other small houses, belong to the poor who have also £1. 1s. yearly, as the rent of a vault, distributed in coals, together with the rent of 3 acres of land in Morston, left by Robert Bassett and another donor, and the interest of £25 bequeathed by Christopher Ringer. The Post-Office is at Ann Wells’, where letters arrive at a $\frac{1}{4}$ past 12 noon, and are despatched at a $\frac{1}{4}$ past 1 afternoon.

Barnes Stph hair dresser, druggist, and stationer

Blyford Mrs S & Bunn Mrs M.

Bond Hy. glazier, painter, &c.

Burck Rd baker & confectioner

Chadwick John, saddler

Cotterill Rev. Jph. M.A., Rectory

Cur. James, bricklayer

Custance Thomas, gent.

Farrow John, blacksmith

Frankling Felix, baker

Jeckling Fras, merchant's clerk

Johnson Mr Ts. & Jones Mr Ts.

Kennedy Wm. bricklayer

Kerrison Wm. baker & beer hs.

Malett Henry, tailor

Massingham John, butcher

Penton Mrs Mary Margaret

Pond Wm. brasier, tinner, blacksmith, & ironmonger

Sparham James, farmer

Temple John, brewer

Waller Edward, bricklayer

Wisker Bodham B tailor

Inns and Public Houses

Calthorpe Arms, Robt Vince

King's Arms, John Easter

Ship, Bennington Pitt

White Horse, Wm Thompson Storey

MERCHANTS.—* are Maltsters

* Brereton Robt & J Randal

Starling John, (& miller)

* Temple Thos. Wm. and Chas.

Academies

Beart Wm.

Grimes Rebr.

Newton Richd.

Whittall Job

Grocers & Dps

Doyle Wm.

Johnson —

Leatherdale W.

Newton Daniel

Porter Robt

Tyrrell Henry

Wells Ann

Joiners and

Wheelerights

Alcock Jas

Balters John

Dixon Henry

Howes R. (and

beer house

And Wm.	Shoemakers	Carriers—See Wireton
Mariners	Billing John	Sailing Packets to London,
Edm	Mayes Robt.	Hull, &c., every two or three
Miles	Mountain Wm.	weeks
Thomas	Shepherd Jas.
Spence Jn.

ODHAM is a pleasant village, on an acclivity near the source of the river Glaven, 3 miles E. of Holt, comprising in its parish 308 inhabitants, and about 1400 acres of land, of which John T. Mott, is principal owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the church, (All Saints,) which is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £9, now enjoyed by the Rev. Theophilus Girdlestone. The poor's land left by Thomas Francke, in 1669, was let in 1786 for 20s. The church was enclosed in 1808, and much of it has been planted.

James Thomas, machine maker,	Sayers John Gambling, gent.
John founder, & blacksmith	FARMERS.—*are yeomen.
Henry George, beer house	Bird George	Hall James
Robert W. & Jary Cpr. shoemakers.	*Emery Hy.	Sayers James
And John, vict. Red Hart	Frankland Hy.	Scarf Thomas
William Richard, butcher	Freeman Saml.	*Wrench W. B.
John Hannah, shopkeeper

BRININGHAM, or Brunningham, a small village on a pleasant elevation of the Dereham road, 3 miles S. W. by S. of Holt, has in its parish 277 inhabitants, and 1188 acres of land, of which Sir Jacob Astley is chief owner and lord of the manor. (fines arbitrary;) but here are several other proprietors, and Richd. Reeve, gent., is proprietor of the tithes and glebe, and patron of the Church, (St Maurice,) which has a tower at the west end, and is a curacy, now enjoyed by the Rev. T. S. Norgate. Belle Vue, a lofty tower with an octagonal base and circular embattled top, stands on a high eminence, commanding an extensive view of the surrounding country. Near it are two windmills, and the sources of two small rivulets, which flow to the Glaven, one by Thornage and the other by Stody. The Dereham and Holt Post leaves letters at John Oliver's, at half-past 10 morning, and returns 20 minutes past 3 afternoon

Bull John, shoemaker	Rust William, cooper
Colman Wilham, bricklayer	Sexton Wm, corn miller & beerha.
Howman Wm saddler & shopkpr.	Farmers.—*are Harmer James
Hunn Mrs. Mary	yeomen. *Locksmith Rbt.
Locksmith Richard, corn miller	Bishop Jas. B. *May Robert
Maria John, shopkeeper & vict.	Ely Robert *Winn Charles
White Hart	Purness Geo. S
Oliver John, postman & beerha.

BRINTON, 3½ miles S. W. of Holt, is a village and parish, in an open vale, with 199 inhabitants, a brewery, a soap-house, and 600 acres of land, chiefly the property of Wm. John Brereton, Esq., who has a handsome modern mansion here, with a fine lawn and small lake. This House was built in 1822, near the site of the ancient mansion, built in 1606, and rebuilt in 1721. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, stands on an acclivity, and is a rectory consolidated with Thornage, valued in K. B. at £8. 11s. 4d., and having 20a. of glebe, but no parsonage. Sir Jacob Astley is the patron, and

Rev. Augustus Daskwood is incumbent. The poor's land, purchased with £100 left by Nicholas Rogers in 1693, was let in 1726, for 20 years, to Barton Rix, watchmaker
 Hyslopson Moses Esq. & Margt.
 Hyslopson John, brewer
 Hyslopson Wm. John, Esq.
 Russell Matthew, farmer
 Gossett William, shoemaker
 Fulcher Mr.
 Margerson William, schoolmaster

Page John, tailor, chandler, and butter, grocer, and draper
 Partridge James, farmer
 Paton James, shoemaker
 Pike Nathaniel, tailor & w.
 Thatched House
 Rayner William, shoemaker

BRISTON, a parish and considerable village, near one of the sources of the river Bure 4 miles S. of Holt, has increased its population since the year 1801 from 750 to 1037 souls and contains 2524 1/2 la. 5r of land, of which 243 are pasture, 400 common, and the rest arable. It has in four Manors viz, Briston-Hall, of which R. Copeman, Esq., is lord, Briston-Monthees, of which W. R. Bulwer, is lord, Thornage, of which Sir Jacob Astley is lord; and Melton-with-Chapelle, of which J. H. Hulley, Esq., is lord. The soil belongs to a number of proprietors, some of whom are resident. A large cattle fair is held here on May 26th, but when that day falls on Saturday or Sunday, the fair is on the following Monday. A swine and sheep market, held every Tuesday, was established here a few years ago, and has continued to increase in importance. A feast or fair with a shew of horses and cattle, is held on the day after the Michaelmas day. The Church, dedicated to St. James, has a bellry, and formerly had a tower, which was taken down about 70 years ago. The vicarage valued in K. B. at £4. 10s. 6d., has 37 acres of glebe. The Rev. George Preston is patron and incumbent, and the Trustees of the Wiveton charities are improvers of the rectorial tithes. The Alms-houses given by Messrs. Bridg and Tooley, about 1650, were for some time used as the workhouse, but are now free residences for aged poor. The poor rates in this parish have been very high, but are now much reduced by 100 acres of land, let to 24 poor families, at small rents, by Sir James Astley, who, with the other principal proprietors, assisted the parish in paying for the emigration to North America and Upper Canada, of no fewer than 79 paupers during the last four years. In 1807 The Scambler left the interest of £110, to be employed in relieving widows, and educating and apprenticing poor children. The Church Sunday School is attended by about 100 children.

Bambridge Gl & Jno, bricklayers	Plegg Benjamin, yeoman
Burham Thos, vict Chequers	Harris Mr Jph. & Hill Mrs.
Blyth Joshua, tailor	Margerson John, schoolmaster
Bond Rev Rt. A. B. curate	Mayhew & Rider Thos shoemkrs
Burton Joseph, butcher	Mower Henry, corn miller
Cletheroe Wm. & Coe Rt. bakers	Pegg James, brewer & beerhouse
Coleman John, surgeon	Poynter John, blacksmith
Culman Joseph, shoemaker	Storey Thos, vict. Horse Shoe
Coulton Wm. schoolmaster	Sykes Thomas, merchant's clerk
Drewary John, blacksmith	Tuck Daniel, glover
Eacher Mr John	Weeds John, gentleman
Eacher Thos, grocer & seed mer	Wiggitt Eliz, grocer & draper
Empton William, clothes dealer	Williams William, tailor

Williamson John, haberdasher
 Woodcock John Gresham, grocer, draper, glass & china dealer, & spirit and seed merchant
 Woods Edmund, farrier
 Wright Thos. vict. Half Moon
 Wright William, tailor

FARMERS.— * are yeomen.

Austin Ann	Chamberlin G.
Baker Wm	Denny James
Bradfield Mtw.	Dewing John
Brownell Wm.	Duffield Thos.
Carr Joseph	Elliott William

Emery Geo.
 * Emery Thos.
 * Gresham Jno
 * Hill Josiah, (& lime burner)
 * Hill William Lockett —
 Lumis Joseph
 * Onkes Wells
 JOINERS AND WHEELWRIGHTS.
 Clothrose Hy.
 Nicholls Isaac
 Parke Joshua

* Paul Thomas
 * Palmer John
 Rudd Thos.
 Spooner Geo.
 Wilmerson Jno.
 Wilmerson Ths.
 jun. & son.
 Wilmerson W.
 Wrench Peter
 Taylor Francis
 Woods Bartw.
 & millwright

BURGH PARVA, 4 miles S.S.W. of Holt, is a decayed parish, which, from time immemorial, has been united with Melton-Constable. It contains only Burgh Hall, with a farm of 400 acres, occupied by Samuel Utting, and belonging to Sir Jacob Astley. The Cuvach was dilapidated many centuries ago; but some traces of it still remain near the hall. (See Melton-Constable.)

CLEY-NEAR-THE-SEA is a small town and port, on the river Glaven, about 1 mile from the beach, 8 miles W. of Wells, 4½ miles N.N.W. of Holt, and 25 miles N.N.W. of Norwich. Its parish has increased its population since 1801, from 547 to 827 souls, and contains about 2000a. of land, a great part of which is salt marsh. John Winn Thomlinson, Esq., is lord of the manor, owner of a great part of the soil, and has a neat residence on the acclivity above the town, which had formerly a small market on Saturday, and has still a pleasure fair on the last Friday and Saturday in July. The harbour is very narrow and shallow, but in its course to the sea it forms a junction with the Blakeney channel; and it is in contemplation to make a pier harbour on the beach, as a refuge for vessels passing this part of the coast, where there are many shifting shoals of sand. The Custom House for the Port of Blakeney and Cley, (including Cromer and several fishing towns,) is situated here, and according to its returns for 1834, there were exported in that year 27,000 quarters of corn, and 10,000 sacks of flour; and imported 16,000 chaldron of coals. In the same year there belonged to the various places within the limits of the port, 72 registered vessels, besides upwards of 300 fishing vessels, but the latter are chiefly at Cromer, Sheringham, Runton, &c. The Custom-house officers are John Bacon, Esq., collector, John Ellis, Esq., comptroller; Thomas Bacon and Edmund Ellis, clerks; and Jacob Jary and John Hann, tide-waiters; with a coast-waiter at Cromer. Cley Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, is a handsome Gothic edifice, with a square tower, supposed to have been built in the reign of Henry VI.; but the transepts and west porch are in ruins. In the chancel is a brass, dated 1429, and representing John Yslington, in a priest's habit. Here is also a fine brass, with representations of John Symond, his wife, and eight children; and in the churchyard is the altar-tomb of Captain John Greve, who assisted Sir Cloudesley Shovel in burning the ships in the port of Tripoli, in Barbary, in 1676. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £22 13s 4d., has 17a. of glebe, but no parsonage. J. W. Thomlin son, Esq., is the patron, and the Rev Charles Codd, B.A. is incumbent. The Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here; and in the town is a Lancasterian School, established in 1834, by J. T. Smith, for 70 boys and 40 girls, who pay 2d. each per week. The Workhouse is now divided into tenements for poor families. In 1406, James, son of Robert Bruce, King of Scotland, and heir apparent to the crown, being on a voyage to France, was driven by stress of weather on this coast, and detained by the mariners of Cley. When taken to court, King Henry, learning from the prince's protector, the Earl of Orkney, that he was going for education into France, said, "my brother of Scotland might as well have sent him to me, for I can speak French." The prince and earl were confined in the Tower of London, where they continued seventeen years, till the third year of King Henry the Sixth's reign, when they were released, and the prince immediately succeeded to the throne of Scotland. At the enclosure, in 1812, 52 acres of land were allotted to the poor.

Post-office is at Jph. Cornelius Elay's. Letters from Dereham, Holt, &c. (by mail-cart) arrive at 12 noon, and are despatched at half-past 1 afternoon.

Bacon Rt. Esq. colr. of customs
 Bayfield Mrs. Mary
 Beckwith Rev. Thomas
 Bedford Frederick, gent.
 Bell Samuel, whitesmith
 Buck Charles, surgeon
 Bulwer Mrs. Mary
 Burcham Rt. & Mrs. Lane school
 Clarke John, tailor
 Copeman John, butcher
 Crofts Mr. Thos. & Dingle Mrs.
 Ebbetts John, farmer, Old Hall
 Elia John, Esq. comptroller of customs
 Elmer Mrs. Elizabeth
 Elay Jph. Cornls. hairdresser
 Fisher Mrs. Judith
 Fisher Wm. china, glass, &c. dr.
 Green Wm. watch & clock mkr.
 Jackson John Barber, brewer, maltster, and coal merchant
 Jary Jacob, tide waiter
 Jordan Mrs. Elizabeth
 Lee John, corn & coal merchant, miller and maltster
 Mason Wm. cooper
 Moore Margt. brewer, maltster, & coal and timber merchant
 Pitcher Jonah, baker
 Prike Zach. & Rump Jas. farmers

Ramm John, tide-waiter
 Rouse Zebulon, gent.
 Rouse Rd. corn and flour dealer
 Sergeant Thos. Frary, tailor
 Shore George, butcher
 Smith John Thompson, gent.
 Stangroom Jermah. tailor & dpt.
 Sturges Dd. Ed. & Jn. brickln.
 Thomlinson John Wian, Esq., Cley Hall
 Thurston John, blacksmith
Inns and Public Houses
 Fishmonger's Arms, Wm. Gibbs
 George & Dragon, John Waller
 King's Head, Wm. Barnard
 Three Swallows, Henry Gogle
Beer Houses. Dew Thos.
 Jary Barthlw. Jarvis Wm.
 Sadler Chas. Waller John (& auctioneer)
 Sturges John
Grocers & Dprs. Mr. Marnera.
 Doyle Thos. (& baker) Barstead Saml.
 Moore John Bix James
 Muskett J. and Mann Isaac
 W. (& Holt) Platten Robt.
 Nollorth Eliz. Ramin Howard
Joiners, &c. Shoemakers,
 Digby John
 Brett John Parthing Robt.
 Christmas Jph. Mackerell Jas.
 Coe Robt. Sadler Wm.

Carriers—See Wiveton
Sailing Packets, to London and Hull, every two or three weeks.

EDGEFIELD, from 3 to 4 miles S. of Holt, is a large straggling village, in three divisions, called The Mount, The Green, and The Street, and comprising in its parish 774 inhabitants, and 2393A. 7P. of land, of which about 600 acres are heath and plantations. It is nearly all comprised in the manors of Edgefield-with-Ellingham, and Edgefield-Bacons. The executors of the late John Marcon, Esq., are lords of the former, and the Hon. J. H. Frere is lord of the latter; and among the other land owners is George Baker Ballachey, Esq., who has a handsome seat here, and is owner of The Mount, a lofty eminence, commanding a view of the sea and 30 churches. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, has an octangular tower, and is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £11. 6s. 8d. The glebe is 16A. 8R. 24P. The executors of J. Marcon, Esq., are the patrons, and the Rev. William Marcon is incumbent. On the heath is a House of Industry, erected under Gilbert's act for 50 paupers; but it has seldom half that number of inmates. The poor rates have been very high, but are now reduced by a silk and bombasin manufactory lately established here. In the parish is a Methodist chapel, and a National school, the latter built in 1815, for 60 or 80 children. The poor widows have £2 a-year from land left by Simon Woodrow, in 1639. In the following Directory, those marked 1, reside at The Green; 2, The Mount; 3, The Street; and 4, North street :—

2 Ballachey Geo. Esq. The Mount
 3 Blyth John, baker
 1 Brettingham Jonathan, baker
 1 Broughton Robert, blacksmith
 3 Dagless Samuel, shopkeeper
 4 Dagless Thomas, wheelwright
 1 Ford William, blacksmith
 Green Daniel, govr. Workhouse
 1 Green Henry and Jordan Job, shoemakers
 3 Green William, tailor
 1 Ives Robert, butcher.
 Lugg Debh. vict. Three Pigs.
 4 Marcon Rev. William, B. A., Rectory
 2 Murrell Timothy, asst. overseer
 1 Murrell Hutchn. schoolmaster

2 Muskett William and Co., silk and bombasin manufacturers

1 Otty Tabitha, grocer
 Pegg Moses, beerhouse
 Pack John, beerhouse

3 Woods Fras. vict. White Horse

FARMERS.

1 Barrett Wm.	2 Starling Chas.
1 Bishop Rd.	4 Starling Wm.
3 Burgess Thos.	Stemson —
1 Christmas Sannah	1 Walker Benj.
3 Coleman Jer.	Wood Richard
3 Jacobs Jermh.	4 Woodyard Js.
4 Ottey Robert,	1 Woodyard W.
Temple
3 William Green,	carrier to Norwich, Friday, 8 morning.

GLANDFORD-WITH-BAYFIELD form an united parish, with 102 inhabitants, and a small village of the former name, on the west side of a deep romantic and well wooded valley, watered by the Glaven, 2½ miles N. W. of Holt. Bayfield contains only two farms, and is already described at page 581. GLANDFORD comprises about 400 acres of land, exclusive of woods, plantations, and waste. G. N. Best, Esq. is owner and lord of the manor. The Church, dedicated to St. Martin, has been long in ruins, but the tower is nearly entire. The benefice has 11A. 1R. of glebe, but is consolidated with the rectory of Blakeney and Cockthorpe. Directory:—Catherine Cooke and Sons, corn millers; William Cooke, chief constable; and Fanny Leman, farmer.

GUNTHORPE, in an open vale, 5 miles S. W. by W. of Holt, is a pleasant village and parish, with 316 inhabitants, and 1119 acres, of which 736 are arable, and the rest meadows and plantations. The Church, on the west side of the vale, dedicated to S. Mary, has a nave, chancel, north transept, south porch, and a fine tower. In the transept are several neat monuments to the Conyers family. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £13, has 23½ 25s of glebe. The Rev. John Henry Sparke, B. A. is patron and incumbent, owner of a great part of the parish, and lord of the manor lately purchased of the Collyers. He resides at Gunthorpe Hall, a handsome white mansion, with a well-wooded lawn and a small lake. Sir Charles Chal and S. Brexton, J. Gay and C. Winn, Esqrs., have estates here. The poor have the interest of £25, left by Christopher Ringer, in 1678. Directory—Rev. J. H. Sparke, Gunthorpe Hall, Wm. Bridges, blacksmith; Robt. Clark, tailor, Robt. Clarke, jun. beer-seller, James Dubble, shoemaker, Henry Fitt, vict., Cross Keys; Robt. Potter and Sarah Lynn, soapkeepers, and William Barrill, Chamberlain England, Wm. Margerson, Jas. Massingham, Thos. Pease, George Porter, Martin Porter, John Sands, and Israel Winn, farmers.

HEMPSTEAD, 2 miles S. E. of Holt, is a village and parish, in a hilly valley, above the vale of the Glaven, containing 286 inhabitants, and 1100 acres, of which 100 are woods and plantations. Manor seignior to Lady Suffolk, of Buckling, and H. and R. H. Gurney, Esqrs., the two latter are lords of the manors of Hempstead, Nottingham Hall, and Low Hall. The Church has a brick tower, built in 1744, and is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £9 6s 8d, and augmented with 13s of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1792, laid out in land at Bodnam, let for 12s per annum. Here is 15½ of old glebe. The Rev. J. W. Methold is incumbent, and the Dean and Chapter of Norwich are patrons and appropriators; but Lady Suffolk is lessee of the tithes. In the vale of the Glaven is a large wild fowl decoy, belonging to Mr. Gurney.

Douglas John, blacksmith
 Eldon Benj. grocer & draper
 Ling Benjamin, assmt. overseer
 Miler Charles, gentleman
 Money George, shoemaker
 Pegg Jas. vict., Hare & Hounds
 Skelton Richard, gamekeeper
 Skillings Richard, joiner

Wright Thos. vict., White Horse
FARMERS

Bell John	Garwood Geo.
Bird William	Ling Martha
Bond Jeremiah	Ramm Robert
Edwards John	Rump William
Carrier, Edmund Fowl, to Norwich, Friday, 8 morning

HOLT, which gives name to this Hundred, is a neat market town, pleasantly situated on a rising ground, at the junction of several public roads, 24 miles N. N. W. of Norwich; 12 miles N. W. by N. of Aylsham, 18 miles N. by E. of East Dereham, 4 miles S. S. E. of Blakeney and Cley; and 119 miles N. E. by N. of London. It has been much improved during the present century, and has increased its population since the year 1801, from 1004 to 1622 souls. From its high situation it is remarkably clean and salubrious, and it would assume a very interesting aspect, if the higher grounds in its immediate vicinity were judiciously planted and the roads Macadamised;—many neat houses having been recently built in the town and suburbs.

Holt, was endowed it with this manor and the Prior's Grove, vested in trust with the Fishmongers' Company, for the education of 50 free scholars, to be chosen by them from the town of Holt and its neighbourhood, and instructed by a master and usher in reading, writing, arithmetic, English grammar and in the Latin and Greek languages. In addition to the ample salaries of the master and usher, they receive small quarterages, and allowances for books &c. for each free scholar, and the master is allowed to take ten boarders. Smith's fellowship and scholarship, with an exhibition of £12 per ann. in Sydney Sussex Coll. Cambridge, belong to this school together with a fellowship in the same college, founded by Wm. Bennet, who gave £60 for that purpose. The Fishmongers' Company are governors of the school, and send visitors to inspect it. They appoint a steward and game-keeper of Holt-Peters manor. The National School, in the Shire-Hall, was established in January 1833, by subscription. The Work-house on the Heath, was built in 1779, when 50a. of land was enclosed from the waste, and is now the parish farm. In the garden adjoining the Workhouse, is a remarkably large Hydrangea 3 feet 4 inches in height, and 18½ feet in circumference. It was planted in 1830, by Mrs. Webb, the governess, and generally bears about 400 flowers, some of which are blue. The poor have four yearly rent-charges; viz., £2. 10s. left by Blanch Schuldham, in 1738, for fortnight's wages of bread, 10s., left by Stephen Fenke, in 1661, and two of 20s. left by unknown donors. ANNA PERERS of the family which formerly held Holt-Peters manor, was the celebrated mistress of Edward III., who, in his 47th year, granted her all the queens of Philippa, his late queen, to whom she had been maid of honour. After the death of Edward, being obnoxious to the Duke of Lancaster, and other great lords, she was attainted, and her estates and goods forfeited, but on her marriage with Sir Wm. de Wyndesore in the 3rd of Richard II. the king restored to her divers manors and lands. Wm. Withers, junr., Esq. of Holt, is author of "A Memoir addressed to the Society of Arts on the planting and rearing of Forest Trees demonstrating the necessity of Trenching, &c." For this paper he received a silver medal. John Holmes, who was 40 years master of the Grammar School, died in 1760. He was author of "A New Grammar of the Latin Language," "A Greek Grammar" and several other elementary works of great merit. Thomas Gredlestone, M.D., was born here in 1758, and died in 1820, after acquiring a high reputation as a physician, at Yarmouth, where he spent the last 20 years of his life. His medical writings are held in much estimation by the faculty and in addition to them he published several views and descriptions of ancient buildings.

The Post-Office is in High street, at Mr. J. W. King's. Letters from London, Norwich, &c. arrive at ½ past 11 a.m. and are despatched at ½ past 2 a.m. The Blakeney and Cley post departs ½ past 11 a.m. and returns ½ past 2 afternoon.

In the following DIRECTORY OF HOLT, those marked 1, reside in Bull st.; 2, Chapel st.; 3, Church street; 4, Cley rd.; 6, Cramer road; 6, Hempstead; 7, High st.; 8, Market place; 9, Withers street; 10, Fuller st.; 11, Norwich rd.; 12, Shire-hall plain; and 13, Fish-hill.

. Ann, Church street
ml. veterinary surgeon
s. Han. Hempstead rd.
Mrs. Eliz. Holt lodge farmer, Cley road
m. Spanish white mfr.
ohn, artist, High st.
Rev. Thos. Meth. min.
rs. Martha, Bull st.
Mrs. Martha, Mkt. pl.
Mr. Geo. Market place s Sarah, Market place
s. Sarah, Withers st.
Rev. Josiah Webb
nd Jas. clothes dealer
apt Thos. A. Grove
ph. gent. Chapel st.
1. cooper, Bull street
Israel, millwright
v. John Custance
hn, gent. Shire hall ln.
Rev. Jas. (Meth. min.)
m. farmer, Cley road
Mr. Edm. High street
v. W.H. B.D., Rectory
nos. gent. Withers st.
e Rev. Benj. A.M.
a. Eliz. Market place
James, High street
rs. Sus. Withers st.
Rbt. music & dang. mtr.
Rev. Benj. Church st.
v. Wm. Cromer road
Mrs. Eliz. Market pl.
Mrs. Sarah, High st.
m. gov. of Workhouse ost, farmer, High street
s. Mary, Shire hall pln.
Mrs. Hannah, Fish hill
Edw. hop merchant
ATTORNEYS.
ey Geo. Baker & Geo.
Thos. Norwich road
John, High street
Robert, High street
Wm. Church house
Wm. Woodcock, Mkt. pl.
BANKERS.
& Co. (and Norwich;)
Wm. Muskett, agents, place
AND LIFE OFFICES.
le (Suffolk,) John Carr

Atlas, John Ransom, High st.
Clerical, Medical, & Commercial
Life, (& Norwich Equitable,)
James Shalders, High street
8 Norwich Union, John Baker
Protector Fire and Crown Life,
Geo. B. Ballachey, Church st.
Sun, Robert Stoker, High street
INNS AND PUBLIC HOUSES.
Angel, John Limmer, Bull st.
Bull, Joseph Loynes, Bull street
13 Dolphin, John Risbrough Feathers Inn, (posting house & excise office,) Benjamin Crofts,
Market place
King's Head, Rd. Johnson, High st.
New Inn, Fras. Sharper, Market pl.
13 Queen Adelaide, Edw. Turner
White Lion, Wm. Leggatt

Academies. take Boardrs.

13 Dawson Edm

9* Dunbar My.

and Jane

12 Dyball Luke

11 King Sarah and Susan

Grammar, Rvs.

B. Pulleyne &

W. Taylor

National, John

& My. Jordan

8 Parrant Ann

8* Wardell Ann

Auctioneers.

7 Clark John

8 Leak Benj.

6 Withers J. S.

Bakers, &c.

1 Bloy John

7 Curties Dd.

8 Jex Daniel

8 Loynes Jas.

9 Waller John

Basket Mks.

8 Burrell Edw.

8 Watson Ths.

Beer Houses.

2 Burton Robt.

9 Carroway Rd.

9 Love John

11 Loynes Jno.

13 Robinson Rt.

Blacksmiths.

3 Brown Geo.

7 Loynes Jph.

2 Wildee Wm.

Bookseller, &c.

7 Shalders Jas.

Boot and ShoeMakers.

2 Buck George

3 Carr John

1 Gotts Eliz.

11 Lake John

6 Lewis Charles

10 Mackerell Js.

13 Middleton Jn.

8 Pearson Jas.

12 Robinson Rt.

8 Sutton Wm.

8 Turner Geo.

8 Turner Geo.

jun.

7 Williams Wm.

Brewers.

1 Heywood Ts.

3 Norton Thos.

6 Withers J. S.

Bricklayers.

10 Clare James

10 Clare Saml.

1 Gowen John

9 Love John

Butchers.

1 Blade Chas.

12 Blomfield J.

6 Case Edward	Hair Dressers	7 Baunett John	Surgeons
7 Harvey Ness	7 Bambridge W.	and Son	3 Banks John
8 Overton Rd.	1 Clarke James	7 Painter Clark	1 Ellis John F
Chemists & Drs	9 Coward R. L.	Saddlers, &c	Tailors
8 Drozier Edw.	Hat Mfrs.	7 Busham John	* are Drapers
7 Shalders Jus.	7 Eggett Wm.	8 Thurst Joseph	8 * Cavthorpe J
Confectioners	8 Risbrough J	7 Wilson Thos.	8 * Clarke Jas.
8 Burrell Edw.	Ironmongers.	Eda.	2 Darby Benj.
11 Crowe Wm.	8 Baker John,	Shopkeepers.	2 Grand Chas.
8 Jex Daniel	(& stamp off.)	8 Ellis Thomas	8 * Mallett Wal
7 Lessey Saml	7 Blade John	13 Massingham	Watchmakers
8 Mendhall Benj.	8 Massingham M	Catherine	2 Dugate Fra
Corn Millers	Joiners, &c	2 Tinker Wm.	7 Men Ish. Bap.
1 Bloy John	* Wheelwrts.	2 White John	9 Randall Jno.
6 Everitt Isaac	* Blomfield Ths.	Stone Marons	(& gunsmith)
10 Harris Wm.	Shire-hl plu	6 Jeckell Thos.	Wine, Spirit &
Carriers & Leather Cutters.	12 * Cock Jo. P.	2 Scarles Jas.	Porter Met
7 Leech Benj.	11 Cooper Chpr.		7 Clark John
10 Mackerell Js.	8 * Dawson Geo.
Gardeners	2 Dye Jas. (cab.)
6 Earl James	10 Fuller Thos
Earl ler Heath	(& par clerk)
Fuller W Heath	1 * Loynes Jph
7 Leake Wm.	2 * Loynes Pbp
Glass, &c Dirs.	11 Pentney Rl
7 Blad John	11 Mindham W.
8 Burrell Edw.	(& architect)
Massingham M	8 Sharpen Fras.
Glovers, &c	Land Surveyors
8 Blomfield Ju.	2 Burcham E & G
(& selmngtr.)	8 Leak Benj.
13 Clark Jas.	Milliners
Gracers and	7 Bigbie Eliz.
Drapers.	2 Clate Sarah
8 Dawachi Wm	8 Leak Sar. S.
7 King Jerk. W.	Organ Builder.
8 Muskett Jph.	11 Mindham W.
& Wm.	Woodrow
8 Rudkin Wm	Painters, Plbs.
2 Windett Jas.	& Glaziers
	7 Brothill John

COACHES

To London, through Dereham, &c., from the Feathers Inn, the Regulator, Mon Wed & Frid, at 4 p. 5 morning

To Norwich, from the King's Arms, Wm. Tuck's coach, Mon Wed & Sat. at 7 mg

CARRIERS

To London, Swaffham, &c., Green & Archer's vans, Wed & Sat. last from the Wit Lam.

To Blakeney and Cley, Samuel Lessey, from High st., Mon & Thurs 8 morning

To Fakenham, from the Dolphin, Samuel Mason, Thu. 2. and to Cromer, Wed. 2 aft.

To Norwich, Wm. Crowe, Norwich rd., Tue & Fri 11 mg & S. Lessey, High st Fri 11 mg.

To Wells, S. Barnes, Chapel st., Friday, 6 morning

HUNWORTH is a small parish and secluded village, in the deep vale of the Glaven, 2½ miles S S W. of Holt, comprising 285 inhabitants, and 684 acres of land, of which 40 are wood, and 29 waste. Lady Suffield is owner, and lady of the manor, and also patroness of the Church, (St. Lawrence,) which is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £4, and consolidated with Stody, in the incumbency of the Rev J W Flavell, with 6a. of glebe, but no parsonage. The school is endowed with £3 a-year, left by a Mr. Hunworth.

Banks Henry, gent
Bassingthwaite John, blacksmith
Funnell Edward, shoemaker

Funnell Martha, Free School
Jackson Richard, corn miller
Jex Thomas, baker

Peck Thos. wheelwright & joiner
 Platten Samuel, beer house
 Rudd Richard, vict. Bell
 Rudd Wm. maltster & brewer
 Smith Mrs. Una
 Spencer Jas. saddler & tanner

Wellton Howard, gamekpr. Hall

FARMERS

Bassingthwaite	Bagdell Corn
James	Pegg Robert
Bidwell Saml.	Swallow John

KELLING is a small but picturesque village, 3 miles N. of Holt, in a deep valley or ravine, extending northward to the ocean and traversed by a rivulet and road, near which the farm-houses and cottages are built; whilst the church, the rectory-house, and the hall stand on the acclivities at the head of the ravine, commanding a fine view of the sea, which is distant only about two miles. The parish contains 213 inhabitants, and 1100 acres of land, including 800 of near E., partly a sheep walk, and partly enclosed about 60 years ago, when 200 acres were awarded for the use of the cottagers, to cut hay and graze their cattle. Mrs. P. M. Gardlestone, who occupies the Hall, owns the greater part of the soil, and is lady of the manor, which was formerly held by the Ilkeshales. She is also patroness of the Church (St. Mary,) which is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £12, and now enjoyed by the Rev. W. E. Gardlestone with 14 acres of glebe.—Directory—Mrs. Eliz. Barber, Jpn. and Wn. Davy, yeomen, Mrs. Phoebe Maria Gardlestone, Kelang Hall, Rev. W. E. Gardlestone, Rectory, Edm. Nurse, corn miller, Rt. Nurse, wheelwright, and Margaret Park, shopkeeper.

LANGHAM is a village and parish, 5 miles W. N. W. of Holt, containing 375 inhabitants, and 1672 acres of land, of which 1000 are wood. It was formerly in two parishes, called Langham Magna and Parva; but the church of the latter was dismantled several centuries ago, and its rectory, valued in K. B. at £4. 6s. 8d., consolidated with Cockthorpe and Blakeney, in the gift of Lord Calthorpe and incumbency of the Rev. Joseph Cottrell. The Church of Langham Magna, or Langham Episcopi is dedicated to St. Andrew and St. Mary, and has a fine embattled tower. It is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £4. 10s. The Bishop of Norwich is the patron and appropriator, and the Rev. Francis Ellis is incumbent. At the enclosure, land was allotted in lieu of tithes, viz., 2000 to the Bishop, 1000 to the vicar, and 49 to the rector, the latter of whom performs no duty here. Capt. Frederick Marryat, R. N., owns a great part of the parish and is lord of the manor. Among the other principal landowners are the Rev. S. P. Rippingall, (who has a handsome mansion here, built fourteen years ago,) Mr. B. Wright, Mr. Cubitt Wells, and Lord Calthorpe. The poor have 20s. a-year for blankets, left by Christopher Ringer in 1678, and 10s. left by an unknown donor.

Bird James, blacksmith	Olley Charles, grocer & draper
Boyce John & Wm. wheelwrights	Reynolds Thomas beer house
Buck Jas. gent. & Chambers Mrs.	Rippingall Rev. Stephen Frost
Mann Edmund, saddler	Wisker Wm. & Nash Rt. farmers
Massingham John, blacksmith	Withers James, gamekeeper
Nelson Wm. saddler & shopkpr.	Wright Beeston yeoman & miller

LEATHERINGSETT is a romantic village, picturesquely seated in the deep and well wooded valley of the small river Glaven, 1 mile W. of Holt, where a bridge was erected by subscription in 1818. The parish

6 Case Edward	Hair Dressers	7 B
7 Harvey Ness	7 Bambridge W
8 Overton Rd.	1 Clarke James	7 F
Chemists & Dts.	9 Coward Rt. L.	8
8 Drozer Edw.	Hat Mfrs.	7 B
7 Shalders Jas.	7 Eggett Wm.	8 T
Confectioners	8 Rusbrough J	7 V
8 Burrod Edw.	Ironmongers
11 Crowe Wm.	8 Baker John	8 J
8 Jex Daniel	(& stamp off.)	8 M
7 Lessey Saml	7 Bude John	12 J
8 Mendhall Benj.	8 Massingham M
Corn Millers	Joiners &c	2 J
1 Bloy John	• Wheelwrights.	2 V
6 Everitt Isaac	• Blomfield Ths	8 M
10 Harris Wm	Shire h. plu.	6 J
Curriers & Leather Cutters	12* Cook Ju. P.	2 E
7 Leach Benj	11 Cooley Chpr
10 Mackerell Js.	8* Dawson Geo.
Gardeners	2 Dye Jas. (cat.)	7
6 Earl James	10 Fuller Thos
Earl Jer. Heath	(& par. clerk)
Fuller W. Heath	1 • Lovnes Jph
7 Leake Wm.	2 • Lovnes Pph.	7
Glass, &c. Dirs.	11 Pentney Rt.
7 Blace John	11 Mindham W
8 Butrell Edw	(& architect)
Massingham M	8 Sharpen Fras	7
Glovers, &c.	Land Surveyors
8 Blomfield Jn	2 Burcham E & G
(& sellinger.)	8 Leak Benj.	7
13 Clark Jas	Milliners
Grocers and Drapers.	7 Bigbie Elz.
8 Dawson Wm	2 Clate Sarah	7
7 King Jerh. W	8 Leak Sar. S.
8 Muskett Jph.	Organ Builder
& Wm.	11 Mindham W.	7
8 Rickin Wm	Woodrow
2 Windett Jas.	Painters, Plbr.
	& Glovers	7
	7 Brothall John

HENWORTH is a small parish and vale of the Glaven, 2½ miles S S W. bitants, and 684 acres of land, of which Lady Suffield is owner, and lady of the manor. (St. Lawrence,) which is valued at £4, and consolidated with Stody, in the parish of W. Flavell, with 64 of glebe, but not endowed with £3 a-year, left by a Mr. H.

Banks Henry gent.	Fu
Bassingthwaite John, blacksmith	Jas
Funnell Edward, shoemaker	Jes

ture, valued in K. B. at £20, has 2s of globe, and is sent by the Rev W. E. Gardinere, together with a...

Widgas Henry, shoemaker

Hansen & Samuel, baker

Captain Thomas Baker

Hardingham Wm shopkeeper

John William, shopkeeper

Johnson Alex Hargrath

Johnson, John, 142

1. 1000 ft. 4. bricklayer

Black Mouson Loan & Elizabeth

Manuscript Jan. 10-20

Mathew H. ...

May 1 20 1891

Neave (1964) Large, 1964

Payne Edmund, 1841-1911

Purdy Mtn. Area

Spence Robert, 46-47-48-49-50-51-52-53-54-55-56-57-58-59-60-61-62-63-64-65-66-67-68-69-70-71-72-73-74-75-76-77-78-79-80-81-82-83-84-85-86-87-88-89-90-91-92-93-94-95-96-97-98-99-100-101-102-103-104-105-106-107-108-109-110-111-112-113-114-115-116-117-118-119-120-121-122-123-124-125-126-127-128-129-130-131-132-133-134-135-136-137-138-139-140-141-142-143-144-145-146-147-148-149-150-151-152-153-154-155-156-157-158-159-160-161-162-163-164-165-166-167-168-169-170-171-172-173-174-175-176-177-178-179-180-181-182-183-184-185-186-187-188-189-190-191-192-193-194-195-196-197-198-199-200-201-202-203-204-205-206-207-208-209-210-211-212-213-214-215-216-217-218-219-220-221-222-223-224-225-226-227-228-229-230-231-232-233-234-235-236-237-238-239-240-241-242-243-244-245-246-247-248-249-250-251-252-253-254-255-256-257-258-259-260-261-262-263-264-265-266-267-268-269-270-271-272-273-274-275-276-277-278-279-280-281-282-283-284-285-286-287-288-289-290-291-292-293-294-295-296-297-298-299-300-301-302-303-304-305-306-307-308-309-310-311-312-313-314-315-316-317-318-319-320-321-322-323-324-325-326-327-328-329-330-331-332-333-334-335-336-337-338-339-340-341-342-343-344-345-346-347-348-349-350-351-352-353-354-355-356-357-358-359-360-361-362-363-364-365-366-367-368-369-370-371-372-373-374-375-376-377-378-379-380-381-382-383-384-385-386-387-388-389-390-391-392-393-394-395-396-397-398-399-400-401-402-403-404-405-406-407-408-409-410-411-412-413-414-415-416-417-418-419-420-421-422-423-424-425-426-427-428-429-430-431-432-433-434-435-436-437-438-439-440-441-442-443-444-445-446-447-448-449-450-451-452-453-454-455-456-457-458-459-460-461-462-463-464-465-466-467-468-469-470-471-472-473-474-475-476-477-478-479-480-481-482-483-484-485-486-487-488-489-490-491-492-493-494-495-496-497-498-499-500-501-502-503-504-505-506-507-508-509-510-511-512-513-514-515-516-517-518-519-520-521-522-523-524-525-526-527-528-529-530-531-532-533-534-535-536-537-538-539-540-541-542-543-544-545-546-547-548-549-550-551-552-553-554-555-556-557-558-559-560-561-562-563-564-565-566-567-568-569-570-571-572-573-574-575-576-577-578-579-580-581-582-583-584-585-586-587-588-589-590-591-592-593-594-595-596-597-598-599-600-601-602-603-604-605-606-607-608-609-610-611-612-613-614-615-616-617-618-619-620-621-622-623-624-625-626-627-628-629-630-631-632-633-634-635-636-637-638-639-640-641-642-643-644-645-646-647-648-649-650-651-652-653-654-655-656-657-658-659-660-661-662-663-664-665-666-667-668-669-670-671-672-673-674-675-676-677-678-679-680-681-682-683-684-685-686-687-688-689-690-691-692-693-694-695-696-697-698-699-700-701-702-703-704-705-706-707-708-709-710-711-712-713-714-715-716-717-718-719-720-721-722-723-724-725-726-727-728-729-730-731-732-733-734-735-736-737-738-739-740-741-742-743-744-745-746-747-748-749-750-751-752-753-754-755-756-757-758-759-760-761-762-763-764-765-766-767-768-769-770-771-772-773-774-775-776-777-778-779-780-781-782-783-784-785-786-787-788-789-790-791-792-793-794-795-796-797-798-799-800-801-802-803-804-805-806-807-808-809-810-811-812-813-814-815-816-817-818-819-820-821-822-823-824-825-826-827-828-829-830-831-832-833-834-835-836-837-838-839-840-841-842-843-844-845-846-847-848-849-850-851-852-853-854-855-856-857-858-859-860-861-862-863-864-865-866-867-868-869-870-871-872-873-874-875-876-877-878-879-880-881-882-883-884-885-886-887-888-889-890-891-892-893-894-895-896-897-898-899-900-901-902-903-904-905-906-907-908-909-910-911-912-913-914-915-916-917-918-919-920-921-922-923-924-925-926-927-928-929-930-931-932-933-934-935-936-937-938-939-940-941-942-943-944-945-946-947-948-949-950-951-952-953-954-955-956-957-958-959-960-961-962-963-964-965-966-967-968-969-970-971-972-973-974-975-976-977-978-979-980-981-982-983-984-985-986-987-988-989-990-991-992-993-994-995-996-997-998-999-1000-1001-1002-1003-1004-1005-1006-1007-1008-1009-1010-1011-1012-1013-1014-1015-1016-1017-1018-1019-1020-1021-1022-1023-1024-1025-1026-1027-1028-1029-1030-1031-1032-1033-1034-1035-1036-1037-1038-1039-1040-1041-1042-1043-1044-1045-1046-1047-1048-1049-1050-1051-1052-1053-1054-1055-1056-1057-1058-1059-1060-1061-1062-1063-1064-10

William Peter, 1897 and 1898.

Dun Cow

[illegible][illegible]

SLETHY Under S. by W. of Holt, is a parish and tithing, comprising a narrow dell, with a small stream flowing northward to the sea. It contains 161 inhabitants, and 1270 acres of land, mostly the property of Lady Skellett, of Blackington, the lady of the manor and patroness of the church, (St Mary,) which is a rectory valued at £1100 at 1843-44, consistory of 1 wts Howard and now at the cumbency of the Rev J W Playell, of Holt. The glebe is 35 acres, but the parsonage is divided into cottage tenements. The common was enclosed in 1807, when 1428 acres of land was allotted to the several owners of the highways. An annuity of £3 left by Mr Symonds for the education of poor children, is now paid by Lady Blackington. John de Stedy who held this manor, was lord mayor of London in 1457.

but budget too thin in th

Cambridge James Bricklayer

Wendy's Supermarket, Wm IV

to a high level of lake & ground

Traveling Jacob, with his shoes

James R. land surveyor, age

former and associate of corn subject and inspection of the subject for 11-1

Funnell Richard Woods, grocer and draper

Sturley Wm Litcher

Williams Robert, garçonne

F. K. H. M. E. 10

Ladell William,

Hall

Maya Thomas

STATION [bent]

Wade W. W.

SWANTON NOVERS is a parish and scattered village, 6 miles W. by S. of Holt, comprising 377 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land. The common was enclosed in 1811. The soil belongs partly to four resident proprietors, but mostly to Sir Jacob Astley, the lord of the manor. The Church, dedicated to St. Edmund, the King, stands on an eminence, and has a nave, tower, and chancel, the latter rebuilt in 1821, of brick and flints. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £4. 15s. 2d., is in the patronage of the Dean and Canons of Christ Church, Oxford, and incumbency of the Rev. E. M. Salter. The Methodists have a small chapel here.

Bunting Edw. cattle dealer
 Chester Mr. Martin
 Codling Thomas, blacksmith
 Comor Mr. Robert
 Dew Wm. gent.
 Giles Samuel, schoolmaster
 Groom Henry, tailor
 Groom John, grocer and draper
 Jary John, tailor, drpr. & grocer
 Palmer John, vict. Bell

Patrick Matthew, shoemaker
 Rooke John, butcher & beer hs
 Skippon John, wheelwt. & joiner
FARMERS — * are yeomen; †
BrickMakers; and ‡ Earthen-ware Mfrs.
 Chester James ‡ Fox John
 * Colman Thos. ‡ Hilting Jno. T.
 † Colman Wm. ‡ Smith John
 Dye Robert † Tweedy Wm.

THORNAGE is a large village and parish, 2 miles S.W. of Holt, containing 332 inhabitants, and about 1300 acres of land, chiefly belonging to Sir Jacob Astley, the lord of the manor and patron of the Church, which has a nave, chancel, tower, and south porch, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 18s. 4d., and consolidated with Brinton, in the incumbency of the Rev. Augustus Dashwood, with 35a. 1r. 1p. of glebe, and a good rectory-house. The communion-plate is very ancient; and the cup is inscribed, "was the gyfte of John Butes and Margaret his wyfe—1456—whyche died in 1479." The Butts, or Butes, were long possessed of this manor, and one of them, Henry Butts, D.D., was vice-chancellor of the University of Oxford, in 1629, but was found, soon afterwards, "hanging in his garters, in his own chamber." He was son of Sir Wm. Butts, physician in ordinary to Henry VIII.

Bangay Newman, cooper
 Bangay Thomas, blacksmith
 Burrell Shambrook, gent. Little
 Thornage
 Clare Jsh & Key John, bricklrs.
 Cooke John & Thos. gent.
 Cooke and Sons, corn millers (& Glandford)
 Dashwood Rev. Augsts. rector
 Graveling Chas. wheelwright
 Grove & Rook, grocers & drapers
 Groom Thos. cattle dealer
 Hall John, gentleman
 Hunter Thomas, tailor

Ives Robert, butcher
 Mann John, wheelwright
 Mann Rd. & John, iron & brass
 Indra & agl. machine makers
 Murrell Mrs. Jane
 Pyle Wm. baker & flour dealer
 Williams Joshua, joiner & vict.
 Black Boy
Farmers.
 * are yeomen.
 * Cooke James
 Kendle John
 Playford Thos.
 Sherringham E.
 Williams Thos.
Shoemakers.
 Cushing John
 Ives Wm.
 Williams John
 Yarham John

WEYBOURN, or Wayborne, 4 miles N.E. of Holt, is a small village, picturesquely seated on the sea-coast, in "ic bay, sheltered by a lofty, semicircular range of 1 tending on each side from the beach. Its parish contains 273 inhabitants, and 1500 acres of land, including 400a of heath. The Earl of Orford owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor. In the village, is an extensive brewery and a fish curing-house. On the beach is a herring-boat, and several smaller boats employed in catching crabs, lobsters, &c. At a place called Weybourn Hole, are traces of a fortification, and the sea is there so deep that ships may lie against the shore in perfect safety. Of the whole Norfolk coast, this is the point most open to an enemy. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, has a nave, chancel, tower and south porch, but was formerly a much larger edifice, having still the ruins of extensive aisles and transepts, and being originally the conventual church of a Priory, founded here in the reign of Henry II., for Austin canons, and granted at the dissolution to Richard Heydon. The benefice is a curacy, not in charge. The Earl of Orford is patron, and the Rev John Garton incumbent. Every step down the steep road to this secluded spot, adds new and pleasing objects to the landscape, till the whole village beneath, with the ruins of the priory, the church, and a few farm houses and fertile fields, shut out from the rest of the world by a ridge of hills, presents itself to view.

Armes Mr Thos & Lane Mr W.
Bolding Miss Elizabeth Jennie
Bolding Jno Esq, brewer & maltster
Bunn Edward, blacksmith
Copley Rd grocer and draper
Dady Ed, wheelwright & fish curer
Dawson John, corn miller
Garton Rev John, incumbent
Hammond Robert, bricklayer

Nurse Cooke, victualler, Ship
Painter James, shoemaker
Pilch John, tailor
Rowland W. vict. Crown & Anchor
Warren Mrs Maria
Formers
Craske John
Dack John
Nurse John
Pardon Robt
Piggott Wm
Pilcher Daniel
Rust James

WIVETON, or Wiverton, a parish and scattered village on the west side of the river Glaven, between Blakeney and Cley, 4½ miles N.W. by N. of Holt, has 218 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, extending northward to the sea shore. The principal land owners are W. and J. Buck, and J. Johnson, Esqrs., Lord Calthorpe, Rev. J. Cottonill, and Lady Ennismore. The latter is patroness of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £15, and now enjoyed by the Rev Jas. Williams, with about 30a. of glebe. The Church, dedicated to the Virgin Mary, has a nave, side aisles, chancel, and a fine tower with six musical bells, purchased in 1809. The Rev James Hackman, "the English Werter," whose extraordinary murder of the beautiful Mrs Ray, is detailed in a work, entitled "Love and Madness," was inducted to the benefice in 1779. The church and poor's money, bequeathed by Ralph Greenway and other donors, was laid out by the Fellows, some years ago, in the purchase of the great tithes of Briston, which in 1786, produced £118 per annum, but are now considerably increased, so as to afford a weekly distribution of more than £2 in bread and money, besides coals, &c. yearly. The enclosure act passed in 1820, and the drainage act in 1821.

Giles Stephen, gardener
Harvey Mr John
Knights John Thos. corn miller

Lee Wm. blacksmith, & vict. Bell
Nash Saml. beer house & farmer
Proudfoot Adjutant John

Proudfoot John, shopkeeper
Farmers. Beeston Wm.
 Beckwith Jas. Boyce Ann
 Newton Wm. Starling Wm.
 Plumb Thos. Yell Samuel

CARRIERS.

John Hardy, to Blakeney, Cley,
 and Cromer, Tues. & Fri. 6 mg.;
 and to Wells. Wed. & Sat. 6 mg.
 John Proudfoot, from Blakeney
 & Cley, to Norwich, Thu. 5 mg.

NORTH GREENHOE HUNDRED

Is of an irregular oblong figure, extending nine miles in length along the sea coast, and averaging seven miles in breadth from north to south; being bounded on the east by Holt Hundred; on the south by Gallow; and on the west by Brothercross. The soil is generally light, but well cultivated, and the face of the country is beautifully diversified, and seen to great advantage from Great Snoring church, where the prospect to the north is highly picturesque, and is terminated by the ocean. A substratum of fine marl is found in almost every part of it, and the whole district abounds in all sorts of game. It is watered by the river, which flows through a fertile vale from Snoring to the ocean, near Stiffkey. Its name is supposed to be a corruption of Green-hill,—the Hundred court being anciently held on such an eminence on the farm of Honele Crondale. The royalties of the whole Hundred, with the lordship of Wighton, were possessed by the Crown in the reigns of Edward the Confessor, and William the Conqueror, but were subsequently granted in fee to various families, though a court of the King's Duchy of Lancaster is still held at Wighton. Petty Sessions are held at Little Walsingham, on the first Monday of every month, and at Wells on the nearest middle Monday of every month. The magistrates' clerk is Mr. Haddon Adcock, of Little Walsingham, where Quarter Sessions are also held. The whole Hundred, except Cockthorpe and Field-Dalling, is in the Deanery of Walsingham, and comprises sixteen parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their land and buildings as assessed for the property tax, in 1815, and their territorial extent.

PARISHES	Pop. in 1831.	Ann. Val. 1815.	Acres	PARISHES	Pop. in 1831.	Ann. Val. 1815.	Acres
Barney	903	£1988	1,243	Stiffkey	40	£1780	1,400
Binham	403	2,525	2,241	Thursford	309	1,300	1,400
Cockthorpe	41	582	500	Walsingham (Great)	434	2,728	2,354
Egmore	48	1,745	1,100	Walsingham (Little)	1,004	2,353	809
Field-Dalling	400	2,000	1,600	Warham All Saints }	451	2,000	2,200
Hindingham	784	4,100	3,300	& St. Mary }
Holkham	788	3,715	4,300	Wells-next-the-Sea	3,694	4,471	1,616
Houghton-in-the-Dale	315	1,180	1,000	Wighton	542	2,200	2,000
Quarles (extra Par.) }	33		800
Snoring (Great)	437	2,725	2,000	Total	10,411	37,108	20,640

BARNEY, or Berney, 6 miles E. N. E. of Fakenham, is a village and parish, with 263 inhabitants, and 1243a. 2r of land, belonging to several proprietors, the largest of whom are Rd. Reeve, Esq., and Sir Jacob Astley. The latter is lord of the manor, impropriator of the great tithes, and patron of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Wright Wilcox. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is an ancient pile with a square tower and three bells, and was appropriated to Binham priory, in the reign of Edward III. The common was enclosed in 1811.

Andrews Mr. Mary

Butler John & Lynn Jno. shoprs.

Dodman Wm. wheelwright

Elgar Israel, cooper

Farrow John, miller & beerhs.

Frankling Rt. miller and baker

Hill William, tailor

Leeder Thomas, blacksmith

Mann Edmund shoemaker

Reeve Rd. & Phillippo Geo. gent.

Wiggitt William, joiner

Wright John, vict. Plough

FARMERS

Barnes James Phillippo Skr.

Barnes Michael Porter Robert

Barret Mark Pull Robert

Butler Wm. Shepherd Wm.

Pentany Geo. Simmins Danl.

Carrier—John Olley, to Norwich, Friday, 8 morning

BINHAM, 5 miles S E by E of Wells, and 3 miles N. E. by E. of Walsingham, is a parish and large village, with 493 inhabitants, and 2214 a. 1a. 3r. of land, of which, Thomas Truesdale Clarke Esq., is principal owner and lord of the manor, in which the copyholds are on a tenure here, called "Smockbold," from the wife having an equal claim with the husband; and should he die intestate she has one-half of his possessions. Binham had a charter from Henry I. for a weekly market on Wednesday, and a fair on the Vigil of St. Mary and three following days, and the latter is still continued on July 26th. This village is noted for the extensive ruins of its once splendid PRIORY, forming a highly interesting and picturesque object, in the vale of the river Stiffkey, and founded by Peter Lord Valoins, a nephew of the Norman Conqueror, and Aloreda, his wife, for Benedictine monks, as a cell to the abbey of St. Albans, but subject only to the visitations of the abbot, and the yearly payment of a mark of silver. The priory was not finished till the beginning of the reign of Henry I., when Roger, the son of the founder, confirmed what his father had given, and was himself a considerable benefactor. Others of the same family contributed to support and augment the establishment, which was granted at the dissolution to Thomas Paston, Esq. In the reign of John, Robert Fitzwalter claimed the patronage of this priory, and besieged it, in order to reinstate Thomas the prior, who had been deposed by the Abbot of St. Albans; but he was frustrated in his design by the forces which the King had sent to oppose him. The ruins of the priory are still very considerable, but are gradually mouldering away. Of the once spacious conventual Church, only the nave, with the north aisle, the chief part of the grand western front and fragments of the transepts, remain. Excepting the west facade, the whole is of the early Norman style of architecture, and most probably constitutes part of the original structure. The nave and north aisle are appropriated as the parish church, fitted up with seats or benches, and having a handsome font at the west end. The interior elevation of the nave shows three tiers of seven arches on each side; the two lowermost of which are semicircular, whilst those in the top row are partly of that shape, and partly pointed. The exterior of the western front is wholly in the

Proudfoot John, shopkeeper
Farmers.
 Beckwith Jas.
 Newton Wm.
 Plumb Thos.

Beeston Wm.
 Boyce Ann
 Starling Wm.
 Yell Samuel

CARRIERS.

John Hardy, to Blakeney, Cley,
 and Cromer, Tues. & Fri. 6 mg.;
 and to Wells, Wed. & Sat. 6 mg.
 John Proudfoot, from Blakeney
 & Cley, to Norwich, Thu. 5 mg.

NORTH GREENHOE HUNDRED

Is of an irregular oblong figure, extending nine miles in length along the sea coast, and averaging seven miles in breadth from north to south; being bounded on the east by Holt Hundred; on the south by Gallow; and on the west by Brothercross. The soil is generally light, but well cultivated, and the face of the country is beautifully diversified, and seen to great advantage from Great Snoring church, where the prospect to the north is highly picturesque, and is terminated by the ocean. A substratum of fine marl is found in almost every part of it, and the whole district abounds in all sorts of game. It is watered by the river, which flows through a fertile vale from Snoring to the ocean, near Stiffkey. Its name is supposed to be a corruption of Green-hill,—the Hundred court being anciently held on such an eminence on the farm of Honele Crondale. The royalties of the whole Hundred, with the lordship of Wighton, were possessed by the Crown in the reigns of Edward the Confessor, and William the Conqueror, but were subsequently granted in fee to various families, though a court of the King's Duchy of Lancaster is still held at Wighton. Petty Sessions are held at Little Walsingham, on the first Monday of every month, and at Wells on the nearest middle Monday of every month. The magistrates' clerk is Mr. Haddon Adcock, of Little Walsingham, where Quarter Sessions are also held. The whole Hundred, except Cockthorpe and Field-Dalling, is in the Deanery of Walsingham, and comprises sixteen parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their land and buildings as assessed for the property tax, in 1815, and their territorial extent.

PARISHES	Pop in 1831	Ann. Val. 1815.	Acres	PARISHES	Pop in 1831.	Ann. Val. 1815	Acres
Barney	263	£1289	1,243	Stiffkey	49	£,780	1,400
Binham	403	2,525	2,241	Thurnford	72	1,309	1,400
Cockthorpe	41	582	500	Walsingham (Great)	414	2,720	2,364
Egmore	46	1,745	1,100	Walsingham (Little)	1,004	2,553	899
Field-Dalling	400	2,001	1,000	Warham All Saints } & St. Mary }	43	2,000	2,200
Hindingham	794	4,100	3,300	Wells-next-the-Sea	1,024	4,471	1,900
Holkham	799	3,712	4,300	Wighton	742	2,200	2,500
Houghton-in-the-Dale	2,51	1,185	1,000
Quarles (extra Par.)	33		600
Snoring (Great)	437	2,725	2,000	Total	10,411	37,192	30,640

BARNEY, or Berney, 6 miles E. N. E. of Fakenham, is a large and parish, with 263 inhabitants, and 1243a. 2a of land, belonging London, though both spent part of their lives at Cockthorpe.

EGMERE parish, 3 miles W. of Walsingham, has only 46 inhabitants, and 1100 acres of land, all occupied by Thomas Denny, and belonging to T. W. Coke, Esq., the lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £8, but consolidated with Holkham vicarage; the Church here having been in ruins many centuries, being first desecrated by Sir Nicholas Bacon, who turned it into a barn. A great part of the tower still remains.

FIELD-DALLING, a considerable village and parish, 4 miles W. of Holt, has 400 inhabitants, and about 1600 acres of fertile land, a great part of which belongs to J. W. Thomlinson, Esq., the lord of the manor, impropriator, and patron of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5. 8s. 1d and augmented in 1775 and '92, with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, laid out in 11a. of land at Bodham. The Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, has a tower and three bells, and the Rev. Wm. Upjohn, A.M., is the present vicar, and owner of a mansion and estate here. In the parish was an alien priory, or cell, the site of which now belongs to the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, and is a small manor. At the enclosure of the common in 1808, 24 acres were allotted to the poor, and here is also 3a. 15r. of poor's land, left by Chpr. Ringland.

Allison W. & Moy Thps. shoemkrs.
Brown Jno. & Rush John, tailors
Coe James, beer house
Comer J. & Knights Rt. L. blacksmiths
Croser Mr. Henry
Massingham John, butcher
Page John, grocer, &c.
Proudford John Mason, grocer, &c.
Rivett Thomas, shoemaker
Rush Jas. vict. Jolly Farmers

Stoner John, wheelwright
Taylor Edward, corn miller
Upjohn Rev Wm A.M. Rector
Upjohn Wm. Matthews, surgeon
Walker Mr. William, jun.
Farmers Gravelin Thos.
Bulton Ann Page Philip
Dagless Thos. Walker Wm.
Fisher Robt. Wright Wm

HINDRINGHAM, a parish and large scattered village, 2½ miles E. of Walsingham, has 785 inhabitants, and 3300 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, among whom are John Orris, Esq., Sir Charles Chad, and the Dean and Chapter of Norwich. The latter are lords of the manor, appropriators of the great tithes, and owners of Hindringham Hall, a large moated mansion, now held on lease, with all their land and tithes, by John Orris, Esq. Godfrey's Hall, another ancient mansion, is the seat of George Waters, Esq. The Church, dedicated to St. Martin, stands on an eminence, and has a lofty tower with five bells, commanding an extensive prospect. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £9, was augmented in 1762, with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, and £200 given by the Dean and Chapter, (the patrons,) and laid out in 24a. of land at Waipole St. Peter, in addition to which the vicar has 2a. of glebe and the tithes of 10 acres. The Rev. Horatio Dowling is the incumbent. The common was enclosed in 1815. The poor's land, left by Gregory Smith, and Thos and Saml. May, was let in 1786, for £8. 13s. 7d per annum. The poor have also the interest of £25, left in 1678, by Christopher Ringland.

Arnold Lake & Bell Wm. blksmiths. Boswell Wm. blacksmith
Billham Rd. basket maker & vict. Capes William, beerhouse

Clark John, miller and baker
 Daplyn Mr. Robert
 Daplyn Thos. miller and grocer
 Dent Jno. & Dixon Ann, grocers, &c.
 Francis William, wheelwright
 Gibson John, schoolmaster
 Hewitt Ehz. vict. Red Lion
 Kirk Wm. vict. Crown
 Lewis William, joiner
 Martin John, butcher
 Moy Hy. wheelwgt. & vict. Falgat c
 Orris John, Esq. Hindringham Hall

Orris John, jun. gentleman
 Oughton Rt. grocer and draper
 Sands Hercules, tailor
 Simons Ptz. & Winn Wm. butchers
 Waters Geo. Esq., Godfrey's Hall
 Youngs Fras. & Hail Wm. shoemks.
Farmers.
 Buck James
 Daplyn Robt.
 Flood Wm.
 Martin Mathw.
 Williams Vlntr.
 Wilson Anthy.
 Winn Timothy
 Wrench Peter
 Carrier.—See Barney, page 600.

HOLKHAM, a parish with a pleasant village of neat cottages, &c., on a gentle acclivity above the salt marshes, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. of Burnham Market; 2 miles W. of Wells, and 32 miles N.W. of Norwich, has increased its population since the year 1801, from 550 to 792 souls, and contains 4300 acres of land, of which about 300a. are salt marsh, and 1500a. woods and plantations, enclosed with 1700a. of lawn, meadows, &c., in the beautiful park of Holkham House, the splendid seat of the venerable and worthy proprietor and lord of the manor, Thomas Wm. Coke, Esq., one of the wealthiest commoners in the kingdom, and the first agriculturist in Norfolk, who, though not ambitious of being raised to the peerage, is well known in all parts of the kingdom by the appellation of "Coke of Norfolk," a title superior to any which monarchy can confer. When Mr Coke succeeded to the Holkham estate, about the year 1778, the rental was then only about £2200; but in 1819, it had increased to upwards of £20,000 per annum, exclusive of the fall of timber, poles, and underwood, which then averaged about £2700 yearly, as is stated in "Neal's Seats." Holkham is said to have been one of the country seats of Anna, King of the East Angles. It was evidently a port of some consequence, in the 4th of Edward II., who charged it and Burnham Deepdale with the expense of finding one ship to assist in transporting his army from Dublin to Scotland. Henry III. granted it a weekly market on Monday, and a fair on the decollation of St. John the Baptist, but both have long been obsolete, and no traffic in corn, coal, &c. is now carried on at the Stanth, on the verge of the salt marshes; but the harbours of Wells and Burnham lie within a short distance on each side of the parish. The manor of Holkham with Burgh-hall, was held by the Boleyns till 1505, when it passed to Lady Anne Gresham, who had two flocks of sheep, viz., the Holkham-burgh flock, containing 157, and the South-Louse flock, containing 460. A capital messuage in Holkham Stanth, with lands in Holkham, and the East Marsh Fouldcourse, were for many generations held by the ancestors of Robert Newgate, who had a grant from Charles I. of the salt marshes in Holkham, with power to enclose the same, for £150 paid to the King, and to be held of the manor of East Greenwich, by fealty only, in free and common soccage. In 1659 Edmond Newgate, for £3,400, sold all his property to John Coke, Esq. fourth son of the famous Lord-Chief Justice, Sir Edward Coke, (Vide p. 382.) who had previously purchased the manor and all the other land in the parish, of Lord Berkley, Sir

Wm. Withipol, and the Earl of Desmond, and their wives. He enclosed from the sea, 350 acres of salt marshes, and 400a. more called the New Marshes, were embanked from the ocean in 1722, by his successor, Thomas Coke, who, in 1724, was created Baron Lovel, of Minster Lovel, Oxfordshire; and in 1741, Viscount Coke, of Holkham, and Earl of Leicester; but dying without issue in 1759, his titles became extinct. This earl converted the barren heath of Holkham into an earthly paradise, as is recorded by an inscription over the door of the entrance hall of HOLKHAM HOUSE, which records that "This Seat on an open barren estate was planned, planted, built, decorated, and inhabited in the middle of the eighteenth century, by Thomas Coke, Earl of Leicester." This magnificent seat, now the property and residence of T. W. Coke, Esq., was begun in 1734, by the Earl of Leicester, and completed by his dowager countess, in 1760. The central part of this spacious mansion, built of white brick, is accompanied by four wings, or pavilions, which are connected with it by rectilinear corridors, or galleries, each of the two fronts, therefore, display a centre and two wings. The south front, 344 feet in length, presents an air of lightness and elegance, arising from the justness of its proportions. In the centre is a bold portico, with its entablature supported by six Corinthian columns. The north front, which is also 344 feet in length, is the grand or principal entrance, and exhibits different, though handsome features. The central part measures 114 feet by 62, and contains the principal apartments. Each wing has its respective destination. One contains the kitchens, servants' hall, and some sleeping rooms. In the chapel wing is the dairy, laundry, with more sleeping rooms. Another contains a suite of family apartments, and the fourth, called the stranger's wing, is appropriated to visitors. This grand residence is rendered superior to most other great houses in the kingdom, by its convenience and appropriate arrangement, said to have been borrowed from Palladio's plan of a villa designed for the Cavalier Leonardo Mocenigo, upon the Brenta, with some trifling deviations. The entrance hall, which measures 46 feet by 70, and is 13 feet in height, has a gallery round it, supported by twenty-four fluted Ionic columns. Next is the saloon, on each side of which is a drawing-room, and connected to this is the state dressing-room and bedchamber. Another drawing-room communicates with the statue gallery, which connects a number of apartments in a most admirable manner, for one octagon opens into the private wing, and the other into the stranger's. On one side, and into the dining-room on the other. This dining-room is on one side of the hall, and on the other is Mrs. Coke's bed-room, dressing-room, and closets. From the dining-room opens a door on the staircase, which directly leads to the offices, and in the centre of the wings, by the staircase, are invisible stair-cases, which lead to all the rooms and offices. Thus here are four general suites of apartments perfectly distinct from each other, with no reciprocal communication, the state, Mrs. Coke's, the late earl's, and the stranger's. Several are open into what may be called common rooms, the statue gallery, and saloon, all which communicate with the entrance hall. There may be houses larger and more magnificent, but no uniformity and justness of proportion may be visible, but human genius could not contrive anything in which convenience could be more apparent than it is in this. The fitting up of the interior is in the most splendid style, and, in numerous instances, with the most elegant taste. The ceilings of many of the rooms are of curious gilt, fret, and mosaic work, the Venetian windows are ornamented with handsome pillars, and also profusely gilded. The marble chimney-pieces are all handsome, but three are peculiarly deserving attention, for their exquisite sculpture. Two are in the dining-room, one ornamented with a sow and pigs, and a wolf, the other has a bear and beehives, finely sculptured in white marble. A third, in the state bed-room, representing two pelicans, is exceedingly chaste and beautiful. The marble side-boards, agate-tables, rich tapestry, silk furniture, beds, &c. are all in the same sumptuous style of elegance. The Statue Gallery consists of a central part and two octagonal ends. The first is 70 feet long, by 22 feet wide, and each octagon, of 22 feet in diameter, opens to the centre by a handsome arch. One end is furnished with books, and the other with statues, &c. Among the latter, the figure of Diana is extremely fine. A Venus, clothed with wet drapery is considered exquisite. The Saloon is 40 feet long, 28 feet wide, and 38 in height. This room, appropriated for paintings, contains many by the most eminent masters, and there are a vast number of others, equally valuable, distributed through the other apartments; but a description of them would furnish matter for a volume. Few, if any, collections in the kingdom, contain so many paintings by that inimitable artist, Claude Lorraine. In a brief statement it is impossible to give a just and adequate delineation of this princely seat of taste and hospitality, and the beautiful and extensive pleasure grounds, park, and plantations, which surround it, and comprise above 3200 acres, of which 1500 are planted, and a part of the other is in tillage and pasturage. Within the park is an enchanting ride of seven miles in the midst of a belt of fir and other trees, evergreens and shrubs, whose foliage exhibits a pleasing variety of tints; whilst the interior of the park presents clumps of flourishing trees, gentle hills, corn-waving vales, an extensive lake, 1056 yards long, with a small island, and finely wooded shore; the parish church, and other picturesque objects. The principal approach is by a triumphal arch, on the Fakenham road, from which a fine broad vista leads to an obelisk, on a woody eminence, at the distance of a mile and a half. Passing through the obelisk wood, the road branches off to the left, leaving a fine expanse of lawn on the south front of the house, which is here seen to the greatest advantage, and through several charming vistas may be seen the east and west lodges, (both in simple elegance,) the town of Wells, Holkham Staith, and the New Inn on the north-west side of the park, where tourists will find excellent accommodations. The gardens, vinery, hot-houses, &c., are extensive, and the pleasure grounds on the east side of the house are tastefully laid out; a fine gravel walk, winding through clumps of trees and shrubs of various kinds, interspersed with flowers of every hue, cannot fail to attract the admiration of strangers, to whom the house is open for inspection every Tuesday; but foreigners and artists are allowed access on other days, as also are others who choose to make a direct application to Mr. Coke, who has never refused his permission when applied to by respectable parties. The family of Coke is very ancient, as we find that one of them, William Coke, of Doddington, held several manors in this county in 1206. The present Mr Coke was born in 1733, but his paternal name was Roberts, his mother being the sister of Thomas Coke, Earl of Leicester, who founded Holkham House, as already noticed. Mr Coke first obtained a seat in Parliament, in 1776. He was returned, without opposition, as one of the members for Norfolk, in 1807, '12, '18, and '26. In 1775, he married the daughter of Lord Sherborn, by whom he had three daughters, and in 1823, he espoused Lady Anne Amelia Keppel, third daughter of the Earl of Albemarle, by whom he has three sons. To his spirited exertions and liberality, Norfolk is chiefly indebted for many of its agricultural improvements, during the last fifty years, as has been seen in an early part of this volume. Every one who visits him is struck with the beauty of the Holkham scenery, the magnificence of his mansion, his princely establishment, and his liberal hospitality. In 1789, he celebrated the centenary of the glorious revolution by a grand festival, supper, display of fireworks, &c. He has since entertained many royal and distinguished personages; and, in September 1835, the Duchess of Kent and the Princess Victoria visited him, on their return from their northern tour.

Holkham Church, dedicated to St. Withberga, stands east of the village, and about half a mile north of the hall, upon an artificial hill, supposed to have been thrown up by the Saxons; and near it is a large tumulus, in which human bones, and a piece of iron armour, have been found. The Church is a noted sea-mark, standing high above the salt-marshes, and having a chancel, nave, aisles and a beautiful lofty embattled tower, with four bells. It was thoroughly repaired, at the cost of £1000, by the Countess Dowager of Leicester, in 1767. It has a large monument to the memory of William Whentley, Esq., containing small portraits of himself, his wife and John Coke and his wife, on their knees, with desks before them. The benefice is a vicarage, valued in K. B. at £8. 1's. 1d., and augmented in 1792 and 1816, with £100 of Queen Anne's bounty, vested in land at Wells. It is consolidated with Egmore, in the patronage of T. W. Coke, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. John Ackroyd. In 1755 the Countess Dowager of Leicester built and endowed, and in 1763, further endowed, almshouses, in the village, for the reception of three men and three women, to have 6s. a-week each, a chaldron of coals each yearly, and clothing once in two years; the inmates to be elected by the possessor of Holkham House, out of some parish in which the estates thereto belonging lie. The building and furnishing the six dwellings cost her ladyship about £2000; and the endowment consists of two yearly rent charges, viz. £50 out of Holkham, and £100 out of the Weasenham estate. In 1821, Mr Coke erected here two schools, for 33 boys and 30 girls, with a dwelling in the centre for the teachers. He also supports an infant-school and a Sunday-school. New Holkham, a small village of cottages, is about 2 miles S. of the hall, and near it is Gorlands the residence of the farm bailiff, and Brant hill, an extensive farm. The New Inn is on the Burham road, about a mile west of the hall, but adjoining the north-west angle of the park.

Coke Thos. Wm. Esq. Holkham Hs.	Hadrick Mrs. Mary, housekeeper
Applegate Thos. wheelwright	Hagon Guy, bricklayer
Baker Wm. land agent	Hagon Wm. shopkeeper
Bock John & Eliz. Free School	Lack Jno. vict. Albermarle Arms
Bolling John, farm bailiff	Loose John, glazier, painter, &c.
Collyer Rev. Richard, curate	Mann Richard, blacksmith
Emerson Edward, farmer	Middleton Jn. farmer, Brant hill
Emerson Stjn architect & builder	Scarr Thomas, gamekeeper
Emerson Russell, bkr. & flour dr.	Skoyles Samuel, vict. New Inn
Favre John Daniels, valet	Whitaker Richard, woodman
Girvan Hugh, gardener	Wright Chs. Temple, office clerk
Godwin John, butler	Young Mary, grocer and draper

HOUGHTON-IN-THE DALE, or Houghton St. Giles, is a parish and small village, 1 mile S.S.W. of Walsingham, and 4 miles N.N.E. of Fakenham, containing 215 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, belonging to the Rev. D. H. Lee Warner, the lord of the manor, improprator and patron of the Church, which is a single pile, with a tower and three bells. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £8, was augmented with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1755 and 1787, vested in 16a. of land, at Fulmodeston. The old glebe is 4a., but the parsonage is divided into cottages. The Rev. John Drake Crofts, M.A., is the present vicar. On the west side of the dale is a small ancient chapel, converted into a barn, and supposed to have been an appendage to Walsingham abbey. The poor have 3 acres of land, allotted at the enclosure; and 5s. a-year, left by Thos. Penn, in 1709. Directory—Rt. Buller, Jas. Eddil, Fras. Frohawk, and Nicholas Frohawk, farmers; Mattw. Clarke, blacksmith, Jonathan Haws, vict., Buck, Samuel Smith, shopkeeper; and Charls. Twiddy, shoemaker.

QUARLES, an extra-parochial liberty, 3 miles S.S.W. of Wells, has only 33 inhabitants, and 600 acres of land, all in one farm, occupied by T. W. Coke, Esq., who holds it on a 21 years' lease, renewable every seven, of Christ's College, Cambridge. Part of his plantations, and the triumphal arch at the entrance to Holkham park, are in this manor, which had anciently a church, which was in ruins in 1571, and no traces of it now remain. It was subject to Creak Abbey, and was given by the Countess of Richmond, mother of Henry VII., to the above-named college.

SNORING (GREAT), a parish and considerable village, 2 miles S. of Walsingham, and 3½ miles N.E. by N. of Fakenham, contains 437 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, belonging to several proprietors, the largest of whom is John Dugmore, Esq., of Swaffham, the lord of the manor, in which the copyholders are subject to arbitrary fines. The ancient lords were the Burgolyons, Sheltons, and Richardsons. The Church (Virgin Mary) has a fine tower with one bell, and formerly had a spire. It has some ancient stone stalls, and the effigies of Sir Richard Shelton and his lady beautifully engraved in brass. The Sheltons built the rectory-house, which is a fine specimen of ornamental brickwork. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £24, has 36a. of glebe, and is consolidated with Thursford, in the patronage of St. John's College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Cphr. Staunard, B.D., who is lord of a small manor, called Snorings (fine ertain). The common was enclosed in 1811. The poor's land left by Robert West, D.D., was let, in 1786, for 17s. 6d.; that left by an unknown donor, for 7s. 6d.; and that left by John Pearson, Bishop of Chester, in 1638, for 15s. a-year.

Barwick Robt. vict. Three Tuns
 Bushell John, machine maker
 Comer Wm. shoemaker
 Cook George, wheelwright
 Girdlestone Robt. blacksmith
 Jackson Chpr. bricklayer
 Lack Thos. & Mackie Sus. shop-keepers
 Loades Jarrett Pond blacksmith
 Noble Eha. vict. Unicorn

Plane John, baker and shoemaker
 Ponder Nathl. farm bailiff
 Savage Henry, shopkeeper
 Southgate Chs. millwrt. & miller
 Stannard Rev. Chpr. B D. Rector
 FARMERS.—are yeomen
 Bradfield Chas. Southgate S.
 •Bray Wm. Southgate Wm.
 •Loeder Wm. •Ward Edmd.
 •Rix Wm. Whisler John

STIFFKEY, 3 miles E. of Wells, is a fine rural village, seated in a deep, romantic, and well wooded dale, on the banks of a small river, which discharges itself in the ocean about 14 mile to the north-east, and formerly had a quay and harbour. The parish contains 460 inhabitants, and about 1400 acres of land, half of which is salt marsh, on the north side of the village, extending to the beach. Lord Charles Townshend owns a great part of the soil, and is lord of the manor and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K. B. at £25, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Lord Frederick Townshend, together with Morston, the livings being consolidated, and having 69 acres of glebe. Here were formerly two CHURCHES in one enclosure, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, and St. Mary; but the latter is gone, and the other is a venerable pile, with a nave, chancel, tower and porch, standing on an acclivity near the Hall, which was built by Sir Nicholas Bacon, lord keeper of the privy seal to Queen Elizabeth, but it is now partly in ruins, and the rest occupied by a farmer. It is a large mansion, with circular towers at the angles, and is environed with lofty trees, which cast a sombre hue over the mouldering ruins. The New Hall is a neat cemented mansion, lately erected by James Buck, Esq. To the west of the village, near the Wells road, is a promontory, called Warborough hill, on which are visible remains of circular entrenchments; and one mile to the east of it is a green knoll, called Camping hill, supposed to have been also entrenched. These hills overlook a tract of salt marshes, 20 miles long, and about one broad bounded on the north by the ocean, which has thrown up against them a range of sand hills, called meals, many of them covered with a benty wood, and inhabited only by rabbits. The poor of Stiffkey have the interest of £16. 10s., left by Richard Ringer. The common was enclosed in 1793.

Baker Thos. beer house
 Bayes Thos. Henry, farmer
 Bloom Rev. Jn. Hlaque, A.B. vicar of Castleacre, & curate of Stiffkey
 Boulter Robert, joiner
 Buck James, Esq. New Hall
 Bulling Henry, wheelwright
 Bulling W. & Carter J. joiners
 Cable Thos. vict. Red Lion

Doughty J. & Lee W. blacksmiths
 Frankling Felix & Jas. millers
 Goosc Lieut. Wm. R.N.
 Green John, shopkeeper
 Griffin Absolam, basket maker
 Howard Edw. & Wg. butchers
 Jarrett Samuel, butcher
 Jary Jacob, bricklayer
 Larner M. & Pearce R. shoemakers

ho. farmer, Old Hall | Wicks Hy. vt. Townshend Arms
baker and grocer | Wardingham Ta. S. basket mkr.

WORD is a parish and scattered village, 5 miles N.E. by ham, comprising 392 inhabitants, and about 1400 acres, of Charles Chad, Bart., is chief owner and lord of the manor. Kursford Hall, is a fine Elizabethan mansion, presenting titled front, broken by three projecting bay windows, to the 3 stories, and the intervening space occupied by mullioned It has undergone many modern improvements, but still venerable and picturesque appearance, and the grounds laid out with much taste. It was formerly the seat of the who sold it, in 1753, to George Chad, Esq., recorder of was created a baronet in 1791. Frog Hall, a small house partly in Bale and Hindringham, is the property of Mr. ig. At the enclosure, 20 acres were allotted to the poor, also two annuities of 20s., left by Messrs. Curzon and e CHURCH (St. Andrew) has an ancient square tower lls, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £8, and consolidated Great Snoring, in the same patronage and incumbency.

as. Bart., Hall
k Banes Wm. shmkr.
Charles
n. jun. corn miller
es, shopkeeper
vict. Craw Fish
beer house
blacksmith & vict.
anis, brklr. & shpkpr.
castrator and vict.
shoemaker

Smith George, joiner
Thurston Thomas, swine dealer
FARMERS.—* are yeomen.
Banes Wm. (& cattle dealer)
Bullock Wm.
Clark Wm.
Cushing Osbn.
Dawson Edm.
Dixon Jonth.
*Flood Rt & Ts.
Jarvis John
* Jex Mary
Lees Edward
Russell Wm.
*Starling Wm.
Frog hall
Towers John
Utting Chpr.

WALSHINGHAM (GREAT,) or OLD WALSHINGHAM, is a large village, in the vale of the Stiffkey rivulet, 1 mile N. of of New Walsingham; containing 434 inhabitants, and 23p. of land, belonging to a number of proprietors; the hom is the Rev. D. H. Lee Warner, the lord of the manor (fine arbitrary,) and patron of the CHURCH, (St. Peter,) an ancient fabric, with a nave, aisles, and tower, and formerly a large chancel, now in ruins. Here was formerly another church, dedicated to All Saints, and standing a little north of but no vestiges of it now remain. The benefice is consolidated with Little Walsingham, being in the same parsonage and incumbency. Berry Hall, a large ancient mansion, in the town, now the church, is the seat of Wm. Brook, Esq. At the year 1810, 30 acres were allotted to the poor, who have also annuities of 16s., left by Messrs. Gray and Ward, about the year 1777, but had another of 20s., left by John Parker, in 1777, but lost. In a field near the village, were dug up, in 1658, 50 Roman urns, some containing two pounds of burnt fragments of various ornaments. Near them were found incinerated substances, which led to the conjecture that had been burnt there.

Brooks Wm. Esq., Berry Hall
 Cornish Henry, wheelwright
 Frary Edward, shopkeeper
 Lewis William, blacksmith and vict., Three Tuns
 Shirling Thos. vict., Half Moon
 Struger Charles, blacksmith
 Wright John, baker and flour dlr.

FARMERS.—* are yeomen.
 Brown William Merrison Thom
 Carl John Merrison Tim
 *Groom Frances Parker John
 Groom John Smith Joseph
 Howell John Tofts Thomas
 Howell Mary *Tuck Maria

WALSINGHAM (LITTLE,) or NEW WALSINGHAM, is, notwithstanding its appellations, more populous, and equally as ancient, as its neighbour, Old Walsingham, being a neat market-town, and 1004 inhabitants, and pleasantly seated in the picturesque valley of the Stiffkey river, 5 miles S. by E. of Wells, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. by E. of Fakenham, 27 miles N.W. of Norwich, and 113 miles N.E. by N. of London. It has a small market on Friday, a large fair on the 2nd Friday after Whit-Monday, and hiring sessions on the Friday before and after Michaelmas-day. It formerly had a market also on Tuesday. Its parish contains only 868a 1a. of land, of which 46 are woodland. The Rev. D. H. Lee Warner owns the greater part of the soil, and is lord of the manor, which, with Old Walsingham, was held by the Earls of Clare. About 1061, the widow of Ricolphe de Faverche founded here a chapel, in honour of the Virgin Mary, similar to the Santa Casa, at Nazareth. Her son, Sir Geoffrey de Faverche, confirmed the endowment, and added to the foundation a Prory for Augustine canons, for whom he built a noble conventual church. This priory was afterwards enriched with many valuable benefactions; so that, at the dissolution, its revenues were valued at £446. 14s. 4d., granted to Thomas Sidney. A great part of its wealth was derived from the fame of its image of the "Lady of Walsingham," to which foreigners of all nations, and many kings and queens of England, came on pilgrimage, guided, it was said, by the "mirky way;" so that the number and quality of her devotees were equal to those of the Lady Loretto, in Italy. Spelman observes, that it was said Henry VIII., in the 2nd year of his reign, walked barefoot from the village of Barsham, to pay his devotions to this celebrated image, which he decorated with a gold necklace, but he treated it with less respect at the dissolution, when his officers seized it, by his orders, and burnt it at Chelsea, taking care, no doubt, to preserve all its jewels and valuable trappings. The present ruins of this once splendid and extensive priory, consist chiefly of a portal, or west entrance gateway; a richly ornamented lofty arch, 60 feet high, which formed the east end of the church, supposed to have been erected in the time of Henry VII.; the refectory, 78 feet by 27, and $26\frac{1}{2}$ in height; a Saxon arch, part of the original chapel, which has a zig-zag moulding, part of the cloisters; a stone bath; and two uncovered wells, called the Wishing Wells, from the devotees of the "Lady of Walsingham," being taught to believe, that whoever had permission to drink of the waters, could obtain, under certain restrictions, whatever they might wish for. These interesting ruins are now mostly included in the plantations and pleasure grounds of Walsingham Abbey, the handsome mansion of the Rev. D. H. Lee Warner, built in the Gothic style, and fronting the rivulet which is here swelled into a fine lake, crossed by a modern bridge. In addition to this once celebrated place of monastic splendour, and human superstition, there was here a house of Gray Friars, founded by Lady Elizabeth de Burgh, Countess of Clare, but its fame was eclipsed by the superior grandeur of the priory, and poverty kept it still further in the shade of obscurity. Some fragments of its ruined walls still remain. Here was likewise a Lepers' Hospital, founded before the year 1400, but its site is now occupied by the prison. The inhabitants of Walsingham considered that the dissolution of their priory and the pilgrimages to the Virgin, would in a great measure ruin the town, they therefore assembled in a riotous mob to oppose the King's officers in 1537, but were soon dispersed. The parish Church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a large and interesting cruciform structure, with a tower surmounted by a slender spire, and containing five bells. The font is one of the finest specimens of the kind in England; it is of an octangular shape, and the whole of its base, shaft, and projecting upper portions, are covered with sculpture, representing buttresses, pinnacles, niches, crocketed pediments, &c.; also many figures in basso-relievo. It is elevated on a plinth of four steps, the exterior faces of which are also decorated with tracery mouldings. In the chancel is a curious brass stand, supported by four lions, and inscribed to the memory of Gresham, Weston, Ive, and De Fetherby. The benefice is a perpetual curacy, with Great Walsingham annexed to it, in the incumbency of the Rev. H. J. Warner, and patronage of the Rev. D. H. Lee Warner, who intends to erect a parsonage house, and augment the living with the aid of Queen Anne's bounty, it having at present only 9*l.* of glebe. In the town is a Wesleyan Chapel, built in 1794, at the cost of £800, and also an Independent Chapel, under the ministry of the Rev. H. Kidgell. The Free Grammar School, was founded in 1639, by Richard Bond, who endowed it with £1040, which was laid out in the purchase of land and houses, now let for about £75 per annum. It has for some years been an useless charity, but it is about to be re-opened as an English school, under a master who will teach reading, writing, and arithmetic, in the mother tongue, to the children of the parishioners, very few of whom have any use for Greek or Latin. Here are six Almshouses, occupied by aged poor, but they have no endowment, except about £6 a-year for repairs, arising from land purchased with £100 left by Philip Brown, in 1639, when Richard Brown bequeathed £400, to be laid out in land, &c., and the rents to be distributed in coals and clothing to the poor. By non-distribution for many years, this charity has been greatly increased, and now yields about £100 per annum, including the rent of about 20 acres of land, left for the same purpose by Wm. Cleave, in 1665. Here is also another piece of poor's land, left by an unknown donor, and let in 1786, for £7 15*s.* The poor have also the interest of £50, left by Blanch Schuldham, in 1738; and £7. 5*s.* 6*d.* a-year for apprenticing poor children, from the bequest of Lady Townshend. General Quarter Sessions are held here in January, April, July, and October, in a small building called the Shire Hall; and Petty Sessions are held on the first Monday of every month, at the Black Lion Inn. The Bridewell, erected about the year 1787, on the plan recommended by Mr. Howard, has been enlarged and stituted up as a county House of Correction, since the removal of the Quarter Sessions from Aylsham, where the old prison is now disused. There are here four tread wheels for grinding corn, &c., and the prison is now conducted on the 'silent system,' which is found to be very beneficial, by preventing the prisoners from instructing each other in their nefarious arts. The Workhouse is a small building in High-street, but the poor rates are very heavy, averaging during the last four years, 13s. per pound on two-thirds of the rack rental. Henry Lee Warner, Esq., a late proprietor of Walsingham Abbey, was a polite scholar and a complete gentleman, but was remarkable for several eccentricities. His custom was to sleep during a great part of the day, rise in the evening, breakfast at midnight, and dine at four or five in the morning. His dress was a gold-laced coat and waistcoat, with deep slash-worked sleeves, and richly embroidered buttons, a deep chatterlin of rich yellow lace, curved-toed shoes, and oblong buckles. He so far suffered inroads on his property, as to call out to a depredator on his walls, "to take care how he got down, for fear of hurting himself;" and by such depredations, he is said to have lost no less than £20,000. He died in 1804, aged 82, and was buried with much pomp in the abbey church.

The Post-Office is at George Stevens', Market place. Letters arrive by a Mail Cart from Swaffham, at 10 morning, and are despatched 3 afternoon.

*. * Marked 1 reside in Bridewell street; 2, Church street; 3, Common place; 4, Egmore road; 5, Exchange street; 6, High st.; and 7, Market place.

5 Adcock Chpr. & Jno. surgeons
6 Anderson Edward, veterinary surgeon and druggist

4 Bidewell Henry, farmer

6 Booth Rev. Philip

6 Bridges Mrs. Elizabeth

6 Bull Josiah, miller and baker

2 Buscall Edward, farmer

Christopher George Cooper

2 Christopher John, gamekeeper

6 Crofts Rev. John Drake

2 Curtis James, gardener

1 Curtis Money, governor of the House of Correction

5 Dewing Thomas, corn miller

5 Egmore Richard, corn, coal, and hop merchant

3 Elliott Mr Wm. & Green Mr J.

3 England Miss Elizabeth

7 Forster William, saddler, &c

7 Hawkins Thos. currier (& Wells)

5 Hill Mrs. Har. & 3 Ivory Mrs.

Hunt Robert, gardener, Friary

1 Jarrett Thomas, collar maker

3 Johnson George, schoolmaster

6 Kidgell Rev Hy (Indt. min.)

1 Lake Thomas, farmer

2 Lewis Peter, baker & flour dr.

6 Lowe Mrs. Ann and Rix Mrs.

3 Manby Matthew Pepper, gent.

6 Minns Mrs. Elizabeth

7 Plummer Mrs. Ann

6 Pooley Robert, glover

6 Priest William, bricklayer

1 Rawston William, bricklayer

5 Rix and Son, maltsters

5 Rix William Loades, gent.

6 Rush Mr. Richard

6 Sands Robert, cooper

6 Shepherd Susanna, beerhouse

3 Smith William, boarding and day academy

6 Steadman Mrs. Mary

7 Stevenson Rev. Humphy. (Wes.)

2 Suggett Jno. watch & clock mr.

6 Tilney William, solicitor's clerk

2 Tofts Christopher, farm bailiff

6 Tyzack James, perfumer, &c. (and Wells)

6 Ulph James, govr. of Workhs.

Warner Rev. Daniel Henry Lee, Abbey

Warner Rev. H. Jas. High Grove

6 Woodcock John, maltster

6 Woodcock Robert, basket mkr.
Wright James, brazier & tinner
7 Wyarr Mrs. Elizabeth
TINNS AND PUBLIC HOUSES.
7 Black Lion Inn, Geo. Stevens
3 Bull, William Johnson
4 Exchange Inn, William Hewitt
6 King's Head, Robert Dark
4 Robin Hood, Thomas Scott, and Farrier

6 White Lion, John Piggott
Attorneys.
7 Adcock Hadn.
6 Waters Saml.
Auctioneers.
6 Codman Robt.
& china, &c. dr.
6 Dent Thomas
3 Reeve John,
(& land agent)
Blacksmiths.
Dawson John
4 Leeder Robt
2 Todd Crispin
Todd C. Jno.
Shoemakers.
1 Bond Lucy.
6 Brookbank S.
6 Castleton Jph.
5 Johnson W.S.

6 Powley Geo. R.
1 Powlett Thos.
2 Ringstead E.
6 Smith John
6 Woodcock Jno.
Butchers.
2 Beazor Wm.
2 Bishop Robt.
6 Coker James
6 Gibbs Fras.
6 Twerdy Thos.
Grocers & Drpr.
6 Coker J. & W.
3 Curson Thos.
6 Dent Thomas
7 Fenn Zach.
6 Jackson W.T.
4 Minns George
6 Seaman Geo

6 Wm (Astrug.)
6 Smith Wm.
Joiners, Wls. &c.
1 Bobbitt Saml.
7 Kilner Wm.
5 Parker Nrea.
6 Playford Hy
6 Purdy Robert,
(& cab. mkr.)
7 Tincey Wm.
Milliners, &c.
6 Clarke Mary
6 Hazel William
6 Purdy Martha
6 Woodcock Sef
rah and Arch
Plumbers, Glazs,
and Painters.
6 Codman Robt.
6 Codman Wm
6 Fenn Z. & Son
Tailors & Drpr.
6 Anderson Jn.
1 Back Henry
7 Buddell Thos.
6 Seaman Geo.
and William
2 Stanford Saml.

COACHES from the Black Lion
Inn; The Norfolk Hero, to Wells,
Mon. Wed. & Fri. evg. at 9; and to London, Tu. Thu. and Sat. at 4 past 6 morning.

The Nelson, to Norwich, Wed.
and Sat. 6 mg. & to Wells 9 evg.

CARRIERS.

Green & Archer's waggons from High st. to Wells, Mon. and Thu.
at 5 aft. and to London, &c. Tue.
and Friday at 3 afternoon.

Norwich and Wells Carriers call at King's Head and White Lion.

WARHAM ALL SAINTS AND ST. MARY, now form one parish and scattered village, 3 miles N. of Walsingham, and 2 miles E.S.E.
of Wells, comprising 451 inhabitants, and about 2,200 acres of land, exclusive of a large tract of salt marshes, extending northward to the ocean. T. W. Coke, Esq., owns a great part of the soil, and is lord of the manors of Warham Ducies and Hales, in which copyholds are subject to a fine of 2s. per acre. Mr. Coke purchased these manors of the late Sir M. B. Folkes, and afterwards pulled down the hall, and constructed a farm-house on its site. In the valley of the Stiff-key rivulet, are the remains of a large entrenchment, supposed to have been thrown up by the Danes, and having a triple foss, enclosing a circular area of about nine acres. Here were formerly three churches; but of one of them no traces are now extant. All Saints'
Church, a small fabric, with an octagonal turret, is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £16, in the patronage of the King, and incumbency of the Rev. W. Atkinson, of Thorpe-Arch, with 7a. of glebe. St. Mary's Church is a handsome structure, with a tower, and several beautiful stained glass windows. The living is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £11. 6s. 8d., and consolidated with Waterden, in the gift of T. W.
Coke, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. W. H. Langton, D.D.

Claxton James, gamekeeper
Hall Mary, vict. 3 Horse Shoes

Knights Edw. vict. Three Tuns
Langton Rev. Wenman Hy. D.D.

Pearcock Henry, machine maker	Wuthers Samuel, shoemaker
Redhead Mrs. Sarah	Ives William, shoemaker
Wardingham Robt. cattle dealer	Farmers.
Warner William, grocer & draper	Blomfield John
Whitaker James, blacksmith	Hudson Peter
Whitaker Richard, wheelwright	Lee Jane
	Moore Thos.
	Moore Thos. S.

WELLS, or Wells-next-the-Sea, is an irregularly built sea-port town, with many neat houses, 5 miles N. by W. of Walsingham, 10 miles N. of Fakenham, 29 miles N. E. of Lynn, 32 miles N. W. of Norwich, and 118 N. N. E. of London. Its parish has increased its population since the year 1801, from 2316 to 3624 souls, and contains 1606 acres of land, lying in four manors, viz., Wells-late-the-Duke's, Normans, and Walsingham Priory, of which T. W. Coke, Esq. is lord; and Binham Priory, of which Sir R. J. Harvey is lessee lord, under the Bishop of Norwich. The common was enclosed in 1811. Wells had formerly a weekly market on Saturday, and races yearly, but both are discontinued, though the town is well supplied with provisions, and has still a fair on Shrove Tuesday, for toys, sweetmeats, and pleasure. It possesses a tolerably good HARBOUR, formed by a creek, or channel, winding by a circuitous route of about two miles through the salt-marshes to the ocean, but difficult of access, owing to the shifting sands off its mouth, where shipping sometimes suffer when caught by a strong north or north-east wind. There is no current to carry off the salt which every tide brings up and leaves in the creek, but a reservoir is kept in the marshes as back-water, to scour the channel. Before the inclosure of the marshes, the channel was wider and deeper; but the embankments and drains now carry off the back-waters in other directions, and hinder the spring tides from expanding. This injury to the port became a subject of litigation between the merchants and the heirs of the late Sir John Turner, and the case was decided in favour of the former, in 1784, soon after which the reservoir was made. The spring tides rise about 11 feet, at the Quay, and vessels of 150 to 200 tons can get up at high water. Many of 200 tons are built here, and the number of registered vessels, now belonging to the port, is 67. In 1834, 18 foreign, and 295 coasting vessels discharged cargoes here, and the number which cleared out with cargoes, was 265. The exports consist chiefly of corn, cysters, &c., sent coastwise, and the imports of coal, timber, rape and linseed cakes, salt, &c.; but the trade of the port was nearly ruined a few years ago, by the bankruptcy of its principal mercantile houses, which involved many of the inhabitants in great distress. The Custom-House is on the Quay; Henry Casterton, Esq., is collector; Mr. Wm. Bellamy, comptroller; and John Watson and Wm. Bower, tide waiters. On July 15th, 1817, a strong wind from the north, with a high tide, inundated the salt-marshes near Wells, so suddenly, that about 300 sheep, belonging to T. Moore and J. Blomfield of Wingham, were lost in the flood. The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, is a neat fabric with a nave, side aisles, chancel, south porch, and a square tower. The pewing has recently been much improved by the present incumbent, who erected in 1833, at the cost of £320, a south gallery, with pews for 140 hearers, with the consent of the Bishop and the parishioners, so that this gallery is considered his own private property. The singing gallery, and the window which lights it, were formed at the same time by subscription, at the cost of £82. Over the south door is painted the history of the flood, and over the north door, that of Jonas. The pulpit has a brass reading desk, and the font is ornamented with carvings of angels, shields, &c. The benefice is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £36. 13s. 4d., and possesses 40a. of glebe, and a neat residence. The Rev John Robt. Hopper is the patron, and the Rev Valentine Hill, M.A., is the incumbent. Here is a Friends' Meeting-House, built in 1783; also an Independent Chapel, built in 1817, enlarged with galleries, in 1826, and now under the ministry of the Rev J. T. Barker. Here are likewise two chapels, belonging to the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists. The Theatre is the property of Mr Chas Fisher, the manager, and will hold about £50, at the usual prices, but is only occupied for a few weeks once in two years. The Workhouse will accommodate from 60 to 80 paupers, but has seldom more than 40. The poor rates amounted in 1834, to 9s. 10d in the pound, on one-third of the rack rental collected in four rates, which produced £1604. 11s. 2½d. In 1679, Christopher Ringer bequeathed to Wells, land which now lets for £120 a-year, and directed the rents to be employed in distributions of meal to poor families, and in paying two widows for teaching 30 children. The poor's land, left by the Rev. Mungo Moray, was let in 1786 for £16. In 1738, Ann and Bridget Tidd bequeathed to the poor a yearly rent charge of £20, but part of it is said to be lost.

POST-OFFICE, High street, Mrs. Hannah Southgate, post-mistress; letters from London, and all parts, by way of Lynn, arrive every morning at 35 minutes past 10, and are despatched every afternoon at 15 minutes past 3.

In the following DICTIONARY OF WELLS, those marked 1 reside in Burnt street; 2, Butlands; 3, Church street; 4, East end; 5, Freemen street; 6, Glebe road; 7, High street; 8, Mill lane; 9, Quay; 10, Staithe street; 11, Theatre street; and 12, at West end.

1 Ackroyd Rev. Jas. V. of Holkham
10 Barker Rev. J. Theodore (Ind.)
Beauchy Mrs. Ann, Butlands
2 Bellamy Wm. compr. of Customs
6 Bottomley Jph. H. stone mason
Bolton Rev. Thos. Marsh House
Bramme Thos. Rudd, gent. Staithe st.
Brett Robt. millwright, Mill lane
Brightmer Mrs. Isble. Staithe st.
Brown Mrs. Eliz. Butlands
Bunting Mr. Henry, Butlands
Burley Mr. James, High street
Cassidy Mrs. Mary, Staithe st.
Calvin Mrs. Mary, Theatre road
9 Costerton Hy. colr. of customs
12 Curry Capt. Roger, R. N.
Dennis Mr. Geo. Burnt street
Dye Mr. Francis, High street
3 Emma Mthw. tobacco pipe mfr.
Fox Mr. Samuel, Butlands

3 Fryer John Val. wood turner
Goldsmith Mrs. Margt. Church st.
Hamond Mrs. Mary, Freemen st.
Hutmas Wm. master mariner
Hill Mrs. Eliz. High street
5 Hill Rev. Valentine, M.A. rector
Hopper Rev. Jas. Rt. Rectory
Jary Mrs. Elizabeth, Smith st.
Jickling Geo. sail maker, Quay
Lancaster Rev. James, (Meth.)
3 Langton Rev. Augs. Warner M.A.
Lowe Wm. cattle dlr. Freemen st.
2 Metcalf Wm. horse & gig owner
Moore Tuttal, gent. West house
Nettleton Wm. gent. West end
5 Neville Cha. Palmer, gun maker
10 Payne Benj. supervisor
10 Plowright Mr. Edm. Gibbs
Potts Anthy. gent. Staithe street
Race Mrs. Harriet, Butlands

Rowling Mrs. Ann, High street
 Rayner Mrs. Julia, Mill lane
 Reeve Wm coachproprietor Freeman st.
 Rump Hugh Robt. gent. Butlands
 5 Reeder Misses Rachel & Eliz.
 Smith Mrs. Mary, Tinker's corner
 3 Spencer Robt. excise officer
 Walker Mrs. Esther, Glebe rd.
 Wright Mr. George, Mill lane
 Webber Mrs. Cath. Butlands
 Yeams Mrs. Phoebe, Burnt st.

FIRE AND LIFE OFFICES.

Crown Life, Jas. Young, Burnt st.
 10 Guardian, Robt. Ward
 7 Norwich Union, H. Nevell
 7 Protector Fire, E. Houghton, jun
 7 Suffolk & General County, Rt.
 Baker

INNS AND PUBLIC HOUSES

3 Bowling Green, Jas. Newson
 2 Crown Inn, Samuel Ellis
 10 Crown & Anchor, T. Hayhow
 5 Dagger, Joseph Lown
 8 Light Hangers, Rt. Fox, Church st.
 5 Exchange John Ransom
 10 Fighting Cocks, T. Farrow
 Globe, Thos. Priest, Butlands
 9 Golden Pledge Inn, M. Bullock
 Grapes, Saml. Powditch, Staith st
 7 Green Dragon, Jane Greve
 Half Moon, John Wilson, Quay
 12 Holkham New Inn, Saml. Strutt
 9 Jolly Sailor, Robt. Middleton
 9 King's Arms, John Rix
 7 King Wm IV, Geo. Humphrey
 Lugger, Wm. Harman, Glebe rd.
 10 Norfolk Freeholders, Hy. Fox,
 1 Ostrich Inn, Robert Brown,
 Red Lion, Ann Pennington, Quay
 9 Royal Star and, John Lake
 Ship, John Powditch, Quay
 Star, Robert Allen, Quay
 Sun, Robert Leeder, jun., Quay
 Three Tuns, Thomas Smith, Quay
 3 Waggon & Horses, Hy. Ramm
Academies —
take boarders
 10 Gamble W.
Girls', Allen
& Wabon
 5 Hook Sappa
 7 Jonas Chas.
 1 Judd My. Ann

& Harriet
 7 Lambert Thos.
 9 Peace John
Agents
 4 Parker R. (to Lloyds, &c.)
 2 Race William,
 (Trinity Ha.)

Attorneys.

2 Garwood Ths.
 2 Loynes Rt. T

Auctioneer.

7 Houghton Edw

Bakers, &c — are Confectioners.

7 Baker Robt

3 Bamaridge J

5 Beates Saml

10 Matsell Ths.

7 Miller Edmd

5 Miller Wm. H.

10 Myast Wm.

9 Newson Isaac

2 Priest Thos.

9 Priest Wm

Tuffs Jemima

Basket Makers

3 Canfords and

Mitchell

10 Watson Jas

Bear Houses.

5 Emerson Rd

4 Land Joseph

5 Smith James

12 Smith Wm.

Blacksmiths —

Whitesmiths

2 Farrow Ths

3 Garrett Wm.

7 Rad Thos.

1 Randall Wm.

9 Smith Isaac

8 Whisson W

10 Woods John,

(& ironfoundr.)

Booksellers.

10 Howard Ths

7 Neville Hy

Boot and Shoe

Makers

10 Amiss John

10 Anderson J

5 Baker Thos.

5 Bullock Benj

7 Castleton John

7 Cock Wm

7 Gregory Augn

3 Gregory Geo.

7 Hadley John

7 Hall William

6 Harrison Rbt.

10 Lubbock Geo

9 Matthews Jas

11 Medwel Wm.

10 Peace Geo.

10 Powditch S.

9 Smith Thos.

7 Tinker Robt.

7 Tyzack Chas.

7 Tyzack Zach.

6 Warner Wm.

Braziers, &c.

9 Cawston Thos.

10 Godfrey A

Brewers

10 Breame Thos.

Rudd, jun.

9 Crofts George

9 Rust Martha

9 Southgate Jas.

(ale & p. mer.)

Bricklayers.

Holmes James

7 Steel Edward

12 Youngs Hy.

Butchers.

1 Crawford Hy.

9 Hamond Hy.

3 Houghton E.

7 Houghton E.

9 Houghton Rt.

7 Howard Edw.

7 Jarret Saml.

1 Loose John

Druggists.

3 Leslie John

10 Murkin Fdk.

China, Glass,

&c. Dealers.

Russell John,

East end

7 Thurstan Rt.

10 Ward Rt. (

stamp office)

Coopers

10 Massingham

John, brass mfr.

10 Walker John

Corn & Coal, &c.

Merts

9 Breckelart J.

& R., Abm.

Dunq, agent

9 Chapman J.

1882-1883

1882-1883

1882-1883

1882-1883

1882-1883

1882-1883

- | | |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| • Brancaster, Reppingall, Sat. | † Holt, Sly Barnes, Fri. |
| • Buruham, Howard, W. & S. | WATER CARRIAGE. |
| • Cley, John Hardy, W. & S. | London and Hull Packets, once |
| † Elmham, Martin Hansell, F. | a fortnight from the Quay |

WIGHTON is a parish and large village, 3 miles S. by E. of Wells, and 2 miles N. of Walsingham, containing 542 inhabitants, and 2923 acres of land, of which 97 are heath, upon which are the remains of a large Danish entrenchment, with three trenches, and ramparts 30 feet high. Near the wind-mill was another entrenchment, called Crabbe's Castle, where several Roman coins have been dug up. T. W. Coke, Esq., owns a great part of the soil, and holds the manor of the Duchy of Lancaster. The CHURCH, dedicated to All Saints, is a large building with a square tower and four bells. It was given by Henry II. to Norwich Cathedral, so that the Dean and Chapter are now the patrons and appropriators, but the rectorial tithes are leased to T. W. Coke, Esq. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £11. 11s. 8d., has 20 acres of glebe, and a new parsonage-house, and was augmented in 1767 and 1807, with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, laid out in land at Becclesham. The Rev J. W. Methold is the present incumbent. The poor's land, left by Humphrey Bohingheld, in 1762, was let in 1780 for £4. 11s. 6d. Here was an almshouse for six poor widows, built with £120, given by Gregory Smith, in 1596, but it fell down many years ago, for want of funds to repair it.

Jackson Mich. vict. Red Lion
 Lack Chas. grocer and draper
 Ladel, Mr. John
 Leeder John, shopkeeper
 Methold Rev. John Wm. vicar Plattist Henry, tailor
 Reeve John, Esq.
 Stringer Charles, blacksmith
 Tharston Walter, milder & maltster
 Williams Joshua, baker
 Wright Robt. grocer

Wright Wm. vict. Gibraltar
 Yearham John, wheelwright
Boat and Shoe Makers.
 Franklin John | Harvey John
 Franklin J. jun | Wright Wm.
Farmers.— * are yeomen.
 Jarvis John | Read Thos.
 Mack Wm. | Shepherd Hy.
 * Mosse Thomas | Watets Wm.
 * Potter Samuel | Within Wm.
 Powell Charles | Wright John

BROTHERCROSS HUNDRED

Is one of the smallest divisions of Norfolk, being of an oblong figure, only eight miles in length from north to south, and five miles in breadth. It is bounded on the east by North Greenhoe; on the south by Gallow, on the west by Southdon Hundred, and on the north by the ocean, where it is terminated by an insulated ridge of sand hills, called the Scald Heads, occupied only by rabbits, and having near it a prolific bed of excellent oysters. This Hundred is generally a fertile and champagne country, and forms, with 18 parishes in Gallow Hundred, the Deanery of Burnham. It contains only nine parishes, with 1143 inhabitants, and about 17,600 acres of land, which, with the buildings, was assessed for the property tax in 1815, at the annual value of £20,760. Of these parishes, six have the common name of Burnham; two are called North and South Creek, and the other Winterden. Under the New Poor Law, Brothercross and Smithdon Hundreds were united for the maintenance of the poor, in Aug. 1835, and are to have a Poor-house at Docking. Petty Sessions are held at Burnham-Westgate, on the 1st Saturday of every month; and Wm. Weatherhead is clerk to the magistrates. Brothercross and Gallow Hundreds, were possessed by the Crown, till Henry I. gave them to Wm. Earl of Warren and Surrey, to be hold of the castle of Norwich, paying two marks yearly.

BURNHAM DEEPDALE is a small village, seated on a gentle acclivity above the salt marshes, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. of Burnham Market, and is sheltered on the south by a range of lofty hills, finely clothed with wood. Its parish contains 95 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, of which 300 are marsh, enclosed under an act passed in 1821, for draining, embanking, and improving about 700a. of salt marshes in this and the adjacent parishes of Burnham Norton and Burnham Overy. Henry Etheridge Blyth, Esq. is owner of the soil, lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, which is dedicated to St. Mary, and has a round tower, and an ancient font standing on five pilasters. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £11, has 62a. of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Edward Gwyn Blyth, A.M.—Directory.—Geo. Fox, vict., Plough, and George Redwell, farmer.

BURNHAM NORTON, 1 mile N. of Burnham Market, is a parish, with a small humble village in a gentle ascent above the marshes, comprising 153 inhabitants, and about 1100 acres of land, belonging to the Earl of Orford, the lord of the manor. The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, is above half a mile south of the village, on the western acclivity of a fertile valley. It has a round tower, and is in the patronage of the King; but the rectory is in two mediætes consolidated with Burnham-Sulton, and Burnham Westgate. On the pulpit are painted the four doctors of the church, and on the screen, the figures of eight saints. In the aisle are memorials of the ancestors of the late Lord Chancellor Thurlow. A priory of white monks, founded here about 1240, was granted at the dissolution, to Wm. Lord Cobham. Directory.—John Brown, joiner; Richd. Johnson, blacksmith; Wm. Loose, wheelwright and beer-seller; Wm. Muck, farmer and chief constable; Robt. Priest, coal dealer; and Henry Laylor, farmer, Marsh.

BURNHAM OVERY parish has 610 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, and includes the large village, of Burnham Overy Staithe, situated nearly 2 miles N.N.E. of Burnham Market, on a rivulet or creek, which crosses the salt-marshes by two channels to the ocean, and is navigable for vessels of 60 or 80 tons up to the Staithe, where the spring-tides rise 9 or 10 feet, and where a considerable trade in coal and corn is carried on, as well as haystacks, of which there is an excellent bed in the offing, where 7 boats and 12 boatmen are regularly employed. The Church, dedicated to St. Clement, stands on a bold eminence, a mile N. of the Staithe, near the Wells road, and the remains of an ancient cross, 1 mile N.E. of Burnham Market. It has a short square tower, surmounted by a turret and bell; and in the same enclosure there was formerly another church, dedicated to St. Andrew, but no traces of it now remain the cures being consolidated in 1421, as a vicarage, valued in K. B.

at £8. The King is patron, and the Hon. and Rev. Fdk. Hotham, incumbent. The Church land is let for about £3. Peterstone house, with its farm at the south-east end of the parish, is the site of a hospital and chapel, called St. Peter de Patra, and anciently belonging to a religious community, who had a free chantry or oratory, granted them by the priory of Walsingham. At the dissolution, its site was granted to the Bishop of Norwich, and is now held of the see by T. W. Coke, Esq., who owns several other portions of the parish, but the greater part belongs to the Earl of Orford, the lord of the manor.

*Marked * reside at the Stait.*

Balls Thomas and John, gent.
Belding George, joiner
Brett William, farmer
Cringie Wm. master mariner
* Dawson John, vict. Jolly Sailor
* Dewing Richard and Co. corn and coal merchants & maltsters
Edge Francis, bricklayer
* Foulgor John, farmer
Groom James, stone mason
* Holding Alice, vict. Ship
* Hull James and Henry, coal and coke merchants
* Jackson Lieut. Robert, R. N.
Kendal John, blacksmith
Leak John Stringer, wheelwright
Lewis Mary, grocer
Lewis Matthew, constable

* Middleton Margaret, shopkeeper
* Phillips Rev. David, Indt. min.
* Nelson Nathl. miller and baker
Pegg John, brickmaker
* Priest Samuel, shoemaker
Read James, corn miller
* Savory John, miller and maltster
* Smith William, blacksmith
Sporne John, vict. Ostrich
* Stapleton Ann, grocer & draper
Tooley Henry, bricklayer & vict.
* Waters Geo. farmer, Marsh ls.
* Wiseman George, farmer
* Wiseman Thos. Thurlow, corn & coal mercht., h. Peterstone ls.
Wright Wm. veterinary surgeon Carrier—John Sporne, to Norwich, Mon. 7 mg; and to Lyan,
Friday, 9 morning.

BURNHAM-THORPE, a considerable village and parish, pleasantly seated in the vale of a small rivulet, about a mile E. by S. of Burnham Market, has 363 inhabitants, and upwards of 2300 acres of land, of which the Earl of Orford is principal owner, and lord of the manor; but T. W. Coke and J. Morse, Esqrs., and several others, have small estates here. The manor is mostly on arbitrary fines, and with the whole of the Earl of Orford's estate, in this parish, was purchased by Peter Lombard, Esq., in 1755, and passed from him to the Earl's ancestor, Horatio Lord Walpole, of Wolterton. The hall, now a farm-house, has been a large moated mansion. Burnham-Thorpe formerly had a weekly market on Saturday, and will ever be memorable in the annals of fame, for having been the birth-place of that eminently distinguished, and ever-to-be-lamented hero, Admiral Lord Nelson, whose father was many years rector of this parish, and also of Burnham Sutton. A brief memoir of this illustrious hero is already inserted at page 274, with the history of Yarmouth, where an elegant Naval Pillar has been raised to his memory, (vide p. 257.) The Church, dedicated to All Saints, contains several marble tablets, to the memory of the Nelson family, and has a nave, chancel, north aisle, porch and tower. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £19. 10s., has 29a. 2r. 23f. of glebe, with a neat residence built near the site of that in which Nelson was born. The Earl of Orford is patron, and the Rev. Daniel Everard incumbent. The Free School has a good house, a garden, and an acre of land, occupied by the master, who has also a yearly salary of £37. 6s. 6d., of which £12 is paid out of a farm in Barwick, belonging to J. J. Gay, Esq., and the remainder arises from property vested with the Fishmonger's Company, in London. The school is free to all the boys of the parish, and the Earl of Orford is its governor. The poor have two annuities, bequeathed by Mears, Ward and Taylor, and paid out of the estates of the Earl of Orford and Sir Charles Chad.

Hrett Jas. whilwgt. & vict. Nelson	Hancock John, shopkeeper
Buck John, baker and grocer	Tuck Charles, beerhouse
Curtis Robert, blacksmith	Farmers.
Everard Rev. Dani. M. A. Rectory	Calver Henry
Everard Rev. William, M. A.	Calver John
Greenwood Erasmus, free school	Gay Joshua
	Humph, John (yeoman)
	Laeder Jackson
	Mack Thos. T.

BURNHAM, ULPH AND SUTTON now form one parish, with a small village, adjoining the east end of the market town of Burnham Westgate, and comprising 364 inhabitants, and about 1400a. of land, chiefly lying in two farms, one belonging to T. W. Coke, Esq., and the other called Muckleton, the property of the Earl of Orford, and distant 2 miles S. W. of the village. On the Wells road at the north end of the parish, is a small linen manufactory, and also a brewery. Ulph Church, dedicated to St. Albert or Ethelbert, has long been a venerable ruin; but it is all gone except the tower and part of the north wall of the nave. Sutton Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a small edifice, with a single bell, hanging between two turrets at the west end. The rectory of Burnham Sutton has annexed to it parishes of Burnham, Ulph, and Norton, and is valued at K. B. at £17s. 10s. The King is the patron, and the Hon. and Rev. Frederick Hotham is incumbent. The Methodists have a small chapel here, erected in 1828.

Beverley Thomas, baker	Ellis William, butcher
Blyth Rev. Edwd. Gwyn, M.A.	Mack Wm. jun. farmer, Muckleton
Bower Robert, bricklayer	Manning Henry, tallow chandler,
Cable Wm. brazer and tinner	brewer, and porter merchant
Carr Geo. blacksmith & beerhs.	Overman Rd. farmer
Cutson Wm. grocer, joiner, and	Pornitt David, horn mfr., maltster
auctioneer	and seed merchant
Ellis John, vict. Lord Nelson	Raydon Benjamin, shoemaker

BURNHAM WESTGATE, or BURNHAM MARKET, is a small but neat market town, on the Wells road, 22 miles N. E. by N. of Lynn, 9 miles W. N. W. of Walsingham, 32 miles N. W. of Norwich, and 118 miles N. N. E. of London. The parish contains 1028 inhabitants, and about 2800 acres of land, partly belonging to Sir Roger Martin, Bart., the lord of the manor, who resides in the Hall, a handsome white mansion, with a lawn and plantations, near the Church; but a portion of the parish is in the Earl of Orford's manor of Burnham Thorpe. Sussex Farm, a large estate, with a neat mansion of white brick, in a rural valley, 2 miles to the N. W., is the property and seat of Henry Etheridge, Blyth, Esq.; and Cradle Hall, a large house and farm, 1½ mile W. of the town, belongs to the Rev. M. Ogle, of Coventry; besides whom, there are several smaller proprietors. The town is about 2 miles S. of the harbour of Burgham Overy, and has a market on Saturday, for provisions, &c., and hold-

1. The first of the 100 is the 100th
 2. The second of the 100 is the 100th
 3. The third of the 100 is the 100th
 4. The fourth of the 100 is the 100th
 5. The fifth of the 100 is the 100th
 6. The sixth of the 100 is the 100th
 7. The seventh of the 100 is the 100th
 8. The eighth of the 100 is the 100th
 9. The ninth of the 100 is the 100th
 10. The tenth of the 100 is the 100th

Hoppe - Young man & carpenter
James Phipps
Lawrence Nash
John W & Hapley J bakers
Oliver Jones, brewer, maltster, saddler, & shoe Chequers Inn

Sutton Robert, cooper	Whisker John	Sejings Ta. J
Shackcloth Wm. beer house	Farmers.	Joiners and
Taylor Wm. vict. Black Swan	Everitt James	Wheelwrights.
Tuddenham James, shoemaker	Graver Ts. L.	Goodman Mark
Turner Wm. gent.	Griggs Money	Lunness John
Wasey Thos. boot & shoe maker	Leicester sq.	Moxley Samuel
Wordingham Jas. basket maker	Pulch Robt.	Spooner Edw.
Blacksmiths. Rolling Wm.
Pilgrim Morris Softly Thomas

WATERDEN parish, 3 miles S.S.E. of Burnham-Market, has only 24 inhabitants, two cottages, and a farm of 800 acres belonging to T. W. Coke, Esq., and occupied by Charles Wm. Hill. The Church, (All Saints,) is a small fabric embowered in trees, without either bell or tower. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 6d. 8d., is in the gift of T. W. Coke, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. W. H. Langton, D.D.

SMITHDON HUNDRED

Is a fine agricultural district, forming the most north-western division of Norfolk, averaging about ten miles in length and breadth, and bounded on the north and west by the Ocean and the Wash, on the south by Freebridge-Lynn, and on the east by Gallow and Brothercross. The surface is in many places picturesquely undulated, and the soil being mostly a deep rich clay, is naturally fertile, except in some of the higher grounds, where a light sand prevails, and was formerly in large open fields, all of which have been enclosed since 1761, when 5000 acres of waste, near Snettisham, was fenced and allotted by act of Parliament. The lands near the shore are chiefly salt marshes, which are often inundated at spring tides; and at other periods, a strong gale from the north-west has sometimes brought in the water with such force and rapidity, that whole flocks of sheep and herds of cattle have been lost; the strongest banks not being adequate to resist the force of the waves when aided by a concurring wind. At the Domesday survey, this division was in two Hundreds, called Smithdon and Docking. At the latter place, a large WORKHOUSE is now erecting, (1835,) under the New Poor Law, for the Hundreds of Smithdon and Brothercross, and the adjacent parishes of Anmer, Dersingham, Bagthorpe, Barmer, Houghton, Syderstone, Broomthorpe, and East and West Rudham; under the name of the Docking Union. The house will cost about £6000, and is calculated for the reception of 500 paupers, under the control of 52 guardians, who meet every Wednesday. Petty Sessions are held at Snettisham on the second, and at Docking on the last Monday of every month. Mr. Wm. Weatherhead is clerk to the magistrates. Smithdon Hundred belongs to a great number of freeholders and copyholders; but Henry L'Estrange Styleman, Esq., is lord of nearly half of the manors. It is now divided into 18 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings as assessed for the property tax in 1815, and their territorial extent.

Robert, shoemaker
 Edmund, shoemaker
 John, blacksmith
 Martha, grocer
 Rt. wheelwit. & beerha.
 Susanna, joiner
 Denny Daniel
 Hebgia Thom

Kittion John J

The Maid, to Wells at 11 m. 1 g., and to Lynn, &c. at h. p. 2 m., leaves letters at Mr. J. Drage's Carriers pass through to Lynn and Wells.

CHAM-NEWTON parish has a pleasant hamlet 1 mile N. of Bircham, and 15 miles N.E. of Lynn, and contains 95 inhabited 1067 a. of land, belonging to the Marquis Cholmondeley, the of the manor, and patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £s. 8d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Berry, B. A., with of glebe, and the rectory of Bircham-Tofts. The Church has a chancel, and tower. The two farmers are John Barker and Blyth.

BIRCHAM-TOFTS lies a mile S.E. of the above, and is a small re and parish, with 130 inhabitants, and 1435 acres. The Mar-Cholmondeley is owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the au, which is dedicated to St. Andrew, and is a rectory, united Bircham-Newton, and having 12 acres of glebe, but no parsonage

Directory — William Taylor, basket-maker; James Warnes lett, and John Daniel Nurse, farmers.

BRANCASTER, 4½ miles W.N.W. of Burnham Market, is a scattered village, with a Steith or Quay, where the tide rises feet in a commodious creek, which crosses the salt marsh to that of the ocean called Brancaster Bay, and enjoys a considerable in coal and corn. The parish has increased its population 1801, from 563 to 851 souls, and contains 3400 acres of land, exclusive of the salt marsh, in which there have been dug up, near a beach, oak and chestnut trees, and the antlers of deer. Here a large Roman station called Branodunum, and garrisoned with Dalmatian cavalry, under a general, who was designated, from the nature of his appointment, Count of the Saxon Shore, this part of the coast lying much exposed to the attacks of the Saxons. The walls and entrenchment occupied an oblong area of about six acres of ground, now a ploughed close, above the marsh, where part of the ditch is still visible, with many stones on the north side; but all the other walls and foundation stones were cleared away many years ago, and partly used in the erection of a malt-house, said to be the largest in England, being 312 feet long by 31 broad, capable of wetting 420 quarters of barley per week, but not now used for this purpose.
 Numerous urns, coins, &c. found here, are preserved in the cabinets of the curious, and knives and styles, with handles exquisitely wrought, about the size of clasp knives, have also been discovered.
 One of the coins was inscribed "Janus Hyfrons," and another, "Ti Claudius Cæs. Aug." A Roman road, afterwards called the Jew's Way, passed from Brancaster, along the coast, to the other great Roman station at Caistor-next-Yarmouth. Mary, the wife of Mr. J. N.
 Reeve, of Howe Hill, in this parish, is lady of the manor: but part of the soil belongs to Mr. James and Mrs. C. Sharpe, the Astley, and several smaller proprietors. The Church, of Southmere manor. The latter, commonly called Summerfield, is occupied by John Raven, Esq., in one farm, with 100 acres of wood, (about a mile W. of Docking,) all belonging to the Rev. H. J. Hare, and formerly a separate parish, with a church, dedicated to All Saints, existing in 1378; but no vestiges of it now remain, though its benefice is still continued as a sinecure rectory, in the gift of Eton College, and incumbency of the Rev. Richard Battiscombe. The Rev. H. J. Hare, of Docking Hall, and Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, of Hillingdon, own the greater part of Docking. The latter is lord of the manor of Docking, or Zouches, (fines arbitrary,) and the former is lessee of the rectorial tithes, which have long been in the appropriation of Eton College. DOCKING CHURCH, dedicated to St. Mary, has a large square tower, with one bell, and inscriptions to the family of Hare, of whom, Mrs. Winifred Hare, gave the sacramental plate, and furniture for the pulpit, desk, and communion table. The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £13. 6s. 8d., is now enjoyed by the Rev. H. Bolton, with 60 acres of glebe. Eton College presents, on the nomination of the Bishop of Norwich. The National School, adjoining the churchyard, was erected by subscription in 1816, and has 60 scholars, who pay 2d. per week each. At the enclosure of Docking common, about 50 acres were allotted to the parishioners for grazing, and getting fuel and gravel; and a pit of the latter is in great repute for the beauty of its materials, which are much used in the walls of gardens and pleasure grounds. Petty Sessions are held at Hare Inn, on the last Monday of every month, and a large Workhouse is now building (1835) near the village, under the New Poor Law (see p. 625.) The poor rates in this neighbourhood have lately been very high, amounting, with the county rate, to about 6s. per pound on the annual rental; but we are apprehensive that they will be reduced by congregating together 500 paupers from a widely extended agricultural district, and thus, by breaking up their homes and family connexions, rendering them incapable of ever rising above the condition of parochial paupers and prisoners; indeed the fallacy of this system has been proved by the experience of nearly half a century, in many parts of this county, where it has already been shewn, that very few of the old gigantic workhouses are occupied by more than a fifth part of the number of inmates for which they were built, though pauperism in their incorporated parishes is now more prevalent than it was at the time of their erection. (Vide p. 372, 496, and 524.) The Public Well at Docking is 66 yards deep, and a man is constantly employed in drawing water for the inhabitants. The Post-office is at Wm. Starham's, where letters are conveyed by a horse post, at 11 morning, and are despatched at half-past three in the afternoon.

Nett Wm. assistant overseer
 Stain J. watchmaker
 Stating Wm. baker
 Stiles Richard, sen. gent.
 Stiles Rd. jun. butcher & miller
 Stoll Miss Charlotte
 Storns Edmd. brazier & tinner
 Storis Wm. Free School

Drew James, glover
 Dunham Robert, cooper
 Franks Robert, butcher
 Goggs Jas. gent. and Frost Mrs.
 Hare Rev. Humphrey John, Hall
 Humphrey Wm. tailor
 Johnson Jas. glazier, painter, &c.
 Johnson Capt. Thomas, R.N.

Lake John, vict. King Wm. IV.	Winter George, organist
Luvick Jacob, vety surgeon	Blacksmiths.	Stutley Thos.
Paul Thomas Thompson, surgeon	Bennett Jph.	Joiners, &c.
Pitts Wm, vict. Bell	Cook Wm.	Clark Thomas
Prentice Wm, druggist	Crisp Edw.	Goodwin Wm.
Raven John, Esq. Summerfield	Farmers.	Hazen Thomas
Renaut Jas. farmer and bee-hs.	Carl Thomas	Lakers (whgt.)
Senkler Rev. Edmd. John. M. A.	Kemp Wm.	Woode Wm.
Sharpe Saml merch. Sunderland	Marsters Edw.,	Shoemakers.
House	Lugden	Anderson Robt.
Shaul Robert, surgeon	Pickrell Thos.	(hos. & drug.)
Slegg John, vict. Hare Inn (&	Spurgin Geo.	Hutton Thos.
posting house)	Whistler Jas.	Neale John
Spurgin Rev. John, B. A. curate	Grocers & Upers.	Tungate Wm.
Thompson James & John, tailors	Bartram Wm.	Wiseman Wm.
Thompson, Wm. hair dresser, &c.	Holland David	Wiseman Vinc.
Wagg Wm. corn miller & baker	Mason Wm.
West Geo. vict. Plough

FRING, or Frenge, is a parish, with a small village, seated in a deep valley, with woody acclivities, between Snettisham and Docking, 14 miles N. E. by N. of Lynn, containing 127 inhabitants, and 1733 a. 2s. 31r. of land, mostly belonging to Abm Richd. Dugdale, Esq. the lord of the manor; but he resides generally in France, so that the Hall, a neat cemented mansion, upon a commanding eminence with extensive gardens, lawn, plantations, and pleasure-grounds is unoccupied. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, stands on the western acclivity, and has a small tower of flint, with crenellated battlements, with the parsonage-house, and 48 a. 1r. of glebe, are possessed with the advowson, by the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, being granted by Bishop Herbert, in 1101, to the monks of Norwich priory, who had a cell here, of which the foundations may still be traced. This appropriation was confirmed by Bishop Bataillon, on condition that the profits should be applied to endow the monks' shoes. The curacy was certified at £45, but it was augmented from 1790 to 1816, with £700 of royal bounty, and in the latter year with £200, given by the present incumbent, the Rev. Rt. Bacon, LL.D., who is author of "True Protestantism," published in 1825, and in 1840 expended nearly £600 in repairing and enlarging the parsonage-house, on condition that it and the gardens should be settled on the benefice for ever. Of the augmentations, £400 is vested in land, and £200 in the funds. The farmers are John Roper and Wm. Wright.

HRACHAM, 14 miles N. N. E. of Lynn, is a large and scattered village, on the sea-coast, sheltered behind by a bold acclivity at the foot of which a small rivulet flows across the salt marsh to the flat beach, where there is no harbour for shipping, though coal vessels and other small craft land their cargoes on the sands. The parish has increased in population, since 1801, from 524 to 735 souls, and contains 3465 a. 2s. 10r. of land, all arable except 909 a. in pasturage, 146 in waste, and 10 in plantations. The principal owners of the soil are Henry Styleman, Esq., Edmund Rolfe, Esq., and the Rev. Mr. May. The two latter have handsome seats here, called the Hall and the Lodge and the first is lord of the manor, impropriator, and patron of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., augmented in 1779 with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Henry North. The Church, dedicated to St. Mary, has a square tower, rising between the nave and chancel, and formerly had transepts. Here are inscriptions to the Rodmans and Rolles. One of the latter family sailed with Sir Walter Raleigh, in his voyages of discovery, and married the princess Pocahontas, daughter of one of the most celebrated Indian chiefs, which greatly facilitated the friendly intercourse between the natives and the English. The Independent Chapel, built here in 1832, is under the ministry of the Rev. P. Kent. The School was founded by subscription, in 1815, for 25 free scholars. The poor's land, allotted at the enclosure in 1780, is let for £10. 10s., and a cottage for £3; besides which, the poor have two yearly rent-charges of 10s. each; but the donors are unknown.

Allen Thomas, schoolmaster
 Bly Benjamin, wheelwright
 Bradfield James, maltster and coal merchant
 Bradfield Robt. grocer & draper
 Browne Robert, tailor
 Hough Henry, tailor
 Davy Miss E. & North Miss Ann
 Davy Rev. Martin, D. D., master of Corpus Christi College,
The Lodge
 Dawes William, joiner
 Ellis Robert, corn miller
 Filbey Wm. ale & porter mert.
 Granger Robert, blacksmith
 Kent Rev. Philip, Indpt. Min.
 May Rev. James, B. A., curate
 Nurse Robert, bricklayer
 Pigge Andrew, gentleman
 Richardson Clement, tinner, &c.

Robinson W. & Wilton T. butchers
 Rolfe Edm. Esq., Heaschem Hall
 Roythorne Edm. & Jas. coal dls.
 Silcock George, auctioneer
 Simpson John, maltster & beerhs.
 Spanton William, miller & baker
 Wagg James, baker
 Yaxley Cath. vict., Wheat Sheaf
Farmers.
 Bly William
 Carter Mrs.
 Clement Stagg
 Clowes Francis
 Duffield Thos.
 Foule Robert
 Harrison John
 Land William
The Mail to Wells, at $\frac{1}{4}$ before 9 mng., & to Lynn at $\frac{1}{4}$ p. 5 evg., leaves letters at Ths. Granger's.

Rix Benjamin
 Rix Henry
 Rix William
 Wells Robert
Shoemakers.
 Andrews Robt.
 Collings Wm.
 Hooks Robert
 Jarrett William

HOLME-NEXT-THE-SEA is a parish and small village, betwixt Hunstanton and Brancaster Bay, 9 miles W. of Burnham Market, containing 268 inhabitants, and 1636 acres of land, lying in several manors, viz., Hunstanton-with-Mustrella, Ringstead-with-Holme, and Northwall, otherwise Barnards, of which Henry L'Estrange Styleman, Esq., is lord; and Holkham, Berry's, and Hoods, of which the Rev. Chas. Palmer is lord, and has a neat mansion here; as also has Mr. Matthew Thurlow Nelson. The common was enclosed in 1820, except the salt-marsh, on which the occupants of all the ancient houses have commonright. The Church, dedicated to Virgin Mary, has a large square tower, (partly in ruins) built by Henry Notynham, an itinerant judge, and one of the council of the Duchy of Lancaster, in the reign of Henry IV., of whom and his wife, there are effigies in brass, in a chapel at the east end of the south aisle. The church has been much larger, the nave being rebuilt on a smaller scale, in 1778. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., has about 22 acres of glebe, and was augmented in 1762, with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. Chas. Sutton, D. D., has been in.

cumbent since 1794; and the patronage is alternately in the Bishop of Norwich, and T. L'Estrange Ewen, Esq.; but Henry L'Estrange Styleman is impropriator of the tithes. Here are 11a of poor's land, let for £11. In Dec. 1626, a large whale was cast ashore here, 57 feet long, and the profit made by it was £217. 6s. 7d., exclusive of £100 expended in cutting it up, boiling the oil, &c.

Bloomfield Rt. vict, White Horse	Nelson Miss Dty., Pitts Mr. Wm.
Blyth Anthony, solicitor	Nelson Matthew Thurlow, gent.
Bond Thomas, beer house	FARMERS.
Green Ann, wheelwright	Bloomfield Chas. Nelson Mathw.
Hogge Rev. Geo. A. B., curate	Frohawk Fras. Seapey Wm.
Morgan John, blacksmith	Green John Whymonsole J.

HUNSTANTON is a pleasantly situated village, on an eminence, with a declivity to the east, opening into a fine valley, and terminated on the north-west by that lofty sea cliff called St. Edmund's Point, being distant 10 miles W. of Burnham-Market, and 17 miles N. by E. of Lynn. Commanding an extensive view of the ocean, and having a firm sandy beach, with much beautiful scenery in its vicinity, it offers many temptations as a bathing place, though it has yet only two or three private lodging-houses and one public-house. Its parish contains 132 inhabitants, and 1800 acres of land, belonging to Henry L'Estrange Styleman, Esq., the lord of the manor, who is now completely renovating (after being long ruinous and unoccupied,) the ancient mansion of Hunstanton Hall, seated in a beautiful park, built at different periods, and long the seat of the distinguished family of L'Estrange, who held the manor on condition that they should send two soldiers to defend Rising Castle, but their estates were divided between the two sisters of the last baronet, one of whom married Sir Edward Astley, and the other the Rev. Armyne Styleman, father of the late Henry Styleman, Esq. Sir Roger L'Estrange, who died in 1596, and to whose memory there is a fine brass in the church, built the greater part of the hall; but the noble entrance gate-house was built by another of the same name, in the reign of Henry VIII. Sir Roger L'Estrange, Kt., born in 1616, espoused the Royal cause in the civil wars of Charles I., and in 1644 he intended to surprise the town of Lynn, but his plans being divulged by two of his associates, he was seized, tried, and condemned to death, but this punishment was commuted for imprisonment in Newgate, where he escaped in 1648, and fled to the continent. After the restoration he became a great political writer, and established a newspaper called "The Public Intelligencer and the News," but this was given up to make room for the London Gazette, commenced Feb. 4th, 1666. By way of compensation, Sir Roger was appointed "licenser of the press," a post at that time of some trust and profit, but he was not knighted till the accession of James II., whose queen anagramed his name into "Strange lying Roger." He died in 1704, in his 88th year. The Light House Cliff, which extends westward from the village, and rises to the height of from 60 to 100 feet above the beach, is commonly called St. Edmund's Point, from a tradition that Edmund the martyr landed here, when he was brought from Germany to be crowned King of East-Anglia. He is said to have built a tower here, in which he resided while he como memory the whole book of Psalms, in compliance with a vow. Some remains of an old chapel on the cliff, dedicated to Edmund, probably gave rise to this story. Near these ruins the LIGHT HOUSE, a wooden fabric built by Edw. Everard, but now belonging to Fredk. Lane, Esq., of Lynn, and lighted by argand lamps with reflectors, eight of which are of silvered-glass, and one of polished metal. This stupendous cliff commands an extensive view of the ocean and the Lincolnshire coast, as far as the eye can reach, including the light and Boston church. The sea comes up against it with great force, and is said to have gained upon it more than ten yards during the last fifty years, though its stratification consists chiefly of soft chalk, hard red clunch, dirty yellow coloured stones, with an exceedingly hard rock of iron-coloured carr-stone at the base. On the main great refluxes of the tides, called a dead neap, about the end of September, persons may walk or ride about two miles down the cliffs to a place called the oyster sea, where, in the season, are caught skate, oysters, lobsters, turbot, bredcocks, sandlings, soles, plaice, salmon, trout, hornpikes, and, occasionally, smelts. The coast, on each side of the cliff, is secured against the incursions of the ocean, by immense sand heaps called meales, and abounding with rabbits. Here is no harbour, but coal vessels unlade their cargoes on the beach. Hunstanton CHURCH, dedicated to the Virgin Mary, is a large regular pile, with a square tower and one bell, at the west end of the north aisle. It has a handsome south porch, and an antique Saxon font; also several fine brasses in memory of the L'Estranges, and one to Edmund Green and his wife, dated 1490. The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £12, is now enjoyed by the Rev. Samuel Cross. Henry L'Estrange Styleman, Esq., is the patron, and also improPRIATOR of the great tithes. As lord of the manor he pays ten coombs of barley yearly to the church and poor, as an exchange made at the enclosure, for the land bequeathed, in 1592, by Robert Gibson.

Styleman Henry L'Estrange, Esq., Hunstanton Hall
 Bayfield John, shopkeeper
 Callaby Ezekiel, blacksmith
 Carter John Thomas, land agent
 Collison Wm. tailor
 Edwards Rev. Edwd. (& Lynn)
 Harrison John, vict. X Chequers
 Fox Henry, light-house keeper
 Napper Lieut. Richard, R.N.
 Rippingall John, schoolmaster
 Rudd Mrs. Susanna (lodgings)
 Russell Robt. grocer and draper
 Simmence James, joiner
 Wales Chas. tailor, dpr. & grocer

Wassell Mary Ann, free school
 Willaby Frs. butcher (lodgings)
Farmers. Spanton Robt.
 Dodman Wm. Shoemakers.
 Hunn John Chapman Thos.
 Loose Isaac Cooke Wm.
 Pratt Chas. (& Hamerton Miles
 warrener) Scarfe Wm.
 Spanton John, Taylor John
 Lodge Wales Henry
 COACHES call at the X Chequers;
Mail, to Wells, 9 mng., and to Lynn, 5 aft.; and the Red Ro- rer, to Wells, $\frac{1}{4}$ bef. 9 mng., & to Lynn, London, &c. 3 aft.

INGOLDISTHORPE, on the Hunstanton road, 10 miles N.N.E. of Lynn, is a small scattered village, seated in a picturesque valley finely clothed with wood, and watered by a small rivulet, which flows westward across the salt marshes to the Wash, after forming a beautiful cascade at the new bridge, near Snettisham. The parish contains 286 inhabitants, and about 1100 acres of land, mostly belongi to John Bellamy, Esq., of Wisbech, the lord of the manor, who has a large mansion here, now unoccupied. On an eminence, commanding an extensive view of the ocean and the adjacent country, is Mount Amelia, the delightful seat of Captain John Davy, R.N., built by John Davy, Esq., in 1745. Several Roman coins have been found here. In the reign of King John, John Chamberlain sued Henry de Patesle and Thomas de Ingoldesthorpe, for the murder of his brother Drugo and both being convicted, the former was banished to Jerusalem for seven years to serve God for the soul of Drugo, and the latter was to find a priest for the same purpose, and pay to Drugo's parents the sum of forty marks. The Church, dedicated to St. Michael, is a large building with a square tower and three bells, and opposite the south porch stands an ancient cross. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £12, has 45 acres of glebe. The Rev. Lorick Cooper is patron, and the Rev. James Hoste incumbent. In the north aisle lies interred Richard Gardiner, Esq., commonly called "Dick Merry Fellow," who died during a short visit at Mount Amelia, in 1781. He was a busy partizan at elections, and left behind him a great variety of jeu d'esprit, songs, and inscriptions, full of wit and humour.

Bocking Mary, grocer
 Davy Capt. John, R.N., Mount
 Amelia
 Leech Rev. Wm. M.A. curate
 Lewin Wm. butcher
 Pescod Phillis, shopkeeper

Robinson James, joiner
Townshend Fras. vict. Ship
Webbin Wm. blacksmith
Farmers	Grice Jerm.
Denny Wm.	Hotching Wm.
Dungar Thos.

RINGSTEAD (GREAT) is a pleasant village, in a fertile valley, 2 miles S.E. of Hunstanton, and 8 miles W. by S. of Barham Market, comprising in its parish 524 inhabitants, and about 3000 acres of land, mostly belonging to Henry L'Estrange Styleman, the lord of the manor and patron of the rectory; but Wm. Herring, Esq., (1804,) of Harpley, Thos. Goodman, Esq., of Peterborough, and some others, have estates here. It had formerly two parish Churches, Saint Peter and Saint Andrew, but they were consolidated in 1771, when the former was pulled down, except its circular tower, which now forms an ivy-mantled dove-cote the other materials were used in repairing St. Andrew's, which has a nave, chancel, tower, and south porch. The consolidated rectories, valued in K.B. at £20 6s. 9d., are now enjoyed by the Rev. Henry North, with a good rectory-house, and 140a. of glebe. The poor have the interest of £20, left by Lawrence Hocknell, and of £5 10s. left by an unknown donor; they have likewise two annuities, viz., 20s. left by Mr. Read, and 10s. by Timothy Swift. (Enclosure 1781.)

Bartram Wm. grocer (& Docking)
 Bann Frederick, joiner
 Cadaman Thos. vict. Compasses
 Chapman Rt. wheelw. & beerhs
 Goodman Rt. miller and brewer
 Goulty Wm. shoemaker
 Habberton John, saddler
 Hall Elijah, blacksmith

Holmes Wm. schoolmaster
 Kitton Everard, gent. chief const.
 Kitton Henry, grocer & draper
 Lloyd John, Esq.
 Miller Wm. bricklayer
 North Rev. Henry, Rectory
 Rumbold Claxton, joiner
 Stumms John Raven, gent.

Tungate Wm. shoemaker.
Walker Abel, blacksmith
Wassell Henry, schoolmaster
Willaby James, butcher

Farmers.
Herring Robt.
(a miller)
Kilton Ewd.

Matsell John
Pickrell Wm.
Sudbury Wm.
Wright Benj.

RINGSTEAD PARVA, or Barret-Ringstead, is a decayed parish, now consisting of only one farm, belonging to H. L' Estrange Styleman, Esq., and united with the parish of Hunstanton, from which it is distant 2 miles south. Its church has been long in ruins, though its rectory, valued in K. B. at £3. 6s. 8d., is still continued as a sinecure, in the patronage of Mr. Styleman, and incumbency of the Rev. Caleb Elwin. The farm is occupied by Martin Dodman.

SEDOEFORD, a parish and scattered village, in the vale of a small rivulet, between Heacham and Docking, 13 miles N.N.E. of Lynn, has 595 inhabitants, and 4121 acres, of which, 2036 acres, with the manor and great tithes, are held on lease under the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, by Edmund Rolfe, Esq., of Heacham Hall. The rest belongs partly to the latter, Henry L' Estrange Styleman, Esq., Capt. Davy, and several smaller proprietors. The Dean and Chapter are also patrons of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £8, and now enjoyed by the Rev. C. F. Millard, with 3½ a. of glebe. The Church (St. Mary) has a round tower, with an octangular top and three bells. In the parish was anciently a hamlet, called Onastynsdon, or Nettington, held by Godwin Halden, one of the few Saxons who was allowed to keep his land by the Norman Conqueror. The Wesleyans have a small chapel here, erected in 1830. At the enclosure, in 1795, 30 acres of waste were allotted to the poor for fuel. They have also a house, occupied by paupers; 1a. used as a chalk-pit; and 10a. a-year from a cottage at Heacham, called Mason's dole.

Cooper William, shoemaker
Cripp Wm. vict., King's Head
Fenn Edward William, tailor
Jennings Samuel, blacksmith
Neave Ann, vict. Buck
Neville Rev. Strickland Charles
Edward, vicar of Houghton
Oughton John, brklyr. & beerhs.
Read William and Son, tailors
Watson Robert, shoemaker

Yaxley Mrs. miller and grocer
Farmers.
Barker Thomas
Coe Christopher
Evans George
Jary Edmund
Larkman John
Rix George
Rix John
Wells Cubitt
Woods John
Yaxley James
Grocers & Dyers.
Lambert John
Pottier Henry
Turner William

SHERNBOURNE, or Sharnbourne, a small village in a deep valley, near the source of the Ingold rivulet, 11½ miles N.E. by N. of Lynn, has in its parish 140 inhabitants, and about 1300 acres of land, in two farms, one belonging to Henry Cudham, Esq., and the other, with the ancient hall, to the Masters and Fellows of Emanuel College, Cambridge, who are also lords of the manor, which, for six centuries, was possessed by an ancient family, of its own name, the last of whom was Francis Sharnborne, Esq., who died during the usurpation of Oliver Cromwell. Their ancient hall, now occupied by a farmer, has been a large edifice, encompassed by a moat. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is said to be the second Christian church founded in East Anglia, by Felix the Burgundian, who came over to convert the Anglo-Saxons, and is said to have founded the first church at Babingley, where he landed. The church here has undergone many repairs, and is now only a small pile, with a belfry, one bell, and a singular antique font. The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £8, has 65a. of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. William Leech, M.A. The advowson belongs to the Bishop of Ely and Hy. Coldham, Esq., the latter having one, and the former two turns, together with the appropriation of the tithes. The poor's land is let for £2. The common was enclosed in 1767. Saml. Barker occupies Coldham farm; and Robert Kendall, Sherborne Hall farm.

SNETTISHAM is a considerable village, with an ancient cross, and said to have been a market-town, seated on rising ground, sheltered on the N.E. by a high range of hills, and having on the west a fine champagn tract, extending to the beach, from which it is distant 2 miles, being on the Hunstanton road, 11 miles N.N.E. of Lynn. Its extensive parish contains 926 inhabitants, upwards of 5000 acres of land, and the scattered hamlet of Southgate, distant nearly a mile to the south, in the vale of the Ingold rivulet, where there is a small subscription corn-mill. A Hiring Session for servants is held on Oct. 12th. The commons were enclosed under acts passed in 1761 and 1800. G. G. Dalton, Esq., has two neat houses and large estates here; but the principal owner of the parish, and lord of the manor, is Henry L'Estrange Styleman, Esq., whose two predecessors resided at the hall, and ornamented the parish with numerous plantations. This large manor was given, with many others, by the Conqueror, to William de Albini, and was afterwards held by the Bedingfields, of Oxburgh. At various times, there have been dug up several brass instruments, in the shape of hatchet heads, with handles to them, usually denominated celts. In the parish are three quarries of excellent corr-stone, of an iron colour, and so soft when first dug up as to be easily squared, but after exposure to the air, it becomes hard and durable, and is much used in building the houses and cottages in this neighbourhood. On the beach, which adjoins the Lynn channel, is an extensive bed of shingle, (small rounded flints, &c.) immense quantities of which are taken, in vessels, to Lincolnshire, &c., for the reparation of the roads, paying to the lord of the manor 8d. per ton. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Mary, stands on a bold eminence, and is a large handsome fabric, with a nave, side aisles, south transept, and a lofty octangular spire, rising from a tower at the east end, and serving as a sea-mark. The entrance at the west end is by a finely groined vestibule, above which is a handsome window, in the florid Gothic style. It had formerly a chancel and north transept, and part of the former is now an ivy-mantled ruin. In the tower are five bells. The interior is well-pewed, and has a curious ancient font; a marble monument, with the effigy of Sir Wymond Carye, who died in 1612, and a fine brass, on which are portrayed figures of John Cremer and his family, dated 1610. The living is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5. 6s. 8d., and augmented with £200 given by Nicholas Styleman, in 1728, and £500 of royal bounty, obtained in 1728 and 1819; all laid out in land, making the glebe 30 acres; to which 30a. were added at the enclosure, when the lord of the manor, as impropiator, received an allotment in lieu of the great tithes. The Rev. John Coldham is incumbent, and Henry L'Estrange Styleman is patron. The church-

rs, &c., is 9s. 1d. for £9 a-year. The Free School was 1804, under the will of Anthony Hall, who, in 1708, for that purpose the reversion of 50 acres of land, after several of his relations, whose heir threw it into chan- remained several years. The rent is paid yearly to the giving 20 free scholars, whose parents are not worth- al property, nor £20 a-year in real property. Petty eld at the Compasses Inn, on the 2nd Monday of every n, saddler plasterer & baker acksmith

Bridge W. brkls.
Richard
rge, cabinet maker
ert, corn miller
John, vicar enry. A. B., curate
d
; linen & wln. dpr.
s, surgeon
cy J.
Daniel, butchers
Martha joiner land, surgeon s, stone and mar-

umin, gamekeeper
Lucy
t. Rose & Crown
grocer, ironmgr. &c.
blacksmith
bdg. & day school
glazier, paintr. &c.
lar maker
chmkr. & shopkpr.
Gold, cabinet mkr.
rs, Free School
sterinary surgeon lham, glover surgeon

Styelman Mrs. Emily, Snettir-
ham Hall

Turner Joseph, vict. Compasses
Wakefield James, wheelwright
Whitty Samuel, grammar school
Windram Mrs. Mary
Winlove John, baker

Shoemakers.
Belson Wm.
Bridge Isaac
Coe John
Elyard Zechsh.
Heath Robert
Lee James
Mitchell Edw.

Farmers.
Alexander Fdk.
Beck John
Body Thomas
Dasborough W. sen, coal dr.
Dasborough W.
Daw Robert

Fayers John
Holland Robert
Joice Mary
Lawton Dani.
Mitchell Mary
Norgan Robert
Parsons Robert
Petrie Alex.
Pratt Henry
Sadler Geo. (s.
Wells Henry

Tailors.
Durrant Chas.
Parsons Chas.
Turner Robert
Ward Humphy

The Mail to Wells, at quarter
p. 8 mng., and to Lynn, London, &c., at quarter bef. 8evg., calls at the Compasses, and leaves letters at Wm. Baney's.

The Red Rover coach to Wells,
8 mng. and to Lynn, at 4 aft. calls at the Rose and Crown.

Carrier, Thos. Smith, (Horse and Gig letter,) to Lynn, Tues.
Wednesday and Saturday, 9 mng.

, a scattered village and parish, 4 miles S. S. W. of ret, has 436 inhabitants, and about 1400 acres of land, perty of Derick Hoste and Frederick Hare, Esqrs.; whom is lord of the manor, and the latter resides at

The Church, (All Saints,) has a lofty tower, and is ed in K. B. at £16. It is in the patronage of D.
f Barwick House, and is now enjoyed by the Rev.
l, M. A., with 20a. of glebe. The parish is commonly with-Barwick, the latter place having lost its church.

and being now in most parochial affairs united with Stanhoe, (See p. 626.) At Stanhoe are the ruins of two ancient crosses; and in Chapelsfield there has evidently been the cemetery of some religious house. £7 a-year is received from land left by John Wright, for schooling and clothing poor children.

Belton Ann, beerhouse
Belton William, shoemaker
Childs John, blacksmith
Everitt Hannah, vict. Nelson
Hare Frdk. Esq., Stanhoe Hall
Proudfoot Mr. Henry

Spooner William, wheelwright
Taylor Mrs. Frances
Trimmer Rev. Kirby, A.B., curate
Tuffs Harriet, grocer & draper
Tuffs William, baker
Wright Jph. & Philip, farmers

THORNHAM is a large village, pleasantly seated near the salt-marshes on the Hunstanton road, 6 miles W. by N. of Burnham-Market. About half a mile north of the village is a warehouse, at the head of a small creek from Brancaster bay, navigable for small vessels which bring in coals and take out corn. The parish extends to the beach, and has 668 inhabitants, and about 1900 acres of land, partly belonging to George Hogge, Esq., who resides at the Hall, and is lessee of the lands and rectorial tithes under the Bishop of Norwich, who has the largest manor, and the smaller one belongs to the Dean and Chapter. The Church (All Saints) is a large building, with a square tower, partly in ruins, so that the bell is now hung in a wooden frame in the churchyard. The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £10, has 14a. of glebe, and is now united with Holme-next-the-Sea, in the patronage of the Bishop, and incumbency of the Rev Charles Sutton. The vicar has a yearly modus of £20 out of the great tithes. The church land is 9a. At the enclosure, in 1794, 30 acres were allotted to the poor, who have also 40a. a-year from land purchased with £66. 13s. 4d., left by Walter Walterston, and two annuities of 10s. left by the Reed family, and one of 20s. bequeathed by Edward Robertson. On the shore is a fine flat beach, and a large tract of rich salt-marshes, of which 60 acres were embanked in by Mr Hogge, some years ago.

Post-man from Burnham, at ½ p. 12, returns quarter p. 1. (Post Office at William Sharpio's.)

Allen John, cork cutter
Barker Robert, schoolmaster
Bayfield John, grocer & draper
Brooks Elizabeth, baker
Bunn Mrs. Mary
Bunting Thomas, butcher
Crane John, miller and baker
Dodman Martin, corn & coal mort.
Edwards William, shoemaker
Eldon William, butcher
Grice John, vict. Chequers
Hough Thomas, wheelwright
Hogge George, Esq. (& Lynn)
Holmes Francis, cooper
Hooks Robert, cabinet maker
Howard James, joiner
Hull Mary, boardg. & day school

James William, tailor and draper
Jarvis George, shoemaker
Platten William, vict. King's Head
Pointer Francis, beer house
Porter Joseph, glazier, painter, &c.
Renaut Thomas, grocer & draper
Sharpe Saml. & Co., merchants
Sharpe Mrs. Sarah Ann
Sharpio William, tailor
Townshend Thos. brickl'r. & vict.
Woodrow Mrs. Winfrid
Yaxley Smp & West Rt. blksmiths.

FARMERS.—* are yeomen.

Barsham James | Mitchell John
*Ivy John | *Rayner Thos.
Mingay W. Jas. | Thompson Ths.
Carriers, Nathl. Corstan, to Norwich, Monday, 6 mng.; and
Wm. Sharpio, to Lynn, Tuesday and Friday 6 morning.

14

GALLOW HUNDRED

FARMERS.	Pop. (in 1881)	Ass. Val.	Acres.	FARMERS.	Pop. (in 1881)	Ass. Val.	Acres.
Bagthorpe	70	£787	736	Rainham (South) ..	109	£1,032	980
Barmer	43	1,279	1,000	Rainham (West) ..	332	1,625	1,300
Barham (East)	319	1,467	1,700	Rudham (East)	209	3,356	3,000
Barham (North) ..	84	1,320	1,000	Rudham (West) ..	440	3,070	2,800
Barham (West)....	101	2,245	1,600	Ryburgh Magna	306	2,705	2,000
Broomthorpe	13	450	400	Ryburgh Parva ..	163	1,430	1,000
Denton & Doughton	126	1,775	1,640	Sculthorpe	619	2,163	2,000
Fakenham	2,085	5,577	2,116	Sherford	110	1076	760
Fulmodeston- with-Croston .. }	391	2,048	2,306	Snoring (Little)	803	1,478	1,000
Heloughton	218	1,582	1,700	Stibbard	205	1,601	1,000
Hempton	411	593	300	Syderstone	401	6,046	6,450
Houghton (New) ..	277	1,350	1,500	Tatterford	78	513	400
Kettlestone	231	1,807	1,900	Tattersett	110	1,700	1,000
Peasthorpe	30	703	700	Testerton	12	113	000
Pudding-Norton ..	17	1,310	300	Tostree	70	1,500	1,170
Rainham (East)	115	1,478	1,270	Total	2,578	55,786	55,360

This Hundred is a tract of rich soil, and highly diversified country, extending 15 miles in length from east to west, and varying from 8 to 5 miles in breadth, being bounded on the north by Brothercross, North-Greenhoe, and Holt Hundreds; on the east by Eynesford, on the south by Launditch, and on the west by Freebridge-Lynn and Smithdon Hundreds. It is watered by the Wensum, and several brooks, which form the source of that river, flowing eastward through a fine vale, by East Rudham, Fakenham, Great Hyburgh, &c., and from Little Snoring, Barsham, &c., another stream flows northward through the adjoining Hundred to the sea, near Stiffkey. Henry I. gave Gallow and Brothercross to the Earl of Warren and Surrey, who then held Norwich Castle. Gallow is supposed to have its name from a hill near Dunton, where the hundred court was held.

ALLTHORPE, or Alethorp, 2 miles E. by N. of Fakenham, is an Extra Parochial farm of 250a., though it pays tithes to Fakenham, and had anciently a church dedicated to All Saints, and two hamlets, called Great and Little Allthorpe, which tradition says contained 30 houses, though here is now only one. Sir T. J. Jones is owner and lord of the manor, and Mrs. Ann Riches is the farmer.

BAGTHORPE, a parish and hamlet, 14 miles N.E. by E. of Lynn, and 9 miles W. by N. of Fakenham, has only 75 inhabitants, and 750 acres of land belonging to Geo. Wm Chad, Esq., the lord of the manor, who resides here at Mount Ida, a neat brick mansion, upon a conical eminence, surrounded by a fine park. He is also patron of the Church, a small edifice, dedicated to St. Mary, and a rectory, valued in K.B. at £5. 10s., but augmented in 1769 and 88 with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Stephen Reed Catley. Directory.—G. W. Chad, Esq., and Muscat Cole.

BARMER, a parish, with two farms, and a few cottages on a small common, 7 miles N.W. by W. of Fakenham, has 43 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres. Thomas Kerslake, Esq., is owner of the soil, lord of the manor, appropriator of the tithes, and patron of the Church, (All Saints,) a small dilapidated building with a round tower, standing in a small enclosed burial ground, on an eminence, in the centre of an arable field. The benefice, now a sinecure, is a perpetual curacy, valued in K.B. at £5, and now enjoyed by the Rev. E. J. Senkler of Docking. The inhabitants use Syderstone church. The farmers are Thomas and Elizabeth Dewing and William Francis.

BARSHAM (EAST,) a village and parish, in the deep valley of the river Stiffkey, 3 miles N. of Fakenham, contains 219 inhabitants, and about 1100 acres of land, belonging to Sir Jacob Astley, the lord of the manor, and patron of the Church (All Saints), a small fabric, which had formerly a tower, the base of which now forms the porch, and has some interesting Gothic remains, with fragments of figures in niches. In the interior are inscriptions to the memory of the Lambs, Strutts, and Cathorpes. To one of the latter is a sumptuous monument of alabastrer and black marble, with the effigy of a female rising from her coffin, with two arches above, supported by Doric columns, and ornamented with figures of angels, &c. The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d., is endowed with the rectorial tithes, and consolidated with Little Snoring, in the incumbency of the Rev. Henry Nicholas Astley, M.A. It has 6 acres of glebe, and was augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1754. The Hall, now a farm-house, is a much admired specimen of ornamental brick-work, in the Tudor style, with towers and turrets, being built in the reigns of Henry VII. and VIII., by Sir Wm. Farmour, and afterwards the seat of the Calthorpes. All the bricks are of a fine quality, and most of them impressed in figured moulds; but of this once extensive and splendidly decorated mansion, there now only remains the north side of the quadrangle and the porter's lodge, or tower entrance, on each side of which are some fragments, in brick-work, of statues, which formerly stood on brackets beneath canopies, and were intended to represent porters or guards. The remaining apartments being much decayed, were thoroughly repaired some years ago, under the direction of the present vicar, who is uncle to the proprietor, Sir Jacob Astley; and near them is a large barn, constructed with squared stones, many of them covered with various tracery; but these are supposed to have been removed from Walsingham Abbey. The poor have two cottages, left by James Calthorpe, in 1636. Directory — John Adams, Robert Faircloth, and George Rodwell Kitton, farmers, Rev. H. N. Astley, M.A., Vicarage; Joseph Holman, vict., White Horse, and John Leverett, blacksmith.

BARSHAM (NORTH) is a parish, about a mile below the above, in the same valley, 4 miles N. of Fakenham, comprising about 1000a. of land, in two farms, with a neat rectory-house, and a few cottages. The Earl of Orford is owner of the soil, lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K.B. at £6, has 18a. of glebe, and is now enjoyed by the Rev. Horatio Downing, M.A. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is a small edifice with a belfry. The farmers are John Rose and James Temple.

BARSHAM (WEST) is a small village, about a mile from the other two Barshams, in a narrow dell, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. by W. of Fakenham, comprising within its parish 101 inhabitants, and about 1600a. in four farms, belonging to Captain Charles Morley Balders, the lord of the manor, impropriator, and patron of the vicarage, valued in K.B. at £5. 12s. 1d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Charles Grant. The Church formerly had a tower between the nave and chancel, and part of the west wall still remains, with the bell hanging against it. In the chancel are inscriptions to Edward Gournay, Esq., and Sir L'Estrange Calthorpe. The farmers are John Elms, Thos. Merrison, Wm. Nurse, and John Waddingham.

BROOMSTHORPE is a decayed parish, 6 miles W. by S. of Fakenham, now consisting only of one farm of 400 acres, with 13 inhabitants, and belonging to Lord Henry Cholmondeley. Its church was destroyed before the reign of Elizabeth, and the benefice abolished. It had a guild of St. John, to whom the church was probably dedicated. John Ball occupies the farm.

DUNTON-WITH-DOUGHTON, (the former containing two farms, and the latter a hamlet of cottages,) form one parish, with 126 inhabitants, and 1640 acres of land, lying on the northern acclivities of the vale of the Wensum, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles W. of Fakenham. T. W. Coke, Esq., is owner of the soil, and lord of the manor, which was given by Henry VII. to Ralph de Hauville, to be held by the service of keeping the king's falcons; but in the reign of Elizabeth it passed to Lord Chief Justice Coke. Mr. Coke is also patron of the vicarage.

of which are large and handsome. The Market-place is tolerably spacious, but is obstructed by a row of buildings in its centre; and on its south side is a small "Square," lined with good houses, and used as the cattle market. At the east end of the Market-place is the town-pump, enclosed within a handsome obelisk, on which are painted the names and distances of all the principal towns in the county; and at the west end is a neat pedestal and sun-dial, enclosed with iron palisades, erected about 30 years ago, on the site of the old market-house, which had a room over it called the Session House, but was taken down after the quarter sessions were removed from hence to the town of Holt. The Market, held every Thursday, is extensively supplied with corn, sold by sample, being numerously attended by millers, maltsters, and merchants, from Wells, Blakeney, Brancaster, &c.; and there is also a tolerable supply of cattle, sheep, and swine. Two Fairs are held here annually, on Ash-Wednesday and Nov. 11th, and a Hiring Session for servants, in October. There are also two fairs held yearly on the heath, in Hempton parish, on the opposite side of the river, on Whit-Tuesday and Nov. 22nd, the latter of which is remarkable for its extensive shews of cattle. The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a large and handsome structure, standing on the angular point of the acclivity, above the Market-place. It has a nave, north and south aisles, a chancel, a south porch, and a lofty embattled tower, with pinnacles and eight bells. The tower has a fine western entrance doorway, with a large window over it, divided into six lights, and subdivided by a horizontal mullion, and tracery mouldings. On each side of the door is a canopied niche, and the buttresses are ornamented with panelling. A new east window, in five compartments, partly filled with stained glass, was erected in 1805, and a new organ in 1826, the latter at the expense of the late rector. The interior of the church is neatly pewed, and ornamented with an octangular font, decorated with the figures of an angel, ox, lion, and eagle, and the emblems of the Evangelists, the Trinity, and the Passion. On the south side of the chancel are three stalls, or arches, of stone, for the bishop, arch-deacon, and rector, and near them is a neat mural tablet to the late rector, the Rev. Charles Norris, who died in his 85th year, after expending much money in beautifying the church. The porch bears the date 1497, and in 1602 was used as a powder magazine for the hundred of Gallow. The east ends of the aisles have been chapels, dedicated to St. Mary and St. Thomas. A good fire-engine is stationed in a room under the tower. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £35. 6s. 8d., has 83a. 1a. 14r. of glebe, and a good residence. It is in the patronage of Trinity College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. John Philips Higman, M. A., and F.R.S. The Independent Chapel, in Chapel street, is a handsome brick building, under the ministry of the Rev. Wm. Legge, built in 1819, for the congregation which originated in 1779, and formerly occupied the Wesleyan Chapel, in Whitehorse street. Here is also a Primitive Methodist Chapel, in Oak street, opened in 1825; and a Baptist Chapel, in Swan street, erected in 1806, and now under the pastoral care of the Rev. James Hunt. The National School is supported by subscription, for the education of about 60 girls; and eight children of either sex are educated from the charity of Miss Ann Harrison, who, in 1794, bequeathed £1666. 13s. 4d., in the three per cent. consolidated Bank Annuities, and directed the dividends to be employed yearly for that purpose, and in providing blankets, wearing apparel, coal, &c. for the poor of Fakenham; who have also three cottages; 3a. of poor's land, let for £5; and £24 a year from a house and land, left in 1672, by Lady Mary Townshend, for apprenticing one poor boy or girl, and the remainder to poor families. A Mr. Wortley left 20a. a-year to repair his tomb, and the surplus to be given to the poor. The Work-house, a neat building, 1 mile E. of the town, was erected in 1830, under Gilbert's act, at the cost of £2,000, to accommodate 100 paupers, but it has seldom more than 30 inmates. It has a garden, occupying 8½a. enclosed from the heath. Here is a Savings' Bank, established in 1829. The FAKENHAM PROVIDENT SOCIETY was formed in 1795, for the benefit of the widows and orphans of deceased members, under the management of four trustees, a committee of 23 members, assisted by sub-committees in Norwich, Lynn, Yarmouth, Dereham, Holt, Swaffham, North Walsham, Downham, Docking, &c. Messrs. Gurney and Co. are the treasurers, and Mr. N. Raven, of Whissonsett, is secretary. The widows of deceased members who have been subscribers for the space of two years, are each entitled to an annuity, increasable at the discretion of the general committee, according to the state of the society's funds, which, in Feb. 1833, amounted to £34,551. 13s. 7d. It is also provided that, in case a member leaves no widow, or the widow marries again, or bears an illegitimate child, the annuity is then payable to the child or children of the deceased member, until the youngest attains the age of 16 years. In 1834, annuities were paid to 245 widows, and 41 orphans, amounting to £3,440. The present number of members is 1190. A Society for the Promotion of General Knowledge, by means of lectures, &c., has recently been established here, under the presidency of the rector; as has also a General Library, to which the gentlemen of the town and neighbourhood have contributed books, and the readers pay small annual subscriptions. In Bridge street, is a small Subscription Library, commenced in 1801. The river Wensum has been supposed capable of being made navigable to Fakenham, and some meetings for this purpose have been held, but without effect.

The Post Office is at Mrs. Eliz. Markant's, Bridge street. Letters from London, and all parts of the kingdom, arrive daily, at 10 morning, and are despatched at ½ past 3 afternoon. A Horse Post to Walsingham, at ½ past 10 morning; arrives at ½ past 3 afternoon.

In the following DIRECTORY OF FAKENHAM, those marked 1, reside in Brewery lane; 2, Bridge st.; 3, Chapel st.; 4, Hays lane; 5, Holt road; 6, Market pl.; 7, Norwich road; 8, Oak st.; 9, The Square; 10, Siean st.; 11, Tun street; 12, Wells road; 13, White Horse st.; and 14, in York st.

Ansell Mr. Richard Wells road
6 Bambridge Martin, china &c dlr.
Blanchflower Mr. Benj. Wells rd.
2 Blunt Chas. excise officer
Cates Miss Ann, Bridge st.
Cates Mrs. Eliz. Tun st.
Cooke Mrs. Mary, Wells road

Cornish Mrs. Eliz. Tun st.
Crofts Mrs. Market place
Eastoe Mr. Samuel, Swan st.
Fidgett John, currier, &c. Oak st.
11 Foster Sampson, Esq., banker
Goodwin Rd. gent. Market place
Gwynn Anthy. Esq. Barons Hall

Hall Wm. Esq. Thorpland Hall
 4 Herring James, gardener, &c.
 Higman Rev John Philips, A M
 Rectory
 Hill Warner Chevalier, overseer,
 Rosehill Cottage
 Hunt Jas. solr.'s clerk, York st.
 2 Impson Php. clog & patten mkr.
 Ivory John, gent. Hays lane
 13 Jarrett Edmd. cattle dealer
 12 Legge Rev. Wm. Indpt. min.
 Loose Mattw. bat mfr. Oak st.
 Miller Thos. Thurgill, surveyor of taxes, Market pl.
 Peckover Jph. gent. Square
 Preston Ta. organist, &c. Oak st.
 Read Mrs. Anastasia, Wells rd.
 7 Readwin Jph. appraiser, &c.
 13 Sayer Hy. Chapman, cattle dr.
 7 Seppings Thos. sheriff's officer
 Smith Mr. Samuel, Wells road
 3 Stokes Lieut. Shovell, R.N.
 8 Sutton Robt. rag & skin dr.
 6 Thompson Danl. bank cashier
 2 Tye Benjamin, cooper
 4 Waller Hy. banker's clerk
 6 Ward Joshua, coach and horse letter, and corn inspector 8 Wright J. inspector of weights and measures
 14 Wright John, constable
 13 Wright Jonas, parish clerk
Bankers.
 6 Gurneys, Birkbeck, & Co.; (draw on Barclay and Co.)
 6 Norfolk & Norwich Joint Stock
 Company, (branch of;) Robt.
 Sillett, agent
 6 Savings' Bank, open on Thur.
 from 12 to 1; W. L. Warren, secretary
Fire and Life Office Agents.
 8 Guardian, Wm. Tuthill
 8 Norwich Equitable, Rt. Cates
 Norwich Union, Sus. Elliott, J.
 Ivory, and Wm. Ansell
 2 Royal Exchange, Hy. Stokes
 13 Suffolk, &c. Saml. Tuthill
 Sun, John Wright, Oak street
Inns and Taverns.
 Bell, Wm. Horsley, Norwich st
 14 Brewers' Arms, W. Seppings
 Bull, Rt. Goulson, Bridge street

6 Crown Inn, Jas. Staughton
 4 Lord Nelson, Wm. Gricks
 13 Rampant Horse, St. Tuthill
 6 Red Lion Inn, Robt. Riches
 8 Royal Oak, Henry Diggins
 Star, Saml. Smith, Oak street
 Sun, Robert Warr, Norwich st.
 5 Pawley Robt. beer house
Academies.
 * take Boarders.
 5* Baker Har.
 11 Boulter Ann
 7* Carr Daniel
 8* Clark Rt. Ap.
 13 Davy Jas.
 6 Hill Martha
 14 Taylor Chas.
 7* Waller Ann
Attorneys.
 Campbell Robt.
 Highfield
 8 Cates Robert
 2 Green Henry
 6 Kent Edmund
 11 Overton John
 2 Stokes Henry
Auctioneers.
 7 Ansell Wm.
 13 Tuthill Saml.
Bakers, &c.
 7 Baker Wm.
 10 Brett Saml.
 14 Bull Maria
 7 Colls Thos.
 8 Dunham Dd.
 6 Stringer Mich.
 2 Turrell Thos.
Blacksmiths.
 * Gunsmiths, &c.
 7 Adcock Andw.
 8* Horsley Wacey Richard
 2 Leeder Robt.
 7 Penn James
 2* Rivett Wm.
 14 Seppings W.
Bookseller, &c.
 6 Stewardson C.
 (& cir. lib.)
Boot and Shoe
Makers.
 4 Clarke John
 3 Clarke Wm.
 10 Coker Wm.
 8 Dunham Wm.
 5 Morgan Gabl.
 6 Riches Robt.
 3 Rogers Jonas
 8 Skippon Thos.
 8 Smith Thos.
 8 Thompson G.
 6 Utting Saml.
 14 Wright John
Brasiers, &c.
 11 Cornish Jno.
 8 Cushing John
Brewers.
 8 Colman Wm.
 1 Read Extz of S.
Bricklayers.
 8 Langley Vin.
 8 Sadler Robt.
Brick Makers.
 4 Ivory J. (& lime burner)
 7 Wright Edw.
Butchers.
 8 Barrett Wm.
 6 Holman Edw.
 6 Rutland Neh.
 6 Sayer Mary
 6 Seppings Ed.
 3 Wells J. jun.
Cabinet Makers.
 7 Ansell Wm.
 6 Leeder Bema.
 14 Winter Geo.
Druggists.
 6 Cory James
 6 Stewardson B.
Coach Makers.
 12 Margetts Job
 8 Southgate W.
 8 Warters John
Confectioners.
 7 Couper Margt.
 8 Johnson Isaac
 6 Sizeland Sus.

Corn Millers.	6Potter Mgt. A.	6Davey J. M.	6Sillett Robt.
10Brett Saml.	8Rayner Cath.	2Varley Thos.	8Tuthill W. & S.
Green William,	6Utting M. A.	Wine and Spt.	Wool Merchts.
Furniture Bkrs.	Painters, Gla-	Merchants.	9Sherringham
6Leeder Bsm.	ziers, &c.	13Carr James	Wm.
8Seeker Rt. (&	2Everett Wm.	9Sherringham	6Sillett Robt.
basketmkr.)	11Goggs Wm.	Wm.
Glovers.	6King Jas. W.
10Bird Benj.	Saddlers.
6Druery John	8Busheill Saml.
Grocers & Dprs.	6Clipperton Rt.
2Bensley Wm.	6Mitchell Josh.
6Goggs Nath.	Seed and Hop
6Hammond C.	Merts.
6Howorth E. (&	Green W., Mills
stamp office)	9Sherringham
12Moore Martin	Wm.
6Newby Wm.	6Sillett Robert
(draper)	8Syder George
7Scott Richard	Stone Masons.
Wright Edward,	2Gilham Wm.
(chandler)	7Smith Wm.
Hair Dressers.	Surgeons.
2Burrell John	7Damant Guyb.
6Hill Robert	8Edgar Thos.
8Norton Danl.	11Parry W. B.
Ironmongers.	2Ruge Edmd.
6Burrell Wm.	Tailors.
6Warren W. L.	are Drapers.
Joiners, &c.	7Brett Wm.
are Wheelgts.	8Clarke J. and
13Carr James	Son
2Gilham W.	6Druery John
12Neale Wm.	10Flegg Thos.
14Readwin W.	11Forster Jn.
8Warters W.	8Frery Michael
Maltsters.	6Humphrey J.
Green W., Mills	10Olley Robt.
9Sherringham	Tanners.
William	1Guntou Geo.
Milliners, &c.	6Sillett Robt.
7Ansell My. A.	Vet. Surgeon.
7Clarke & King	7Baldwin Geo.
6Cook Harriet	Watch Makers.
6Leeder Ann	6Collett Jonas

COACHES.

The Regulator, from the Crown and Red Lion Inns, to London, Tu. Thu. & Sat. 7 mng; and to Wells Mon. Wed. & Fri. 8 evg.

The Nelson, from the Crown to Norwich, Wed. & Sat. 6 mng, and to Wells, 8 evg.

CARRIERS.

To London, Green & Archer's Waggon and Vans, from Wm. Ansell's, Norwich st. Mon. & Thu. 6 mng; and to Wells, Tu. & Fri. 12 noon.

Burnham Market, W. Howland, (Crown Inn,) Sat. 3 aft.; Wm. Gagen, (Red Lion,) Wed. & Sat. 12; and John Sporne, (Royal Oak,) Wed. 12.

Cromer, St. Mason, Norwich st. Wed. 9 mng.

Docking & Thornham, Nathaniel Corston, (Star,) Wed. 10 mng. Dereham, Wm. Raven, (Red Lion,) Thu. 2 aft.

Lynn, John Cushing, Brewery lane, Mon. and Thu. 10 mng; and Saml. Mason, Norwich st. Mon. and Fri. 9 mng.

Norwich, John Smith, Oak st. Mon. and Thu. 10 mng.; John Sporne, (Royal Oak,) Mon. 11 noon; Wm. Gagen, (Red Lion,) Mon. and Thurs. 4 past 12, and N. Carston, (Star,) Mon. 12.

Wells, Wm. Raven, (Red Lion Inn,) Fri. 4 aft.

FULMODESTON-with-CROXTON are scattered villages, adjoining each other, 5 miles E. by N. of Fakenham, and now forming an united parish, containing 391 inhabitants, and 2306 acres of land, of which about 600a. were enclosed in 1808, when 2a. were awarded to the poor, and are now let in small allotments to labourers. The Hall, a modern brick mansion, with a large estate, belongs to J. Browne, Esq. (a minor;) but the greater part of the parish belongs

W. Coke, Esq., the lord of the manor, which was anciently held by the Grancourt family. Fulmodeston CHURCH (St. Mary) has a nave, chancel, tower, and porch, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £10. It has 54a. 2s. 12^d of glebe, and is in the patronage of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Thomas Green. Croxton, which lies on the north side of Fulmodeston, includes the farm called Clipston, and has a small chapel, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, and united with the rectory.

FULMODESTON.

Hall Samuel, blacksmith
 Brown John, Esq. Hall
 Brown Wm. shoemaker
 Doughty John, wheelwright
 Emery Ths. & Riches Rt. farmers
 Farrow Rt. millwright and vict.
 Browne's Arms
 Goodman Mrs. Hannah

Pettingale Geo. farmer, Manor ha.
CROXTON.

Adams Edw. corn miller
 Green Rev. Thomas, Rectory

FARMERS.

Applegate Rt.	Rix Wm. Clip-
Blade John	ston
Jex Thomas	Russell Benj.
Kendall John

HELOUGHTON, a pleasant village in a valley, 5 miles S.W. by W. of Fakenham, has in its parish 318 inhabitants, and about 1700 acres of land, a great part of which has a peaty soil, and much of it is still uncultivated, though allotted under an enclosure act, passed in 1819, when about 30 acres were awarded to the poor. Lord Chas. Townshend owns most of the land, and is lord of the manor, impropriator of the great tithes, and patron of the Church, (All Saints,) which has a nave, chancel, and tower, and is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and consolidated with Rainham St. Martin, in the incumbency of the Rev. Arthur Loftus. The old poor's land was let in 1786 for £3. 8s. The poor have also an annuity of £3. 6s. 8d., left by Lady Berkeley.

Bond Jn. & Whitby Jas. shopkprs.
 Dyke Rev. Wm. curate of Oxwick
 Flower Blanch, blacksmith
 Goodwin Edw. butcher & beer ha.
 Harper Francis, joiner

May Mary, vict. Buck
 Smith Robert, shoemaker

FARMERS.

Newell Thos.	Steadman Chas.
Scales John	Stibbard Sarah

HEMPTON, a small parish and scattered village, half a mile S of Fakenham, (being on the opposite side of the river Wensum,) has 411 inhabitants, and about 300 acres of land, mostly the property of Lord Charles Townshend, the impropriator and lord of the manor.—The houses are dispersed on the margin of a fine green; where a Church, dedicated to St. Andrew, was standing in the 12th of Henry VII., but it was taken down several centuries ago, and the curacy abolished; since which the parishioners have had seats in Fakenham church, for which privilege they pay 18s. a-year to the churchwardens. Two large cattle fairs are held here yearly, on Whit-Tuesday and Nov. 22nd. Hempton Priory, which stood on the Abbey farm, was founded in the reign of Henry I., for Augustine canons, to whom King John granted a fair; and in the 14th of Edward I. the prior claimed a market on Tuesday, but the latter has long been obsolete, and no vestiges of the priory now remain. In a tumulus on the adjoining heath, an urn was dug up some years ago. The poor have a cottage, and a yearly rent-charge of £2. 3s. 6d.

Allen Henry, farmer
 Baker Wm. vict. Bell
 Barber Robert, land agent
 Fuller Thomas, machine maker
 Gates George, shoemaker
 Gibbs Mrs. P. The Grove
 Grange Geo. machine maker
 Huggin Chas. & Thos. blacksmiths
 Jarrett Eliz. corn mill & millster

Lane Frances, vict. King's Head
 Leverington James, baker
 Lewis Edmund, cooper
 Lynn Ross, grocer and draper
 Norman Wm. brick & salt. Beck
 Ransie John, baker
 Salmon Richard, corn miller
 Wynn Mr. Wm.
 Wings Thomas, shoemaker

HOUGHTON (NEW), or Houghton-on-the-Breide, a parish and small village, 13 miles N. E. by E. of Lynn, and 10 miles W. of Fakenham, contains 277 inhabitants and 1,721 acres of land, of which 100a. are wood, and 500a. in the park of Houghton Hall, one of the seats of the owner and lord of the manor, the Marquis Cholmondeley, whose chief residence is Cholmondeley Castle, Lincoln. The stately mansion of Houghton Hall was begun in 1722 by the celebrated Sir Robert Walpole, and finished in 1735, during which period the founder continued prime minister of state. In significance, it ranks as the first house in Norfolk,—Holkham being completed the second, Rainham the third, and Melton Constable the fourth. It is a noble freestone structure, having two principal fronts, ornamented at each corner with a cupola. The west front presents a noble balustraded flight of steps, and over the entrance is an entablature, supported by four Ionic columns. The wings, which contain the offices, are connected with the fronts by handsome balustraded colonades. The extent of the principal front is 150 feet, and enclosing the colonades 150 feet. The interior contains numerous apartments, fitted up with the greatest taste, and in the most sumptuous manner. The great hall is a cube of 40 feet, having a gallery running three quarters round it. The saloon had it been proportionate, would have been the finest room in the kingdom; it is 40 feet long, 30 broad, and 40 high. Though here are still many fine statues and paintings, that large and celebrated collection of pictures, placed here by the founder at a vast expense, was sold in 1779, by George, Earl of Oxford, to Catherine, Empress of Russia, for £45,555, but not removed till 1782, previous to which, engravings had been made of about 200 of them, and published by Boyles, in 11 numbers, at two guineas each. The hall stands on a hill, and the park is generally flat, but ornamented with beautiful gardens and extensive plantations, with some fine old beech and other large trees which formerly adorned the ancient mansion, which occupied the same site. In the prosperity of its founder, it was visited yearly by all the great officers of state and foreign ministers, and this annual meeting which usually lasted a fortnight, was called the Congress. In 1755, about 300 of the deer were killed, and part of the park converted into a farm. Sir Robert Walpole, K. G. the celebrated prime minister to Queen Anne and Geo. I. and II., was born here in 1676. After his father's death, he inherited the family estate of somewhat more than £2000 a-year, and was elected M. P. for Castle Rising, for which he sat in the last two years of the reign of William III., and became an active member of the Whig party. In 1702, he was chosen M. P. for Lynn. In 1708, he was secretary

War, in 1709, Treasurer of the Navy, and in 1710, one of the managers at the trial of Sackeverell. In 1711, he was voted by the House guilty of a breach of trust and notorious corruption, in his office of Secretary at War; and it was resolved he should be committed to the tower and expelled the House, but all the Whigs considered him as a martyr to their cause; the borough of Lynn re-elected him in 1714, and on the accession of George I., he rose again to office, but after a long and stormy reign as Prime Minister, he was driven from his throne by the opposition in 1712, in which year, he was created "Baron Houghton and Viscount Walpole in Norfolk, and Earl of Orford in Suffolk." The rest of his life he spent in tranquility at Houghton, where he died in 1745. No minister ever aimed more sincerely at the real prosperity of his country, or went more wisely to work to secure it, had not the violence of opposition often prevented him from doing as he wished. He was succeeded by his son Robert, who, in 1723, had been created Baron Walpole of Walpole. The latter died in 1751, and was succeeded by his son, George, who, dying without male issue, in 1791, was succeeded by his uncle, Horace Walpole, the second son of the first earl, of whom, writing to a friend, he said, "How wise a man, and how weak for what has he built Houghton?" For his grandson to annihilate, or for his son to mourn over!" Dying without issue, in 1707, his title of Earl of Orford became extinct, but it was revived again in 1806, in the person of Horatio Lord Walpole, of Wulterton (see p. 538,) where the present earl resides, Houghton, having previously passed to the first Marquis Cholmondeley. Houghton Church (St. Martin,) was rebuilt by the great Sir Robert Walpole, after he had completed the hall. It stands in the park, and has a nave, chancel, side aisles, and a small tower, and contains several monuments of the Walpoles and Turners, and an ancient monument in the form of a coffin, on the lid of which is carved the figure of a prior, or abbot, supposed to have been executed in the reign of Edward I., and brought from Confort priory, after the dissolution of that house. The vicarage valued in K. B. at £5, is in the incumbency of the Rev. S. C. L. Neville, of Sedgford. The Most Hon George Horatio Marquis Cholmondeley is the patron, and also impropriator of the great tithes. Directory — Geo. Bates, farmer, Wm. Bidewell, vict. King's Head, Geo. Duggar, gardener; Chas. Forster, grocer and farmer; Jacob Jarvis, game-keeper; Stephen Reeve, land agent; and Edward Stringer, shop-keeper. The Mail from Roughan, leaves letters at the King's Head, at 10 morning, and departs 3 afternoon.

KETTLESTONE is a parish and small village, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. N. E. of Pakenham, comprising 221 inhabitants, and about 1000a of land, mostly the property of Sir Charles Chad, the lord of the manor. The Church (All Saints) has a nave, chancel, and octagon tower, and formerly had a guild of St. Erasmus. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £10, has 381a of glebe. The King is patron, and the Rev. James Cary, incumbent. The poor have the interest of £500 in $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cents, left in 1777, by Wm. Newman, also two yearly rent-charges, viz. £2. 10s., left by Blanch Schuldham, in 1756, and 25s. left by the Rev. John Branthwayt, in 1766. They have likewise two houses, one left by Francis Schuldham, and the other purchased by the parish, in 1736. The poor's land, left by John Humes, in 1720, is now let for £3. 10s. Directory —Rev. Chas. Cary, A. B.; Mrs. Barbara Dew, John Grimar, leechhouse; Thos. Harrison and Wm. Tuck, shopkeepers; Mr. Wm. Money; and John Foy, Watts Olley, and Geo. Scrimshaw, farmers.

PENSTHORPE parish, 2 miles E. of Fakenham, has only 30 inhabitants, and 170 acres of land, all belonging to Mrs. Masters, the patroness of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £10, but the Church has long been desecrated, and is now a barn. Mr. Robt. Gwyn, of Long Stratton, occupies the farm.

PUDDING-NORTON parish, 1½ mile S. of Fakenham, has but 17 inhabitants, and about 500 acres, all the property of A. G. Wright, Esq., the patron of the rectory, which is valued in K. B. at £6, and is now a sinecure enjoyed by the Rev. W. W. Wilcocks, the Church having been long a roofless ruin, but a great part of the tower still remains. The hall, a neat modern mansion, is occupied with the farm, by Mr. John Browne.

RAINHAM (EAST,) or Rainham St. Mary, is a parish with a small village, on the Swaffham road 3 miles S. W. by S. of Fakenham, and contains 115 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, including nearly 800a. of wood, which, with 700a. of lawn, &c. form the extensive and beautiful park of RAINHAM HALL, the seat of Lord Charles Vere Ferrers Townshend. This mansion, ranking as splendid as the third house in Norfolk, was built near the site of an ancient moated hall, in 1630, by Sir Roger Townshend, Bart., under the direction of the celebrated architect, Inigo Jones; but it was enlarged and beautified by Charles, second Viscount Townshend, (many years secretary of state to George I. and II.) who added a wing, excavated a lake, and altered the principal apartments, under the inspection of Mr. Kent, and further improvements were made by the first Marquis Townshend, who increased the park to its present magnitude. It is a large and handsome mansion of brick and stone, and, standing on an eminence, commands delightful views of the rich and highly cultivated commons, and the thick woods of the finely undulated park, with a lake nearly two miles in length. The house contains a number of valuable paintings; among which is the famous picture of Belsharius, by Salvator Rosa presented to the second Viscount by the King of Prussia and valued at ten thousand guineas. Here is also a very fine portrait of Mary de Medici, by Rubens. The Townshend's family is of great antiquity, their name occurring soon after the Conquest. Sir Roger was created a baronet in 1617. Sir Heratio was created Baron Townshend, of Lynn Regis, in 1661, and Viscount Townshend, of Rainham, in 1692. His son Charles, the second viscount succeeded to his family honours in 1697, and became one of the most eminent ministers in the kingdom, holding many great offices of state, and advocating the Tory interest, until the close of Queen Anne's reign, when he gradually became a Whig, and the ally of the celebrated prime minister, Walpole, with whom, however, he at length quarreled, and though brothers-in-law, they changed from sincere friends to bitter enemies. After retiring from office, he spent the remainder of his life at Rainham, where he died in 1732. To this nobleman the kingdom is indebted for the general cultivation of turneps, which had previously been grown only in gardens, but observing their advantages while in attendance upon George I., at anover, he brought the seed and practice into England. His grandson, George, the fourth viscount, was created Marquis Townshend, of Rainham, in 1786. The entail of the Rainham estate having been cut off by the late marquis, who died at his beautiful seat at Richmond, in 1811, he bequeathed it to his second son, Lord Charles, the present owner. The CHURCH, dedicated to St. Mary, has a nave, side aisles, and chancel, with a square tower and four bells. It has several inscriptions to the Townshend family, and on the north side a large dormitory, but no monuments. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £13. 6s. 8d., is consolidated with West Rainham, in the patronage of Lord Charles Townshend, and incumbency of the Rev. Rd. Phayre. The poor have an annuity of £5, left by Lady Berkeley, and also a plot of land, let for £3 a-year. Directory:—Lord Charles Townshend, Rainham hall; John Batten, blacksmith; Robt. Butcher and Edm. Seppings, farmers; Mrs. Margt. Parnelle; and Samuel Osbiston, vict. Townshend's Arms.

RAINHAM (SOUTH,) or Rainham St. Martin, is a parish and scattered village, 5 miles S. W. by S. of Fakenham, with 122 inhabitants, and about 900A. of land, all belonging to Lord Charles Townshend, the lord of the manor, impropiator and patron of the CHURCH, which is a vicarage, and valued in K.B. at £6, and consolidated with Heloughton, in the incumbency of the Rev. Arthur Loftus, of Fakenham. It was augmented in 1810 with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The poor have £3. 6s. 8d. yearly from Lady Berkeley's charity. Directory:—Jas. Bradshaw, Esq.; Wm. Brown and Hy. Oliver Stibbard, farmers; Ann Bull, beer house; Miss Mary Filby; Rev. Joseph Potter, curate.

RAINHAM (WEST,) or Rainham St. Margaret, a village and parish, 5 miles S.W. of Fakenham, has 335 inhabitants, and 1350A. of land, on the west side of the rivulet which flows through Rainham Park. Lord Charles Townshend owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K.B. at £18. 3s. 4d., and consolidated with East Rainham, in the incumbency of the Rev. Richard Phayre, B.A., with a good residence, and 152A. 2R. 3P. of glebe. The CHURCH here has long been dilapidated, but is still an interesting ivy-clad ruin. The inhabitants of both parishes now use St. Mary's church, at East Rainham, in the park, on the east side of the valley. The poor have £3. 6s. 8d. a-year from Lady Berkeley's charity, and £6. 14s. from land left for coals, by an unknown donor. In 1661, Peter Stringer left the interest of £259. 19s. 4d., for apprenticing poor children, and it is now vested in £400 three per cent. consolidated Bank Annuities. The commons of Rainham and Heloughton were enclosed in 1821. The Rev. Thomas Dunham Whitaker, LL.D., F.R.S., and F.S.A., the late celebrated topographer and antiquary, was born here, at the rectory-house, in 1759, and died vicar of Blackburn, in Lancashire, Dec. 18th, 1821, having spent most of his life in that county and Yorkshire. Directory:—Wm. Francis, Wm. Manning, and Samuel Southgate, farmers; George Gunton, wheelwright; Wm. Hall and John Kendall, hopkeepers; Wm. Hendry, basket maker; Rev. Rd. Phayre, Rectory; Edm. Seppings, butcher; Abdall Smith, miller and baker; and John Whisker, blacksmith.

RUDHAM (EAST) is a considerable village, on the Lynn road, 7 miles W. of Fakenham, celebrated for two large annual fairs for cattle and merchandise, held on May 13th, and October 14th, under a charter granted by King John to the ancient and honorable family of Belet, who long held this parish, and founded in it Coxford Priory, on the banks of a rivulet, nearly 2 miles E. of the village, adjacent to Tattersett. This extensive priory, of which but little is known, had a boundary wall enclosing about 30 acres, and two large pieces of it, with a noble arch, are still standing. It was granted at the dissolution to Thomas Duke of Norfolk. A small pot full of Roman coins was dug up among the ruins in 1719. East Rudham has increased its population since 1801, from 272 to 930 souls, and has in its parish 3903a. 2r. 10p. of land, mostly belonging to Lord Charles Townshend, the lord of the manor, appropriator of the great tithes, and patron of the Church, (St. Mary) which has a low embattled tower, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 6s. 8d., and united with West Rudham, in the incumbency of the Rev. Thomas Bland. The poor's land was set in 1786, for £5. 10s. The common was enclosed in 1819.

Bland Rev. Thomas, vicar Bridges John, blacksmith, Coxfield
 Drage John, gentleman Drag John, jun. greener, draper, chandler, & seed & garment
 Frost Henry, schoolmaster
 Jackson John, joiner and builder
 Kitten, Robert, greener & draper
 Manly Edward, surgeon
 Mays Anna, vict. Crown Inn
 Page William, cabinet maker
 Phillips James, watch maker
 Powell Charles, blacksmith
 Powell Sarah, beer house
 Rathborn Mrs. Ann
 Rollings John, vict. White Horse
 Rowle Thomas, joiner & cabinet maker
 Rye Wan, vict. Norfolk Ranger,
Coxfield
 Sampson William, saddler

Thompson Wm. Jas. vet. surgeon
 Winn Mrs. Mary
Bakers
 Glaswell John
 Rayner J. miller
 Rollings Wm.
 Wright Wm.
Blacksmiths
 Kitchin John
 Newton Henry
Butchers
 Peter & Wm.
 Silver Robt.
 Swallow Shad.
Farmers
 Billing John,
Coxford
Carriers to Norwich call at the Crown and White Horse Inns,
 Monday and Friday

RUDHAM (WEST) a parish and scattered village, 8 miles W. by S. of Fakenham, has 156 inhabitants, and 2740 acres, of which 100 are heath, 180 pasture, and the rest arable. A small brook runs through the village and gives rise to the river Wensum. A great part of the soil belongs to Lord Charles Townshend, Mr. Robert Algar, G. W. Chad, Esq., and Moley Curtis, Esq., and lies in the manors of Houghton, Castleacre, and Northall, & St. James. The Church (St. Peter) has a nave, south aisle, chancel, and a short tower; and in the same enclosure there was a chapel dedicated to All Saints, standing in 1493. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £7. 1s. 8d., is in the gift of Lord Charles Townshend, and incumbency of the Rev. Thomas Bland, together with East Rudham.

Barrett Mrs. Mary
 Cannell Annerson, baker
 Cehman Thos. shoemkr. & beerhs.
 Gathercole John, joiner
 Geese Robert, joiner
 Lee Absolam, watchmaker
 Mays Robert, beer house
 Payne James, bricklayer
 Parson John, blacksmith
 Powell Chas. vict. Duke's Head

Riches John, tailor, grocer, &c.
 Sharpin Elizabeth, gardener
 Southgate Frs. whiting manfr.
 Tungate Thos. tailor and draper
 Waller Robert, Cooper
 Waller Thomas, schoolmaster
 FARMERS.—* are yeomen.
 *Algar Robt. | *Harper John
 Curtis Henry | Rathborn Wm.
 Curtis John | Whiteman —

RYBURGH MAGNA is a large village on the western banks of the river Wensum, 4 miles S. E. of Fakenham, comprising in its parish 598 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, with thriving plantations on the acclivities of the valley, and mostly belonging to Edmund Wodehouse, Esq., the lord of the manor, and patron of the CHURCH, (St. Andrew,) which is a handsome cruciform structure, with a modern stained glass window, inserted by the late rector. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £14. 16s. 10d., is now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Ray Clayton, and at the enclosure in 1808, received an allotment of 270A. in lieu of all tithes. At the southern extremity of the parish, nearly 2 miles from the village, is Sennow Lodge, a handsome white mansion overlooking a long reach of the Wensum, which here flows between steep and thickly wooded acclivities. This seat is the property of E. Wodehouse, Esq., but is now unoccupied. Ryburgh Hall, a small mansion in the village, belongs to the executors of the late Lady Henry Fitzroy, together with about one third of the parish. At the dissolution, this manor was granted to Sir William Butts, chief physician to Henry VIII.

Ainger Luke, joiner & beer house
 Amos William, butcher
 Beck John, wheelwright
 Bell Samuel, blacksmith
 Clayton Rev. Wm. Ray, rector
 Foster Joseph, veterinary surgeon
 Gamble John, grocer and draper
 Green Wm. miller, (& Fakenham)
 Howe Mrs. Rhoda, Augusta
 McGregor Mr. Robert

Neale Jn. & Parker Jn. joiners
 Platten John, tailor & vict. Blue Boar
 Plumlee Richard, vict. Crown
 Pratt Jno. shoemaker & shopkpr.
 Southgate Robert, wheelwright
 Farmers. | Page Levi
 Bell Martin | Southgate Robt.
 Boulter Money | Wilson Sarah
 Green John

RYBURGH PARVA, 3 miles E. S. E. of Fakenham, is a small parish and village, on the eastern acclivities of the picturesque valley of the Wensum, containing 162 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, mostly the property of E. Wodehouse, Esq., the lord of the manor, impropiator and patron of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £7. 13s. 4d., and augmented with £200, given by the Rev. Francis Burton, in 1749; and £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1747 and '50. It is consolidated with Ryburgh Magna, and received at the enclosure in 1808, 66 acres in lieu of tithes. The Church, dedicated to All Saints, has been long in ruins, which are now finely clothed with ivy. Directory:—Wm. Carman, shoemaker; Henry Leverett, blacksmith; Peter Patterson, shopkeeper; Robert Stamp, bricklayer; Mark Watson, beer seller; and Peter Lake, Robt. Mitchell, Wm. Parling, and Charles Watson, farmers.

SCULTHORPE, a large scattered village and parish, 2 miles N. W. of Fakenham, has 619 inhabitants and about 2055 acres of land, the greater part of which belongs to Sir F. J. Jones, and the rest is the property of Lord Charles Townshend, P. S. Carr, Esq., and several smaller proprietors. At the enclosure, 30 acres were allotted to the poor, and they have also £2 a-year from land left by Francis Berkham, in 1687. The Church has a fine tower, a curious Saxon font, and several ancient brasses, one of which is impressed with the figure of Henry VIII., dated 1470. It is said to have been erected by Robert Knollys, an eminent commander in the reign of Edward III. The rectory valued in K. B. at £16, has 71a. 2ir of glebe. Sir Charles Chad, and Robert Marsham, Esq., are the patrons, and the Rev. Edward Marsham is incumbent.

Beldon Matthew, baker
 Billing Robert, butcher
 Bird Wm. & Horsley J. blacksmiths.
 Blacket P. & R. bricklayers
 Fowle James, wheelwright
 Fox Jas. & Hill Jas. beer sellers
 Kendal Wright, beer house
 Marsham Rev. Edward, rector
 Pleasants John, schoolmaster
 Price Edw. shoemkr. & beer ho.
 Rumblelow Eliza, grocer & draper

Santy William, corn miller
Thompson John, shoemaker
Williamson Jas. miller & baker
Farmers	Sherringham E.
Billing Daniel	Brick
Cole P. & Smith	Joiners
Eglington John	Basham Robert
Owen Thos.	Puller Benj.
Sapey Thos.	Thompson Wm.
Sayer John

SHEREFORD, or Sheringford, a village and parish on the Wensum, 3 miles W. of Fakenham, has 110 inhabitants, and 741 acres of land, nearly all the property of Lord Charles Townshend, the lord of the manor, and patron of the church, which has a round tower, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £9, and now enjoyed by the Rev. James Cory, with 58½a. of glebe. The farm called Southmill, had anciently a corn mill, and was given by Sir Robert Knollys to the college which he founded at Pontefract. The poor's land was let in 1750, for 25s., and they have a yearly rent-charge of 15s., left by John Branthwayte, in 1765. The two farms are occupied by Jennie Digings and George Riches.

SNORING (LITTL), a pleasant village and parish, 3 miles E. N. E. of Fakenham, has 287 inhabitants, and about 1600 acres of land. Sir Jacob Astley is principal owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, which is valued in K. B. at £12, and consolidated with East Barsham, in the incumbency of the Rev. H. N. Astley with 59a. 3ir of glebe. The Church, (St. Andrew,) is an interesting specimen of Saxon architecture, and has a round tower with three bells, detached at the distance of eight feet from the west end. There was a house of Lepers here founded in 1380. At the enclosure in 1801 and '6, the poor received an allotment of 15a., besides which, here are 8a. of old poor's land, let for £10. Directory—Wm. Bacon, tailor; John Banyard, shoemaker; Thomas Barnes, corn miller; Geo. Nichols, wheelwright; John Parsons, blacksmith; Wm. Rivett, castrator and vict., Blue Bell; John Ludcenhams, shoemaker and vict., Green Man; Matman Tolcenhams, shopkeeper; and John Barwick, William Dent, Robert Norman, Nicholas Powell, John Sayer and William Tuck farmers.

STIBBARD, or Staberde, 4 miles E. of Fakenham, is a large scattered village and parish, with 505 inhabitants, and about 1100 acres of land, rising in bold swells, and partly the property of Lord Wodehouse, Esq., the lord of the manor; but some of it is in W. B. Gill, Esq.'s manor of Stibbard Docking, in which the copyholds are subject to arbitrary fines. The CHURCH (All Saints,) has a square tower with two bells, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £11. 13s. 4d., and having 23a. 2s. 23p. of glebe. It is united with Colkirk, in the patronage of Lord Charles Townshend, and incumbency of the Rev. Ralph Tatham. Here is a small Methodist chapel. At the enclosure in 1808, 26 acres were allotted to the poor, partly in exchange for the old poor's land left by one Pearce and another donor. Directory — John Bambridge, joiner; Rev. John Buddell, M. A., curate; John Eastwick and James Hedge, growers & drapers; Rev. Php. Francis; Wm. King and Saml. Southgate, wheelwrights; Jas. Londe and Eam. Neale, blacksmiths; Jonathan Pryor and James Sayer, beer sellers; Samuel Turner, baker and vict., King's Head; Benj. Wade, vict. Falgate, and Wm. Bell, John Chapman, Wm. Gill, Harrison Hill, Rd. Mayes, John Savage and Juby Sturman, farmers; John Olley, carrier to Norwich, calls at the Falgate.

SYDERSTONE, a village on an acclivity 6 miles W. N. W. of Fakenham, has within its parish 421 inhabitants, and 2450 acres of land, belonging to the Marquis Cholmondeley, the lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £13. 13s. 4d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. George Kingstone, with 45a. of glebe. The CHURCH (St. Mary,) has a round tower, and formerly had aisles, which were taken down about 1784. In the 12th of Henry VII., the Earl of Suffolk granted this manor to the Roberts, one of whom was the unfortunate Anne, Countess of Leicester, who figures in Sir Walter Scott's novel of Kenilworth, under the name of Amy Robert, who was "either thrown or tumbled down a pair of stairs, and broke her neck." The Rev. John Stewart, resident curate of Syderstone, and rector of Thwaite All Saints, was for many years with the army in Spain, &c., and is author of several excellent poems; sermons on the past, present, and future state of the Jews; and "Bible Gems." These works evince a fine poetical imagination, and a pure devotional spirit, and have obtained for him the name of "the Gossamer of England."

Daw Benjamin, schoolmaster
Daw Robt. nursery & seedsman
Daw Robt. jun. gardener
Glasswell John, shoemaker
Harper Rt. joiner & vict. Buck
Hunt Basham, draper & tea dlr.
Kerslake Mrs. Mary

Leverett Rt. Secker, miller & baker
Mace Thos. joiner & cabinet mkr
Pentney C. & Fuller J. blacksmiths
Rye Richard, beer house
Savory John, farmer
Seppings Thos. Esq., White Hall
Steward Rev. John, Rectory

TATTERFORD is a hamlet and parish in the valley of the Wensum, near its source and confluence with two smaller streams, 4 miles W. S. W. of Fakenham. It contains only 75 inhabitants, and about 8000 acres, belonging to Sir Chas. Chad, who occasionally resides here at Pinkney Hall, an ancient mansion, formerly the seat of the Drury. Sir Chas. is also patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £12. 1s. 6d. and united with Tatterford in the incumbency of the Rev. Augustus Adolphus Turnour. Humphrey de Bohun

STAMFORD BRIDGES

... it was another two walls with an arch s
£2. 12s., left by John
Samuel Nutt, in 1762;
Directory:—Nicholas F
farmers; and Robt. Wal TESTERTON, a sma
has only 18 inhabitants, dwellings, one of which mansion on a pleasant ac and lately the seat of Phil 1802, and was distinguis died in 1834, when the est portion of Great Ryburgh Thomas Wythe, Esq., of heirress of his late brother, leased to Mrs. Margaret flourished for nearly two them, the late Philip Case
30 years clerk of the peac married into the families of ton Church (St. Remigius, tory valued in K. B. at £ gift of T. Wythe, Esq., an shire, who receives a yearly
Rutland and Miss Case occ
Thompson, curate of Ryburg
TOFTREES, near Rainha
a small village and parish, v land, belonging to Lord Cha and patron of the

SOUTH GREENHOE HUNDRED

17

Freebridge Lynn and Launchich; on the east by land; on the south by Grimshoe; and on the west by Swaffham. It has near its centre the handsome market town of Swaffham, on a low eminence, encompassed by an extensive bed of loam; it covers the whole Hundred abounding sheep-walks, and has generally a light sandy soil, except on its eastern side, where it has a rich loam, and its highly cultivated fields are watered by a fine rivulet flowing southward to the Wissey, or Stoke river, which carries it on the south, as the navigable Nar does on the north-west. It has its name from the green hills or tumuli on the heath between Cressingham and Pickenham, where the hundred court was held until the early part of the last century. Its Petty Sessions are now held every alternate year at Swaffham, at the office of Mr. H. Sewell, the magistrate. It forms with Grimshoe Hundred, the Deanery of Cressingham, and contains 24 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings as assessed for the property tax in 1845, and their territorial extent:—

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Bodney	140	2,500	1,800	Langford	85	1,500	700
Bradenham (East) .	280	2,800	2,200	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Bradenham (West) .	270	2,100	1,800	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Caldecote	60	400	400	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Cockley-Cley	120	1,200	1,200	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Cressingham (Great) .	400	2,200	2,200	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Cressingham (Little) .	200	1,200	1,200	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Doddington	100	1,200	1,200	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Fouldean	100	1,200	1,200	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Gooderstone	100	1,200	1,200	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Hilborough	100	1,200	1,200	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Holm-Hall	100	1,200	1,200	Warrington	200	2,400	1,200
Houghston on the Hill	20	500	500	Total	3,000	30,000	15,000

BODNEY parish has only one house and a few straggles on the east side of a rivulet, 7 miles E. of Swaffham. It contains 140 inhabitants, and about 1,800 acres of land, all belonging to Mr. John Tasburgh, Esq., of Burghwallis, Louth, who has bought one half himself, and lets the other to the farmers in the adjoining parishes. A large farm-house has been built near the site of the old hall, which was taken down some years ago, and was at one time the tranquil retreat of the nurse of Montezuma, having been, some 40 years ago, the residence of the late John de Bourton, daughter of the Duke of Devonshire, who died here on July 9th, 1845. The church is a small, plain structure of flint and pebbles, and is a rectory, united to the living of St. Andrew, and consolidated with Great Cressingham, in the gift of the living and incumbency of the Rev. J. C. Hall, Mr. Howard Fox is the farm steward.

BRADENHAM (EAST), a parish and ancient village, 7 miles E. by S. of Swaffham, has 280 inhabitants, and 2,200 acres of land, lying chiefly in the manor of Bradenham itself, of which T. T. Clarke, Esq., is lord; but John. Ashington, Esq., is lord of East Bradenham, and here is also a small rectory manor. The church is the Mary, is a large edifice with a square tower and three bells, and is a rectory valued in K. B. at £12 2s. 4d., in the gift of T. Adlington, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Joseph Smith. The church land is 2½a. The parishioners have commonwright on the green, (5s.) and the poor have a house and land bequeathed by a Mr. Green, and now let for £6 a-year. The Independents have a small chapel here. Directory—Rev. Wm. Blackley, curate; Ilv. Hart, vicar, Lord Nelson, John Ward, blacksmith, Robt. Wheales, carpenter, John Williams, shopkeeper, and J. Drury, Jph. Fulcher, Pph. Hall Goodwin, Chas. and Grigson Heyboe, Saml. and William Hudson, Joseph Jubb, and William Machin, farmers.

BRADENHAM (WEST) is a parish of dispersed houses, separated from the above by a small rivulet, 6½ miles E. of Swaffham. It has 370 inhabitants, and 1682a. 3a. 20r. of land, mostly the property of Wm. Henry Haggard, and Barry Girling, Esqrs., the former of whom is lord of West Bradenham, and the latter of Bokenham Hall manor. The Church (St. Andrew,) stands on an eminence, and has a square tower with quoins and battlements of freestone, surmounted by a small spire. An ancient screen divides the nave and chancel. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £7 1s. 10d., is now enjoyed by the Rev. J. King, of Wisbech, who is also lessee of the rectorial tithes under the Bishop of Ely, the patron and appropriator. At the enclosure in 1802, 11a. 2a. 16r. of land, now let for £11. 12s. was awarded to the poor, who have also a house and 6a. 1a. 33r. let for £13, and 2a. 2a. 36r. let in 8 allotments for £3. 4s. a year, left by Rd. Brotherton, Wm. Munshaw, John Mason, Edm. Williamson, and Samuel Frost, in the 17th century. In the parish is the post of a gibbet on which Stephen Watson was hung in 1795, for murdering his wife and child. Directory—Thomas Bankell, miller and baker; Robt. Mendham, vicar and smith, Maid's Head; Jas. Parker, vicar, King's Head; Jerh. Thompson, baker, John Vennings, Esq., Bradenham Hall; and Robt. Chandler, Henry Goner, John Hall, R. Peck, Osbert Spinks, and John Young, farmers.

CALDECOTE, vulgarly called Cocket, is a parish near the source of a rivulet, 6 miles S. W. of Swaffham, containing 63 inhabitants, and 640a. of land, belonging to Sir H. P. Bedingfield. The church was reduced to a shell in 1583, and but few vestiges of it now remain. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £3. 1s. 10½d., is consolidated with Cocketley Cley. Wm. and John Sewell occupy the farm, and the other residents are cottagers.

COCKLEY-CLEY, on the banks of a rivulet, 3½ miles S.S.W. of Swaffham, is a parish and small village, of detached houses, containing 218 inhabitants, and about 3000 acres, of which 1500a. form a wild sandy heath, abounding in rabbits. This estate was purchased of the Wodehouse family, by the late Richard Dashwood, Esq., and is now in dispute between his heirs, in the Court of Chancery. The Church, (All Saints,) is a venerable edifice, with a short round tower, and near it stood the ancient chapel of St. Mary, which was at an early period converted to the rectory-house, but is now let as a cottage. There was also a church (St. Peter's,) at the east end of the village, said to have been burnt down in the reign of Elizabeth. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 17s. 1d., is in the incumbency of the Rev. Robert Rolfe, and patronage of Theophilus Russell Buckworth, Esq., who resides at the Hall, a neat building.

with a small lawn and plantation. Sir Cloudesley Shovell, the celebrated admiral, and commander-in-chief of Queen Anne's fleet, is said to have been the son of a poor man of this parish, and the runaway apprentice of a shoemaker. He was lost on the coast of Scilly, 1708, together with many distinguished officers and 900 sailors.—In 1621, Thomas Yorker, bequeathed 13A. of land, and directed the rents to be distributed five years successively to the poor of Cockley-lea, and every sixth year to those of Oxburgh. Those of this parish owe also a yearly rent-charge of £2 left by John Bagge, in 1742. The church and poor's land was let in 1786, for £3. 5s.—Directory: R. Buckworth, Esq.; Daniel Sewell, farmer; Jacob Denny, ct., Cock; and Wm. Buck, blacksmith.

CRESSINGHAM (GREAT) is a scattered village on an acclivity, 5 miles S. by E. of Swaffham, comprising in its parish 449 inhabitants, and 2250 acres of land, mostly belonging to W. L. W. Wente, H. B. Caldwell, and J. Dugmore, Esqrs.; the first of whom is lord of Glosebriggs manor, and lessee of an estate here called Willins' manor, belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, who have a peculiar jurisdiction in this parish, where there is likewise a small rectorial manor, in which there was a chapel and hermitage, dedicated to St. George; the site of which is the "Stone Close," where a large cattle and horse FAIR is held on the first Wednesday and Thursday in August, paying tolls to the rector. The whole parish was held by the Bishop of Thetford, at the Domesday survey, and remained with the See till the reign of Stephen, when Bishop Borard, was obliged to resign it to two powerful knights, in order to preserve the rest of his diocese. The CHURCH (St. Michael) is a large edifice with a lofty square tower, and several fine brasses and inscriptions to the Eyre, Fludd, and other families. The screen has been curiously painted and carved, as also has part of the roof. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £17. 8s. 1d., was consolidated with Bodry, in 1770. The King is the patron, and the Rev. John Cecil Hall is incumbent. The glebe is 55 acres, and the rector has half the tithes of 140A. in Ashill parish. In 1621, eight acres of land were purchased with £60, and is now let for £8, half for repairing the church, and rest to the clerk. At the enclosure, in 1801, 35 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel, and they have also four rent-charges, amounting to 22s. 8d. yearly, left by Richard Newman, John Reeve, Wm. Robinson, and Robert Heyhoe.

arnard Bogue, butcher & shopr.
 artlett Goddard, beer house artlett My. Ann, schoolmistress nge Rev. John, curate runton Mattw. vict. and wheelwright, Windmill ark Barnabas, farmer
 ow John & Curtis Jas. farmers

Hall Rev. John Cecil, rector
 Mack Wm. vict. blacksmith and cattle dlr. Robin Hood Nelthorpe Jas. wheelwright
 Norman Rt. Turner, farmer
 Reynolds John, baker
 Smith Mr. William
 Wright & Fiske, grocers, &c.

CRESSINGHAM (LITTLE) is a parish and village on the deep acclivities of a fertile valley, 2 miles S. of the above, and 3 miles W. by S. of Watton. It contains 276 inhabitants, and about 100A. of land, nearly all the property of Lady Goodricke, relict of the late Sir H. Goodricke, who resides here at Clermont Lodge, a neat mansion on an eminence, within a verdant park, partly in Throxtan parish. Of the CHURCH, (St Andrew) the tower and part of the nave are in ruins, but the rest is in good repair. In the chancel are interred several of the Clermont family, who were formerly lords of the manor. The rectory, valued in K B at £13. 12s. 6d., is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. Thomas Baker, and has 27a of Glebe. A school here was endowed in 1809, by Wm Farrer, with the interest of £300 for the education of 5 boys and 6 girls. At the enclosure in 1777, about 10 acres were allotted to the poor, who have also 14 pecks of rye yearly from the bequest of a former lord of the manor.—Directory—Lady Charlotte Goodricke, John Leveredge, carpenter and shopr., Ann Peckett, schoolmistress; and Fuller Boughen, Abel Brett, Charles Wm Wright Brett, James Gathercole, and Wm Wharton, farmers.

DIDLINGTON parish, 8 miles S. by W. of Swaffham, has 81 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, all belonging to and occupied by Lord Berners, of Diddington Hall, a neat brick mansion, in a small park, with some fine water, lime trees, and an extensive heronary. The hall was built on the site of the old one, by the late Col. Wilson, father of the present possessor. It has a good collection of paintings by Holbein, Vandyke, and other old masters. The family of Bouchier, held the title of BARON BERNERS, from 1455 till 1532; after which it lay dormant till 1720, when Katherine Bokenham was created Baroness Berners, as heiress of the Bouchier family. She was daughter of Sir John Knyvet, whose family long held this manor, and had previously claimed the Barony, which again fell into abeyance at her decease, in 1743; but it has recently been granted to Robert Wilson, the present Lord Berners, as the eldest co-heir of the Knyvet family. The CHURCH is an ancient fabric, in the park, and has some fragments of stained glass in its windows, and a large square tower. The vicarage, valued in K B at £12. 13s. 7d., has the rectory of Culveston annexed to it in the gift of Lord Berners, and incumbency of the Rev. George Wilson. Mr. Thos. Saul is his lordship's steward.

FOULDEN or Fouldon parish, has a large straggling village, 8 miles S S W of Swaffham, and contains 500 inhabitants, and upwards of 2000 acres of land, mostly the property of W. G. D. H. Tyssen, H. B. Caldwell, and A. Horrex, Esqrs., the first of whom is lord of Latimer's manor, and resides at Foulden Hall, a modern mansion, but Lord Berners is lord of Warren's manor. The CHURCH, (All Saints) is an ancient building verging fast to decay for want of necessary repairs, the square tower being already ruinous. The screen has been decorated with paintings and carved canopy work with effigies. In a small pannel under the south window is the figure of a man in complete armour, but much mutilated. The vicarage, valued in K B. at £10. 2s., is united with Oxburgh, in the incumbency of the Rev. Richard Lewis, and patronage of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, which has also the appropriation of the corn tithes. The poor's fund, left by ELL. Long, in 1662, and Anthony Foster in 1645, was let in 1780, for £13. In 1579, Edmund Atmore bequeathed to the poor of this and four other parishes 11a of land now let for £22. In 1728, Burnham Ravmond left a yearly rent-charge of £5 for schooling 6 boys and 6 girls.

parish, and it is now charged on Mr. Tyssen's estate.—Directory: n. Dodds, beer seller; Robert Dorman, wheelwright and vict. ll; Sarah Fendick, schoolrs; Martha Pirth, vict., Chequers; thony Horrex, Esq.; Wm. Sharratt, blacksmith and beer house; m. Geo. Hy. Daniel Tyssen, Esq.; and John Reynolds, John Richardson, and Daniel Sewall, farmers.

GOODERSTONE, commonly called Goodson, is a long village of wched houses, 4 miles N. E. of Stoke Ferry, and 6 miles S.S.W. of wffham, in the vale of a rivulet which flows southward to the Wis-. Its parish has 476 inhabitants, three wind mills, one water ll, and 1700a. of land, partly belonging to Arthur Capel, Esq., lord of the manor, but here are several resident proprietors. The church (St. George) is a large fabric with a short square tower d three bells. The nave and chancel are divided by a lofty screen ich has been richly ornamented with paintings, carvings, and image-work. Several of the windows have stained glass, and at the west d are three ancient stalls on each side. The vicarage, valued in B. at £6. 12s., is now enjoyed by the Rev. John Dolignon. An- way Horrex, Esq., is the patron, and also improprietor of the us, having here a small rectorial manor. In the village is a Wes- an chapel. At the enclosure, 50 acres were allotted to the poor, d are now let for £50 a-year, besides which, they have 5s. from land t by Edmund Briston, in 1710; and £4 a-year from 2a. called 'Town-piece; but the latter is applied to the poor rates.

oke and Garrod, corn millers
oke and Judd, corn millers oke Mr. Lombo, & Fuller Mr. J vrod Henry, shoemaker mbert John, beer house
mbert Wm. butcher and vict.
lfe Eliz. shopkeeper

Taylor John, wheelwright
Trendle Wm. blacksmith

FARMERS.—* are yeomen.

*Brooke Jas.	*Lambert Rt.
*Crowe Bennet	Palmer Chas.
*Garrod Suml	*Warner John
Lambert Pras.

HILBOROUGH, or Hilburgh, is a scattered but pleasant vil- e, with a handsome hall, a good posting inn, and a large water ll, on the London road, 6 miles S. of Swaffham. Its parish has 7 inhabitants, and 2552 acres of land, nearly all the property of mry Berner Caldwell, Esq., the lord of the manor, who resides at 'Hall, a square brick mansion in a large and well-wooded park, the western bank of a rivulet, erected in 1779, by Ralph Cald- ll, Esq., who purchased the manor of James Nelthorpe, Esq., in 53, after which he erected on it three new farm-houses, &c. The church (All Saints) is a neat edifice with a fine square tower, taining five bells, and having freestone quoins and battlements. er the western door are two effigies, one a man in armour, and ether a savage bearing in his left hand a ragged staff, and in the er a man's head. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £13. 6s. 8d., s augmented in 1804, with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, and value of £200 in land, given by the late rector, the Rev. Wm. lson, D.D., brother of the hero of the Nile, and afterwards Earl lson. The present Earl is the patron, and the Rev. Wm. Young he incumbent. On the north-west side of the village, in a grass so, are the remains of St. Margaret's Chapel, where pilgrims used halt in their progress to Walsingham abbey. It was a free chapel, founded at an early period and endow'd with upwards of 100 acres of the adjoining land, but it was dissolved by Edward VI. At the enclosure, in 1769, 20 acres were awarded to the poor for fuel, and 14 for pasture. They have also a yearly rent-charge of £1 15s. 6d., paid to the lord of the manor.—Directory—H. B. Calver, Esq., John Brighton, Swan Inn; John Cole, land agent, Rev. Jas. Jouqueau, curate, Wm. Howins, beer-seller, Jas. Loveday blacksmith, Edward Scott, corn miller, Wm. Sparkhall, grocer and draper, John Sparks, wheelwright, and James Debenham, Stephen Read, and Geo. Snyders, farmers. The London Coach and Carriage roads pass through the village, and the Mid-Gig from Brandon to Swaffham, calls at W. Sparkhall's at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. every day.

HOLME HALL, perhaps a corruption of Holme-on-the-Hill, is a scattered village chiefly on a bold at last above a rivulet, 5 miles N. by S. of Swaffham. The parish contains 417 inhabitants, and about 2500 acres belonging to several proprietors, the largest of whom is Lord Farnham, Esq., the lord of the manor, who has recently built a great mansion here. The Church (St. Andrew) was commenced in the reign of Richard III., but not finished till 1485. It has a large nave, a small chancel, and a square tower with a belfry. It has two fine brasses to Sir Edmund Hiley and Wm. Carters. In 1824, the sexton found in the churchyard six bone grooves of Henry VIII., enclosed in a wooden cloth which crumbled to pieces on being touched. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £12 10s. 6d. is in the gift of Mr. William Young and incumbency of the Rev. F. Young, of Newton. Here is a small Methodist Chapel. The poor's fund is £24, allotted at the enclosure in 1801, and the Town-land, 18s. 4d. for repairing the church bridge &c. and surplus for relieving the poor. Here is also 1s. for poor widows. A pleasure walk is here in the village, on May 10th.—Directory—(Those marked * are freeholders)—Robert Farnham Esq., John Gainsbury Esq., Red Lion, Wm. Jex, blacksmith, Jerb Thompson, corn miller, Wm. Washburn, grocer and draper, and John Andrews, Robert Barrett, Francis Bayfield, John Coker, Wm. Gimson, Robert Hudson, Jerb. Lambert, Jas. Lock, Thos. Strelton, Benj. Tuttle, and Thos. Weston, farmers.

HOUGH (ON-ON-THE-HILL) is a small parish, 4 miles S. E. of Swaffham, containing only one house, five cottages, 52 inhabitants, and about 600 acres of land, mostly belonging to W. L. W. Chute, Esq., and all occupied by non-resident farmers. Mr. Wm. Bloomfield, farm steward, occupies the house. The Church (St. Mary the Virgin) is a small pile with a tower and one bell. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £1 15s. 9d., is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. H. Say, and consolidated with North Pickenham.

LANGFORD parish, 8 miles S. of Swaffham, has but 35 inhabitants, and about 700 acres of land, formerly belonging to the knightly family of Garrard, one of whom was created a baronet in 1662, but the whole is now the property of Lord Ashburton and Lord Berners, the latter of whom has 140 acres, and they have the alternate patronage of the rectory, which is valued in K. B. at £4 10s. 9d., and consolidated with Laxborough, in the incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Newcome. The Church (St. Andrew) is a small land

g, with a belfry. Mr. James Rollison, of Ickborough, farms the Irish; and his steward, Richd. Causton, occupies the manor-house;
 besides which here are only five cottages.

NARBOROUGH, or Narburgh, 10 miles E.S.E. of Lynn, and 5 miles N.W. by W. of Swaffham, is an ancient village, with several neat houses, pleasantly seated on the south side of the river Nar, which is navigable for small craft from Lynn, and has here a water-mill and a wharf, where much business is transacted in coal, timber, corn, malt, &c. by Messrs. Marriott. The parish contains 300 inhabitants, and about 4000 acres of land, half of which is on the heath extending southward nearly to Swaffham and Beachamwell. The principal owner of the soil and lord of the manor is Samuel Tyssen, Esq., of NARBOROUGH HALL, an ancient mansion of brick and stone, formerly encompassed by a moat, and built in the reign of Henry VIII., by Judge Spelman. The late Mr. Tyssen collected here an extensive and valuable collection of coins, medals, and other antiquities, said to have cost him about £20,000, but sold after his death, by auction, for less than a tenth part of that sum. The hall is now only occasionally occupied by its owner. Near it is a lofty entrenchment, from which a large foss and rampart extended southward along the boundary of the Clackclose Hundred, to Eastmore fen, a distance of eight miles, as may still be traced. John Brame, in a manuscript history quoted by Spelman, in his "Icenia," says, Narborough was a British city in the time of Uter Pendragon, about the year 500; that it was governed by Earl Okenard, and stood a seven months' siege against King Waldy. At the head of the foss, near the hall, Sir Clement Spelman dug up several human bones and pieces of armour, whilst making a garden, in 1600. The manor was anciently held by a family of its own name, from whom it passed to the Spelmans, and from them to the Dashwoods. The CHURCH (All Saints) has a square embattled tower, with four bells, and formerly had a spire, which was taken down in 1679. It is an ancient fabric, containing several monuments and fine brasses to the Spelman and other families; and on its walls are hung a number of achievements.
 The vicarage, valued in K.B. at £9. 10s., is endowed with the recto-rial tithes, and since 1799 has been held with Narford, by the Rev.
 Wm. Allen. The Rev. Henry Spelman Marriott is the patron, by bequest from the late Rev. Henry Spelman, who founded here a school and alms-houses, and bequeathed £70 a-year in the funds, for poor widows, and £5 a-year for the parish clerk. The poor have also the interest of £91, left by nine donors; and 10s. a year from land left by an unknown benefactor.

Allen Rev. Wm. vicar
 Doe Jn. & Jempson Jn. blacksmiths
 Everett Robert, corn miller
 King Henry, grocer and draper
 Marriott John & Robt. maltsters,
 & corn, coal, &c. merts. Wharf
 Parker James, vict. Ship Inn
 Tebbings Wm. & Long Ed. farmers
 Tibbs Mr. John & Vynne Mr. Rd.

Tyssen Samuel, Esq. Hall

Postman, to & from Swaffham, daily.

Coaches and Carriers, from Lynn to Swaffham, &c. call at the Ship Inn, daily.

Carrier by Water, Jas. Parker, weekly, to Lynn.

NARFORD is a parish and small village, nearly a mile east above, and on the same side of the river Nar, 5 miles N. of Swaffham. It has 103 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land the property of Andrew Fountaine, Esq., of Narford Hall, a handsome brick mansion, with a well-wooded lawn and pleasure grounds, built by Sir Andrew Fountaine, who was knighted by James III., and made K. B. by patent, in 1726, at which time he was vice-chamberlain to the Prince of Wales. He travelled for a considerable time in various parts of Europe, and made an extensive and valuable collection of antiquities and curiosities of art and lore, which are still deposited at Narford Hall, and amongst them many fine paintings, coins, bronzes, antique vases, and a great quantity of porcelain, painted from the designs of Raphael, D'Ure &c., and bequeathed by the Duke of Urbino to the treasury of the Vatican, where it was seized by the French. In 1727, Sir Andrew was appointed Warden of the Mint, which office he held till his death in 1753. He was an eminent virtuoso, and an intimate friend of Pope, Swift, and other literary luminaries. The late Briggs & Fountaine, Esq., who died in 1825, in his 82nd year, was well learned in the ancient and modern languages, passionately fond of music, and in 1805, published a translation of Don Quixote. For many years he amused himself with astronomy, having built an observatory on the hill near Narford Hall, where numerous Roman bricks and other antiquities have been found, and a large brass urn was dug up in the court yard, when Sir Andrew was erecting, or rather building the hall. Narford village is said to have been a mile in length, in the Conqueror's time, and in the reign of Edward III. Thomas de Narford obtained for it a market and two fairs; but these have long been obsolete. A place called Cuthorpe, is mentioned in the court rolls of the manor, but this, we presume, was not more than the meadows, by the river where the cows were pastured. The Church (Virgin Mary) has three bells, and a square tower, which Sir A. Fountaine erected at a vast expense. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6 13s 4d., is in the patronage of the Bishop of Ely, and incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Allen. A chapel dedicated to St. Thomas-a-Becket, formerly stood on the hill opposite Westgate, to which it was granted by Edward IV. A. Fountaine, Esq., has all the land in his own occupation, except one farm, held by Norman Matthews.

NECTON, commonly called Neeton, is a parish and scattered village, on the Dereham road, 4 miles E. of Swaffham, containing 103 inhabitants, and about 3700 acres of land, mostly belonging to John Mason, Esq., of Necton Hall, the lord of the manors called Spaxton Hall, Cocket's, alias Corbet's, and Churchman's. Formerly held by the De Toney's, Nevilles, Bedingfields, Eyres, Colliers, &c. The Church (All Saints) is a beautiful edifice, with a square tower of six bells. The roof of the nave is of oak, curiously wrought and embellished with paintings, and supported by angels with expanded wings, below which stand the twelve apostles carved in oak, painted and gilt. On the north side of the nave are other figures of apostles with the effigy of our Saviour in the centre. On the floor are 20 black marble slabs, with brasses and inscriptions to the Goodwynston, Mason, and other families. The rectory, valued in K.

NECTON PARISH.

66.

N. 66. 8d. is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. Thos. Young. The Baptists and Wesleyans have each a chapel there. The church land is 11a. 11 Necton, and the Town Estate 11a. 10 (tenant) in the parish, reserved for the church, poor and other parochial uses in the reign of Edward IV. Poor widows have 2d. per week as the poorest of 20s. left by eight donors and 20s. from houses left by Edward Black in 1624. The NECTON GAMES, held on Whit Monday and Tuesday, is a superior kind of holiday festival, attended by the sons of respectable country from all parts of the neighbourhood. Several Friendly Societies also attend, and form part of the grand procession in the park, where the Mayes of the Guild appear in a full dress suit and purple robes, with holly leaves and berries in their hair, and a sword-bearer, standard-bearer, merrymen, and other dancers, &c., all fully attired. After certain exercises have been gone through, wrestling matches and races occupy much time, dancing, and a variety of other sports commence, as described in Hume's Every Day Book, Vol. II. p. 600.

John J. L., shopkeeper
 Green John, innkeeper and baker
 Jason Wm. Esq., Necton Hall
 Brett Edward, butcher
 Ann & Co. miller & wine baker
 Ward Wm., painter, glazier, &c.
 Young Thomas, rector
 Young William, gentleman
 Inns and Taverns
 Rayner, Richard, brewer
 Good Woman, John Douthett

Three Tuns, Samuel, brewer
Three Houses	Parsons
Dickson Wm.	Radley Wm.
Paul James	Blomfield Wm.
Blacksmiths	Beckett John
Cook John	Coleman Wm.
Hammock J. J.	Lambert John
Wheelwrights	Thompson R.
Carter Charles	Skellern John
Rayner Robert	Waters George

NEWTON BY CASTLECRE is a small village, but the village of the southern district — the village of the North overlooking Castlecre, on the opposite side of the river, and distant, more N. or E. of Swaffham. Its parish has only 7 contributors, and about 1000 acres of land, belonging to A. Mountaine, J. W. Coker, W. Martin, and W. O. Locke, Esqrs., the first of whom is lord of the manor. The Church (A.D. 1150) has a low square tower, rising between the nave and chancel, and containing two bells. It is a low and heavy pile, supposed to have been built about the time of Edward the Confessor. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at 12 l. 10 s. was augmented with 200 s. of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1840, and is in the incumbency of the Rev. Thos. Watson, of Swaffham, and patronage of the Bishop of Ely — the impropriate of the great tithes now paid to W. Martin Esq., and collected in kind. The poor's land is 20 s., and they have 10 s. a year, left by Wm. Alee, in 1655. Directory — Thomas Matthews and Francis Reynolds, farmers; Geo. Withers, pig, and cattle dealer, and Wm. Powley, corn miller.

OXBLITH, or Oxborough, is an ancient village, on the banks of a rivulet, 3 miles N. E. of Stoke Newington and 6½ miles S. W. of Swaffham, comprising in its parish 427 inhabitants and about 2000 acres, and the property of Sir Henry P. Boscawen, Bart. of Oxborough Hall, encompassed by a moat, 52 feet broad, and 10 feet deep, and forming one of the most perfect specimens of ancient castles.

tellated mansions in the kingdom, erected in the latter part of the fifteenth century, by Sir Edmund Bedingfield, who obtained a patent from Edward IV., in 1482, to build a manor-house with towers, battlements, machicolations, &c. It is built of brick, and was originally of a square form, environing a court 118 feet long, and 92 broad, round which the apartments were ranged. It resembles Queen's College, Cambridge, and the entrance is over a bridge, (formerly a draw-bridge,) through an arched gateway, between two magnificent octagonal towers, which are 80 feet high. In the western tower is a winding staircase, beautifully turned, and lighted by quatrefoil windows. The other tower is divided into four stories, each forming an octagonal room, with arched ceilings, stone window frames, and stone fire places. The archway between the towers is supported by numerous piers, and over it is a large handsome room, having one window to the north, and two bay-windows to the south, the floor is paved with small blue bricks, and the walls are covered with very curious tapestry, which exhibits several figures of princes, ladies, and gentlemen, of the age of Henry VII., who is supposed to have lodged in this apartment when he visited Oxburgh. In the eastern tower is a canon's closet in the solid wall, called the hiding place, and approached by a secret passage through the floor. The great hall, which had an ancient roof in the style of that at Westminster Hall, and other rooms which formed the south side of the court, were taken down in 1775. The offices are now on the east side, and the dining parlour, drawing room, and library, on the west. Many of the apartments are spacious and elegant, and contain a few good paintings, by Van Dyke, Hebert, Salvator Rosa, and other old masters. The outer walls of the hall stand in the broad and deep moat, which is well supplied with water from the adjacent rivulet, which falls into the navigable Wey, about 1½ mile below the hall. Oxburgh was a place of note in the time of the Romans, and from some coins found in Blomfield's time he conjectured that it was the Iscaem, of Antoninus, by some supposed to be at Icknought. To the north-west of the village, on Warren Hill, are a very deep foss and vallum, and several tumuli, and near the rivulet are numerous hollows, still denominated Danes' Gravel. At the Domesday survey, the manor was held by Turketil, the Danish Earl of East Angles. In 1252, it was held by Ralph de Wyngam, who had a patent for a weekly market here on Tuesday and a fast day, on the vigil, day, and morrow of the Blessed Virgin, but the former has long been obsolete, and the latter is now held on Easter Sunday, for the sale of horses, cattle, toys, &c. Sir Edmund Bedingfield, Knt., obtained the manor by marrying the heiress of the Lymeham and De Weyland families, in the time of Henry V., and his descendants have retained it ever since. He was a firm adherent to the House of York; and Edward IV. allowed him to bear his own cognizance, the fetterlock. Sir Henry Bedingfield was made governor of the tower of London during the reign of the Catholic Queen Mary, and had the charge of her sister Elizabeth, who, on ascending the throne, dismissed him from court, saying "whenever she had a state prisoner who required to be hard handled and strictly kept, she would send for him." The Sir Henry Bedingfield, who died in 1655, was confined nearly two years in the tower, and his estates sequestered, for his adherence to the cause

11; but they were restored to his successor, who was created marquis, in 1660, immediately after the restoration of Charles II. PARISH CHURCH (St. John the Evangelist) is a large Gothic structure with five bells and a square tower, surmounted by a lofty octagonal spire, rising to the height of 156 feet. It is supposed to have been founded about the reign of Edward I. The large east window was formerly filled with stained glass. The roof is impanelled with carvings which are carved various figures and devices. In the south transept is a chapel, built in 1573, by the Bedingfields, several of whom were interred in it. The sculptured stone screen which separates this chapel from the aisle, is an early specimen of the revived Grecian, or Norman Gothic, as Mr. Forby calls it. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £8 6s. 8d., is consolidated with Foulden, in the patronage of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, and incumbency of Rev. Rd. Lucas. The Rev. Charles Parkin, the continuator of Blomefield's History of Norfolk, was presented to this rectory in 1717, and died about 1768. Sir H. P. Bedingfield is now (1835) erecting in the park a handsome Catholic chapel, in the Gothic style, of brick, stuccoed in imitation of stone, 76 feet long, 20 broad, and 21 high. The common was enclosed in 1723. The Parish Land, left by Thomas Hewer, for relieving the poor, and repairing their church, consists of 117 acres, let on a long lease for £40 per annum. The poor have also £5. 10s. yearly, from land left by Thos. Yorker and Mary Hammond, in the 17th century. Directory:—Sir Henry Parsons Bedingfield, Bart.; Rev. John Gascoigne, Catholic priest, John Akers, joiner and shopkeeper, Michael Jarrod and Henry Trundle, blacksmiths; Rev. Rd. Lucas, rector; Thos. Roan, vict., Bedingfield Arms; Thos. Mollyneux Seel, Esq.; Jas. Tingay, grocer and draper; and Robt. Harrod, J. Johnson, George Rumbell and Jas. Thorpe, farmers. A postman to and from Stoke daily.

PICKENHAM (NORTH) is a parish and village, in the vale of a rivulet, 3 miles S. E. of Swaffham. It has 245 inhabitants, and about 1600 acres of land, mostly the property of W. L. W. Chute, Esq., the lord of the manor. The CHURCH (St. Andrew) has a square tower and four bells, and anciently had a chapel and hermitage dedicated to St. Paul. The rectory, with Houghton-on-the-Hill annexed, is valued in K. B. at £5. 4s. 2d. The Rev. Henry Say, of Swaffham, is incumbent. The glebe is about 110a. At the enclosure in 1805, 10a were allotted to the poor. Directory:—Robt. Boughen, Thos. Dutchman, and Jane Rix, farmers; Thos. Gill, vict., Blue Lion; Thos. Neave, beer seller; Croft Leech, carpenter; Hunting Cousins, wheelwright and blacksmith.

PICKENHAM (SOUTH) is a parish and neat village, 4 miles S S E of Swaffham, containing 195 inhabitants, and about 1700 acres, of which 200a. form a rabbit warren on the heath. Wm. Lloyd Wiggett Chute, Esq., is owner of the soil, and lord of the manor, and resides at the HALL, an ancient mansion, recently repaired and modernised. The CHURCH (All Saints) is a small ancient edifice with a tower, round at the base, and octangular at the top. On Nov. 10th, 1604, the whole thatched roof fell down during a storm, and a new one covered with lead was afterwards raised. On the north side of the nave are the ruins of a chapel, in which Sir Henry Hobart, 1st lord chief justice of the Common Pleas, was interred in 1639.

rectory, valued in K. B. at £8 1s 5½d., is in the gift of Mr. Chute, and incumbency of the Rev. George Montagu, of Swaffham. The poor have a house and 2 acres left by an unknown donor. Samuel Dixon and George Thurston are the farmers, and Jas. Richardson the blacksmith.

SOT THAÛRE a small village above the vale of the Nar, opposite Castleacre, 4 miles N. of Swaffham, has in its parish 96 inhabitants and about 2,200 acres of land, belonging to Andrew Fountaine Esq., the lord of the manor, and patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £10 18s. 1½d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Martin Hogg, with about 200 of glebe. The Church (St. George) has a long nave, with aisles, chancel, and a low tower with three bells. In a chapel adjoining the north wall is the tomb and effigy of a Knight Templar, supposed to represent Sir Euseb Harsicke, who died in 1292, and at the east end is another altar-tomb, with effigies of Sir Edw. Barkham and his lady. On the pavement is a fine brass, with portraits of a male and female of the Harsicke family. The wooden screen is ornamented with Doric pilars. Within an arch on the south side of the chancel, has the figure of a man carved in oak, but without any date or inscription, and the fragments of several statues remain in various parts of the church. In the parish was a House of Lepers with a chapel dedicated to St. Bartholomew, and the site is still called Bartholomew's. Directory.—Rev. M. Hogg, rector, and Philip Brown and Walter Parker, curates.

SPOKLEY WITH PALGRAVE, the former a long village is detached houses, and the latter a hamlet of two farms and two cottages, are about 1½ mile from each other and 2½ miles N. E. by N. of Swaffham. They form one parish, containing 276 inhabitants and about 1500 acres of land, a great part of which is the property of George Flower, the lord of the manor; but his estate is now (1835) advertised for sale. There was a Priory of Spokeley under the name of Edward I., as a cell to the monastery of St. Florent in Angers, but it was dissolved with other such priories in 1420 and afterwards granted to Eton College, with which the rectory is appropriated. The rectory and the advowson of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £12 1s 6d. and now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Roberts. The foundations of the priory may still be traced by removing the grass. The Church (Virgin Mary) is a lofty and spacious building with a tower at the west end containing three bells. It is neatly painted, and has a fine Gothic font with an highly ornamented cover. St. Matthew Holmworthy, at some date unknown, left £1000 to purchase land, the rents to be paid to the vicar for preaching a sermon here every Sunday morning except the winter quarter. His land was let in 1760 for £100 a year. The same donor also left 1000 of land for schooling 8 poor children. At the enclosure, 921 were allotted to the poor for fuel, and now let for £62 a year.

Had Sam. Tanner and Sackpitt
Hudson Green, vict. Hare & Hud.
King John, vict. Chequers
Moore Robert, schoolmaster
Moore Wm., farm steward
Osborn Robt. blacksmith
Purke George, blacksmith
R. L. Rev. Wm. vicar

Walker Daniel, corn miller
Wingfield Richard, shopkeeper
FARMERS—are by name
Bowles John • Pearson Wm.
Palgrave • Powley Bart.
• Farrar Edmund • Tann Wm.
Girling Thomas • Wells Thomas
Hall Martin • Palgrave

SWAFFHAM is one of the handsomest and busiest market towns in the county, and the principal place of election of knights of the shire for the Western Division of Norfolk. It is situated 15 miles E.S.E. of Lynn, 27 miles W. of Norwich, and 93 miles N.N.E. of London, and holds a pleasant and highly salubrious situation on the crown of a lofty eminence, whose gradually swelling acclivities, for a circuit of nearly two miles, are occupied by fertile and well-wooded enclosures, but encompassed by an extensive tract of open heath, (more than 1,000 acres,) in this and the surrounding parishes. It is considered by the faculty as peculiarly salubrious, and in proof of this opinion, some instances of great longevity have been adduced, among which, it is said, the united ages of four persons, who died here in 1798, amounted to 355 years; and those of eleven, who died in 1799, amounted to 890 years, to which we may add Mrs Cross, who died here in 1816, aged 100 years. It has been styled the Montpelier of England, but for asthmatic and consumptive patients, the air has often been found too keen and penetrating. The Town has many large and handsome houses, and a noble church, shaded by a fine avenue of lime trees, the streets are open and well-built, branching in various directions from a spacious Market place, lined with good shops, inns, &c., and having in its centre an elegant Market cross, erected by the Earl of Orford in 1763, and consisting of a peristyle of circular columns, supporting a dome covered with lead, and terminated by a statue of Ceres. On the west side of the Market hall, is the Town Hall and Assembly Room, a plain brick building, erected in 1817, and having behind it a small butchery.—The MARKET, held every Saturday is now toll-free, and one of the best in the county for the sale of corn, cattle, &c.; but the butter mart, formerly very extensive, has greatly declined. Three large Fairs, for cattle, sheep, &c. are held yearly, on May 12th, July 21st, and Nov 3rd. Horse races were formerly held yearly upon the broad heath on the north-west side of the town, in September; continuing for three days, and numerous frequented by nobility and gentry. These races have been nearly obsolete during the last ten years, but efforts are now making to revive them, in their original spirit, together with the great coursing matches, for greyhounds, which were established in 1781, and usually took place in November and March, continuing for a week in each month. The heath is much admired by the gentlemen of the turf, the race ground being equal, if not superior, after Newmarket, to most others in England. The course is about three miles, forming half a circle; and in the centre of it, twelve acres have been cleared and leveled for a cricket-ground. In 1797, a grand cricket match for 500 guineas was played here, between "Norfolk and All England," and after a long contest, it was decided in favour of the latter; but since then, Norfolk has risen to the highest fame in the annals of this noble game and manly exercise.

Swaffham parish has increased its population, since 1801, from 2220 to 3285 souls, and comprises about 10,000 acres of land, about half of which is open heath, and the rest well enclosed and cultivated. All the population and buildings are in the town and its immediate suburbs, except a few scattered farm-houses, the most distant of which are Great and Little Thornes, nearly 2 miles W., adjoining the health. On Nov 13th 1778, he was much injured by a dreadful storm, which consumed 21 houses. But it has since been so completely repaired, as modern buildings. That it is now considered the most healthy town in the county. The principal persons belonging to a number of corporations are: Messrs. the Mayor of whom is Anthony Hume Esq; the Aldermen Mr. John Swannick Maundy who comprises more than nine-tenths of the parish, and was recently elected as the Father of the Town, and at least present here. Being ancient towns like N. and S. P. &c. Northall Paragon Farm, Great Crossington &c. the inhabitants are exempted from serving in arms except in the common militia, free from the payment of tax, and liable to contribute to the expenses of knights of Parliament. About 600 soldiers and gentlemen's children may ex. for whom they may be put on guard at the barracks. From a verdict of the mayor court in 1720 it appears "that the freeholders hold of the manor by socage, fealty, and freerent, and pay for free rent £1. 10 s. 6 d. for every acre of crown land, 3d., and every messuage, 5d.; that the copyholders pay one twelfth of their estates for 21 years without licence of the lord paying no advantage 2d per acre. Sir Edward Coke claimed this manor of Charles I. and from him it passed to the Barons and the Yorkshire line of the latter took the name of Spelman, of Westcote High House now the seat of the present Lord of the manor, for which Mr. Robert Wharfedale, of Lynda is steward. The fines are all certain as stated above, except on the Market hill, where arbitrary fines are levied. The custom of the manor is to the extent of an annual tithing give unlimited common right on the heath, where the poor are allowed to cut large ling &c. Some of the enclosed lands are a great loss to the depasturing of the town herds, from Michaelmas till May day, but this inconvenience claim is somewhat checked by the simple removals which are generally made on the estates of those who exercise it. The other manor, called Askeat's and Whitwanda is of small extent comprising only about 100 acres of enclosed land, called the Town Estate with common right over all the heath, and two town houses, one for the relief of the poor and the other the clerk's residence. This manor belonged to a monastic house, or some religious foundation, but was granted in 1519, by Edward VI. in consideration of the payment of £126s. 2s. 6d. to the churchwardens and twelve trustees in town government in trust for the reparation of the church, roads and wells, the relief of the poor and other parochial uses. The land is now let for £110 a year and besides it, the parish has a large green cross adjoining the churchyard, and begotten in 1471 by the Rev. John Hotewright, D.D., as a place of exercise for the inhabitants from which it is called the Exercise Ground and had formerly built for the practice of archery. The heathage is let for about £1 a year. Standing on the crown of a lofty grassy hill Swaffham has been at considerable expense in providing a sufficient supply of water, which is now obtained by a number of two-handled draw-wells, varying from 52 to 82 yards in depth, and as water cannot be obtained near the surface, there is not a hand-pump in the town, but many private reservoirs, and a few large public ponds are formed for catching the rain-water, one of the latter is at the east end of the Market-place. The town had a weekly market the reign of King John; and Henry III. granted it two fairs.

CHURCH, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, is a large and fine pile of freestone, brick, and flint, commenced about the reign of Edward IV., but not finished till 1510. It is in the form of a cross, having a chancel, nave, aisles, transepts, and a lofty well-towered tower, terminated by enriched embrasures and purlied gables, and containing eight musical bells and a good clock. The tower is very lofty, having 26 clerestory windows; and its inner roof is ornamented with a profusion of carved wood figures of angels, &c. supported by slender clustered pillars, from which spring 14 point-arches, seven on each side. Here are many handsome monuments, and the windows are some remains of beautiful stained glass, supposed to represent the benefactors who contributed towards rebuilding the church. The north aisle and the tower are said by tradition to have been built by John Chapman, a tinker of this town, who said that if he went to London bridge, he would hear news greatly to his advantage, and having gone thither, he was, after walking for some hours, accosted by a man who asked him what he was, to which he replied, that he had come there on the vain errand of a dream; and the man answered, "Alas good friend! if I had dreamed dreams, I might have proved myself as very a fool as thou art; for 'tis not long since I dreamt that at a place called Swaffham in Norfolk, dwells one John Chapman, a pedler, who hath a large pot at the back of his house, under which is buried a pot of money." On hearing this, the tinker hastened home, dug under the ground and found a large brass pot, full of money, and inscribed "Under this lie, another much richer than I;" but being in Latin, it was some time before the tinker discovered the meaning, after which he dug deeper, and found a much larger pot filled with old coin. The inhabitants, soon afterwards, determined to re-edify the church, and were said to have been agreeably surprised by the tinker's offer to contribute to the expense of rebuilding the north aisle and the tower. A wealthy parishioner, called John Chapman, was churchwarden in 1462, and founded the north aisle, is evident from an antiquary register called the "Black Book;" but the traditional story of him and of his having been a pedler or tinker, has undoubtedly been fabricated by the vulgar, from the rebusses on his name, carved in a seat in the north aisle, representing a pedler or chapman, with a pack, and his wife looking over the door of a shop; but this and other carved seats were removed many years ago, when the north and aisles were repewed. The carved fragments of these altars and seats now form a patched piece of work in the chapel of the north transept, commonly called the tinker's seat, and still containing small figures of a pedler, with his pack, his wife, and his dog, the latter being muzzled, and having a chain running across his back, is more probably intended for a bear. Among the monuments is an altar-tomb, with the effigy of John Botewright, D.D., who was master of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, chaplain to Henry VIII. and vicar of this church, when it was rebuilt. His office, faith, and virtues are shewn by rebusses on four shields,—an hieroglyphical mode of expression, which was practiced among the Greeks and Romans, and is mentioned in the time of Homer. In the vestry are preserved some ancient armour and a library of books, chiefly presented by the Spelmans, of Narborough. Seven Guilds, or fraternities for religious, convivial, and benevolent purposes, had formerly altars in this church, dedicated to the Ascension, St. Nicholas, St. Peter St. Helen, St. John the-Baptist, St. Thomas-a-Becket, and the Holy Trinity; but very little is known of them except their names, though each had probably a hall or meeting house in the town. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £14 8s. 10d., is in the patronage of the Bishop of Norwich, and has been enjoyed since 1779, by the Rev. Wm. Younge, A.M., Chancellor of the diocese. The tithes of hay, clover, turnips, lamb, wool, and all other small ecclesiastical dues, belong to the vicar, who has also £10, ten coombs of wheat, ten coombs of meslin, five coombs of rye, and five of barley, yearly, from the impropriators, or their tenants. The fine avenue of lime trees in the churchyard, (18 on each side,) were planted nearly 130 years ago, by Wm. Fortin. About half a mile west of the town, near the Lynn road, is a place anciently called Guthlac's Stow, from a chapel which stood there, dedicated to St. Guthlac, but now commonly called Goodluck's closes. At Thornes, about a mile farther to the west, upon a high hill, stood a small priory cell, belonging to the monks of Sawtry, being a resting place for pilgrims in their progress from Canterbury to Walsingham priory. The Baptists have a chapel in Whitecross lane, built in 1623, at the cost of £521, and now under the ministry of the Rev John Hewitt; and the Wesleyans have one in London street, erected in 1811. There is also in the town a meeting-room, occupied by Primitive Methodists.

The FREE SCHOOL in the green cross, called the Camping-ground, is a large house, built at the cost of £500, left by Nicholas Hamond Esq., who also (in 1724) bequeathed the interest of £500, for the education of twenty poor boys, besides whom, the master (J. G. Hamond) is allowed to take other day scholars and boarders. Here are two Evening Schools supported by subscription for poor children; one for boys, at the Town-Hall, and the other for girls, in the Churchyard. The latter was formerly kept in the clerk's house, but is now in an adjoining building, erected at the cost of John Bost, a former clerk. The WORKHOUSE is a large ancient house, adjoining the tithe-barn, and hired at the yearly rent of £25, of Miss Hamond the lessee of the rectorial tithes. The average number of inmates is about 40, maintained at the cost of 2s. 6d. per head per week. Mr Wm. Carstairs Nokes is the master, and assistant overseer. In 1831, an allotment of 48a. was enclosed from the heath, and the paupers now cultivate it by spade husbandry. The poor-rates for the year ending Lady-day 1836, amounted to £2771 15s. 3½d., of which £85 was paid to the county rate. Here are nine cottages, called almshouses, occupied rent-free by poor families, being bequeathed for that purpose by Thos. Theoderick, in 1723. Several BENEFACTIONS to the poor produced the following yearly sums in 1786, viz. £2 from a house left by Susanna Beddingfield, in 1671,—20s. from land left by Helen Johnson, in 1675,—£27 11s. from houses left by Susan Beddingfield, in 1686,—4s. from money and rent-charges bequeathed by Mary Machin, Mr. Wentland, Rose Case, and Edward Bayfield;—27s. from a house left by Nicholas Hamond, in 1721,—15s. from land left by an unknown donor; and 30s. from house purchased with £10, left by Wm. Rodwell, in 1770. These herities are vested in trust with the vicar, churchwardens, and overseers. (For Town-estate and Camping-ground, see p. 670.) Adjourned Quarter Sessions are held here generally in July; and Petty Sessions are held every Saturday at the office of Mr. Robert Sewell, the magistrates' clerk. The House of Correction, a substantial brick building, with a handsome house for the governor, fronting London street, and enclosed behind a lofty wall, was erected about 1787, on the site of the old bridewell, built in 1599, for the Hundreds of South Greenhoe, Wayland, Grimshee, Shropham, Guiltcross, Clackclose, Freebridge-Lynn, and Marshland. It has a large tread-wheel, which works a corn mill, but might be more usefully employed in pumping water for the use of the town, in which there are two banks and a large brewery; and in the suburbs are four wind mills, and many pleasant walks through the fields and lanes down to the heath, which abounds with rabbits, hares, and other game.

POST OFFICE at Wm. Pymar's, Market-place. The Mail, to Lynn, Birmingham, &c. at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 10 evening; and to Norwich, Yarmouth, &c. at 3 morning. The Mail Cart from Newmarket, at 7 morning, departs at 6 evng. A Post from Litcham at 5 evening; returns at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 7 evening.

In the following DIRECTORY OF SWAFFHAM, those marked 1, reside in Block street; 2, Castleacre street; 3, Church alley; 4, Church yard; 5, Cock yard; 6, Market place; 7, London street; 8, Lynn street; 9, Whitehart lane; 10, Dereham road; 11, Camping ground; and 12, Shambles.

Balders Mrs. 8. Market place
 Barker Mr. Thos. Castleacre st.
 7 Blomfield Mrs. gentlewoman
 7 Burnett Rev. Wm. (Wes.)
 Bone Mr. Barnard, Lynn street
 Bloye Fras. gent. Market place
 Caldwell Mrs. Louisa
 Chapman Mr. London street
 Copeland Misses, Lynn street
 Dalton Rev. Wm. Castleacre st.
 1 Dalton Thos. Fras. Esq., Day Henry, bank agent and county treasurer, Market place Donthorn Mr. John, London st.
 Dugmore Rev. Hy. rector of Pen-thorpe, Market place
 Dugmore John, Esq., Market place
 Falkner Capt. Jph. Rust cottage
 Fortin Mr. Wm. North pool ln.
 Fuller Miss S. S. London street
 Gould Thos. horse dr. Cock yd.
 Gosnold Mrs. F. White Hart ln.
 Greef Mr. Thos. Churchyard
 Hamond Miss Sarah, Block st.
 Hanbury Rev. Geo. Castleacre st.
 7 Harris Jas. skin buyer & furcutr.

Hartt Mrs. Block street
 7 Johnson Edward Amond, governor of House of Correction
 Kirbell Mrs. Ann, Market place
 Lockwood Mrs. Rich. Market pl.
 Marcon Mrs. Jane, Market place
 Main Mr. Robert, London street
 Montagu Rev. Geo. London st.
 Morse Mr. Arthur, London street
 Nokes William Christmas, governor of the Workhouse
 Plimsaul Charles, Block street
 Pyke Lieut. John, Churchyard
 Say Rev. Henry, Block street
 Sewell Mrs. M. A., Market place
 6 Skipper Robert, bank agent
 Smith Thos. glover, Castleacre st
 Stratton Mr. John, London st.
 Stratton Mrs. Eliz. London street
 Tolboys Rev. Thos. Lynn street
 Trundle Edm. gent. Castleacre st
 Wace Mr. Richard, Lynn street
 Walpole Rev. Thos. London st.
 Watson Rev. Thos. Castleacre st
 Wilson Rev. Geo. Market place
 4 Yonge Rev. Wm. A. M., vicar

Young Mr. Henry, Market place
BANKERS

6 Gurneys, Birkbeck & Cresswell, (draw on Barclay, Bevan and Co.) R. Skipper, agent

6 Norwich Joint Stock Company, Branch of (draw on Master-man & Co. Henry Day, agent

FIRE OFFICES

6 Atlas fire and United Kingdom life, W. P. Pillans

6 Crown Life, C. B. Rose

6 Equitable, William, Howorth
Norwich Union, Rt Sewell, Block street, & Daniel Saffery, Map

6 Royal Exchange, J. Lack and Son, Market place

Sun, W. S. Yarrington, London st
6 Suffolk Amicable, W. H. Kemble

INNS AND TAVERNS

Angel, Henry Rex, Market place
Crown Inn Thos W. W. or Mkp

1 George Inn, John Buxton

Greyhound, Michael Rust, Mkp

7 Horse and Groom, Eliza Pitcher

8 King's Arms, John Waters

6 Queen's Head, John Watson

6 Red Lion, Rebecca Barker

7 Spread Eagle, James Clark

6 White Hart Inn, John Jary

7 White Lion, William Johnson

2 White Swan, William Stopps.

Academies

4 Cooper Mfldn. 2 Hack Thos

7 Cross Susan 6 Keadell W. S.

11 Hacon J. G. 7 Larwood Jno.

free school 8 Reeve Thos.

7 Howell Rev J. 7 Smith Abdall

2 Nokes R. L. 12 Walcen Pir

6 Wells Wm. 8 Woolnough J.

Attorneys. 6 White T. & Son

4 Mason G. R. Basket Makers.

6 Pillans W. P. 7 Green Robt.

1 Sewell Robt. 2 Mann John

(magis clerk) 9 Webb Wm.

7 Taylor Brooke Beer Houses.

7 Yarrington W. 8 Barker Chs.

Anchorages 8 Howard Alice

2 Seppings Ed. 2 Milner John

5 Snashall R. W. 7 Overton Ju

6 Trandell Jas. 8 Sear Jno.

Bakers, &c. Blacksmiths.

6 Clements Ts. 8 Carman Nath

7 Chasd Chpr

1 Josh Isaac

9 Josh Thomas

7 Mays Thomas

Booksellers

6 Albin Thos

6 Kemble W. H.

Boot and Shoe

Makers.

8 Arnall W.

3 Clark Wm.

2 Clark Wm.

7 Cary Sandon

6 Ellis Sam.

8 Elias Sam.

11 Fulbey John

6 Marsh Edw.

11 Matthews G.

7 Petch Peoley

6 Philo John.

7 Phil James

6 Utting James.

(leather cutter)

Brewers.

9 Morse John.

(Excers of)

Bricklayers

6 Barker J. W.

7 Heyhoe J. J.

Brk & Tile Mks

10 Hardy John

6 Howarth W.

7 Raven James

Butchers

7 Bayne & Benj

2 Hall Saul

Nelson Wm

6 Randall Thos

7 Smith Richd

5 Vout Robert

8 Winter John

Cabinet Mks.

5 Dix Robert

7 Horn Enoch

2 Kiddle Geo

(& upl clstr)

5 White John

China, &c. Drc

7 Philo John

Clothes Broker.

6 Howard Wm

Coach Makers

9 Claxton Robt.

7 Savage Wm.

Confectioner.

6 Powley Benj

6 White T. & Son

Cooper

7 Brown Wm.

Corn and Coal

Merchants.

7 Alpe James

7 Jeffers C. & C.

6 Rix Wm.

Corn Makers.

7 Hardy Wm.

6 Keadell W. S.

2 Parrey Rd.

7 Smith Abdall

Carriers &c.

7 Goodrick Rt.

6 Greaves Thos

2 Tooley Jas.

Cutler

2 Elias Thomas

Druggists.

6 Finch Jacob

6 Smith Wm.

Farmers.

10 Bulling J. E.

1 Clark J. Jo.

8 Colman Thos

10 Caplan C.

Gold Thomas

Green J. Green

Thorne

Palmer Thos

Carl house

Peck James

7 Raven James

Spanton Benj

Little Thorne

7 Stratton John

Watts Meadow

Gardeners.

6 P. & C. H. T.

Kemble John

9 Vince Allen

7 Vince John

Grocers &c.

6 Alexander J.

6 Baker E. & W.

6 Dingle G. P.

2 Madison Geo.

Chalder

6 Stearn Chas. (Chalersh))
 1 Sword Wm.
Gun Mks., &c.
 6 Parson Wm.
 6 Sutton James Hatter.
 6 Hopkins W.
Henry
Iron Founders.
 8 Hutton and Cornish
Ironmongers.
 6 Lack Jn & Son
 6 Plowright Wm
Tomling
Joiners & Bldrs.
 5 Dewhurst Jas.
 7 Gainsbury Dl.
 Goggs Mathias,
Ash close
 4 Phils George
 7 Risers Geo.
 7 Rust Rd. Jnson
 8 Sands Wm.
Linen & Walln.
Drapers.
 6 Alexander Jas.
 6 Baker Edw &
Wm
 7 Bewick Wm.
 6 Hawes Chas.
 6 Dingle Geo. P.
 2 Ingram Jph.
(hosier)
 6 Robins Wm.
Maltsters.
 7 Jeffery & Rust
 9 Morse John,
(Exors. of)
Milliners, &c.
 7 Church Maria
 8 Elleray Ann
 2 Nurse Ann
 6 Reynolds Elz.
*Painters—are
Plumbers, &c.
 7 Goose Maurice

7 *Hardy Isaac
 6* Mendham Js.
 6 Smith Wm.
Perfumers and
Hair Dressers.
 6 Davey Wm.
 6 Harvey James,
 2 Rix Henry
Saddlers, &c.
 6 Lack Jn & Son
 6 Lassecock Mary
 6 Trundle James
Shopkeepers.
 5 Clark Edward
 8 Codling Phoebe
 7 Dye Valentine
 7 Woolnough Js.
Stone Mason, &c
 7 Roberts Thos.
Straw Hat Mks
 7 Goodrick Elz.
 6 Utting M A.
Surgeons
 6 Fayerman R S.
 7 Ferraly Chas
 6 Rose Caleb B.
 6 Smith Wm.
 7 Whitby Geo.
Tailors. *are Drapers
 6 Allen Daniel
 11 Avis Angela
 7 J. kes Lazarus
 3* Jarvis Hmn.
 6 *J. hnsen Jas
 6* Pearson John
 6* Powley Benj
 7 Powley Robert
 1 Sutton Edward
1st. Surgeons
 7 Chld John
 1 Perry Wm.
Watchmakers.
 6 Carr John E.
 6 Pratt Matthew
 6 Whamore C. D
 6 Young Wm. H.

Whetwright.
 7 Savage Wm
Whitesmiths.
(See Trunkers)

Wine and Spt
Merchants
 6 Hsworth Wm
 6 Jeffery & Rust
 9 Morse James

COACHES.

The Union, from the Crown Inn, to Norwich at 5 evng; and to Lynn and Newark, at 9 mng daily except Sunday.

A Coach from the White Hart Inn, to London, Tues. Thurs and Sat 8 mng, and to Fakenham, Mon. Wed. & Fri. at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 6 evg.

A Coach from the George Inn, to Norwich, at 10 mng., and to Lynn, at 7 evng daily, except Sunday. The Mail to Lynn, Birmingham, &c., at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 10 evg. and to Norwich, Yarmouth, &c. at 3 morning.

CARRIERS.

To Brandon, London, Burnham, &c (Greyhound) Green and Archer, Mon. & Thurs 7 mng.

Brandon (Angel) William Malt, Saturday 3 aft.

Lynn, Wm Goode, from London st. Tue. & Sat. 5 morning.

Marham, (White Hart,) Wm Thorp, Sat. one

Narborough, (Queen's Head,) Elz. Leggett, Tue. Thu and Sat. 1 aft.

Norwich, &c, Jno Allen, Mkt. pl. every Tues. & Fri. at 9 mng; and Isaac Carter, from the King's Arms, Tuesday, 1 aft.

Pentney, (Horse & Groom,) Rt. Melton, Sat. 3 aft

Saham Tony, (Red Lion,) Mr. Hubbard, Mon & Thu 6 evg

Stoke, (Red Lion,) Edward Spink, Sat. 4 aft.

Wells, (Greyhound,) Green & Archer, Tues. and Fri. 7 mng

Wisbeck & Downham, (King's Arms,) Isaac Carter, 1 to 7 evg

CLACKCLOSE HUNDRED,

The largest division of Norfolk, lies at the south-west extremity of the county, and was formerly called a Hundred and a Half. It is about 17 miles in length, from north to south, and varies from 10 to 15 miles in breadth, being bounded on the north by Freebridge-Lynn, on the east by South Greenhoe and Grimshoe, on the south by Cambridgeshire, and on the west by the latter and Freebridge-Marshland. It is watered by several navigable streams, the Great Ouse bounding and intersecting it from south to north, the Wissey crossing it from east to west; the Nar bounding it on the north; and the Welney or Croft river separating it from the Isle of Ely. It abounds in wood, seats, and large villages, and the upland parts are bold, fertile, and picturesque; but a large portion of it is in low and monotonous fens and marshes, now well drained and cultivated, and forming part of the great BEDFORD LEVY, which extends into the counties of Northampton, Cambridge, Huntingdon, and Bedford, nearly to the source of the Great Ouse, and was so called in honour of the fourth Earl of Bedford, who was the principal undertaker in the stupendous work of draining this immense tract of inundated fens; for the performance of which, 95,000 acres were allotted to him, and the few others who were induced by his spirited example to join in the costly and hazardous enterprise. The work commenced in 1630; and in 1637, the Earl had expended on it no less than £100,000. He died in 1641, before the work was completed; but it was resumed by his son, in 1649, and finished in 1653. The great outfall of the drain-water is by two deep and navigable drains, called the Old and New Bedford rivers, both terminating in the Ouse, near Denver sluice. The new river is 100 feet broad, and the tide flows up it as far as St. Ives. This great drainage, and that of the adjacent Marshland, have since undergone many considerable improvements, one of which is that new channel of the Ouse, called the Eau-Brink Cut. (See page 400 and 468.) In the reign of Edward I., the abbot of Ely had a baronial jurisdiction in Clackclose, with the taking out and return of all writs, &c; view of frankpledge, forfeitures of felons' goods, and a prison and gallows at Wimbotsham. The hundred court was held on Clackclose hill, near Stradsett, in the time of Henry III. The "half hundred" comprised all the Norfolk parts of the parishes of Upwell, Outwell, and Welney, which are partly in Cambridgeshire; and being separated from the hundred, were granted by Edward VI. to John Dudley, Duke of Northumberland, who conveyed them to Edmund Beaupre, Esq., of Outwell, from whom they passed by female issue to the families of Bell and Townley—(vide Beaupre Hall, in Outwell.) They are held of the King in socage, as part of the manor of East Greenwich. The other manors belong to various lords; and the whole of Clackclose is now one hundred, as determined by Judge Atkins, in the 9th of William and Mary, and forms the Deanery of Fincham, in the Archdeaconry of Norwich. Petty Sessions are held every Monday at Downham; and Mr. F. Bell is clerk to the magistrates. The Clackclose Association for the Prosecution of Felons, holds its general meetings at the Swan Inn, Downham; and Mr. J. L. Milnes, of Fordham, is the secretary. The following is an enumeration of the 33 parishes in this hundred, with their population in 1831, the annual value of the tithes in 1835, as assessed for the property tax in 1845, and their territorial extent.

CLACKCLOSE HUNDRED.

67

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Barton-Bendish ...	459	£3821	3,795	Shouldham ...	773	£3439	3,3
Beachamwell ...	353	2,475	4,100	Shouldham-Thorp	770	1,775	1,7
Boxwell ...	53	1,355	1,400	Stoke Ferry ...	770	2,35	3,0
Boughton ...	271	1,801	1,400	Stoke Ferry ...	770	3,1	1,3
Crimplisham ...	330	2,550	1,500	Stow Bardolph ...	770	3,200	6,0
Denver ...	854	4,471	1,850	Stradsett ...	770	1,200	1,3
Downham (West)	400	1,904	2,000	Tottenhill ...	770	1,10	14
Downham Market	2,100	5,234	2,500	Uppell (part of)*	2,123	13,500	2,5
Flackham ...	750	2,054	2,000	Washington (com-)	6	1,791	1
Forham ...	120	1,300	2,000	Thorpstead ...	6	1,791	1
Hilgry ...	1,175	6,413	2,500	Washington part of	950	1,700	2,1
Holme & Roughton	250	1,450	1,000	Welby (part of)*	47	2,500	2,
Marham ...	750	2,800	4,000	Weyham ...	573	2,807	2,7
Outwell (part of)*	600	3,324	1,300	Wimbotsham ...	478	1,900	1,7
Roxham ...	41	445	700	Woolingay ...	373	2,600	2,9
Roughton (South) ...	123	1	800	Wroton ...	473	1,300	1,3
Ryton ...	80	644	1,100
Swingham ...	61	325	1,000	Total--	117,400	97,000	10,000

* Outwell, Uppell, and Welby parishes are partly in the Isle of Ely, Cambridgeshire, but the Norfolk parts support their poor separately. The churches of the two former are in Norfolk, and the latter in Cambridgeshire.

† The annual value of South Roughton is included with Holme.

BARTON-BENDISH is a village of detached houses, 4 miles N. of Stoke Ferry, and 8 from Downham and Swadham, comprising in its parish the hamlet and enclosed fens of EASTMERE, distant only 2 miles N.N.E. of Stoke Ferry, near the great fens and rampart, now called the Derelict ditch, and extending along the boundary of the hundred, northward to Northborough. (See p. 664.) The parish has 459 inhabitants, and 3790 acres of land; of which Sir Hanson Berkeley, of Kirby-Bedon, is principal owner, and lord of the manor.—Barton had formerly three churches; but that dedicated to All Saints was dilapidated many years ago, and the ruins are cleared away, though the burial ground is still used by some of the parishioners. The benefice is consolidated with St. Mary's, a small edifice, with a thatched chancel and tiled nave, but no tower, the latter having fallen down in the reign of Queen Anne, and the material used in repairing the body of the church, which was nearly destroyed by this accident. The benefice is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £11. Sir H. Berkeley is the patron, and the Rev. George Day, incumbent. St. Andrew's church is a larger thatched fabric, with a square tower and three bells. The chancel is paved with emblazoned tiles; and the east window has been ornamented with painted glass, of which some small fragments still remain. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £14, is in the gift of the King, and incumbency of the Rev. Robert Blair, D.D., of London. The Rev. G. T. Langton is curate of both churches. The common and fen lands were enclosed in 1777.

the tithes were commuted for an allotment of 335a. to St. Andrew's, and 330 to St. Mary's. The poor also received an allotment of 40a., and they have 5a. of old poor's land, and three cottages. In 1783, Rd. Jones left the dividends of £200, three and a half per cent. stock, for teaching seven poor children; and 23 others are educated at the charge of the rectors. EASTMORE hamlet had anciently a chapel, dedicated to St John the Baptist, but it was converted into a farm-house at the Reformation. In the following Directory, those marked * are at Eastmore, and the rest at Barton-Bendish.

*Barton Mr. Wm. Nelson	Wilkin Wm. vict	Spread Eagle
Bond Wm. carpenter	FARMERS.
Fickling Ann, schoolmistress	*Blomfield Jas.	Filly John
Hall Mrs., beerhouse	Blomfield Wm	Hall Jno (yeo.)
Langton Rev Geo. Thos. curate	*Boughen Jno	Harp Lwrna.
Wilkin Hannah, shopkeeper	Clark John	Raven Money.
Wilkin Samuel, blacksmith	Crome James	& cattle dr)

BEACHAMWELL is a village, with several neat cottages, five miles W S. W. of Saffham, having in its parish 263 inhabitants, and 4100 acres of land, of which 2,000 form a heathy rabbit warren, adjoining the Saxon foss and rampart, extending from Eastmore to Narborough. (See p. 663.) John Motteux, Esq. is owner of the soil, and lord of the manor, and resides occasionally at the Hall, a small mansion near the village. Here are two CHURCHES, but that dedicated to All Saints is in ruins; and the rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., is consolidated with Shingham, in the gift of the King, and incumbency of the Rev. Charles Campbell. Here was likewise a church dedicated to St. John, but it was taken down many years ago, and its benefice consolidated with St. Mary's, a small but neat structure, at the east end of the village, covered with thatch, and having a tower, round at the base, and octangular above. In the upper south window, are the figures of St. Augustine and St. Dunstan, painted on the glass. A south aisle was added in 1832, and the whole was repewed in 1835, when J. Motteux, Esq. the patron, presented the communion table, of polished oak, bound with a fillet of brass, and resting on an ornamental wrought iron frame.—The rectory of St. Mary and St. John comprises two-thirds of the parish, is valued in K. B. at £9. 13s. 4d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Thos. Walpole. The free school was erected by J. Motteux, Esq., in 1833. His steward is Mr. Stephen King; Wm Smith is the blacksmith, and the farmers are John Chambers & John Fuller.

BENWELL parish, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile E. of Downham, has only 53 inhabitants, three houses, six cottages, and 1098 acres of land, all the property of Robert Fellowes, Esq., except about 40a. of glebe, and 6a. of poor's land. The CHURCH (St. Mary) is a small edifice, chiefly of carr-stone, with a tower half round and half triangular, and one bell. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 11s. 8d., is in the gift of the Bishop of Ely, and incumbency of the Rev. E. J. Horman.—Directory.—Rev. Charles Percy Wyatt, curate; and Alfred and Charles Musckett, farmers.

BOUGHTON, a small scattered village, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile N. of of Stod Ferry, and 6 miles E. by S. of Downham, has in its parish 221 inhabitants, about 1400 acres of land, of which 200a. belong to Mr.

Robert Roper, and the rest to Dr. Rewes, who obtained the manor by marrying the heiress of the Woodwards. The CHURCH (All Saints) has a square tower and three bells, and contains some ancient carved stalls. The chancel was rebuilt about 30 years ago. The communion plate was presented by Thomas Bagge, Esq., in 1737. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £10, is in the gift of Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, and incumbency of the Rev. Geo. Hunt. The glebe is 29A. 39P. At the enclosure, land was allotted to the poor for fuel.—Directory:—Rev. John Burrowes, curate; Robt. Roper, gent.; Wm. and Simon Steward, farmers; Samuel Smith, vict., Bell; Christmas Fyson, millwright and beer seller.

CRIMPLESHAM, a dispersed village, 2½ miles E. of Downham, has in it parish 320 inhabitants, and 1569A. 3R. 1P. of land, mostly the property of Colonel Say, of Downham, and Wm. Bagge, Esq., of Stradsett. The latter is lord of the manor, but the Bishop of Ely is impropiator and patron of the CHURCH, (Virgin Mary,) which has a square tower and five large bells. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £8, is now enjoyed by the Rev. H. Spencer. At the enclosure, in 1806, 12 acres were allotted to the poor, and are now let for £23, given in coals.—Directory:—Mrs. Eliz. Doyell, Crimplesham Hall; John Chandler and George Negus, farmers; John Duffield, vict., Nag's Head; Henry Roberts, vict., Red Hart; and Wm. Draper, blacksmith.

DENVER is a small village, 1½ mile S. of Downham, including in its parish 850 inhabitants, 2850 acres of land, and the hamlets of DENVER SLUICE and SALTERS LODGE, distant about 1 mile W. of Denver, on the river Ouse; the former at the mouth of the New Bedford river, or 100 feet drain, and the latter at the confluence of the Old Bedford river, all navigable for small craft, and having sluice-gates and locks. Denver Sluice is crossed by a bridge of five arches, and was built at a vast expense when the Bedford level was drained, but was destroyed by the violence of the tides, in 1713, and soon afterwards rebuilt. In 1834 and '5, it was again partly rebuilt and widened, at the cost of £30,000. At Salters Lode, are two sluices or locks, one opening into the Well Creek, and the other into the Old Bedford river, the former rebuilt in 1827, and the latter in 1828. The parish is in two manors, called East and West Hall, of which Edward Roger Pratt, Esq., is lord; but J. T. Dering, Esq., and Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, have large estates here, and the latter has the patronage of the CHURCH, (St. Mary,) a small stuccoed building with a tower, a small spire, and five bells. It is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £10. 13s. 4d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. S. C. Smith. In the chancel, a black marble stone covers the remains, and records the worth of Dr. Robert Brady, a native of this parish, and physician in ordinary to Charles II. and James II., and master of Gonville and Caius College, to which he bequeathed all his estate in Denver. He wrote several excellent works, one of which was "A complete History of England, from the first entrance of the Romans, to the end of Richard II." He died in 1700. The church land is 6A., let for £9. 11s. 6d. Here is also 50A. of land, let for £47, and awarded at the enclosure for the relief of the poor and reparation of the church. Land left by Alexander Dillingham, for the poor, is let for £2, and they have also £5 from 1A. 3R., left by an unknown donor, and the interest of £1, left by a Mrs. Stafford.

Marked 1, are at Denver Sluice; 2, at Salters Lode; and the rest at Denver.

Ambrose Wm blacksmith and ironmonger

Beeten Philip, millwright

Beeten Wm, gent.

2 Bowker Jas, collector of dues for Weil Creek, and Old Bedford rivers

Dering J Thurlow, Esq. Crow hall

Hoved Thomas, beer house

Hasson Mr John

Lock John, cooper, grocer, &c.

Mann Rev Chas. n. of Ryston

Parker James, pork butcher

2 Pinnack John, sluice keeper

2 Pitts Wm, beer house

Porter John, corn miller

Rayner John, shoemaker

Smith Mrs Mary

Smith Rev Saml Coleby, rector

1 Stevens Geo, sluice keeper

Tingey Jas, grocer, draper, &c

Wilson Captain Joseph

PUBLIC HOUSES

Bell, Matthew Hoare

Carpenters' Arms, Geo. Clements

1 Crown, John Oakes

1 Ship, Sarah Bobby

2 Three Tuns James King

FARMERS — * are yeomen.

Brown Thomas | 1* Hopkin W

*Curson Edw | *Ozett Sweet

1* Hall J hn | Palmer Beny

1 Freeman Wm | Woods Geo

1 Gaible Geo. | high constbl.

Fast Post to Downham twice every day

Cover to Lynn, Geo. Clements, Tu and Sat

DEREHAM (WEST) parish has a scattered village 4 miles S. E. by E. of Downham, and contains 200 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, mostly the property of Mr Kett, a Baronet and William Bagge Esq. The church is one of the most ancient, which was consecrated (it is supposed) by Abbot, standing about a mile south of the village, surrounded with wall and water and founded in 1188, by a native of this parish.—Hubert Walter, Dean of York, and successively Bishop of Salisbury, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Lord Chancellor, in the reign of Richard I. This abbey was dedicated to God and the Virgin Mary for monks of the Premonstratensian order. Its annual revenues were valued at the dissolution, at £252 12s. 11½d. and the site granted to the ancient family of Dereham. The old gate house or entrance tower is still standing. It is a lofty square embattled pile of brick, having at each corner an octagonal tower, garrisoned with freestone, and over the arch is a shield bearing three bucks' heads cabossed, the lower one pierced with a crosser staff. On each side of this elegant gateway, Sir Thomas Dereham, Favour to the Duke of Tuscany, in 1697, erected a wing, with a cluster on the south, which contained many stately apartments, fitted up in the Italian style. It was afterwards the seat of the Earls of Mordaunt, but has been long unoccupied. The Church (St Andrew) is an ancient fabric, with a short round tower, surmounted by an octagonal turret. It has several handsome monuments to the Dereham family, and one beautifully designed in marble and alabaster, has a fine statue of Colonel Edmund Soames, of Dereham Grange, who died in 1746. The living is a curacy, certified at £17 11s. 4d., but augmented from 1762 to 1817, with £700 of Royal bounty, besides a yearly rent-charge of £18, given by the Bishop of Ely and S. Jernys, Esq., in 1756, and another annuity of £15, given by the former, in 1817. The Bishop of Ely is appropriator of the tithes, which are leased to

Geo. L. Jenyns, Esq., the patron of the curacy, now enjoyed by the Rev. Leonard Jenyns. The poor have about £50 a-year from land at Upwell, purchased with £500, left by Gregory Lovel, in 1692; and £3 from land purchased with £40 bequeathed by Wm. and Jas. Millsop, in 1686.—Directory:—Wm. Dent and Wm. Wright, blacksmiths; Thomas Fretwell, beer seller; Eliz. Hubberd, vict., Chequers; Geo. Wright, vict., Bell; and Edw. Locke, Jas. Ollett, Geo. L. Press, John Reeve, Wm. Roper, Wm. Sanders, John Stabbings, and Wm. Thorold, farmers.

DOWNHAM, or Downham Market, is a neat and clean market town, consisting principally of two long and well-built streets, pleasantly seated on the eastern acclivity of the vale of the Great Ouse, overlooking the marshes and fens, and distant more than half a mile from the river; 11½ miles S. of Lynn, 13½ miles W. by S. of Swaffham, 13 miles E. S. E. of Wisbech, and 84 miles N. by E. of London. It has increased its population since the year 1801, from 1512 to 2198 souls, and comprises in its parish about 2500 acres of land, belonging to a number of proprietors, and lying in several manors; but Rt. Fellowes, Esq. is lord of the largest, called Downham manor, which, with several others in this neighbourhood, was given by King Edgar to Ramsay Abbey, in Huntingdonshire. Henry III. invested the abbot with authority to try and execute malefactors, at "his gallows of Downham." The MARKETS held every Monday and Saturday, are of great antiquity, being confirmed by Edward the Confessor. They have greatly declined during the present century, owing to the increase of those at Lynn, Wisbech and Swaffham; but efforts are about to be made for the purpose of restoring them to their former importance, by removing a row of old buildings which stands in the centre of the Market-place, and otherwise increasing the public accommodation, under the powers of an act of parliament, passed in July, 1835, for paving, lighting, watching, and improving the town. A large butter market was formerly held every Monday, near the bridge, where, in the height of summer and spring, about 90,000 firkins have been bought annually by factors, and sent by water to Cambridge, and from thence by land to London, where it was sold under the name of Cambridge butter; but this trade was removed many years ago to Swaffham, where it is now obsolete, the growing of corn and wool, and the feeding of cattle, being now more attended to in this part of Norfolk, than the dairy. Three large Fairs for horses, cattle, &c., are held here yearly on March 3rd, May 8th, and November 13th. The first is called Winwall fair, being held on St. Winwolve's day, and removed some years ago from the manor of Winwall, in Wretham parish. Hrrings for Servants are held at Downham, on the Saturday fortnight before, and the Saturday after, Old Michaelmas day. The BRIDGE which crosses the Great Ouse, about half a mile west of the town, is a large wooden structure, which was leased by the lord of the manor of Stow Bardolph, in the 32nd of Henry VI., to certain bridge reves, at the yearly rent of 13s. 4d., they being obliged to keep it in repair, and to take the accustomed tolls, from which all the tenants of the said manor were to be exempt. At one end of the bridge is the toll-house, and at the other a large public-house, both belonging to the reves, who have also several acres of land, allotted to them under the enclosure and drainage arts, the last of which were passed in 1798 and 1802. The spring tides often rise here above 25 feet, and are confined between high embankments, part of which gave way on the Downham side of the river, on August 31st, 1833, and laid many hundred acres of the marshes under water, until the breach was repaired. On the Will creek, about 4 miles S. W. of Downham, is the village of Northwold, extending into this and the parishes of Denver, Loddon, Outwell, and Stow Bardolph, and having near it a handsome stone bridge over the Toug drain, built in 1835 by the drainage commissioners of the Bedford level. (See p. 676 and 679.) The neighbourhood of the town, except the marshes and fens, is in some places a light sand, and in others a loamy clay. In the sands are beautiful veins of different colours. In 1568, seventeen monstrous fishes," measuring from 20 to 25 feet, were caught in the Ouse, near the bridge. Martin King, a dwarf under 1 foot in height, and for some time boats at the Castle Inn, lived here in 1807, from excessive drinking. Zachary Clarke, a member of the Society of Friends, who published an account of the "Norfolk Charities," died here in 1815, much lamented, especially by the poor of the town and neighbourhood, whom he had for some years periodically relieved with distributions of money, fuel, and provisions.

Downham Church, dedicated to St. Edmund, is a neat edifice standing on rising ground, approached on one side by a flight of brick steps, and on the other by a gradual ascent, ornamented with a row of lime trees. It has a nave, with aisles, (62 feet long, and 45 broad) built of rag-stone, and covered with lead, and has at the west end a square tower, with five bells, and battlements of freestone, crowned by a small spire of wood covered with lead. The vault of the nave is supported by pillars and ten arches, and at the west end is a gallery, the front of which is beautifully paneled and ornamented. The ancient octangular font has shields on each side bearing emblems of several saints and the Passion. The chancel is cambered, and measures in length 34 feet, and breadth 14 feet. At the bridge here was anciently a hermitage, and near the church were several monastic buildings, the largest of which was a Preory, or cell of Benedictine monks, the site of which is occupied by the Rectory-house. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6 14s. 4d., is in the incumbency and patronage of the Rev. John Rd. Thackeray, he having espoused Miss M. Franks, the lady who presented him to the living. In the town are four dissenting chapels, belonging to the Particular Baptists, the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists, and the Society of Friends, though there are none of the latter sect now resident in the parish. The Theatre, in a yard in the Market-place, will hold £10, at the usual prices, and is visited by Mr. Sadler's company. Petty Sessions are held every Monday, at the office of Messrs Bell and Hett. In 1662 the Rev. John Bachcroft, D.D., bequeathed £100, to provide fuel, clothing, &c. for the poor of this parish, and it was laid out in 54 of land, now let for about £10 per annum, and vested with the rector and two other trustees. The poor also have an annuity of 40s. left by John Siffery, in 1687.

The Post Office is in High st., at Mr. Geo. Searnell's. Letters from London, Cambridge, and the N. W. and S. arrive at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 5 mg., and are despatched at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 evg. Letters from Lynn, Wells, &c.

p. 8 evg., and are despatched at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 5 mg. A Mail Cart, doett, &c. to Setch, at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 6 mg., returns $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 6 evening.
the following DIRECTORY OF DOWNHAM PARISH, those marked is in Barrell road; 2, Bridge road; 3, Bridge street; 4, road; 5, High street; 6, Hog hill; 7, Lynn road; 8, Mar-
re; 9, North-Dolph; 10, Paradise lane; 11, Parson's lane;
, Theatre yard.

lev. Wm. Maxey, Lynn rd.
 Edw. gent. Bridge street
 'hoos. glover, Market place
 y Rev. Edw. curate, Priory mea, vet. surgeon, Hill ha.
 arn Mrs. Denver road
 John, govr. Workhouse
 r John, botanist
 Mrs. R. Boxwell road
 John, civil engineer
 g & Rogers, coach makrs.
 y Miss Jane & Sister
 y Mr. Matthew Coats
 Edmund, stone mason
 Chas. colr. of ased, taxes
 rd Geo. tanner & fellmgr.
 l Pearson, brazier, &c. on Jan. M. D. White house
 g Saml. flower & chimney manufacturer, Bridge road
 Mr. Thomas, Bridge st.
 lonel Wm. High street
 John, Police officer
 tra. Lynn road
 lr. Wm. Bridge road
 d Mrs. Martha, Bridge st.
 gdon Wm. tallow chandler Fredk. bar, hoop, & sheet merchant, and agent for ome's ploughs & shares
 n Jonah, Sheriff's officer
 t George, millwright

BANK.

ys, Birkbeck, & Creswell, ynn,) Thos. Wright, agt.
 ump office,) High street

IND LIFE OFFICE AGENTS.

y Fire & Provident Life,
 y Lemmon
 t, Patrick Baker
 h Union, Thomas Wright,
 bell and Hett

Exchange, Geo. Wm.
 non.
 Frederick True

INNS AND TAVERNS.

 are Posting Houses.*

Bridge House, John Capurn
 Brown, Bridge end
 5*Castle Inn, Thomas Harris
 6Chequers, John Balding
 9Chequers, Elizabeth Youngs
 5Coffee Pot, Samuel Edison
 8Crown Inn*, John Powell
 8Hat and Feather, Hy. Glascock
 3Queen's Head, George Garman
 5Rampant Horse, Charles Smith
 5Red Bull, Robert Hunt
 9Red Hart, John Clark
 8Swan Inn, Rd. Porter Garritt
 9Swan, George Wright
 3White Hart, Margaret Smith
Academies —
take Boarders.
 4*Goodrick Isc.
 5*Griffin John
 Jeffries John,
 Bap min
 7*Johnson E.C.
 2Kemp-Hanh.
 7*Moody Mrs.
 5*Webb & Lemon (Misses)
Attorneys.
 3Bell and Hett
 5Brighton Tha.
 7Coulcher Mrtn.
 2Lemmon Wm.
 3Townley Wm.
Auctioneers.
 Casebow & Son
 8Garrett Richd.
Bakers, &c
 6Baldwin Wm
 7Barton Henry
 5Beeten Wm
 7Cambridge C.
 3Hall James
 7Johnson John
 8Poll Charles
 4Poll Jno & Jas.
 2Wright Jas.
Basket Makers.
 3Burman Wm.
 3Daines Wright
 6Golden Chpr
Beer Houses.
 2Carley John
 10Carter Wm.
 2Garner John
 5Hall Thomas
 3Mace Fras.
 4Mann George
 7Malton Robt
 11Regester W.
 3Royal Thos.
 2Snelling Jph.
 7Stevens John
Blacksmiths
 5Challies Benj.
 1Challies Wm.
 3Hudson John
 9Newton Saml
 3Rose Medwell
 4Vince Robt
Booksellers, &c.
 5Griffin John
 5Scarnell Geo.

5Thorogood Rt. Boot & Shoe Mks	Corn Merchts.	5Roper & Bur- nard	Surgeons.
8Andrews John	5Harris Thos.	8Snasdell Sarah.	3Hett & Patter- son
7Kinney Jas	5Miller Winifrd.	8Willmot E.	5Hunter Chpr.
3Long Wm.	2Ward Geo. A. and Co.	3Wilson Susan	Ths. Agrippa
5Palmer John	Farmers.	Painters, Plbrs.	5Palmer Henry
7Parker James	Barker Wm.	& Glaziers.	5Wales & Son
7Parker Wm.	Boyer Henry	5Beeston Edm.	Tailors & Dprs.
5Pike John	2Gates William	7Hitch John	6Bailey Wm.
4Whitehead J. Brewers.	Hooten James	8Spencer and Mallett	5Bennett Arthr.
5Hall Thomas	Malcham Wm.	1Weston Thos.	5Bankall Brkr.
12Long Wm.	Gardeners, &c.	Saddlers & Pat- ten Makers.	8Harris John
3Wright Robins Steed	2Balding John	5Glasscock Geo.	5Hourston T. & Son
7Juler Henry	3Stebbing Zach.	3Steggles Wm.	Watchmakers.
7Mellon Rbt.	7Harrison Geo.	Shopkeepers.	5Howes Benj.
11Stevens Fras.	4Lancaster Ts. (florist &c.)	3Brown John	5Giscard Wm. (furniture brkr.)
Brickmakers.	Grocers & Drps.	3Clark Edward	Wheelwrights.
2Bennett Wm.	*are grocers, & †drapers only.	5Gamble Jane	3Baker Rebecca
2Kemp David Butchers.	8†Andrews Rd.	3Merrington C.	1Walker Geo.
*are Pork.	5Burnham Jas.	6Wilkin Ann	Whitesmith, &c.
5Bolton Henry	8Lemon G. W. (news agent.)	Spirit Merchts.	5Wahs Ambra
8Bankall Wm.	3*Oakes Wm	5Miller Winifd.	Wool Merchts.
3Gamble Rt.	5*Scarnell Geo.	2Ward G. A. & Co.	3Mumford Geo.
4Harrison Rbt.	3Scott John, (London bs.)	3Wright R. S.	3Scott John
5Page Wm.	8Snasdell Joel	COACHES.
3Scott Wm	Hair Dressers.	The Red Rover, from the Cas- tle Inn to Lynn, and Wells, $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 4 mng; and to London, 7 evng.
7*Smart Est.	8Crisp Wm.	The Mail, from the Swan Inn, to Lynn and Wells, $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 5 mng.; and to London, $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 evening.
3*Smart Wm	12Johnson Jph.	The Union, from the Swan, to London, $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 mng., and to Lynn, 6 evening, (except Sunday)
7*Snelling Ths	8Willmot Jno.	To Wisbeck, J. Carter's Socie- ble, from Bridge street, Sat. 8 mng.; returns 8 evening.
7Vincent Jas. Cabinet Makers.	3Wilson Fdk. Ironmongers.	CARRIERS.
5Casebow Chas.	5True Fredk.	To London, Marsh and Swann's Vans, call at G. Westons, daily, except Sunday, at 2 mng., and return to Lynn, at 5 evng—
8Langman Jno. Druggists.	5Wallis Ambra.	Wm Bidewell, from the Swan, to London, Mon. and Friday, and to Lynn, Wed. and Saturday
5Baker Patrick	5Weston Geo.	Ely, John Roberts, Market pl.
5Palmer Henry	Joiners & Bldrs.	Thursday morning
Coal Dealers.	7Bennett Thos.	To Lynn, Robert Newton, Parsons ln., and John Wignall, Paradise lane, Tu Thu Sat. 8 mng., and John Roberts Market
4Chapman Wm.	3Flatman John
2Snelling Jph.	5Flower Jtn.
2Ward Geo. A. and Co.	4Goose W P.
Coopers.	4Harpley Jph.
10Edwards Rbt.	3Smith George
12Mealown Rt.	7Smith Thos.
Corn Millers.	3Sterens Thos.
Cambridge C.	Maltsters.
Johnson Saml.	5Miller Wufrd.
Ward Geo. & Jas.	2Ward Geo. A. & Co.
Ward G. A. & Co. and seed	Milliners, &c.
Ward Geo. & Co. and seed	5Atto Ann place, Tue. 8 morning.

March and Chatteris, Thomas
Lancaster, Denver rd. Monday

Norwich, by Swaffham and Dereham, Isaac Carter, Bridge st.
Tuesday, 5 morning.

Stoke Ferry and Mundford,

(Chequers.) — Cook, Monday.

Watlington, Swan, Mrs. Baker,
Monday.

Wisbech, Isaac Carter, Bridge street; and John Roberts, Market pl. Sat. 3 mng.; and Luke Lawrence, from the Swan, Mon.

FINCHAM is a neat village, forming a long street, with several good houses, on the Swaffham road, 5 miles E.N.E. of Downham, comprising in its parish 756 inhabitants, and 2884A. 2R. 2P. of land, belonging to several proprietors; but about one-third is owned by Sir T. Hare, Bart., the lord of the manors of Pincham-Hall, Curple, Gran-court, Combe, Baynard-Hall, and Littlewell. Part of the parish is in the following manors, viz., Pareswell, of which the Rev. J. Humphrey is lord; Talbots, of which Mr. Geo. Aylmer, is lord; and Plavers, of which Mr. Wm. Hebgin is lord. Fincham Hall, built about the reign of Edward IV., was formerly the seat of the Finchams, but is now a farm-house, and though frequently repaired and modernised, some portions of it retain their ancient character, exhibiting an early specimen of the revived Grecian style, with pillars of the Ionic order. Fincham gives name to the deanery, which comprises the whole of Clackclose Hundred; the last dean occurs in 1518. There were anciently two churches here, but that dedicated to St. Michael, was appropriated to Shouldham priory, in 1350, and no traces of it now remain; the vicarage being consolidated after the reformation, with the rectory of St. Martin's, a large and well built church of flint, boulders, &c., with a lofty square tower, at the west end, having quoins and battlements of freestone, and four bells. The nave is 33 feet by 43, including the aisles, and the chancel 31 feet by 19. A few brasses remain on the floor; but all the painted glass is gone except the figure of an abbess in the window, at the east end of the south aisle. The large stone font has a basin a yard square, and is ornamented with figures emblematical of the fall of man, and the birth, baptism, and resurrection of our Saviour, but some of the devices are nearly defaced. St. Michael's rectory and St. Martin's vicarage, the former valued in K. B. at £10, and the latter at £7. 6s. 3d., are consolidated in the incumbency of the Rev. Arthur Loftus, and alternate patronage of the King, and the Rev. Edward Gwyn Blyth, of Burnham. Mr. Wm. Hebgin is impropriator of one moiety of the rectorial tithes, valued at £245 per annum. The other moiety with all the vicarial tithes belong to the incumbent, and amount together, to £560 per annum, besides the glebe, worth £55 a-year. The church land, 9A. 4P., with a cottage, lets for £17. 10s. The Rectory-house was built in 1624, and has been often repaired and enlarged, the last renovation being in 1827; but its original style of architecture is still preserved. At the enclosure in 1774, 11A. 3R. 17P. of land was allotted to the poor, and is now let for £75 a-year, besides which they have two annuities, viz., 23s. and 9s. 4d., left by the Rev. Thos. Bedham and another donor.

Bell John, basket maker
Bird Jacob, corn miller
Bontell Mary, vict. Swan

Flood Edm. saddler & ironmongr.
Garner Wm. butcher
Hebgin W. gent. & Corston Mr. W.

gent. Scott Mr. W. as, schoolmaster
bert, corn miller
AND TAVERNS.
l Young dragon, John Barton ra, Wm. Howlett town, Thos. Sayle
l, Prior Elsegood
s.—" are yeomen.
W. | Boyce John

Brandall Wm.
*Case Rt. & J.
Cooper John
Cossey Wm.
Lynn Wm.
Peacock J. & T.
*Prior Robt.
*Proctor Wm.
Rose Thomas
Sanders Jph.

*Scott Thos.
Skelton Rd.
Smith Samuel
*Tamary John
Turner Wm.
Wootton John
Carrier, to Lynn, Daniel
Young, Tn. and Sat.

NEXT-RUNCTON is a small dispersed village, in the low lands between the river Ouse and South Runcton, 4 miles tham. Its parish has 225 inhabitants, and 1017a. of y the property of Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, Robt. Peel, dra, Vernon; the latter of whom is lady of the manor.
a (St. James) is a small thatched fabric, and is a resin K. B. at £9. 19s. 2d., and consolidated with South
d Wallington-with-Thorpland, in the gift of Robt. Peel, seignior of the Rev. J. T. Edwards. The poor have let for £7, and left by Eliz. Hewett, in 1705. They out £2 yearly from land left by an unknown donor, and of £10 left by Thomas Towers, in 1728.—Directory:—
Edwards, rector; John Capp, vict., Gate; and William Robt. Heading, Jph. Howell, and Rt. Hudson, farmers.
M, or Cherry Marham, is a long village with several 7 miles W. of Swaffham, and 6 miles N.E. by E. of Its parish contains 799 inhabitants, and more than 4000 a great portion of which is in large open fields, having finest grass-turf in the county, and remarkable for large to be the best runners in the kingdom. Marham was ed for its great abundance of cherries and walnuts; but trees of the latter fruit were cut down during the late d to the gun-makers, some of the largest for as much as
The principal owners of the soil are Sir Thomas Hare, Vineards and Henry Villebois, Esqrs.; the first is lord of
of New Hall and Shouldhams, and the last is lord of id Westacre, and resides at Marham House. There y a Nunnery here, belonging to Ely abbey, founded us, in 1251, and granted at the dissolution to Sir Nichort Hare. Some remains of it may be seen in a farm-it-buildings, a little west of the CHURCH, (Holy Trinity,) arge edifice with a lofty square tower and six bells. Here church, (St. Andrew,) and some traces of its foundations nt. The vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., was n 1738 with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, and £200 Rev. Edward Brooke. The Rev. Arthur Browne is
and the advowson and appropriation of the tithes are College, Cambridge. At the enclosure of the fen, 200 lotted to the poor.

. Arthur, vicar
thomas, shoemaker

Jerrold John, baker
Parish Charles, corn miller

Parish James, grocer and draper
 Villebous Hy. Esq. Marham hs.
 Watts Henry, saddler
 Winearis Wm Esq.

PUBLIC HOUSES

Bell, James Gathercole
 Dog and Duck, David Ryley
Beer Houses
 Dye Wm.
 Steel Francis

Blacksmiths.

Jemson Robt.

Parfrey Wm

Butchers

Anderson Jas.

Butter John

Rands John

Carpenters, &c

Dye Wm.

Steel Carwood

Taylor Js & Ts.

Farmers

* are yeomen

Brown Darc

Long Wm

* Makemass

Thompson

Winearis Esq.

* Winearis Esq.

GoodCarrier, to Lynn, W Yarley &c

OUTWELL is a long village, 5 miles S E of Wisbech, and 7 miles W. by N of Downham, lying on both sides of the navigable river Welney, being partly in the Isle of Ely, Cambridgeshire. The parish contains 2000 acres of land, and 986 inhabitants; but 338 of the latter, and 700 of the former are in Cambridgeshire, and keep their poor separately from the Norfolk part of the parish. The soil belongs to a number of proprietors, the largest of whom is R. G. Townley, Esq., and the whole lies in his manor of Beaupre Hall, an ancient mansion, occupied by the Rev. W. G. Townley, and has its name from the Braupre family, (see p. 676,) of whom there are some handsome monuments in the Church, (St. Clement,) which stands in Norfolk, on a tongue of land between the river and the Wold creek, and is a large ancient edifice, with a square tower and six bells. It has several figures of saints, &c., painted in its windows, and formerly had five chapels, of which three are thrown open to the church. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £16, is in the patronage of the Bishop of Ely, and incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Hardwicke. The parish estate, vested with 32 feoffees, consists of 66a 1a 3qr and two houses let for £105 per annum, employed in repairing the church and three bridges, educating 20 children, and relieving the poor, except £2. 10s. paid yearly to the sexton, and £2. 12s. to the clerk. The donors are unknown, except Wm. Lynn, who left 6a in 1760. The poor have also an annuity of 10s. left by a Mr. Lambert. The Rev. Geo. Boteler, in 1541, left two houses for the residence of the rector and the clerk. The village feasts on June 16.

Marked 1, are in Cambridgeshire.

Burrows John cooper

Gosard John, wheelwright, &c

1 Hardwicke Rev. Wm. rector

1 Juler Jas. bricklayer

Kirk Wm. surveyor & auctioneer

1 Mole Jph. bricklayer

Neale Wm. corn miller

Sharp Charles, farmer

Townley Rev. Wm. Gale, Beaupre Hall

Trower Wm. sen. collector of Wisbech canal dues

PUBLIC HOUSES

Bridge Inn, James Gill

1 Crown, Edward Oakes

Red Lion, Samuel Speechly

White Swan, Wm. Townley

Academies

Brown John

Hill Joseph

Kirk Wm.

Beer Houses

Cousins Saml

Frusher Michl

1 Howell Wm.

Sharp Wm

Torrington H

Blacksmiths

Hall Wm

Taylor Geo

Butchers

Kay Wm

Shepherd R

Farmers

* are yeomen

* Atkins Hans

1 Atkins Leeds

Cousins J & J

Goulden John

* Goulden Wm.

* Horn Anthy

1 Kisty Wm

May Jno & W

* Murrel Wm.

eeve Wm.	Sheerman W.
obb John	Trower Wm.
omlinson J.	Whitaker Hy.
rott Luke	Shoemakers.
Wrate Fras.	Pearson Jas.
ocers & Dprs.	Stephenson J.
ast Jane

The Sociable & Carriers from Downham to Wisbech, pass thro' Outwell.

Post to Wisbech, daily.

ROXHAM, a small parish, 4 miles S. by E. of Downham, has 41 inhabitants, and 700 acres of land, all the property of E. R. att, Esq. It has no church, the curacy being consolidated with ston several centuries ago. Walpole Hall, an ancient mansion, s demolished some years ago, but the moat may still be traced.

BUNCTON (SOUTH) parish has two farm-houses and a few tages, on the Lynn road, 4 miles N. by E. of Downham, and cons 133 inhabitants, and 800 acres of land, mostly belonging to uville and Caius College, Cambridge, the manor being given to it institution by its principal founder, Dr. Caius, who had ob- ned it from the crown, as part of the possessions of the dissolved bey at Bury St. Edmund's. The CHURCH (St. Andrew) is a small eresting Saxon ruin, having been many years roofless; but it is out to be repaired, by subscription, at the cost of about £300. The story, valued in K. B. at £12, is consolidated with Holme-next- ington and Wallington-with-Thorpland. The farmers are William mbridge and Charles Flatt.

RYSTON parish, 3 miles S. by E. of Downham, has only 26 in- bitants, and about 1000 acres of land, all the property of Edward rger Pratt, Esq., who, with the Rev. Jermyn Pratt, resides at yston Hall, a handsome modern mansion, situated in a beautiful rk. The CHURCH (St. Michael) is a single pile, with a small nare tower. On the pavement is a marble stone, over the remains Sir Roger Pratt, who died in 1684, and on an altar-tomb lies the igy of his lady. The curacy of Ryston-with-Roxham was aug- mented, from 1810 to 1824, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty.— e Dean and Chapter of Norwich are the patrons, and the Rev. Charles Mann is the incumbent.

SHINGHAM parish, 4½ miles S.W. of Swaffham, has only 61 habitants, and about 1000 acres of land, all in one farm, occupied John Newman, and belonging to John Mottoux, Esq. The CHURCH (St. Bartolph) is a small building, standing alone in the lds, and is a rectory, united with Beachamwell-All-Saints, valued K.B. at £4. 6s. 8d., and augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's ounty, in 1794.

SHOULDHAM is a pleasant village, with many neat modern ouses, on a small green, 5½ miles N.E. of Downham. Its parish ntains 725 inhabitants, and 3,775 acres of land; of which 2,675A., cluding a large rabbit warren, belong to Sir Thomas Hare, the lord the manor; and the rest is the property of T. Allen, Esq., Mr. obert Catton, and some smaller freeholders, except 100A., allotted the poor at the enclosure, in 1794. In some old writings, it is lled Market Shouldham, and it has still two large FAIRS for orses, cattle, and sheep, held on Sept. 19th and Oct. 11th. Here as formerly a PRIORY, founded in the reign of Richard I., for monks of the order of St. Gilbert, by Jeffery Fitzpiers, Earl of Essex, and chief justice of England, who died in 1212, and endowed it with this manor, and twelve houses in St. Mary's, Colechurch, London—Robert Swyft, the last prior, subscribed to the King's supremacy in 1526. At the dissolution, the priory and its possessions were granted to Thomas Mildmay. On removing the remaining part of the prior's ruins, in 1831, a decayed painted window, two stone coffins, and a vessel containing a human skull, were found. To this priory was attached a large Grammar School, of which John Elvedon was master in 1462. It had also a church, dedicated to St. Margaret, which was standing in 1519. The parish Church (All Saints) is at the east end of the village, in a field; and on the wall of the cemetery are several large gravestones, one of which has the inscription of a Knight Templar. The living is a curacy (not in charge) annexed to Shouldham-Thorpe in the incumbency of the Rev Chas Orman, and patronage of Sir Thomas Hare, the improprator of all the tithes, out of which he pays the curate's stipend. Thomas Allen, Esq. of Lynn, has recently erected a handsome mansion here. On Mr. Catton's estate is a fine chalybeate spring, called Silver Well, which gives rise to the small rivulet that flows through the village, and is so called from the silvery scum which floats on its surface, or as tradition says, from a chest of silver coin lost in its unfathomable depth. The fabulous legend relates, that some workmen employed in cleaning the well discovered this treasure; but just as they had raised it to the surface, their ropes broke, and it sunk to some secret recess, where it has since remained. Near this, a new spring has recently been discovered, and both of them possess similar properties to those of Tunbridge and Toplitz.

Allen Thos. Esq. Shouldham hall
Brighton Wm. warrener
Catton R. T. solicitor
Cox John, schoolmaster
Cross Robt. painter, plumber, &c.
Scott Robert, corn miller
Wilkin Robert, baker

PUBLIC HOUSES.

Black Horse, Wm. Walker
Choquers, John Easter
King's Arms, Eleanor Eke
Rampant Horse John Gately

Three Horse Shoes, Jacob Carr	Formers
Beer Houses
Acres James	* are yeomen.
Ram Richd	Bird John
Blacksmiths	Brown David
Drake George	* Catton Robert
Gately John	Lemmon Thomas
Carpenters,	* Shickle Henry
Fenley James	Grocers, &c
Ramm Wm.	Corens John
	Farrer Eliz

SHOULDHAM-THORPE, anciently called Gurbou-Thorpe is a scattered village, on rising ground, nearly 5 miles N. E. of Donham, having in its parish 300 inhabitants, and 1340 acres of land, of which Sir Thomas Hare is chief owner, and lord of the manor; but Wm. Bugge and Thomas Harvey, Esqrs., have about 1600, and 600 were allotted to the poor at the enclosure, in 1793. About a mile N. of the village, is the small manor of FODDERSTON, or Feuted Gap anciently a separate parish, belonging to the abbot of Ely, but now the property of the Dean and Chapter of Ely and leased to Sir Thos Hare, together with the tithes, but he is improprator of the tithes of Shouldham-Thorpe, where the Church, (Virgin Mary) has a nave and chancel but the tower fell down in 1774. The living is a curacy, consolidated with Shouldham. Directory.—Wm. Carter, vict. Gate; John Harrison, vict. and wheelwright, Fodderston-Gap; Rt. Elmer, corn miller, Eliz. Galloway, pork butcher; Jno. Watson, beer seller, and John Brackenbury, executors of John Gamble, Sar. Jary, and Philip Winearls, farmers.

SOUTHERY is a considerable village, on the London road, 7 miles S of Downham. It stands on rising ground, surrounded by fens and marshes, all cultivated, and has in its parish 739 inhabitants, and about 3000 acres of land. Rt. and Simon Martin, Esqs. are the principal owners, and the former is lord of the manor and patron of the CHURCH, (St. Mary,) a small neat edifice, with a nave and chancel, but no tower. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 10s., is now enjoyed by the Rev. John Wm. Butt. About a mile west of the village, is a ferry over the river Ouse.

Grunditch Wm. wheelwright
Osler George, land surveyor
Reeve Wm. corn miller

PUBLIC HOUSES.

Anchor, John Diggins
Bell, Wm. Peckett
Boat, Eliz. Porter, Ferry
Plough, James Tingay

Beer Houses.

Galley John
Taylor John

Blacksmiths.

Osler John
Thoruhill John

Farmers

* are yeomen.

Boyce Jno. & Rt.
Fuller Cooper
Gidlett Thomas
Jackson John
*Porter Robert
Robinson Fdk.
Russell Wm.

* Sayle Jn. & Ts.

Thornhill John

* Weasenham T.

Shopkeepers.

Apleby Ts Wm.
Barley Fras.
Galloway Wm P
Peckett Wm.

STOKE-FERRY is a small but neat and busy market-town; and being situated near the small but navigable river Wissey, 7 miles E S E. of Downham, 14 miles S S E. of Lynn, 9 miles S W. by W. of Swaffham, and 88 miles N by E of London, at the junction of roads from Thetford, Brandon, &c., it is a great thoroughfare. It has a corn market every Friday, a large fair for horses, cattle, &c. on Dec 6th; and a Hirings for Servants on the Thursday before old Michaelmas, and much business is done at the wharf, in corn, coal, malt, &c. Its parish, which abounds in lime-stone, contains 706 inhabitants, and about 1200 acres of land, partly a cultivated fen, and mostly belonging to J. B. S. Bradfield, Esq., the lord of the manor, who has a neat mansion here. The bridge which crosses the river, where there was anciently a ferry, was repaired and widened in 1803. In the 32nd of Henry III., the abbot of Ely had a grant for a market and fair here; but the former was obsolete several centuries, until revived some years ago. The profits of the ferry belonged to the abbot, who broke down the bridge soon after its erection, but the hundred court compelled him to rebuild it. The CHURCH (All Saints) is a small neat fabric, with a belfry, and formerly had a tower, which fell down in 1578. The curacy, certified at £18, was augmented in 1779 and 1801, with £400 of Queen Anne's Bounty. The King is the patron, and also impropriator of the tithes, now leased to the Revds. Henry Howard and H. Spencer; the former of whom is the incumbent. The Wesleyans have a chapel here; and in the town is a Free School, founded by the late James Bradfield, Esq., who endowed it for the education of 25 poor boys, of Stoke Ferry and Wretton. The Post Office is at Sarah Cawthorne's, where letters of the Rev. John Clavering. Sir Thos. Hare is the patron, and proprietor of the tithes. Here are six almshouses for poor widows, erected by Sir Ralph Hare, in 1603, and endowed by him in 1622, with 80a. of land, now let for £80 a-year, which is distributed among the almswomen. The poor's land, for general distribution, consists of about 36 acres, let for £22. 10s. a-year, and obtained partly from unknown donors, and partly by allotments, at the enclosure. A little south of the church, is Pool-house, an ancient building of flint and brick, said to have been a chapel, or hermitage.

CLACKCLOSE HUNDRED.

693

Marked † and * are at Stow-bridge

Andrew Henry, blacksmith
† Barton William, wheelwright
† Beavis Ann, vict. Crown
Capon Wm. vict. Hare's Arms
Dashwood Rev. G. H. curate
Flanagan Patrick, gardener
Flanagan Timothy, farm steward
† Gore Thos. beerhs. & shoe mkr.
Griggs Jacob, butcher
Hare Sir Thos. Bart., Stow-hall
† Howlett John, shopkeeper
Killingsworth Anthony, wheelwrt.
† Lee Thos. corn & coal mercht.
† Lepton John, beerhouse
† Mason Geo. Lingley, blksmith.

† Reeve Thos. miller & shoe
FARMERS—* are permes
Beart William * Howlett John
Betts William * Hudson John
Brighton Robt. Judd John
Bush John Leleham M^r
Danby Charles * Lepton John
† Dawson Luke Page John
Firth Charles Storrie John
Green John Thurnham W^m
Griggs Sarah * Westwood W^m
Harrison John * Wignall W^m
Coaches and Carriers to Downham to Lynn, pass through Stow

STRADSETT parish has a few scattered houses near the Stow-ham road, 4 miles E. by N. of Downham, and contains 163 a. of land, and 1223a. 1s. 11v. of land, besides woods, water, and meadows, all the property of Wm. Bagge, Esq., who resides at the Hall, a large ancient mansion in an extensive park, with a lake of water, abounding in pike and other fish. He is also patron of the Curacy, and great tithes, and patron of the Curacy (St. Mary's), a small building, standing in the park, with a small tower, which was appropriated to West Dereham Abbey, and was appropriated in K. B. at £3. 6s. 8d., and now is a ruin. Directory.—Wm. Bagge, Esq.; Elizabeth Abba, vict. Four Mile; and Mr. Long, John Merrett, & others. TITENHILL, a straggling village, 4 miles S. of Lynn, has a few houses, and 1000 a. of land, mostly the property of the Earl of Arundel, for which Mr. J. Titenhill (St. Botolph) stands as agent. It is a small village, with no bells. The church is of the 14th c., and is a ruin. The Rev. Thos. Hare is the patron, and the church is let for £100 a-year, and all the property is in the hands of the Earl of Arundel.

Hare, or, and a lightfull Brown, and was One of the best, converted kennel. Thed by a small South Runct cottages, and his traces of it no Green. 6 miles of the Gre Hall St. Ma t 20 r, Ea rk a igh Stevens, blacksmith, and Thos. Allen, John Chadwick, John Bass, Thos. Panton, and Ambrose Thompson, farmers. The two last are landowners.

UPWELL, sometimes called WELL, is a long and populous village, 6 miles S. E. of Wisbech, and 9 miles W. by S. of Downham, lying on both sides of the navigable river Welney. It is the largest parish in the county, having increased its population since 1801, from 2,415 to 4156 souls, and comprising no less than 15,500 acres of land; 2033 of the inhabitants, and 7,000 acres are in the Isle of Ely, Cambridgeshire, where the poor are maintained separately from the Norfolk part of the parish, which lies in R. G. Townley, Esq.'s manor, Heaupre Hall, (see p. 676;) but Wm. Lee, Esq., and some others have estates here. The houses are many of them neat modern buildings, and extend on both sides of the river, nearly to Outwell and Welney. King John granted it a weekly market on Wednesday, which Henry VI. added a fair, to be held on St. Peter and Paul's day. The market is trivial, and the fair held on June 21st and 30th, is merely a pleasure mart. The greater part of the parish is fen, but now well drained and cultivated under an act passed in 1801, and including the hamlets of LAKESEND, TIPSEND, and BARNSTON-HILL, from 4 to 5 miles S. of the Church, (St. Peter) which stands in Norfolk, and is a large edifice, with a nave, aisles, chancel, and a tower with 6 large bells. The interior is neatly paved, and contains a few ancient brasses, and a modern one records the death of 67 persons, who died in this parish of cholera, in 1832, from July 21st to Aug. 13th. The RECTORY, valued in K. B. at £16, is consolidated with Welney, in the patronage of R. G. Townley, Esq., in incumbency of the Rev. W. G. Townley. The joint benefices are worth upwards of £1,000 per annum. The Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here, and in the village is a Free School, for 200 children, established and supported by the rectory. The late Jas. Lee, Esq., built here five almshouses for 3 poor widows of the Norfolk, and two of the Cambridgeshire part of the parish, the latter lying in the manor of the Bishop of Ely. The CHARITIES belonging to the poor of the Norfolk part of the parish, produce about £20 a-year, arising chiefly from land and buildings, left by Thos. Lamb and John Fox, in 1562 and 1626; the interest of £1,000 left by John Bass and Thos. Dixon, and of £200 left by Miss Doreen Lee; and some small allotments made at the enclosure. Those on the Cambridgeshire side are of nearly the same amount.

Marked 1 are in the Isle of Ely, Cambridgeshire, and the others in Norfolk.

1 Finch Charles, saddler
Finton James, baker
1 French Brooks, watchmaker
1 Harris Henry, land agent
Huddleston Rev. Geo. Jas, curate
Hurst Cc, agt. to RL Ex. fire off.
Lee William, Esq.
1 McCarthy My. Ann, dressmkr.
1 Orton Richard, Esq.

1 Overland Geo. painter, glazier
1 Palmer Hanslip, solicitor
Sedgley Joseph, chief constable
1 Smith Ellen, straw hat maker
1 Smith and Gray, brewers, and timber and coal merchants
Tiffin Robert, auctioneer, &c.
Wakefield Wm. Gil, fellmonger
1 Waulby Mrs. Mary
Webber Jas. carpenter & miller

INNS AND TAVERNS

Black Bull, Thomas Bakes

Black Horse, Wm. Dial
 Chequers, Robert Yardy
 Crown, James West
 1 Duke's Head (Old,) Nth. Booth
 Duke's Head (New,) Jas. Andrews
 Five Bells Inn, My. Ann Hurst
 1 Horse and Groom, Wm. Cragg
 Marquis of Granby, Wm. Mees
 1 Queen's Head, Fras. Smith
 Red Hart, Henry Juler
 White Hart, John Kay
 1 White Lion, Benj. Notson

Academies.

Harvin Wm.
 1 Seayears Jph.
 1 Wandby Geo.

Beer Houses.

Chapman Wm.
 Green Henry
 Main William
 1 Middleton W.
 (and cooper)
 Whitham John

Blacksmiths.

1 Andrews Rt.
 Baker Thomas

Butchers.

1 Deunis Jas.
 Kay John

Corn Millers.

1 Hurry John
 1 Sanders J. H.
 1 Southwell Rt.

FARMERS.

are yeomen.

1 Beart James
 1 Berry Saml.
 Berry Thos. T.
 *Cleminson Jh.
 Cleminson Joseph, jun.
 Cleminson Ths.
 Cope Robert
 1 Drake John *Elmer Wm. &
 Robert

Green Thos.
 1 Hobourn Jas.
 1 Hodgson Jno.
 and William
 *Hopkin J. & W.
 1 *Hopkin Wm.
 Jones Jh. & Jn.
 *Large Widow
 Levens Thos.
 Morton Wm.
 Mudd John
 Nix John

*Rowell Richd.
 Rowlett Fisher
 *Rowlett Srs
 Seayears Robt.
 Shaw Thomas
 Smith David
 1 *Turner J. W.
 Wiles Thos
 Woolf Charles
 Wooll George
 1 *Wooll Hugh
 1 *Wright John

Carriers.—Widow Turner, to Wisbech, M. W. F. & S., & Luke
 Lawrence, to Downham, Mon. & to Wisbech Tu. Thu. and Sat.

Grocers & Dprs.
 1 Chapman Ch.
 Goulding Thos.
 Lyon Samuel,
 North Delph
 1 Olphin John
Shoemakers.
 1 Cooper John
 1 Silburn Robt.
Surgeons.
 1 Ollard Wm.
 1 Wilkinson G.
 Augustus

Tailors.

1 Davison J. W.
 1 Markilee Ts.
 1 Marnett Jas
Wheelwrights
 Chapman Adam
 Goodman Hy.
 Harding John,
 sen. and jun
 Harding Thos.
 Ward Burton
 West William

WALLINGTON-WITH-THORPLAND, 3 miles N. by E. of Downham, form one parish, containing only 47 inhabitants, and 1013A. 3R. 12P. of land, of which, 350A. belong to Sir Thos. Hare, and the remainder to Robert Peel, Esq., the lord of the manor, and owner of Wallington Hall, a large and handsome house, delightfully situated in a well-wooded park, and now occupied by Frederic Brown-Bell, Esq., solicitor. It is the only house in Wallington, and was anciently the seat of the Coningsbys and the Gawdys. One of the latter was Judge Gawdy, who, in the reign of Elizabeth, converted the Church (St. Margaret) into a hay-house and dog-kennel. The only part of it now remaining is the tower, surmounted by a small spire. The rectory has long been consolidated with South Racton and Holme. THORPLAND has two farms and five cottages, and had also a church, which was standing in 1434, but no traces of it now remain. The farmers are John Coward and Robert Green.

WATLINGTON is a neat village of detached houses, 6 miles S.
 by W. of Lynn, in the fertile marshes on the east side of the Great Ouse river, about a mile E. of the bridge at Wiggan Hall St. Mary Magdalen. Its parish contains 500 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of land, mostly the property of Charles Berners Plestow, Esq.
 who resides at the Hall, a handsome mansion, with a fine park and plantations. He is lord of the manor of Gausels, in Watlington, for which courts leet and baron are held yearly, (fines arbitrary.)

and Mr. J. Platten, of Lynn, is the steward. The Church (St. Peter and St. Paul) is a large structure, with a tower and much ancient stained glass in its windows, but the figures are mutilated. In the south aisle are the effigies of Gawsel and his wife. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £100, is in the gift of C. B. Pleston, Esq., and incumbency Edw. Cobbold. The poor have £7 a-year from Thos. Shoulham, in 1746, and the interest of £12 10s. from Bennet, in 1780. They have also four yearly rents, 40s. left by Henry Punting, 10s. by Thomas G. is by John Davis, in 1747, and 10s. from the lord of the manor of an acre of land, taken at the enclosure, in 1749.

Baldrey Samuel, vict., Angel
Baxter Jas. vict., Queen's Head
Bishop John, blacksmith
Cox Rev. Richardson, curate
Downing William, yeoman
Heading Jn & Roberts R. butchers
Heading Osborne, corn miller
Hopkyns H. Grocer, draper, and spirit merchant

Johnson Wm. surgeon
Morton Wm. & Porter
Perry John, brazier
Nichols Mr.
Plestone Chas. Berners
Richardson John, joiner
Carrier, Mrs. Baker
ham, Mon. and Lynn

WELNEY, 10 miles S. W. of Downham, is a small extensive parish, lying in the cultivated fens of the level, (see p. 676;) and, like Upwell and Outwell, it is bounded by the Welney or Croft river, partly in Norfolk and shire, and in R. G. Townley, Esq.'s manor of Beaupre, the Bishop of Ely's manor of the Isle of Ely. It contains 3500 acres of land, of which latter 2000 are in Norfolk, belonging to R. G. Townley, Esq., Messrs. Beeten, and several smaller proprietors. The small river divides the counties, is navigable to the Wisbech canal, above the village is crossed by three broad drains, the Great Ouse and New Bedford rivers, which open a direct navigation at Denver sluice. The New Bedford river, about 1 mile long, is crossed by a handsome SUSPENSION BRIDGE of 100 and 63 yards 2 feet long, built by the Rev. W. G. in 1826, from a design by Captain Brown, and now having a hamlet. The Church is a small ancient brick edifice on the bridge side of the parish, which keeps its poor separate living is a rectory consolidated with Upwell, (see p. 676.) CHARITY LANDS, for the relief and education of the poor, were granted in the 13th of Charles II., by Wm. Marshall, Esq., of the Inn, and the rest was obtained in allotments at the drainage of the fens. Welney FAIR is on June 18th. In the DINKY, those marked 1 are in the Isle of Ely, and 3, in the Norfolk part of Welney.

2 Hegley Nunn, smith & wheelgt.
1 Birrell Rev. E. P. curate
Cam Jph. tailor and shopkeeper
Clemson John, corn miller

2 Earl Francis, baronet
1 Green Christopher, of Loreday John, shoemaker
Ogden Wm. butcher

atthew, parish clerk
blacksmith & wheelgt.
Rd. baker & shopkpr.

PUBLIC HOUSES.

n Benstead
n, Henry Virgo
Flag, William Lock
Elizabeth Gill

FARMERS.

1 Bates John	1 Dalton Naylor
1 Beart Thos.	1 James Charles
Briggs Geo.	Little Geo. & W.
1 Cole Joseph	Rumble Robert
Cole Sarah	Tomlinson J. D.

Carriers to Wisbech, Joseph Hiam and Wm. Clever, Tu. and Sat.—To Ely, Wm. Begley, Thu.

CLACKCLOSE is a pleasant village, on a gentle acclivity, 2 miles toke Ferry, and 12 miles S. by E. of Lynn, including in 75 inhabitants, and 2077 acres of land, more than half of grass. The principal land owners are J. B. S. Bradfield, Esq., J. Houchen, Esq., R. B. Pratt, Esq., and A. Sewell, Esq., the latter is lord of Cavenham, and the last is lord of Wereham. Werenham House, the ancient seat of the family of Eyres, occupied by J. T. Reed, Esq. Wiron Hall, the old manor house, is in a field now called Stonecocks close. The present Hall, was built by its present occupant, John Houchen, Esq., four years ago. Winwall Priory, so called from its dedication to St. Winwaloe, was founded by the Earls of Clare, of Richard I. or King John, for Benedictine monks, and at the dissolution to Thomas Guybon and Wm. Mynne. Remains of this priory may still be seen near WINWALL HOUSE, a Norman structure, (about a mile N. of the village,) now the farm steward, and supposed to have been the prison of Clare, this being the head lordship in that barony. Fair, formerly held here on March 3rd, was removed to some years ago. Wereham Church (St. Margaret) has a north aisle, chancel, and square tower, with one bell, and inscriptions to the Adamson, Mason, and other families. The rectory valued at £10. 2s. 6d., was augmented in 1751 and '2, by Queen Anne's bounty, and with a yearly rent-charge of £100 by Roger Pratt, Esq., to be paid out of the great tithes, now the property of R. Pratt, Esq., the patron of the curacy, which is now in the hands of the Rev. James Royle, together with that of Wretton. The value of the two parishes is 52s., and the yearly modus paid by contributors is £32. The Wesleyans, have a chapel here, and there is a large pool supplied by a copious spring of clear water. A close, 25A. 30P. of land was allotted to the poor for fuel, and they have also the interest of £500 left by Miss Sarah Adamson, £300 left by Richard Adamson, Esq., in 1800; and £100 in Whait, in 1826.

o. grocer and draper
bdg. and day school
Son, joiners & buildrs.
es, wheelwright
ohn, Esq. Wereham Hall
m. sen. & jun. gardeners
ary Bence, gentleman
obert, corn miller
. Esq., Cavenham House

Royle Rev. James, inc. curate
Sewell Abraham, gentleman
Smith James, beer house
Spencer Rev. Houghton
Swaine Miss Mary
Tingey Jas. draper, grocer, spirit merchant, and tallow chandler
Wolsey Edw. corn miller

Public Houses.		Porter Thos	*Carter Thos.
Crown Inn, Thomas Aylmer		Farmers—*are	Crow Edmund
George and Dragon, Wm. Smith.		yeomen.	*Sewell Philip
Nag's Head, Sampk n Howes		Bland Thos.	Steward Saml
Butchers	Vince Amos	Carter Robt.	Tingey Henry
Dent George	Wright John	Penny Post at Mr. Jas. Tingey's, letters arrive 8 mag and are despatched at 6 evening
Hudson John	Butchers
Blacksmiths.	Fretwell Wm.

WIMBOTSHAM, a parish and village, 1 mile N N E. of Downham, com. uses 376 inhabitants, and 1745 acres of land, mostly the property of Sir Thomas Hare, the lord of the manors of Wimbotsham, Ingildeshtorp, Tonwell, and Ramsey, the latter of which formerly belonged to Ramsey abbey. The Church (St. Mary) is a high thatched fabric, with a square tower and three bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5 6s. 4d., is consolidated with Stow Bardolph. Sir Thomas Hare is the patron and the Rev J. Carver is the incumbent. The Primitive Methodists have a chapel here, and in the village is a Workhouse, for the parishes of Wimbotsham, Stow Bardolph, Stradsett, and Tottenhill. Two cottages, built on the waste, by the overseers, are occupied by poor widows. In Sept 1834, Mr. Green, the aeronaut, descended here, after a flight in his balloon from Vauxhall-gardens, London. After breakfasting with Mr Pike he ascended again into the aerial regions, and alighted at North Rington. Enclosure and Drainage Acts, 1798 and 1801.

Marked * are freeholders.		*Pike John, sen, sellmonger, & lamb leather dresser
Carley Wm. butcher & leather.		Riches Hy. & Willet Hy. beer & m.
Cawdron Jas, gov. of Workhs.		Sherwood Rt lsmith & beer h.
Chalton George, gardener		Snasdell Misses Sar & Rebecca
Chalton Joel, vict. Chequers		Farmers.
Dixon Mr John		Holladay Wm.
Hopking Thos. grocer & draper		Brown Joseph
Pike John, jun. grocer & draper		*Garnham Rd
		*Page Samus

WORMEGAY, or Wormegay, is a small dispersed village, 6 miles S.S.E. of Lynn, lying on the south side of the navigable river Nar. Its parish extends to Setch bridge, and contains 323 inhabitants, and about 3000 acres of land, of which Daniel Henry Lee-Warner, Esq. is principal owner, and lord of the manor, but W. W. Lee-Warner Esq., is proprietor of the tithes. This lordship was anciently held by the Bardolphs and the Warrens; the former of whom had a castle here, of which the moat still remains; and the latter founded a priory near the village, in the reign of King John, for Austin canons, but a farm-house now occupies its site which was granted at the dissolution to the Bishop of Norwich together with the advowson of the Church, (St. Michael) a small edifice, with a tower and one bell. The curacy, certified at £20, was augmented with £40 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1779 and 1800, and is now enjoyed by the Rev W. H. Black. Directorp.—Thos. Currie, yeoman; Edw. Emmerston farmer; Chas. Fish, vict., Red Lion, Rogge and Co., brewers. Satch bridge; John Lockwood, wheelwright, Wm. Nurse, vict., Crown John Oldham, brewer; George Paston, grocer, &c.; and Jonas W. Powell, Esq., Wormegay Hall.

WRETTON, a parish and scattered village, 1 mile W. of Sitch erry, and 6 miles E. by S. of Downham, has 523 inhabitants, and about 1200 acres of land, mostly the property of J. B. S. Bradfield and Roger Micklefield, Esqrs., the former of whom is lord of the manor of Wretton; but part of the parish is in Wereham manor. The church (All Saints) is a thatched building, with a square tower and two bells. It is a curacy, certified at £10. 2s. 6d., augmented with 400 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1751 and '2, and consolidated with Wereham; the Rev. J. Royle being incumbent, and E. R. Pratt, Esq. the patron and impropiator. At the enclosure, 22A. of the common were allotted to the poor, who have also a house and 6A. left by Jane Forby, in 1736; one acre, left by unknown donors; and two out-charges of 6s. 2d. and 3s. 4d.; the first left by Fraa. Clark.

King Fraa. vict. Red Lion

King Thomas, cooper

Parlett Samuel, vict. Chequers

Richardson James, lime burner

Beer Houses.

Birth Peek

Gathercole Jno.

Pond Rowing

Smith Joseph

Steward Robert

Farmers.

* are yeomen.

*Allison Richd.

Brown John

*King Thomas
Mills Wm.

Muffett Thos.

Shaw Susan

*Townley Hy.

Webster Wm.

GRIMSHOE HUNDRED

is about 14 miles in length, and varies from 6 to 8 in breadth, bounded on the south by the Little Ouse river, which divides it from Suffolk, on the east by Shropham and Wayland, on the north by South-Greenhoe, and on the west by Clackclose Hundred. It is intersected and partly bounded on the north by the river Wissey, which, like the Ouse, on its southern boundary, is navigable for small craft. It is a champaign country, and the soil is chiefly sand, upon a substratum of chalk and flint; and much of it is still in open sheep walks, and open heaths, abounding in rabbits; except the western side, which forms part of the marshes and fens of the great Bedford Level, (See p. 676.) The rabbits from the various warrens here, are, among epicures, distinguished for their delicious flavour, and still known by the name of Methwold or "Muel rabbits," though the large heath in that extensive parish was enclosed and cultivated some years ago. The whole Hundred is comprised (together with South-Greenhoe,) in the Deanery of Cranwich, and archdeaconry of Norfolk; and its Petty Sessions are held on the first and third Mondays of every month, at the Crown Inn, Mundford. Mr. Robt. Sewell, of Swaffham, is clerk to the magistrates. From its number of tumuli, it is supposed to have been a great seat of war between the Saxons and Danes. On the west side of Weeting, is a bank and ditch, extending several miles, called the Fen-dyke, or Foss; and about two miles east of that village, on a rising ground, is a large Encampment, of a semicircular form, comprising about twelve acres, and having numerous deep pits, dug in the quincunx form, and capable of concealing a large army from the view of persons passing the neighbouring roads. It has near it a long tumulus, and is commonly called Grime's Graves, from some Danish or Saxon general, who possessed and gave name to this Hundred, which contains 16 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, shewing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property-tax, in 1815, and their territorial extent.

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Buckenham-Tofts.	51	£614	1,800	Mundford	414	£2,085	2,400
Colveston	34	800	800	Northwold	1,064	5,841	2,400
Cranwich	88	940	1,800	Santon	18	44	200
Croxton	278	2,625	5,000	Stanford	153	775	1,000
Feltwell St. Mary } and St. Nicholas }	1,231	7,155	10,000	Starston	49	220	200
Hockwold with- } Wilton }	878	3,950	6,500	Tofts (West)	182	1,125	1,000
Ickburgh	197	1,078	1,300	Weeting-with- } Broomhill . . . }	367	2,434	2,000
Lynford	90	700	1,500
Methwold	1,265	9,219	13,432	Total	5,391	44,245	60,000

BUCKENHAM-TOFTS, or Buckenham Parva, is a parish on the river Wissey, 8 miles N. by W. of Thetford, containing only 50 cottages and the HALL, a large handsome mansion, in an extensive park, now occupied by Jonathan Peel, Esq., who holds it on lease with the manorial rights of Lord Ashburton, but the land is let to St. Olfield, of Ashill. The hall was founded in the reign of Charles II., by a Mr. Vincent; and in 1738, it was the seat of the Hon. J. Howard, brother of the Duke of Norfolk. The CHURCH was demolished many years ago, and the rectory, valued in K. B. at £3, is abolished. The ruins were cleared away about 12 years since, and the churchyard now forms part of the pleasure grounds near the hall.

COLVESTON, a small parish, 2 miles N. of Mundford, and 8 miles S. by W. of Swaffham, has only 34 inhabitants, and 80 acres of land, all the property of and occupied by Lord Herbert, the manor having been long possessed by his family,—the WILTON, one of whom built the hall, which is now occupied by labourers. The CHURCH (Virgin Mary) was dilapidated at an early period, and not a vestige of it now remains. The rectory is consolidated with Diddington.

CRANWICH, on the south side of the river Wissey, 1½ mile W.N.W. of Mundford, and 6 miles N. of Brandon, is a parish with 68 inhabitants, and 1800 acres of land, in one farm, belonging to Sir Richard Sutton, Bart. It gives name to a deanery. (See p. 607.) The CHURCH (Virgin Mary) is a small neat edifice, with a round tower of great antiquity, supposed to have been built by the Danish King Harold. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 9s. 7d., is in the gift of Lord Berners. The glebe is 30a., and the poor a money £17. Directory—Rev. Vincent Edward Eyre, rector; Robert Martin Ward, farmer, and Joseph Quibell, vict. and brewer, Leather Bottle.

CROXTON, 2 miles N. of Thetford, is a village on the acclivity of a steep hill, crowned with trees, which may be seen at the distance of many miles in this open and champaign country. Its parish contains 278 inhabitants, and about 5000 acres of light sandy land, a great part of which is sheep walk and rabbit warren. F. Baring Esq. owns a great part of the soil, and is lord of the manor of Sibton. A portion of the parish is in Broomhill manor, belonging to Christ Church College, Cambridge, together with the advowson of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., augmented in 1809 and '11 with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty, and enjoyed since 1797 by the

Wm B. Ramsden. The Church (All Saints) is a small an-abing, with a tower half circular and half octangular. The priests have a small chapel here. Directory—Captain John R.N.; John Gayford, Henry Christmas Gayford, and Samuel farmers; Geo Lambert, vict. Bell, Wm. Taylor, shopkeeper wheelwright, and Elizabeth West, beer seller

ELTWELL is a large village, with several neat houses, 6 miles W of Brandon, and 6 miles S. of Stoke-Ferry, comprising in extensive parish 1231 inhabitants, and about 10,000 acres of land, half of which is fen, and 1100 acres form an open common, on which all the tenants have a right of pasturage and fuel. The other common was enclosed in 1813. A small fair is held here on Nov.
th, and in the village are about 30 looms employed in weaving cambrian, crapes, &c. The parish is in several manors. Miss P.
Clough, has a neat seat here, and is Lady of South Hall and the other manor, anciently held by the Bishop of Ely. The Rev. Dr.
Buffy is lord of Wendlings, Spensvilles, and Duntons manors;
St Christ's College, Cambridge, has the manor of East Hall or Broomhill. Here are two parish churches, both of which have recently been thoroughly repaired. St. Mary's, the largest, has a nave, aisles, chancel, and a massive square tower, with three bells and a clock. Among its monumental memorials is a fine brass, representing Margaret Mundesford, and the effigies of Francis and Osbert Mun-desford Esqrs., and the two wives of the latter, all of the 14th century.
St. Nicholas' Church is a small pile, on an eminence at the west end of the village, with a tower round at the base and octangular at the top, and containing five bells. It was nearly destroyed by fire in 1664, when an "indulgence" was granted for its reparation. The two rectories are now consolidated in the alternate patronage of the Bishop and the Bishop of Ely. The Rev E. B. Sparke is the incumbent. St. Mary's is valued in K B at £14 17s. 3d, and St. Ni-cholas's at £19. The glebe is 177a. The Baptists, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here. Sir Edmund Mun-desford, in 1643, bequeathed land for the foundation of a school and almshouses, and the distribution of clothing, &c., among the poor.
This land, with an allotment added to it at the enclosure in 1813, now consists of 622a. of the fen, but being let on lease at much below its present value, the drainage tax has hitherto absorbed all the rents.
The school has not been established, but eight almshouses were built by the parish in 1819. The other poor's land is 6a., left by Robert Clough, in 1737, and 6a. purchased with £50, left by the Rev Wm. Rawlin. The poor of Eltwell have also a share of Robert Atmore's Charity, for this and four other parishes. (See Northwold,

Teacher George, surgeon
Chamberlain Thomas, baker
Clough Misses Pleasance & Rbc.
Flower Mr. William
Foster Joseph, saddler
Haddon Henry, corn miller
Leach John, painter, plumber, &c.
Lord Jas. parish clk. & overseer
Lord John, schoolmaster

Orman Rev John, curate
Palmer Adw. druggist, & agent to the Royal Exchange Fire-office
Richardson Jno & son, millwrights
Roberts Wm Hy surgeon, L.D.S.
Sparke Rev. Edw. Bowyer, vicar
Stolworthy John, agent to Wm.
& Co bombasin, &c. manuf.
Young Miss

mer Mark	Lee George	Thompson Rt.	Johnson Matha.
Farmers.	Palmer Robt	Wheelwerts., &c.	Rolfe Wm.
ob. George	Pearson John	Cock Field
ig Francis	Stead Jacob	Post from Brandon daily.

CKBURGH, or IGBURGH, is a small village, 6 miles N.N.E. Brandon, and 9 miles S. of Swaffham, including in its parish 197 abitants, and about 1,300A. of land, in two farms belonging to rds Berners and Ashburton, the alternate patrons of the rectory, and in K. B. at £5. 6s. 10½d., and united with Langford, in the incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Newcome. The CHURCH (St. Peter) is a single pile of flint and pebbles, with a square tower and four ls. In the windows are figures of St. Catherine and Virgin Mary. Igburgh is by some antiquaries supposed to be the Icinia of toninus; but others have placed that Roman station at Oxburgh, and some at Colchester. Several Roman antiquities have been dug in this vicinity, and amongst them are two urns, a mile-stone, and a pavement of flint stones. A house of Lepers, founded by Wm. rentun, in the reign of Edward I., stood at the south end of the lagna, where its chapel was converted into a farm house many years ago. The poor have 27A. of land, left by Sarah and Mary Dingles. rectory:—George Davey Cronshey, and Jas. Rollinson, farmers; and James Parker, blacksmith.

LYNFORD parish has only the hall, a farm-house, a few cottages, inhabitants, and about 1500 acres of land, from 7 to 8 miles N. W. of Thetford. Sir Richard Sutton, Bart., resides at the hall, and purchased this estate and that of Cranwich, of J. W. D. Street, Esq., about twelve years ago, when he also purchased the east Tofts Hall estate, and added the extensive park to that of Lynford Hall, a handsome building, which he greatly enlarged about three years ago; but the old part was built by James Nelthorpe, Esq., in 1717. The CHURCH was demolished several centuries ago, and its site is now enclosed and planted with Scotch firs, in the south west part of a court yard leading to the hall. The benefice was annihilated with the church. The farm is occupied by Wightman Sooby.

METHWOLD, vulgarly called Muel, is a large village with several neat houses, 6 miles N. N. W. of Brandon, and 4 miles S. E. of Stoke-Ferry. It has in its extensive parish, 1,266 inhabitants, and 13,432 acres of land, a great part of which is fen and sandy heath, all enclosed, the latter under an act passed in 1807, evincing to which here was an extensive warren, famous from an early period for the abundance and excellence of its rabbits, called by the alterers, Muel rabbits, under which name those from the surrounding warrens are still sold. The King is lord of the manor of Methwold, and owner of 5432A. of the soil, as part of the Duchy of Lancaster, but the manorial rights are leased to H. S. Partridge, Esq. The other principal land owners are Misses Clough, W. Sweton Esq., (1475A.) and Christs' College, Cambridge, (212A.) The latter has the manor of Broomhill, which extends into this parish. Being ancient demesne, the inhabitants of Methwold are exempt from serving on juries out of the manor, and from tolls at markets and fairs. A small Fair for horses, cattle, &c. is held here on April 23rd, and a Hiring Session on the Tuesday before Old

[illegible]

705 ard, miller & baker an, vict. King's Head

y. veterinary surgeon
Crown Inn, (post hs.)
blacksmith
es, gentleman
William, senior
rs. Ruth
p. painter, plumber, &c.
John, boarding school
a. carpenter
saddler & rope mkr.
es, bricklayer
es. Farmers.
V. Thompson Rbt.
Thompson W.
Grocers & Drps.
ohn Chapman Jas.
ork) Griffin Wm. (&
fire office agt.)

Cater Wm.
Sewell John
Sutton Joseph

Geo John
Plumb Edward

Coach to London, daily, except Sunday, at 10 mng.; to Holt, Tu. Thu. and Sat. and to Swaffham and Fakenham, Mon. Wed. and Fri. at 5 afternoon.

CARRIERS.—(Crown Inn,)—
Green and Archer's Van, to London, Mon. & Thu. at 2 aft.; to Watton, Dereham, & Holt, at 7
evng. of same days, & to and from Swaffham, Fri.—Widow Nock, to Lynn, Mon. and Thu. and to Thetford, Tue. and Fri.—Joseph
Payne, to Norwich and Watton,
Mon.; and Thos. Bretnall, to Thetford, Saturday.

NORTHWOLD is a long village with a few neat houses, on the up-pike, near the river Wissey, 3 miles S. E. by E. of Brandon, and 7 miles N. by W. of Brandon. Its parish has 1,500 inhabitants, and 5081a. of land, exclusive of roads and water.
A court leet, for tithes, &c., is held Nov. 30th and Dec. 1st, at Northwold, and about 2 miles to the N.W., near Stoke Ferry, is the manor of WHITTINGTON, in this parish, where Messrs. Whitbread & Co., great London brewers, have an extensive malt-house, with four malthouses, capable of steeping 1700 bushels of barley at one time. The parish is in the manors of Northwold, Hovells, and of which H. S. Partridge, Esq., is lord. The other principal owners are T. Harvey and J. B. S. Bradfield, Esqrs., and Wm. Thackeray. The CHURCH (St. Andrew) is a large edifice, with a nave, aisles, chancel, and lofty tower, (173,) containing six bells and a good clock. The roof of the nave is of oak, painted and gilt, and ornamented with spread eagles. Against the north wall of the chancel is a lofty pile of sculptured work, the upper part of curiously wrought spire work, with pylons and niches, in which small images have stood on pedestals, and in the lower compartment there are still three effigies of knights in armour, separated by three trees, and supposed to be the guards of the holy sepulchre. The rectory, valued at £29. 14s. 9½d., is in the gift of the Bishop of Ely, and now in the hands of the Rev. C. M. R. Norman, with 66a. of glebe. By ancient custom, the rector gives £2 worth of bread yearly to the poor.
BENEFRACTIONS to the poor of Northwold, comprise 105a.

£22 per ann
118 acres wa

Market

Armstrong E
Barram Jame
Brightwell G
Carter John,
Dent David,
agt. to Norv
Dent Edw. co
Dye Henry, 'b
Foyster Miss
Harvey Thoma
Joy Wm. surge
King Wm. butc
Norman Rev. C l Taylor Saml
and Co., malte
Tudderham Wm
ter, &c.
Turner Pp. bask
Walpole Jonas, s
Windett Mr. Jam
Winfield 'Thos. co
PUBLIC H
l Bell, John Rich
Crown, James Ket
George IV., John.
SANTON naris

edifice with a tower, half circular and half octangular, and had aisles, of which some small fragments are still extant. The Bishop of Ely is appropriator of the great tithes and of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5. 13s. 1d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Geo. Miller. It was augmented in 1775 and 1804, by £100 of Queen Anne's bounty.—Directory:—James Chambers and John Bartlett, farmers; and Geo. Quantrill, vict., Cock.

RUSTON parish, on the river Wissey, 5½ miles S.W. by S. of Ely, has only 49 inhabitants, and 1800 acres of sandy land, all in one farm, belonging to Lord Walsingham, and occupied by Mr. Dix. About 800 acres form a prolific rabbit warren. The church (Holy Cross) has long been a heap of ruins, though the rectory is valued at £6, is still continued as a sinecure in the gift of Lord Walsingham, and incumbency of the Rev. W. Pearce, and was augmented in 1742, with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The churchyard is still used as a burial ground.

WEST is a parish 6 miles N.N.W. of Thetford, containing a small hamlet of cottages, a farm-house, the old hall, 182 acres, and about 2700 acres of land, including 500 acres of parkland ornamenting the extensive park of West Tofts Hall, which is added to that of Lynford Hall, the seat of Sir Richard Sutton, who purchased this manor a few years ago, of John Moseley, Esq., together with all the soil of the parish, except about 400A. belonging to Lord Walsingham and Ashburton. The church (St. Mary) is an ancient building with a nave, a small chancel, and a large emburied tower, and was thoroughly repaired, and beautified with stained glass, a few years ago, by Sir Richard Sutton, the patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £8, and now enjoyed by the Rev. W. E. The hall is occupied by a servant, and the farm by Leonard

WEETING-WITH-BROOMHILL now form one parish, near the Great Ouse river, from 1 to 1½ mile N. of Brandon, and 8 miles S. by S. of Stoke-Ferry. They contain 357 inhabitants, and about 1500 acres of land, including 1500A. of woods and plantations, and the property of John Angerstein, Esq., M.P., of Weeting Hall, a handsome mansion, in an extensive and well wooded park bounded by the late Earl of Montrath, from whom it passed to Lord Bradford, who sold it and the estate to the late John Julius Angerstein, Esq., who was born at Petersburg, in 1735, came to England in 1761, under the patronage of A. Thompson, Esq., an eminent merchant, and became a celebrated and wealthy stock broker and underwriter at Lloyds. He planted here upwards of 1000 acres, distinguished patron and connoisseur of ancient and modern art, and the first proposer of State Lotteries in England. He resided chiefly in Pall-Mall, and at the Woodlands, on Black Heath. He died in 1823, and his valuable collection of paintings were purchased for the National Gallery at the cost of nearly £60,000. That great poet, Thomas Shadwell, who died in 1691, is said to have been born at WEETING, a small village of detached houses, formerly containing two churches; but St. Mary's became a ruin by the fall of more than a century ago, and but little of its walls are remaining. These ruins are in the park, near the hall; and at a short distance is All Saints Church, a small edifice with a nave, chancel, and belfry. Both are rectories, the former valued in K. R. £8. 1s. 8d., and the latter at £10. 8s. 1½d.; but consolidated in gift of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, and incumbent the Rev. Wm. Manning, of Diss. BROOMHILL, or Bromehill, manor and farm, 1 mile S.E. of Weeting, lying near Brandon, having a large cattle fair on July 7th. It had a PRIORY for monks of the Augustine order, founded by Sir Hugh de Plaiz, about the time of King John, but suppressed in 1528, by a Bull of Pope Clement Seventh, and afterwards granted to Cardinal Wolsey. Near Weeting Hall, are traces of a square castle, the hill and moat being visible — (See Grim's Grave, p. 699.) — The poor parishioners, at the interest of £45, left by several donors, and, with four other parishes, they have a share of Almrare's charity — (See p. 704.) — rectory — J. Angerstein, Esq. Weeting Hall; Thomas Carr, agent, Charles Newditch, farmer, Broomhill; Richard Pepper, farmer, Fengate; John Wade, vict., Leather Bottle; Wm. C. shopkeeper, painter, glazier, &c., Sarah Jacob, schoolmistress.

SHROPHAM HUNDRED

Is of an irregular oblong figure, about 14 miles in length from east to west, and from 6 to 8 in breadth, being bounded on the west by Grimshoe, on the north by Wayland and Forehoe on the east by Depwade, and on the south by Guiltcross Hundred. The soil is various, but much of it is a light sand, watered by a number of rivulets, which unite their streams on its southern boundary, at Quiddenham, and flow westward to the Little Ouse at Thetford. This Hundred forms, with that of Guiltcross, the Deanery of East Angles, in the archdeaconry of Norfolk, except the borough of Thetford, which forms a deanery of itself in the archdeaconry of Norfolk. Petty Sessions are held at East Harling, on the first Tuesday of every month, and Mr. William Clarke is clerk to the magistrates. SHROPHAM, written in Domesday-book Serepham, was in the fee of castle manor of Buckenham, from the Confessor's time till the reign of Henry VI. It contains 21 parishes, of which the following is an enumeration, showing their population in 1831, the annual value of their lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1835, and their territorial extent —

PARISHES	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES	Pop.	Ann. Val.	Acres.
Attleborough ..	1,939	£9577	5,251	Rockland All Sts. }	329	£2284	1,000
Besthorpe	549	3,745	2,110	Rockland St. Adw. }	136	£2284	1,000
Brettenham	65	1,104	2,000	Shropham ..	507	4,799	2,000
Bridgham	991	1,870	2,200	Snettistown ..	247	2,363	2,000
Buckenham (New)	705	1,525	280	Wilby ..	123	1,061	1,000
Buckenham (Old) ..	1,201	9,738	4,000	Wretham (East) .. }	323	3,180	2,000
Eccles ..	132	1,516	1,500	Wretham (West) }
Ellingham (Great) ..	882	4,409	2,670	Thetford Borough
Harham ..	77	1,283	1,400	St. Cuthbert ..	1,516
Hockham	565	3,115	4,000	St. Mary ..	872	5,946	2,000
Illington	91	556	1,000	St. Peter ..	1,074
Kilverstone	36	1,146	2,000
Larling	227	1,815	1,350	Total	12,586	£92,281	52,000
Roudham ..	73	863	2,300

ATTLEBOROUGH, or Attleburgh, is a small, ancient market town, on the London road, near the source of a small rivulet, 15 miles S.W. of Norwich, 14 miles N.E. by E. of Thetford, and 6 miles S.W. of Wymondham. During the Saxon era, it was a place of great consequence, being the seat of Offa and Edmund, successively kings of the East Angles, who fortified it against the predatory incursions of the Danes. These fortifications were conspicuous in the time of Henry II.; but no traces of them are now extant. It was afterwards the seat of the Mortimers, whose ancient hall, now a farm house, is encompassed by a deep moat. The parish contains 1939 inhabitants, and 5251 a. 1 a. 25 r. of land. Sir John Smith, Bart., is lord of the manor of Attleburgh-Mortimer and its members, (fines arbitrary), Sir Thomas Beever, Bart., is lord of Chaunticlere's manor, (fines arbitrary,) and the Rectory is a small manor, subject to a fine of 2s. per acre on land, and to arbitrary fines on the buildings. W. S. Cockell, Esq., and many others, have estates here. The town consists chiefly of one long street, with a grass-grown market-place; the market held on Thursday, having been long obsolete, except for corn, which is sold by sample opposite the Crown Inn. Three Fairs are held on the Thursdays before Easter and Whit Sunday, and on August 15th, for cattle, pedlery, &c. A pleasure fair, held on the day before the March assizes, originated from the throngs who flocked here to see the prisoners pass from Norwich to Thetford. Near the town, on the turnpike to Wymondham, is a square stone pillar, commemorating the gift of £200 by Sir Edward Rich, Knt., in 1675, for the reparation of the road, which is said to be the first turnpike made in England, being formed under an act of the 7th and 8th of William and Mary. A COLLEGE (Holy Cross) was founded here in the reign of Richard II., by Sir Robert de Mortimer, for a custos and four fellows. It was granted to the Earl of Sussex at the dissolution, when its yearly revenue amounted to £21. 16s. 3d. The CHURCH, dedicated to the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin, is in the collegiate form, with an ancient square tower and six bells, at the intersection of the transept. The east end was destroyed by the fall of the spire, and the rest of the edifice exhibits a large nave, with its aisles; a north and south transept, and a handsome porch on the south side. The south transept was built by Sir Wm. Mortimer, about 1296, and the north transept by Thomas Chaunticlere, in 1378. To their families and the Ratcliffes, here are many monumental memorials, and in the nave is a stone recording the name, &c., of Captain Gibbs, the celebrated horse racer and gamester, of the reign of Charles II. The rectory is in two consolidated mansetries, called Great and Little; the former valued in K. B. at £19. 8s. 9d., and the latter at £8. 2s. 6d. Sir J. Smith is the patron, and the Rev. Fairfax Franklin is the incumbent. The Society of Friends, the Baptists, and the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here. The church land is 52 a. 1 a. 35 r., let for £54 6s. a-year, out of which £6 is given to the poor, as the bequest of Andrew Reeder. The clerk's land for ringing the bell at 5 morning and 8 evening, is 1 a. 2 a. 32 r. The poor have 3 a., let for £8, and left by Francis Brickley, in 1670; also 8 cottages, with 3 a. 1 a. 10 r. occupied rent-free by poor families. At the enclosure, in 1812, 57 a. 2 a. of fen land was allotted to the poor for fuel, &c. The Rev. Henry Norford bequeathed in 1673, the school land, 9A. 3R. 2P., for the education of 8 free scholars, and a yearly rent-charge of £2. 12s. for six poor widows. A great part of the town was burnt in 1559; and another fire in 1762, destroyed two houses and the stables at the Griffin Inn. Gilbert Berkeley Bishop of Bath and Wells, was rector of Attleborough, in 1544, and a native of Norfolk.

Post Office at Mr. Henry Johnson's. The Mail, to Norwich, &c., at $\frac{1}{2}$ before 8 a.m., and to London at $\frac{1}{2}$ before 7 e.vg. Mail Carts, to Lingham and Buckenham, at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 8 a.m., return 5 afternoon.

Bowdon Wm. wheelwright
Brown Rev. Wm. Baptist min.
Cocked Miss C. & Pinner Mrs.
Cockell, Muskett, and Spanton, bankers, (draw on Barclay and Co)

Francis Jane, druggist & grocer
Fraucklin, Rev. Fairfax, rector
Johns n James, fishmonger
Lane Rev. Joseph
Leath Thos. Thorne, auctioneer
Peck Richd. horse dealer
Pinner John, bricklayer & parish clerk

Reker Saul basket maker
Sewell & Shandall, brewers
Shickle J. master of weights, &c.
Wetster Jas. glover & hair der
Wilson Wm. tanner
Wright John, straw hat maker

INNS AND TAVERNS.

Angel, James Lovick
Bear, Thomas Lingo
Cock Inn & postings Jas. Peck
Crown Inn Robt. Ballard
Griffin Inn Rev. J. Sewell
White Horse James Gayford

Academies. Reverend Houses.
Alams Wm. Barker Thomas
Plumpton Har. Cross Samuel
Larke J. P. Pinnerham Jas.
Pott J. P. Green Wm.

Attorneys. Blacksmiths.
Cockett W. S. Pinnerham John
Spanton Chpr. Smith Samuel
Baker S. S. Pinnerham John
Littlepound W. King Stephen
Vance Benj. Lawrence W.
Turner John

Boot and Shoe

Makers

Barker Wm.
Brett Isaac
Carter James
Colding Chas.
Smith Chpr.

Butchers

Goldspink S.
Hewitt Wm.
Layton John

Coopers

Bird Charles
Fowl Robert

Corn Millers.

Dodd Thomas
Harris Wm.
Mann John

Farmers.

* are yeomen.

Carver John
Clarke Edw.
Clarke John (a maltster)

Edwards Jno.
Green John
Jells John

Ketson Thos.
Last Philip

Lawrence Benj.
Lawrence Ml.

* Limbert Jas.
* Littlepound W.

* Palmer Richd.
* Parsons Ald.

Potter Jph.
Salter Ts. Hull

COACHES

From the Cock Inn

The Mail, to Norwich, at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 a.m., and to London, $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 7 e.vg. The Magnet to Norwich, at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 5 a.m., and to London, at 20 min. p. 7 e.vg.

From the Griffin Inn.

The Telegraph, to London &

Smith James

* South Tphs

Stevens S. N.

Turner Jas.

Tutner John

Warren Wm.

Grocers & Drpr

Kidde W. C.

Mace Robert

Musket James

James, &c.

Ayton Charles

Barrows Benj.

Lando Thomas

Painters, &c.

Tees, &c.

Hutney John

Haselwood Rt.

Saddlers

Detow Geo.

Miles Wm.

Shy keepers

Brett Isaac

Freeman Jno.

Warren Nath.

Smyth

Martner John

Potter G. S. D.

121-5

Barker John

Parley Nath.

Pinnerham John

Shogun Robt.

Wet A. Wm.

Dawson James

Warren John

$\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 mug, and to Norwich, at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 5 evng.

CARRIERS

To London, Mack & Deakin's Van, daily, at 12 night, and to Norwich, at 4 mug.

To Buckenham and Hingham, Mail Carts, at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 mug

To Norwich. Geo. Moss, Tue and Fri noon, and Saml. Crow and Hy Johnson, Mon. Wed. & Sat., 1 mug.

To Norwich, (Angel.) Wm. Clarke, Thu., & to Thetford, Sat.

To Watton, (Angel.) Marsh & Swann, Mon and Thu.

BESTHORPE is a parish of dispersed houses, within 1 mile E. of Attleborough, containing 542 inhabitants, and 2100a. of land, mostly the property of the Earl of Winterton, the lord of the manor, impropiator of the rectorial tithes, and patron of the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £5 6s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., and now enjoyed by the Hon and Rev. A. A. Turnour, with 35a. of glebe. The Church (All Saints) is cruciform, and has a lofty square tower. At the enclosure, in 1806, 18a. of land was allotted to the poor—Directory—Wm Childer, horse & cattle dlr & vict., Square and Compass, John Larkman and John Wiggett, blacksmiths; Robert Lovett, corn miller; and Robt. Cowls, Edward Limmer, Wm Palmer, Saml Rose and Saml Wright, farmers.

BRETENHAM parish, in the vale of the river Thet, 4 miles E. of Thetford, has only one farm-house, a few cottages, 65 inhabitants, and about 2000 acres of sandy land, occupied by John Palmer and belonging to Sir W. B. Proctor, Bart., the lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, (St. Andrew,) which, with the rectory-house, was burnt down in 1693, but afterwards rebuilt, except the chancel, of which the arch of a large window still remains. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 12s. 6d., is in the incumbency of the Rev. Thos. Lewis Jones. Several Roman coins of Vespasian and other emperors, have been dug up here, together with a few urns, which led Bamefield to suppose that the station, Coml retonum, was here, and not at Brettenham, in Suffolk.

BRIDGHAM, a small village in the pleasant vale of the Thet river, 4 miles W. of East Harling, and 7 miles E. by N. of Thetford, contains 291 inhabitants, and 2200 acres of land, of which Sir J. S. Sebright, Bart., is principal owner and lord of the manor. Wm. Cockell and C. Harrison, Esqrs., have Estates here, and Mr. Robt. Everett owns the mill. The Church (St. Mary) has a nave, chancel, and north porch, and a wooden belfrey, with two bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £11. 1s., is in the gift of the King, and incumbency of the Rev. S. G. Comyn, with 22a. of glebe. A Mr. Risley, who was rector here in 1523, bequeathed to the poor of this parish, two-thirteenth parts of the rent of 92a. of land at Upton, in Huntingdonshire, now yielding £9 per annum, paid by the master and fellows of Christ's College, Cambridge. Land left to the poor of Bridgham, by Dorothy Gaudy, now amounts, with an allotment added to it at the enclosure in 1801, to 7a. 2b. 25p., let for £6. 8s. Here is a small Wesleyan Chapel, built in 1831—Directory—Eliz Brame, vict., Red Lion, Wm Cockell, jun., Esq., Rev. Stephen Geo Comyn, A M, rector, John Cooper and John Noble grocers; Samuel Hastead, wheelwright; Simon Kemp and William Whiterod, shoemakers, Isaac Meek, blacksmith; Thos. Raus, brewer.

The following is a list of the names of the persons who have been elected to the office of Justice of the Peace for the year 1884. The names are given in alphabetical order of their surnames. The names of the persons who have been elected to the office of Justice of the Peace for the year 1884 are:

Adams John, 201, 2nd St.
 Brown John, 201, 2nd St.
 Burroughs John, 201, 2nd St.
 Carter, 201, 2nd St.
 Cooper, 201, 2nd St.
 Davis, 201, 2nd St.
 Decker, 201, 2nd St.
 Edwards, 201, 2nd St.
 Evans, 201, 2nd St.
 Fisher, 201, 2nd St.
 Gale, 201, 2nd St.
 Green, 201, 2nd St.
 Hall, 201, 2nd St.
 Harris, 201, 2nd St.
 Howell, 201, 2nd St.
 Hunt, 201, 2nd St.
 Jackson, 201, 2nd St.
 Johnson, 201, 2nd St.
 Jones, 201, 2nd St.
 Keith, 201, 2nd St.
 Lester, 201, 2nd St.
 Martin, 201, 2nd St.
 Miller, 201, 2nd St.
 Moore, 201, 2nd St.
 Myers, 201, 2nd St.
 Nelson, 201, 2nd St.
 Oliver, 201, 2nd St.
 Parker, 201, 2nd St.
 Quinn, 201, 2nd St.
 Reed, 201, 2nd St.
 Richmond, 201, 2nd St.
 Roberts, 201, 2nd St.
 Ross, 201, 2nd St.
 Ryan, 201, 2nd St.
 Sanders, 201, 2nd St.
 Scott, 201, 2nd St.
 Shaw, 201, 2nd St.
 Smith, 201, 2nd St.
 Snow, 201, 2nd St.
 Spence, 201, 2nd St.
 Stevens, 201, 2nd St.
 Taylor, 201, 2nd St.
 Thomas, 201, 2nd St.
 Thompson, 201, 2nd St.
 Turner, 201, 2nd St.
 Vance, 201, 2nd St.
 Warren, 201, 2nd St.
 White, 201, 2nd St.
 Wilson, 201, 2nd St.
 Wood, 201, 2nd St.
 Wright, 201, 2nd St.
 Young, 201, 2nd St.

Palmer, 201, 2nd St.
 Taylor, 201, 2nd St.
 Vance, 201, 2nd St.
 White, 201, 2nd St.
 Wilson, 201, 2nd St.
 Wood, 201, 2nd St.
 Wright, 201, 2nd St.
 Young, 201, 2nd St.

Carpenters.	Bryant Richd.	COACH, from King's Arms, to
Aldis D. F. & W.	Penman Henry	Norwich, Mon. and Thu. at $\frac{1}{2}$ bef
Cooke Wm. C.	Turner Joseph,	11, and Sat. $\frac{1}{2}$ bef 9 mng. and to
Druggists.	(executors of)	Bury St. Edmund's, 6 evening
Davy Samuel	Saddlers.	CARRIERS.—Newdick & Shep-
Dodd Jno. Beck	Austin Edward	herd's Van to and from London
Farmers.	Townshend Jno.	& Norwich, Tue. & Fri.; Saml.
Davy Edward	Tailors.	Johnson, to & from Norwich, Wed
Gall John	Holl Geo. (& dpr)	and Sat.; and Jas Hewett, to &
Grocers & Drps.	Stebbing Elvin	from Dias, Thu. (from King's Arms.)

BUCKENHAM (OLD) is a large village of detached houses, skirting a pleasant green of 40 acres, shaded with trees and distant about 1 mile N by W. of New Buckenham, and 3 miles S by E of Attleborough. Its parish contains 1201 inhabitants, and about 4000 acres of land, mostly the property of Lady Herbert, the Earl of Albemarle, and the Rev. T. P. Slapp, the first of whom is lady of the manor, now leased during her life to James Cuddon, Esq., of Norwich. The fee of this place was given by William the Conqueror to Wm. de Albini, whose son was commonly called "William with the strong hand," from his having (as the legends of chivalry relate) killed a lion by thrusting his arm down its throat, after having been thrown into its den by the Queen of France, who was enraged by his refusing the offer of her hand, he being previously affianced to the widow of Henry I., whom he subsequently married, and became Earl of Arundel, in 1139, when he assumed the lion for his crest. His father disliking the old Saxon castle here, erected a new CASTLE upon the hill, a little farther to the east. This fortress consisted of a keep, two circular towers, a grand entrance tower, barbican, and embattled walls, surrounded by a moat; but nothing now remains except a few ruined fragments of the gateway and keep, all traces of the entrenchments having been obliterated by the plough. The second Wm de Albini, founded a PRIORY here in 1085, for Augustine canons. At the dissolution it was valued at £131. 11s., and granted to Sir Thos. Knevet. But few traces of it now remain, though the foundations of its conventual church, were extant in Blomefield's time. The parish CHURCH (All Saints) is an ancient thatched edifice, with a north aisle and octagon tower, containing five bells. The benefice is a curacy certified at £17, and augmented by a parliamentary grant of £800, in 1769, and £200 given by Wm. Holbeck, Esq., in 1766. The rate payers are the patrons, and the Rev. T. P. Slapp is the incumbent. The Baptists, Sandemanians, and Primitive Methodists, have each a chapel here. A pleasure fair is held on the green, on May 29th. Near the village is St. Andrew's Hall, a large ancient mansion, formerly the seat of the Herberts, and so called from a church that stood near it, and was converted into a barn after the Reformation. The common was enclosed in 1790. Five poor widows have a yearly rent charge of £5, left by James Harvey in 1720. The poor's land, left by Andrew Heeder, in 1655, was let in 1786, for 30s.; that left by Robert Laughter, in 1622, for £4. 10s.; and that by Mr. Wolham, for 16s. a-year. The Post Office is at the White Horse; letters arrive $\frac{1}{2}$ past 9 morning, and desp. 4 afternoon.

(The following text is extremely blurry and illegible due to low resolution and poor contrast. It appears to be a multi-column document, possibly a newspaper or magazine page.)

...the ...

[illegible]

Robt. vict., Chequers	Wilemer Rd.	Colman Wm.
Wm. sen. & jun. farriers	Wheelwrights.	Downes Wm.
vert, gardener	Brooks Wm.	Lynn Wm.
ohn, corn miller	Chaplain E. & W	Mann Mary
Michael butcher	Farmers.	Rose John
ers.	* are yeomen.	Warren Saml.
Lebbell Robt.	Adams John	Weston Nathl.
Yeo mans Roger	* Barnard Benj.	Whitrick Jno.
Jeffry	Barnard James
Grocers, &c.
Rose Wm.

GHAM parish, 3 miles S.S.W. of Attleborough, has only 77
nts, and 1400 acres of land; all the property of Sir Thomas raite Beevor, Bart., who resides here at the ancient Hall.
URCH (All Saints) is a small edifice, with a square tower and
lls. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £4. 4s. 2d., is consoli-ith Wilby. William Saunders occupies the farm.

KHAM is a pleasant village, 5 miles N. W. by N. of East Har-ts parish contains 565 inhabitants, and about 4,000 acres of ostly the property of Hy. Saml. Partridge, Esq., who resides Hall, a large brick edifice. It was formerly in two parishes, Treat and Little Hockham; but the church of the latter was hed after the reign of Richard II., though its foundations may traced. Henry III. granted to Great Hockham, a charter for t every Friday, and a fair on Easter Monday; but the for-long been obsolete, and the latter is merely a pleasure mart.
URCH (Trinity) stands in the park, and has a nave, chanaisles, but no tower. The common, and Cranberry fen, which ake or mere of 280A., were enclosed and drained in 1795, 9 acres were allotted for the poor, and the reparation of the

In the village is a school, built in 1832, by H. S. Partridge, ho purchased this manor in 1810, of the Dover family.

John Lewis, vict. & tai-	Pullen Rev. Benjamin, curate
led Lion	Smith Susan, schoolmistress
t Henry, schoolmaster	Warren Wm. baker & shopkpr.
Sarah, shopkeeper	FARMERS.
James, land agent	Bidwell James
Jph. & Jno. blacksmiths	Juby William
oseph, shopkpr. & tailor	Lane Benj.
on John, wheelwright and	Loveday Thos.
smith	Carrier to Norwich, William
ge Hy. Saml. Esq., Hall	Edwards.

INGTON parish, on the banks of a rivulet, 5 miles W.N.W.
Harling, comprises only 91 inhabitants, and about 1,000
f land, all the property of the Rev. Robt. Churchman Long,
d of the manor, and patron and incumbent of the rectory, in K. B. at £6. 19s. 2d. The CHURCH (St. Andrew) is a difce, with a square tower, and an inscription to the memory
John Churchman, Kut. Fras. and John Gates are the farmers.
VERSTONE, in the vale of the Thet river, 1½ mile E. of Theta parish, with 36 inhabitants, and about 2,000 acres of sandy e property of John Wright, Esq., who resides at the Hall, an mansion of flint, in a pleasant park, extending d
The CHURCH, a small edifice, with a low roun

Angel,
Pillans
John L. ford to ROC. parishes
W. of A
p. 490.)
-158 inha being in the soil, a dated whe
Saints' C.
The rector.
incumbenc deanery. C. in the villa
Wayland E poor, who h known don Saints ; 2, i
3 Baraham .
2 Brown Ste
1 Chapman ;
1 Dunthorn ;
1 High Mary
2 Mann Frmn
2 Sayers Thos
3 Stanley John
1 Wier E.

inhabitants, and 2647 acres of land, lying in the three MANORS Preccles Parva, Pakenham, and Brad-car; H. D'Esterre Hemsworth, Esq., who resides at the Hall, is lord of the first; the Corporation of Norwich are lords of the second; and Mrs. Hare is lady of the third. Among the other landowners is the Rev. G. B. Leathes, who has a neat mansion here, erected a few years ago. The CHURCH is a large structure, with a massive square tower and five bells. The Parage, valued in K.B. at £8. 13s. 9d., is in the gift of the Corporation of Norwich, and incumbency of the Rev. J. B. Thompson. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here. At the enclosure, allotments of the ten and common were awarded to the poor. Directory: Hy. D'Esterre Hemsworth, Esq.; Rev. Geo. Reading Leathes; Saml. Clerk, grocer; Thos. Gregory and John Lake, blacksmiths; Jas. Howard, wheelwright; Wm. Sayer, corn miller; Jacob Threadgill, beer seller; and Robt. Ames, Robt. Beart, Joshua Finch, John Macn, (and miller,) and Thos. Sutton, farmers.

SNETTERTON is a parish of scattered houses, 3 miles N. of East Harling, comprehending 247 inhabitants, and about 2,000a. of land, divided into four farms; three belonging to the Earl of Albemarle, and one to Sir T. B. Beever, the lord of the manor. The Earl is patron of the rectory, valued in K.B. at £12. 17s. 1d., and now enjoyed by the Hon. and Rev. E. S. Keppell. The CHURCH (All Saints) has a square tower, with four bells, and a piece of land for its reparation. Here was formerly another church, dedicated to St. Andrew. The farmers are Ephraim Drake, Leonard Palmer, John Reeve, and Henry Rudd.

WILBY is a small village and parish, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles E.N.E. of East Harling, containing 123 inhabitants, and about 1600 acres of land, belonging to the Earl of Albemarle and Sir Thos. Beever, the latter, of whom is lord of the manor and patron of the CHURCH (All Saints,) which has a square tower and five bells, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 4s. 7d., and consolidated with Hargham, in the incumbency of the Rev. R. F. Elwin, of Norwich. The par have a house, left by the Wilson family. Directory:—Rev. Vdk. Beety, curate, Richard Bowles, Joseph Palmer, and Robt. Peck, farmers; and Robert Martin, carpenter.

WRETHAM (EAST & WEST), about 6 miles N.N.E. of Thetford, are two adjoining parishes, which keep their poor separately, but are consolidated in ecclesiastical affairs. They contain together 325 inhabitants, most of whom are in East Wretham, which has 2,800 acres, and a village of its own name; and likewise, the hamlet of STONE BRIDGE, on a rivulet, nearly a mile E. of the church, adjoining to Hockham. West Wretham contains 3,200 acres of sandy land, including a sheep walk of 600a.; but its only dwellings are two farm-houses, and Wretham Hall, the pleasant seat of Wyrley Birch, Esq., owner of both parishes, lord of the manors, and patron of the rectories, viz., East Wretham, valued in K. B. at £11. 12s. 3d., and West Wretham, at £12. 11s. 3d., and now consolidated; the church of the latter (St. Lawrence) having been long in ruins.—

East Wretham CHURCH (St. Ethelbert) is a small neat edifice, with a nave, chancel, and square tower; and on its north side is the vault of the Birch family. The present rector is the Rev. Thos. Dinham Atkinson, of Rugeley, Staffordshire. There were 6a. of land in East large Angl.

Suffol
neral sharee when remov 3162 in in man sures.
vided in Mary,
Suffolk divides Thet, 80
wich, 61
28 miles largest at the river the expor there are paper mill facture of communica
the naviga Thetford, t crossed by 1829, in pla ket, held ev
House is a c a neat

and in the town are convenient lodgings, with every accommodation for visitors. In the vicinity have been found various extra-fossils, particularly large rockle-shells, or cardii; and button or echinata. A petrified curlew, and a perfect nautilus, were here many years ago, and the latter was deposited in the British Museum. The fisheries in the rivers within the limits of this borough, are noticed as early as the reign of Henry I., as abounding with pike, pickerel, eels, salmon, chub, perch, carp, tench, dace, &c.—In 115, a sturgeon, weighing 13st. 10lbs., was taken in the paper pool. The surrounding country is generally in large open corn-fields and sheep-walks, and the air is considered highly salubrious, many of the inhabitants out-living their 90th year. The three parishes of the borough support their poor separately; but a large Workhouse was about to be erected here, under the new poor law, for an union of parishes in Norfolk and Suffolk. Lord Ashburton and Sir Robert Gordon, Bart., own the greater part of the enclosed lands, and the former is lord of the manor; but there are in the borough three open commons, and a rabbit warren of 2913 acres. At the enclosure, in 1755, 55a. were allotted to the poor for fuel.

Thetford, according to some authors, was first a British city, and afterwards a Roman station; but the arguments adduced in support of these conjectures, are not very conclusive. Camden and Plot mention the Sitomagus of the Itinerary here; but Gale and Horsley contend that that station was at Woolpit, in Suffolk. At the east end of the town is a large entrenched Mount, about 100 feet in height, 984 in circumference at the base, and 338 in diameter at the top, and 81 at the summit, which is dished or hollowed out to a depth of 12 feet below the outer surface. The slope of the Mount is extremely steep, forming an angle with the plain of the town of more than forty degrees; and yet no traces remain of any steps or roads for the purpose of carrying up machines, or any weighty munition. It has been surrounded by a double rampart, with an outer ditch, the sides of which were protected by the horns and sides of the animals slaughtered for the use of the garrison, but have been much injured by time and the depredations of man. The east side is a large area, 300 feet square, evidently intended for drilling the troops. The remaining parts of the ramparts, are about 12 feet high, and the ditch from 60 to 70 feet wide. These once formidable works, commonly called the Castle Hills, are composed of a mixture of mould and clunch; and on the top of the great mount or tumulus are many tumuli. They were undoubtedly raised for the defence of the town during the predatory incursions of the Danes, who slew the Saxons in a dreadful battle fought at Snare-hill, near Thetford, in 870, when Edmund, King of East Anglia, surrendered to the marauders, who cut off his head, and after plundering and murdering many of the inhabitants of Thetford, reduced the city to ashes. In 1004, Sweyne, King of Denmark, invaded East Anglia, among other places, burnt this. In 1010, Ulfketel, the Saxon, suffered a complete defeat, and Thetford was again destroyed. By the truce which was concluded between Edmund Ironside and Canute, this town, like a phoenix, arose from its ashes. In the time of Edward the Confessor, there were in the borough 944 burgesses, all of whom, except 36, could put themselves under the protection of house,

ized by Cole, l sionally of a far house to scription the Conc other in 1573, Q
a mayor, town cler corporate is clerk o
ner. The " provide expense o
II., and a scinded in governed b
Bill, in 18
12 common yearly, on nearly half and the rest
the borough
January 6th, here as early
the Lent Ass.
a fine old bu

Winkup, H. B. Tyrrell, J. Mann, S. Mills, and G. Tyrrell.
Chamberlains, J. B. Fauz and J. Burrell, sen. Esqs.
Stamp Distributor, Wm Clarke, Esq.
Record Bearer, Mr C. Tyler Mace Bearer, Mr. W. Norman.
Goal-keeper, Mr John Johnson.—Beadle, W. Boldrick.
Chief Constable, Mr. J. Whistler.—Corn Inspector, Mr. Green.

CHURCHES AND MONASTERIES—The ruins of ecclesiastical and other buildings, in various parts of Thetford, strongly remind the visitor of its ancient splendour. It had at one period 20 churches, and 8 monasteries, besides other religious and charitable foundations, in consequence of which it obtained the epithet of "Hierapolis et monachopolis." But of these, the names only of some remain; and of others, a few dilapidated walls serve to mark their sites, most of which were granted, at the dissolution, to Rd. Fulmerston, Esq., and the Duke of Norfolk. The Nunnery was founded originally for monks, as a cell to the abbey of St. Edmund's Bury, in the reign of Canute; but in 1176, the monks being reduced to two, it was re-founded for a convent of nuns, who removed hither from Lynn.—Some of its remains may be seen in the outbuildings of a farm-house. The Priory, or Abbey, first erected on the Suffolk side of the town, in the churchyard of the cathedral, was removed to a more convenient spot, on the margin of the river, and was founded by Roger Bigod, for Clugniac monks, in 1104. The ancient gateway, of freestone and black flint, with parts of the church, &c. still remains. Its revenues were valued, at the dissolution, at £312. 14s. 4d.; the Nunnery, at £50. 9s. 8d.; and the Monastery of St. Sepulchre, at £82. 6s. The latter was founded by Earl Warren and Surrey, in 1109, for Augustine canons. The porter's gate and part of the church still remain, in Canon's close; the latter converted into a barn. The Austin Friary was founded by John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, in 1367, for mendicants, and its site is still called the Friar's close. On removing the foundation of the friary church, the remains of Lady Todenham and Lady Heugrave were discovered, and re-interred near the same spot, under a handsome altar-tomb, erected in 1807, by Geo. Beauchamp, Esq. The latter lady died in 1402, and the former in 1412. The Maison de Dieu, which stood at the corner of Canon's close, was founded by Wm. Rufus and Earl Warren, for two chaplains and three poor men, who were to be fed, clothed, and lodged, and have water for washing the pilgrims' feet. Here were four Hospitals, for lepers, &c., dedicated to St. John, St. Mary and St. Julian, St. Mary Magdalen, and St. Margaret; but no vestiges of them now remain. Of the 20 parish churches of Thetford, only three are now standing. St. Mary's, which was rebuilt by Bishop Herfast, as the cathedral, is supposed to have stood on the site of the free school, and had four churches appendant to it.—The tower of St. Nicholas', and some small ruins of a few of the other decayed churches, are still extant. St. Peter's Church is a large handsome fabric, chiefly of flint, and consisting of a nave, chancel, aisles, and tower; the latter rebuilt in 1789, when a great part of the body was also re-edified. The battlements on the south side, and the buttresses are decorated with ornaments and large letters, inlaid in the flint work. The tower is lofty, and contains a clock and eight musical bells. The living is a rectory, valued in

K. B. at £5. 1s. 5½d., and augmented in 1726 with £ Anne's bounty, and £200, given by Henry Campion, 1814, with a Parliamentary grant of £1,200. It is with St. Cuthbert's, in the gift of the Duke of Norfolk, bequeathed by the Rev. Thomas Sworde. St. Cuthbert's is a smaller edifice, with a tower and five bells, and is augmented with £1,600 of royal bounty, in 1811 and 1812. THE LESS is the only church now standing on the Suffolk town. It is a large thatched fabric, with a lofty square tower, and six bells. The interior is neatly pewed, and has several monuments; one to the memory of Sir Rd. Fulmerston. It is a curacy, augmented in 1722-3, with £200, given by Campion, Esq., and £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The patron is the Duke of Norfolk, and the Rev. Wm. Collett incumbent. Friends' Meeting House; a Wesleyan Chapel, built in 1817; a Methodist Chapel, erected in 1817; and a handsome Chapel, built in 1826, by subscription, for its present priest, Holden.

The FREE GRAMMAR SCHOOL and HOSPITAL, in Suffolk, on the Suffolk side of the river, were founded by Fulmerston, in 1566, when he endowed them with portions of the dissolved monasteries, some of which had been employed for the same uses. The endowment is upwards of £600 per annum, and the founder bequeathed his heirs, for the support of a schoolmaster and usher, or master of the hospital, with four alms-people, viz., two men and two poor women. After the trust had been for some time it was transferred to the Corporation. The school is for boys of the borough, free of expense, for both English and French. The four alms-people have each a weekly stipend of 8s. W. Collett is the preacher, the Rev. Rt. Wood, headmaster. Mr. J. P. Cowell, usher. The National School, built in 1825, has now 56 boys and 60 girls under tuition. Spinning, Knitting, and Reading School, at the Guildhall, supported by subscription, for about 30 children; about 400 attend the various Sunday Schools. HANDBICRAFT was founded by Sir Chas. Harbord, for six poor men, with an endowment of £30 per annum, for 99 years, which expired, so that the inmates have at present no stipend. Sir JOSEPH WILKINSON, (a late recorder,) bequeathed the sum of £1,000, for apprenticing poor children, a house and land, in Suffolk, now let for £220 a-year. The BOUNTY distribution, among the poor of Thetford, are, £1,000, left by Peter Sterne, Esq., in 1817, and the present charges, viz., £16, left by Sir Edwin Rich, in 1811; £3, by Thomas, Duke of Norfolk; £3, by Mrs. Eagen; £4, by Alderman Barubam, in 1751; £12. 10s., by Hy. Smith, in 1627; and 20s., by John, in 1627. Among the Eminent Men born at Thetford are, F. A. S., author of the History of Thetford, born in 1771; and Thomas Paine, of political notoriety, in 1771. "The Rights of Man," "Common Sense," "The Age of Reason," which, being written in a peculiarly popular style, Winkap, H. B. Tyrrell, J. Mann, S. Mills, and G. Tyrrell.

Chamberlains, J. B. Paux and J. Burrell sen. Esqrs.

Stamp Distributor, Wm Clarke, Esq.

Sword Bearer, Mr C. Tyler—Mace Bearer, Mr. W. Norman.

Gaoler, Mr John Johnson.—Beadle, W. Haldrick.

Chief Constable, Mr J. Whistler.—Corn Inspector, Mr. Green.

CHURCHES AND MONASTERIES.—The ruins of ecclesiastical and other buildings, in various parts of Thetford, strongly remind the visitor of its ancient splendour. It had at one period 20 churches, and 8 monasteries, besides other religious and charitable foundations, in consequence of which it obtained the epithet of "Hierapolis or monachopolis." But of these, the names only of some remain; and of others, a few dilapidated walls serve to mark their sites, most of which were granted, at the dissolution, to Rd Palmerston, Kay, and the Duke of Norfolk. The Nunnery was founded originally for monks, as a cell to the abbey of St. Edmund's Bury, in the reign of Canute; but in 1176, the monks being reduced to two, it was re-founded for a convent of nuns, who removed hither from Lynn.—Some of its remains may be seen in the outbuildings of a farm house. The Priory, or Abbey, first erected on the Suffolk side of the town, in the churchyard of the cathedral, was removed to a more convenient spot, on the margin of the river, and was founded by Roger Bigod, for Clugniac monks, in 1104. The ancient gateway, of freestone and black flint, with parts of the church, &c., still remains. Its revenues were valued, at the dissolution, at £312. 11s. 4d; the Nunnery, at £50. 9s. 8d.; and the Monastery of St. Neophytus, at £82. 6s. The latter was founded by Earl Warren and Murrey, in 1109, for Augustine canons. The porter's gate and part of the church still remain, in Canon's close; the latter converted into a barn. The Austin Priory was founded by John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, in 1387, for mendicants, and its site is still called the Friar's close. On removing the foundation of the friary church, the remains of Lady Todenham and Lady Hengrave were discovered, and re-interred near the same spot, under a handsome altar tomb, erected in 1807, by Geo. Beauchamp, Esq. The latter lady died in 1402, and the former in 1412. The Maison de Dieu, which stood at the corner of Canon's close, was founded by Wm. Hufin and Earl Warren, for two chaplains and three poor men, who were to be fed, clothed, and lodged, and have water for washing the pilgrims' feet. Here were four Hospitals, for lepers, &c., dedicated to St. John, St. Mary and St. Julian, St. Mary Magdalen, and St. Margaret; but no vestiges of them now remain. Of the 20 parish churches of Thetford, only three are now standing. St. Mary's, which was rebuilt by Bishop Herfast, as the cathedral, is supposed to have stood on the site of the free school, and had four churches appendant to it.—The tower of St. Nicholas', and some small ruins of a few of the other decayed churches, are still extant. St. Peter's Church is a large handsome fabric, chiefly of flint, and consisting of a nave, chancel, aisles, and tower; the latter rebuilt in 1789, when a great part of the body was also re-edified. The battlements on the south side, and the buttresses are decorated with ornaments and large letters, inlaid in the flint work. The tower is lofty, and contains a clock and eight musical bells. The living is a rectory, valued in Ironmongers.

 Down Henry
 Irrell J. &
 , foundrs. &
 hine mksr.
 gers Wlce.
 rs & Bldrs.
 the John
 ats Wm.
 ambling Ja. nson John ith James ompson G.
 rrell Geo.
liners, &c.
 rock Ann
 arke Harrt. rant Sarah ennington S.
brs. Pntrs.
Glaziers.
 rowne Peter orman Sar. etty John se Makers. ck John
 ble Wm.
addlers.
 rnard John ton Wm.
opkeepers.
 nstone Dvd.
 l Mary rtimer Ann ne Masons.
 nowles Jno.
 nare R. & Son

Straw Hat Mksr.
 18 Garner M. A.
 18 Tyler Mary
Surgeons.
 9 Bailey H. W.
 11 Best Hy. W.
Tailors.— are Drapers also.
 11* Brett Johu
 18* Brooks Js. B.
 18* Christopher
 Wm.
 1 Ellis Philip
 17 Hayward Jn.
 11 Meadows Jsh.
 11* Newstead W
 5 Sewell Wm.
 9* Smith Wm.
Timber Merchts
 5 Branford J. W.
 4 Brown Henry
 17 Godfrey S & G.
 10 Tyrrell Geo.
Vet. Surgeons.
 11 Howard Wm.
 4 Parry Thomas
Watch Makers.
 11 Carley Jthn.
 4 Spendlove Jno.
 2 Wratten Chas.
Wheelwrights.
 11 Howard John
 2 Huggins Geo.
 1 King Thomas
 19 Lansdell C. E.
Wine & St. Mrts.
 8 Bidwell L. S.
 13 Gifford Jph.

COACHES.

From the Bell Inn.

The Magnet, to London, at $\frac{1}{2}$ bef. 9 evng. and to Norwich at 4 morning.

The Telegraph to London, at 10 mng., & to Norwich at 4 aft.

From the White Hart Inn.

The Mail to London, by Bury, Newmarket, &c., at 8 evng., and to Norwich at 6 morning.

VESSELS to LYNN, from T. and G. Gill's & Rt. Norman's, weekly.

CARRIERS.

Mack & Deakin's Van, from Norwich to London, at 4 mng.; and to Norwich at 11 night daily.

William Fowell's Van from Guildhall street, to London, Mon. at noon, ret. Sat. at 6 morning.

Cook and Sykes' Van to the White Hart Inn, from London, Mon. Wed. Thu. Fri. & Sat. evgs. rets. the following mornings.

To Bury, Wm. Stone, King st. and Ann Knock, Whitehart st. Wed. and Sat.; and Abm. Woolsey, Whitehart street, Wed.

To Dereham (East) and Watton, Abm. Woolsey, Mon. & Thu.

To Diss & Kenninghall, Wm. Clarke, Gt. Magdalen street, Fri.

To Ipswich, George Lambert, (Green Dragon,) Thu. 9 mng.

To Lynn, Ann Knock, Whitehart street, Mon. and Thu.

To Norwich, Wm. Clarke, Gt. Magdalen street, Thu.

GUILTCROSS HUNDRED

an irregular triangular figure, adjoining to Suffolk, extending at 14 miles from east to west, and varying from 2 to 6 miles in dth, being bounded on the south and west by the Little Ouse r, on the north by the river Thet and Shropham Hundred, and he east by Diss Hundred. The western part of it is a champaign ict, with a light sandy soil, resting on a substratum of chalk; the other parts rise in gentle swells, and have a strong soil of and loam. Many extensive enclosures have been made here e 1789. The crown was seized of this Hundred in the time of Conqueror, who gave it to Wm. de Albani; but it is now compreled in the Duke of Norfolk's liberty, his Grace being lord parant of the whole, though much of the soil, and many of the manors, are held by various families. It forms, with Shropshire, the Deanery of Rockland, and is supposed to have been originally called "Gudecross," from some ancient cross, erected in direction of travellers. It comprehends the twelve parishes of Banham, Blunton, Gorbisham, Gasterhoe, East Harling, Kemnigham, North and South Lopham, Quiddeston, and Rushten with Sarehill, which contain 10,000 inhabitants, and 26,000 acres of land. The annual value of land and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1845, was £100,000. Petty Sessions are held at East Harling, on the first of every month. All the parishes in Guiltcross, except Rushten and Sarehill, have united under the new Poor Law, with the parishes of New Buckenham, Eccles Wilt, Bressingham, Fens, (in Diss Ham) Sheffington, and Winfarthing, and to erect a large Workhouse, for the paupers of the 22 parishes under the control of 25 guardians.

BANHAM parish has a small village on a gentle eminence E by N of East Harling, and contains many scattered inhabitants, and 3,048 acres of rich heavy soil, belonging to a number of copyholders and freeholders, many of whom are the Duke of Norfolk's manors of Banham, Marshalls, Greys, Beckhall, and Hockham, mostly on arable land. The Church (Vicar's Manse) is a large handsome structure of square tower, surmounted by a wooden spire. In a chapel of the founder—Sir Hugh Bardolph, kt. The rectory is in K B at £9 3s 6d, is in gift of the King and now in the Rev John Sartoris. The glebe is 34a, and the church is 17a. The latter was most of it awarded at the enclosure in 1786, and it is subject to a yearly payment of 11s to the poor, for a legacy, and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here. The sum of £100 left by the Bidwell family, is paid for the education of 10 poor children. At the enclosure, 150a of fen land was given to the poor, who cut peat on part of it, and the rest is let to the poor, who have also 100a, a year from land at Besthope, left by Mr. Bidwell in 1833, and 34 1r 24p, with a barn, let for £8 10s, and at the enclosure in exchange for three lots of old poor's land. Mr. Witham and Mrs. Gaudy. An old building, called the Green, was the workhouse together with 1a 23r of land, and a rent of £25 10s, which is divided among the resident poor, the a-usual land being given to them as a court house, and an ancient house of the manors. The fish ponds and a foundation of an ancient Hall, formerly the seat of the Bardolphs, are still in the possession of Mr. James Gaudy's estate.

Armes Wm miller and baker
Betts Mr. J. and Colver Mr. J.
Chapman John, blacksmith
Clarke Wm. vict. Lion
Cracknell W. grazier, painter, &c.
Eshing Hy. grocer and draper
Eshing Hy jun & Bale J. tailors
Gaymer John, vict. Crown
Gilbert Robert, millwright

Harris Ebenezer school
Hewitt James, butcher
Holmes Mrs. My & Mrs. M.
Hampreys John, gardener
Hampreys Wm. miller
Hunt John & Taylor H.
Harrell John, whitesmith
Jessup W. and Taylor J.
Jolly G. & Fisher J. cart

erter for a market and two fairs. The manor subsequently the Lovells, one of whom rebuilt the hall in the reign of H. ; but it was dilapidated many years ago. The town was used for the manufacture of linen yarn, and cloth. The St. Peter and St. Paul) is a large and handsome edifice, tower and spire, partly rebuilt by Sir Wm. Chamberlain, 1633; but the bells were not put up till 1465. At the east end long chapel, containing effigies and other memorials of that time. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £12, is in the gift of Mrs. C., and incumbency of her husband, the Rev. Thos. Boston, to whom his parishioners presented a piece of plate, in 1660. The Friends, Baptists, and the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here. Petty Sessions for this and Hundred are held at the Swan Inn, on the first Tuesday in the month; and Mr. Wm. Clarke is clerk to the magistrates. Land, 96a. 3a. 37r., is let for £70, employed in repairing roads, &c.; and the poor have 56a. of peat land, awarded at auction, for fuel.

rs. E. & Cooke Mrs. E.
os, glazier, painter, &c.
m. cabinetmaker, &c.
& Bond R. schoolrs.
Ir. F. & Gates Mr. J.
Herbert, wine, spirit, &
merchant
Robert, grocer
a. cooper & basket mkr.
John, beer house
John & Robt. gent.
Rev. —, Bapt. min.
James corn miller
Dd. assist. overseer
Geo. vict. White Hart
m. schoolmaster
t. vict. Queen's Head
Mr Wm. patten maker
mes, music tuner
Thomas, wheelwright
James, vict. Bull
bn, saddler
J. ver, surgeon veterinary surgeon
omas, corn miller bn, baker
gardener & beer hs.
Mr. Spicer
Daniel, vict. Swan
W. painter, glazier, &c.
Head
am Mrs Susan
J. watchmkr. & ironmgr.

Wilkinson Rev. Thos. B. rector
Boot & Shoe
Makers.
Gregory Wm.
Knights John
Locke Charles
Pull Robert
Squire James
Blacksmiths.
Chapman Bln.
Peake G. & S.
Pearle John
Bricklayers.
Kerrison Chas.
Kerrison Sn.
Brickmakers.
Kerrison Geo.
Knight Robt.
Butchers.
Newell Robt.
Woodcock G.
Farmers.
Cooke R. Hill
Hurling
Goddard Thos.

Gregory Hy.
Harrold Php.
Kerrison Geo.
Hill Harling
Palmer Edw.
West H. (lime & coal dlr.)
Grocers & Dps.
Atmore Rd.
Drake Eliz.
Everett and At-more, (chandlers & glass dealers)
Lefley George
Youels Wm
Tailors.
Bartlett Jph.
Gaut Wm
Minet James
Mounseer John
Rust Robert
Spink John

Post Office at Mr. Chas. Kerrison's. Mail Gig from Thetford,
8 mng; ret. ½ p. 5 evng.

Newdick's Wagon to Norwich,
Thu. 4 aft., and to Bury St. Ed-mund's Sat. 7 mng. from Nag's
Head.

ING (WEST) parish, in the vale of the Thet, has a few scattered houses, from 1 to 2 miles W.S.W. of East contains 107 inhabitants, and 3,400 acres of land. Nicholas Wm. Ridley Colborne, Esq., who resides in a handsome brick mansion, in a sylvan park, and is lord and patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £9. 18s. enjoyed by the Rev. Charles John Ridley, with 9a. Church (All Saints) stands in the park, and has a square tower, containing five bells, and a crow spire. In the chancel are two brasses; one of a priest of Wm. Birdewell and his wife, whose family was long in an unbattled mansion, called Birdewell Hall, which was destroyed in 1725. The poor's land, left by Dorothy Colborne is let for £7 8s. Here was anciently a hamlet, called Long, with a church (St. Andrew,) which was levelled. Three farms are occupied by St. Kersey, Chas. Murton, KENNINGHALL, a considerable village, extending on the banks of a rivulet, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. by S. of East Ham parish 1,251 inhabitants, and 3,516a. 3a. 27r. of land. The Duke of Norfolk, the Earl of Albemarle, N. Calver, Esqrs., and many smaller proprietors. The manor, which is ancient demesne, and held by the King's butler. The copyholds are on fine certain, and the youngest son. Kenninghall had anciently a large market held every Monday, in the large open space at the village, and it has recently been revived for the sale of sometimes it has small shows of sheep. Here are Fairs, for cattle, on July 15th, and sheep, on Sept. 1st. The manor was a seat of the East Anglian kings, from which the name of King's Hall, afterwards corrupted to Kenninghall, the site of the Royal Castle, in which the valiant British queen held her court, is an area of nearly four acres, enclosed by a large foss, and having at each corner an artificial moat. The conqueror conferred the manor on Wm. de Albani, the first service of chief butler to the kings of England, at the time of the Conquest. From them, through the Montalts and Mowbrays, and the Howards, Dukes of Norfolk, and possessed free of frank-pledge, waif, market, fair assize of bread and ducking stool, and gallows. On the site of the castle, a East Hall, continued to be the residence of the lords until it was taken down by Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, about a furlong to the north-east, a larger and more magnificent building, which, after his attainder, was called Kenninghall, conferred by Henry VIII. on his daughter, the Princess Mary, who often resided here, and Queen Elizabeth also made it a summer seat. It was subsequently restored to the Duke of Norfolk, and continued to be their chief residence in this county until the middle of the 17th century, when it was pulled down, and the materials sold. Its site and park are now in two farms, called Kenninghall place, and still belong to the Duke of Norfolk. The ruins of this seat of royal and ducal splendour are traced by the arms of Arundel and Howard, which are on the bricks, scattered through the walls of the village. Church (St. Mary) has a nave, chancel, north aisle, ge square tower at the west end, containing eight bells, and the crest of Norfolk upon the buttresses. The vicarage, valued at £5. 17s. 1d., is now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Killip. 10A. 3R. 26P. of glebe, and a small portion of the rectorial remainder of which are in the appropriation of the patron, of Ely, but leased to Mrs. and Miss Pope, and Charles Esq. The Baptists, and the Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here. The church land is 7 acres, and the glebe land consists of 26A. 3R. 24P. of arable, and 24A. 35P. of meadow, included at the enclosure of 2,500 acres of common land, in this parish in 1799. Besides £56 a-year from this land, the poor have annuities, viz., 20s., left by Dorothy Gandy, in 1660, and 50s., by Mary Bowles, in 1833, out of land at Besthorpe. The Post Office is at Mary Wade's, where letters arrive at half-past nine, and are despatched at seven o'clock, in the morning.

Eliz. & Dinah, milliners
Wm. poulterer
John, butcher & vict. Red Lion
John, gardener
James, surgeon
Danl. solicitor, & coroner
Lib. of the Dk. of Norfolk
Benjamin, printer
Saml. turner & patten mkr.
Thomas, joiner
Robert, watchmaker
Peter, surgeon
Mr. & Thirza, bdg. school
John, vict. White Horse
Wm. butcher
Mary Thps. Jno. schoolmr.
Rev. Wm. A.B. Vicarage
James, hair dresser
George, saddler
James, parish clerk
George, schoolmaster
John Thos. gov. of Workhs.
Rev. John, Bap. Min.
Sarah, vict. Crown
Mr. Charles & Juler Mrs.
Mattw. painter, glazier, &
George Inn
James, cattle dealer

Large Austin
*Mendham Isc.
*Osborne Geo.
*Reeve John
Reeve Samuel
Sager John
West John
West Wm.
Weston John
Wretham John
Bakers.
Kiddle James
Mason John
Blacksmiths.
Chapman Wm.
Collin James
Wade John
Wade Wm.
Beer Houses.
Ellis Robert
Just Henry
Mark Henry
Bricklayers.
Barham Robt.
Jessup Jonthn.
Sayer Wm.
Brush Makers.
Barham Robert

Rivett Robert
Corn Millers.
Pilgrim Fdk.
Wells Wm.
Coopers.
Daines Robert
Weston Nathl.
Grocers & Dprs.
Betts Charles
Bryant Richard
Steel James Wells J. (mltstr. and brewer)
Shoemakers.
Horne John, (& currier)
Smith Robert
Spurling Danl.
Tailors.
Buxton James
Cooke Thomas
Howe James
Turner James
Wells George
Wheelwrights.
Garrett Benj.
Lawrence Stn.
Wheal John

ners.
Peomen.
an
Wm,
W.&S. ghamJs.
*Cooke Nathl.
Coulson John
Cracknell Wm.
*Green John
Holmes Thos.
Johnson C.

COACHES, (White Horse,) to Norwich, Mon. & Thu. at 10, &
Sat. 8 mg.; to Bury, 6 evg.

CARRIERS, John Wells and J.
Bowen, to Norwich, Tue. & Fri.
9 mg. and to Bury, Tues. 10 mg.

HAM (NORTH,) a pleasant village, 3½ miles S.E. by S. of Lopham, has in its parish 807 inhabitants, and 1,957A. 1R. 8P. of which 900A. called Lopham Park, belong to the Duke of

STAFFORD LEICESTERS

lory,
ham,
Jas. I
two a Colleg
26A. I tained
a-year the poc disham

Beales
Boggis
Bowel I
Clarke.
Coe Col
Corbel C
Gooch T
Jessup C
Jolly W
Nunn Rt.
Payne W
Porter J
Ruddock
Ruddock
Womack J
Farme
 are yeo*
Betts Cpr. J

LOPHA
ticinating

'III., the lord of the manor gave land for the poor, which 786 for £5. On the east side of the two Lophams rise a, which flow southward within a short distance of each other on the borders of Suffolk, where they turn abruptly in opposite directions, forming the sources of the two rivers—Waveney and Yare. Here were once two other "wonders," viz., a tree, in the form of a stile, for which it was long used in a foot-race, the ox-foot stone—a large pebble bearing the exuvial remains of a bivalve shell, but said by fabulous tradition to be the foot of a cow that came regularly to be milked by the inhabitants during a long dearth.

r. Jas. M.A. rector
muel, wheelwright
Wm. baker
r. baker & shopkpr.
rrant, glover & shopr.
s. vict. White Horse
ard, gardener
gent., Sare Mr. Js.
m. joiner
hn, butcher
hn, vict. Chequers
m. blacksmith
f, farmer
corn miller
derick, schoolmaster
t, blacksmith
obt. corn miller
nes, shopkeeper

Farmers.

* are yeomen.

Bailey Thomas
Bircham Thos
Bowell Elhz.
Barrell Ellis
Cooke John
Cooke Wm.
Corley Chas
Downing Rich.
* Drake Thos
Eaton John
* Frost Robert
* Fuller Thos.
Grant Robert
Lovick Wm.
* Murrel Wm.
(carrier (White Horse,) J
Wells, to Norwich and Bury.
Mon. and Thurs.

* Pratt Stph

Sare Robert

* Silveys Thos.

* Wharton Wm.

Linen Manfrs

Bowell Ephraim

Bowell Friday

Backenham J.

Dave John

Downing Rich.

Huggins Henry

Pitcher Thos.

Witting John

Shoemakers.

Hubbard Jas.

Pollard James

Turner George

INHAM, a small village and parish, in the vale of a river, lies E by N. of East Harling, has only 84 inhabitants, and 1,000 acres of land. The whole, except 50 acres of glebe, is appropriated to the Earl of Albemarle, who resides at the Hall, a handsome mansion, chiefly of brick, seated in an extensive wooded park. One front has a Doric portico and the front with four Ionic columns, supporting an entablature with corresponding pilasters. It was long the seat of a family, whose heiress sold it to Mr. Bristow, of whom it passed with the manor, in 1762, by George, the third Earl of Albemarle, of the Keppel family. The title being reverted in person of Arnold Joust Vea Keppel, together with those of Lord, in Kent and Viscount Bury, in Lancashire. He sold it with William the III. The title of Albemarle, which had previously been borne by the Plantagenets, Beauforts, and other families. The Right Hon. Wm Charles Keppel, the present Earl, succeeded his father in 1772. He is a rector, valued in K. B. at £8 1s 6d. and now called Hon. and Rev. Edward Southwell Keppel, M.A. who has a rectory-house, a neat mansion of white brick. The church (11th c.) is a small ancient edifice, with a tower circular at the top.

ry VIII., the lord of the manor gave land for the poor, which in 1786 for £5. On the east side of the two Lophams rise rills, which flow southward within a short distance of each to the borders of Suffolk, where they turn abruptly in opposite directions, forming the sources of the two rivers—Waveney and Ouse. Here were once two other "wonders," viz., a tree, in the form of a stile, for which it was long used in a foot-race, and the ox-foot stone—a large pebble bearing the exuvial of some bivalve shell, but said by fabulous tradition to be the impression of the foot of a cow that came regularly to be milked by the inhabitants during a long dearth.

Rev. Jas. M.A. rector
 n Samuel, wheelwright ham Wm. baker
 Thos. baker & shopkpr.
 Durrant, glover & shopr.
 g Ts. vict. White Horse
 Edward, gardener
 Wm. gent., Sare Mr. Jas.
 m Jas. joiner
 s John, butcher
 t John, vict. Chequers
 e Wm. blacksmith
 lenry, farrier
 hn, corn miller
 Frederick, schoolmaster
 John, blacksmith
 & Robt. corn miller
 James, shopkeeper

Farmers.	*Pratt Rich
* are yeomen.	Sare Robert
Bailey Thomas	*Salvys Thos.
Bircham Thos.	*Wharton Wm
Bowell Eliz.	Linen Manfrs
Burrell Elias	Bowell Ephraim
Cooke John	Bowell Friday
Cooke Wm.	Buckenham J.
Corley Chpr.	Dove John
Downing Rich.	Downing Rich
*Drake Thos.	Huggins Henry
Eaton John	Patcher Thos
*Frost Robert	Witting John
*Fuller Thos.	Shoemakers
Grant Robert	Hubbard Jas
Lovick Wm.	Pollard James
*Murrell Wm.	Turner George
	Carrier (White Horse) 1
	Wells, to Norwich and Bury
	Mon. and Thurs.

ODDENHAM, a small village and parish, in the vale of a 11 miles E. by N. of East Harling, has only 44 inhabitants, 10a. of land. The whole, except 50 acres of glebe, is occupied belongs to the Earl of Albemarle, who resides at the flat, and handsome mansion, chiefly of brick, seated in an extensive well-wooded park. One front has a Doric portico, and the centre with four Ionic columns, supporting an entablature ornament, with corresponding pilasters. It was long the seat of land family, whose heiress sold it to Mr. Bristol, of whom purchased with the manor, in 1762, by George, the third Earl of Albemarle, of the Keppel family, the title being revived in the person of Arnold Joost Von Keppel, together with that of Ashford, in Kent, and Viscount Burgh, in Lancashire. He came to Holland with William the III. The title of Albemarle, sandy, had previously been borne by the Plantagenet, Beaufort, and other families. The Right Hon. Wm. Charles Keppel, 10th and present Earl, succeeded his father in 1772. He is of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £8. 4s. 6d., and now owned by the Hon. and Rev. Edward Southwell Keppel, M. A., who, the rectory-house, a neat mansion of white brick. The church (drawn) is a small ancient edifice, with a tower circular at the

STATIONERIES

resides erected who pur
the seat issue.
In the cl in armor valued in the gift o
Thorseby
RUSH
miles E. acres of l
Lodge, a l overlookin park, in headed mo acres, is o of Thos. C was approp ville, in 134 which were proprietor o at £16, and
The Rev. l
Sir Rt. Bux
SNAREH estate of abo comprised in mansion, on a strong loamy soil, which is generally moist owing to a substratum of impervious blue clay, lying at the depth of from one to two feet; so that the lands are very productive both in corn and grass. Diss and Earsham were anciently but one Hundred, and they still form the Deanery of Redenhall, in the archdeaconry of Norfolk. Diss Hundred holds its petty sessions in the town of Diss, on the 2nd and 4th Mondays of every month. It contains sixteen PARISHES, viz., Bressingham, Burston, Dickleburgh, Diss, Forstfield, Freuze, Gissing, Osmondston alias Scole, Roydon, Shelfanger, Shimpling, Thelveton, Thorpe-Parva, Tivetshall St. Margaret and St. Mary, and Winfarthing, containing together 9300 inhabitants, and 22,765 acres. The annual value of its lands and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1815, was £37,173.

BRESSINGHAM is a large scattered village, on the north side of the open vale of the Waveney, 2 miles W. by N. of Diss, and has in its parish 655 inhabitants, and about 2,200 acres of land, lying mostly in the Duke of Norfolk's manors of Bressingham and Boyland, (fines arbitrary,) and partly in the rectory manor, and Buckenham priory manor. Boyland Hall, an ancient mansion with a large farm, is the Duke's property, and was built by Sir Rd. de Boyland, an itinerant judge of the time of Edward I., who formed here a subterraneous walk, or conduit, by which water was brought to his baths and moats from an overflowing well, which still remains. The Church, (St. John the Baptist) was rebuilt by Sir Roger Palkington, in 1526, and repaired after the civil wars. It is a large structure, with a fine tower and six bells. The east window has four figures in stained glass. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £15, is in the gift of the Duke of Norfolk, and incumbency of the Rev. John Gratwick Challen, D. D. The glebe is 36a. 12r., and the church land is let for £10. At the enclosure, in 1799, 55 acres were allotted to the poor for fuel. The old poor's land is let for £10, and part of it was left by the Rev. John Barker, in 1728, for the education of poor children. The poor have also a yearly rent charge of 40a., left by John Welham, in 1702, and one of 16s., left by Matthew Walter in 1589, out of land belonging, in 1786, to John Aldrich.

Cullum William, vicl. Chequers
Dack Fra. & Gibson Cns. shoemakers.
Eaton Peter, wheelwright
Fisher Mr. Benjamin
Harrison Rev. Thomas, curate
Johnson Christopher, corn miller
Middleton John, jun., beer house
Thwaites James, grocer, draper schoolmaster & assist. overseer
Wade William, butcher

Farmers. *Buckenham W *are yeomen. Bunn Robert *Baldry John Calton Ann
*Bacham Rt. Crick Simon

*Davy John
Eaton George
Eaton Isaac
Garnham John
Goddard Mrs
*Harnwell Eliz
Hart Nathani.
*Hiskins Jas.
*Martin Eliz.
*Middleton Jn
*Murton Wm
*Page Jeremiah
*Potter Robert
*Punt Joseph

*Robinson Ths
Rodwell Saml.
Roper Edward
Roper Edw. jun.
Smith Elizabeth
*Smith Thomas
Tacon Abraham
Woodcock Rt.
*Wright John
Blacksmiths
Copping Zach
Loveless J & W F
Punt Jeremiah

BURSTON is a parish and small dispersed village, 3 miles N. of Diss, comprising 477 inhabitants, and about 1,400 acres, to a number of proprietors, and lying in the following manors arbitrary,) viz., the Rev. T. B. Morris's manors of Brookland and Melning Hall, the Earl of Albemarle's manor of Wansfarthing and Capt. Lupton's manor of Heywood Hall. The Church (St. Mary) stands on an eminence, and is a small fabric with a west bellry. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £26. 5. is in the gift of the King, and now held by the Rev. Temple Freere with nearly 600 s. of glebe. The poor have 10s. a-year, left by Ralph Chapman, in 1677, and three cottages, with half an acre, left by unknown donors.

Dixon Charles, vict. Crown
Horn Wm. & Thomas Es. shoemakers
Hunt Ts. and Booty S. r. grocers
Jarrett John, corn miller
Simpson Jo. & Langlth blacksmiths
Vyse Jas. joiner, Dixon Mr. Wm.
Farmers — are yeomen

*Carter Samuel Saunders John
Dixon Zach *Deares Robert
Evans William *Sporing Wm.
Gibson Joseph *Thompson Jo.
Green John Thurlow Edm.
*Kerry John *Vyse James Palmer Richard.

DICKLEBURGH, a considerable village near a small rivulet in the Epsom road, 5 miles N. E. of Diss has in its parish 215 inhabitants and about 2000 acres of land, including 160 acres of commons, called Sente green, High-green, and Dickleburgh-moor, and also Lyngmarr, a district of small farms, in Earsham Hundred, but forming a considerable part in this parish. The rector has a small manor, and the Earl Orford is lord of the rest, but the soil belongs to a number of copyholders, subject to arbitrary fines. The Church (All Saints) is a large edifice, with a tower and five bells. In the chancel is a mural monument, with the effigy of Lady Playters and an inscription, representing in two compartments, Christ bearing the cross and rising from the sepulchre. The rectory, anciently a four manor, is valued in K. B. at £28, and has a good residence, surrounded by a moat. The patronage is in Trinity College, Cambridge, and the Rev. Thomas Gullbank, B. D., is the incumbent. The church land, for discharging 10lbs and 15lbs, was bequeathed by John Brooks and Henry Coningham, and let in 1786, for £23, 14s. per annum. The poor have 20s. a-year, left by R. Chapman, in 1616.

Aldis George, surgeon
Bartram Samuel, pulterer
Catchpole James, schoolmaster
Clark John, & Dent A. beer sirs
Cossey Charles, salaler
Crisp William, J. & S. bricklayers
Dover H. Esq., & Cole Mr. St.
Drane Samuel, gov. of workhouse
Garland Thomas, watchmaker
Gillbank Rev. Thos. B. D. Rectory
Gillman Jane, vict. Crown
Harvey Daniel, tinner and beer sirs
Harvey Robert, wheelwright
Hawton H. & King Wm., tailors
Jeffries John, blacksmith
Mabey Hy. glazier, painter, &c.
Miller Thomas, saddler
Plummer J. & Saunders J. bakers
Rose Frederick Robert, surgeon

Smith Robert, joiner
Smith Wm., corn and seed merchant
Smith William, jun., corn miller
Thurver Nath., corn miller
Wilton Charles, blacksmith & vict.
Boot & Shoemakers. Booty John
Barates Robert Booty Jo., joiner
Dodery George Cooper Sarah
Fish Amelia Dix Robert
Freeman Wm. *Dye John
King William Edwards James
Rodwell Cts. *Gillman Wm.
Butchers. Herne Edward
Francis James Howlett Esq.
Etheridge Rt. Hubbard Esq.
Plummer Edu. Knight Simon
Farmers. *Sauders R. *are yeomen *Self Robert
*Barrett Colhn Vallent Daniel

Vyse Charles	White Horse	Howlett Henry	Gracers & Dps.
Vyse George	Bartram Habk.	Knights John	Edwards James
Farmers	Cole Robert	Mullenger John	Livock John
in Langmere.	Drane James	Palmer George	Long Thomas
Abbot Joseph	Hewitt James	Rayner Robert	West John
Barrett W. vict.

DISS, which gives name to this hundred, is a small but pleasant and well-built MARKET TOWN, on the acclivities of a large and deep lake, or mere, on the north side of the vale of the river Waveney, which divides it from Suffolk, 22 miles S.S.W. of Norwich, 23 miles N. by W. of Ipswich, and 91 miles N.E. by N. of London. Its PARISH has increased its population, since the year 1801, from 2246 to 2934 souls, and contains 3195 acres of land; of which 243 acres were enclosed in 1814, when 4½a. were allotted to the poor, and 1a. as a gravel-pit. The soil is generally fertile, belongs to a great number of proprietors, and lies in the four MANORS of Diss-cum-membris, Heywood, Heywood Hall, and the Rectory manor. Meadows Taylor, Esq., is lord of the first; the Earl of Albemarle, of the second; Capt. Chas. Layton, of the third; and the Rev. Wm. Manning, of the fourth. The copyholds are all subject to arbitrary fines; and many of the owners are resident here, some in large and handsome mansions. Heywood is a large district of farms, on the north side of the parish, extending to the distance of four miles, and having on its northern verge, Heywood Hall, now a farm-house, held by copy of court-roll, by the Rev. Temple Frere. The other hamlets are Walcot Green, 1 mile N.E., and Westby Green, 1 mile N.W.—The MERE, or lake, round which the town is built, is a large natural pool, having an outlet to the river, and supplied only by springs, rising from its own oozy bed, and by the rain and sewer water collected on its banks. This singular basin was formerly considered to be of unfathomable depth, and supposed by some to have been the crater of a volcano; but in 1835, it was carefully measured, and found to cover a surface of 5a. 1r. 11½p., and to average in depth 17½ feet, the greatest depth being 19½ feet. Its muddy bottom is well stored with eels, and a rare fish called chasers, similar to the china carp found in Germany, having only three large scales, nearly on the dorsal fin. As most of the sewers of the town have no other outlet than the lake, the water is considered unfit for culinary purposes, so that the inhabitants have been at much expense in sinking wells and pumps. The brewery, on the highest point of the town, is supplied by a well, sunk a few years ago to the depth of 615 feet, of which 500 feet is through chalk, above which the water springs to within fifty feet of the surface, and is thence raised by a horse-pump, at the rate of 36 gallons per minute. The chief part of the town is on the acclivities on the west and north sides of the mere, the steep banks of which are mostly laid out in ornamental gardens, forming a delightful contrast with the expansive sheet of water below, and the town above; especially when viewed from the south and east, where the banks are lower than on the other sides, and would be overflowed if the passage out of the mere was stopped up; but the duty of keeping this open belongs to the tanner, though the inhabitants have to keep up the rails at its mouth. The town is said to have its name from erected for the residence of eight poor women, by Richard Fisher, 1601. Near them is a house given for four widows, by Robert Burroughs, and now let for £25. The church land is a farm of 80A. Framlingham, Suffolk, let for £100 a-year, and the Bell-acre is for £6. The Poor have $4\frac{1}{2}$ acres, allotted at the enclosure; a close on Cock-street-green, left by E. Dunkon, in 1756; land let for £5, bequeathed by Thos. Fulcher, in the 29th of Elizabeth; land called Hings Wood, let for £15, and left by W. Burton, in 1705; and the following yearly rent-charges, viz., 20s. left by Ralph Chapman, in the 16th of James I.; 10s. by Richard Girling, in 1658; 25s. by Wm. Camell, in 1700; and 10s. by Wm. Pettett, in 1725. Petty Sessions, for the Hundred of Diss, are held at the King's Head Inn, on the 2nd and 4th Mondays of every month. Mr. Richd. Wood is clerk to the magistrates.

[illegible]

POST-OFFICE, Crown street, Mr. Southby Williams, Post-Master. Letters from London, &c., arrive $\frac{1}{4}$ before 7 morning, and are despatched at 7 evening; from the North, by Mail cart from Bury St. Edmund's, at 8 morning; desp. 6 evg.; and from Norwich at $\frac{1}{4}$ before 10 at night, despatched at half-past 5 morning.

In the following DIRECTORY OF DISS, those marked 1, reside in Brook street; 2, Chapel street; 3, Cherrytree lane; 4, Church street; 5, Cock street; 6, Cock street green; 7, Crown street; 8, Half-moon street; 9, Heywood; 10, Market place; 11, Mere street; 12, Mount street; 13, Scole road; 14, Shelfanger road; 15, Walcot green; and 16, Westby green.

2 Baldwin Thos. clog, &c. mkr.
 10 Bardwell Miss Harriet
 Barkway Cs. surveyor & printer
 Bedingfield Mrs. Martha
 Box Mr. Chs. & Brook Mrs. M.
 Brown Philip, law writer
 Calver Daniel, merchant
 Calver James, book-keeper
 Calver Henry, land surveyor
 2 Clarke Mrs. S. & 10 Darby Mrs. E.
 Couzens Thos. solicitors' clerk
 10 Fincham Robt. Esq. banker
 3 Harvard Rev. W. M. Met. min.
 1 Headley James, excise officer
 1 Holmes John, dyer
 1 Jeffery John, umbrella maker
 1 Kerry J. gent. & 4 Mason Mr. J.
 3 Manning Miss, & 12 Eaton Mrs.
 3 Manning Rev. Wm. M.A. rec.
 10 Mines E. gent. & 10 Moore Js.
 Mitcheson Rev. Jno. (Unitarian)
 1 Newson John, fellmonger
 1 Newson Wm. Rt. tanner & cur.
 3 Nicholson Rev. Jno. Met. min.
 1 Parr Rt. sexton & organist
 1 Pike Wm. brewery agent

8 Ramm Josiah mercht.'s clerk
 5 Rayner Jonathan, gent.
 4 Rix John, banker's clerk
 13 Rushbrooke Wm. millwright
 13 Sharman Mrs. S.
 13 Shearing Wm. govr. workhs.
 12 Sparrow Wm. solicitor's clerk
 13 Smith Mark, botanist
 11 Styles J. gent. & 13 Payne N.
 5 Ward Miss, & 12 Watson Mrs. E.
 4 Westby Mrs. H.
 12 Whaites Mrs. J.
 7 Wiseman Mrs.

BANKS.

Oakes, Fincham, Bevan, & Moor,
 Market place, (draw on Barclay, Bevan, Tritton, & Co.)
 Taylor and Dyson, Market place,
 (draw on Barnett, Hoare, & Co.)

FIRE AND LIFE OFFICES.

5 Norwich Equitable, John Bird
 12 Norwich Union, Rd. Wood
 10 Pelican, Robt. Fincham
 12 Suffolk & Genl. Co. T. Abbott
 10 Sun, Geo. Carley

[The page contains several lines of extremely faint, illegible text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the document.]

ard	10Whaite J.&T.	7Harrison Php.	Watch Makers
m.	Joiners&Bldrs.	12Mines Wm.	10Carley Geo.
h M.	12AngoldH &S.	10Ward Henry	11GostlingThos.
Ed.	2Atkins Geo.	7Wharton Geo.	10Marsh Wm.
ohn	7Bernan John	M. D.	10Scrivener Ed.
chd.	11Cobb Saml.	Tailors.	Keer
obt.	5Farrow Saml.	5Andrews Wm.	Wheelwrights.
fc.	4Whaite Robt.	7Bailey Mark	18Curtis Isaac ml.	Linen Mnfrs.	7Bird John	5Garratt Jno.
es	10Dyson Ths.	11Cooper Dvd.	12Kerry Jontn.
t.	11Warne Hy.	10Eglinton Sn.	2Nicholson T.
obt.	L. & W. Draprs.	12Gostling Chs.	Wine & Spirit
as.	11Billings My.	7Hague Wm.	Merchants.
John	13Billings Isaac	Turners.	5Sherriff Robt.
Wm.	8Bobby Wm.	7Meadows Rbt.	7Taylor&Dyson
Wm.	10Davey John	3Tipple George
hos.	7Debenham E.
lbt.	11Fincham W.
Jas.	& Co.
ary	10Hall Wm.
n	Milliners, &c.
Geo.	6Andrews Eliza
Thas.	10Leech Eliz.
hs.	10Legood Eliz.
Hy.	12Murton J.&L.
ohn	11Stollery P.
ers.	Painters, Plbs.
B.	and Glaziers.
i	8Aldrich John
Rbt.	7Booty Charles
ad R.	11Coe J. & J.
Wor-	5Rayner Henry
frs	12Warn Thos.
Wm.	Saddlers.
hos.	5Church Wm.
ers &	7Newby John
sts.	8Taylor Richd.
in W.	7Walne Wm.
J.&T.	Stone Masons.
hnts.	5Farrow J. & T.
aml.	12Harvey Sdy.
Thos.	Straw Hat Mks.
ers.	5Ellis John
aml.	12Youels Har.
G.	Surgeons.
	7Dowden Philip

COACH, the Phenomenon, from the King's Head, to London, $\frac{1}{2}$ bef. 9 mng. and to Norwich, $\frac{1}{2}$ bf. 6 evg.

CARRIERS.

To London, Sykes & Cook's, Van, &c. (Bee Hive,) daily; and S. Farrow, Palgrave, every Thursday morning.

Beccles, (Saracen's Head,) J. Buck, Thursday 9 morning.

Bungay, Wm. Land, Mount street, Monday, 9 morning.

Bury St. Edmund's, V. Bidwell, (Greyhound,) Fri. 3 aft.; and W. Mothersole, (Saracen's Head,) Tue. & Fri. 5 evening.

Ipswich, Sidney Harvey, Scolerod, and John Garrard, Crown st. and Geo. Murton, Cock st. Mon. & Thursday.

New Buckenham, John Hewitt, (Bell,) and J. Morley, (Star,) Thursday 3.

Norwich, Sidney Harvey, Scolerod, Tue. & Fri.; & Wm. Land, Mount st. Thursday, 9 morning.

Thetford, Wm. Clark, (Star,) Fri. 2 aft., through East Harling.

IELD, a small scattered village, near the sources of the and Little Ouse rivers, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. of Diss, has in its inhabitants, and about 1140 acres of land, partly belonging to Duke of Norfolk, the lord of the manor, (fines arbitrary,) nearly covered with wood in the reign of Edward III. on was enclosed in 1799. The Church (St. Andrew) is a ant fabric, with a tower and two bells. Within arched recesses lie the effigies of two of the founders or rebuilders of the church, viz., Wm. du Bois, priest, and Sir Robert du Bois. A brass is inscribed to the memory of the Rev. Francis Blomefield, who lived here from 1729 to his death, in 1752. He was born here, and here he wrote and also printed all those parts of his warden's History of Norfolk, which were published before his death, after which the remaining parts were written by the Rev. C. G. King, of Oxenford, and, after his death, published by Mr. G. G. King, bookseller, at Lynn, in 1769 and 1775; the whole in four volumes, since re-printed by W. Miller, of London, in 1806, in 10 volumes, royal octavo. Fersfield rectory, valued in K. B. at £100, has 52a. of glebe, and a good parsonage house. Frdrk. N. N. is patron, and the Rev. Wm. Lewis Rham, incumbent. The land is let for £20 a-year. Directory—Rev Benjamin Rham, rate, Benj. Burcham and Wm. Clamp, shoemakers, S. S. butcher, Rt. Garrad, joiner, and the following farmers: street, Thos. Clamp, John Day, Geo. Drake, Warren G. Grant, (beer-hs.) Jacob Hands, Ephraim Lowack, Chas. Hall, Wm. Page, Rd. Palmer, Rd. Ward, and Samuel W.

PRENZE, a small parish, on a rivulet, 1 mile east of only 50 inhabitants, and about 120 acres of land, mostly of Sheldrake Smith, Esq., who resides at the Hall, seat of the seat valley and is patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £100, augmented with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty, in 1600, enjoyed by the Rev. Robert Rose, of Weeting. The church (Andrew) is a small antique edifice, with a wooden belfry, fine brasses, on which are portrayed effigies of the King of Bleverhasset, and on another is the effigy of Joanna B. meanness and obscurity of the church saved these brasses from destruction, during the puritanical reign of Cromwell. The parsonage, has a neat house and small estate in this parish, and is let for 50s. a-year. Here is a fair on July 25th.

GINSING, a large dispersed village, in two portions, Upper and Lower Streets, 4 miles N. by E. of Diss, comprises 200 inhabitants, and about 1500 acres, of which three farms are the North Hospitals and the rest to several proprietors, of whom is the Rev. Sir Wm. Robt. Kemp, Bart., the master and patron and incumbent of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £100, and now having nearly 50a. of glebe. The church (Virgin Mary) has a small round tower, and several inscriptions to the Kemp family, who occupied the Hall till about 1700, when it was pulled down. The parsonage has a cottage, left by Edward Kemp, let for 50s. a-year. Here is a fair on July 25th.

Kemp Rev. Sir Wm. Robt. Bart.,	Boot & Shoemkts.	Brook
Rectory	Bell James	Carr
Ayton Chas. and Robt. joiner	Punt Wm.	Eden
Breeze Wm. vict. Crown	Rolfe James	Flog
Brook John, corn miller & baker	Smith John	Haw
Harrison Rt. gardener & parcellk.	Smith Wm.	Hew
Hunt Mrs. Susanna	Spink Saml.	Marg
Newby Hy. vict. Horse Shoos	Farmers.	North
Prentice Ed. & Smith J. bkms.	Ben Coveant	Sand

W. Ju. & Te mpkeepers.
ter George nd Wm.

Hunt Mary
Moore George
Shelverton Ic.

Tailors.
Cann Charles
Fisher Robert
Jordan Saml.

Wheelwrights.
Palmer Wm.
Thompson Wm.

ROYDON is a pleasant village and parish, on the north side of the Waveney, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile W. of Diss, containing 633 inhabitants, and 11 acres, lying in the manors of Roydon and Tyfts, of which Philip Ken, Esq., is lord, and Gissing Hall, of which the Right Hon. J. Perre is lord, and owner of Hoydon Hall, delightfully situated on an eminence, which rises from the river, and commands an extensive and picturesque view. He is patron of the rectory, valued in K.B. £9, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Temple Perre, who occupies the ll. The glebe is about 40 acres, and the church land lets for nearly £. The Cutach (St. Remigius) is a small and very ancient recture, with a round tower. At the enclosure, 40 acres were allotted to the poor, who have also the interest of £1000, left by Margaret Perre, in 1820, and two yearly rent-charges, viz., 20s. left by Wm. Stileburgh, in 1609, and 40s. left by Robt. Horner, in 1708, out of Her-close, which he gave to the rector for a sermon on Good Friday. rectory:—Geo. Buckel, smith and vict. White Hart; Hy. Buckle & Wm. Elliott, grocers; Rev. Temple Perre, M.A., Roydon Hall; Geo. Kent, jun. gent., Roydon Cottage; John Linstead, joiner; James, taylor and shopkeeper; Wm. Houghton, beer seller. Farmers, Wm. and Wm. Anness, Chas. Good, Geo. Hart, John Kindred, Chas. Makett, John Scrutung, John Self, and Mary Whitbread; shoemakers, Thos. Battley, Richard Cock, and Wm. Kitchen.

SCOLE, or OSMUNDISTON, is a pleasant village and parish, on the north bank of the Waveney, and upon the Norwich and Ipswich road, 2 miles E. by S. of Diss. It has 603 inhabitants, and 850a. of land, belonging to several proprietors; but Sir Edward Kerrison is lord of the manor (bues arbitrary.) Scole Lodge, a large handsome mansion, is the seat of John Ayton, Esq. Scole Inn is a large brick building, adorned with imagery and carved work, and formerly used for a very large sign, forming an arch across the road, containing a great number of large statues, and executed by Fairchild, at the cost of £1057!!! Here was also a round bed, big enough to hold 15 or 20 couple, but this and the costly sign were destroyed above 20 years ago. The Church (St. Andrew) has a tower and one bell. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £9, is in the gift of Sir E. Kerrison, and now enjoyed by the Rev. George Walker, M.A., with 25 acres of glebe. A fair is held here on Easter Tuesday. The parish maintains its poor conjointly with Frenze and Thorpe Parva.

Aldous Rt. joiner & vict. King's Head
Ayton John, Esq. Scole Lodge
Bass John, wheelwright
Broodbank Wm. periodical pubr.
Cracknell Jas. vict. Grey Hound
Fulcher Mrs. & Ward Mrs. Sar.
Gisning Frederick, corn miller

Haynes Henry, vict. White Hart or Scole Inn, (Postg. house)
Lee Miss M. and Press Miss G.
Lewis Henry Jas. surgeon
Ling Chas. glazier, painter, &c.
Mole Robert, brewer
Rayner Thomas, joiner
Richardson John, beer house

ACH, (Virgin Mary,) which has long been in ruins, and the only £6 a-year,) consolidated with Billingsford, alias Pryle-; the parish maintains its poor jointly with Scole.

SHALL ST. MARGARET, a parish and dispersed village on an eminence, 6 miles N. N. E. of Diss, has 376 in- and about 1500 acres of land. The Earl of Orford is owner and lord of the manor. The CHURCH has a tower bells, and is a rectory consolidated with Tivetshall St. Mary. Society of Friends have a neat meeting-house and large burial ce. The Poor's land for the two Tivetshalls, left by Jefferyprises 6A. 1R. 3P. at Moulton. They have also an allot-ved at the enclosure in 1808. Directory:—Jas. Booty, John Mouncey and Wm. Pretty, shoemakers; Rt. Mullen-Star; Farmers, J. Browne, John Carpenter, John Cole-es Dix, Wm. Downs, Wm. Fincham, Saml. Georges, as, John Pylman, Saml. Leggett, George Shaw, William John Sutton, and Thomas Youngman.

SHALL ST. MARY is a parish and small village, lying he above, 5½ miles N. N. E. of Diss, and containing 313 s, and about 1000 acres of land. The Earl of Orford is manor, owner of a great part of the soil, and patron of the which has a tower and five bells, and is a rectory, consoli- Tivetshall St. Margaret, valued in K. B. at £20, and ed by the Rev. John Neville White, with 28A. of glebe. ave 3A., allotted at the enclosure in 1808, and now let for They have also 50s. a-year from land called the Town-yard p-yard; but 20s. a-year is paid out of the poor's land for the church. Directory:—Elizabeth Bell, shopkeeper; d, bricklayer; Geo. Dix, vict., Ram; Lionel Gowing, ; Wm. Harvey, wheelwright; Jas. Le Gryse, joiner; ower, corn miller; George Thurlow, shoemaker; Rev. J. , Rectory. Farmers, (marked * are yeomen,) John An-an Beaumont*, Wm. Bunn, John Cullingham, George s Dix, John Gardener, John Hewitt*, Robert Hewitt, mes*, John Nichols*, and George Self.

ARTHING, a pleasant village and parish, 4 miles N. of 703 inhabitants, and 2559 acres of land. The Earl of Al-wns a great part of the soil, is lord of the manor, (fines ar-nd patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £12, and ed by the Rev. W. J. Carver, with 31A. 1R. 22P. of glebe. CH (Virgin Mary) has a square tower and five bells, and a superstitious and corrupt age of monachism, in high re-g the ignorant for a certain sword preserved in it by the der the name of the "Good Sword of Winfarthing," and assess such virtues in effecting the wishes of devotees, that ame to it from all parts, with large gifts and offerings, "vow ouchings, &c."—thus did the priests make a tool of vulgar for the purpose of amassing wealth. The sword had pre-longed to a thief who had taken sanctuary in the church. r has all the privileges of ancient demesne, and remained in till Henry III. gave it to Sir Wm. de Montecaniso, or y, in consideration of his military services against the The son of this knight had a large park here well stocked with deer, and had liberty to keep dogs to hunt the hare, & wild cat, in his wastes and forests. So late as 1601, it abounded in deer, but it was afterwards enclosed by the Arundel. It now belongs to the Earl of Albemarle, and is 1000 acres of cultivated and tithe-free land. In the village is a Methodist chapel. At the enclosure in 1781, 60 acres were given to the poor, 23a. to the church, and 4a. 3a. 10p. for a school. The Parish land, given by Queen Elizabeth in 1585, and by Sir John Warren, in 1621, for repairing church, &c., consists of 2a. 2r. 10p. Here are also 5a. 22p. of poor's land, left by Thos. Olden in 1781. The Lodge farm is a large decayed oak, having in its bow seats for 20 persons.

Beever Rev. Edw. Rigby, B.A. curate	Bobby Thos.	Nichols
Burch James, farmer	* Catchpole Jno.	* Pilgrimage
Fox James, bleacher	Catchpole Nath.	* Simon
Jarrett Wm. corn miller	Cobb Wm.	Taylor
Lapsdell Isaac, blacksmith	Doggett Daul.	Taylor
Lovick Robt. vict., Fighting Cocks	Everett Thos.	* Webb
Morley James, vict., Oak	* Filby Edw.	Wright
Parker, R. & Chapman, J. beer h.	* George Saml.	* Wright
Peck John, horse dealer	* Glanfield Jno.	Shoemaker
Porrett Ml. & Driver Ts. wheelw.	Goodrum Jas.	Coleman
Sharman John, joiner & shopkpr.	* Hart Samuel	Driver
Woods Mary Ann, shopkeeper	Humphrey Geo.	Jessup
Farmers.	Macro Abm.	Pretch
* are yeomen.	Morley John	Wright
Baker Edw.
	Banham Geo.
	* Barker Robt.
	Bartram Chas.

EARSHAM HUNDRED

Is a fertile district, bounded on the west by Diss Hundred, north by Depwade and Loddon, and on the east and south by the river Waveney, which divides it from Suffolk, and flows through a verdant and picturesque valley. It is about 13 miles in length, from the river from the vicinity of Scole Inn to Bungay, on the south side of the valley, and averages from 3 to 5 miles in breadth. It forms with Diss Hundred, the Deanery of Redenhall, in the deanery of Norfolk, and is all comprised in the parliamentary Liberty of the Duke of Norfolk, which has two Sessions are held at Harleston on the first and third Friday in every month, at 12 noon. Mr. Wm. Hazard is the magistrate. Earsham contains 13 parishes, and part of two others, viz. Billingford, alias Pryleston; Brockdish, Denton, Earsham mere, a hamlet in Dickleburgh; part of Mendham, Needham St. Mary the Virgin, Pulham St. Mary Magdalen, & With-Harleston, Rushall, Starston, Thorpe Abbots, and which contain together 8485 inhabitants, and 23,750 acres. The annual value of their lands and buildings was assessed for property tax in 1815, at £37,320.

ALBURGH, a pleasant village on an acclivity, 3 miles N. of Harleston, and 5 miles W. of Bungay, has in its

, and 1000 acres of land, belonging to a number of free-the Church (All Saints) has a nave, chancel, and a square is a rectory valued in K. B. at £12. The King is the pare Rev. Chas. Sutton, D.D. is the incumbent. The old
I was most of it left by Richd. Wright, before the reign of I., and is now let for £170 a-year, which is carried to the except £2 paid to a schoolmaster, who, for this sum, and £10 to rector, teaches 20 children at about half the usual
At the enclosure, 12 acres were allotted to the poor, and for £25, distributed yearly in coals. The Boys' Hospino other institutions in Norwich, have estates here.

Jas. & Abel Mrs. C.
arles, joiner
& Martin R. Blumha.
Wm. grocer & beerha.
bdg. and day school
John, tailor & grocer
Benj. glazier & painter
ry, vict. King's Head & Strangers J. wheelwright.
I. & Smith S. shoemakers.
a, corn miller
ham, butcher
& Bead S. bricklayers

Reeve Edward, beerhouse
Theobald John, schoolmaster

Farmers. *are poorman.
Bond Barth.
*Brock John
*Denny John
*Doughton Ml.
Drane Wm.
Goldpink Wm.
Harvey Theo.
Legard Jerh.

Miles John
Patrick Wm.
Rackham John
Spekman I. G.
*Walker Geo.
*Youngs John
*Youngs Saml.
*Youngs S. Jan.
*Youngs Sarah

IGFORD, anciently called Prylston, is a scattered vil-north side of the vale of the Waveney, 4 miles E. of parish has 313 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land.
incant Wilson, Esq., is principal owner, lord of the manor, of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £9, and now enjoyed by Augustus Cooper, with 20a. of glebe. The Church (St.
has a nave, chancel, and porch, and formerly had a square
375, the manor was sold to Sir Simon Burley, the great fa-
Edward the Black Prince, who advanced him to many places and profit, for abusing which he incurred the displeasure
Is nation, and was executed on Tower Hill, in 1380.
an hospital, with 12 beds for travellers, founded by Wm.
he reign of Henry III., and the building is now used for on of paupers. The poor have 40a. a-year out of the hall by the Holt family, and an annuity of 5s. left by the Rev.
ra, in 1717. Directory:—James Balls, blacksmith; Rbt.
mer seller; George Cobb, vict., Horse Shoes; Mr. Saml.
Wm. Ellis and John King, shoemakers; Lionel Haynes, wheelwright; Saml. Matlock, maltster; Saml. Barham, affield, Jas. Cracknell, Fras. Drake, Rbt. Goddard, and a, farmers.

.DISH, a large village on the north bank of the Waveney, E. S. W. of Harleston, and 5 miles E. of Diss, has in it's inhabitants, and 1000 acres of land, in the manors of Earl and Brockdish Hall, of which John Birkbeck, Esq., also owner of the Hall estate. T. C. Brettingham, Esq., freehold estate here, and resides at Brockdish Place, a modern mansion of white brick, seated on a commanding

Rev. Wm. M.A. Rectory	Bowler Benj.	Whitton James
ohn, cattle dealer	Childs Henry	Whitton Sarah
iel, blacksmith	Chittleburgh W.	Wigg Joseph
a Rev. Edw. Incapt. min.	Corneby Wales	Wolterton Wm.
n Wm. vety. surgeon	Middleton Geo.	Grocers.
Wm. tailor	Middleton John	Delf Rhoda
Rev Geo. Denton Lodge	Paine John	Fields Samuel
ry Chs. Esq. Denton House	*Pashley Danl.	Simonds Hph.
in James, joiner	Thompson	Shoemakers.
enrs.—* are yeomen.	Rackham Geo.	Browne Chas.
Isaac Barwick Isaac	Rackham James	Gibbs S. and W.
	Strange Susan.

BARSHAM, which gives name to this Hundred, is a considerable town in the vale of the Waveney, 1 mile W. of Bungay,—a town (as it is) on the opposite side of the river, which here makes a singular sweep through the marshes. The parish contains 759 acls, and 3150 acres of land. The Duke of Norfolk owns a part of the soil, and is lord of the manor (fines arbitrary;) but Sir W. Windham Dalling, Bart., has a large estate here, and is lord of Barsham House, a large and handsome square brick mansion, with a pleasant park, built in 1700, by John Buxton, Esq., who sold it to the late Colonel Windham. It is now occupied by Sir W. Meade. The Church (All Saints) stands on an old mound, adjoining the marsh, and has a square tower, crowned with a spire, and containing three bells. The south windows were refitted with stained glass, by the late Joseph Windham, Esq., an antiquary, who died in 1810. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £45a., has about 45a. of glebe. Sir W. W. Dalling is the patron, and the Rev. Wm. G. Cantley, M.A., is the incumbent. A tithe war between the rector and parishioners was terminated in favour of the latter, in 1799, when the moduses were established. The old churchyard, partly left by an unknown donor, and partly purchased by the parish, consists of 19 acres, with a house, let for £35, carried on the poor rates, together with an annuity of £1. 10s., left by Thomas Spink. The poor have also 5a., allotted at the enclosure, for fuel, and a yearly rent-charge of £20, bequeathed by Col. Wm. Windham. In the parish is a brewery, and also a large distillery.

James, joiner	Martin Robert, tailor
r Rt. wine & spirit mercht.	Meade Gen. Robt. Barsham House
rectifier (& Bungay)	Narburgh Rd. corn miller
Edw. vict. Dukes' Heads	Savage John, farrier
/ Rev. Wm. Grainger M.A.	Scarnell John, schoolmaster
Thos. corn miller	Spink Thos. grocer and beerhouse
ames vict. Buck	Wade James, gardener
d P. & Legget Rt. blkms.	Williams Wm. book-keeper
tone John, tailor & draper	FARMERS—* are yeomen.
r Geo. cooper and grocer	*Aldborough H.
Wm. butcher	Benham Robt.
Wm. brewer	Blunderfield
orth R. & Rope C. bricklrs.	Mrs.
ohn, shopkeeper	Burgess Richd.
orge, wheelwright	Calver Wm.
	*Chambers Ed.
	Chambers Jas.
	Cleveland Smn.
	Olinton Wm.
	Coates John
	Doudy Mrs.

The site number had a variety of objects and other things, but these were destroyed by a tremendous gas.

In 1818, when the south chancel window was also blown in, the rectory has united to it that of Pulham St. Mary Magdalen together in K.B. at £33. 6s. 8d. The King is the patron, Rev. Wm. Leigh, A. M., is the incumbent. The glebe is 10 acres. An estate here is held by the service of blowing a horn at the opening of the manor court, and 7 acres are held by the lord's hangman; but the duties of the latter office have become obsolete. In 1670, Wm. Pennoyer, left in trust with the governors of Christ's Hospital, two yearly rent-charges, viz., £4 for the lord's hangman, and £5 for teaching poor children. He also directed that the lords of the manor should make up the schoolmaster's salary 20 s.-year, for the education of 36 free scholars; but the purchase of the manor, subject only to the yearly payment of 10 s. for the Town land, 17 a., was augmented with 8 a. of the common in 1833, and the rent is applied with the poor rates. The church was erected under Gilbert's act, about ten years ago, and 10 acres of land was annexed to it from the South common.

John, tailor
Wm. Mr. James
Joshua, maltster
Maria, vict. King's Head
Hy. gov. of workhouse
William, butcher
John Thomas, bricklayer
Rev. Wm. M.A., rector
Charles, surgeon
Mr. George, wheelwright
John Miss, & Webb Mrs. I.
Samuel, beerhouse
William, yeoman
Charles, yeoman
John, vict. Maid's Head
John, Free-school master
Eliza & Rt. corn millers
John Mr. William
John, joiner
Smiths. | Clark Daniel

Lovelace Thos.
Loyelles Thos.
Farmers.
* are yeomen.
Barnes Edward
Bentfield Edw.
Bond Thomas
Bortett Michael
Burgess Robert
Burgess Thos.
*Cattermole J.
Colby Philip
*Drane James
Ebbage John
Feak William
Folkard James
Gooderham Jn.
*Harvey John
Howe Thomas
Mays William

Nurse John
Nurse William
*Peak John
Poppy David
Prait Simpson
*Reeve John
Webb Richard
Whaites John
Wingfield —
*Walterton Jn.
Shopkeepers
Brown Mary
Gooderham M.
Loyelles Thos.
Saunders Wm.
Shoemakers
King James
Pruitt James
Vipond Joseph

PULHAM St. Mary Magdalen is a considerable village, about north of the above, on the abrupt acclivities of a rivulet, 4 N.W. of Harleston. Its parish contains 1046 inhabitants, 1000 acres of land, part of which is in three large commons. It is the hamlets of Colgate-end, Bush-green, and Gresham-green, all in Robt. Copeman, Esq.'s manor of Pulham, except a part lying in the Dean and Chapter of Ely's manor of Winby, but the soil belongs to a number of copyholders. There is said to have anciently had a market, and it has still for cattle, &c., on the third Thursday in May. It was famous for the manufacture of hats, dornecks and coverlets, and are still a few weavers employed by the Norwich manufactory.

The Church is a large edifice, with a square tower and six nave, chancel, aisles, and a handsome north porch. The church is consolidated with Pulham St. Mary the Virgin. The

The north chapel are several memorials of the Gaudy family, whose arms, richly emblazoned in stained glass, appear in the window, being removed from Gaudy Hall, some years ago. The rectory, with the chapelry of Harleston annexed to it, is valued in K. B. at £20, and as 40a. of glebe. The Duke of Norfolk is patron, and the Rev. John Oldershaw, B.D., is the incumbent. HARLESTON is a small market town, on the banks of a rivulet, 7 miles W.S.W. of Bungay, 10 miles E. by N. of Diss, 20 miles S. of Norwich, and 100 miles E. by N. of London. It is partly in Redenhall and Mendham, — a row of buildings, comprising several shops and the Magpie Inn, being in the latter parish. It was anciently called Herolveston, from a Danish leader, and gave that name to its former lords, one of whom was the valiant Sir John Herolveston, who was particularly instrumental in quelling the insurrections in this and the adjoining counties, in the reign of Richard II. The market, for corn, &c., is held every Wednesday. The fairs are held July 5th, Sept. 9th, and Dec. 1st; — the first for merchandize, the second for lambs, &c.; and the third for cattle. The Chapel (St. John the Baptist), was repaired, at the cost of £1,000, in 1726, when the market-cross was rebuilt. It is a lofty structure, with a semi-circular chancel and a bellfry. The rector of Redenhall performs duty here alternately with the chaplain provided under the endowment of Archbishop Bancroft, who, in 1588, bequeathed the interest of £200 for a chaplain and schoolmaster, to be appointed by the master and fellows of Emmanuel College, Cambridge. The present chaplain is the Rev. G. A. Whilker, A.B.; but he does not keep the school. Here is a Methodist chapel, and also two Independent Chapels; one erected in 1710, and now under the ministry of the Rev. James Burd, and the other, small building, under the pastoral care of the Rev. D. L. Lloyd. The National School, established in 1813, is supported by subscription; but since 1824, the Free School has been amalgamated with it. The latter is endowed with 35 acres of land, let for £10 a year, and purchased with £200, bequeathed by John Dore in 1712. The school now affords instruction to 125 children. The poor's and is let for £10; besides which, the poor have a yearly rate-charge of 20s., and £1. 10s., as the interest of money left by Thomas Brassey, in 1730. There is a Clerical Library, at the Swan Inn, and a Book Club at the Crown Inn. Petty Sessions are held every year alternately at the Swan and Magpie Inns, on the first and third Fridays in every month. This year (1836), they are held at the Magpie — Mr. Wm. Hazard is clerk to the magistrates. WORTWELL, 2½ miles E.N.E. of Harleston, is a village and township, which maintains its own poor separately from the rest of Redenhall parish, and contains 537 inhabitants, and 1081 acres of land, belonging to the Rev. — Arnold, Mrs. Humes, and several smaller proprietors. Here is an old Independent Chapel, endowed with £25 a year and now under the ministry of the Rev. D. L. Lloyd. The poor have four annuities, amounting to £3. 16s. 8d., left by Thos. Fuller, Marg. Clarke, and two other donors.

In the following DIRECTORY OF REDENHALL AND HARLESTON, those marked 2, are in Mendham parish. The Post-office is at Jas. Caley's. Letters arrive at ½ past 8 a.m., & are despatched at ½ past 4 p.m.

Can Carr
Chapman
Child
2 Cook
Cook
Cross
Donn
Elliot
Ether.
Gedne
Harve
Harve
Hill G
Holmes
Leather
Lloyd H
Marriott
Nichols
Palmer
Redgrave
Sewell C.
Smith Jp
Turner G
Waite Mi
2 Whitake vicar of 2 Wilson
2 Woolnou
Wright Joh

1. Rayner Robt.
 *Wilton Chas.
Plbrs. Glasiers,
and Painters.
 Barber Edw.
 Hunting Wm.
 Smith Wm.
 3. Saddlers.
 10. Freston John
 Goggs Chas.
Surgeons.
 10. 2Bunn Wm.
 Crisp Benj.
 Elliott George
 10. Priest Richard
Tailors & Dprs.
 Allured G. J. & R.
 Blomfield John
 Davy Samuel
 2 Freston Rt.
 Gilman Thomas
 Land Joseph
 Squire David
 M. 2 Titlow Samuel
 10. Vety. Surgeons.
 10. Roulfe Richard Simonds Chas.
 c. Watch Makers.
 10. Brown John
 Carman Saml.
 Feltham Wm.
 10. Wine, Spt., Alc,
 10. & Porter Merts.
 Rt. Aldous James
 h. Carbould Pelham (& maltr)
 n

OACHES.

m, to Norwich, M. W.

and S., at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 mng., and to Whickham, 6 evg. from the Swan
 Inn. The Star, to Ipswich, 7 mg., and to Bungay, 7 evg., from the Cardinal's Hat.

CARRIERS.

To Beccles & Bungay, Hy. Burton Harvey, Wed.

To Diss, (Swan Inn,) Timothy
 Buck's Van, Wed., and to Bec-
cles, Thu.

To Bungay, (Crown Inn,) John
 Bull, Tue., and to London W.

To Fressingfield, (Crown Inn,) Php.
 Smith, T. W. T. and S.

To Norwich, (Swan Inn,) J.
 Minns, Wed., 12 noon, and to Stradbroke, Thu., 8 evg.

WORTWELL.

Burgess Jas. vict. Bell

Burwood Thomas, baker

Buxton Rd. & Church S. blksmiths.

Harvey Rt. Blyth, corn mercht.

Hill Ed. miller; h. Homersfield

Jeffries Jph. wheelwright

Johnson Jonathan, joiner

Osborne Wm. grocer & draper

Whitear Mrs. Rebecca

Wise John, wheelwright

Farmers.

* are yeomen.

Bracey J. Hall

* Goodwin J.

* Harper —

* Hill James

Hipperson J.

* Johnson John

* Say Jermh.

Simmons John

* Youngs Shrm.

Shoemakers.

Daniels Geo.

Felmingham J.

Fuller George

Palmer Robt.

Wright Simon

LL, a parish and small dispersed village, 3 miles W. of contains 283 inhabitants, and 1000 acres of land, belonging to freeholders, who pay small quit-rents to the Duke as lord of the manor. The Hall farm (260A.) belongs to the hospital, Norwich. The CHURCH (Virgin Mary) has a tower round and half octangular, and is a vicarage valued in K. B. at 12A. of glebe. The Rev. J. N. White is incumbent,
 h. Sewell, Esq., patron; but the appropriation of the great tithes to Emanuel College, Cambridge. The Church land is the story:—Wm. Colls, blacksmith; James Mullinger, wheelwright; Samuel Nunn, Thomas Soames, and David Vipond, shoe-makers; Thomas Nunn, joiner; R. Ruddock, beer seller; Chas.
 vict., Half Moon; and John Colls, Jas. Linder, Thomas Les Pearse, James Smith, and Thomas Smith, farmers.

and Earsham Hundreds, and in the west by Shropshire Deanery of Depwade and the fee. It was in the reign of Richard I. In 1227 Edward III. granted it to the king, but it is now divided among various proprietors. for this and Henstead Hundreds, are held at Long Monday; and Mr C. Austin is clerk to the magistrate comprises 21 parishes, viz. Ashwell-Thorpe, Carlton-Rode, Farnborough, St. Mary, Farnett St. Fundenhall, Hapton, Harrow, Hemphall, Morilton, Shelton, Stratton St. Mary, Stratton St. Milton, Tashburgh, Tharston, Thetford, and Wacton contain collectively, 14,431 inhabitants, and 30,835. The lands and tithings were assessed to the profits, at the annual value of £15,805.

THORPE, a parish and straggling village, 9 miles N. by road, has 171 inhabitants, and about 1000a. of land, in two parishes, called Ashwell and Thorpe, and held by the family of the De Thorpes, one of whom was lord of the manor during the reign of Richard II. The manor passed from the archbishops of York, Knyvett, and Wilson families, and is now in the hands of Lord Berners, who is also lord of Wretham, and Fundenhall, for which he holds a manor. There are many copyholds in Ashwell-Thorpe, many fines. The Church (Ad. Saints) is an ancient square tower and four bells. In a chapel, on the north side, is the altar-tomb of Sir Edmund de Thorpe, of himself and lady, with angels holding shields, inscribed with various family arms. He was slain at the battle of Tewkesbury, in Normandy, but interred in this chapel, which was erected, and in which many of his successors were buried; but the seat of the present Lord Berners is at the rectory, valued in K.B. at £6. 13s. 4d., is consistory of the Bishop of Eborac, in the gift of Lord Berners, and incumbent Rev. Mr. Wilson, who occupies the Hall, a brick mansion in Elizabethan style of architecture, with a modern south porch. A workhouse was built about 45 years ago, on 10 acres of land taken from the common, to which 2a. were allotted in 1811. Directory:—Thos. Austin, blacksmith, haberdashery and shopr.; John Chapman, shoemaker, Thomas King's Head; Robert Colman, vict., White Horse, rowne, brewers; Eliz. Rattee, blacksmith, John James Whitehead, bombasin mfr., Rev. Robert Wilson, rector (marked * are yeomen) Edw. & Thos. Wilson, Thomas Harvey, jun. and son, Sarah Hopper, Dr. John Reeve.

N. is a parish and small village, 13 miles N. by road, has 359 inhabitants, and 1100a. of land, belonging to the Bishop of Eborac; but John Cooper, Esq. is lord of the manor. The Church (St. Michael), which has a consecrated ground, is a curacy, certified at 1400, and valued at 1400, with £800 of Queen Anne's bounty, and was occupied by John Carver, of Haddington. In 1661 this manor was given to the Rev. Mr. Wilson, an industrious antiquary, to which he

The St. John's Church is a large and handsome building, situated on the corner of the High Street and the North Street. It was built in 1717, and is a fine specimen of the English Gothic style. The church is dedicated to St. John the Baptist, and is the parish church of the town. The church is a large and handsome building, situated on the corner of the High Street and the North Street. It was built in 1717, and is a fine specimen of the English Gothic style. The church is dedicated to St. John the Baptist, and is the parish church of the town.

1. Chlorophyll a and Chlorophyll b were determined by the method of Lichtenthaler and Whistler (1973).

DEWE AND HUNDRED

758

Heath F. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844	St. J. J. 1844
W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844
W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844
W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844
W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844
W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844	W. J. J. 1844

[illegible]

ST PETER is a parish with a village at one end on the west side of a river, 14 miles S.W. of Norwich.
It has a large church, built by Henry II. The tower of the manor, in which the town clock is kept, is ancient. There are two churches, St Peter's and St Andrew's, 1½ mile W. of the latter and 3 miles east side of the river, are two hamlets. One of them has an embattled tower and a gate and is enclosed with Fowett St Mary. The other is enclosed with Fowett St Mary. The Fowett land was enclosed, in 1806, for an enclosure act, let for to the master of the National School. A fair is held here on the 3rd Thursday in September.
In the Directory there marked 1 residence at Bunter Green, and the rest at Fowett St Peter.

	Farmers	Page Robert
Miller & millster	• are yeomen	• Palmer John
Shoemaker	1 Bailey Robert	2 Parker Mary
•, joiner	1 Bennett Sir	Hayes John
•, grog Workhouse	Bells George	Smith Wm
•, graver	• Bells Edward	Wells Mary
• Kemp beer sale	Bells Sarah	1 W... ..
• B D rector	Brown Charles	Shop keepers
•, blacksmith	2 • C... ..	21 William W...
•, Norfolk Arms	•	2 Moore James
•, tailor	2 Hardy T...	Smith Matthew
William	Huggins Thos	2 West J...
Lant Wm	2 • Long John

FRITTON parish has a village scattered round a rectory of 60 acres, 10 miles S. of Norwich, and contains 213 of about 550 acres lying in the Hon. Capt. F. P. Pitt's manor land cum Fritton, but several others have estates here. (St. Catherine's is a long narrow building, with a tower and bells. The rectory valued in K. B. at £4, has been since augmented, in 1781 with £200, given by the Rev. T. Pitt, £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. Thomas B. Pitt is patron and incumbent. The parish land, for its part of relieving the poor, is let for £25 a-year. The poor have 100 pieces of land, let for £7 4s. Directory—Saml. Bamford, Michael Green, blacksmith, Jph. Legg, vict., Nsgt. Lemm, gardener and W. Loveday, shoemakers. Farmers are yeomen,) Ann Bacon, Jph. Claxton, Wm. Clark, Drake*, Thos. Nash*, John Smith*, Alex. Thrower, and Wm. White.

PUNDENHALL a village on an acclivity, 9 miles S. of Norwich, has in its parish 391 inhabitants, and 1300 acres, to several owners, the largest of whom are Lord Broom, the mayor, (sines arbitraty,) and T. P. Berney, Esq. who has the tithes, lord of the rectory manor, and patron of (St. Nicholas,) which has a tower between the nave and chancel, is a curacy, now enjoyed by the Rev. Edmund Haynes, who have 5s., allotted at the enclosure, in 1813. Directory—Haynes, shoemaker, Rev. E. Holmes, Mrs. Ann Horwood, corn miller, Wm. Newman and John Smith, brewers, Dr. Hallee, vet. surgeon; R. and Thos. Hy. Peel, and Fras. Tye, yeomen, and Robt. Dix, Wm. Payne, and John Sedgwick, farmers.

HAPTON, a parish and small dispersed village, in a rivulet, 9 miles S. S. W. of Norwich, has 200 inhabitants, of which 600a belong to James Asgood Framm, Esq., lord of the manor. The Church (St. Margaret) has a tower and chancel, but not well, and is a grace in the patronage of Christ College, Cambridge, and incumbent Rev. Thomas Jack, of Forncett, who is also lessee of the rectory, is an old Unitarian chapel, endowed with a good tithing of 115a of land and now under the ministry of the Rev. Directory—Wm. Barnes, blacksmith, R. Dix, vict., Wm. Thos. Edwards, farmer, Sam. Green, beerseller, Jeth. Halsey, maker, Wm. Smart, wheelwright, John Smith, shoemaker, Walker, yeoman.

HARDWICK, a parish and small village, on a declivity of Harleston, has 221 inhabitants, and 568a 2r. 18p. owned by several families, but F. B. Frank Esq., is lord of the manor, patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £5, and constable Shelton, in the incumbency of the Rev. Jeremiah Curd, 3s. 11p. of glebe. The Church (St. Margaret) has a tower and chancel, but its tower was dilapidated many years ago, and a small part of it now remains. Directory—Jas. Constable, Eliz. and Hannah Copping, grocers and drapers; Sam. jun., wheelwright; Southall Copping, shoemaker, Jas. corn miller; Jm. Mason, vict. Rose and Crown, 1s.

Farmers, (marked * are yeomen,) Wm. Bowles, Jas. Browne, opping*, John Cox*, Rd. & Rt. Lighton, Thos. Redgreave, Westgate*, James and Richard Willby*.

PNALL is a parish, with a large village and many scattered in a pleasant vale, 9 miles S. of Norwich, containing 1225 ins, and 3637A. 1R. 17P. of land, belonging to many proprietors, g partly in the manor of Fritton-with-Boylard, but mostly in or of Hempnall and Canons, of which J. T. Mott, Esq., is lord. ner of the soil, impropiator of the great tithes, and patron carage, valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., and now enjoyed by . Robert Rolfe, with 40A. of glebe. The CHURCH (St. Mar- s a large fabric with a square tower and one bell. At the e, in 1817, the town lands, given in 1615 for the poor and the were exchanged for 22A. 3R. 19P., now let for £48. 15s. per

At the same time, 22A. 2R. 20P. of land was allotted to the fuel, and is now let for £28. 10s. 9d. The poor have also ity of 13s. 4d. In the parish are 250A. of wood, of which cut for hoops and hurdles.

Thas. glazier, painter, &c. l Sar. vict. King's Head
Henry, gent.

n. veterinary surgeon
ohn, wheelrt. & blacksm.
hristmas, beer seller

Thomas, vict. Swan

Maria, painter, glaz. &c.

muel, basket maker

l Rt. & Read Ts. blksms.

Hy. vict. Queen's Head

m. glover

Phn. & Read Jtn. joiners

m. bricklayer

e Wm. schoolmaster

s Wm. saddler

Wm. butcher

James, wheelwright

John & Wm. hoopmks.

ev. Jas. Wm. M.A. curate

toemks. Gower Henry

mes Laskey Henry

George Smith Robert

thomas

Corn Millers.

Baxter Robert

Hylton Richard

Robinson Abm.

Farmers.

* are yeomen.

Bailey John

Booty James

Caisey John

D'Oley John

Dordery Wm.

*Hipperson T's.

Hobart Thos.

Howlett Henry

Howlett Wm.

*Mayor John

Meek Edward

Middleton Wm.

*Moore Charles

*Nash John

*Parker Nath.

*Paul Robert

*Read Wm.

Riches Robert

Roberts Roger

*Roberts Thos.

*Sharpe John

Skinner John

*Thrower Alfred

*Thirkettle H.

Thirkettle S.

Turrell Edmd.

Walker George

*Warmoll Edw.

*Webb Jph. C.

*Wyard Wm.

Grocers, &c.

Barham Eliz.

Boutell Thos.

Cockerill Edw.

Thirkettle Jn.

Walesby Lucy

Tailors.

Jermyn John

Kennedy John

Watchmakers.

Bullen Benj.

Roberts Roger

NINGTHORPE, or Mourningthorpe, is a small pleasant 10 miles S. of Norwich, comprising in its parish 164 inha- 300 acres of land, and BOYLARD HALL, a large and hand- izabethan mausion, built in 1571, and thoroughly repaired itified in 1804, by its present owner and occupant, the Hon. P. Irby, R.N., who was for some time employed on the Africa, to prevent the slave trade, in which service he col- large quantity of cowrie shells, (used there as money,) which nce employed in studding the interior of an alcove, in a y, near the Hall, which is delightfully situated in a pictu-

760

FRITTON

60 acres, 10 ml.
about 450 acres land-cum-Fritton
(St. Catherine's bells. The augmented, 17
£200) of Que patron and to relieving the pieces of 1
Michael G.
Lemon, 17
are 17
Drake,
Wm. W.

PUN

Norman to 17
the 17
of 17
(St. 17
in 17
have Hay
Hay
Hay
Hay
Hay
Hay

g to several proprietors, the largest of whom are F. B. patron of the rectory; the Rev. Thomas Howes, lord of and John Morse, Esq., owner of the Hall, a moated manor, formerly the seat of the Sheltons, but now a farm. CHURCH (St. Mary) is a handsome structure, with a flint nave and chancel of brick, being rebuilt by the Shelton from whom it has many monumental memorials, with an altar of the effigies of Sir Robt. Houghton, Knt., his son, and In the windows are various emblazonments in stained rectory, valued in K. B. at £8, is consolidated with The poor have an annuity of 20s., left by Danson Futter. —Rev. Jeremiah Curteis, Rectory; Charles Clarke and ham, shoemakers; John Thrower, blacksmith;—Farmers, u, Wm. Cann, Wm. Farrow, James Gower, Rd. Moore. Sarah Ward, D. and W. Westgate, and Jas. Wilby.

TOWN ST. MARY, or LONG STRATTON, is a small Mar- on the Roman street or way which led to Caistor; being s. by W. of Norwich, 9 miles N. by E. of Scole Inn, and N.E. by N. of London. Its parish contains 721 inhabi- 1660A. of land, including the hamlet of Wood-green, 1 .E. of the town, which forms a long street of good houses, a corn MARKET every Tuesday, and two FAIRS yearly, on sday and October 12th; the first for merchandize, and the cattle. Here is also a Hiring Session on the day after cottisham. The lord of the manor and principal owner of the Rev. Ellis Burroughes, of Stratton House, a handsome sion on a pleasant eminence. The Hall, which had a deep ow a farm-house In 1773, several Roman urns were found gravel pit, six feet below the surface; and about a furlong own was discovered a hearth, four yards square, and having shes and burnt earth, three inches deep, with two imperfect ins. The CHURCH (St. Mary) is a large handsome fabric. ncient round tower, containing five bells, and surmounted t spire. The tower is much older than the church, the latter uit about 1330, by Sir Roger de Burgh and his family, to e are many monumental memorials; but all their brasses. o, are gone. At the east end of the chancel lie the effigies. Reeve and his lady; the former died in 1647, and the 1657. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £10, is in the gift of and Caius College, Cambridge, and has been enjoyed since the Rev. Wm. Walford, who decorated the east window ed glass, about 1805. The glebe is about 40A. Here was a church dedicated to St. Peter; but it was dilapidated in of Henry VII. The Independents and Methodists have apelin the parish; and Petty Sessions are held at the Swan y Monday, for the Hundreds of Depwade and Henstead. Andell is clerk to the magistrates. The poor have two nt-charges of 26s. each, one left by John Roope, in 1687, out an Inn, and the other left by Eliz. Bayspool, out of land at They have also a house and 3 roods of land, left by N- orter, in 1578. The Post Office, established in 1785, is r. W. Browne's; letters to Norwich, 35 min. p. 6 mng., and n, &c. at 8 mng.

te
H Calv
Cane
Cary
Gooc
Hook
Hotsc
King
Lanha
Mears
Osborn
Peck &
Rayson
Reeve
Talent
Utting
Walford
Walpole
15
Angel, C
Queen's STRA village, 1
Norwich.
let of Ris
ous propr
The Church
K.B. at £1
now on

Matw Alderton and Thos. Webb shoemakers, Geo. Pisk the s. Head; Jean Harris beer seller, Wm Pearce, black, Ems Havett, miller Chpr Smith, joiner, — Former s. Rdry, Wm Dorph, sen, and jun John Everett, The Fuller, Hyarvey Wm Howe, J. Le Grice, James Long, J Webster and Wm Weston

FOREHOF HUNDRED

Irregular oblong figure, 12 miles in length, and from 6 to 8 m. broad, bounded on the west by Weyland and Mithard, on the south by Stropham and Depwade, on the east by Hemel Hempstead and part of the city of Norwich, and on the north by Eversford and Berham. It is divided from the latter by the river Wensum, intersected by the Yare and several smaller streams and also by excellent turnpikes, from Norwich, to Thetford, Watton, and Dereham. It has its name from four hills, near Carlton, in Hundred court was formerly held, but it was then called Red and a Half and belonged to the crown, till King John successively granted most of the manors to the Earl of Arundel and his Marischall, lord of Hergart, from whom they have passed to Lord Wolhouse, Lord Stafford, and many others, but the manor in the extensive parish of Wymondham, which was the Half Hundred, is still held by the King. Forehoe forms the DEANERY OF HUNINGHAM, in the Archdeaconry of Ely, and is an extensive district of fertile and highly improved arable and the commons having been enclosed during the preceding latter part of last century. All the 21 parishes in the Hundred, except Honingham, were incorporated in 1776, for the maintenance of their paupers, in a House or Infirmary, in the following year, at Wicklewood, at the cost of £11,000, and, at five per cent interest, on a loan or scheme of 110 shares, each subscriber of £100 named some young person on whose life annuity was to depend, and of these nominees, only 36 survive. The interest of the £11,000 is now divided among 36 shareholders, and will ultimately become the sole property of that person whose nominee may be the last survivor. This large Workhouse has accommodations for 400 paupers, and Honingham has joined its sister parishes since the passing of the new poor law, in 1834. Sermons, for the Hundreds of Forehoe and Hambleton, are preached the first Tuesday in every month, at the White Hart, Hingston, on the 3rd Tuesday, at the King's Head, Wymondham, on the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays at the Wind's-head, in Mulbarton, and the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays, at the Queen's Head, Hethersett each £1100 each. Messrs. John Calver and John Kiches are clerks and magistrates. The 21 parishes in Forehoe Hundred contain 140,000 acres of land, as will be seen in the following enumeration showing their population in 1831, the annual value of their land and buildings, as assessed for the property tax in 1845, and territorial extent —

PARISHES.	Pop.	Ass. Val.	Acres.	PARISHES.	Pop.
Barford	220	£1443	940	Stoughton	20
Barnham Broom	46	1,557	1,771	Hawingham	20
Bawburgh	109	1,540	1,240	Kimbetley	20
Bowthorpe	31	1,540	700	Marlingford	20
Beaumont Parva	90	1,464	1,000	Money St Botolph	20
Carlton Forehoe	132	1,000	600	Money St Peter	20
Colton	200	1,303	280	Tunholme	20
Costwary, of Coster	1,020	3 4	1,000	Wettringe	20
Coston	64	130	700	Wickhampton	20
Crowthorpe	146	826	550	Wramplingham	20
Deopham	56	2,407	1,600	Wymondham	50
Easton	230	1 32	1,000
Hackford	220	1 144	724	Total	120

BARFORD parish was a village of detached houses of Norwich, and contains 120 souls and 1000 acres. The Bawburgh is lord of the manors, but many others have estates. Church (St. Botolph) is a small church, with a tower and three bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £135, augmented in 1732, with £200 given by the Rev. Jeremiah £200 of Queen Anne's charity. The Rev. Henry France and incumbent, and has half of the rent of 3/4 of glebe, moiety of which belongs to the Dean and Chapter of Norwich. The following yearly rent-charges viz. 3/4 the Rev. J. Revans, 16s. 6d. for bread, and £17. 9s. 6d. of Capt. Ives' estate. The latter was fixed at the end of the century. The Wesleyans have a small chapel here. Directors — blacksmith and beer seller, John Norton and James keepers. Wm. Tuddenham and Cook, hotel keepers, and Saml. Nash, weavers, and Saml. Rose, farmers.

BARNHAM-BROOM is a small humble village, 4 miles of Wymondham, and 9 miles W. of Norwich. It is the hamlet of Bickerston or Burton nearly a mile N. and contains 163 inhabitants, and 1700 acres of land, moiety of Lord Wodehouse, lord of the manor of Barnham Bickerston; but the corporation of Norwich have a moiety are lords of the manor of Barnham Hankins. The church (St. Peter and St. Paul) has a lofty tower and five bells, valued in K. B. at £12 8s. 14d. and consecrated in the gift of Lord Wodehouse, and incumbent of Rev. Arminius Wodehouse. Bickerston had a rectory, foundations of which are still visible. The church was built in 1811. The Poor's land nearly 100 acres, was given by him in 1688. Sir Thos. Wodehouse left an annuity of £400 and poor. Directory — Robt. Atkins, miller, Wm. and veterinary surgeon, Caleb Cunningham, beer seller, Elliott and Andrew Turner, shopkeepers, John H. King, wheelwrights, Hon. and Rev. A. Wodehouse, Wm. J. Bayes, John Cunningham, John and Samuel Laidlaw, Thos. Matthews, Mary Mills, and Ann W.

BAWBURGH is a village and parish, on the N. side three bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6. 2s. 9d., mentioned in 1724, by £120 given by the Rev. Henry Rix; described by the parishioners, and £200 of Queen Anne's. The King is patron, and the Rev. Henry Girdlestone, inc. The Rev. Henry Rix also gave 4a. 2s. of land for the school house. The school has also an annuity of £5, and the poor 4 20s., together with £17. 5s. a-year, from 10a. allotted at course in 1801, for fuel. Directory.—Wm. Baker, m Henry Daveney, gent.; Jas. Doubleday, vict., Negro; W. Beer-seller; Eliza Whisson, schoolmistress; Jonathan W. Black-mith; Mrs. Hardy, John Kay, and John Utting, farm.

COSTESSEY, or Cowsey, is a large village nearly a length, pleasantly situated in the vale of the Wensum, 4 s W. by W. of Norwich. Its parish contains 1098 inhabitants 1140 acres of land, including the park, and a common. Lord Stafford owns the greater part of the soil, and is lord manor. (fines arbitrary,) which extends into several other p His lordship resides at his ancient family mansion—COSTESSEY delightfully seated nearly a mile S. W. of the village, in a be and well-wooded park of 900 acres, crossed by a rivulet, and b on the north by the winding stream of the Wensum, and on th by the road from Norwich to East Dereham. The park c some of the finest forest trees in the county, and the vicinity i celebrated for its diversified features of hill and dale. The be bodies of Sir Wm. Howard, and Mary Stafford his wife, Baron and Baroness Stafford. Sir Wm. Howard was created Baron Stafford, after espousing the heiress of the Stafford family, in 1646. But being strongly attainted as a conspirator in the supposed Popish plot, he was beheaded in 1678, when all his honours were forfeited. At the reversal of this unjust attainder in 1824, Sir George Jerningham succeeded to the title of Baron Stafford; but both he and his son and successor, George Wm. Stafford Jerningham, the present Baron Stafford, were for several years greatly annoyed by Mr. Ed. Stafford-Cooke, who claimed to be heir of the barony, and instituted expensive law suits, which ended in his disgrace, though he had gone so far as to take a sort of formal possession of the baronial estates in Staffordshire and Shropshire, where Lord Stafford has a seat at Shifnall, and a castle at Stafford, the latter of which has been partly rebuilt since 1810. The parish Church (St Edmund) is a large structure, with a square tower, surmounted by a wooden spire. It had formerly three guilds, and has a florid Gothic screen between the nave and chancel. The Corporation of Norwich, as trustees of St. Giles' Hospital, are improPRIATORS of the tithes, and patrons of the curacy, certified at £40, and now enjoyed by the Rev. Thos. Watson, with 51a of glebe. In the village is a Baptist Chapel, and also a Catholic Chapel, erected by subscription in 1834, in a spacious burial ground. The Lawncasterian School was built in 1820, by Lord Stafford, and is solely supported by him for the education of 60 boys and 60 girls. The poor have 1a 2s of land, and a yearly rent-charge of 40s, out of Mr. Matthews' estate, but the donors are unknown.

Banham William, butcher
Cooper Thomas, maltster
Culley John & Son, corn millers
Grant Joseph, glass stainer
Hastings Edward, carpenter
Husenteth Rev. Fds Chs (Cath.)
Karl Wm bricklayer
Lovett Henry, wheelwright
Spaul John, blacksmith
Stannard Mr Joseph
Stafford Lord, Costessey Hall
White Joseph, land agent
INNS AND TAPRANS.
Bush, John Taylor
Stafford Arms, James Hudson

Swan, James Barber
White Hart, John Miller Academies. Formers.
Ivory John Barker Mitw
Houlston Thos. Barker Robt.
Bakers, &c. Cannell Jacob
Bealey Thos. Long Barney
Fox Robert Lovett Henry
Sidney Robt. C. Martin Edm
Beer Houses. Sutton Wm.
Sjaul Richard Taylor Wm
Taylor John
Carrier to Norwich, William
Nevill, Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday.

COSTON parish, on the river Yare, 4 miles N N E. of Ringham, has only 61 inhabitants, and 342a 2r 16p of land, in one farm, belonging to Lord Wodehouse, except 8a 5p. of glebe and 3a 8p. owned by John Paine. The Church (St Michael) has a tower, but no bell. The curacy, certified at £21, is always held by the Archdeacon of Norfolk, for whom the Rev Wm Kerly, officiates. Here are several cottagers; William Atkins, farmer, John Brown, vict and sheepkeeper, Coach and Horses.

CROWNTHORPE is a small village and parish, 2 miles W N W. of Wymondham, containing 109 souls, 551a 2r 12p. of land, all (except 16a 16p. of glebe) the property of Lord Wodehouse, the patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £1. 12s. 6d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. J. H. Berney, of Hingham. The Church (St. James) is a small pile, with a tower and one bell. Directory—John Bann, genl., Southwiche Lodge; James Daves, blacksmith; Matthew M. Cox, wheelwright; Wm. Radcliffe, wheelwright; John Coleman sen., Joseph H. West, farmers. Enclosure, 1777.

DEPLHAM, or Derpham parish, 2½ miles S.E. of Hingham, includes a small village of Derpham Green, many scattered houses, 536 acres, and 12½ acres of land, belonging to a numerous proprietor and is given to the use of which Lord Walsingham and the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury are lords, the latter being proprietors of the pastoral tithes, and patrons of the church, valued in K. B. at £2. 1s. 11d., and augmented from 1714 to 1s. with £70 given by them, £10 given by the Rev. Henry K., and £34 of Queen Anne's bounty, all paid for in land at Depham. The Rev. Edw. Adams is incumbent. The Manor Arms, of Hingham, are borne in the manor. The Church (St. Andrew) is a large edifice, with a square tower and five bells and hammer's had four guineas. It is nearly half a mile S.W. of the village, and 5th are on rising ground though some parts of the parish are low and wet. A famous lime tree, cut down here about 1705, measured round its trunk from 8½ to 10 yards and its height was upwards of 30 yards. In 1776 the Rev. Henry Rex bequeathed, for teaching four children, bread for the poor, and 11s. for a sermon yearly, the sum of £100, laid out in 1½ of land, now let for £7. The Primitive Methodist have two small chapels in the parish. The common was enclosed in 1812. Directory—(Marked * are land owners.) Edw. Badcock*, vicar; Hilt Allen, William Clements, wheelwright; Ruthen Harbottle, schoolmaster; Robt. Howe, miller; Wm. Knights, beerhouse; Edw. Lohell, blacksmith; Taylor Phoenix*, thatcher; James Richardson, baker. Farmers Wm. Barker, Fras. Barnard, Rowing Brasnett*, (land baker); Richd. Breeze, Robt. Clark, John Curson, Isaac Eason*, Wm. Ludlow, Thomas Matthews, Archibald Rowing, and Garret Odden Taylor.

EASTON, a village and parish on the Dereham road, 6 miles W. by N. of Norwich, has 230 inhabitants, and about 1000 acres of land, lying in the manor of Costessey; but the greater part of the soil belongs to T. T. Berney and Robt. Fellowes, Esqrs., the latter of whom is patron of the vicarage, which is valued in K. B. at £7. 11s. 10d., and was augmented by him and Queen Anne's bounty, with £100 in 1790 and '7. The Rev. John Fellowes is incumbent. The Church (St. Peter) is a small edifice, with a belfry, the tower having fallen down about 1778. Adjoining the village is a large heath, in which the poor have the right of cutting furze. Cardinal Easton, who flourished in the reign of Richard II., was a native of this parish and distinguished for great prudence and learning. Directory—Henry Boston, vicar; Dog, Edw. Badcock, blacksmith; and John Harman, Kirk Pitcher, Geo. Read and John Thurston, farmers.

HACKLORD is a parish of dispersed houses, on a small rivulet 2 miles E. of Hingham containing 229 inhabitants, and 721½ of land, partly belonging to Lord Wodehouse, the lord of the manor. The Church (Virgin Mary) is a small thatched structure, with a square tower and one bell. Its gallery was erected in 1827. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £4. 15s. 10d., is in the gift of T. T. Gurdon, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. Thos. Crompton, of London. The common was enclosed in 1806. Directory:—Wm. Daines, and James Farrow, basket and sieve makers; Miss Mary Granger; Simon Knowles, wheelwright; Samuel Nelson, beer seller; William Smithson, blacksmith; James Bayes Storey, miller; and John Barnard, Richard Coleman, Matthew Green, James Head, and Robert Samuel Thorne, farmers.

HINGHAM, which gives name to a deanery, is a small but neat town, consisting of a large square of good houses and shops, with several narrow streets, pleasantly seated on rising ground, near a large lake or mere, extending a mile in circumference, abounding in pike, eels, and other fish, and forming one of the sources of the river Yare. It is distant 14 miles W.S.W. of Norwich, 9 miles S. by E. of East Dereham, 6 miles W. of Wymondham, and 97 miles N.E. by N. of London. Its MARKET, formerly held every Saturday, is obsolete; but it has still three large annual FAIRS for stock, &c., held March 7th. Whit-Tuesday, and October 2nd. Its PARISH has increased its population since the year 1801, from 1203 to 1539 souls, and contains upwards of 3500 acres of land, partly in the Rectory manor, and the Rev. W. B. Hurnard's manor of Gurney's, but mostly in Hingham Manor, of which Lord Wodehouse is lord, and owner of most of the soil. The common (800A.) was enclosed in 1781. The manor of Hingham was held during the 13th and 14th centuries, by the Marshals, Earls of Pembroke, and passed from them to the Morleys, and from the latter to the Wodehouses. The CHURCH (St. Andrew) is a large and handsome fabric, with a lofty tower, containing eight musical bells. It was rebuilt in 1316, by its rector, Remigius de Hethersete, and its patron, John le Marshal. Several chapels and numerous images decorated its interior, prior to the Reformation. Trinity chapel at the north-east corner, had a fine stained glass window, with an inscription which Blomefield read thus:—"Thys wyndow ys ye mayden cost of Hengham," from which it was supposed to have been glazed at the cost of the ladies of the town. On the north side of the chancel is a noble canopied monument, reaching from the floor to the roof, richly decorated with stone imagery and tracery; and though the brass inscriptions are gone, it appears from the arms remaining to have been raised to the memory of Thomas Lord Morley, baron of Rye, and marshal of Ireland, who died in 1435. The large east window is filled with beautiful stained glass, purchased on the continent, by Lord Wodehouse, in 1813, and representing in figures as large as life, the crucifixion, the descent from the cross, the resurrection, the ascension, Adam and Eve, Moses, Aaron, St. Andrew, &c., all much admired for the beauty and brilliancy of the colours. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £24. 18s. 4d., is in the gift of Lord Wodehouse, and incumbency of the Hon. and Rev. W. Wodehouse, whose curate is the Rev. R. B. Matthews. In 1605, Robert Peck, M.A., was rector here, and being a man "of a very violent schismatical spirit," he pulled down the rails, levelled the altar, and sunk the whole chancel a foot below the nave; but being prosecuted for it by Bishop Wren, he fled to New England, where he and many of his parishioners founded a new colony by the name of Hingham, in which many of their posterity still remain. He pro-never to desert those who emigrated with him, but that the bishops were deposed, he left them to shift for themselves and returned here in 1611, and died in 1666. Sir Ralph B. Ham Ket, was a native of this parish, and Justice of the King's Bench, in the reigns of Henry III. and Edward I. For his guiltiness of bribery and corruption, he was fined 7000 marks, and being immediately paid, he was afterwards banished, and more of the twelve judges, who had been convicted of the same crime. He ultimately paid the enormous fine, and was made a Justice of the Common Pleas, in the first of Edward II. In the same year, and was buried in St. Paul's Cathedral. The Independent and Society of Friends have each a chapel here. Free Schools, one for the higher branches of education, and another conducted on the Madras system afford instruction to the children of both sexes, and are endowed with 1214 acres of land, £163. 12s. 6d. per annum, besides a large house, garden, and the use of the head master. This endowment arose partly from a bequest at the enclosure, in 1781, when 2s. 2d. per acre was paid to the church and poor. The latter have 7s. 1d. per acre paid by the Heyhoe Wm Tharold, and John Paine, in 1788, 24s. 2d. and a new let for £24 10s. They have also £5 yearly interest on rates, as the latest of money left by Francis Seymour, and Baldwin, and John A. Lock. Several Policemen for the two parishes are employed under a general Act of Parliament passed in 1833, and Petty Sessions are held at the West Hall on the first Tuesday of every month. The Poor are relieved at Wm. Casson's, where the mail cart arrives from Attleburgh, at 10 o'clock, and returns at 1/2 past 3 after noon.

Alexander Durr, solicitor & agent

to the Mass Fire Office

Andrew Bernard, police officer

Bissan Charles, sergeant

Bedford Wm, clock & watchmaker

Borlase Mrs, Mgt & Dr, & Mrs M

Bugloe Mr, Ck & Cousins Mr, Is

Darby Mrs, Mait & Bayle

Fulcher John, surgeon

Fulcher R, & Co, in E. C. gent

Gilman, C. Col Philip

Hardy M, Ann and Sarah

Herron Wm, Esq

Lutgford & Co, ch, druggist

Matthews J, & Rd, Bu & currier

Nelson Samuel, brewer, maltster, and auctioneer

Press Edw, salter & coroner

Press J, gent & Rudley Miss M

Roberts Rev, Adam

Wm house in Admiral Philip

Wm house in Mrs Sophia

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Wm house in & Rev Wm, rector

Cock Robert Esq

Dog Samuel, Humber

Dog Robert, Humber

Edmond Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

White Hart Inn, Wm, Esq

Gapp John	Joiners.	Curtis Wm	Pitts Phineas
Heasel Wm.	Elsy John	Hammond Wm	(& draper)
Juckling George	Harrold John	Harvey Wm	Wadler George
Large Wm.	Thorston Thos.	King Philip	Waller Wm.
Lock Wm.	Multiners, &c.	Parfoot Henry	Wheeler rights.
*Natlshp J. B.	Adcock Sarah	Stribling Thos.	Hubbard John
Spence John	Bedford Mary	Tailors	Vince Thomas
Grocers & Drs	Hubbard Mgt	Browne John	Wine, Spirit, &
Alexander Jno.	Waker Sarah	Caston Wm.	Porter Merts
Pigg Wm.	Plbrs Painters,	Griston James	Dulas Ralph
Riddlesworth F's	& Glaziers	Lewis John	Howard's Jno.
Roberts Wm	Fish Wm		Newson Saml.
Thurlog Rcht.	Vince John
Waker Wm	Roberts Mary
Hair Dressers.	Sadlers.
Hatchley Saml.	Driver Thomas
Yeomans Rcht	Riddlesworth F's
Ironmongers	Shoemakers.
Elsy George	Bissum Jas. N.
Thurston Thos.	(& par clk)

Coach, from the White Hart Inn, to Norwich, Sat at 8 mng. ; and to Watton, 7 ev mng.

Carriers, to Norwich, Samuel Adcock, To Wed. Ev. & Sat 6 mng, and R. Layt, Mon & Thu. at 8 mng, & L. to Watton, Wed and Fri at 10 morning

HONINGHAM is a neat village, on the Dereham road, on the sale of a rectory, 8 miles W. by N. of Norwich. Its parish has 365 inhabitants, and 2500 acres of land nearly all the property of Lord Bayning, the son of the manor, and patron of the vicarage, which is valued at £ 8. 12s. 6d., consolidated with East Tuddenham, and now enjoyed by the Rev William Smith. The church (St Andrew) stands on an eminence, a mile east of the village, and has a square tower with four bells. Honingham Hall, now occupied by Richard Crawshaw Esq. is a fine mansion in the Elizabethan style, seated in an extensive and well timbered park. It was built by Lord Chief Justice Richardson, and afterwards sold to the Hon. Wm. Townshend, fourth son of Viscount Townshend who married the heiress of Lord Paulet. His son Charles was created Lord Baysing, of Foxley, in Berks Oct. 20th, 1797 and was for many years Ambassador to the Court of Spain, a Lord of the Admiralty, and High Steward of Yarmouth. He died in 1813, and was succeeded by his eldest son, Charles, who died unmarried in 1823, and was succeeded by his mother the Right Hon. and Rev Henry Townshend with the title and present Lord Bayning and rector of Berne in Suffolk where he now resides, though the two late Lords occupied Honingham Hall, and are buried in the parish church. Died — Mary Ann Norton nee Colman; Mary Child, blacksmith's; Richard Crawshaw, Esq.; Wm. Leonard, miller; John Saker, carpenter; James Young, vict. Buck, and Thos. Babs, Sen. Coach To Norwich, Wm Howard, Howard Reeve, and Wm. Reeve farmers.

KIMBROUGHLEY has a small village, scattered round a green, that passes N. W. of Wymondham, and comprises in its parish 138 inhabitants, and 1607 1/2 a. In 171 of land, including 250 a. woods and plantations. The whole except the glebe, (85 a.) and the Lea (land left for 21 10s.) is the property of Lord Bunsell and of Kimbroughley Hall, seated 1 mile E. of the village in a beautiful park, occupying 640 a. 30. fr., of which 276 a. 1r. 31y. are in the Dowdham and of Wymondham parish, 58a 2a in Carlton Forehoe, and thence to Kimberley. The first seat here belonged to the Pastoff family and stood on the west side of the village until Sir John Wodehouse married the heiress of Sir John Pastoff, demolished it, and erected a moated hall, with a tower, at the west end of the park. His descendants occupied this mansion till 1654, when Sir Philip Wodehouse levelled it, and removed to the present hall, which stands on the east side of the park, in the parish of Wymondham, and was built by Sir John Wodehouse, but afterwards enlarged and beautified by Sir Armine Wodehouse, who added four large apartments at angles. It is a large and handsome brick mansion, with many convenient rooms and some fine paintings, one of which is a portrait of a Vandyck, painted by himself, when young. Queen Elizabeth, on her progress through Norfolk, in 1578, lodged here, where a rich throne (still preserved) was erected for her reception, covered with crimson velvet, and richly embroidered with gold. The park is richly ornamented with wood and water, and well stocked with deer. The rivulet on the west side of the hall divides the parishes, and is expanded into a lake, apparently encompassing a large wood of noble oaks, below which the serpentine stream bounds a fine lawn. The Wodehouse family has long been settled in Norfolk, and has given its descent, through a succession of knights, from the reign of Henry I., and one of them distinguished himself at Agincourt. The late Sir John Wodehouse, the seventh baronet of his name, represented the county of Norfolk in two Parliaments, and was created Baron Wodehouse of Kimberley, in 1797, and died aged 81 in 1831, when he was succeeded by his son John, the present Lord Wodehouse, who has another seat at Wotton (see p. 750). Kimberley Church (St. Peter) is a small but neat edifice, with a square spire and two bells. The steeple was built by the Wodehouses, and in 1631, and the whole church was thoroughly repaired and beautified by Lord Wodehouse, in 1850, and two of its windows were filled with stained glass, a few years ago, at the cost of the late Lord Wodehouse, of whose family here are a few monumental inscriptions and a few brasses. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £6 12s, was augmented in 1722 with £288, given by Sir J. Wodehouse, and in 1744, with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. It is now in the hands of Barnham-Brook. Lord Wodehouse is the patron, and the Hon. Rev. Armine Wodehouse, incumbent. Directors—Jas. Carter, blacksmith, Thos. Rudledge, wheelwright, and Thos. Atkyns, cooper. Bayes, Thos. Cadywood, and Thos. Matthews, farmers.

MARLINGFOLD, a small parish of dispersed houses, in the parishes of the Yare 6 miles W. of Norwich has 171 inhabitants, and is a lord of the soil, partly the property of Thos. L'Estrange Esq. lord of the manor. The Church (Virgin Mary) is a small edifice with a tower and three bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £7 12s 8d, is in the gift of the Rev. Thos. Green, and is now in the hands of the Rev. G. Fayler. It was augmented in 1793 with £222, given by Mr. Fenwick Esq., and £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The poor have the interest of £16, left by Mary Wright, and £100 by Directors—John Carter, farm steward, Chas. Brown, cooper, Roger, corn millers, John Carman and Wm. Morris, farmers, and John Tarrow, beer seller.

ST. ETTEN is a parish on the south side of the river

E. of Attleburgh. It has 172 inhabitants, and about mostly the property of J. T. G. Browne, Esq., lord of

The Church is a very small building, and is a rectory, with Morley St. Botolph, which is considered the mo-of both parishes. The old Hall, now a farm-house, is by a deep moat, and was anciently the seat of the Sedfarmers are Geo. Barker, Samuel Bowles, Robt. and Wm.

. Howell, John Matthews, Jph. Potter, and John Sewell.

LL parish, near the chief sources of the river Yare, 12

f Norwich, has 176 inhabitants, and about 600A. of land.

house owns most of the soil, is lord of the manor and pavicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 18s., and augmented from 24. with £1200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. J. H.

incumbent. The Church (All Saints) consists of a nave and ver, with three bells, and formerly had a chancel, of which all fragments are still extant. Directory:—Henry Atkins, arrant, Wm. Palmer, and Peter Thurling, sen. and jun.,

; Peter Hardy, blacksmith; Jerh. Smith, miller and carpen-

. Robt. Thurling, shopkeeper.

BOURNE, or Welborn parish, 10 miles W. of Norwich,

231 inhabitants, and 736A. 31P. of land, belonging to C. S.

y. Esq. and several smaller proprietors. The common was in 1811. The Church (All Saints) has a round tower and ls, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. at £5. 18s. 4d., and con-

with Yaxham (see p. 371.) Directory:—Henry Edwards

mas Howe, blacksmiths, &c.; Rev. Fdk. Martin, curate of

; Jas. Porrett, wheelwright; Stn. Porrett, butcher & vict., orse Shoes;—Farmers, (3 are yeomen.) John Colls*, John

, John Green*, John Palmer, Jas. Porrett*, Niehs. Sands*,

endall, and Edw. Webb (cattle dealer.)

WLEWOOD, a parish and scattered village, 3 miles W. of ham, contains 787 inhabitants, and 1551 acres of land, ina lake, or mere, of nearly 20 acres, abounding in fine pike r fish. Henry VI. granted it a market and two fairs, but ve been obsolete more than two centuries. The soil belongs proprietors, the largest of whom is Lord Wodehouse, lord

anor of Wicklewood; but here is a small rectorial manor, mpners, and belonging to the executors of the late Richard

Esq., and Mrs. Kett, as impropriators of the tithes and na-the vicarage, valued in K. B. at £6. 3s. 11½d., an shopke

Camp;
tailor a brickla
Workh
Barker,
Wm. K
A. Wat
WRA miles N and abou of whom lord of th bells, an chancel
The rect sham, Es
Jacob Br. son Cann
Clare Fis
WYMC santly situ turnpike, by W. of M
by N. of L
the centre, handsome r
facture of w trade is nov
the weavin are now ab sive brewer tended. Co

orth end of the town, Kimberley Hall, with part of the (5,) and many scattered farm-houses, &c., extending the northward; SILFIELD, extending nearly three E. and N.E., and including Stanfield Hall, a fine mansion, on a lofty eminence, encompassed by a moat, the seat of the Flowerdews, but now of the Rev. George elegant Gothic chapel, adjoining the hall, was burnt STURON, adjoining the south-west side of the town, and at two miles, to Burfield Hall, the handsome seat of roughes; and WATTLEFIELD, a small district of dis- about 2 miles S. of the town. These divisions form, whose names and lords are as follow:—Wymondham Abbot's, the King; Grishaugh, Cromwell, and Rus- C. Hobart; Brockdish, Rev. J. C. Stoughton; Gon- litchell, Esq., Chosels, the Corporation of Norwich; the Rev. Geo. Preston; Downham Hall, Lord Stalworthy's, with Burfield Hall and Nothes, Miss Hughes; and Palgraves or Hathersett, the Rev. — inhabitants enjoy all the privileges of ancient de- exempt from serving on juries out of the parish, free markets and fairs, &c. &c. The town is supposed to be n; and without the smallest traces to countenance, some antiquaries have considered it the Sitonagus. Its present name is purely Saxon, and the conse- lace appears to have arisen from the ABBEY founded y Wm. de Albin, afterwards Earl of Arundel, whose ined, from the Norman Conqueror, all the manors in e held by the service of King's butler, except Stan- h was for some time held by the Warrens and Bigods. richly endowed by the founder, as a cell to the Abbey but in 1448, it was constituted an independent abbey e Benedictine order. The founder gave it his manors n, Happisburgh, &c., to which Henry I. added "all t part of the coast lying between Eccles, Happis- instead, and a rent in kind of 2000 eels annually, from elgay." Its ample revenues were augmented by sub- ctions, and amounted to £211. 16s. 6d., per annum on, when no crimes were laid to the charge of the Ab- fore, had an allowance for life of £66. 13s. 4d. a-year; were found to be blameless, except four, who ac- emselves guilty of incontinency. Its possessions by Henry VIII. on the Earl of Surrey, who was eheaded in 1547.

Church was a large cruciform structure, erected partly e old parish church, and dedicated to the Virgin Mary s-a-Becket. It consisted of a choir, nave, transepts, with a tower standing in the centre, still called the and another at the west end, built in 1410, by sub- ceive the five bells of the parish; the west end of the ed by the parishioners, and the east end appropriated he monks. When the monastery was destroyed, the ained a grant of the church with its chapels and beau- chancel; but the latter and the south aisle were 1787, on the plan recommended by the philanthropic but after the removal of the prisoners to the new gaol in 1827, it remained unoccupied till 1832, when it was the incarceration of females only; and those sentenced are employed in washing and sewing for the male prisoners; the tread-wheel here being now disused. Mr. Mason is the governor. Three policemen are employed by order under the act passed in 1833, for watching and lighting the parishes in England and Wales, and they have a Lock-up, in Church street. Petty Sessions are held at the Red Inn, on the third Tuesday of every month (see p. 767.) In the morning, June 11, 1615, while the inhabitants were at work, the town was set on fire by a party of "Egyptians," or upwards of 300 houses were consumed, valued, with their contents, at above £40,000. In 1631, the town was visited by the plague. In 1400, Bishop Wakering placed it under a Papal interdict, because the people did not ring the bells when he passed through. Richard Crashfield and Francis Knight were burnt here for converting to the Catholic faith, in the reign of Queen Mary. In 1549, Wm. Kett, who headed the formidable insurrection in Norfolk, was taken in chains, on the Castle at Norwich, and William upon the steps of Wymondham church. This parish gave name to the distinguished FAMILY of WINDHAM, which was ramified into several branches, resident at Fellbrigg, Cromer, and Earsham, in this county, and at other places in Wiltshire, Somersetshire, and Glamorganshire. (See p. 563 & 568.) In 1293, Wm. de Wimundham, being a chemist and metallurgy, was appointed overseer of the mines in Devonshire, and extracted immense quantities of silver and copper ore. The POST OFFICE is at Mr. Richard Francis', in Church street; letters from London, &c. arrive 8 morning, and are despatched at 6 evening; from Norwich, Yarmouth, &c. arrive at 6 morning, and are despatched at 8 morning.

Following DIRECTORY OF WYMONDHAM PARISH, those who reside in Back street; 2, Bridewell street; 3, Church street; 4, Cock street; 5, Damgate street; 6, Downham; 7, Fairfield; 8, Market place; 9, Market street; 10, Norwich road; 11, St. Andrew's; 12, Suton; 13, Town green; 14, Vicar street; and 15, Widford field.

Rev. Obadiah, Ind. min.	4 Cullyer John, magistrates' clerk and chief constable
Wm. Northfield	Daniel Rev. Wm. Dack, Towngn.
John, Market place	8 Ecclestone Alfred, bookkeeper
Samuel, patten maker	Everett Mrs. Sarah, Market pl.
William, Damgate	3 Forster Rt. bookbindr. & par. clk.
Ann, Vicar street	2 Humphreys James, traveller
Miss. Burfield Hall	14 Jeckell Rev. George, curate
Rt., Esq. &c. Cavick	Johnson Thos. gov. of Bridewell
Mr. Alfred John	Kerly Rev. Rd. Wm. Towngreen
Laudelle. atty's. clerk	King Mr. J. B., Northfield-house
Edward Palmer, solr.	Mendham Hy. dyer, Damgate st.
Wm. Rt. brewer, &c.	2 Michael Israel, fruiterer
Geo. Fairland street

1. John J. ...
 2. ...
 3. ...
 4. ...
 5. ...
 6. ...
 7. ...
 8. ...
 9. ...
 10. ...
 11. ...
 12. ...
 13. ...
 14. ...
 15. ...
 16. ...
 17. ...
 18. ...
 19. ...
 20. ...
 21. ...
 22. ...
 23. ...
 24. ...
 25. ...
 26. ...
 27. ...
 28. ...
 29. ...
 30. ...
 31. ...
 32. ...
 33. ...
 34. ...
 35. ...
 36. ...
 37. ...
 38. ...
 39. ...
 40. ...
 41. ...
 42. ...
 43. ...
 44. ...
 45. ...
 46. ...
 47. ...
 48. ...
 49. ...
 50. ...
 51. ...
 52. ...
 53. ...
 54. ...
 55. ...
 56. ...
 57. ...
 58. ...
 59. ...
 60. ...
 61. ...
 62. ...
 63. ...
 64. ...
 65. ...
 66. ...
 67. ...
 68. ...
 69. ...
 70. ...
 71. ...
 72. ...
 73. ...
 74. ...
 75. ...
 76. ...
 77. ...
 78. ...
 79. ...
 80. ...
 81. ...
 82. ...
 83. ...
 84. ...
 85. ...
 86. ...
 87. ...
 88. ...
 89. ...
 90. ...
 91. ...
 92. ...
 93. ...
 94. ...
 95. ...
 96. ...
 97. ...
 98. ...
 99. ...
 100. ...

5 Beans 1 lb
2 Hens 1 lb
13 Butting 1

2. Dlr.	6Race Wm.	2Standley Mary	8Skoulding Jn.
arah	6Reynolds Fras.	Painters, Plbrs.	8Tunaley Rbt.
y John	15Reynolds Dl.	& Glaziers.	Tailors.—* are
Thos.	15Kix Robt.	5Bowgen Pp.	Drapers.
illers.	11Spruce J&W.	9Cooke Charles	13Cobon Chpr.
Esau	11Thurston Jth.	8Cooper Chas.	9*Davey John
John	11Turner Wm.	2Halls Robt.	7*Davey Wm.
ers Jn.	12Weston Gdfy.	Saddlers, &c.	9Jarvis Geo.
J. Wm.	6Wright Henry	9Holman Ths.	5Shildrake Jn.
ck	6Youngman Ju.	9Scarfe M. & E.	3Traxon Esau
, &c.—	Gardeners, &c.	9Wright Robt.	Watch Mks. &c.
s only.	5Smith Wm.	Shopkeepers.	7Francis Rchd.
d John	5Stamford Stpn.	7Canham John	7Wenham Wm.
am S.	Glovers, &c.	5Clarke Mary	(& engraver)
s Wm.	5Edwards Rt.	13Culpitt Wm.	Wheelwrights.
son Jn.	3Traxon Esau	5Edwards Rbt.	7Bush Peter
ers.	Grocers & Dprs.	9Livick Eliz.	4Cann Saml.
r Robt.	13Lane Rosmd.	13Parker John	12Hubbard W.
Wm.	(draper only)	13Poll John C.	5Saunders W.
d Geo.	8Nash Jn. Allen	5Reynolds Z.	2Standley Wm.
rd Jas.	9Parker James	5Smith John	Wine & St. Mrts.
l Rbt.	14Tipple Crnls.	2Spruce Ann	8Cann & Clarke
l R. jun.	8Turner H. & D.	Surgeons.	13Wells Jno. B.
ett John	3Woodgate Sl.	14Colman Thos.
Robt.	8Wright Zach.	E. Tawell
Chas.	Hair Dressers.
l John	9Beecroft Jas.
ph W.	9Nobbs James
obt.	8Pigg Wm.
saml.	5Secley Jh. Hy.
hos.	Horse Letters.
ter Jh.	7Batson Richd.
rd Ben	8Rackham Ths.
l. Half	Ironmongers.
idge	8Francis Rchd.
Jas.	8Smyth Saml.
Noah	(& oil & colrmn.)
r John	Joiners & Cabi-
Mary	net Makers.
Geo. D.	2Canham Peter
hall	2Camp Wm.
eo.	8Clarke Wm.
Wm.	7Colman Jas.
orge	5Cranness Wm.
harles	13Foulsham W.
erdale J	5Harvey Wm.
dale T.	5Kett Jacob
Danl.	13Poll John C.
John	Milliners, &c.
James,	7Gray M.A & C.
m grv.	9Hubbard Ann
Thos.	Leatherdale A.
Edwd.	8Rudling Mary

COACHES.

The Mail to London, at 6 evg. and to Norwich, at 8 morning, (from the Griffin.)

The Magnet to London, at $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 6 evng., and to Norwich 7 mng., (from the White Hart.)

The Telegraph to London, at 8 mng., and to Norwich 6 evening, (from the King's Head.)

CARRIERS.

To London, Mack and Co.'s Van, at 10 evng., and to Norwich every mng., except Sunday, (from the Queen's Head.)

To Norwich, Saml. Crow, (Rose and Crown,) and Henry Johnson, (Rising Sun,) Mon. Wed. & Sat.; return same days to Attleburgh. Also Geo. Moss, Tue. and Fri., & John Betts and R. F. B. Colman, Wednesday and Saturday.

To East Dereham and Hingham, James Newman, Fri. & Sat.

To Rockland, &c., (Griffin) Fri., & to Wymondham

on the south; besides which, it is watered. It forms the Deanery of Humbleyard, in Norfolk; has Petty Sessions every Tuesday, 24 PARISHES, viz., Bracon-Ash, East Oulton, Donston, Flordon, Hethel, Hethersett, Kingham, Great and Little Melton, Merston, Flotman, Swainsthorpe, Swardston, and contain together 5411 inhabitants, and 2000 lands and buildings were assessed to the annual value of £27,689.

BRACON-ASH is a small but pleasant village, 8. of Norwich. Its parish contains 3160 acres of land, mostly the property of Miss Kemp. The former is lady of the manor, and a modern mansion, and is patroness of the Rectory, £10, and now enjoyed by the Rev. T. P. Kemp, who measures 36 yards by 16, and was thoroughly repaired, but has one bed hanging in a room, the celebrated Chancellor of England, who died in 1810.—Directory—Mrs. and Miss Ash Hall, John Blake and Rt. Garling, butchers in Ash Lodge, Esther Leveret and Wm. Myhill, grocer; Chas. Myhill, saddler, layer.—Farmers Geo. Bawdwin, Edw. Smith, Wm. Smith, and John Tiliott.

CARLTON (EAST), 5 miles S.W. by road, of dispersed houses with 311 inhabitants, belonging chiefly to the Rev. J. H. Stenson, the Rev. George Preston, and the Corporation of whom purchased the principal manor, vice of carrying yearly "to the King's house in England, 24 herring pies or pasties, of Carlton-Carson and Peverels, of which Carlton House is lord. It was at one time

Deposits on the 1st of 24th
1891
1892 1893 1894
1895
1896 1897 1898 1899 1900 1901
1902 1903 1904
1905 1906 1907 1908 1909
1910
1911 1912 1913 1914 1915 1916 1917 1918
1919 1920 1921 1922
1923 1924 1925 1926 1927 1928 1929
1930 1931 1932 1933 1934
1935
1936
1937
1938
1939
1940 1941 1942 1943 1944 1945 1946
1947 1948
1949 1950
1951 1952 1953
1954 1955 1956 1957 1958 1959
1960 1961 1962
1963
1964 1965 1966 1967
1968 1969 1970
1971
1972
1973
1974 1975 1976
1977
1978 1979
1980 1981
1982 1983
1984 1985
1986 1987 1988
1989 1990
1991
1992
1993
1994 1995
1996 1997
1998 1999 2000 2001 2002 2003 2004
2005 2006 2007 2008 2009 2010 2011 2012
2013
2014 2015 2016 2017
2018
2019 2020
2021 2022 2023
2024 2025 2026 2027
2028
2029 2030 2031
2032
2033
2034
2035
2036
2037
2038
2039
2040 2041
2042
2043
2044
2045
2046
2047
2048
2049
2050 2051 2052 2053
2054
2055
2056
2057
2058
2059 2060 2061
2062
2063
2064
2065
2066 2067
2068
2069
2070
2071
2072 2073
2074
2075
2076
2077
2078
2079
2080 2081
2082
2083
2084
2085 2086
2087
2088
2089
2090
2091
2092
2093
2094
2095
2096 2097
2098
2099 2100 2101 2102 2103
2104
2105 2106
2107
2108
2109
2110
2111
2112
2113
2114
2115 2116
2117
2118
2119
2120
2121 2122
2123
2124
2125 2126
2127
2128
2129 2130
2131
2132
2133
2134
2135
2136
2137
2138
2139
2140
2141
2142
2143
2144 2145
2146
2147 2148
2149
2150 2151 2152
2153
2154
2155
2156
2157
2158
2159
2160
2161
2162
2163
2164
2165
2166 2167
2168
2169
2170
2171
2172 2173
2174
2175
2176
2177
2178
2179
2180
2181
2182
2183
2184
2185
2186 2187
2188
2189
2190
2191
2192
2193
2194
2195
2196
2197
2198
2199
2200
2201 2202 2203
2204
2205
2206
2207 2208 2209 2210
2211 2212
2213
2214
2215
2216
2217 2218
2219
2220 2221
2222
2223
2224
2225
2226
2227
2228
2229
2230
2231
2232
2233
2234
2235
2236
2237
2238
2239
2240
2241
2242
2243
2244
2245 2246
2247
2248
2249
2250 2251
2252
2253
2254 2255
2256
2257
2258 2259
2260
2261
2262 2263
2264 2265 2266
2267
2268
2269
2270
2271
2272 2273
2274 2275
2276
2277 2278 2279 2280
2281
2282 2283 2284
2285 2286 2287 2288 2289
2290
2291
2292
2293
2294
2295 2296
2297
2298
2299
2300 2301
2302 2303
2304
2305 2306 2307 2308
2309
2310 2311
2312 2313
2314
2315 2316 2317
2318
2319 2320 2321
2322 2323 2324 2325
2326
2327
2328 2329 2330
2331
2332
2333
2334
2335
2336
2337
2338
2339 2340 2341
2342
2343
2344 2345 2346 2347
2348
2349 2350 2351 2352 2353
2354
2355
2356
2357
2358 2359
2360 2361 2362
2363
2364
2365
2366 2367
2368 2369
2370 2371 2372
2373
2374
2375
2376 2377
2378 2379
2380
2381 2382
2383
2384 2385 2386 2387
2388
2389
2390 2391
2392
2393 2394
2395
2396
2397
2398
2399
2400 2401 2402
2403 2404 2405 2406
2407 2408 2409
2410
2411
2412 2413 2414 2415 2416 2417
2418 2419 2420
2421
2422 2423
2424 2425 2426
2427
2428
2429 2430
2431
2432
2433
2434 2435 2436
2437
2438 2439 2440 2441 2442
2443 2444
2445
2446
2447
2448
2449
2450 2451
2452 2453 2454
2455
2456 2457
2458 2459 2460
2461
2462
2463
2464 2465 2466
2467
2468
2469
2470
2471
2472 2473
2474
2475
2476 2477
2478
2479
2480
2481
2482 2483 2484 2485 2486 2487 2488
2489
2490
2491
2492
2493
2494
2495
2496
2497 2498
2499
2500 2501
2502
2503 2504 2505
2506
2507 2508
2509
2510
2511
2512
2513 2514 2515 2516 2517
2518
2519 2520
2521
2522 2523
2524 2525 2526
2527
2528
2529
2530
2531
2532 2533 2534
2535 2536
2537 2538
2539 2540 2541
2542 2543 2544 2545
2546
2547 2548
2549
2550 2551 2552
2553
2554 2555
2556 2557
2558 2559
2560
2561
2562
2563
2564
2565 2566 2567 2568 2569
2

[illegible]

1. The first part of the book is a history of the
 2. of the
 3. of the
 4. of the
 5. of the
 6. of the
 7. of the
 8. of the
 9. of the
 10. of the

I have been thinking of you very much lately, and wondering how you are getting on. I hope you are well and happy. I have been very busy lately, but I have managed to find some time to write to you. I have been thinking of you very much lately, and wondering how you are getting on. I hope you are well and happy. I have been very busy lately, but I have managed to find some time to write to you.

Westgate John Farmers.	Starling Ringer Robt.	Curson Wm. Fish John
* are yeomen.	Sewell Samuel	Wheelwrights &c.
* Burton Thos.	Smith James	Barker Smith
Bush Robert	Shoemakers.	Ireland James
Clark Wm.	Cunningham W	Lofty Jerh.
Cook John	The COACHES and CARRIERS
Hood Robert	from Norwich, Wymondham, Thet-
Howlett James	ford, London, &c. pass through the
* Norgate Thos.	village.

parish, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.W. by S. of Norwich, has only 53 ad 800 acres of land, all the property of Joseph Salis-Esq., of Intwood Hall, formerly the seat of the knightly ham, but nearly all rebuilt, in a handsome style of ar- its present owner, who has embellished it with a fine paintings. Here it was that Sir Thomas Gresham en- great Earl of Warwick, in his march against the rebel

Besides the hall, here are only a few cottages. Mr. dies nearly all the land, and is patron of the rectory, d in K. B. at £5, and has united with it that of Ken- neumbency of the Rev Thomas Drake, who was in- 9. The CHURCH (All Saints) is a small edifice, in nd has two bells, with a tower, round at the base and the top.

L, on the south-west bank of the Yare, 3 miles S.S.W. is a parish, with 120 inhabitants, and about 700 acres of he property of Hudson Gurney, Esq., the lord of the sides at the New Hall. Rd. Birkbeck, Esq., occupies Frus. Clark is the farmer, and John Toll the miller.

CH (All Saints) nothing remains but the ruins of a the rectory, valued in K. B. at £5, having been long rith Intwood.

NGHAM parish, 6 miles S.W. of Norwich, comprises is, and 1200 acres of land, all the estate of Nathaniel Esq., whose family seat (the hall) is now occupied by ilby, Esq., and has a pleasant park. The Conqueror or to Robt. de Vallbois, or Vaux, from whom it passed ingham family. Fragments of Roman pottery have a tumulus, near the road from Carlton to Hethersett.

(St. Peter) has a low square tower, with five bells, and w is decorated with stained glass. In the chancel are s, and also a monument, with effigies of Wm. Heven- wise, and two children. He was one of the judges of id one of the regicides who surrendered in 1660. His , but his estates were forfeited, though the latter were d in the following year, through the intercession of his Mary, daughter of the Earl of Dover N. W. Peerb, priator of the great tithes, and patron of the vicarage, B. at £6, and now enjoyed by the Rev W. W. Andrew, ll. Directory.—Alexander Ogilby, Esq., Kettering- d John Cook, Samuel Radcliffe, James Thompson, and s, farmers.

1. Chlorophyll a (Chl a) is the primary photosynthetic pigment in most plants and algae. It is a green pigment that absorbs light energy in the blue and red regions of the visible spectrum.

1. Pharmaceutical industry—The pharmaceutical industry is the largest of the three industries, with sales of $10.5 billion in 1990. It is the only industry in the sample that has a significant number of firms with sales exceeding $1 billion. The industry is characterized by a high degree of concentration, with the top 10 firms accounting for 45% of total sales. The industry is also characterized by a high degree of innovation, with a large number of new drugs being developed and marketed.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

2. Next, it is important to gather relevant information and data. This can be done through research, consultation with experts, or by analyzing existing data sets.

3. Once the information is gathered, the next step is to analyze it. This involves identifying patterns, trends, and relationships that can help in understanding the problem.

4. After analysis, the next step is to develop a solution or plan. This involves identifying the most effective approach to solve the problem, taking into account the available resources and constraints.

5. Finally, the solution is implemented and the results are evaluated. This involves monitoring the progress of the implementation and making adjustments as needed to ensure that the problem is solved effectively.

The first of these is the fact that the Government has been unable to secure the necessary funds to carry out its policy of non-interference. This is due to the fact that the Government has been unable to secure the necessary funds to carry out its policy of noninterference. This is due to the fact that the Government has been unable to secure the necessary funds to carry out its policy of non-interference.

d beautified in 1815, and has several neat monuments to of Rich, Scargill, Frere, Gay, &c The rectory, valued £14, is in the gift of the Rev J H Steward, and in of the Rev. Rd. Spurgeon. Kemingham estate, belonging to Turner, was anciently a parish, but it was consolidated with this, in 1452, and the site of its church is now occupied by a house. Sir Thomas Richardson, lord chief justice of the Common Pleas, in 1626, was born in this parish, where his father

The poor have £22 yearly from 10a. of land, purchased of the £100 left by Sir Edward Rich, in 1677 The other

£22. 10s. timber money, was laid out in building the church. Petty Sessions are held on the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays in the month, at the World's End Inn, where there is a good inn, much resorted to in summer, by company from Norfolk, who assemble on the village-green, in Whit-week, to witness pony and donkey races, and other sports and games.

Directory—Samuel Barrell, and Chas Creamer and sons, millers; Rt. Blake, butcher; Deacon and Durrant, shopkeepers; John Dye, shoemaker; Samuel Fletcher, vict, World's End; Samuel Gowling, gardener, Mr Rt. Larter, Rt. Mann, maltster; Charles Norris, Wm Ollett, joiner and carver; Charles Pecksmith, Mark Petchel, schoolmaster, Edmund Rice,

Rt. Rice, wheelwright, Wm. Spratt, baker, Mrs Spurgeon, Rd. Spurgeon, Rt. Stammers, farmer, and Jas & John Stammers.—Post, from Norwich, Mon Wed and Friday

ST. PLOTMAN is a village, on and near the Ipswich road, 8 by W of Norwich, comprising in its parish 382 a. and nearly 1,100a. of land, of which the Rev R C. Long (chief owner, lord of the manor, and patron of the Church, (St. Peter's,) which was rebuilt in 1385, and is a small neat fabric, with a tower and two bells. In the chancel is an arched monument of brass, on which are graven the effigies of Richard, Edward Blundevale, grandfather, father and son, who died 1500 and 1508. The rectory, valued in K B at £10, is in the gift and incumbency of the Rev R. C. Long. RAITHORPE is a manor and estate extending into the parishes of Newton, Bordon, and Tostock, and belonging to Mrs Girdlestone, who has the hall, a fine Elizabethan mansion. The poor of the parish have a yearly rent-charge of £1 left by John Pye, in 1697.

—John Day, baker; Jonathan Hardy tawer, James Addler, Rev Rolt Mann, curate, Samuel Read, shopkeeper, Scott vict, Maid's Head. Farmers Mary Boyles, &c; Geo. Harvey, John Kerrison, Jas Muskett, George John Raven, Henry Riseborough, and George Utting.

RAITHORPE, a small village near the Ipswich road, 5½ by W. of Norwich, has in its parish 180 inhabitants, and 1,100 a. of land, mostly the property of Miss Brooks, and the Rev R. C. Long, the owners of the two manors. The latter is patron of the rectory valued in K B at £12. 13s. 1d. The church (St. Peter's) is a small structure with four bells hanging in a square at the base, and hexangular at the top. There was another church (St. Mary's,) but it was demolished; and its site is now occupied by a small farm.

HENSTEAD HUNDRED

on the north by the river Yare, and on the west by the It is about nine miles in length, and varies from 5 to 3 adth, being bounded on the north by Blofield, on the lon and part of Clavering, on the south by Depwade, and by Humbleyard Hundred, and the county of the city of Near the centre of it was formerly an extensive heath; elosed under an act passed in 1800, and the whole Hun- in a high state of cultivation. It was possessed by the granted out to the Priory of Norwich, and the families . Cornwallis, &c. It has TWENTY PARISHES, viz., Arm- ley*, Bramerton*, Caistor St. Edmund*, Framingham- ingham-Pigot*, Holverstone*, Kirby-Bedon, Great and land*, Rockland, Saxlingham-Nethergate, Saxlingham- tisham All Saints, and St. Mary with St. Martin and St. ke-Holy-Cross, Surlingham, Trowse-Newton, Whitling- lverton*, which contain, collectively, 5213 inhabitants, acres of land. Their lands and buildings were assessed ty tax in 1815, at the annual value of £25,515. Those ked thus * in the above enumeration, are in the Honor of Norfolk.

HALL parish, 3 miles S.E. of Norwich, has only 88 in- nd 600 acres of land, of which 430A. belong to the apter of Norwich, the lords of the manor, appropriators and patrons of the Church, (Virgin Mary,) which has hree bells, and is a curacy, certified at £20, but aug- 1780) to 1810 with £600 of royal bounty, and now en- Rev. J. T. Batchelor. The Hall, now a farm-house, is of the Hon. F. W. Primrose, and has a venerable and red porch, built by Nicholas Herne, whose family was ere, but sold it to the Pettus family before Blomefield ctory:—Thomas Moore, Geo. Parker, and Rt. Waters, niel Stone, blacksmith.

parish, 2½ miles S.S.W. of Norwich, has 84 inhabitants, s of land, of which 160 acres belong to the Corporation and nearly all the rest to the Hon. F. W. Primrose. e Earl of Rosebery, the lord of the manor. Bixley Hall. nansion with three fronts, is now the seat of Mr. Prim- ncestor obtained it by marrying the heiress of Sir Ran- ose family were long seated here, and lately succeeded and estates of the late Lord Dudley and Ward. The Wandragesilius the Abbot) is a small antique fabric. er and two bells. It was built by Wm. de Dunwich, in several monuments to the Ward family. The rectory, 3. at £5, is consolidated with Framingham-Earl, in the of the Rev. John Bowman, and patronage of W. J. p., who lately purchased the advowson of the Duke of rectory:—Chas. S. Gilman, solicitor; John Fiddv. and an, farmers; John Clare, miller; James Pat and beer seller.

BRAMERTON, a small village and parish, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.E. by E. of Norwich, has 202 inhabitants, and 500 acres of land, belonging to several proprietors, and lying in the manors of the surrounding parishes. The Hall, which was the seat of the Corys, from 1400 to the middle of last century, is now the property of John Blake, Esq., and occupied by a farmer. The Church (St. Peter) was rebuilt in 1460, and has a tower with three bells. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6, is in the gift of Robert Fellowes, Esq., and now enjoyed by the Rev. John Fellowes, with 24 acres of glebe. In 1715, the Rev. Wm. Bervy left the interest of £100 for schooling poor children. The poor's land was let in 1786 for £2. 10s. Directory:—Thos. Baldwin, vict., Wood's Inn, Ferry; Henry Beaumont, joiner; Jph. Porter, grocer; James Frost, gardener; John Hurn, butcher; Rev. Richard Lubbock, curate; Alfred Parker, and Davy Todd, blacksmiths. Farmers, Rt. Beaumont, George Blake, (the Hall,) James Miller and Robt. Hold. The last two are land owners.

CAISTER ST. EDMUND'S, or Caister-near-Norwich, is a small village of detached dwellings, on the east side of the river Tas, Taus, or Tossae, 3 miles S. of Norwich. Its parish contains 193 inhabitants, and about 1000a. of land, nearly all the property of Mrs. Harriet Dashwood, who has a neat mansion here, and is lady of the manor and patroness of the Church, a small edifice, with a square tower and three bells. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £6, is united with Merghall, in the incumbency of the Rev. Joseph L'Oste. Caister, though now an inconsiderable village, was at an early period the most flourishing city of the Britons, if not the residence of the Iceniian kings. It was an important Roman Station, called Fenta Icenorum, afterwards, for the sake of brevity, called Castrum, which the Saxons again altered to Castor. It was deserted after the departure of the Romans, in 446, and its ruined walls are said to have been employed in the erection of Norwich (see pages 65 and 66.) Though the walls are gone, sufficient vestiges still remain to shew the shape and military characteristics of this once formidable fortress, which occupied an area of 32a. 2r. 36r., about a furlong south-west of the village, and having a gentle descent to the river, which was formerly a much larger stream, supposed to have been navigable for Roman barges. The encampment is in the form of a parallelogram, with the corners rounded off, like those at Burgh and Dorchester, and consists of a single foss and vallum. It was also surrounded by a strong wall, as an additional rampart, built upon the vallum. The interior area occupies 21a. 1r. 21r., by which it appears that this station was of greater magnitude than any other in this part of England, being capable of containing 6000 men. The north, east, and south sides exhibit large banks, raised from a foss of considerable depth, and the west side has one formed on the margin of the river. In these are the foundations of four gates, the principal of which was the porta prætoria. At each corner is a raised mound, on which stood bastion towers. The fosse and vallum, in some parts, are 110 feet wide, and in others not more than 90. On the margin of the river is the foundation of a massive tower, composed of layers of Roman tiles and flints, embedded in a strong cement. Within the area of the camp, near the south east corner, stands the parish church, which is evidently constructed partly with the ruins of rt walls, as it exhibits many Roman tiles, intermixed with the whole is now cultivated. Many Roman urns, coins, and antiquities have been found at various periods. The coins, which are preserved at Norwich, are of various emperors, to the time of the lower empire; but they are principally antique. About 20 years since, the bronze figure of a soldier, in the shape of a foot, were found, and supposed to have been as lamps. In 1821, the remains of two basilicas, with the perfect state, were found on the west side of the encampment at the distance of more than two furlongs to the north. At the top of a natural elevation, four beautiful Roman urns, and calcined bones, &c., were dug up in 1815; and many more afterwards discovered near the same spot. After the battle of Caister, it was still regarded as a place of defence, which was held by the Saxon and Danish kings, till Edward the Confessor conferred it, with other possessions, in the abbey of St. Edmund Bury; but the Norman Conqueror gave it to one of his knights, and it is now in the liberty or honour of the Duke of Norfolk, who has a paramount jurisdiction; though the manor, and nearly the whole, belong to Mrs. Dashwood. In 1618, Thomas Pettus became an annuity of £5. 10s., for the church and poor, and there were the following yearly rent-charges, viz., 3s. 4d., left by John Dale, in 1597; and 3s. 4d., left by Wm. Middleton, in 1673.

—Mrs. Harriet Dashwood, gentwn.; Rev. John Arthy, rector; Robt. Attow, carpenter; Robt. Cogman, blacksmith; and John Kingman, Jas. King, Wm. Warren, & Tm. Williamson, farmers. INGHAM-EARL, a small parish of dispersed dwellings, 1½ m. E. by S. of Norwich, has only 74 inhabitants, and 500A. belonging to several proprietors, the largest of whom is the Earl of Rigny, who has a neat mansion here, with a woody lawn; the Earl of Roseberry is lord of the manor. She is relict of the late Edward Rigny, M.D., who died in 1822, after practising as a surgeon in Norwich, since 1769, and publishing several excellent medical works. The Church (St. Andrew) is a small edifice, consisting of a round tower and two bells. The rectory, valued in K.B. 8d., is consolidated with Bixley. W. J. Brereton is patron, and Rev. J. Bowman, incumbent. The glebe is 12A. The poor are allotted at the enclosure. Directory:—Mrs. Ives Browne; John Rodrum, blacksmith; John Goward, gig maker; Mrs. A. Robert Woodrow, schoolmaster; and Jas. Pitt, Jas. Moyes, John Smith, farmers.

INGHAM-PIGOT, a small scattered village, 4½ miles S. of Norwich, has in its parish 302 inhabitants, and 606A. owned by many freeholders; but the Earl of Rosebery is lord of the manor, which was given by Roger Bigod, Earl of Norfolk, to the Pigot, or Picot family. The Church (St. Andrew) is a noble fabric, without a tower, and is a rectory, valued in K.B. 23. 6s. 8d. The Bishop of Norwich is the patron, and the Rev. H. Howes, incumbent. The poor have 11 acres, allotted at the enclosure for fuel, and the interest of £50, left by a Mr. Herpington, apprentice-fees. Directory:—Mrs. Frances Brook; Simon Gull, vict., Gull; Wm. Lansdell, blacksmith and vict., Fox; John H., cattle dealer; John Okley, vict., Black House; Robert Handwritten text, likely a list or index, written in a cursive script. The text is arranged in several columns and appears to be a list of names or entries. The handwriting is somewhat faded and the paper shows signs of age and wear.

the maintenance of the poor, but repairs its roads separately. It has only about 90 inhabitants, and 590 acres of land, chiefly the property of Ambrose Steward, Esq., of Stoke Park, near Ipswich. The church, (St. Michael,) of which some small fragments still remain, was demolished before the year 1540, and the tithes were commuted with the rectory of Howe. The farmers are Thos. Thurtell, Thomas Fiddy, Charles Hubbard, and James Shortt.

ROCKLAND ST. MARY is a large scattered village, 6 miles by E. of Norwich, on the south side of the open vale of the river, near a rivulet which expands into a lake, or "broad," of 140 acres, navigable to the river. Its parish contains 137 inhabitants, and 1200A. of land, belonging to several proprietors, the largest of whom are John Crowe, Esq., and Sir Charles Rich. The tithe is paid to the principal manor. It was anciently in two parishes, Rockland Major and Minor, or Rockland St. Mary and St. Margaret, and had two Churches in the same burial ground. St. Margaret's, which had no tower, was dilapidated several centuries ago, but part of its ruined walls still remain, covered with ivy. St. Mary's, the present parish church, is a small edifice, with a square tower and three bells. The rectory (not in charge) is in the gift of Eton College, Cambridge, and incumbency of the Rev. Francis B. B. ; with 32A. 3R. 13P. of glebe, and a yearly modus of £500, from the Holverston Hall estate. The parish is noted for its excellent clay, of which great quantities are made into bricks. At the survey, in 1800, 10 acres were allotted to the poor. There is also a. 33R. of church and poor land. From John Cock's charity, £100 is paid to this parish every third year, for an apprentice fee, and yearly for the poor. Directory :—Jas. Blake, smith and ironworker; John Coleman, bricklayer and vict.; Rd. Forder and Robert Forder, joiners; Rt. Forder, gardener; Simon Minns, Rt. Newman, Rt. Thurston, grocers; John Diggins, Geo. George, and Samuel Orsborne, farmers; Jas. Orsborne and James Shreeve, shoemakers; Roberts, wheelwright; Mr. John Gillett Rope; Henry Rudd, Star; Miss Jane Rudd; Jas. Whickham, coal merchant; and Blake, J. Crowe, and Robert Gilbert, brickmakers.

SAXLINGHAM-NETHERGATE is a large village and parish, 4 miles S. of Norwich, containing 666 inhabitants, and 1500 acres of land, partly the property of the Rev. J. H. Steward, and all lying in his manors of Saxlingham-Netherhall, Overhall, and Thorpe-Hall (tithe-free.) John Gordon, Esq., and the Rev. Wm. Walford, have estates here; and the former has a neat mansion, with an extensive valuable collection of paintings. Here is a large common, two-thirds of which belong to this parish, and the rest to Saxlingham-Thorpe, which also includes a small part of the village. The church (St. Mary) is a handsome building, with a square tower and five bells. It was thoroughly repaired about 1809, by a late rector, the Ven. John Gooch, Archdeacon of Sudbury, who beautified the windows with stained glass, and was buried in the chancel in 1809, under a neat marble monument. The rectory, valued in K.B. 13. 11s. 8d., has annexed to it that of Saxlingham-Thorpe, in the gift of the Rev. J. H. Steward, and incumbency of the Rev. W. F. Gimson, sen. The poor's land, 40 acres, was left by one Tuttle. In 1711, Eliz. Bayspool left a yearly rent-charge of £3. 12s. to the part of this parish and Saxlingham-Thorpe. Directory — J. Bean, miller; Jas. Buck, carpenter; John Gordon Esq., R. Read carpenter, Wm. Whiting, schoolmaster, Rev. Wm. Wilkins a junr., curate. — Farmers John Bilham, Chas. Neal, Talbot, and James Wainford; — Beer Sellers, Saml. Bick, Daniel, Richd. Fisher, and Anthony Moore — Career Wm. to Norwich, Wednesday and Saturday.

SAXLINGHAM-THORPE is a small village, near the river Tas 7 miles S. of Norwich, including in its parish 140 acres, and 5000 of land, partly belonging to the Rev. J. H. S. and abbat, and its manors of Overthorpe and Thorpe. The water of an estate, is the property of Mr. D. Reynolds. The manor of Overthorpe was consolidated long before 1740, when it was valued in K. B. at £6. 13s. 4d., was consolidated with Saml. Nethergate. Here is a small Baptist Chapel. Directory — Barnham carpenter, P. Brock, grocer, &c., Barnham brickwright, Rev. John Clark, Baptist minister, Rt. Leighton, baker; Reynolds, corn miller, Samuel Stevenson, and R. W. blacksmiths, Wm. Turner, boot seller. — Farmers, John and Ann Dewing, Thos. Gales, Wm. Mook, Wm. Reader, & Mrs. S.

SHOTTISHAM ALL SAINTS, or High Shottisham is a village, detached from the town, with some neat modern dwellings, S. by E. of Norwich. Its parish contains with that of Saxlingham, 367 inhabitants, and 3000 of land, near 1000 of which of Robert Fellows, Esq., the Lord of the manor, and the corn tithes, and patron of the consolidated church, valued together in K. B. at £16. 13s. 4d., and now by the Rev. John Fellows. All Saints Church stands in a commanding eminence, and has a square tower with bell tower. Corporation of Norwich have an estate in this parish, and two yearly rent charges left by Elizabeth Bays, in 1711 £1. 12s. for the poor, and £3 for the church, and the poor have also £1 a year out of Thomas Brantley, 12 acres of High and Low Shottisham, send eight paupers supported at East Greenwich, borned by the celebrated General Pitt Rivers of Northampton who was born in 1750, at the time when a farm house in Low Shottisham and was the son of the Earl of Surrey. Directory — James Aldred and John King, farmers, M. Carnaby, butcher, Jm. Cutts, blacksmith, Rev. Fellows, Vicarage, John Lee, schoolmaster, Mrs. C. Leary, Midwife, surgeon, Parker Mangay gent., Fras. Spalding and Thomas White, joiner and wheelwright. Farmers, George Cotton, John Cross, Wm. Howe, Wm. Hubbard, Wm. H. Henry Hytten, and Hubbard Mayes.

SHOTTISHAM St. Mary, St. Martin, and St. Botolph, are situated in the parish, generally called Low Shottisham, about 6 miles S. of Norwich, and comprising only two farms, a water mill, and Shottisham Park, the seat of Robert Fellows, Esq., owner of all the soil and tithes in the parish. The park is extensive and well wooded, and situated on the river Tas. The house is a handsome modern structure, but the site of an ancient mansion which was long the seat of the family. St. Mary's Church is a small edifice. — Rectory

Handwritten text, possibly a date or page number, located at the top left of the page.

Handwritten text, possibly a list or a series of notes, located in the middle left of the page.

Handwritten text, possibly a list or a series of notes, located in the top right of the page.

Handwritten text, possibly a list or a series of notes, located in the middle right of the page.

greatly attracts here pleasure parties from Norwich. Mr Robt occupies Whittingham farm.

YELVERTON WITH ALPINGTON, 5 miles S. E. by S. of Norwich, are two constablenicks, consolidated in one parish, containing about 12000s. of land, belonging to many owners, but Earl of Roseberry is lord of the manor, having purchased it with others of the Duke of Norfolk. Yelverton has 800, and Alington 197 inhabitants. They occupy the opposite declivities of the ridge, Alington being on the southern side, in the direction of Loddon. They are both joined with the incorporated towns of Loddon and Clavering Hundreds, for the support of paupers in the House of Industry, at Heckingham. Of Alington church, which was standing at the conquest, no traces now remain. The church of Yelverton (Virgin Mary) is a neat edifice, with a square tower, erected in 1644, and containing three bells. The rectory, valued in 1829 at £10, is in the gift of the King, and incumbency of Rev. Jeremiah Ives Day, with 26s. of glebe. The church of Yelverton, 15 17p., was exchanged at the enclosure, and let in 1815. for 10. 16/0s, Mrs. Ann Rant let £200, which was laid out in 10. 3s. of land, at Leechmere, in Kirby-Cane, let in 1815 for £30, one-half belonging to the rector, and the rest to the poor. At the enclosure of the heath and commons, in Burgh Apton, Holverston, Yelverton, and Alington, under an act passed 1802, 13s. 3d. of land was allotted to the poor of this parish, as was a lot for £27. Directory — (Marked * are in Yelverton, the others in Alington;) John Bacon, beer seller, Benj. Barlow, butcher; Rev. J. I. Day, Rectory*, Jas. Freston, blacksmith, John Love, wheelwright, Wm. Whitmore*, shoemaker — Farmers — Mr. Andrews, Grimwade Crabtree*, Isaac Culling, Edw. Giles*, John High, Wm. Leister, James Marshall, James Munster Peter Gools, Reuben Smith*, Nathaniel Wythe*.

LODDON HUNDRED

lies about ten miles south from the river Yare, and is from 5 to 6 miles in breadth, being bounded on the north by Blisfield, on the east by Clavering, on the south by Earsham, and a small part of the river Waveney, near Bungay, and on the west by Depwade Hundred, and a small detached part of Clavering Hundred. It has generally a fertile soil, is well cultivated, and abounds with wood and water. Near the river Yare it has a rich but watery tract of marshes, with various rivulets and broads. It is in the Diocese of Eborac. The Archbishopric of Norfolk, and is incorporated with Clavering Hundred, for the maintenance of a hospital in a House of monks, erected at Heckingham, under an act passed in 1763. (See Clavering Hundred.) It is distant 16s. from the market town of Loddon, where Petty Sessions are held on the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of every month besides Hypocrite now joined with Yelverton, contains 20 parishes — 2, Asby, Heckingham, Leechmere, Claxton, Chedoke, Claxton, Ditchingham, Hatherly, Hetherston, Hetherston, Hetherston, Leechmere, Loddon, Mudding, Southey, Spaldon, Thoroton, Waveney, Waveney, and Waveney, which contain a further 20.

Farmers, (marked * are yeomen,) Wm. Bridgman*, Chas. Calver, Robt. Eade*, Wm. Mickleburgh, Robt. Norman, Wm. Palmer*, Carter Parkinson*, Benj. and Thos. Spalding, and Benj. Spilling.

CARLTON ST. PETER is a parish and dispersed village, 8 miles E. S. E. of Norwich, containing 96 inhabitants, and 630A. of land. Sir W. B. Proctor is the principal owner, and lord of the manor. Him and Sir Charles Rich are alternate patrons of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £9, and consolidated with Ashby, in the incumbency of the Rev. Samuel Kent, with 3A. of glebe. The poor have a house left by Daniel Breton. The Church has a tower, which was rebuilt in 1504. Directory—John Fish, vict., Ferry-house, Mrs. Deborah Hylton, and John Johnson, and Francis Perkins, farmers.

CHEDGRAVE, on the north bank of the small river Thru, forms a suburb of the town of Loddon, 9 miles S. E. by E. of Norwich, and has in its parish 353 inhabitants, and 1100 acres of land, mostly the property of Sir W. B. Proctor, lord of the manor and patron of the Church, (All Saints,) a small edifice with a low tower and one bell. It has a fine Norman doorway built in 1297, and an east window filled with ancient stained glass. The rectory valued in K. B. at £5. 6s. 8d., is now enjoyed by the Rev. T. W. Beauchamp, with 6A. of glebe. The Rev. J. Gilbert has an estate and great mansion here. Directory—John Baldwin, cooper, Mr. Robt. Bratah, Wm. Knight Collins, gent., Wm. Camoy, blacksmith, Mr. Clement Ellis, Thos. Forcer and Robt. Spence, gardeners, Rev. Jno. Gilbert, Manor house; Mrs. Eleanor Hardy, Edgar Haddy, wheelwright, Wm. Jones, tldg. sch. M.; Jerh. Littlewood and Robt. Wickham, shoemakers; Samuel Mills, baker, Mrs. Sar. Shephera, Pp. Smith, vict., White Horse; Jph. Wheelhouse, shopkeeper, and John Whitlock, yeoman.

CLAXTON, 7 miles E. S. E. of Norwich, is a small village on the south side of the vale of the Yare. It has 192 inhabitants, and about 900A. of land. Sir Chas. Rich owns most of the soil, and is lord of the manor, impropriator, and patron of the vicarage, which was certified at £30, and augmented in 1810 with £200 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. Stephen Webster is incumbent. The Church (St. Andrew) stands on an acclivity, and has inscriptions to the Gaudy, Bashby, and Ruse families. The manor was anciently held by the Cheyney and Kerdston families. The latter, in the reign of Edward III. had a charter for a market and fair, and license to make a castle of the manor house, of which extensive ruins still remain. Here is a Baptist chapel, rebuilt in 1800, and now under the ministry of the Rev. J. H. Hapton. Directory—Jerh. Chapman, miller, Saml. Folkard, blacksmith; Danl. Gunn, yeoman, Thos. Sharman, vict. Folly, James Starling, shopkeeper, and Jerh. Batchelder, Edward Burton, Edw. Goldard, Rd. Goodram, and Chs. Heasell, farmers. Enclosure, 1808.

DITCHINGHAM, a large scattered village, extending southward to the river Waveney opposite Bungay, 13 miles S. S. E. of Norwich, has in its parish 962 inhabitants, and 2120 acres of land. Messrs. Baylis and Co. of Norwich, have here an extensive silk and cape manufactory erected about three years ago, near the Waveney, which is navigable to Bungay. The large heath or tith and Pinner parish was enclosed in 1812. Here are the manors of Littleburgh and Pirnhow (lines arbitrary). The Duke of Norfolk is lord of the tith.

and John J. Bedingfield is lord of the latter, and Burcham Hall, a handsome mansion, erected in 1727, in the valley of a rivulet which expands into a fine lake. There are two other seats, viz., Ditchingham Lodge, the seat of Eaton Graves, and Holly Hall Lodge, the property of Cotton. Tindall Hall now a farmhouse, belongs to Sir W. Cotton. Many others have estates here. Close to the W. remarkable c. Bath, built by the late Wm. Wyndham supplied by a spring issuing from the foot of a cliff and a cistern. The Church of St. Mary stands on an eminence, of Basing, and has a lofty tower. The rectory, valued at £112, is a good residence, and 20 acres of garden. Presentation of the Duke of Norfolk, but must be given to a Priest below, or St. John's College, Cambridge. John Newling, B. D., is the present incumbent. The School established in 1844, has 100 pupils, and a Infant School, supported by subscription. The Church Land, supposed to have been purchased by the parish in Elizabeth's time, 1700, is now let for 40 years at £20 a year, and a yearly rent-charge of £2, left by Henry 1725, and a house and land, left by John Gowing and John 1700, and let in 1750, for 15, a year.

Baker Robert, leather	Morris Martin, hox
Baylis no. C., silk, & mono-	Morris Isaac, joiner
facture s. (to Norwich)	Pippy Walter, iron
Bedingfield J. J. & J. L. Esqrs,	Philbrick Charles, iron
Ditchingham Hall	Remondet Daniel, iron
Bostwight Mr. James	Smith Joseph, iron
Burcham George, cal net maker	Smith Robert, iron
Canham Robert, M. D.	Smith Thomas, joiner
Canham Thomas, blacksmith	Tuttle James, assessor
Chapman George, hay dealer	and parish clerk
Collins James, leather	Travis Sir Eaton, D.
Crick William, sager, silk m. d.	Lodge
Cuddeon William, corn merchant & m. str.	Utting Thomas, gentle
Dowling William, gent., Hollywell	Woods William, gentle
Dutt William, coach maker	Wood and Sons, Black
Felkard James, blacksmith	Under
Foreman Hy. National school	*Brid
Foreman Robert, cooper	Barth James
Foster Peter, Esq. (of stage)	*Dun
Frost Rev. Edw. Baker curate	George Nath
Goodman John, grocer and dr.	*Hut
Goodman Mrs. Elizabeth & Mary, Mrs.	Tibbatt Samuel
Gower Samuel, wheelwright	Lack
Hopkins Esq. Duke of York	*Farmers
Jennings William, corn and coal	*are present
merchant and distiller	Baker William, D.
Kerridge William, dyer	Clayton, the
King Mr. wheelwright	daily, & D. in
Knight Daniel, grocer &c.	pasturing, & to Basing
Mann W. & Parvather W. gent.	with & to Basing
Maryson J. Taylor, Esq., solicitor	Norwich, Wed. & and to Basing, & Meck, and to Basing
	and to Norwich, Wed.

, a small dispersed village, in the vale of the Yare, 2½ miles N. of Loddon, and 12 miles E.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish 1460A. of land, of which 650 are marsh, and 810 are arable. The soil belongs to several proprietors, the principal is Sir W. B. Proctor, the lord of the manor. The parishes of Norwich are impropiators of the tithes, and parishes of Norwich, (St. Margaret,) which has a round tower and is a curacy, certified at £40, and now enjoyed by John Watson. Hardley Cross is the boundary of the parishes of Norwich and Yarmouth, on the river Yare.—Directory: John Joiner; Wm. Belward, vict., Staith House; Robert Fish, shoemakers; Benj. Utting Dowson and Sons, dley-Staith, (and Gelderstone;) Chas. Sadler, blacksmiths, Wm. Carver, Wm. Coleman, Wm. Edw. Cross, John Goddard, and Wm. Manthorpe.

M. 4 miles N.N.W. of Bungay, and 11 miles S.S.E. of Norwich, a parish and small village, containing 356 inhabitants, and 1000A. of land, mostly the property of Lord Boston, J. J. Bedingfield, and J.W. Gooch, Esqrs. The first of the manors. The Hall, late the seat of T. Hussey, is now occupied. The CHURCH (St. Mary) has a nave, and is a rectory valued in K. B. at £13 6s. 8d. Peter Chambers is patron and incumbent. In 1559, a gift was left for the poor three houses, occupied by paupers, and 10A. of land, let in 1786. for £30 a-year.—Directory:—Rev. J. P. Chambers; Eliz. Folkard, blacksmith; John Goldworth, brickmaker; Charles Hammond, butcher; John gent.; Emanuel Leach, joiner; John Roe, cattle dealer, vict., Mermaid; Samuel Wigsby, schoolmstr.; John Edw. Burton, John Felton, Wm. Grimmer, Edw. Stanford, farmers.

ON, a small parish near the source of a rivulet, 6 miles N. of Norwich, has only 52 inhabitants, and 450A. of land, belonging to Doughty's Hospital, Norwich, and Mr. George. The CHURCH (St. John the Baptist) is a single pile, with a tower and two bells. The rectory (not in charge) is in the patronage of Sir W. B. Proctor and Sir Chas. Richmond. Sir W. B. Proctor is lord of the manor. The Rev. W. M. Harlock is rector. The poor have pasturage on 35A. of common, and on John Cock's charity, viz., £5 for apprentice fees, and 10A. of land. They have also a yearly rent-charge of 20s., left by John in 1719.—Directory:—Mr. Bransby Brooks; Mrs. John Scarlet, joiner; and Wm. Martin, farmer.

, a parish of scattered houses, 7 miles S. S. E. of Norwich, has 261 inhabitants, and about 1000A. of land. It is in the patronage of Sir W. B. Proctor, and owner of a great part of the land belongs to Charles Kerrison, Esq., of Hill House; Bethel Hospital, in Norwich, and a few smaller parishes. The parish had formerly a hamlet, called Langhall; and the name is in the King's Book, Kirstead-with-Langhall, and it is now a village. It has 36A. of glebe. The patronage is in Emanuel College, and the Rev. John Lewis is incumbent. The CHURCH (St. Margaret) has a nave, chancel, and belfry. The Bap-

Harvey Maria Shoemakers.
 Johnson J. A. Forder Robert
 Jones Edward Plow Robert
 Jones George Roberts James
 Tidman John Warner Edw.

Coach to Norwich $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 8 mng.
 and to Bungay 7 evg

Vans to Norwich, Wed & Sat.
 8 morning.

Wheatacre Burgh, is the most southerly village in the vale of the Waveney, 5 miles S. by W. of Yarmouth. It contains 316 inhabitants, and about 2000 a. of proprietors; among whom Sir Edw. Ker also lord of the manor. The vale of the and the adjacent parishes, was formerly a J.) and marine stores, coals, &c., have been CHURCH is a long thatched edifice, with a The rectory, valued in K. B. at £7. 6s. 8d., and incumbency of the Rev. William Boyce, in 1811, 13 acres were allotted to the poor, —Rev. Wm. Boycott; Robert Gummer, cake, blacksmith and beer seller; Wm. Parker, Geo. Piper, shopr. and beer seller —Farmers, Jm. Boon*, Martin Brewster, Jas. Ellis*, Den-cotton, and James Woolterton.

is a village and parish, on the north bank of the s E.N.E. of Bungay, and 4 miles S. of London. itants, and about 1300a. of land. John Kerrich, manor, but Philip Dykes, Esq., is the principal land-ten at the Hall, a neat white mansion. The Church is near the river, and is a rectory, valued in K. B. Howard de Walden is the patron, and the Rev. Ne-incumbent. The glebe is 120a. A house and land poor by Richard Chamberlain, in 1565, were set for 16, and other poor's land, left by H. Bonfield, in 1668, 7. The poor of this parish and Kirby-Cane, have an 0. 10s., left by John Ireland, in 1591. —Directory — Betts, curate; Mr. Betts, vict., Lock House, Boat an, brickmakers; Robert Burdall, miller & coal merchant; Esq., Ellingham Hall; John Gooda and Thos. Hall, Goodwin, Ann Hull, and John Spanton, grocers, eelwright and vict., White Horse, Robert Spanton, and draper; John Spanton, smith. James W.

—Farmers, (are * yeomen,) Jacob B. Butcher, Rt. Chase, Atty. Pick*, Jph. Pettit*, Benj. Read and Robert Wain- GONE, or Gelderton, is a village, 5 miles Waveney, 2½ miles W.N.W. of Bette-don. Its parish has 300 inhabitants, and is property of John Kerrich, Esq., the lord of the man- Hall, a modern white brick house, with a park. In digging the cellars at the end of the 801

the
An mi en
H
D
D

n
D
S
T
V
D

[Faint, illegible text block]

[Faint, illegible text block]

a pleasant village, 6 miles E. of Loddon, and 3 of Yarmouth. Its parish has 383 inhabitants, and a great part of which forms an open marsh in the Waveney. It is comprised in several manors; but the soil belongs to Messrs. G. J. and S. Grimmer, who are lord of Haddiscoe manor. The Church (St. Andrew) is an eminence rising from the marsh, and has a round tower. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £12, is con-
 R. Monks, in the gift of King's College, Cambridge, of the Rev. Thos. Elliston.—The Church and Poor's house, was left by Thomas Stronge, in 1556. The house left to the poor by Thomas Battely, in 1614, has a bath, vict., Crown Inn, John Bee, wheelwright, beer seller, Rev T. Elliston, Robt. Flaxman and shopkeeper, Charles Garrod, blacksmith, Wm. Mer, John Wales, vict., Three Tuns.—Farmers, Ed. Grimmer, sen. and jun.; Samuel Grimmer, Michl. Hard Manship. A Coach to Yarmouth, Mon. Wed. every, and to Cambridge, Tu., Thu. & Sat., 8 mag.

a dispersed village, skirting a grove of 166 acres, from S. S. E. of Loddon. Its parish contains 311 inhabitants, and land, mostly the property of Sir R. Bacon, B. Farr, Esq., and E. Baister; but lying in the manors of Loddon Hall and Mill. The Earl of Rosebery is lord of the latter. The Church (St. Margaret) is a small structure with a round tower, certified at £10, is in the incumbency of the Rev. Jas. patronage of Sir John Smyth, Bart.—the impropriator of

Directory —Ehr. Browne, smith and shop; Edward Anty, Froston, yeomen; Wm. George, wheelwright, Is Beer seller and gardener; Ed. Shardlow & Wm. Spurgeon, John Shardlow, miller, and George Youell, beer house

KINGHAM is a parish of dispersed dwellings, 2 miles E. of Loddon, containing 1081 acres of land, and 151 inhabitants, being 288 inmates of the gigantic House of Industry, erected in 1763 to '67, for the incorporated parishes of Loddon and King's Hundred.—(See p. 209.) The Rev. Edward Willis and John Preston are lords of manor; but a great part of the soil is to Sir J. Smyth, Rev. J. Gilbert, R. Hayward, and S. Denay. The Church (St. Gregory) is a small thatched building, with a tower of 6 bells. Sir J. Smyth is impropriator of the tithes and patronage, certified at £6. 13s. 4d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Wall.—Directory —Srn. Denay, John Preston and Ed. Anty, yeomen; and Hy Blunderfield, Jm. Fawcough and Kewston, farmers.

WE, a small village and parish, in the detached part of Clee Hundred, 6 miles S. by E. of Norwich, has only 119 inhabitants and 770a. of land, of which the Rev. John Holmes is chief and lord of the manor, anciently held by the noble family of the Countess of Arundel. The Church (St. Mary) is a single aisle with a tower of 6 bells. The rectory, valued in K. B. at £12. 10s. 4d. is situated with West Poringland, in the patronage of G. H. Webb, and incumbency of the Rev. Thomas Harding. The Church The School was founded in 1734, by Lady Lucy, Countess of

STATIONERS

Ch
and Kn
No
Val
Sam
Wm
ing, l
W Norwi
to seve of Woc Hall, a now en
Chvaci able aite monume of Anne,
have 18s.
land, left Directory
James Col
Gooch, bla
miller; S.
shoemaker;
Robt. Roe,
Isaac Smith
Farmers, J
Franklin, Co
ford D.

the slip, three miles in length, ending at the confluence of the navigable streams of the Yare and Waveney. The soil is generally rich & fertile, though a great part of it is in wet marshes. The whole hundred comprises 20 PARISHES, viz., Aldeby, Brooke, Bergh-Apton, with St. Peter, Ellingham, Geldeston, Gillingham All Saints and Mary, Haddiscoe, Hales, Heckingham, Howe, Kirby-Cane, North-Subcourse, Haveningham, Stockton, Thorpe, Thurlton, Toftwicks and Wheatacre, which contain together 6611 inhabitants, and 2,873 acres of land. The annual value of their land and buildings was assessed to the property tax, in 1815, at £43,316. The Deanery of Brooke, in the Archdeaconry of Norfolk, comprehends all the parishes in the hundreds of Clavering, Loddon, and Henstead. The hundreds of Clavering and Loddon, together with the parish of Yelverton, were incorporated for the maintenance of the poor, by an act of Parliament, passed in 1763, after which they erected a large HOUSE OF INDUSTRY at HACKINGHAM, for the accommodation of about 500 paupers. This large workhouse is in the form of the letter H, and is generally about 400 inmates, many of whom are employed in the manufacture of sack and coarse linen, and some of them in spade husbandry on 10 acres of land, belonging to the incorporated parishes, in which all persons owning property assessed at £40 per annum, or occupying lands and tenements, or tithes of the year's value of £100, are constituted "Guardians of the Poor," together with all the magistrates, vicars, and rectors, residing in the two hundreds, for which Quarter Sessions are held at Loddon (see p. 790). Mr Charles and Mrs. Butler are master and matron of the workhouse.

ALDEBY is a parish of dispersed houses in the vale of the Waveney, 3 miles N.E. of Beccles, and 16 miles S.E. by E. of Norwich, containing 530 inhabitants, and 2700a of land, belonging to many proprietors. The trustees of Ampton school, in Suffolk, have an estate here, and are lords of the manor, which had a small Priory, founded in the reign of Henry I., by Henry de Ille, for black monks, and granted at the dissolution to the Dean and Chapter of Norwich, who are still appropriators of the tithes, and patrons of the Church, (St. Mary,) which has a tower rising between the nave and chancel, and is a curacy, certified at £20, and augmented in 1771 and 1809, with £400 of Queen Anne's bounty. The Rev. Harvey Taylor, of Beccles, is the incumbent; and W. Carpenter, Esq., is lessee of the tithes. The remaining part of the priory is now a malt house. Directory.—Rt. Ellison, miller; Chas. Flower, act., Tunn, Messrs B. A. H. and F. Hutton; Henry Carpenter and Jas. Chalker, yeomen; and Thos. Bird, Jas. Crowe, Rt. Culyer, Wm. Jowling, and John Last, farmers. (Enclosure, 1806.)

BERGH-APTON is a parish and pleasant village, in the detached part of this Hundred, 3½ miles W. by N. of Loddon, and 7½ miles S.E. of Norwich. It has been much improved by new buildings, &c. during the last 30 years, and has increased its population, since 1801, from 304 to 509 souls. It contains 1941 acres of land, belonging to a number of owners, several of whom are resident in neat mansions. The Earl of Abergavenny is lord of the manor (in certain) and patron of the rectory, valued in K. B. at £13. 6s. 4d., and now enjoyed by the Rev. Henry Walpole Newnham, M.A. The Church (St. Peter and St. Paul)

ago, a curious Ro
a large malt-kiln
the Waveney. T tower, and is a re
and the Rev. Jo
At the enclosure,
was built by Mr.
Barkway, and Ja
Chapman, joiners
Wm. Balls, vict
Cartwright, gent.
son and Sons, co son Dowson, bri
smith; John Kei
ing, M. A., rector
ley, Mary Mapes,

GILTINGHA
lidated parish, co peasant village o
the Waveney, 1
The parish is mo with the lake: 1
G

The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was the cold. It was a sharp, biting cold that seemed to seep into my bones. I pulled my coat tighter around me and walked towards the entrance of the building. The air was still, and the silence was oppressive.
 I had heard that the place was haunted, but I didn't believe it until now. The door was slightly ajar, and a faint light emanated from within.
 I hesitated for a moment before pushing it open. The interior was dimly lit, with shadows lurking in every corner. I took a few steps forward, my heart pounding in my chest. The floor was made of polished wood, and the walls were covered in dark, heavy curtains. A single lamp on a table cast a warm glow, but it couldn't dispel the chill that was settling over me. I turned my head to look at the door behind me, but it was gone. In its place was a wall of solid, unyielding stone. I felt a sense of dread, a feeling that I was being watched. I turned back towards the lamp, but the light had gone out. The room was now in complete darkness. I took a few more steps, my hands outstretched in front of me. I felt a sudden draft of cold air, and I turned to see what it was. In the corner of the room, a shadowy figure was crouching. I screamed and ran towards the door, but it was locked.
 I tried to break it down, but the door was too heavy. I was trapped.
 The figure in the corner stood up and walked towards me. I tried to run, but my legs were too heavy.
 The figure reached out and touched my face. I felt a cold, icy touch, and I knew that I was never going to leave this place.

Went out to see the house
the house

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the general principles of the theory of the structure of the atom. It is shown that the structure of the atom is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, and that the laws of quantum mechanics are based on the principle of the conservation of energy.

gate,) is a small building, with an obelisk and the common 20s. The poor's land, let in 1782, for £9 18s a-year. Directory—
Dorcas Capeman, beer seller, John F.
Porder, carpenter, Chas Garrrod, smith,
Tripp the smiths, Rev Thos Wall, curowner. Jas Fuller*, J and Lt Fuller, Mrs Holt*, Wm Muddle*, Chas Wood*

WHEATFACRE ALL SAINTS is a 4½ miles N E. of Beccles, and 12 miles contains 186 inhabitants, and about 140
marsh, which extends eastward to the W.
Suffolk. Joseph Digood Freame, Esq., and At the enclosure, 84 of marsh land.
The Church stands on an eminence that he led, with a square tower, com-picturesque view of the vale of the W. in K.B. at £6. 6s 5½d., is in the patronage College Cambridge, and incumbency of glebe is 70s. Directory—Wm Borret,
Wm Oakes rector, Robt Cutler*, and Greengrass, schoolmaster, John Hulton, carpenter; and James Sayer, corn miller.

ADDITIONS, CORRECTIONS, &c.

REVOLVED CORPORATIONS, elected in NORWICH DIRECTORY—Corrections are

Page. CORRECTIONS. Page.
ED. for Scottish and German.

Bakers &c	Riches Wm	Woolerton J H
Baker Wm	*Spence John	Shoemaker	Hol
Tuttel Wm &	*Spence Matw	Coker Wm	Ped
beer-scher,	Warble Wm	Goate Edward	Wal
Blacksmiths	Wigg Fredk	Mickleburgh W	Crak
Riches Daniel	Grocers & Dps	Outon Wm	King
Stratford Wm	Baley J (drug)	Plow John
Corn Millers	Gibbs & Alexan
Burton Wm	der
Oldring Joseph	Harrod Sarah
Riches John	Leaman Wm
Farmers	Painters, &c
* are yeomen	Brugler Robt
Atmore Mitw	Goff John M (&
Beard Ph ap	auctioneer)
Blunderfeld Es	Winter Robert
Foulsham Wm	Saddlers
Ganton John	Curas Richard
Haywood Nels	Ward Charles
Hodgson Danl	Schools
Howard John	Ganton Harriet
Lamb Fredk	Hart David
*Parkerson J P.	Lamb Sarah

A Coach, from the Hounds Inn, to Norwich and Wed. at 10, morning, to Beccles and Ipswich 4 past 6 evg.

CARRIERS—From the White Horse grave, to Norwich, Wm. and Thos Woolner, Sat., Geo. Leggatt, Benet, Wed. and Sat. Mail Gig daily.

To Bungay, Wm. G.

To Farnmouth, Robt John Chapman, Wed.

MUNDHAM parish has a small village, $9\frac{1}{2}$ miles S E. of Norwich, and contains 314 inhabitants, and 1550a. of land, an undulated district, mostly the property of G. S. Kett Esq. in his manor of Dickleburgh Mancere. An estate, belonging to Giles' Hospital, in Norwich, forms a separate manor. The church (St Peter) has a square tower, and its south and north walls contain interesting specimens of Norman architecture. The church (charge) is in the gift of the Corporation of Norwich, (the rectors,) and incumbency of the Rev. J. I. Day. Here are two churches but St Ethelbert's has been long in ruin. In an enclosure, in 1813, nearly 6 acres were awarded to the church. There have also two yearly rent-charges, viz., 20s. left by Thomas Kett in 1630, and 10s., left by an unknown donor. Directors, Atmore, vicar; Samuel Betts and Ann Tillet, grocer; man, blacksmith, John Cannell and Jph Tillet, Daniel Branch, Susan Broughton, Jonathan Farrow, Thos. Roberts and Thomas Tillet, farmers.

SEETHING is a pleasant and well-built village, $9\frac{1}{2}$ miles S E. of Norwich, comprising in its parish 438 inhabitants, and about 2300a. of land, mostly the property of G. S. Kett Esq. Brooke House Seething Hall, the seat of Mrs. Kett, a mansion, with a beautiful lawn, descending to a Roman wall, which a rivulet is swelled into lakes and decoys, finely wooded. The blue sash, worn by Penn, at the treaty of Utrecht, is in the possession of Mrs. Kett. The Church (St. Mary) has a round tower and is a curacy certified at £5, and now in the hands of the Rev. J. I. Day. The Corporation of Norwich, as the Giles' Hospital, are the patrons, and also improprators. At the enclosure, in 1817, about 5 acres were allotted to the church.

have also 2A. 2R. 4P., called the town land, and three yearly rent-charges, viz., £3, left by Thos. Brooke, in 1674; 30s. by Thomas Spooner, in 1630, and 20s. by John Kerrison, in 1753. Directory: John Clarke, vict., Cherry Tree; Robt. Duffield, blacksmith; Lucy Prost, Wm. Owen, and Christopher Spalding, grocers; Rev. Armine Herring, curate; Mrs. Hannah Kett, Seething Hall; John Knights, beer seller; Robt. Smith, joiner; Richd. Plow, shoemaker; Henry Rushmore, wheelwright.—Farmers, (marked * are yeomen,) George Bridges, Robt. and Wm. Crickmore*, Robt. Grimmer*, Robt. Grimmer, jun., Henry Knights, John Mann, Elizabeth Weddup.

SISLAND, or Sizeland, is a small parish, 10 miles S.E. of Norwich, containing only 85 inhabitants, and 500A. of land, belonging to various proprietors, and lying in the manors of Charles and Brooke. Lord Berners is lord of the former, and G. S. Kett, Esq., of the latter. The CHURCH is a small building, on an eminence, with a wooden belfry and spiral turret. It formerly had a north aisle, of which part of the wall still remains, covered with ivy. There is some fine stained glass in the windows. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £3. 13s. 9d., is in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Hobson, B.D. The glebe is 18A. Directory.—Wm. Branch, John Spence, and Robt. Tibenham, farmers; Thos. Goddard, miller, Washingford Mill; Rev. W. Hobson, rector. (Enclosure, 1813.)

THURTON, a parish and small village, 7½ miles S.E. of Norwich, has 193 inhabitants, and 772A. of land, belonging to several proprietors; but Sir W. B. Proctor is lord of the manor, impropiator of the tithes and patron of the curacy, certified at £10, but augmented from 1767 to 1824, with £1000 of Queen Anne's bounty; and now enjoyed by the Rev. Wm. Hobson. The CHURCH (St. Ethelbert) is a single pile, with a square tower and three bells. In 1707, several Roman coins were found here, of Gallienus, Victorinus, Tetricus, Quintillus, &c. At the enclosure, in 1801, 6A. were allotted to the poor, who have also a yearly rent-charge of 20s. left by Thomas Spooner, in 1630. Directory.—Jas. Carver, Samuel Harvey, and Richard Warner, shoemakers; John Harver, vict., Geo. and Dragon; John Hanton, vict., Red Lion; Wm. Minister, painter, glazier, &c.; Wm. Utting, solicitor; Richard Waterson, blacksmith; John Garnham, Abraham Ling, Susan Newman, William Riches and Henry Webb, farmers.

TILWAITE, a small secluded village, in a narrow dell, 12 miles S.S.E. of Norwich, has in its parish, 107 inhabitants, and 620A. of land, lying in several manors, and belonging to St. Andrew St. John, Esq., Sir Wm. Muddleton, and others. The CHURCH (St. Mary) was partly rebuilt of brick, in 1738. The south door has a fine semicircular arch, with six different mouldings. In one of the south windows is painted St. Edmund, the King and martyr. The rectory, valued in K.B. at £4, has 3A. of glebe. The Duke of Norfolk is patron, and the Rev. Richard Dreyer, incumbent. The poor have the interest of 28 guineas, left by Misses F. and E. Gambles; and the parish clerk has a yearly rent-charge of 13s. The farmers are Jas. Barnaby, Jeremiah Brighton*, Thos. Hindley, John Minns*, Robt. Playford, and Wm. Stowards.—James Harrod, joiner.

TOPCROFT parish has two villages, 12 miles S. by E. of Norwich, and contains 463 inhabitants, and 1650 acres of land, including is Hundred, and has in its parish 1175 inhabitants, and 3000 acres of land, belonging to many proprietors, and lying in the manors, of which the following are the names and lords — Loddon Hall, G. D. Palmer, Esq., Bacon's and Hale's Hall, the Earl of Rosebery; Kirby Hall, with Sisland, (otherwise Charles') Lord Berners; and Glass, Jas. Rt. Copeman, Esq., of Worcester. The last was formerly the property of the ancient family of Berners. The chief manor was granted by Roger Bigod, Earl of Norfolk, to John Segrave, on condition that he should serve him with six knights, as well in time of peace as war, for the term of his whole life. Segrave obtained for it a charter for a market and fair, in the 28th of Edw. I. The market is held every Tuesday, for corn; and fairs, for stock, on Easter Monday, and the first Monday after Nov. 22nd. A Quarter Session is held at Old Michaelmas; and Petty Sessions, at the Swan Inn, on the 1st and 3rd Wednesdays of every month. Mr. R. Adams is clerk to the magistrates. The Church (Holy Trinity) is a large and handsome fabric, consisting of a nave, aisles, chancel, and square tower with six bells, erected in the reign of Henry VII., by Sir James Hobart, and Margaret his wife. It has several monuments, and a few brasses, to the Hobart, Sampson, and other families; and an excellent organ, given by Thomas Reynolds, schoolmaster, in 1821. The font is in the florid Gothic style, and has been richly gilt and ornamented. The Bishop of Ely is appropriator of the great tithes, and patron of the vicarage (not in charge) now enjoyed by the Rev. Mr. Wigglesworth. The Church and Poor's Land, (80a.) with a house, is let for about £100 per annum. The poor have also 9a. of marsh, allotted at the enclosure. In the town is a private Lunatic Asylum, established in 1786, and now conducted by Rt. Pedgrift, surgeon. The Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here; and in the town is a National School, supported by subscription. The Post-Office is at Messrs. Gibbs and Alexander's. Letters arrive at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 11 morning, and are despatched at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 2 afternoon.

Adams Joseph Read, chief constable & magistrates' clerk
 Browne Edm. Dennis, sen. gent.
 Browne Edm. Dennis, jun. brewer
 Cable Jas. Benj. hair dresser
 Chapman John, corn & coal dr.
 Cleveland Alfred, farrier
 Cole Mrs. Ann, gentwn.
 Copeman James, solicitor
 Cuddon Eldon, basket & sieve mkr.
 Fairman Capt. Zaccheus
 Finney Eliz. shopkeeper
 Gibbs and Alexander, sub-distributors of stamps, and agents to Harvey and Hudsons, bankers
 Gibbs Edw & Gayton Jolly, gent.
 Hunting Daniel, vet. surgeon
 Jay Robert, bookbinder
 Lamb Wm. butcher

Lane Jonth. tailor and draper
 Morris Robert, bricklayer
 Myhill George, glover
 Palmer James, gent.
 Pipe Edw. turner & chair mkr.
 Thompson Rev. Wm. curate
 Thurtell James, maltster

INNS AND TAVERNS.

Angel, Ellis Chittick
 Crown, Wm. Day
 Fox & Hounds Inn, Wm. Dowson
 Jolly Farmers, Richard Bright
 King's Head, Henry Henry
 Swan Inn (and posting house & excise office,) Thos. Pancher

FIRE OFFICES

Norwich Equitable, John Baley
 Norwich Union, Gibbs & Alexander

STANFORD LIBRARIES

DA 670 .N6 W5
History, gazetteer, and direct
Stanford University Libraries

3 6105 041 398 079

DA 670
N6 W5
1836

DATE DUE
JUL 14 1980
OCT 20 1981
OCT 19 1982
OCT 17 1983
AUG 02 1989
S. U. I.

OCT 15 1984

Stanford University Libraries
Stanford, Ca.
94305

